The Adjutants counted on Sp4 Chet Brenneise and Sp4 Jimmy Maddox, with seven markers apiece, to overcome the Teenagers, 25-19.

In the only other game, Capt. Henry Williams' 14 points paced the third place Interns to a 46-25 rout of Surgery.

Surgery and the Teenagers, both with 1-6 records, are tied in the cellar of the five team league.

Smother LAH 33-7 21st Tops Engineers

Sixth Army's rugged touch footballers ripped through Letterman Army Hospital, 33-7, in rough and tough battle here this week to score a three-way triumph:

- Clamped the lid on the Presidio League crown.
  - Won the first round in Post championship play.
  - Avenged an early season scoreless tie with the medics.
- Earlier, the 21st and 537th Engineers sewed up post season tourney berths by taking the one-two spots in the Engineer League.

At the end of the regular season, Sixth Army and LAH were knotted at 8-0-1 in Presidio play so Wednesday's match served also as first game in the Post title double elimination fracas.

The top two teams in both leagues vie in Post championship games.

Yesterday afternoon the 21st and 537th clashed, but scores were not available at press time. Sixth Army will play the 21st-537th victor Tuesday.

Sixth Army went into the play-off tilt heavy favorites to wallop LAH and lived up to expectations by tallying twice in the first period.

Quarterback Pvt. Bill Chapman fired a six-pointer to Sp4 Myron Bromberg and later legged 30 yards to push Sixth Army's lead to 12-0. Both conversion attempts failed.

In the second quarter it was an all Pvt. Jan Lloyd show, though there was no score, as the other

Sixth Army QB leaped high in his own end zone to flick a long LAH pass from the outstretched hands of two receivers. A few moments later, with Sixth Army in possession on its own 20, he eluded a trap, faked a pass and streaked 60 yards through the whole Letterman team for a TD. But the score was called back on a clipping penalty.

At halftime the score remained 12-0, Sixth Army.

In the first series of downs in the third period, LAH made a strong bid for a TD when 2d Lt. Bob McNamara brought his squad to Sixth Army's 40 and on third down shook loose from defensive rushers and angled to the 1. But his fourth down touchdown throw missed its mark. Sixth Army took over.

Letterman's lone score came on the next play when 2d Lt. McNamara snatched a Pvt. Chapman aerial about 15 yards out and scooted across the goal line.

His toss to Pfc. Jim Hanson was good for the PAT.

From there on out it was Sixth Army's ball game.

Pvt. Lloyd took the LAH kickoff and lateraled across the field to Sp4 Bromberg, who sped to the Letterman 20. Pvt. Lloyd then flipped one to Pfc. John Andre in the end zone and added the PAT on a pass to Sp4 Bromberg. 19-7.

With less than a minute to go in the third quarter, Sixth Army's Pvt. Chapman rifled a sensational 50-yard throw to Presidio basketball Pfc. Joe Gascon, who ran 20 for another score. Pvt. Chapman then hit Sp4 Ken Reynolds for the extra point. 26-7.

Sixth Army's final TD was a two-period effort. Seconds before the end of the third quarter, Sp4 Bromberg intercepted at midfield and returned to about the LAH 5. But a penalty brought the ball back to about the 30.

Pvt. Lloyd's pass was partially blocked on an ensuing play but it fell into the hands of lineman Pfc. Chester Davis and he lumbered to the 3.

Pvt. Chapman came in and picked out Pfc. Gascon for the tally. The same combination clicked for the PAT and the 33-7 landslide stood until the final whistle.

Final standings in the two local leagues are as follows:

While there he had a chance to visit the Kremlin—"just the museums there," he explained—see a circus and visit Stalin's and Lenin's tombs.

After his Army hitch—he is a three-year man—he plans to return East and look for a job in his new field, heavy equipment operation. He was a mason before he entered the service.

"The pro game is out," he said. "I may play around Lynn for a few years, but probably no more."

Sounds Fishy

A fish story coming from Fort Amador in the Canal Zone sounds like another tall tale but two colonels who hooked the 1,040 pounds of fighting marlin swear it's true.

It seems that one colonel registered the strike first. Then the marlin cut through the water and struck the other's bait. The two anglers finally boated the marlin but lost the chance to record this fish. In fishing circles, a record catch must be fought by the individual making the initial strike. So this is just another fish story down the drain.

Shuffleboard was denounced as a gambler's pastime in New England in 1845, and public play was prohibited in some places.

Presidio Private

Seeks Key Hockey Team Berth

When the six-foot, 165-pound Presidio private skates out onto the ice Sunday at the U.S. National Hockey Team tryouts in Minneapolis, old-timers will remember him as center-forward Fred Wonoski of last year's American amateur squad which placed fifth in world competition at Oslo, Norway.

But the few Presidians who have met him know him only as a 22-year-old heavy equipment operator who last week was assigned to the 561st Engineer Company, Ft. Baker.

With hardly a chance to hang his hat here, Pvt. Wonoski was expected to arrive in Minneapolis today for the month-long tryouts and is an odds-on favorite to be one of the 16 of 35 candidates selected for the team.

After the final squad is named, the team will begin a 45-day tour of the States (with three matches against the visiting Russian team) and then move to Europe for competition there before the world matches in March at Prague, Czechoslovakia.

Next October, Pvt. Wonoski plans to compete for an Olympic berth.

Pvt. Wonoski's 25 point (10 goals, 15 assists) play on the 1957-58 U.S. team was a tribute to experience and careful, slow grooming.

In his native Lynn, Mass., Pvt. Wonoski got the hockey "bug" as a kid in pick-up matches. Later, and until he was 14, he was active in PeeWee play. He made the Lynn Classical High School team with his brother, Ed, two years his senior, in 1952. The next two years he was high scorer in the North Shore (Mass.) High School Hockey League and was named to the All-Stars twice.

After high school, and while under contract to the Boston

Bruins, he played in the professional Junior League in Canada for a year.

Quitting the pro game in 1956, Pvt. Wonoski returned to the amateurs and held down the center-forward slot for New Haven in the Eastern Hockey League.

After two years away from the professional ranks, he was eligible under American rules to compete for a place on the U.S. team. (Other countries, such as Canada, do not require any time lapse between pro and amateur international play.)

Pvt. Wonoski has high hopes for this year's squad and hopes it can best one or more of the teams which placed above it last year (Canada, Russia, Sweden, Czechoslovakia).

He also is looking forward to another trip to Russia. After the Oslo meet this past March, the American team spent a week in Moscow for two unsuccessful matches against the international runners-up.

TWO HUNDRED DOLLARS for superior performance of duties was this week presented to Edith Miller, news writer in Sixth Army Public Information Office, by Maj. Gen. John J. Binns, Sixth Army Chief of Staff.

Sixth Army Civilians Take Top Cash Awards

Thirteen Sixth Army Headquarters civilian employees are $1,470 richer following presentation of checks and Department of the Army Superior Performance and Suggestion Award Certificates at ceremonies this week.

Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Commanding General of Sixth Army, and Maj. Gen. John J. Binns, Sixth Army Chief of Staff, made the presentations.

Top money winner for superior performance of duty was Harold Simerman, G1, Civilian Personnel Division Supervisory Employee Utilization Officer, who received $300. He has been a federal employee for nearly 18 years.

Mrs. Mary Weber, Secretary, Office of the Commanding General, received $200 based on an "outstanding" rating.

Winnifred Senn, Budget Officer, and Miss Edith Moritz, Budget Analyst G3 (Plans and Training) Section, each received $200. A news writer with the Information Section, Miss Edith Miller, accepted a check for $200.

A check for $100 went to Mrs. Grace Webster, a G2 Personnel Security Assistant. John Conforti, Adjutant General Reserve Forces Division, received $100 for his superior performance as a Supervisory Military Personnel Clerk.

Two checks, a $100 superior performance award and a $10 suggestion award, went to Mrs. Ressa Bader, AG Reserve Components Division Supervisory Clerk.

Miss Claire McLaughlin, clerk-typist with the AG Reserve Forces Division, won two suggestion awards for a total of $20.

Miss Juanita Chase, Military Personnel Clerk, AG Reserve Forces Division, received a $10 suggestion award check.

Pal Week Ahead

Feel in the mood for a Sunday home-cooked dinner?

Next Sunday, 9 November, has been designated as Home Hospitality Day, one of the features of Pal Week sponsored by the USO.

If you are interested in a good home-cooked dinner, register at the USO, 1017 Market, telephone MA 1-0630. Registration implies a firm intention to accept an invitation which will be arranged by the Club. It is requested that you wear your uniform. If you wish to attend church with your new family, be at the USO by 1000 where the families will pick you up.

Full details about Home Hospitality Day and all the week's activity may be obtained by telephoning the USO.

Cheshire Soldier Wins Battalion's Top Soldier Title

Private First Class Walter H. Phelan, 20-year-old Fire Panel Operator, from Btry. D, 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty., in Newark, California, walked away with the honors as Battalion Soldier of the Month. Each Battery sent its top man to Bn. Hqs. to appear before the Board of Officers to determine who would receive the high honor and the prizes of a 3-day pass and $25 cash award. Phelan, the RA from Btry. D, showed the way.

Top Soldier Pfc. W. H. Phelan

Phelan entered the Army from his home town of Cheshire, Connecticut and took his basic at Ft. Dix, New Jersey. From Ft. Dix, he was assigned to duty in Camp Chaffee, Arkansas, where he remained until February, 1958, when he was sent to Btry. D, in Newark, Calif.

Duty in Newark and the ways of the West were so much to his liking that Phelan and Newark girl Charlotte Torbette were married in September of this year. The bride and groom reside with the bride's parents at 2697 Zulmida Street, Newark, Calif.

Plans for the check and 3-day pass? Tentatively that will just about cover a long planned, up-State fishing trip, stag, with some of the boys from Btry. D.

On Veterans Day

Former Philippine Scout Plans To Exhibit Paintings Locally

James Conde is a tiny man with a big talent.

Standing just a little taller than five feet, the miniature ex-Philippine Scout and retired Army sergeant survived the nightmare Death March in World War II to become, in his waning years, a vivid primitivist of his native land through the medium of brilliant oil paints.

"I love bright paintings—the splash of color," said the aging artist who admits to 65 though his service records state he is only 60.

His "love" has culminated in four primitive school reproductions of the Philippines done from memory—one of them on a metal sheet.

These paintings will comprise a one-man exhibit Veterans Day, 11 November at the Presidio Service Club. They are:

- Philippina Madonna—soulful portrait of a young native mother and her child.
- Moro Custom—typical scene in historical Philippines; man offering a woman a piece of fruit.
- Tinickling Dance—colorful, gay scene of dance traditional in the festival after the rice harvest.
- Mayon Volcano—rich village scene dominated by giant volcano in background.

Mr. Conde started sketching as a youngster in school. During his 33 years in service (1915-48), mostly in the Philippines, he developed his talents as time permitted between two major wars and other actions, but it was the GI Bill which allowed him to achieve perfection.

Engineer Civilians Win 7 Suggestion Awards

First time winners of Department of the Army Suggestion Award Certificates and additional suggestion award money were received by eight civilian employees this week. Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Commanding Officer of the Presidio, made the presentations. Seven of the eight awards were won by Post Engineers and Field Maintenance Shop employees in Sausalito.

Retirement

and the Atomic Testing Grounds at Frenchman's Flat, Nev. He plans to work for the Atomic Energy Commission after retirement.

M/Sgt. Richard Banks, Presidio Inspector General Section, Enlisting in 1938 and serving initially with Infantry units in Panama, he served in the Asiatic-Pacific Theater during World War II. From 1947-1949 he was with General Headquarters, Far East Command, in Tokyo, Japan. Later assignments previous to coming to the Presidio were at Ft. Belvoir, Va., and Paris, France.

Also retiring after service at the Presidio are: Col. Donald K. Armstrong, chief of Sixth Army G4 Supply and Maintenance Division; Lt. Col. Warren M. Hargrave, Presidio S4 Section; and CWO Bryan P. Scale, Presidio S2 Section.

Two other men from other stations also will retire here but not participate in today's ceremonies: CWO William J. Harmon, 725th Ordnance Battalion, Schofield Barracks, Hawaii, and M/Sgt. Donald M. Swain, ALCAN, Davis, Calif.

When he retired, he majored for the next four years in art at Santo Tomas University in Manila—concentrating on his flair for color.

Coming to the States in 1952, he found a job as a kitchen helper at Twin Pines Sanitarium in near-by Belmont, where he has stayed ever since. Between meals and in the evenings he has found plenty of time to paint.

As with his first four major works, Mr. Conde is going to have to rely entirely on memory for his fifth—and greatest—undertaking: the brutal Death March. He is well acquainted with his subject, having been one of the survivors of that infamous forced march under Japanese captors following the fall of Corregidor.

After more than a year as a POW, Mr. Conde escaped in July, 1943, to join a guerrilla band as a medical officer (his entire career was in the Medical Corps) and fight the invaders until the Liberation.

Mr. Conde has three sons and six daughters, all of whom are in the Philippines except the oldest boy, Cudero, who not long ago joined the Navy and currently is following in his father's footsteps. He's a Corpsman in San Diego Naval Hospital.

A Day's Pay – The Only Fair Way!

Where Were You When Hope Passed By?

"Swing your partner . . ."

kaleidoscope

with Christine Johnson

Recently Maj. Merle D. Basom took off his Army greens, put on a homemade western shirt, stood in front of a microphone and called out folkdance steps to a selected group of dancers in the American Pavilion at the Brussels World's Fair.

It was U.S. National Day at the Fair. The theme was "The Grass Roots of America," and one of the groups chosen to represent our grass-roots was a group of folk dancers selected from the European Association of Square Dance Clubs made up of 19 separate clubs and about 1000 members. The best dancers were auditioned, and finally 43 couples and a Western Band were sent in chartered buses with the blessings of the Army and Air Force who sponsored their trip.

Among the other highly selected group to exemplify the grassroots of America were the Air Force Marching Band from Washington, D. C., the Military Concert Band stationed in France, a professional cowboy and Indian act, and two basketball teams.

The square dancers performed three times a day for three days and drew from 5,000 to 10,000 people for each performance.

That was the largest number of people to gather for any single event, except the arrival of Prince Ranier and Princess Grace of Monaco at the Fair.

Maj. Basom, now assigned as Chief of Sixth Army G2 Organization, Training and Reserve Branch, was caller at the Fair and said that the spectators liked everything they did. (Their repertoire included "The Yellow Rose of Texas," "Don't Blame It All On Me," and "Yankee Doodle.") But the most well-received was the audience participation dance, when the couples split up and sought new partners from the viewers.

Before each performance the master of ceremonies announced in three languages, English, French and German, that the folk dancers were not professionals, but were just like any hometown group in America getting together.

One afternoon the performance was televised in Belgium. This was in fact the second television appearance for Maj. Basom. During the folkdance roundups in Europe, Maj. Basom and his wife were invited to London to participate on a two-hour television program on which he did the calling.

The extraordinary thing is that Maj. Basom has only been doing folkdancing for three years. Now a confirmed advocate of it, he says, "I took it up with the desire to relax and have fun. I finally decided I couldn't always be worrying about what's in the in-basket."

The Basoms, wife Grace and daughters Babs and Betty, now belong to two dancing clubs in Marin County; says the major, "We like to relax and see people have fun on an even plane, whether they're millionaires or bums."

Band Concert Set

The Sixth U.S. Army Band will give a concert at the Presidio Service Club Sunday, 2 November, at 1430. Some of the numbers to be played included Jazz Pizzicato, Concertino for Clarinet, and Russian and Ludmilla.

Fort Washington

Due Early Restoration

Ft. Myer, Va., (AFPS)—There's Washington the state and Washington the nation's capital; there are mountains and counties, towns and villages, all named Washington.

Now the National Park Service is putting still another Washington back on the map—Ft. Washington, Md. The massive, crumbling castle of brick and stone, abandoned for many years, is being restored as a monument to its defensive role in an era far removed from planes and nuclear missiles.

The old fort, on the east bank of the Potomac, figured in the plans drawn for the city by the famous French engineer, Maj. Pierre Charles L'Enfant, during George Washington's presidency. It was to be the answer to invasion of the new national capital from the sea.

Ironically, when British warships moved in to capture and burn the city during the War of 1812, Ft. Washington's commandant ordered its magazines blown up and the bastion abandoned.

After the Civil War, concrete coast artillery emplacements with the latest in cannon reinforced Ft. Washington's strategic defenses. It remained in commission through the early part of this century.

Annual day-long dependents' cruise of the cruiser Rochester off Long Beach, Calif., had "Mister Television" among the Navy's guests. Perennial funnyman Milton Berle was sponsored by SN Marshall Berle, his nephew.

The "Steve Canyon" theme music in the current teleseries, composed by the late Walter Schumann, will soon have lyrics . . . when it gets them the Air Force may be offered the song as its official anthem.

More vocalizing can be heard at Ft. Ord, Calif., where professional folk singer Pvt. David W. Madison is training . . . a former member of the San Francisco Opera Company, he won a scholarship to "Music Man" Meredith Wilson's Idlewild School of Music just before entering the Army.

Million-dollar legs she certainly has, and MGM's Cyd Charisse gives the cameras a generous view of them in her upcoming "Party Girl."

That big movie about the founding of the Navy, "John Paul Jones," with Robert Stack in the title role, now gets a modern sequence . . . just filmed at Augusta Bay, Sicily, it shows the Sixth Fleet in action.

Following in the footsteps of his famed dad is PFC Frank Capra Jr., just married and on a Bermuda honeymoon from Ft. Monmouth, N. J. . . . after his Army hitch he'll go back to movie production. Capra Sr., remembered for "It Happened One Night" and other hits, is still directing.

Observance of Navy Day in Washington by the Navy League included tie-up with world premiere of "Torpedo Run" . . . star Glenn Ford was presented with the key to the city and the League's award for meritorious service.

Another premiere, covered by Voice of America and AFRS for world-wide audiences, was the Manhattan debut of "The Roots of Heaven" to benefit the New York Association for the Blind.

AF Secretary James H. Douglas gave talented Korean pianist Tony Han, 16, a DOD Certificate of Esteem in a Pentagon ceremony . . . a tribute to his services in entertaining U.S. Armed Forces in the Pacific this year.

Tops in Pops . . . Some changes appear in the line-up of the "Billboard Magazine" Honor Roll of Hits, but "It's All in the Game" by Tommy Edwards again leads the list. Inching up, in second spot, is "Rock-In' Robin" (Bobby Day), followed by the sturdy "Volare" (Dean Martin and Domenico Modugno). The other seven: "Bird Dog" (Everly Brothers); "Topsy II" (Cozy Cole); "It's Only Make Believe" (Conway Twitty); "Tears on My Pillow" (Little Anthony and the Imperials); "Tom Dooley" (Kingston Trio); "Tea for Two Cha Cha" (Tommy Dorsey Orchestra) and "Chantilly Lace" (Big Bopper).

Children's Fete Tonight

All dependent children in this area are invited to join in the fun at the Halloween party tonight in the Fort Baker Service Club. Prizes will be awarded for the best costumes, and entertainment will be provided by a visiting magician and a combo from the Teenage Club.

About 50 children from the Sunny Hills Orphanage and Farm have been invited to attend. The party begins at 1900.

Toreras Win Narrow Decision; Meet Hamilton AFB Tonight

Rested after a slim 33-25 win over a game Ft. Ord sextet last Saturday at Letterman gym, the Presidio WAC basketball team will journey tonight to Hamilton Air Force Base for its third Women's Interservice Recreational League tilt.

Hole-In-One Test Expected To Swell Crusade Donations

Members of the United Services Golf Club who hit the links Saturday and Sunday can invest a buck in UBAC and stand a chance of reaping up to $25 in merchandise at the Club pro shop.

On those two days, the Club will sponsor a Hole-In-One contest on the 13th Hole. As members play through, they can give a dollar to the UBAC representative there and vie for the closest tee shot to the cup.

Prizes of $25, $15 and $10 in merchandise, donated by the Club, will go to the three best swingers. All proceeds from the tournament will be earmarked for the Crusade.

The contest will be conducted during regular playing hours.

Intramural Casaba Call

Presidio Sports Director Hal Fischer this week put out the call for teams to sign up for the Post intramural basketball leagues scheduled to open about the middle of the month.

"From unofficial information," he said, "I expect about 28 or 30 teams to enter play this year, so we should have some top competition."

To date, however, no teams have actually been entered, though queries have come from many units and from Ft. Mason about listing their teams.

NCMSA Meet Set

Representatives of installations in the Northern California Military Sports Association will meet Monday at Fairfield Air Force Station to iron out 1958-59 basketball schedules.

League play is expected to begin early in December.

M/Sgt. Frank Ciensczyk of the Letterman Army Hospital Sports Office will attend.

Slate Three Tournies

Coming up in November for Nike-men in the 2nd Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery are three tournaments designed for the indoors athlete.

First on the agenda is a pinocle meet on the 4th and 5th, followed two days later by a dart tournament and on the 13th and 14th by three-cushion billiards.

All tournaments will be held in the Ft. Baker Service Club.

Service Keglers Set Dizzy Pace

In the Presidio League, the leading Shafers came out in front of the third place Keystone Kops, 3-1, as the winner's Opozda took individual honors with 605-214 to best the Kops high man, Shoudel, 523-188.

Other games found the runner-up Recruiters hitting a peck of trouble as they were able to only salvage a 2-2 split from the fourth place King Pins. Sparking the Pins was Bowlds, 536-200, while leading the Recruiters was Burmeister, 469-184.

The Alley Rats, in fifth, dumped the Islanders into a fourth place tie with the King Pins by blanking them, 4-0. Duke led the way for the Rats with 542-202 and Fuller paced the Islanders, 463-200.

Sixth place 60th CI Detachment and cellar-dwelling SFAADS did not change in the standings as they battled to a 2-2 tie. Gregor was high for CI with 519-181; leading SFAADS was Wilcox, 509-176.

After the second week of rolling in the 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery Handicap League, the teams stack up as follows: Hilltoppers, 7-1; Five Niners, 5-3; Oozel-fiches, 5-3; Rangers, 3-5; Islanders, 3-5; and Angels, 1-7.

Top bowlers are: High Series—M/Sgt. John Lundahl, Islanders, 574; Sp4 Ronald Graven, Rangers, 547; and Sp4 Billy Love, Hilltoppers, 515. High Game—M/Sgt. Lundahl, 216; Pfc. Roy Sato, Islanders, 215; and Sp4 Graven, 205.

The 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery finished its first week of league play with C Battery, behind Sadler's, 505-186, taking four straight from crippled A Btry., which could field only three keglers. High for the losers was Luchs, 486-182.

At the same time, Headquarters was busy wrestling a 3-1 win from B Battery. Anchorman Walkley's 522-187 not only topped the desk men, but led the league. B Bat-

Set Council Meet; Name Officials For 13 Key Sports

Selection of commissioners for some 13 sports and adoption of a constitution head the agenda of the Bay Area Armed Forces Sports League Council meeting Monday morning at Travis Air Force Base.

The Council, under the chairmanship of Presidio Sports Director and Basketball Coach Hal Fischer, is expected to set a firm schedule for inter-installation bowling (see Torero bowling story) and discuss specific schedules or meets for volleyball, boxing, golf, track and field, baseball, softball and touch football, as well as several minor sports.

Basketball is already underway, with Presidio and Hamilton Air Force Base squaring off 12 November at Letterman gym.

Installations in addition to Presidio which will be represented are Hamilton, Beale, Travis, McClellan, Mather and Castle Air Force Bases.

But he was hard pressed by late entry Pvt. Gerald Fuller, who dumped 3,377 pins for 187 and scored high game, three-game series and six-game series with 234, 642 and 1200.

In addition to Sfc. Andresen and Pvt. Fuller, the Post will be represented in Bay Area Armed Forces Sports League competition by:

Sfc. Ed Johnson, 3,308 and 183; Pvt. Stan Bowlds, 3,298 and 183; Capt. Neal W. Sanders, Jr., 3,245 and 180; M/Sgt. Charles Mahon, 3,239 and 179; and Capt. Edward Rusek, 3,223 and 178.

The Presidians will get their first test tomorrow in League play when the top five meet a Travis Air Force Base quintet at the local Service Club alleys, beginning at 1400.

No other games have yet been scheduled, but Sfc. Andresen expects to meet with other team representatives Monday at Travis AFB during a regularly scheduled League meeting to iron out a season slate.

The Retorts bested the Hilltoppers, 3-1, with Carmer, 496-172, leading the way. Johnson was high for the Hilltoppers with 478-186.

Post Spikers Seek Key Win In 'Barc Y Contest

Last night the two-hatted Presidio-4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery volleyball sextet faced Embarcadero "Y" in the two teams' final clash this season.

Results were not available at press time, but the local highnetters went into the eighth meeting boasting a 4-3 edge.

In three other contests during the past week, mentor M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio's charges clipped Embarcadero, tied Travis Air Force Base and dumped the Bay Area Hawaiian All-Stars.

Capitalizing on spiker Pfc. James McLin's "deadly" power slams, the locals humiliated Embarcadero 15-1 to win a three-game series after taking the first, 15-12, and dropping the second, 8-15.

Two days later, the Golden Gaters journeyed to Travis AFB for a six-game tilt which found the airmen coming back after three straight losses to tie the series, 3-3.

In the All-Stars match, the first in which a Presidio team has seen action with the 4th Battalion dominated team, the sextet could legitimately wear its Torero hat while taking five out of six from the Hawaiian Club.

The lone Post representative is Pvt. George Blair, U.S.A. Garrison Headquarters Company, former California All-Star volleyballer from San Diego. A set man, he has been described by coach M/Sgt. Ignacio as a "topnotch player who should be a big help to the team."

The Toreros were expected to concentrate on team plays and fast break maneuvers.

Pros Test Local Team

To get in final licks before opening its 1958-59 basketball season, the Presidio Toreros last night met a local quintet of pros in Letterman gym.

Results were not available at press time, but coach Hal Fischer said earlier that his squad had little chance against the visiting five led by 1956 Olympics captain Jim Walsh, twice captain of the famed Phillips Oilers, and former Presidio (1955) and University of San Francisco All-American Don Lafran.

The Toreros were expected to concentrate on team plays and fast break maneuvers.

Kegler Sfc. Donald Andresen, in a final round display of accuracy, posted an 18-game total of 3,444 pins for a 191 average to lead local bowlers who have vied over the past two weekends for slots on the seven-man Presidio Torero bowling team.

But he was hard pressed by late entry Pvt. Gerald Fuller, who dumped 3,377 pins for 187 and scored high game, three-game series and six-game series with 234, 642 and 1200.

In addition to Sfc. Andresen and Pvt. Fuller, the Post will be represented in Bay Area Armed Forces Sports League competition by:

Recently Maj. Merle D. Basom took off his Army greens, put on a homemade western shirt, stood in front of a microphone and called out folkdance steps to a selected group of dancers in the American Pavilion at the Brussels World's Fair.

It was U.S. National Day at the Fair. The theme was "The Grass Roots of America," and one of the groups chosen to represent our grass-roots was a group of folk dancers selected from the European Association of Square Dance Clubs made up of 19 separate clubs and about 1000 members. The best dancers were auditioned, and finally 43 couples and a Western Band were sent in chartered buses with the blessings of the Army and Air Force who sponsored their trip.

Among the other highly selected group to exemplify the grassroots of America were the Air Force Marching Band from Washington, D. C., the Military Concert Band stationed in France, a professional cowboy and Indian act, and two basketball teams.

The square dancers performed three times a day for three days and drew from 5,000 to 10,000 people for each performance.

That was the largest number of people to gather for any single event, except the arrival of Prince Ranier and Princess Grace of Monaco at the Fair.

Maj. Basom, now assigned as Chief of Sixth Army G2 Organization, Training and Reserve Branch, was caller at the Fair and said that the spectators liked everything they did. (Their repertoire included "The Yellow Rose of Texas," "Don't Blame It All On Me," and "Yankee Doodle.") But the most well-received was the audience participation dance, when the couples split up and sought new partners from the viewers.

Before each performance the master of ceremonies announced in three languages, English, French and German, that the folk dancers were not professionals, but were just like any hometown group in America getting together.

One afternoon the performance was televised in Belgium. This was in fact the second television appearance for Maj. Basom. During the folkdance roundups in Europe, Maj. Basom and his wife were invited to London to participate on a two-hour television program on which he did the calling.

The extraordinary thing is that Maj. Basom has only been doing folkdancing for three years. Now a confirmed advocate of it, he says, "I took it up with the desire to relax and have fun. I finally decided I couldn't always be worrying about what's in the in-basket."

The Basoms, wife Grace and daughters Babs and Betty, now belong to two dancing clubs in Marin County; says the major, "We like to relax and see people have fun on an even plane, whether they're millionaires or bums."

Fort Washington

Due Early Restoration

Ft. Myer, Va., (AFPS)—There's Washington the state and Washington the nation's capital; there are mountains and counties, towns and villages, all named Washington.

Now the National Park Service is putting still another Washington back on the map—Ft. Washington, Md. The massive, crumbling castle of brick and stone, abandoned for many years, is being restored as a monument to its defensive role in an era far removed from planes and nuclear missiles.

The old fort, on the east bank of the Potomac, figured in the plans drawn for the city by the famous French engineer, Maj. Pierre Charles L'Enfant, during George Washington's presidency. It was to be the answer to invasion of the new national capital from the sea.

Ironically, when British warships moved in to capture and burn the city during the War of 1812, Ft. Washington's commandant ordered its magazines blown up and the bastion abandoned.

After the Civil War, concrete coast artillery emplacements with the latest in cannon reinforced Ft. Washington's strategic defenses. It remained in commission through the early part of this century.

Annual day-long dependents' cruise of the cruiser Rochester off Long Beach, Calif., had "Mister Television" among the Navy's guests. Perennial funnyman Milton Berle was sponsored by SN Marshall Berle, his nephew.

The "Steve Canyon" theme music in the current teleseries, composed by the late Walter Schumann, will soon have lyrics . . . when it gets them the Air Force may be offered the song as its official anthem.

More vocalizing can be heard at Ft. Ord, Calif., where professional folk singer Pvt. David W. Madison is training . . . a former member of the San Francisco Opera Company, he won a scholarship to "Music Man" Meredith Wilson's Idlewild School of Music just before entering the Army.

Million-dollar legs she certainly has, and MGM's Cyd Charisse gives the cameras a generous view of them in her upcoming "Party Girl."

That big movie about the founding of the Navy, "John Paul Jones," with Robert Stack in the title role, now gets a modern sequence . . . just filmed at Augusta Bay, Sicily, it shows the Sixth Fleet in action.

Following in the footsteps of his famed dad is PFC Frank Capra Jr., just married and on a Bermuda honeymoon from Ft. Monmouth, N. J. . . . after his Army hitch he'll go back to movie production. Capra Sr., remembered for "It Happened One Night" and other hits, is still directing.

Observance of Navy Day in Washington by the Navy League included tie-up with world premiere of "Torpedo Run" . . . star Glenn Ford was presented with the key to the city and the League's award for meritorious service.

Another premiere, covered by Voice of America and AFRS for world-wide audiences, was the Manhattan debut of "The Roots of Heaven" to benefit the New York Association for the Blind.

AF Secretary James H. Douglas gave talented Korean pianist Tony Han, 16, a DOD Certificate of Esteem in a Pentagon ceremony . . . a tribute to his services in entertaining U.S. Armed Forces in the Pacific this year.

TOPS IN POPS . . . Some changes appear in the line-up of the "Billboard Magazine" Honor Roll of Hits, but "It's All in the Game" by Tommy Edwards again leads the list. Inching up, in second spot, is "Rock-In' Robin" (Bobby Day), followed by the sturdy "Volare" (Dean Martin and Domenico Modugno). The other seven: "Bird Dog" (Everly Brothers); "Topsy II" (Cozy Cole); "It's Only Make Believe" (Conway Twitty); "Tears on My Pillow" (Little Anthony and the Imperials); "Tom Dooley" (Kingsmen Trio); "Tea for Two Cha Cha" (Tommy Dorsey Orchestra) and "Chantilly Lace" (Big Bopper).

Children's Fete Tonight

All dependent children in this area are invited to join in the fun at the Halloween party tonight in the Fort Baker Service Club. Prizes will be awarded for the best costumes, and entertainment will be provided by a visiting magician and a combo from the Teenage Club.

About 50 children from the Sunny Hills Orphanage and Farm have been invited to attend. The party begins at 1900.

Toreras Win Narrow Decision; Meet Hamilton AFB Tonight

Rested after a slim 33-25 win over a game Ft. Ord sextet last Saturday at Letterman gym, the Presidio WAC basketball team will journey tonight to Hamilton Air Force Base for its third Women's Interservice Recreational League tilt.

Hole-In-One Test Expected To Swell Crusade Donations

Members of the United Services Golf Club who hit the links Saturday and Sunday can invest a buck in UBAC and stand a chance of reaping up to $25 in merchandise at the Club pro shop.

On those two days, the Club will sponsor a Hole-In-One contest on the 13th Hole. As members play through, they can give a dollar to the UBAC representative there and vie for the closest tee shot to the cup.

Prizes of $25, $15 and $10 in merchandise, donated by the Club, will go to the three best swingers. All proceeds from the tournament will be earmarked for the Crusade.

The contest will be conducted during regular playing hours.

Intramural Casaba Call

Presidio Sports Director Hal Fischer this week put out the call for teams to sign up for the Post intramural basketball leagues scheduled to open about the middle of the month.

"From unofficial information," he said, "I expect about 28 or 30 teams to enter play this year, so we should have some top competition."

To date, however, no teams have actually been entered, though queries have come from many units and from Ft. Mason about listing their teams.

NCMSA Meet Set

Representatives of installations in the Northern California Military Sports Association will meet Monday at Fairfield Air Force Station to iron out 1958-59 basketball schedules.

League play is expected to begin early in December.

M/Sgt. Frank Cienyszcz of the Letterman Army Hospital Sports Office will attend.

Slate Three Tournies

Coming up in November for Nike-men in the 2nd Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery are three tournaments designed for the indoors athlete.

First on the agenda is a pinocle meet on the 4th and 5th, followed two days later by a dart tournament and on the 13th and 14th by three-cushion billiards.

All tournaments will be held in the Ft. Baker Service Club.

In addition to Sfc. Andresen and Pvt. Fuller, the Post will be represented in Bay Area Armed Forces Sports League competition by:

Sfc. Ed Johnson, 3,308 and 183; Pvt. Stan Bowlds, 3,298 and 183; Capt. Neal W. Sanders, Jr., 3,245 and 180; M/Sgt. Charles Mahon, 3,239 and 179; and Capt. Edward Rusek, 3,223 and 178.

The Presidians will get their first test tomorrow in League play when the top five meet a Travis Air Force Base quintet at the local Service Club alleys, beginning at 1400.

No other games have yet been scheduled, but Sfc. Andresen expects to meet with other team representatives Monday at Travis AFB during a regularly scheduled League meeting to iron out a season slate.

Sixth Army Takes League Crown

INTRAMURAL MANAGERS of the winning teams in the Presidio and Engineer Leagues reach for that big Post Champions trophy being held by Maj. Ben Kvitky, Post Special Services Officer. Holding their trophies for the one and two spots in either League, and hoping for the best in the four-team Post playoff now underway, are (l. to r.): Sp4 Stanley March of runner-up 537th Engineers and Pfc. Larry Davenport of the first place 21st Engineers in the Engineer League; Maj. Kvitky; and Presidio League's Sp4 Eugene Sullivan of the Number One Sixth Army Headquarters team and Pfc. Don Williams of runner-up Letterman Army Hospital.

Key Area Sports Leaders To Meet Here This Month

The Sixth U.S. Army Sports Conference, slated for 19-21 November at Presidio Service Club No. 1, has taken on a tri-service flavor as invitations were extended recently to military and civilian sports leaders of Bay Area Navy and Air Force installations.

Featuring a six-point program, the Conference will bring together sports directors from throughout Sixth Army for briefings on latest Army and command athletic policies and programs.

Specifically, on the agenda are:

- Discussion and interpretation of 1959 Sixth Army policy and program.
- Discussion of DA program and local implementation in support of 1959 Pan-American Games and 1960 Olympics.
- Intramural program — guidance and maximum participation.
- Training in latest methods of conducting programs in selected sports subjects.
- Development of high professional standards.
- Stimulation of physical fitness in support of President's Youth Fitness Program.

SS Quint Favored In Monday Play

With play in the Letterman Army Hospital intramural basketball loop due to end after final games Monday night, the Special Services quint is heavy favorite to take top honors this year.

Boasting a 6-0 record, as opposed to the 4-2 of the runner-up Adjutants, Special Services earned a bye in last week's clashes.

The Adjutants counted on Sp4 Chet Brenneise and Sp4 Jimmy Maddox, with seven markers apiece, to overcome the Teenagers, 25-19.

In the only other game, Capt. Henry Williams' 14 points paced the third place Interns to a 46-25 rout of Surgery.

Surgery and the Teenagers, both with 1-6 records, are tied in the cellar of the five team league.

Smother LAH 33-7 21st Tops Engineers

Sixth Army's rugged touch footballers ripped through Letterman Army Hospital, 33-7, in rough and tough battle here this week to score a three-way triumph:

- Clamped the lid on the Presidio League crown.
  - Won the first round in Post championship play.
  - Avenged an early season scoreless tie with the medics.
- Earlier, the 21st and 537th Engineers sewed up post season tourney berths by taking the one-two spots in the Engineer League.

At the end of the regular season, Sixth Army and LAH were knotted at 8-0-1 in Presidio play so Wednesday's match served also as first game in the Post title double elimination fracas.

The top two teams in both leagues vie in Post championship games.

Yesterday afternoon the 21st and 537th clashed, but scores were not available at press time. Sixth Army will play the 21st-537th victor Tuesday.

Sixth Army went into the play-off tilt heavy favorites to wallop LAH and lived up to expectations by tallying twice in the first period.

Quarterback Pvt. Bill Chapman fired a six-pointer to Sp4 Myron Bromberg and later legged 30 yards to push Sixth Army's lead to 12-0. Both conversion attempts failed.

In the second quarter it was an all Pvt. Jan Lloyd show, though there was no score, as the other

Sixth Army QB leaped high in his own end zone to flick a long LAH pass from the outstretched hands of two receivers. A few moments later, with Sixth Army in possession on its own 20, he eluded a trap, faked a pass and streaked 60 yards through the whole Letterman team for a TD. But the score was called back on a clipping penalty.

At halftime the score remained 12-0, Sixth Army.

In the first series of downs in the third period, LAH made a strong bid for a TD when 2d Lt. Bob McNamara brought his squad to Sixth Army's 40 and on third down shook loose from defensive rushers and angled to the 1. But his fourth down touchdown throw missed its mark. Sixth Army took over.

Letterman's lone score came on the next play when 2d Lt. McNamara snatched a Pvt. Chapman aerial about 15 yards out and scooted across the goal line.

His toss to Pfc. Jim Hanson was good for the PAT.

From there on out it was Sixth Army's ball game.

Pvt. Lloyd took the LAH kick-off and lateraled across the field to Sp4 Bromberg, who sped to the Letterman 20. Pvt. Lloyd then flipped one to Pfc. John Andre in the end zone and added the PAT on a pass to Sp4 Bromberg. 19-7.

With less than a minute to go in the third quarter, Sixth Army's Pvt. Chapman rifled a sensational 50-yard throw to Presidio basketball Pfc. Joe Gascon, who ran 20 for another score. Pvt. Chapman then hit Sp4 Ken Reynolds for the extra point. 26-7.

Sixth Army's final TD was a two-period effort. Seconds before the end of the third quarter, Sp4 Bromberg intercepted at midfield and returned to about the LAH 5. But a penalty brought the ball back to about the 30.

Pvt. Lloyd's pass was partially blocked on an ensuing play but it fell into the hands of lineman Pfc. Chester Davis and he lumbered to the 3.

Pvt. Chapman came in and picked out Pfc. Gascon for the tally. The same combination clicked for the PAT and the 33-7 landslide stood until the final whistle.

Final standings in the two local leagues are as follows:

After his Army hitch—he is a three-year man—he plans to return East and look for a job in his new field, heavy equipment operation. He was a mason before he entered the service.

"The pro game is out," he said. "I may play around Lynn for a few years, but probably no more."

Presidio Private

Seeks Key Hockey Team Berth

When the six-foot, 165-pound Presidio private skates out onto the ice Sunday at the U.S. National Hockey Team tryouts in Minneapolis, old-timers will remember him as center-forward Fred Wonoski of last year's American amateur squad which placed fifth in world competition at Oslo, Norway.

But the few Presidians who have met him know him only as a 22-year-old heavy equipment operator who last week was assigned to the 561st Engineer Company, Ft. Baker.

With hardly a chance to hang his hat here, Pvt. Wonoski was expected to arrive in Minneapolis today for the month-long tryouts and is an odds-on favorite to be one of the 16 of 35 candidates selected for the team.

After the final squad is named, the team will begin a 45-day tour of the States (with three matches against the visiting Russian team) and then move to Europe for competition there before the world matches in March at Prague, Czechoslovakia.

Next October, Pvt. Wonoski plans to compete for an Olympic berth.

Pvt. Wonoski's 25 point (10 goals, 15 assists) play on the 1957-58 U.S. team was a tribute to experience and careful, slow grooming.

In his native Lynn, Mass., Pvt. Wonoski got the hockey "bug" as a kid in pick-up matches. Later, and until he was 14, he was active in PeeWee play. He made the Lynn Classical High School team with his brother, Ed, two years his senior, in 1952. The next two years he was high-scoring in the North Shore (Mass.) High School Hockey League and was named to the All-Stars twice.

After high school, and while under contract to the Boston

Bruins, he played in the professional Junior League in Canada for a year.

Quitting the pro game in 1956, Pvt. Wonoski returned to the amateurs and held down the center-forward slot for New Haven in the Eastern Hockey League.

After two years away from the professional ranks, he was eligible under American rules to compete for a place on the U.S. team. (Other countries, such as Canada, do not require any time lapse between pro and amateur international play.)

Pvt. Wonoski has high hopes for this year's squad and hopes it can best one or more of the teams which placed above it last year (Canada, Russia, Sweden, Czechoslovakia).

He also is looking forward to another trip to Russia. After the Oslo meet this past March, the American team spent a week in Moscow for two unsuccessful matches against the international runners-up.

While there he had a chance to visit the Kremlin—"Just the museums there," he explained—see a circus and visit Stalin's and Lenin's tombs.

TWO HUNDRED DOLLARS for superior performance of duties was this week presented to Edith Miller, news writer in Sixth Army Public Information Office, by Maj. Gen. John J. Binns, Sixth Army Chief of Staff.

Sixth Army Civilians Take Top Cash Awards

Thirteen Sixth Army Headquarters civilian employees are $1470 richer following presentation of checks and Department of the Army Superior Performance and Suggestion Award Certificates at ceremonies this week.

Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Commanding General of Sixth Army, and Maj. Gen. John J. Binns, Sixth Army Chief of Staff, made the presentations.

Top money winner for superior performance of duty was Harold Simerman, G1, Civilian Personnel Division Supervisory Employee Utilization Officer, who received $300. He has been a federal employee for nearly 18 years.

Mrs. Mary Weber, Secretary, Office of the Commanding General, received $200 based on an "outstanding" rating.

Winnifred Senn, Budget Officer, and Miss Edith Moritz, Budget Analyst G3 (Plans and Training) Section, each received $200. A news writer with the Information Section, Miss Edith Miller, accepted a check for $200.

A check for $100 went to Mrs. Grace Webster, a G2 Personnel Security Assistant. John Conforti, Adjutant General Reserve Forces Division, received $100 for his superior performance as a Supervisory Military Personnel Clerk.

Two checks, a $100 superior performance award and a $10 suggestion award, went to Mrs. Ressa Bader, AG Reserve Components Division Supervisory Clerk.

Miss Claire McLaughlin, clerk-typist with the AG Reserve Forces Division, won two suggestion awards for a total of $20.

Miss Juanita Chase, Military Personnel Clerk, AG Reserve Forces Division, received a $10 suggestion award check.

Pal Week Ahead

Home Hospitality At USO

Feel in the mood for a Sunday home-cooked dinner? Next Sunday, 9 November, has been designated as Home Hospitality Day, one of the features of Pal Week sponsored by the USO.

If you are interested in a good home-cooked dinner, register at the USO, 1017 Market, telephone MA 1-0630. Registration implies a firm intention to accept an invitation which will be arranged by the Club. It is requested that you wear your uniform. If you wish to attend church with your new family, be at the USO by 1000 where the families will pick you up.

Full details about Home Hospitality Day and all the week's activity may be obtained by telephoning the USO.

Cheshire Soldier Wins Battalion's Top Soldier Title

Private First Class Walter H. Phelan, 20-year-old Fire Panel Operator, from Btry. D, 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty., in Newark, California, walked away with the honors as Battalion Soldier of the Month. Each Battery sent its top man to Bn. Hqs. to appear before the Board of Officers to determine who would receive the high honor and the prizes of a 3-day pass and $25 cash award. Phelan, the RA from Btry. D, showed the way.

Top Soldier Pfc. W. H. Phelan

Phelan entered the Army from his home town of Cheshire, Connecticut and took his basic at Ft. Dix, New Jersey. From Ft. Dix, he was assigned to duty in Camp Chaffee, Arkansas, where he remained until February, 1958, when he was sent to Btry. D, in Newark, Calif.

Duty in Newark and the ways of the West were so much to his liking that Phelan and Newark girl Charlotte Torbette were married in September of this year. The bride and groom reside with the bride's parents at 2697 Zulmida Street, Newark, Calif.

Plans for the check and 3-day pass? Tentatively that will just about cover a long planned, out-State fishing trip, stag, with some of the boys from Btry. D.

Augsburg, Ger. (ANS) — Many troops of the 24th Infantry Division will make their film debut about 1 January, when the dramatic documentary "Status of Forces Agreement" is slated for release. The motion picture, which explains the position of American Forces in Germany, is destined for showing to all personnel henceforth going to Europe. The division is represented in the movie by the 1st Airborne Battle Group, 503d Infantry, which was filmed as it passed in review recently.

Engineer Civilians Win 7 Suggestion Awards

First time winners of Department of the Army Suggestion Award Certificates and additional suggestion award money were received by eight civilian employees this week. Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Commanding Officer of the Presidio, made the presentations. Seven of the eight awards were won by Post Engineers and Field Maintenance Shop employees in Sausalito.

Retirement

Loyd Osborn, power ground equipment repair leader, won $70 for a suggested S4 Valve Stop. For a suggestion for a Valve Pilot Grinding Guide for RIX Capping Compressors, David Norris, engineer equipment mechanics leader, received $55. Jerry Pruett and Clyde Harrington, both power ground equipment repairers, divided a check for $45 for the suggestion Safety Screens for Power Unit Guided Missile Sites.

Bernard Remler, leaderman, earned $15 for his suggestion Repositioning of Drum Switches in IFC Generator Rooms. Ten dollars each went to Foster Childers, paint foreman, for his suggestion on the Use of 22 Gauge Metal for Repair Ventilator Brackets, and Joseph Greer, electrical lineman, who suggested notices be placed in the Daily Bulletin notifying employees not to contact the Engineer Section of power failures for a minimum of 15 minutes after failures have occurred.

Post Transportation winner was Willie Kirk, automotive body and fender repair leader, who received $10 for a safety suggestion concerned with the method of changing destination signs on buses.

Two other men from other stations also will retire here but not participate in today's ceremonies: CWO William J. Harmon, 725th Ordnance Battalion, Schofield Barracks, Hawaii, and M/Sgt. Donald M. Swain, ALCAN, Davis, Calif.

On Veterans Day

Former Philippine Scout Plans To Exhibit Paintings Locally

James Conde is a tiny man with a big talent.

Standing just a little taller than five feet, the miniature ex-Philippine Scout and retired Army sergeant survived the nightmare Death March in World War II to become, in his waning years, a vivid primitivist of his native land through the medium of brilliant oil paints.

"I love bright paintings—the splash of color," said the aging artist who admits to 65 though his service records state he is only 60.

His "love" has culminated in four primitive school reproductions of the Philippines done from memory—one of them on a metal sheet.

These paintings will comprise a one-man exhibit Veterans Day, 11 November at the Presidio Service Club. They are:

- Philippina Madonna—soulful portrait of a young native mother and her child.

- Moro Custom—typical scene in historical Philippines; man offering a woman a piece of fruit.
- Tinickling Dance—colorful, gay scene of dance traditional in the festival after the rice harvest.
- Mayon Volcano—rich village scene dominated by giant volcano in background.

Mr. Conde started sketching as a youngster in school. During his 33 years in service (1915-48), mostly in the Philippines, he developed his talents as time permitted between two major wars and other actions, but it was the GI Bill which allowed him to achieve perfection.

When he retired, he majored for the next four years in art at Santo Tomas University in Manila—concentrating on his flair for color.

Coming to the States in 1952, he found a job as a kitchen helper at Twin Pines Sanitarium in near-by Belmont, where he has stayed ever since. Between meals and in the evenings he has found plenty of time to paint.

As with his first four major works, Mr. Conde is going to have to rely entirely on memory for his fifth—and greatest—undertaking: the brutal Death March. He is well acquainted with his subject, having been one of the survivors of that infamous forced march under Japanese captors following the fall of Corregidor.

After more than a year as a POW, Mr. Conde escaped in July, 1943, to join a guerrilla band as a medical officer (his entire career was in the Medical Corps) and fight the invaders until the Liberation.

Mr. Conde has three sons and six daughters, all of whom are in the Philippines except the oldest boy, Cudero, who not long ago joined the Navy and currently is following in his father's footsteps. He's a Corpsman in San Diego Naval Hospital.

A Day's Pay — The Only Fair Way!

Where Were You When Hope Passed By?

Junior Grade Success

"How many skeletons are here?" squeaked an excited voice into the ear of the big sergeant. "Sergeant . . . I think I felt a ghost!" whispered another.

The children stood before gloomy Fort Point, looking at it incredulously. They were like the approximately 400 other school children who have visited the Presidio since June of 1958.

They squeal and stare their way through the tour and stop longest at the old wonderful favorites . . . the cannons, the mess hall, the barracks, and old Fort Point.

This week a letter came to the Sergeant at the Sixth Army Public Information Office. It was written in pencil on blue lined paper half the size of a desk top. "We wish to thank you for showing us around the Presidio. We enjoyed visiting Fort Point, the Officers Club, and the helicopter. We thank you again for being so nice to us."

Attached to the letter was a crayon drawing. A strip of blue across the top was the sky. The sun, with eight long arms and an enormous smile, beams down on a red outlined hangar. Plunging down from the sky comes a small green airplane, evidently headed straight for the ground which is a strip of solid brown at the bottom of the paper. And in the hangar sits a helicopter. Its body is green. It has a purple engine and a long black tail.

We wish to thank the children for coming and for being so nice to us and sending us that pretty picture.

The Military Mind

"The Military Mind"—you hear so much about it. But what is it?

Probably it is the most overworked and misleading phrase ever to distort the public's idea of the Armed Services. To an ambitious, intelligent young man it pictures a service career as a bleak life of lockstepping conformity.

Nothing could be further from the truth. Today's ideal military man is the man who uses his mind as more than a filing cabinet for the rigid precepts of others. He thinks critically. In the words of a famous general recently retired, he represents "intelligent non-conformity."

Discipline is an indispensable factor in the military; no nation in history has ever been successfully defended by a mob. But the disciplined man is not necessarily the regimented one. He trains his mind to be tough, flexible, receptive to new ideas. Facing a critical situation, the solution of which can't be referred to texts or manuals, he tackles it with wits and logic—and comes out on top.

Such a man is nobody's patsy. He can't be summed up in any tired old chestnut. (AFPS)

My Part in Winning Friends for Freedom

Ever hear of "The Texan Who Conquered Russia"? He's 23-year-old Van Cliburn, winner of Moscow's International Tchaikovsky Piano Competition. Overnight he became an idol for millions of Soviet citizens.

An American idol, mind you—in 1958.

Few of us can be keyboard wizards, but many servicemen abroad have varied talents that can help win the friendly respect of others. If you have ability as a musician, dancer, artist or entertainer, don't confine it to your duty station. People are the same almost anywhere in their appreciation of others with such gifts.

Your own experiences abroad may have proved this. Why not recall them in a letter on the theme "My Part in Winning Friends for Freedom" for the Letter Writing Awards Program of Freedoms Foundation, Valley Forge, Pa. Keep it under 500 words and mail before Nov. 1.

Nickel foolish... pound wise!

Numismatist or not, you had better hold on to that nickel! S/Sgt. Marvin Childers, a coin collector, discovered that sometimes a nickel can be worth a lot more than five cents. He has one nickel that is worth about $10,000. It's a 1913 "Liberty Head" variety, one of the five coins minted in 1913 before the U.S. Mint switched to the buffalo design.

Childers found it one day while browsing through his collection and can't remember where or when he picked it up. His discovery means that four of the five nickels have been located, leaving one still in circulation.

Gotta nickel, buddy?

Late Flashes

Washington (ANS) — All military personnel on active duty for 90 days or more may compete this year in the 1959 All-Army and 8th Interservice Photography Contest, according to DA Circular 23-18 which is now being distributed. Competition will be in two groups: Group I, black and white single photographs and Group II, color transparencies. The Department of the Army level of competition will be judged in May, 1959, with local competition coming somewhat prior to that time, and the interservice contest during June.

Washington (ANS) — Spotting and tracking of nuclear clouds with a relative degree of accuracy by means of radar may now be possible, the Department of the Army announced this week.

Tests made by the U. S. Army Signal Corps show that the Army's advanced weather radar systems, ordinarily used to detect storms and aid in forecasts, may also help to warn soldiers and civilians of probable areas of radio-active fall-out from nuclear explosions.

Proved highly effective during high-yield nuclear tests, the Army's radar equipment measured the size and plotted the course of "hot" clouds. During the tests, the first photographs of a radar scope showing the nuclear mushroom were made with a special camera. Successive film exposures showed the formation, rise and drift of the characteristic cloud. The nuclear clouds were tracked for as long as two hours.

Washington (ANS) — "Soldiers' Heritage" (Title of the Army's TV series, THE BIG PICTURE, scheduled for showing about 11 November) is a tribute to veterans. A warm salute to the soldiers who have fought in this Nation's wars, the film will present an intimate look at their part in the history of the United States Army, with dramatic moments of their bravery and their relaxations.

Washington (ANS) — The Department of the Army, this week, directed all Army agencies and commands using the domestic mails to adjust their mailing schedules for bulk distribution of pamphlets, books and similar matter to reduce the load to a minimum during the period from 1 to 26 December. "Matter of this type," states DA Cir 341-23, "being heavy and bulky, seriously interferes with the handling of the holiday mails and often causes damage to Christmas parcels."

Wertzburg, Ger. (ANS)—Stressing that nothing boosts the morale of a soldier in the field like a package from home, the Information Office of the 3d Infantry Division reports that one Pfc. got just what every man on maneuvers needs—a bowling ball. A buddy did even better. He received three boxes filled with maternity clothes for his wife.

Today's Little Lesson in Citizenship: America's Bill of Rights was incorporated in the Constitution (as the first Ten Amendments thereto) in 1791 — on 3 November.

what they said

Just as sure as some people have brown hair and others have red, everyone has a certain and particular way of talking. Speech habits and choice of words are determined by many factors . . . early environment, education, and geographical situation. This week, we wondered how aware people are of their own speech habits, so we asked

THE QUESTION: What expression or colloquialism do you use most often?

ANSWERS:

Mrs. Rae Rasmussen, Clerk, Post QM: I stay away from colloquialisms. It's just not my nature to use them. I prefer better grammar. I don't think you can generalize about a person's speech by where he comes from; it depends on what group you come from. I've travelled a little bit so I haven't picked up any particular way of speaking. I feel that poor grammar is inexcusable. I think it represents not caring. Any person can manage to use acceptable grammar. Speaking of surface things, grammar is one of the most important.

Mary K. Bair, Stenographer, Hdqs. XV Corps: I probably say "Oh, phooeeey!" Being a Southerner, I must have picked it up there. A lot of them use it. I'm from Georgia. I say "You'all," but I'd hate to commit all Southerners to my southern accent. I don't think I'll ever lose my southern accent, because I'm going to move back to Florida. I'll probably get more of an accent as time goes on. Really I don't know how to spell these so called colloquialisms, but I guess you might say I say "un-huh" quite a bit!

Tom Conroy, Signal Section, Sixth Army: Well, I'm originally from Oklahoma then Kansas City, Missouri. I like a southern accent. I use "sorry about that." I don't know where I got that. To tell the truth, I've never heard anyone else use it, but I'd hate to take the credit! I never say "you-all" . . . I'm not that far south. I think an accent is like a personality. It should be strong. I've heard some people with phony accents. I guess that represents a little bit of insecurity. And I'd say mostly bad grammar was being a little lazy.

Mrs. Eileen Wishart, Clerk, Engineering Section, Sixth Army: Well, to be very honest with you, I don't know what expressions I use. But I must use some. I'm from New York where there are plenty of slang expressions. New Yorkers never lose their accent and consequently they are always teased about it. I personally was born in Brooklyn. They say thoihty-thoid street. But I don't. I think in New York we often slur words like dropping "ing" or not using an "r" in the middle of a word. For example, I say New Yawk and chah instead of car and chahter instead of charter. I'm used to jive talk with two teenage daughters. You know, everything is a blast, jazz or real crazy.

How much do you know about the theory of military tactics in eighteenth-century France? THE BACKGROUND OF NAPOLEONIC WARFARE, written by R. S. Quimby, traces the changes in tactics and battle formations and the ideas advanced by Guibert, Saxe, Maitzroy, Pirch, Folard and Mesnil-Durand.

H. S. Ashmore has recently published, in Little Rock, AN EPITAPH FOR DIXIE. In his book the editor of the Arkansas Gazette, a native southerner, states his reasons for his unpopular stand on the crisis in that town and why he believes the South is eventually going to end its segregation policies.

PRACTICAL OFFICE TIMESAVERS, by A. H. Gager, gives simplified work procedures, initiated and tested by member companies of the National Office Management Assoc., in such areas as accounting, billing, filing, layout, forms, personnel, payroll, reproduction and typing.

Open Competition Set For Presidio Shooters

Next week Presidio marksmen will vie during dual individual-team meets for slots on the Post rifle and pistol teams slated to compete in Sixth Army matches in late March.

Pistoleers will fire 10 November on the range near Crissy Field, followed on Thursday and Friday by the riflemen at Ft. Barry range. All firing will begin at 0700.

To spur competitors, awards will be presented to the top three firers in pistol and rifle and the first and second place teams will earn trophies (as well as medals for each team member).

M/Sp. D. R. Dunsmoor said this week that "plenty of equipment is available" and guns and ammunition can be requisitioned from Post Ordnance through normal supply channels. M1 rifles and .45 calibre pistols will be used; personal weapons will be acceptable.

In pistol, the Cp. Perry Course will be fired, except that the slow fire will be from 25 yards rather than 50. Riflemen will follow the National Trophy Match Course, except that 500-yard firing will replace that at 600 yards.

Units expected to enter teams and individuals are U.S.A. Garrison, Sixth Army Special Troops, Armed Services Police, 60th CI Detachment, 30th Engineer Battalion, 16th Base Post Office, 194th Ordnance, 561st Engineer Company and U.S.A. Veterinary Detachment.

A more modern method of escape involves the use of a life preserver which lifts a man to the surface while he "breathes out." The mutilated surplus lungs will be sold for material content only.

Navy Warns Skin Divers On Use Of Momsen Lung

Washington (AFPS)—A sharp warning has been issued by the Navy that the Momsen lung, a submarine escape device, is unsafe for skin diving. "Death from suffocation can result," the Navy warned, if the unit is used improperly.

Momsen lungs now being sold as surplus property will be mutilated in the future to prevent their use in the skin diving sport.

The lung, designed to take trapped submariners from sea depths to surface, is being replaced in the submarine service, according to the Navy.

A more modern method of escape involves the use of a life preserver which lifts a man to the surface while he "breathes out." The mutilated surplus lungs will be sold for material content only.

Hughes, Air Force Hand LAH Ladies 2nd Straight Loss

Letterman's ladies couldn't stop a gal named Hughes, and that's the crux of the Hospital WAC basketballers second loss in two Women's Interservice Recreational League tilts.

Hughes (rest of name unknown) proved to be the secret weapon of a previously unheralded Travis Air Force Base sextet as she poured in 30 points to almost outscore the locals and head her squad to a 45-34 homecourt victory.

Looping the hoop for Letterman, behind the 16 point effort of Pfc. Mary Otiliar, were Sp5 Mary Groseclose (8), 2d Lt. Edna Smith (7), Sgt. Josie Stallings (2) and Pfc. Geraldine Fevella (1).

The Hospital belles held their own in the second half, outscoring the host team, 23-18, but the late rally couldn't bridge a 15-2 lead Travis took in the first period and followed up in the second quarter with 11-7.

Defensive standouts for Letterman was Sgt. Hilda Melenyk.

Tuesday at 1800 in the LAH gym, the local WACs will meet Hamilton Air Force Base in another League match.

Toreros Meet Chinese In Season Opener Monday

Presidio Basketball Coach Hal Fischer this week named his starting lineup for the Torero's 1958-59 opener against the San Francisco Chinese.

The game is scheduled for 2015 on Monday night at the Chinese Recreation Hall, Washington and Mason Sts.

Taking the floor at the opening tip-off will be:

Forwards 1st Lt. Frank Evangelho, 24-year-old all-Pacific Coast high scoring artist from University of San Francisco and Pfc. Bill VonWeyhe, 23, all-American Honorable Mention from University of Connecticut.

Center and team captain Pfc. John Vesevick, 25, veteran of last year's squad, or Pfc. Joe Savoldi, 24, 245-pounder who is best known for his track feats at Michigan State.

Guards Pvt. Harry Lux, 24, also of Michigan State, and Pfc. John Perry, 21, fast break man from San Jose State.

Big game for the locals, however, is the home opener and first Bay Area Armed Forces Sports League clash at Letterman gym 12 November against a rugged Hamilton Air Force Base quintet. In that game, Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Presidio Commanding Officer, will toss up the ball to start the game. The Sixth Army Band will entertain.

Crusade Drive Here Lags; Needs Strong Push

College Courses Open; OK Green-Dacron For WAC Wearing 10 November Deadline

Four new on-post college courses have been announced by the Army Education Center beginning in mid-November. Enrollment deadline is 10 November. The classes will include:

● Psych. 140—Social Psychology (3 units). Monday and Wednesday, 1830-2100, Bldg. 1131, starting 17 November. An investigation of the development of the individual in a cultural context. Exploration of factors contributing to personality. Theories of personality as they apply to understanding individual behavior in social settings. Communication as a psychological problem between groups and individuals. Prejudice analyzed as a psychological phenomenon. Propaganda and public opinion in a democracy. A look at some social myths as they relate to ability to maintain contact with reality. Perception as a psychological problem and the implications in terms of human behavior when perception is distorted. Opportunity to do research in the field during the semester. Satisfies the General Education requirement in Psychology.

● Engl. 6.1—Basic Communication (3 units). Tuesday and Thursday, 1830-2100, Bldg. 1131, starting 18 November. This course is designed to increase the student's ability to write and read. It provides exercise in various prose types, such as description, exposition, argument and narrative. Classes will be run as far as possible by informed discussion of reading materials and the written work of students in the class. Materials will be both traditional and modern. Reading will cover essays, poetry, short stories, and the novel. Satisfies college requirement in oral and written expression.

● Geog. 125—Economic Geography (3 units). Monday and Wednesday, 1830-2100, Bldg. 1101, starting 17 November. Economic Geography is concerned with the arrangement and location of economic activities on the earth's surface. Economic activities of consumption and production and their functions are analyzed and delimited geographically. The structure of an economic region is developed in the concept of an economy, which is defined as a system of production and its geographically associated features of consumption. Economic regions are studied on a world basis. May be applied to either Geography or Economics upper division social science major field.

● I. R. 124—International Organization (3 units). Tuesday and Thursday, 1830-2100, Bldg. 1101, starting 18 November. The state system and the development of international institutions. The traditional approach to this aspect of international affairs is expanded to reflect the deepening courtship between realistic political maneuverers and formal organizational procedures. The processes of venting national aspirations, accommodating national actions, and channeling national desires for cooperative endeavor are studied from an international point of view. The United Nations system, including the regional and defense organizations for which it provides, and the specialized agencies which have been drawn into it, is studied both as a historical-political process and as a functional framework for international activity of all kinds. May be applied to General Social Science major.

Enrollments for above classes will close 10 November, 1958. Students shall call at the Army Education Center, Bldg. 258, or telephone Extension 3189 to register prior to closing date. Holidays during above semester will be 27 November and 19 December-5 January.

From the Army Almanac: The first American Artillery shot in World War I was fired October 23, 1917, by a gun under the command of Sergeant Alexander Arch in the Lunenburg sector.

USER-DRIVER OF THE MONTH Floyd Williams accepts letter of commendation from Capt. James Bradley, Motor Division, Post Transportation.

High School Classes Set

High school classes leading to a diploma will begin next Thursday, 6 November. Classes in General Science will meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 1800 to 2100 in Bldg. 252. English and Literature classes will meet on Mondays and Wednesdays. These classes will meet for eight weeks.

Classes in General Mathematics and U.S. History and Government will be offered in February. High school diplomas will be awarded to students who complete all four courses.

Personnel who may not be sure of their high school eligibility should contact the Education Center, extension 2974.

His Own Two Feet

When Help Was Badly Needed

Little Ricky Brown can stand on his two feet now, thanks to the Marin Red Cross Chapter, a part of the United Bay Area Crusade.

Ricky is the son of an airman at Hamilton Air Force Base. That's not his right name, but he's a real boy living in Novato.

Ricky's troubles began when he was four months old. He suddenly developed a bone condition and needed a brace for one of his legs. His family couldn't pay for it, and they had no place to turn except to the Red Cross. Red Cross, which is supported by United Crusade donations, could pay and did.

"And Red Cross really put us back on our feet, too," says an airman for one of the Marin NIKE sites.

The NIKE man and his wife got into a bind last spring when she was pregnant and something went wrong. He took her to Marin General Hospital and then sent his mother-in-law home so that she could come out from the East.

"Then I was almost flat broke—didn't even have money for food or taxi fare to visit my wife at the hospital," he says.

Red Cross straightened things out by paying the hospital admission charge and lending the airman more money to live on.

And who else calls on Red Cross? Last year the San Francisco chapter reported 789,800 different services to military people. And the 10 other Red Cross chapters in the United Crusade helped many thousands more service people.

Ask Keymen, Unit Chiefs To Reach Top Potential

Washington (AFPS)—A new green cotton-dacron cord uniform has been approved for wear next summer by women in the Army.

The Shade 160 service greens will take the place of the present WAC taupe cotton summer dress as replacement is required.

Under a plan phased through 1962, sales and issue of the new uniform to recruits will start at the beginning of the 1959 summer season, with further wear of cotton taupe unauthorized two years later.

WACs will be required to purchase the green dacron from their clothing allowance as the taupe cottons become unserviceable during the wear-out period, the Army said.

Keymen here are sharpening their pencils and their wits today in a last ditch effort to push their respective units and sections over the top in the waning days of the 1958 United Bay Area Crusade.

A few—five to be exact—could rest on their laurels since they've already "shot the moon" in percentage of participation and potential, but it's a safe bet the same drive that sparked them to initial success will keep them hammering until the last minute.

Seven other keymen have registered 100 percent participation but have fallen short in the dollars and cents column. With today the last official campaign day, and a military pay day to boot, those fellows are sure to make a final pitch for the bacon.

As one keyman put it, "I've got three pay days and three types to work on—'not again'... 'what do you mean, my fair share,' and 'gosh, I can't afford it.' I think I've got the right answers for all three."

But, it could all boil down to a matter of pride. The Army is languishing in a weak second place among the military with only 71 percent of potential while the local Leathernecks need only 2 percent more to reach the top. Close behind is the Coast Guard with 60 percent, while the Navy has registered 58 percent and the Air Force only 37 percent.

Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth U.S. Army Commander and head of the UBAC military section, has stressed the need for "intelligent and personal leadership by unit commanders and section chiefs." He said that an appeal to the individual's "pride in the team effort" should do much to raise lagging groups to their top potential.

Wins New Driver Award

The first man to be awarded a letter of commendation in the newly established User-Driver of the Month by Post Transportation is Floyd Williams.

A driver for the Post Signal Section, Williams has driven seven years with 250,000 accident free miles. He was selected on his driving proficiency, appearance of vehicle, quality of performing maintenance, courtesy, and personal neatness.

Out of 320 vehicles maintained by Post Transportation, 50 are User-driven.

Win Performance Cash

Two civilian employees in Sixth U.S. Army Secretary General Staff Office recently received $100 each for "Outstanding" ratings.

Miss Marguerite Worsley, a secretary, has more than 16 years of Federal service. Mrs. Sally Minnear, a clerk and assistant to the OIC, came to the Presidio in 1951.

Set Retreat Ceremonies For Today

Vol. 7, No. 23 PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA Friday 31 October, 1958

8,200 Army Pro Pay Awards Due By Feb. 1

Washington (AFPS)—Service-wide quotas under the Army's interim pro pay plan authorize more than 8,200 awards of $30 a month in specific skills through next 1 February.

Part of the new Enlisted Management Program, proficiency payments will start 1 Nov. for 2,056 selected in six critical MOSSs, with additional awards to be made in designated fields on the first day of the succeeding three months.

A breakdown of the November quota, by occupational specialty and MOS code number, is:

● Service-to-Air Missile Electronic Assembler: 223.1 (12 awards); 223.2 (140); 223.6 (176); 223.7 (144).

● Surface-to-Surface Missile Electronic Assembler: 224.2 (3 awards); 224.3 (1); 224.6 (44); 224.7 (21).

● Surface-to-Air Missile Fire Control Crewman: 227.2 (121 awards); 227.6 (264).

● Central Office Supervisor: 333.6 (363 awards).

● Medical Laboratory Specialist: 931.1 (171 awards); 931.2 (147); 931.6 (200).

● Voice Interceptor: 988.1 (203 awards); 988.2 (28); 988.6 (18).

● The later allotments will be December—1,598; in 23 skill levels and 10 MOSSs; January—2,203 in 29 skill levels and 12 MOSSs; and February—2,354 in 17 skill levels and five MOSSs.

● Proficiency pay selections under the long-range plan, which is based on the Enlisted Evaluation System, will start March 1, 1959, to bring the number of awards to 28,800 by next June 30.

Others Gave—Did You?

New Tax Ruling On Travel Would Include Services

New York (AFPS)—The practical effect of a new income tax ruling is to excuse military personnel from income tax accountability for mileage and per diem based on travel, TDY, etc., in the continental U.S.

Internal Revenue Bulletin 1958-37 states in effect that an employee (serviceman) need not report on his tax return expenses for travel and similar purposes paid for the benefit of his employer (the service) if he is held accountable to his employer or if it comes as reimbursement.

At the Presidio for the past three years, he previously had been awarded $300 for compiling into a single volume all technical material relative to maintenance of the Nike-Ajax missile.

Complete AADC Tour

Completing a three-week observation schedule of U.S. military installations and facilities, Maj. Gen. Chung-yang Lo, Maj. Gen. Siao-yu Chiang and Col. Kechuang Liu, officers in the Chinese Nationalist Air Force, visited units of the 6th Regional U.S. Army Air Defense Command here this week.

Set Refresher Course

A refresher Intelligence Training course for military and civilian personnel who are in sensitive positions or who have access to classified materials will be held next Wednesday, 5 November, in the Post Theater at 1100. Another class will be held on Wednesday, 19 November.

Three Will Take Parade Eight More End Careers

Nine Presidians will bring their Army careers to a close here today when they retire in tradition on the last day of the month. Three of them will be honored during parade ceremonies at 1600 on the main parade ground. They are: Col. George O. Pearson, Presidio S4, who will be awarded the first Oak Leaf Cluster to the Legion of Merit. A veteran of the South Pacific and mid-Pacific Campaigns during World War II, Col. Pearson later commanded the 508th Regimental Combat Team at Ft. Benning, Ga., and in 1953 was named Deputy Commander of the Berlin Command, Germany. In June 1954 he assumed the identical position in Southern Area Command, Munich, Germany; 20 months later he became Chief of Staff of Allied Land Forces, Denmark, in Copenhagen, where he remained until coming to the Presidio.

coming to the Presidio as Commander of the 82d Ordnance Battalion at Kaiserslautern, Germany. Maj. Ziesing plans to go into the coin business in Paradise, Calif., after retirement.

CWO Knut E. Lossbom, Assistant Chief of the Sixth Army G2 Management Office since December 1956. Beginning his career shortly before Pearl Harbor with the 7th Field Artillery at Ft. Ethan Allen, Vt., he remained with the unit throughout World War II, during which time it was redesignated the 25th Field Artillery. CWO Lossbom, who has held a number of intelligence posts in the United States and Europe, served after World War II in Germany and then returned to the States for duty with the Joint Intelligence Objectives Agency of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Returning to Germany in 1952, he served in Heidelberg with U.S. Army Headquarters, Europe, until coming to the Presidio in 1955. He plans to travel following his retirement.

Other Presidians who will retire but who will not participate in today's ceremonies are: M/Sgt. Douglas B. Sheridan, Presidio Range NCO and former mainstay of Post marksmanship teams. One of 11 men on active duty to hold the Distinguished Marksmanship Badges for both rifle and pistol, the sharpshooter will return to his home in Phoenix, Ariz., as a civilian marksmanship instructor for the Air Force.

M/Sgt. Henry C. Hager, a mess steward with the 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery. Beginning his service in 1935 at Ft. Bragg, N. C., he served with the 6th Air Corps and 45th Cavalry (Mech.) during World War II. His post-war assignments were in Korea, Japan

Civilian Job Openings

The office of civilian personnel has announced two vacancies which must be filled. For detailed information on the openings telephone extension 2349 or 4233.

A clerk, GS-301-4, is needed by Presidio Headquarters with duty in Sausalito. Clearance is required and the salary is $3,755 per annum.

A management analyst (manpower utilization and control) is needed at Headquarters XV Corps. The pay is $5,985 and clearance is required.

Assault On Angel Island

Angel Island succumbs to invasion! One hundred students from the Richardson Bay School will invade the island today at 1330 and will scamper up hills and down dales on a tour of inspection.

The students, in the sixth, seventh, and eighth grades, will be divided into three groups and taken in buses and trucks over the island, to the hobby shop, and the assembly area. An M boat will motor them to and from the island.

Four teachers and the school principal will accompany them. Capt. James O. Barnes, Delta Btry., 2nd Msle. Bn., 51st Arty., is in charge of the tour.

Pentomic Army Hits Rocky Shoals Beaches

Vol. 7, No. 24

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA Friday 7 November, 1958

Rocky Shoals Scores Number Of Key Firsts

Exercise Rocky Shoals is making history.

The giant Army-Navy maneuver which was launched Wednesday at San Simeon Beach and has since moved to Camp Roberts and Hunter Liggett Military Reservation boasts:

- Largest joint Army-Navy amphibious training maneuver since 1950.
- Largest held in CONUS since World War II.
- Biggest Army landing since the Inchon Invasion in the Korean War.
- First "pentomic" concept landing, employing widespread disbursement of troops and ships to present minimum atomic target.
- Use of first and only helicopter assault carrier in the world, U.S.S. Thetis Bay.
- First time Army helicopters launched at sea from such a carrier.
- First time Navy carrier used

Chemical Chief To Attend High Level Meet At McClellan

Colonel Vincent F. LaPiana, chief of Sixth U.S. Army Chemical, will represent this command at the first world-wide conference of Army Staff Chemical Officers at Ft. McClellan, Alabama, from 17 to 21 November.

The Sixth Army Chemical Chief will present a paper on Radiological Survey Operations in the Sixth U.S. Army Area. He will depart this headquarters on 11 November.

The conference will become an annual affair. Conferees will be the senior CmlC staff officers from CONUS, Europe, Alaska, Panama, Hawaii and Korea as well as commanders of other major CmlC activities.

Main purposes of the conference are:

- Inform the conferees of advances in chemical, biological and radiological fields.
- Provide an opportunity for discussion of problems encountered in the field and to seek solutions through exchange of ideas.
- To participate in the Chief Chemical Officer's monthly command and staff conference which will be conducted by Chief Chemical Officer, Major General Marshall Stubbs on 20 November at Ft. McClellan.

New Big Picture

Washington (ANS)—"Battle of the Bulge," title of the latest Big Picture television program, tells the story of the American "winter soldier" down the years from Valley Forge to the World War II Battle of the Bulge. "It is," commented a reviewer, "the story of the soldier's steadfastness and devotion to duty for which an entire Nation must be forever grateful."

EMP Regs To Field

Washington (ANS)—The Army publication outlining the Army Enlisted Management Program (DA Circular 600-15) has just gone into distribution Army-wide. It covers the Enlisted Evaluation System, Proficiency Pay, Promotion Qualification Score, Promotion to E-8 and E-9, Permanent Enlisted Promotions, and Name Assignments for E-8 and E-9, as well as Stabilization of Upper-Grade Enlisted Personnel, Job Performance Potential Program, Preinduction Aptitude Screening, Occupational Area Enlistment Option, Educational Development and the Army Green Uniform.

- First evaluation under combat conditions of the "vertical envelopment" concept (helicopter lift of troops from ship to enemy shore or from land base to objectives in rear of enemy).

Atomic War Plans Key Huge Exercise

Special to the Star Presidian

Heavy fog shrouding Central California's San Simeon Beach crimped months of planning Wednesday morning as it delayed by two hours the biggest joint Army-Navy amphibious landing maneuver on American soil since World War II.

While 13,000 soldiers of III U.S. Army Corps waited restlessly for the assault they had rehearsed two days earlier at the coast near Ft. Ord, commanders rehashed coordinated invasion plans until the sun broke through about 0930.

Exercise Rocky Shoals was on!

A heavy barrage was laid down by the 40 task force ships, with the simulated firing lifted only in time for the first of three waves of shock troops to hit the shore.

In the first pentomic concept amphibious landing—bulk of the troops were from the STRAC 4th Infantry Division at Ft. Lewis—observers noted carefully the effectiveness and mobility of compact, self-sustaining battle groups in the face of atomic fire.

As initial troops cleared aggressor forces and obstacles from a predetermined assault route, Army H-21 "flying banana" helicopters ferried nearly 1,000 men in 20-man teams from the U.S.S. Thetis Bay, only helicopter assault carrier in the world, to positions behind aggressor lines.

Under a heavy umbrella of strafing F-100 jets, the invasion force poured replacements and heavy equipment ashore to secure the beachhead and push over a frontal bluff edging a mile-wide table leading to the mountains of the Hearst Estate and Los Padres National Forest.

By mid-morning spearhead elements of III Corps had overrun front defensive lines and fanned across the table land. Regrouping and deploying, troops moved on to seize their D-Day objectives.

With "the situation well in hand," soldiers were transported Wednesday evening and Thursday morning to Cp. Roberts or Hunter Liggett Military Reservation for a week of intensive follow-up maneuvers.

Culminating the extensive, minute planning since early May for the large-scale mock atomic war, troops from 19 Army installations scattered throughout the country boarded their ships in Seattle about 10 days before the San Simeon landing.

On the trip southward, ships practiced convoy maneuvers and mapped movement plans for the actual debarkation.

Rocky Shoals is under the general supervision of CONARC Commander Gen. Bruce C. Clarke and Adm. Herbert G. Hopwood, Commander in Chief of the Navy's Pacific Fleet.

Sixth Army Commander Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer is Commander of Exercise Unified Command and Maneuver Director.

Seconding Lt. Gen. Palmer is Vice Adm. Robert L. Dennison, Commander of the First Fleet, and active director of the Presidio Rocky Shoals Headquarters is Deputy Maneuver Director Rear Adm. Robert H. Speck, Commander of Amphibious Training Command, Pacific Fleet.

Heading the landing forces is Maj. Gen. William S. Biddle of Ft. Hood, Tex.

Safety Award Plans

Washington (ANS)—Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker is scheduled this week to receive, on behalf of the Army, the National Safety Council's highest award, "The Award of Honor."

The Army won the award because of its outstanding safety performance during the last fiscal year. The presentation represents the fifth consecutive Award of Honor to the Army, world-wide, and the thirteenth in the past 15 years.

INVASION! Action on land, sea and in the air during the Rocky Shoals landing at San Simeon Beach Wednesday. In the top photo, soldiers hit the beach with the first wave. In the center picture, helicopters loaded with fully-equipped troops make historical take-offs from assault carrier; and in the lower photo, a non-com checks his position from the high ground before relaying information back to his command post.

UBAC Military Contributions Show Late Gains

High Praise

Forgotten Hero

Washington (ANS)—Praise of World War I heroes varies in eloquence and frequency. None, however, has the significance of General John J. Pershing's unequivocal words—"That man is the outstanding soldier of the A. E. F.!"

With military precision, the General of The Armies described Major Sam Woodfill, the man now buried within 30 yards of Pershing's own grave in Arlington National Cemetery. Both warriors will be honored Tuesday, Nov. 11, 1958 as the Military District of Washington pays tribute to World War I veterans, living and dead.

Pershing's fluent eulogy was spoken 37 years ago when Washington was making elaborate preparations for the burial of The Unknown Soldier. The 1921 War Department had screened 3,000 citations to choose 100 names for suitable pallbearers for the interment. Gen. Pershing was to make the final selection. He recognized Woodfill's name and made his statement of praise thus bringing national honor to Sam Woodfill.

A member of the 5th Division in the American Expeditionary Force, Lieutenant Woodfill fought in France where in hand-to-hand combat he knocked out three German machine-gun nests. The gun positions threatened an unendurable delay to the American advance at Lunel, until Woodfill rushed ahead of his line to silence the weapons hushing down the Yanks. With pistol, rifle, pick-ax and bare hand, Woodfill killed 11 German soldiers, facing no less than three of them at each gun emplacement.

For his exceptional courage Lt. Woodfill was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor, but it took three years before the American people heard of the man. Following demobilization, Woodfill returned to civilian life, then reenlisted as a sergeant, a nonentity in the thin-ranks of the post-war Army. But singled out by Pershing, Woodfill was given belated honors in 1921 before and after the burial of The Unknown Soldier.

The American public again forgot Sgt. Woodfill and eventually he retired to his farm near Madison, Ind. There he died in 1951 and was buried in an obscure grave. A few years later a Madison newspaper reporter became interested in the local hero and soon a congressional inquiry was made to determine if funds were available for the erection of a monument.

The inquiries attracted Pentagon attention, and the twice-forgotten hero was again making headlines. On Oct. 17, 1955, Woodfill was re-interred with full military honors in Arlington National Cemetery.

Date Line - The Army

Requatable Quote: "Duty is the sublimest word in our language," said General Robert E. Lee. "Do your duty in all things. You cannot do more. You should never wish to do less."

The U. S. Field Artillery was created November 17, 1775.—(Army Almanac)

Paragraph to ponder: Despite the changes that have taken place since its origin, the Communist regime has remained true to the original model—a one-party dictatorship in which a small fraction of the people lords it over the rest of the people in all aspects of life from the cradle to the grave. The Communist Party in Russia, points out DA Pam 21-77, numbers a mere 7 million out of a total population of more than 210 million people.

It's a Fact (says DA Pam 21-79) Red China and the Soviet Union are partners in a ruthless drive to dominate the world.

From the Army Information Digest: The United States has a small but strong, versatile, flexible and highly mobile professional Army with fire-power vastly superior to that which existed ten years ago. This professional Army is backed by the largest and best trained reserve force in our history.

Five Army Units Tops Presidio Drive Lags

"Progress" was the watchword this week as many weary keymen made their umpteenth round in an all-out effort to raise their sagging units from the "dishonor" to the "honor" roll in the final days of the United Bay Area Crusade drive here.

Only 11 of the more than 78 at the Presidio had managed to reach, or go beyond, the magic 100% circle. These included: 199th MI Det. (API) — 251%; Non-Commissioned Officers' Open Mess—158%; Post Chemical—129%; Hq. Company, USA Garrison—121%; Hq. Sixth Army Recruiting District—110%; Sixth Army Information—102%; Post Dental—101%; Post IG—101%; 548th Ord. Detachment—101%; A Company, USA Garrison—100% and the Star Presidio—100%.

A number of other units were nearing their top goal and stood at the high 90's. These included: Post S3, Sixth Army Band and the Sixth Army Command Group.

The lowest ten units on the Presidio were: 561st Engineers, 56th and 102d Machine Centers, Units, Sixth Army Com. Recd, Hq. Sixth Army Comm. Opn. Agency, DA Personnel Management Team, C Company, USA Garrison, Presidio Officers' Open Mess, 163d MP Company, 87th Ord. Detachment, Post Engineers and Hq. Company, Sixth Army Special Troops.

Sixth Army Commander, Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, head of the military section of UBAC, had high praise for the five Army installations in the Bay Area who have surpassed their goals. "This indicates to me that the personal leadership and teamwork at these installations is outstanding. I hope their fine example will be an inspiration to all of us to reach and surpass our dollar goals."

- Installation Standing:
- ★ SF Ordnance District—154%.
  - ★ Army Chemical District—146%.
  - ★ Recruiting Main Station (Oakland)—135%.
  - ★ XV Corps (Reserve)—106%.
  - ★ Army Audit Agency—104%.
  - Pac. Terminal Trans. Command 99.9%.
  - SF District Corps Engineers—84%.
  - Alameda Administrative Center—83%.

what they said

Of course, after everyone has achieved his ambition . . . that secret ambition you told us all about last week . . . you need some place to sit down, rock in the old wicker chair, and look back on the years of accomplishment gone by. Therefore it seemed only natural this week to ask

THE QUESTION: Where would you prefer to live when you retire?

ANSWERS:

Benjamin Chinn, Chief of Photo Lab, Sixth Army: I don't believe I will actually retire, because when one retires one starts to decline both physically and mentally. When we are young we normally dream of doing something when we retire. But not many of us attain these goals because our dreams are fairly active befitting our age. So I believe we should do these things now when we are physically able. During our later years our dreams will automatically adjust to our capabilities. In choosing a place to live, if it becomes possible, I would choose Paris, France. The second choice would be San Francisco which is more European than any city in America I know.

Rudolph Larson, Auto Mechanic, Post Transportation: When I retire, I'm going to live where I'm living right now, in Novato, Calif. I think it's a pretty nice place. It's a good climate. Besides that I've got a whole acre, plenty of room to move around. It's warm there. Once in awhile it gets cold there, too. We've only lived there about six months, before that we lived in San Bruno. We were looking for a larger house, were over in that neck of the woods and liked what we saw. It only takes about thirty-five minutes to drive to work.

SP4 George A. Voss, 537th Engr. Co.: Well, it's hard to say right now where I'll retire. Actually, I haven't given it much thought now. I'm quite a ways from retiring. But it might be in the Denver area. The few times I've been there, I enjoyed it. I like the scenery, the mountains nearby and the plains not too far away. I like the change of seasons. I'm from the Midwest and there you don't have the great variety of scenery, it is all plains and flat lands. I'd like to live in the suburbs of a fairly large city, away from the heart of the city so you have a country atmosphere with the advantages of a city nearby.

CWO H. O. Hayden, AG Section, XV Corps: I have ideas on where I think I'd like to retire. I think perhaps I would like to retire in the state of Maine. Primarily because New England is my home and I'm a slave to good hunting and fishing. This is the first time I've been west of the Mississippi, and out here I miss the change of the four seasons. Now if you'd ask me where I will live when I retire, that's an entirely different matter because I haven't definitely decided what I will do.

On Our Shelves

How do you do it? WORK SIMPLIFICATION, by Gerald Nadler, is a practical guide to the uses and techniques of product, form and man process charts, work analysis, work measurement, and the design, selection and installation of the "New Method."

Drama, military history and plenty of excitement are combined in Fairfax Downey's THE GUNS AT GETTYSBURG. In this attention-holding book the role of artillery on both sides in the climactic battle is described chronologically in connection with many dramatic incidents.

THE BATTLE OF COWPENS, by Kenneth Roberts, is a factual account of the historic one-hour battle at Cowpens, S.C., on 17 January, 1781, during which the forces of General Morgan defeated the British force led by Colonel Tarleton; and how this victory contributed to the ultimate success of the American Revolution.

Folklore, fact and fiction, about each of the counties in the COUNTRY OF THE SUN is presented in Scott O'Dell's informal guide and history of southern California. Also included are a list of places to go, dates of events and books to read.

Friedrich Ruge's DER SEEKREIG, THE GERMAN NAVY'S STORY, is a history of German naval operations in World War II, taking into account the tactics, technical aspects and broad strategic issues. It is particularly informative regarding the invasion of Norway and the employment of German surface forces against commerce.

SYRIA AND LEBANON, by N. A. Ziadah, is a survey of the geography, history and economy of these two countries, concentrating on the 15-year period of their independence.

Dateline... Army

Heidelberg, Ger. (ANS) — In a message to elements of his European command which served in Lebanon, General H. I. Hodes, USAREUR Commander, this week said that the mission to Lebanon was of great importance—not only to the United States and Lebanon, but to the preservation of peace and stability throughout the world. "The eyes of the world were upon you," the General said. "As representatives of our country, you were the yardstick upon which to measure our sincerity of purpose and our ability to fulfill our obligations and commitments. By your actions, by the exemplary manner in which you performed your duties, you have given an unmistakable answer."

Eielson AF Base, Alaska (ANS) — A replica of the Russian Imperial Flag is now a feature attraction of the 9th Infantry's Trophy Room here. Presented the organization recently by the people of Sitka, it's a copy of the first flag flown over Alaska. In 1867, the Russian flag was replaced by the Stars and Stripes, when the 9th Manchu Infantry then stationed here took part in the ceremony transferring Alaska from Russia to the United States.

Washington (ANS) — Noted stage, screen and TV star Danny Kaye is scheduled to urge the folks at home to "Mail Early" for Christmas this year. A twenty second "trailer" carrying his message has been provided all television stations in the United States for use as a public service announcement.

Two Win Certificates

Two enlisted men in C Battery, 2nd Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery, recently were awarded Certificates of Achievement for their performance during the annual service firing at Red Canyon Range, N. M., from 21 June to 3 July.

They were Sp4 Michael D. McAnally, member of the assembly crew, and Pfc. Edgar J. Huggins, senior launcher crewman.

Retired Activities Day This Tuesday

Forty years ago the scratching of pens in a French railway car stilled the guns of WWI on Nov. 11, 1918. Armistice Day, one of our most solemn holidays, was born.

But 22 years later a victorious, power-drunk dictator capered in glee in that same railway car in the Compiegne Forest. Five years of bloodshed and destruction lay ahead before Armistice Day could commemorate the fallen of WWII.

Since 1954 we have called it Veterans Day, but its significance has not altered. It is a day when the light of human valor and sacrifice shines on the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery. It is a day when our gratitude to the Americans who have died for freedom finds its expression, simple but eloquent, in the clean notes of the bugler's Taps.

The best tribute to our war dead can only be a rededication of our effort to build upon all that they, by their sacrifice, achieved. Veterans Day loses meaning if we confine our observance of it to an annual ritual.

But if on this day we take a fresh look at the great nation we have become, if we feel a fresh current of identity with the men who fought our wars, we can replenish our energies. We are in their debt. We owe it to them to stand upright as inheritors of their spirit.

PM Lists Do's, Don'ts For Presidio Personnel

The Presidio Provost Marshal this week reiterated helpful hints to property owners and residents to prevent possible thefts here.

He also outlined certain traffic regulations which must be observed by all persons who drive on Post.

Motorists were cautioned to remove ignition keys and lock vehicles whenever they are parked on a roadway, in a parking lot or in a garage. Personal property should be hidden from view, preferably in the trunk, or removed.

Quarters residents were reminded to lock all doors, windows and basement entrances on the ground floor, both at night and when the quarters are not occupied.

Anything or anyone suspicious in nature should be reported immediately to the Military Police (ext. 2400).

Drivers were reminded that driving on a highway at any time with the parking lights lighted is prohibited. Only two headlamps will be used during hours normally requiring artificial lighting.

The current school bus law also was cited. Cars, whether approaching or following a school bus that has stopped to let off or pick up children, must stop as long as the bus' red light is flashing.

Following is a list of certain regulations which will be enforced here: failure to yield right of way to pedestrians in crosswalks, fail-

Veterans Hospital Plans Open House For This Sunday

Presidians have been invited to attend the Veterans Day Open House Sunday, 9 November, at the Ft. Miley VA Hospital, 42d Ave. and Clement St., from 1900 to 2100.

In a letter to Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth U.S. Army Commander, Thomas P. Crane, M.D., Hospital Manager, said "We are especially interested in having this invitation extended to those who may be entitled to receive care in our Hospital, to their friends and relatives, and also to young people interested in hospital careers."

In an effort to give an opportunity to veterans to see how the VA treats the disabled man, VA hospitals throughout the country will hold open houses this Sunday.

At Ft. Miley Hospital, volunteer guides will escort visitors through most of the hospital, to include laboratories, clinics and the radio station.

New Cargo Vessel Slated To Tryout On West Coast Soon

Washington (ANS) — Service testing of the Army's new experimental 338-foot shallow-draft cargo vessel, Lieutenant Colonel John U. D. Page, is expected to begin next month off the West Coast, according to a late Department of the Army announcement.

Designated the BDL (Beach Discharge Lighter) 1-X, the lighter is powered by two 110 HP diesel engines, is 65 feet wide and can discharge cargo on the beach in depths as shallow as four feet. It has a displacement in landing conditions of 2,340 tons and a seagoing displacement of 4,126 tons.

The PAGE is equipped with the latest navigational aids including a radio direction finder, Loran, fathometer and surface radar. Also featured are new designed vertical axis cycloidal propellers developed by the Pacific Car and Foundry Company of Seattle, Washington, for maximum maneuverability, stopping and backing power.

He Couldn't Wait So Santa Claus Made Early Trip

A visiting nurse played Santa last December 17th because a little boy said he "could hardly wait" for Christmas. His name was Mickey, and he died two days later.

The nurse was Mrs. Thelma Young of the Oakland Visiting Nurse Association. This United Crusade agency helped Mickey and his family during the boy's last days.

Mickey was a four-year-old cancer victim, the son of a young Navy man. The Oakland Naval Hospital operated on the little boy last fall and referred his family to the Visiting Nurse Association.

"We all knew it was hopeless. There wasn't a thing the hospital could do. But we tried to help him and his family all we could," Mrs. Young says.

When Mickey got home from the hospital early last November, the VNA sent a nurse every day to give him a shot and generally look after him. All VNA nurses have public

Top Program Readied For Northern Cal Vets

About 1500 persons are expected to visit the Presidio on Veterans Day Tuesday in connection with the annual Retired Activities Day here.

In a multipurpose program essentially designed to keep retired personnel abreast of the progressive Army, facilities of various clubs, messes and activities will be thrown open to visitors.

Static displays and exhibits, movies and a retreat parade will highlight activities scheduled to run from 1100 to 1630. A special feature will be a one-man art show at the Presidio Service Club which will contain four primitive school oils of typical Philippine scenes done from memory by Sgt. James Conde (Ret.).

The Service Club staff also will serve coffee and doughnuts during mid-afternoon and the Club will be available as a lounge and gathering point.

Stationary exhibits running from the Post Theater to the south end of the main parade ground across to Sixth Army Headquarters will include:

- Mobile Dental Van used to service troops in isolated areas.
- Helicopters and missiles from the 30th Artillery Group (Air Defense).
- Diving display of the 561st Engineer Company.
- Letterman Army Hospital display of surgical art.
- Military Police weapons and equipment.
- Explosive ordnance display.
- Mapmaking exhibit from the 30th Engineer Battalion.
- Bookmobile.

The scheduled program of events is as follows:

- 1100—Welcoming address by Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Presidio Commanding Officer, and orientation on retired activities by Capt.

H. K. Bjornberg, Chief of Sixth Army Adjutant General Retired Personnel Branch. Post Theater.

- 1200—Lunch. Officers Open Mess, Enlisted Messes at Headquarters Company Sixth Army and Headquarters Company, U.S.A. Garrison.
- 1300—Movies, "The Pentomic Army" and "Count Down to Explorer (1 and 2)." Post Theater (approximately one and a half hours).
- 1300—Separate bus tours begin to Quartermaster parachute packing display, Bldg. 266; Chemical display at Battery Chamberlain; Nike site, Ft. Scott, MARS radio station. Buses to each point will make initial pickup at southwest corner of main parade ground (near Bldg. 101) and return to Service Club. All subsequent trips will begin and end at Service Club.
- 1600—Retreat parade, main parade ground.

In addition, C Battery of the 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery, in Berkeley will be open tomorrow to visitors. A special invitation has been extended to veterans of World War I to enjoy a tour of the site, movies and refreshments.

Units of the 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery, in Marin County also have planned an extensive program for Tuesday.

A Battery will furnish a firing squad for ceremonies at Mt. Tamalpais High School and World War I and II veterans will be luncheon guests at the unit mess.

B, C and D Batteries will each host two veteran's groups at dinner and will conduct tours of the Nike sites.

Pistol, Rifle Team Meet Slated Next Week

Post marksmanship officials this week predicted that next week's dual individual-team rifle and pistol matches here will draw about 35 competitors in both weapons.

The matches are designed to be the basis for selection of Presidio teams to vie in Sixth Army and other firing.

Pistoleers will fire Monday at the range near Crissy Field, followed on Thursday and Friday by the riflemen at Ft. Barry Range. All shooting will begin at 0700.

Marksmen who place in the top three in both events will be awarded individual trophies. Team trophies, with medals for each member, will be presented to the one-two teams in rifle and pistol.

M1 rifles and .45 calibre service pistols will be used. Personal weapons are acceptable if they conform to standards.

Fort Belvoir, Va. (ANS)—Stressing the importance to the U. S. of basic research, Lt. Gen. Arthur G. Trudeau, Chief of U. S. Army Research and Development, pointed out to members of the Society of American Military Engineers, meeting here last week, that Fort Belvoir (near the Nation's Capital) is only 30 minutes away from Moscow if the Russians should decide to fire an Intercontinental Ballistic Missile.

health degrees and some college training in psychology. This helps them deal with difficult human problems.

Just before his Christmas, Mickey seemed to be getting a lot better. His swelling and pain were going away, and suddenly he was excited about life and Christmas. But Mrs. Young knew it was the end.

The nurse spent $20 of her own money on Christmas presents and ornaments. Then, when Mickey was napping, she helped his mother and dad trim a tree.

"I've seldom seen such a happy little boy and never felt so much for any family. So Christmas will never be a really happy time for me again," Mrs. Young says.

Oakland visiting nurses help many other service families too. So do the San Francisco and San Mateo VNA branches. And all are part of the United Crusade.

KILLED in a traffic accident this week was M/Sgt. Fred C. Coulson, for three years NOIC and acting chief of the Pictorial Division at the Presidio. Here he receives an Army Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant for outstanding service in this command. Award was made shortly after his arrival for duty with SHAPE in Paris, France.

M/Sgt Fred Coulson Killed In French Traffic Mishap

Master Sergeant Fred C. Coulson, for three years NCOIC and acting chief of the Pictorial Division, Post Signal Section at the Presidio, has been killed in a traffic accident in Paris, France.

The accident resulted when the sergeant hit a lightless, parked truck while on his way home from duty with SHAPE Headquarters. He left here for that overseas assignment in June of this year.

One of the best known and best liked NCO's to serve at this command, M/Sgt. Coulson was a seventeen year veteran and re-enlisted at this post last year for what he said would be his "last hitch."

The genial grandfather was an avid photographer, both on and off-duty. He had won numerous national and local prizes for his speciality. Trick camera work was also a pet project.

Mrs. Coulson is currently en-route with the body from France. She is expected to arrive at their home, Arcadia, California, sometime today. Present address for those wishing to send condolences is: Mrs. Fred C. Coulson, 424 Alhura Rd., c/o Roy Grass, Arcadia, Calif.

2nd Msle. Bn. CWO Wins Top Award

CWO Earl P. Andre of Battery C, 2nd Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery, recently was awarded the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant for his service from 14 May, 1956, to 29 May, 1958, at the Army Air Defense School, Ft. Bliss, Tex.

An instructor and technical advisor there, CWO Andre was specifically commended for displaying a "keen sense of loyalty and devotion to duty which served to inspire and guide his subordinates . . . he . . . developed a unique method of presenting block diagrams of electronics equipment to students."

The citation also pointed up his "untiring efforts in teaching students and orienting new instructors."

CWO Andre has been assigned to C Battery since June.

Army QM Develops New Fingerprint Process For Combat

Washington (ANS)—A new battlefield fingerprinting process that instantly produces a tissue-thin, almost indestructible plastic cast of direct or latent prints has been developed by the Army Quartermaster Corps for use in further assuring positive identification of military war dead, the Department of the Army announced this week.

Producing a markedly clearer fingerprint than those made by the conventional rolled-ink method, the new compound also has attracted the interest of a number of Federal and municipal law enforcement agencies.

Fingerprint casts are obtained by spraying a liquid plastic compound directly on a finger or on a surface with a latent print. Hardening immediately, the plastic is easily peeled from the area and the resultant replica provides an easily handled, smudge-proof fingerprint permanently imbedded in the plastic material from which positive identification can be made.

Teenage Basket Planned

Members of the Presidio Teen Age Club will share their blessings this month with a less fortunate family, as they pass on to them a basket filled with all the good things to eat that make a Thanksgiving dinner perfect.

The food donations will be made by the teenagers and their parents.

Last Friday four members of the newly formed Teen Age Club Dance Combo cheered the hearts of many orphan children as they gave a benefit for them at Ft. Baker.

Signal Officers Meet Here

Post Signal Officers from Class I and II installations throughout Sixth U.S. Army will convene here 18-22 November.

Scheduled to make opening remarks for this third annual conference is Maj. Gen. John J. Binns, Sixth U.S. Army Chief of Staff.

Signal officers will meet at the Ft. Scott annex to the Presidio Officers Open Mess.

Talented Artist Named Top WAC

"She has more talent than anyone deserves!" "Did she really do that mural in the mess hall freehand?" "Is there any kind of handicraft she's not good at?" This is only a small example of the talk that has been "flying" around the Presidio WAC barracks this past week.

Who is the culprit causing all this commotion? The answer is simple—Pfc. Ruth Reinke, November WAC of the Month.

The talented Signal section draftsman, who "Got all shook up" when her name was announced as this month's top WAC, has been painting for a good many years, and has never had any formal training.

Among her other skills are wood carving, working with plastic and leathercraft, and she has more than a dozen ribbons won when she entered her work in a fair near her home town, Port Huron, Mich.

After completing the Palace of Fine Arts mural, done on the wall of "C" Co. mess, she is taking a week's rest and then will begin a painting of the Golden Gate Bridge and Ft. Point on the NCO side of the dining room.

Ruth is especially happy that she did the picture of the Palace, because "even though they now plan to tear it down, it will still be living here on the Presidio."

Daughter of Mrs. Leona Lince, Port Huron, Reinke, or "Rink," as she is usually called by the barracks "gang," joined the Army on 16

PALACE OF FINE ARTS may be on its way out as a San Francisco landmark, but lady soldiers of the future will have a good likeness of it before them at every meal. Here Pfc. Ruth Reinke, talented artist and November WAC of the Month, discusses her plans to do murals for C Company Messhall.

July 1957, and she thinks "it's okay."

The blonde, blue eyed WAC "loves to be outdoors," and her favorite sports are fishing, hunting and boating. She is also a member of the Presidio Gun Club.

Assistant Crafts Instructor while still in high school, the jovial Pfc. has no plans for the future, but "figures" she will spend her three day pass "just loafin'."

General's Wife Dies Here

Funeral services for Mrs. Robert Lee Howze, Jr., wife of Major General Howze, Deputy Commanding General, Sixth U.S. Army, were conducted at the San Francisco National Cemetery on Tuesday, 4 November, here at the Presidio.

Mrs. Howze died at Letterman Army Hospital on Saturday, 1 November, after a long illness.

The daughter of the late Col. and Mrs. H. R. Richmond, U.S. Cavalry, Mrs. Howze is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Robert Deane Payne of Boise, Ida.; Mrs. R. H. Howe of Ft. Knox, Ky.; and Mrs. H. L. Phillips of Ft. Meade, Md., in addition to four sisters and two brothers.

New Law Extends GI Bill For Korean, WWII Vets

GI Bill training opportunities have been extended by a new law to World War II and Korean War veterans whose military discharges have been changed from "dishonorable," "undesirable" and the like to "honorable," Veterans Administration announced today.

The law gives World War II veterans whose discharges have been changed four years to start training under the World War II GI Bill.

Korean War veterans will have three years to begin training under the Korean GI Bill.

VA explained that one of the basic requirements of both GI Bills is a discharge under conditions other than dishonorable.

In some instances the branches of service have reviewed less-than-honorable discharges and have changed them to honorable, whenever the facts warranted the change.

But very often these new honorable discharges came too late for veterans to make use of their new-found GI training opportunities, since their deadlines for starting training had passed.

The new law gives them a renewed opportunity to take GI training, should they want it.

VA said that these veterans may apply for GI training at any VA office. Along with their applications, they should include a photostat or certified true copy of their new honorable discharge certificate. Also, any VA office can answer any of their questions as to eligibility.

Four XV Corps Civilians Win Outstanding Awards

Four civilian employees of Headquarters XVth Army Corps (Reserve) were awarded checks of $100 each for their sustained superior performance. Major General John W. Harmony, Corps Commander, presented the checks in a brief ceremony at the Corps headquarters at the Presidio of San Francisco.

Receiving the awards were Miss Marynette Reed, Mrs. Janel E. Story, Mrs. Vera Stewart and Mrs. Margaret C. Fyfe, all of San Francisco. Three of the women work in the Adjutant General Reserve Personnel Branch of the Corps headquarters and Mrs. Fyfe is assigned to the office of the Unit Advisor, Transportation Corps units, at Fort Mason.

Two other civilians assigned to out-of-town units of the XVth U.S. Army Corps received their awards by mail. Mrs. Beatrice D. R. Hilburn, 1229 16th Street, Oakland, employed by the Army Reserve office at Oakland Army Terminal, received a $100 check.

Miss Marion G. Tammany, 315 Cooper Street, Palo Alto, assigned at the Professor of Military Science and Tactics office at Stanford University, also received a $100 check. This is Miss Tammany's second award for her outstanding performance.

New Ed Circular Out

Washington (ANS)—DA Circular 621-25, now being distributed, announces the details of "Voluntary Off-Duty Education at Civilian Schools and Colleges." It authorizes partial tuition assistance for Army personnel of up to 75 percent, not to exceed $7.50 per semester hour, $5.00 per quarter hour, or $22.50 per H. S. Carnegie Unit, and states that applications for assistance will be made on DA Form 2171-R.

SP Reporter Woody Hubbell
Interviews Mr. Average US

kaleidoscope

What's Mr. Average US Like?

Good question. Tough to answer, too. That is unless you've got UNIVAC, Sgt. Bilko and a host of expert statisticians purging the facts.

Still observation, association and savvy should count for something and for my money Mr. Average Draftee dropped in for an interview this week. He had just been named 16th Base Post Office Soldier of the Month. Let's see what he's like.

Mrs. O'Leary's boy Pfc. Thomas F. is 23, youngest in a family of seven, four boys, three girls. He hails from Jersey City, N.J., and has spent "19 months in this man's Army—13 with the 16th Base Post Office, here—four plus at Ft. Benning, Ga., and the rest at clerk-typist school at Ft. Jackson, S.C."

"And believe me that 'southern hospitality' bit is a myth. Why, people in Jersey are a lot friendlier than in the South I saw. As for Californians, I'd say they're the friendliest anywhere."

Tom's is no all-out buff, but he likes sports better than average and lettered on the football squad at Dickinson High in his home town. "I played a little touch football for BPO last year, but this year our team didn't get past the talking stage."

Two of Pfc. O'Leary's brothers have seen service. John, a double Purple Heart winner, with the Army in Europe during WWII, and James, a more recent stint with the Navy.

"Of course, we never argue services at home, actually I guess you might say we're just plain civilians at heart."

Mr. Average Draftee has a girl back home and whether she knows it or not she's his intended. "We're not engaged formally, or anything. But I'm not worried, she's for me."

How does he feel about the time spent in the Army? "I've matured a lot, had a chance to see the country and got to know a lot of fellows. I wouldn't say it's been wasted time, actually it has sharpened my perspective quite a bit."

Before coming into the Army, Pfc. O'Leary worked for a telephone company as a construction clerk. "I hope to go back to work for the same company, but in a different capacity. I prefer an outside assignment, something like a lineman or special repairman."

Would he ever return to California? "Oh, some day. Probably with my wife and kids. Just for a vacation, though. My roots are in Jersey and I don't believe anywhere else would ever feel like home." As for the Presidio—"it's the greatest! If a guy has to be in the Army, this is the place to be."

PAL Week To Honor Bay Area Services

During the week of November 9-15, San Franciscans will show their appreciation of servicemen and women in the Bay Area in a week long series of observances and activities sponsored by the USO-YWCA Club, 1017 Market Street, San Francisco.

Sunday, 9 November, is "home hospitality day" when servicemen will be invited to attend church with San Francisco families and then share Sunday dinner with them. Arrangements with a host and hostess may be made by registering your name at the USO Club, 1017 Market Street, as soon as possible.

Commenting on the significance of PAL Week, as well as the year-round activities of the United Services Organization, Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth U.S. Army Commander, stated, "PAL Week is further demonstration of the significant and vital work being carried out by the USO for servicemen everywhere. More and more we in the Army have come to lean on the outstanding off-duty activities provided by this fine community organization."

The USO has been invited to participate in the Veterans Day Parade on 9 November.

On Monday, Mayor Christopher will issue a special "PAL WEEK" Proclamation before a delegation of servicemen and women in his office at the City Hall at 1030.

Men representing all branches of the Armed Forces in uniform will be invited to be guests of honor at service club luncheons throughout the week.

Dances will be held at the Club every evening and free tickets to movies, shows and sightseeing trips will be available. It is hoped that service personnel will wear their uniforms when off-duty during "PAL WEEK."

Women's Group to Hold 2nd Meeting

The second meeting of the Protestant Women's Group of the Presidio will be held Thursday from 9:00-11:00 at the Religious Activities Center here.

Dr. Malcolm Finley, a practicing psychiatrist and member of the Stanford University faculty, will discuss "Mental Health and Religion."

The business meeting will be conducted by Mrs. Neta Ross and the worship service will be led by Mrs. Mary Still.

Refreshments will be served and a nursery attendant will be on duty to care for any preschool age children who accompany their mothers.

Seek Models, Booth Clerks For Christmas Cargo Plans

The plea is out to Presidio wives to volunteer as booth clerks and models for Christmas Cargoes, annual gift sale to raise funds for the Alameda County Legal Aid Society.

The sale, a six-day affair scheduled from 18-23 November in the Oakland Auditorium Ballroom, will feature a selection of presents from all corners of the globe, with the emphasis placed daily on a different area of the world.

Mrs. John A. Peters, volunteer recruitment coordinator here, said she is particularly interested in securing ladies for service on the final day of the sale. "Let's make this an Army day," she said.

Booth clerks may work in any of the following shifts: 1000-1300, 1300-1600, 1600-1830 or 1830-2100. Models, sizes 10 and 12 only, will promenade at 1230 and 1700.

Annual Talent Test Planning Due Here

Plans are underway here at the Presidio for the forthcoming 1959 All-Army Entertainment Contest.

This contest, the fifth of its type, will follow the general pattern of past years. Competitions will be conducted at all levels, leading up to the grand finals to be staged at Ft. Belvoir, Va., next June. As in the past, winners will appear on the Ed Sullivan TV Show and tour in the U.S. and overseas with the soldier show "Rolling Along."

Army personnel in the U.S., Europe, Alaska, the Caribbean and the Pacific are eligible to participate in eliminations. Classes of competition in "live" performances at all levels will include the following:

Vocal soloist, instrumental soloist, individual specialty, vocal group, specialty group musical, specialty group non-musical and team production number.

Competitions in "recorded" classes will include: classical vocal soloist, classical instrumental soloist, country and western group, vocal group unaccompanied, vocal group accompanied, dramatic group, small chorus, large chorus, Army Band chorus, and group singing.

Above installation level, competition may be live or recorded in any proportion as desired by the area commander.

Variety Show Set For Armed Services YMCA On Friday

"This 'n That" is the name of the annual variety show which will be presented by the Armed Services YMCA on Friday 21 November. Service personnel and 'Y' volunteers will appear in a variety of singing, dancing, comedy and western acts.

The show will be emceed by Lucille Bliss, well known local radio and TV actress, and directed by George Butler who has appeared in many talent shows at Bay Area camps and bases.

Presidio personnel participating will be Pfc. Bob Zielinski and Sp3 Herbert Stockert.

Proceeds will go to World Service. Tickets costing 50c may be purchased at the door or in advance at the 'Y' program office, 166 Embarcadero. Curtain time is 2030.

Presidio Pair To Head New Sports League Plan

Two Presidians have been named commissioners for three sports in the Northern California Armed Forces Sports League.

Hal Fischer, League Commissioner and Presidio Sports Director and Basketball Coach, will handle basketball and track and field; M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio, player coach of the Post-4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery volleyball team, will direct highnet activities.

The two men were selected for their new jobs during a League meeting Monday at Travis Air Force Base.

In other business, delegates from area Air Force installations and the Presidio adopted a constitution for NCAFSL (previously called Bay Area AFSL) and set incomplete yearly schedules for 12 sports.

Commissioners for baseball, softball and touch football will be elected later.

Following is the projected annual sports schedule (subject to change):

- Basketball—November through February with round robin playoff.
- Bowling—same as for basketball.
- Volleyball—tournaments set for 20 December, 7 February 1959, 28 February 1959.
- Boxing—tournament 20-21 February 1959 at Mather AFB.
- Golf—March through May with round robin tournament.
- Badminton—tournament 17 January 1959 at Travis AFB (two-team limit per installation).
- Handball—tournaments 24 January 1959: singles; 31 January 1959: doubles (two-team limit per installation).
- Tennis—April through June with round robin tournament.
- Track and field—meet 2 May 1959 at San Francisco.
- Baseball—April through July with round robin tournament.
- Softball—June through August with round robin tournament.
- Touch football—August through October with round robin tournament.

LAH Clings to Keg Lead in NCMSA Go

Letterman keglers last night faced rollers from Ft. Mason in an effort to hang on to their Northern California Military Sports Association bowling lead. Scores were not available at press time.

Last Thursday, the LAH quint won two of three games from Oakland Army Terminal but had to split the extra point when both teams registered 2650 total pins. Final score was 2½-1½.

The Lettermen, who have averaged 180 pins apiece in their last three outings, followed the lead of Sfc. George Alberts' 557-223 to register the win. Steady Sfc. Maynard Matthiesen came up with a respectable 551 series and newcomer Col. Karl Woodman contributed a 204 in the first game.

Sfc. Alberts and Sfc. Matthiesen are tied for the League high average lead with 179.

Man, Talk About Ducks!

The California Department of Fish and Game issued statistics this week which should be dear to every duck hunter's heart: more than six and a half million of the waterfowl have taken up residence in California this year—most of them in the Northern part of the State.

Oldest Known Trout

The oldest known Eastern brook trout in the world were recovered during a California Department of Fish and Game study of Castle Lake, Siskiyou County.

Dies Suddenly

Presidio basketball player Sp4 Tom Timmons died 29 October in Letterman Army Hospital from a ruptured aorta (main heart artery) just 22 days after his 20th birthday.

The 6'6" second string forward had entered LAH 25 October after complaining of chest pains. He was assigned to 16th Base Post Office.

Basketball Clinic To Host Top Bay Area Exponents

Three big names in West Coast basketball circles will be on the list of speakers at Monday's annual all-day Presidio casaba clinic at the Post Theater and Letterman Army Hospital gym.

Two top coaches on the slate are Ross Guidice, assistant coach at University of San Francisco, and Carl Minetti, mentor of the high-ranking San Francisco Olympic Club quintet.

On hand to explain the 1958-59 rules changes to the 70-odd coaches and players from Bay Area military installations will be Ernie Filberti, Veep of the Northern California Officials Association which handles Pacific Coast Conference refereeing.

The morning session, featuring talk and a movie on last season's pro highlights, will be held in the Post Theater from 0900 to 1130.

In the afternoon, the clinic will move to LAH gym at 1245 for court demonstrations. Any individual who would like to participate in the demonstrations must furnish his own equipment.

The clinic, designed to prep intramural coaches and players, will be attended by representatives of Presidio teams as well as sports officials from Treasure Island Naval Base, San Francisco Naval Shipyard, Moffett Naval Air Station, Mare Island Submarine Base, Hamilton and Travis Air Force Bases, Ft. Mason, Letterman Army Hospital, Oakland Army Terminal and Sharpe General Depot.

Turkey Shoot Tickets

Just a reminder that tickets are still available for the Presidio Gun Club's annual turkey shoot scheduled for 22 and 23 November here.

Tickets may be obtained from any member of the Gun Club and are available at the clubhouse.

The open shoot, featuring lucky shot and skill events in .22 and .45 calibre pistols and .22 rifles, will be held at the Presidio pistol range (near Crissy Field).

All winners will earn a turkey for Thanksgiving.

Toreras Take Pair From Air Force Teams

Presidio's WAC basketballers chalked up two more Women's Interservice Recreational League victories this week by crushing Travis Air Force Base, 59-25, and the Hamilton WAF's, 47-29.

The undefeated Toreras now stand 4-0 in the league and 6-0 on the season.

In the Travis tilt, the Air Force ladies collected 33 fouls in trying to stem the Presidio tide. Two Travisites fouled out and three others were given official warnings after four fouls.

With 1:58 left in the game, the Travis coach indicated he would protest.

Top scorer for the Toreras was Sfc. Georgia Kelly, with 19 points. Close on her heels was Cpl. Florian Vierra, who posted 17; Sgt. Terry Silva also hit the double figures with 10. Adding the rest of the points were Pfc. Claudette Schleman, 8, and Pfc. Evelyn Yaggie, 5.

Offensive strategy in the Toreras' earlier victory over the Hamilton WAF's was to feed the casaba to veteran forward Sfc. Kelly and watch her flip it through the hoop.

Her 30 markers alone provided the margin of victory as she hooped 10 in the first quarter, 12 in the third and four in each of the other two periods.

Hamilton gave the Presidians a scare early in the game by matching the local ladies point for point in the first quarter, 15-15, and trailing only 21-24 at halftime.

But while Sfc. Kelly went on a scoring bender in the third period, Torera defenders Pvt.

Marie Levering, Sp4 Peggy Harris and Sp4 Marjorie Rinke held the host WAF's to 3 points so the three quarter score stood at 34-27. In the final period, the Toreras chalked up 13 while, once again, the defense sparkled in stopping Hamilton with 2.

Joining Sfc. Kelly in the scoring column were Pfc. Schleman (7), Cpl. Vierra (6), Sfc. Phillips (5) and Sgt. Silva (2).

MC&TSA Will Host Fans For Army-Navy Contest

Again this year, the Military Clothing and Textile Supply Agency of the Philadelphia Quartermaster Agency will host active and retired Army and Air Force officers, their wives and guests at the 1958 Army-Navy football game.

The game, slated for 29 November, will be played in Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium.

Last year MC&TSA hosted more than 2800 persons from all over the country.

For further information, contact Arthur D. Baird, Public Information Office Chief, MC&TSA, Philadelphia Quartermaster Depot, U.S. Army, 2800 S. 20th St., Philadelphia 45, Pa.

Late Rally Falls Short; Title Play Looks Tough

By Sp4 Woody Hubbell
Star Presidian Sports Editor

The Fall of a Titan.

Sixth Army touch footballers this week tasted defeat for the first time.

The Presidio League champs were dumped ungraciously Tuesday in the second round of Post championship play by a scrappy 537th Engineers six in a bitterly contested bruiser at the new Presidio field.

Dark Horse 537th, runners-up in the Engineer League, dominated play for the first three quarters and staved off Sixth Army's final period rally to edge their highly vaunted rivals by a single TD, 19-13.

The game's pattern followed closely the 537th's first round victory over the 21st Engineers, 13-12. In that game, the 537th squelched two late bids by the Engineer League winners to make a PAT margin hold.

With two wins over favored clubs, the 537th now stands on top of the heap in the four team post-season tourney. Each of the other teams has one defeat, with Sixth Army the only other one to register a win (over Letterman).

In subsequent action, Sixth Army will face the winner of a clash between Letterman and the 21st. The winner of the Sixth Army-LAH or 21st tilt will then get a shot at the 537th. The odds-makers favor Sixth Army's getting another crack at its vanquishers.

The 537th capitalized on nearly every break in the penalty heavy fracas which found both teams crossing the goal stripe four times. Personal fouls cost Sixth Army two markers and 537th suffered from having one called back.

537th opened by kicking off to Sixth Army. The defense held, 537th took possession and on the third play from scrimmage speedy Sp4 Arnold Wickham scampered for about 40 around his right end to draw first blood. The conversion attempt failed but a Sixth Army foul nullified the play. 537th didn't bobble the second chance as a pass from Sp4 Frank Zamora to Pfc. George Hewitt connected. 7-0.

From then until less than a minute before the half, the two teams rolled back and forth across the gridiron with neither crossing the chalk. Then, with about 40 seconds until half-time, 537th added a six pointer on a sensational desperation shoestring catch of a 20-yard Sp4 Zamora aerial by Sp4 Wickham. The conversion pass was knocked down. 13-0.

537th came back like a lion to open the second half. The hot Sp4 Zamora-Sp4 Wickham combination clicked again, this time on a TD pass play which covered 50 yards. The PAT was voided by an offensive penalty and the second try missed the mark. 19-0. Then Sixth Army hit back.

Quarterback Pvt. Bill Chapman carried 20 yards to the 537th one and crossed the goal on the next play only to have the TD disallowed because of a penalty. With fourth down and about 20 after the penalty, Pvt. Chapman fired one into the end zone to his running mate, Pvt. Jan Lloyd, but Pvt. Lloyd dropped the ball. Threat ended. Still 19-0.

With 35 seconds left in the third period Sixth Army finally hit the scoring column when Pvt. Lloyd looped one to Pfc. John Andre on a play that covered 40 yards to net a score. Pvt. Lloyd's pass to Pfc. Joe Gascon added the PAT. 19-7.

The 537th then got stuck on the short end of it when another TD pass from Sp4 Zamora to Sp4 Wickham went for naught as officials detected an offensive miscue. Sixth touchdown of the game but still 19-7.

Early in the final period Sixth Army fouls erased what may have been two of the best plays of the game. On the first, Pvt. Chapman stood in his own end zone and unleashed a tremendous 50-yard spiral which just cleared defenders' fingertips and dropped into Pfc. Gascon's arms. Pfc. Gascon wasted no time scooting the other 30 for a useless TD.

On the next play, Pvt. Chapman again stood behind the goal line to flip a 5-yard screen pass to Sp4 Myron Bromberg. Sp4 Bromberg skirted the left sideline, dancing his way for about 50—called back. Then, on a dramatic third play from the same spot, Pvt. Chapman hit Sp4 Bromberg at the 20 and the speedy halfback raced 60 yards for a score. It counted. Pvt. Lloyd tossed to Pfc. Gascon incomplete on the PAT try. 19-13.

Time ran out while the 537th ran its first series of downs after the kick off.

Big gun for the giant-killing 537th in its squeaky win over the 21st last week was Pfc. Hewitt. He fired an 18-yarder to Pfc. Dan Marcus for a first period TD. Pfc. Marcus added the conversion. The 21st matched the tally in the second quarter, but the 537th led at halftime, 7-6, as the 21st failed to convert.

Hewitt added the winning score in the third quarter on a 35-yard run; the PAT was no good. In the final period, the 21st's Sp4 Bodine Schultz crossed the goal on a heave from Sp4 Bob Raggio but the 21st's bid to knot the score failed. 537th then halted two 21st threats to notch the 13-12 victory.

Seek Tourney Play Here

Plans are underway for the Presidio to host an open basketball tournament here in early January.

Post Sports Director Hal Fischer said this week that the possibility of staging such a tournament was discussed Monday at a meeting of the Northern California Armed Forces Sports League and met with favorable reactions.

Several League teams have already responded affirmatively and plans now call for extending invitations to area service, school and amateur teams.

Mr. Fischer, noting that such a tournament would probably take place 2-3-4 January 1959 at Letterman gym, said that he would like to have about 30 top-flight teams entered.

Ow! (Norm, that is) Scores 35 Against Toreros

Presidio Keg Team Dumps Travis AFB

Torero keglers last week bowled together for the first time and edged Travis Air Force Base, 2-1, in a Northern California Armed Forces League practice match at the Presidio Service Club alleys.

After dropping the first of three games to the visitors, the local five came back strong, 961-934 and 1021-892, to snatch the win.

Pacing the Presidians was Pvt. Gerald Fuller, with 246-643, who posted his high game in the crucial match-deciding third game.

Helping to top a thousand in the final game were a 223 by Sfc. Donald Andresen and a 201 by Sfc. Ed. Johnson.

At a League meeting last Monday, Sfc. Andresen arranged a slate to carry over until final schedules are resolved, perhaps at the next bowling meeting 5 December here.

All games will begin at 1300:

Nov.
15—at Castle AFB.
22—Castle AFB at Presidio.
29—Beale AFB at Presidio.
Dec.
6—at Travis AFB.
13—Travis AFB at Presidio.

Highnetter Clinic Set At Marin High School

Torero-Missileer volleyballers who jointly represent the Post and the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, have accepted an invitation from the San Rafael Department of Parks and Recreation to conduct an all-day clinic 18 November at Davidson High School, San Rafael.

Coach M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio said he intended to use his entire squad to demonstrate both offensive and defensive tactics and formations, followed by actual inter-squad games.

To participate, in addition to M/Sgt. Ignacio, are spikers Sp4 David Rhem, Pfc. Allen Kincaid, Pfc. James McLin, Sp4 Richard Chute, Pfc. Donald Hubbell and Pfc. John Sadler; set men Sp4 Robert Mendez, Sfc. Carlos Ramirez, Sp4 James Morse and Pvt. George Blair.

Hole-In-One Play Garners $239 For UBAC Drive Here

More than 200 Presidio and United Services Golf Club members donated a dollar apiece to United Bay Area Crusade this weekend to enter a two-day Hole-in-One tourney which swelled the Crusade coffers by $239 and netted $50 in merchandise for Presidio's top three drivers.

Capt. Charles Monges, Commander of U.S.A. Garrison Headquarters Company, earned $25 in merchandise from the Club pro shop by dropping his tee-off shot 3 feet, 7½ inches from the cup for the winning effort.

Close behind, and worth $15 was Frank Shanley's blast to within 3 feet 9 inches of an ace. Awarded the $10 prize for third best shot was Capt. Earl Cramer, Air Force Doctor at Letterman Army Hospital, who drove one to 4 feet 4¼ inches from paydirt.

All prizes were donated by the Club.

The tourney was staged on hole 13 and as members played through they donated a dollar to UBAC to vie for the closest tee shot to the cup.

Touche! For Fencers In Lincoln Club Meet

Presidio-Letterman Army Hospital fencers this past week outmaneuvered San Francisco's Lincoln Fencers Club, 12-4, in a preparatory match for meets next week in Mexico City (see separate story).

The winning combination was 1st Lt. Eugene Hardy, William O'Brien and M/Sgt. Bert Sheck, all of whom will make the Southland trip, and newcomer 1st Lt. George Bledschmidt.

In other action, four local fencers competed in San Francisco Fencers Club's beginners foils, but only Pfc. Don Rutek survived the two preliminary rounds to place fifth in the finals.

Chinese Star Brilliant But Locals Win 96-59

Torero basketballers, fresh from a journey last Monday night to Chinatown where they clobbered the San Francisco Chinese, 96-59, in the season's opener, will stage their initial home game and Northern California Armed Forces League debut Wednesday at 2000 in Letterman gym against Hamilton Air Force Base.

Coach Hal Fischer doesn't expect the Hamilton tilt to be as lopsided as the opener, but he is confident of the win. The airmen have not registered a single basketball triumph over the Toreros in the five years mentor Fischer has been at the Presidians' helm.

To lend an air of ceremony to Wednesday night's clash, Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Presidio Commanding Officer, will toss up the ball for the opening tip off and the Sixth Army Band will furnish entertainment.

Pacing the Presidians in the run-away with the Chinese was Pfc. Bill VonWeyhe, 23-year-old All-American Honorable Mention from Rhode Island, who netted 30 points and in general controlled the Toreros' court play and the backboards.

But star of the game was 17-year-old Norm Osw Young of the Chinese, whose sensational two-handed over the shoulder shot accounted for most of his 35 markers. Standing slightly higher than five feet, the George Washington High School senior, fired with deadly accuracy from behind the foul circle to again and again draw applause from the sparse crowd.

Three other Toreros joined Pfc. VonWeyhe in hitting double figures in the scoring column. Pvt. Harry Lux and Pfc. Mike Diaz both bucketed 15 and 2d Lt. Ed Fine, who showed up well on rebound, countered 13.

Also chalking up points were Pfc. Frank Zechel (8), Pfc. John Perry (6), Pfc. Joe Savoldi (5), Pfc. Joe Gascon (2) and Sp4 Ken Carroll (2). Newcomer 2d Lt. Bill Nieder, Presidio shot put ace, also saw action but failed to score.

4th Msle. Bn. to Vie In ARADCOM Play

"Ready and waiting for the 6th ARADCOM volleyball finals in late December-early January . . ."

Highnetters of the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery here, are just that after breezing through local Nike opposition undefeated in sets and games to claim the 30th Artillery Group (Air Defense) crown.

The 4th-men polished off their final foes from the 1st Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, 15-5 and 15-7, in the championship round Wednesday morning at Letterman gym.

The losers gained second place in the final standings. Also participating in the tourney were teams from the 2nd Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery, and the 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery.

Volleyball Team Downs Barc 'Y'

The Presidio-4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery highnetters last week dropped the first of a three-game series, 12-15, to Embarcadero "Y" but came back strong, 15-13 and 15-3, to win the final match this season between the two volleyball clubs.

Coach M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio said steady play and consistent serves were the key to the locals' fifth win in eight meetings with the wharfsiders.

"A lot of credit," M/Sgt. Ignacio said, "has to go to (Sp4 Richard) Chute, whose improvement since he started playing the game in August has been tremendous."

Alley Rats Make Clean Sweep As Keg Action Stays Red Hot

When the one-two teams in the Bay Bowling League clashed last week, the top riding GIs got jolted by the runner-up JAGS, 3-1, but still stayed way out in front by .157 percentage points.

McAfee's 541-192 sparked the surging JAGS, while best effort for G1 was Diamond's 497-166.

MRU crushed last place Garrison, 4-0, in a match which found two members of the newly formed Post bowling team taking high honors for their respective teams. Andresen led the winners with 569-203; Mahon topped Garrison with 554-200.

The No. 4 Compt-Rollers downed Sixth Army Headquarters Company, 3-1, behind the 526-188 of Routen. Top bowler for the losers was Maybee, 490-194.

The Triple Aces, occupying the fifth spot, bested Sixth Army Signal, 3-1, with Goettl pacing the victors, 531-183, and Chun, the losers, 473-177.

Over in the Presidio League the leading Shalters bounced the third place Keystone Kops, 3-1, as Opozda scored a strong 605-214. Leading the losers was Shoudel, 523-188.

The second place Recruiters were held to a 2-2 deadlock by the fourth place King Pins in a game which found Burmeister, 498-148, and Bowlds, 536-200, high men for the respective teams.

In another tie, 60th CI Detachment and SFAADS battled to a 2-2 standstill. Gregor of CI posted 519-181; SFAADS' Wilcox, 509-176.

Making the only clean sweep were the Alley Rats who moved a few notches closer to fifth place by bumping the incumbent Islanders, 4-0. Duke's 542-202 sparked the win, while the top performance for the Islanders was Fuller's 463-200.

The second week of 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery play found the C Battery five moving out in front after dumping Headquarters, 3-1, behind the 496-167 of Sadler. Tops for the losers was Lunde, 471-187.

In the other game, A and B Batteries deadlocked, 2-2, leaving them in last and third place, respectively. Waits, with 483-199, was the fair haired boy for A Battery, while the match's top scorer was B Battery's Schmidt, 484-203.

In the Presidio League, the second place Recruiters failed to wrest the lead from the Shalters when the two clubs split, 2-2, this week. The Shalters now boast a season record of 25-11; the Recruiters, 24-12.

Pacing the Shalters was Wolf with 548-202, while Bedell's 550-224 was high for the Recruiters.

The third spot Keystone Kops made a strong bid for the League lead by overwhelming the sixth place King Pins, 4-0. Johnson's 585-198 bested the Pins' 537-195 posted by Bowlds.

The Kops stand 23-13 in the tight race.

Islander keglers tightened their grip on the fourth spot by besting seventh place 60th CI Detachment, 3-1, behind Lundahl's 536-181. Gregor led the losers with 500-183.

The Alley Rats, setting in fifth, took a 3-1 decision from cellar dwelling SFAADS on Havrilla's 555-214. The Air Defense squad's best was Schweikhard's 474-173.

Both Teams Protest

A member of the Presidio Sports Office this week said that the 47-11 rout of Letterman's lady basketballers by the Hamilton Air Force Base WAF's at the LAH gym had been protested by both teams because of the officiating.

Sgt. Josie Stallings, LAH player-manager, declined to comment and team coach Sp5 Mike Hogan could not be reached by press time.

The Tuesday game preceded a tilt in which the Presidio WAC's crushed Travis Air Force Base, 59-25.

Fencing Team Sharp To Vie In Twin Meet

Nine Presidio-Letterman Army Hospital fencers will fly to Mexico City Wednesday wearing two hats—as representatives of both LAH and California in separate LAH-Mexico and California-Mexico meets there.

Under the Letterman handle, they will meet their South of the Border counterparts Thursday and Friday in epee, foils and saber. Last year, the locals won the epee and saber.

As members of the California team, they will vie Saturday through next Monday.

On the roster (and competitive categories) are:

| Name                    | LAH-Mex.               | Calif.-Mex.       |
|-------------------------|------------------------|-------------------|
| William O'Brien (coach) | foil, saber, alt. epee | foil, saber       |
| Col. Laurence Brownlee  | epee, foil, saber      | epee, foil, saber |
| 1st Lt. Eugene Hardy    | alt. foil              | alt. foil         |
| Sp4 William Beaver      | saber                  | alt. saber        |
| Ed Purdy                | epee                   | epee              |
| 1st Lt. William Coleman |                        | alt. foil         |
| M/Sgt. Severo Pasol     | epee, foil, saber      | epee, foil        |
| M/Sgt. Bert Sheck       | epee, foil             | foil              |
| Pfc. Don Rutek          | alt. saber             | alt. foil         |

Also accompanying the team will be Lt. Col. F. N. Crandall, OIC, and Maj. Charles Hedberg, Medical Officer.

Military Experts See Comment On Exercise

On the sidelines at the Rocky Shoals landing were a number of top American military figures and countless other observers.

Following is a sample of what some of them had to say:

• Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz—"We need complete cooperation to get the most effective use of our Armed Forces. The benefit of planning Rocky Shoals alone is worth the expense involved. Great advances have obviously been made, too, in the safety of troops, and that is a pleasing sight to me."

• Gen. Bruce C. Clarke, CONARC Commander—Gen. Clarke pointed out the role of the assault troops in pentomic type operations, the extremely difficult attack, the full cooperation and coordination of all organizations involved. This exercise will add in developing of the survival know how needed by troops making such an assault.

• Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth U.S. Army Commander—"Here, you see the troops are showing that already something they have just been taught is being put to work quite well. We've got a tremendous amount of sound and a quite authentic atmosphere established. Of course if you are really making a landing, it is even more exciting."

• Col. Stig Losgren, Swedish Military Attache to the U.S.—"Americans have obviously perfected the art of amphibious warfare. We are not contemplating any amphibious wars on anyone, of course, but we are nonetheless interested in the exercise. You've got to see the problems from the attackers' point of view, you know."

• Lt. Col. Albert Merglen, French Liaison Officer to the Infantry School, Ft. Benning—The landing showed "real excellence in preparation not only of the assault plan but also of the training the troops have received. We have an amphibious school in North Africa where much the same techniques are being taught."

Washington (ANS) — The Department of Defense has requested the Selective Service System to provide Armed Forces Induction Stations with 11,000 men during December 1958 for assignment to the Army. This December call is the same as for the months of September, October, and November.

The Soldier Was A Lady

"Mississippi Was Never Like This!"

"Mary Ann, we're heah, honey!"

Another Mississippi Miss was turning heads, generating whistles and generally livin' it up here this week.

When Vicksburg's gift to the Army, Pvt. Mary E. Webster, became the third female soldier in the history of 30th Artillery Group, she was in for a pleasant surprise.

On hand to prove that chivalry in the space age can survive were missilemen armed with flowers, violins and sweet nothings. They proceeded to introduce themselves to Pvt. Webster and Pvt. Webster to her new typewriter—explaining how desperately they needed a new steno.

A product of clerk-typist school, via basic training at Ft. McClellan, Pvt. Webster graduated from Carr Central High in her hometown and worked for a law firm prior to joining the service.

The blue-eyed blonde is a dance enthusiast and also turns a mean seam. She has ambitions to attend OCS, but

New Law Aids Medics On Lost Pay

Washington (ANS) — Recently approved by the 85th Congress, Public Law 85-869 provides that any commissioned officer of the Medical Corps of the Army, who was serving on active duty before 1 July, 1954, as an intern or resident physician in a hospital other than a Federal hospital, is entitled to retain payments of pay and allowances during this period to the extent that such compensation, pay and allowances were paid.

The law also provides for a refund to those officers who have made repayments of such amounts assessed against them. Army members entitled to a refund should submit a claim therefor, over their handwritten signature, to Settlements Services Operations, Claims Division, Finance Center, U.S. Army, Indianapolis 49, Indiana, citing Public Law 85-869, 85th Congress, as the basis for the claim and furnishing the address to which the check is to be mailed.

Late Flashes

Washington (ANS)—The Army this week is distributing DA Circular 611-24 which authorizes major commanders to award a limited number of proficiency payments in selected MOS prior to award of payments under the testing procedures established under the Enlisted Evaluation System. Individuals awarded this (and subsequently authorized proficiency pay) must be in the Regular Army.

Washington (ANS) — Development of a telewriter, believed to be the fastest general purpose message printer in communications history and capable of typing at a rate of 3,000 words a minute, was announced this week by the Department of the Army. It prints four full lines of text a second, which is 50 times faster than a news service teletypewriter, 45 times faster than an average typist, and 20 times faster than the average person can talk.

New Commander For Army Hospital

A 28-year Army veteran who is an expert in the designing, construction and administration of military hospitals, Colonel Achilles L. Tynes, has assumed command of Letterman Army Hospital at the Presidio. He comes to his new assignment from Ft. Dix, N. J., where he served as post surgeon and commanding officer of the Army Hospital.

A native of Leesburg, Va., Col. Tynes received his BS from Hampden-Sydney College and graduated from the University of Virginia Medical School in 1930, the same year he was commissioned in the Army Medical Corps.

During WWII, Col. Tynes was assigned to the Surgeon General's Office as chief of hospital construction for the Army. In 1947, after serving as commanding officer of the then new Tripler General Hospital in Hawaii, he again was assigned to the Surgeon General's Office, Washington, D. C., as chief, Medical Facilities Planning Branch, from 1947 to 1949 and as Chief, Medical Plans and Operations Divisions from 1949 to 1951.

While serving in the Surgeon General's Office from 1949 to 1951, Col. Tynes designed and supervised the construction of ten Army hospitals built on permanent Army Posts. The hospital he commanded at Fort Dix was the last of the group of ten to be finished. Others in the group included Tripler General, Hawaii; DeWitt Army Hospital, Fort Belvoir, Va.; Martin Army Hospital, Fort Benning, Ga.; Irwin Army Hospital, Fort Riley, Kan.; Womack Army Hospital, Fort Bragg, N.C.; Ireland Army Hospital, Fort Knox, Ky.; Patterson Army Hospital, Fort Monmouth, Red Bank, N. J.; U.S. Army Hospital, Fort Meade, Maryland; and Army Hospital, Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

Serving with the Far East Command, 1955 to January 1958, Col. Tynes was instrumental in establishing the US Army Medical Center, Japan, which he commanded before returning to the United States. The Medical Center supervises all Army medical and dental installations in the Far East and is the only such medical center the Army has established outside the continental United States.

New LAH CO
Col. A. L. Tynes

Col. and Mrs. Tynes, the former Bessie Meade Riddle of Norfolk, Va., and daughter Margaret will reside in the Hospital Commander's home at LAH. Another daughter, Mrs. John B. Ballenger, is currently in Paris, where her husband is an aide-de-camp to the Chief of Staff, SHAPE.

Fort Belvoir, Va. (ANS) — The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers will be host this month to 30 science teachers and 30 selected high school students from nearby Virginia counties at a ten-week course in the science of rocketry at The Engineer Center. It is planned to follow the ten-week course with a visit by the teachers and students to an Army installation to fire rockets they build during the instruction sessions. Instructors will be furnished by industrial firms engaged in missile and rocket work.

Washington (ANS)—A selection board will be convened next March, according to the Department of the Army, to consider certain groups of USAR officers not on Active Duty for permanent promotion. Groups to be considered and zones of consideration are outlined in DA Circular 624-37, which is now being distributed by the Army.

XV Corps Medical Advisor Named to High GB Honors

Lieutenant Colonel Carl W. Nicolary, Senior Advisor for all Army Reserve Medical activities of the XVth US Army Corps, has been admitted as a member of the Royal Society of Health in London, England.

The Society is under the patronage of Queen Elizabeth, and is the highest society to which a person may be elected. It is the largest of its kind in the world, with the goal of improving general health. There are approximately 18 members of the American Armed Forces in the Society.

Colonel Nicolary was assigned to his present job as Medical Unit Advisor upon his return from USAEUR headquarters in Heidelberg, Germany, last month. He was stationed with the Medical Division there for three years.

The colonel entered the Army in 1940. He is a graduate of Alabama State College, where he majored in business administration, and received his hospital administration certificate from Baylor University. He is a member of the American College of Hospital Administrators.

HEARTS AND FLOWERS and the added charm of soft violin music greeted Pvt. Mary E. Webster this week as she became the third WAC to enter the previously all male 30th Artillery Group Headquarters Battery. The "hearts" (l. to r.) Sp4 David R. Rhem, Pfc. Norman L. Johnson, Pvt. Ronald C. O'Connor and Pfc. Jerome J. Wankum, don't seem to be protesting too loudly at the entrance of the attractive young stenographer.

plans an Army career, regardless.

Pvt. Webster commutes daily from WAC Company D, USA Garrison, Presidio, to her job at Ft. Barry.

"Ah love it tho, and if Miss America, she's Mary Ann Mobley, from Mississippi, you know, ever gets tired of all that traveling, clothes, an' things, I know just the place for her—the Army. These missilemen... Like ah said: Mary Ann, we're heah!"

Army Goes 'Over the Top' In UBAC Campaign

the STAR-PRESIDIAN
"serving those who serve a nation!"

Vol. 7, No. 25

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA Friday 14 November, 1958

Top Lady Soldier Due Here On 4-Day Visit

The Army's top lady soldier, Colonel Mary L. Milligan, Director, Women's Army Corps, will begin a four-day tour of Bay Area WAC activities when she arrives at the Presidio on Tuesday.

She has been inspecting WAC activities in the eight western state area which comprises Sixth U.S. Army since 4 November. She is currently visiting Ft. Ord facilities.

Her local schedule opens with a visit to Letterman Army Hospital in the afternoon and a reception that evening given at the Presidio WAC Company day room by all enlisted women in the Bay Area.

On Wednesday, Col. Milligan will visit the Sixth US Army Recruiting District and attend a press conference of club editors in the morning. The afternoon she will spend with WAC recruiters at the Oakland Main Station and visiting Oakland Army Terminal WAC personnel.

Thursday morning she will inspect the Presidio WAC Company and in the afternoon will visit Fort Mason. That evening she will be guest of honor at a reception given by all WAC officers in the area.

On Friday next, Col. Milligan will visit at Sixth US Army headquarters, and then address the Commonwealth Club at their luncheon meeting in the Sheraton-Palace Hotel, speaking on the topic "Military Manpower for National Defense."

A visit to Sixth Region headquarters, Army Antiaircraft Defense Command at Fort Baker on Friday afternoon will conclude her official calls and she will depart that night by air for Washington, D. C., to meet a November 23 departure date for London, England, where she will be President Eisenhower's representative for the Armed Forces at dedication ceremonies for the American Memorial Chapel in St. Paul's Cathedral. A gift of the British people, the chapel honors the 28,000 American servicemen who died in World War II while operating from bases in Britain.

"Rolling Along" Here

"Rolling Along," the traveling all-Army entertainment show, will stage a one-night stand Tuesday at Letterman Army Hospital recreation hall, beginning at 1930.

JUMPING JEEP—The Army's new ground-and-air vehicle, VZ-8P, hovers over runway during initial test flight. The "sky-car" is claimed to be the first vehicle to achieve vertical lift and forward flight with two small horizontal rotor props contained within the body structure.

Visits Next Week

New Radar Sets Army GCA Mark

Camp Gary, Tex. (AFPS)—In four hours and 45 minutes a Quadradar operator here successfully talked down one L-19 every seven-and-a-half minutes.

The stint set a Ground Control Approaches record for this primary flying field and possibly for the entire Army.

Quadradar, still new to the Army, provides surveillance, final approach, height finding and taxi control all on a single one-man scope.

A midget compared to its predecessors, Quadradar has been called "as mobile as a toothpick." The set has been heralded as bringing visionary innovations into the flight control field.

Wage Board Meet Studies Revisions On A-AF Pay Scale

A two-day training session on revisions in the Army-Air Force wage administration system was held recently at the Civil Service Commission for representatives of 18 agencies whose wage-board pay practices are keyed in some way to the Army-Air Force program.

The institute was conducted by specialists from the Department of the Army. The institute was related to an interdepartmental program, requested by the Office of the Special Assistant to the President for Personnel Management, designed to improve wage coordination throughout the Government.

Significant revisions are being made in the Army-Air Force procedures for determining the pay of wage-board (blue-collar) employees. The changes will have considerable impact on many other agency wage systems, for most agencies which have used the Army-Air Force system, or an adaptation, plan to use the new system.

Changes are being made in grade structure, number of step rates per grade, rules for application of step rates, and timing of wage surveys and wage adjustments. The number of pay grades for nonsupervisory jobs and working-leader positions is being reduced from 28 to 15, and the number of step rates lowered from four to three per grade. Differences in the methods of fixing pay for blue-collar workers within the Department of Defense will be reduced.

New Big Picture

Long Island City, N. Y. (ANS)—The Army Pictorial Center here will soon release "Salute to the Canadian Army," the latest in the Army's "Big Picture TV" series. Filmed in Canada, it features the vigorous neighborly spirit which has contributed so mightily to the strength of Canada and the United States. It is scheduled for viewing in nearly 350 TV stations nationwide, and overseas.

New Army Photo Device Will Take Pictures In Total Darkness

Fort Belvoir, Va. (ANS)—A photographic device which can produce an image in total darkness has been developed under the sponsorship of the U.S. Army Engineer Research and Development Laboratories here.

Called the Thermograph, it does not need either sunlight or artificial light, using instead the "heat" or infrared radiation emitted by the subject.

The Thermograph, developed as a night vision aid, is a research instrument to determine the basic characteristics a military thermal imaging device should have.

Thermal imaging devices are expected to provide a means for night reconnaissance, terrain mapping and target location, and may be useful in the detection of camouflage.

Leads Other Services; Presidio Hits $ Goal

Army installations in the Bay Area went over the top this week in the final days of the annual United Bay Area Crusade campaign.

Combined percentage mark for the 14 Army agencies was a resounding 116%. Eleven of these 14 hit or surpassed the 100% mark as they poured nearly $90,000 into UBAC coffers.

Posting outstanding participation and dollar goals were:

- ★ SF Ordnance District—161.7%.
- ★ Army Chemical District—157.5%.
- ★ Recruiting Main Station (Oakland)—143.8%.
- ★ Pac. Terminal Trans. Command—136.8%.
- ★ XV Corps (Reserve)—115.4%.
- ★ Presidio San Francisco—113.6%.
- ★ Army Audit Agency—110.5%.
- ★ Letterman Army Hospital—108.6%.
- ★ SF District Corps Engineers—103.8%.
- ★ Alameda Administrative Center—101.4%.
- ★ 6th RAADCOM—100.8%.
- AAF Exchange Service—91.8%.
- South Pac. Corps. Engineers—91.4%.
- Camp Stoneman—74.2%.

Of the sister services, only the Marine Corps had topped the 100% mark. They boasted a final total of 108.4%. The Air Force was third best with a come from behind effort that boosted their percentage to 88.9. Coast Guard had 87.2% and the Navy 81.4%.

Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth U.S. Army Commander and chairman of the UBAC military section, expressed gratification at the "splendid effort on the part of civilian and military personnel of the Armed Forces."

"Of course I am especially proud of the Army and Marine Corps showing. The personal leadership demonstrated by the various commanding officers, the high esprit of the civilian and military participants, are extremely significant in an age when more and more the defense program, and the communities in which it resides, must demonstrate a singleness of purpose."

In the Sixth Army portion of the Presidio drive, 6 of the 36 staff sections and units participating went over the 100% mark. These included:

(Please turn to page 8)

IN ORBIT was the Army's United Bay Area Crusade Missile this week as final returns hit a 116.9% of dollar potential. Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth U.S. Army Commander and chairman of the military section of UBAC, gives the missile marker the final push. Looking on are Mr. W. W. Davison, UBAC Campaign Chairman, Miss Joan Warner, Personnel Services Branch, G1 and Mrs. Helen Findley, secretary to the Deputy Chief of Staff, Sixth Army.

Ingenuity Plus

Brings New Life To Old Springfield

It takes a lot more than just a spare $37.50 and 110 hours of free time.

Sfc. Harvey W. Bogardus had the money and the time, but he also had the knack and that is what it really takes to convert a surplus 1903 Army Springfield into a prize winning big game hunting rifle.

The handy sergeant, who during duty hours is an electronics supply specialist with C Battery, 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, remodeled the rifle to give to his father when the elder Bogardus retired from his civilian job with the Navy.

But his CO encouraged him to also enter it in the recent 6th ARADCOM gift making contest at Ft. Baker and, behold, it copped an easy first place in the opinions of the professional craftsmen judges.

NOW, HERE'S HOW says the sergeant to the general. Sfc. Harvey W. Bogardus of C Battery, 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery shows 6th ARADCOM Commander Maj. Gen. Edward J. McGaw how a 1903 Springfield looks as a big game hunting rifle. In 110 hours, the Nike NCO converted the old Army rifle into a sporting gun as a gift for his father and won first prize in a recent 6th ARADCOM crafts contest.

Sfc. Bogardus got the idea when he was on ROTC duty at Colorado School of Mines. He worked out a conversion plan with Capt. John L. Anderson, Assistant Post Engineer at nearby Fitzsimons Army Hospital but final details of the design were drafted by the Colorado School of Trades.

While shopping around for parts, he was transferred here so had to hold off a bit before getting the project completed.

Through the National Rifle Association, Sfc. Bogardus picked up an unserviceable Springfield from Army Ordnance for $17.50. A black walnut stock blank set him back another $9 and Redfield sights cost $11.

The time he sandwiched in during off duty hours and the talent to do the job comes from his "great pleasure from woodworking."

Summing up, he said that knowing the gun is a prize winner and a lifetime tribute to his father "brings me a fine feeling of accomplishment."

Final Goodbye

For Air Warrior

New York (AFPS)—When Col. Edson D. Raff retires at the end of this year, the Army will say goodbye to its pioneer sky warrior, the man who headed the first and the last American combat parachute jumps in WWII.

"The story of his operation," wrote General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower, "is a minor epic in itself. The deception he practiced, the speed with which he struck, kept the enemy completely confused during a period of weeks."

Col. Raff in 1942 commanded the 509th Parachute Inf. Bn. in history's longest airborne invasion—1500 miles non-stop from England to Oran, Algeria. Gen. Eisenhower, in writing about the North African campaign, said that his only flank protection was provided by scattered French irregulars "reinforced and inspired by a small United States parachute detachment under a gallant American, Col. Edson D. Raff.

The jumping colonel's exploits were not all airborne. He helped plan the invasion of Normandy and on D-Day led an armored task force that landed on Utah Beach.

The war's last combat jump was made over Wesel, Germany, in March 1945, with the intrepid colonel heading the 507th Parachute Inf. Regt. Germany is also the scene of his last duty assignment as a staff officer (G-1) of VII Corp at Moehringen.

Paragraph in Point: "The international Communist movement has won successes to date—especially in Asia—mainly because its ideology has been backed up with military force, secret police, subversion, and propaganda."—(DA Pam 21-77).

Recently Assigned

A West Pointer and long-time Artillery commander recently was named President of the Physical Evaluation Board here.

He is Col. JOSEPH H. TWYMAN, Jr., 49, who came to the Presidio from Germany, where he commanded Wurzburg Post for one year.

In California, Col. Twyman is no stranger. His first duty assignment after graduation from the U.S. Military Academy (Class of '30) was as a battery officer at Ft. MacArthur, Calif. Later, after a tour in Panama, Col. Twyman returned to Ft. MacArthur to command the 1st Battalion, 3d Coast Artillery from 1939 until July 1942.

After a quick trip East to Cp. Davis, N.C., he returned to California for a year as commander of first one and then another battalion in the Anti-aircraft Training Center at Cp. Haan, Riverside.

Back to Cp. Davis, he took over the 777th AAA Battalion just before it headed for the European Theater. Leading the Battalion through France and Germany, he remained in command until transferred in July 1945.

For his World War II service, he holds the Bronze Star with two Oak Leaf Clusters, the French Croix de Guerre with Palm and the French Croix de Guerre with Gold Star.

From July through December 1945 he worked in the Anti-aircraft Section of Third Army Headquarters in Bad Tolz, Bavaria, before returning to the States.

But, after tours at Ft. Bliss, Tex., and Ft. H. G. Wright, N.Y., he returned to Third Army, this time in Heidelberg, as Assistant Provost Marshal. When Third Army was returned to the States in January 1947, Col. Twyman remained at Heidelberg Post to serve in various capacities, one of which was as Inspector General.

In September 1948 he transferred to Ft. Bliss, Tex. A year later he was named National Guard Advisor for Alabama, and the following year he began a two-year tour as Operations Officer-Deputy Chief of ROTC Affairs for South Carolina Military District.

His next assignment again found him wearing two hats. From July 1952 to April 1953 he was both Deputy Post Commander and Chief of Staff at Cp. Stewart, Ga.

Next, he moved to Saigon where he was Deputy Chief, MAAG-Viet Nam, until late 1954 when he returned to Ft. Bliss, Tex., to become a group commander at the Training Center there. Two years later he took the post of Commander of Special Troops and Headquarters Commandant at Ft. Bliss until he assumed his most recent duties in Europe.

Col. Twyman, a member of the "B" football team at West Point, also has supervised Army marksmanship activities.

He now lives in the Marina District with his wife, Bernell, and their son, Joseph, 15.

A native Californian was recently named Chief, Reserve Forces Branch, G1 Sixth U.S. Army.

He is Lt. Col. ADEN D. RENZ, 42, who for the past two years has been the Inspector General of U.S.A. Garrison, Ft. Campbell, Ky.

Entering the service from Sacramento in 1941, Lt. Col. Renz was assigned to San Luis Obispo and Ft. Rosecrans, San Diego, before sailing for the Pacific with the 184th Infantry Regiment in 1945.

In 1946 he was assigned as S1 of the 9th Infantry Regiment, 2d Infantry Division, at Ft. Lewis, Wash., and then in 1948 he was S4 at Ft. Armstrong, Hawaii. A year later Lt. Col. Renz joined, in Hawaii, the 5th Regimental Combat Team as S1 and served in Korea with that unit.

Upon return from Korea in 1951, he was appointed Assistant G1 at Ft. Ord. In 1953, Lt. Col. Renz served a tour in Germany as Executive Officer at Garmisch and Berchtesgaden Subarea Command.

Lt. Col. Renz resides in Sacramento with his wife, LaVerne, and sons, Douglas, 15, and Robert, 12.

2d Lt. GERALD E. WHEELER has been assigned to the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery as Administrative Medical Officer.

2d Lt. Wheeler graduated in June 1958 from Montana State University, where he majored in Industrial Arts. As an ROTC Distinguished Military Graduate, he applied for and received his commission.

He was sent to Ft. Sam Houston, Tex. to the Basic Officer Army Orientation Medical School and assigned from there to the 4th Battalion.

2d Lt. Wheeler is from Great Falls, Mont., where his parents still reside. He is 24 years old and lives at the Ft. Scott BOQ. His hobby is "Ham" radio operator.

Two warrant officers have been assigned to Headquarters, XVth U.S. Army Corps (Reserve).

They are CWO-2 BOYD M. BEVERAGE who has assumed duties as Supply Inspector with the G4 Section, and CWO-2 FRANK H. FALLIS, new Administrative Officer of the G3 Inspection Division.

Chief Warrant Officer Beverage who entered the Army in March 1949, previously served as a commissioned officer in the Navy from 1938 to 1947. His last assignment prior to reporting to the Presidio was Supply Officer at Fort Eustis, Virginia.

Chief Warrant Officer Fallis hails from Muskegon Heights, Michigan. He entered the Army in July 1941. CWO Fallis comes to the Presidio after serving a tour with the 15th Transportation Battalion in Rockeford, France.

Army Strength Figures

Washington (ANS)—Army procurement during September totalled 32,931, with 12,114 inductions through Selective Service, 12,719 new recruits, 7,326 enlistments, and 772 reservists entering upon active duty. Army strength was estimated at 900,440.

what they said

Any of you remember that wonderful character Walter Mitty? All he had to do was close his eyes, wander into a dream, and he became a dashing hero, a brilliant surgeon, a foreign correspondent. Walter Mitty could dream himself into almost anything, but he always had that rude awakening and found himself back in the reality of life. This week we wondered how many of you have Mitty dreams, or how many people really don't dream at all. So we asked

THE QUESTION: What is your greatest ambition?

ANSWERS:

Sp4 Thomas Skinner, Hdq. 30

Eng. Bn.: I think my greatest ambition is to support my family in a way they'll be happy all the time, and to make friends and no enemies. I plan to finish law school and have a law practice we could live comfortably on, you know the sort where I could take a vacation if I wanted to. I want just enough to be comfortable and happy, not to have too much so people envy me, but just enough to live by. I plan to go into corporation law, but if I had the opportunity I imagine I'd like to be a Supreme Court Justice. But like anything, you work for it. There is satisfaction from doing something yourself.

Alta Mohamed, Fort Scott

Library: Oh, brother, you really ask the questions! Well, I think my personal ambition is to achieve superior mental control of myself. It's a terribly difficult thing for any person to do, but I feel to get the most from life you have to first have a rigid mental discipline and this requires much time and study. I don't believe mankind can ever reach its destiny unless they do achieve strong mental discipline and aim it in the right direction. As a human race we are terribly lax with ourselves and take life as something that has been given to us and don't use it toward a greater goal. We should look outward to destiny to learn why we are here.

Pfc. Peter J. DeMaria, USA

Garrison, Hdqs. Comp.: Well, I guess I just would like to make a lot of money. Then I'd bring up a nice family. First of all I'd get them all a good education and a good home. I'd see they had the finer things of life, you know, like good clothes, and I'd see they'd make the best steps they could in life. If I didn't have a family, I'd just live it up! I'd go around the world and see everything and invest in lots of business. I hope to go into the real estate business.

Kenneth G. Coleman, Post

Transportation: My greatest ambition for the first 25 years was to retire from the Army and that I did on the first of January. I don't think that people ever reach their ultimate ambition. As soon as you do, you come to a plateau. Then there is something beyond. Now I'm looking forward to a civil service retirement, and then I'll find some other field to retire in. As long as a person is active, there is no point in retiring. I suppose you could say hard work is a habit with me. The Army tried to teach me almost everything else, but they never taught me how to quit.

3,000 Meals a Day
Sfc. Gonzalo Masinas

kaleidoscope

The "wedding cake" was really potato salad. A three-tiered tempter topped by garnish "icing," this gourmets delight towered over the table a couple of Sundays ago at the Presidio Officers Open Mess semimonthly smorgasborg. And the culinary artist responsible for this tasty treat which tipped the scales at 85 pounds? Sfc. Gonzalo Masinas, 52-year-old salad specialist and pantry man at the Mess since 1954.

But to regular diners the "wedding cake" should have come as no surprise. For, Sfc. Masinas' salad specialties, even salad sandwiches, are familiar dishes at both the smorgasbord and the traditional Wednesday Chuck Wagon dinners. In a service career which started in 1934 in the Philippine Scouts, Sfc. Masinas has packed a lot of action, a lot of excitement, a lot of hardship which normally don't befall the man behind the stove. Back in 1938, Sfc. Masinas left the kitchen and took to the ring, marshaling his 5'3" and 110 pounds to the flyweight championship of Ft. Stotsenburg, Pampanga, P.I.

When war broke out three years later, he survived the brutal Japanese Death March to spend six months in concentration camp as POW mess steward for Cp. O'Donnell's Group II. But, what can a man who has been cooking since he was 15 do with one quarter a cow a day for 1,200 men and a handful of rice for each? Since the Liberation, Sfc. Masinas has held down mess steward jobs in the Philippines, in Guam and in the States where he has had to serve up to 3,000 meals a day. Planning to retire in 1960, Sfc. Masinas has a home in Pittsburg, Calif., from which he commutes daily, and expects to stay on the job at the Officers Mess when his service time is ended. Married since 1931, he has nine children ranging in age from 3 to 25; he also has two grandchildren.

Redstone Graduated

Cape Canaveral, Fla. (ANS)—The final Army Redstone ballistic missile to be used for research and development purposes was launched here this past week.

In its "graduation" shot, the missile again confirmed the reliability of the current model (which is now fully operational and in the hands of troops) and no further R&D firings are anticipated.

Redstone was America's first entry into the field of large ballistic missiles. This latest firing was the 34th successful launching in the last two years.

Post Soldier Named To Head JWB-USO
SF Council Group

Private First Class Robert Hoffman, 24, of C Company, USA Garrison, recently was named head of a reactivated interservice enlisted advisory council which assists Jewish Welfare Board-USO hostesses plan and publicize programs for Bay Area Jewish military personnel.

Hoffman, who has participated in joint JWB-USO activities since coming to the Presidio in September 1957, said that plans are underway for dances, skating parties and house parties.

A tentative three-month program has been set and efforts are being made to plan activities on the Peninsula and in East Bay.

A native of Montclair, N. J., Hoffman was president of his hometown group in the North Essex Young Men's Hebrew Association before going to Bethany (W. Va.) College, where he graduated last year as a political science-history major.

Submarine life isn't all pressure. . . . not if Sandra Edwards is on the beach to hula, as she does for James Garner and Edmond O'Brien in "Up Periscope."

Tops in Pops. . . . "It's All in the Game" by Tommy Edwards again takes the lead spot on the "Billboard Magazine" Honor Roll of Hits, and for a second week "It's Only Make Believe" (Conway Twitty) takes second place. Bringing up the rear are "Tom Dooley" (Kingston Trio); "Topsy II" (Cozy Cole); "Rock-in' Robin" (Bobby Day); "Tea for Two Cha Cha" (Tommy Dorsey Orchestra); "Chantilly Lace" (Big Bopper); "The End" (Earl Grant); "Tears on My Pillow" (Little Anthony and the Imperials) and "Bird Dog" (Everly Brothers). Anything missing? You're right—"Volare" didn't make it!

Retired Activities Day Here Draws Record Crowd

Name Missile Subs For Noted Americans

Washington (AFPS) — The Navy will turn from traditional menizens of the deep to illustrious Americans in naming its first Polaris missile-firing submarines.

The three 5,600-ton atomic-powered fleet ballistic missile subs now under construction, designated the SSB(N) 598, 599 and 600, will be named the George Washington, Patrick Henry and Theodore Roosevelt.

Deputy Army Secretary Visits Antarctica Team

Antarctica (ANS)—Mr. Edward A. Bacon, Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Army, has just departed from McMurdo after spending nearly a week in the Antarctic. He stated he was very much impressed with the efficiency and the austere conditions under which the men worked.

"This is certainly no country club," he declared. "The men are working 24 hours a day, seven days a week under the most adverse weather conditions."

However, he added, the health and morale of the personnel is excellent.

First Woman Civil Service Employee Dies At Age 100

Mrs. Mary Francis Hoyt Moses, 100, first woman appointed to a Federal Government position under the Civil Service Act of 1883, died recently at her home in New York City.

On the occasion of her birthday, last 17 June, Civil Service Commission Chairman Harris Ellsworth visited her and delivered to her a personal letter from President Eisenhower hailing her as "the symbol of women now comprising one-fourth of the entire Federal service."

Six months after the Civil Service Act was passed in 1883, Mrs. Moses, a graduate of Vassar College, took the first competitive examination given under the new law. She was the second person, the first woman, to receive an appointment. She accepted a $900-a-year clerkship in the Treasury Department, and remained with that agency until 1888, when she married Brice J. Moses.

She is survived by two sons, R. Hoyt Moses of San Antonio, Tex., and Maj. Alan M. Moses (US Army, Retired), of Bronxville, N. Y.

Hawk Scores Again

White Sands Missile Range, N.M. (ANS)—The Army's Hawk air-defense missile system was successfully demonstrated here this past week against the fastest flying target available for tests.

The target, the ram-jet XQ-5 missile, can fly at several times the speed of sound.

The Hawk—a deadly-accurate surface-to-air missile system designed specifically to attack targets at extremely low altitudes—is able to operate both in the continental United States and also as a mobile air-defense weapon with Army forces in the field. It can be transported over unimproved roads, or by helicopter and cargo aircraft.

CSC's Award Presented To Public Personnel Group

The U.S. Civil Service Commission has presented its Diamond Anniversary Award for outstanding support of the Federal merit system to the Public Personnel Association, which met recently in Chicago for its annual conference.

The Diamond Anniversary Award, established this year by the Commission, is presented to selected national organizations which have, over the years, contributed significantly to the support of the Federal merit system of employment.

In conferring the award, Commissioner Frederick Lawton read the official citation which said, in part: "Since its founding in 1906 as the Civil Service Assembly of the United States and Canada, and more recently as the Public Personnel Association . . . your information and consulting service, your publications, institutes, and conferences have greatly assisted those charged with the management of the Federal merit system. This in turn has served to build a better, stronger merit system and career service in the Federal Government."

Missile Sergeant Retires; Awarded Commendation At Final Unit Review

A recent formal review at D Battery, 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery marked a big day in the life of M/Sgt. Robert C. Davidson, Battery Supply Sergeant.

He was honored upon his retirement after 24 years, 7 months of Army service and was awarded a Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant. In addition, his battery mates gave him a Coleman camping stove and field utensils.

The presentations were made by Lt. Col. Ernest J. Whitaker, 4th Battalion Commander.

Chicago Tribune Lauds 87 Illinois Guardsmen

Chicago (AFPS)—Eighty-seven National Guardsmen and reservists from Illinois have been cited by "The Chicago Tribune" for their "outstanding military proficiency."

Gold medallions were presented to the men by Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker at ceremonies in the Nathan Hale Court of Tribune Square on Oct. 18.

FSEE Set Annually In Competition For Top College Talent

Civil service renewed its bid for a share of the Nation's talented college-caliber people with the recent opening of the new Federal-Service Entrance Examination. A new examination will be opened each fall. Persons who pass the PSEE but are not selected before a new register is established will have to re compete in the new examination if they want to continue their eligibility.

Announcement of the new examination—now geared to the school year—signaled the start of the 1958-59 recruitment effort which will send Government recruiters to about 900 college campuses before next June. The first written test will be given on 15 November. The test will be repeated each month from January through May 1959. The management-intern tests will be given only on the first four testing dates.

Most positions will be filled at the grade GS-5 level, now starting at $4,040 a year. However, outstanding graduates or persons with sufficient graduate study or qualifying work experience may be offered advance-trainee positions at grade 7, paying $4,980. A limited number of management-intern positions will be filled through the exam, generally at grade 7, but a few at 9, starting at $5,985 a year.

SRO At Retreat Parade; Exhibits, Tours Popular

Sunny skies and bright, brisk weather prevailed as old timers, their children and grandchildren, visited exhibits, static displays and myriad other forms of education and entertainment provided for their pleasure.

Key meeting and resting place was the Presidio Service Club where attractive displays, from a one-man art show by retired Sgt. James Conde, to a display of art and photo exhibits depicting Special Services' contribution to the soldier off-duty entertainment, were on display. Gallons of free coffee and dozens of donuts were served the visitors.

Bus tours of the numerous off-parade-ground activities were well filled as many visited Nike sites, MARS radio station, parachute packing display and other sections open for the day.

The retreat parade in the afternoon, which saw six retired general officers (see photo above), in the review group, was exceptionally well attended as visitors packed the stands and VIP seats, with many finding standing room only.

"All in all, I think it was one of the best planned and smoothest functioning events we've had at the Presidio," said Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Commanding Officer. "Every one of the visitors I talked to, and I don't believe I missed any of the key exhibits or special functions, seemed to be having a wonderful time. They were well pleased that not only had the Army remembered them with this special day, but had put time and thought in making it a worth-while experience."

CSC Ups Starting Pay For Most Actuaries To Meet New Needs

In the first such action since the recent general 10 percent pay increase for the Government's white-collar workers, the Civil Service Commission has authorized above-minimum starting pay rates for actuaries in grades GS-5 through GS-14. The new pay rates became effective early in October for both present and new employees in the affected positions.

The adjustments were made under authority of Congressional legislation permitting recruitment at higher than normal entrance pay rates when the Federal Government is at a competitive disadvantage with private employers and the Federal need is acute.

The change puts entrance rates for actuary positions on the same level as starting rates for mathematician and mathematical statistician positions in these grades. The new yearly entrance steps for actuaries are: GS-5 and 7—4th step of pay grade; GS-9, 11, and 12—3d step of pay grade; GS-13 and 14—2d step of pay grade.

Hart On Defense

Colorado Springs, Colo. (ANS)—Lt. Gen. Charles E. Hart, Commanding General of the United States Army Air Defense Command, told the annual meeting of the AUSA that the Army is in the business of air defense because it has proven that its contributions are timely and effective, and are essential to an adequate air defense. "I am confident in the Army's ability to continue this essential contribution for many years to come," he declared.

Presidio's Fischer Named To Top Coaching Berth

(AFPS Weekly Feature)

Saturday, 29 Nov., is the date. Municipal Stadium, Philadelphia, is the place. The 59th meeting between the football teams of the U.S. Military and Naval Academies is the occasion.

It all began in 1890 when Navy challenged Army to a contest in the "new" game of football. The midshipmen had been playing it for a few seasons, but the cadets were unfamiliar with the game and only a few knew the rules.

Due to the efforts of cadet Dennis Michie, first coach and captain of the Army squad, authorities were convinced of the advisability of accepting the challenge.

Michie, after whom the West Point stadium is named, gathered a team, but the experienced middies taught it a lesson to the tune of 24-0.

Since that time the game grew in stature until the late Grantland Rice said in 1925: "... the Army-Navy football game now steps forward as the greatest of all spectacles, the best of all shows, the most vivid and the most spectacular ensemble in the world of sports."

Some series highlights ... The first game on neutral ground was played in 1899 at Franklin Field, Philadelphia ... In the only game not played on the eastern seaboard, 110,000 fans saw the teams battle to a 21-21 tie in 1926 at Chicago Soldiers Field ... Navy failed to win a game from 1922 to 1933, the longest streak of its kind in the series ... Navy spoiled two Army bids for undefeated seasons with a 21-21 tie in 1948 and a 14-2 win in 1950.

B Battery Grabs Title In Battalion Tourney; Down D In Playoffs

Battling Battery B bombed the battalion's best to bring home the 4th Missile Battalion, 561st Artillery touch football trophy this week in a one-day tourney here.

In a hard fought morning struggle on its home field at Ft. Scott, B Battery squeezed by D Battery, 14-7, after a 10-minute "sudden death" playoff. The two teams were locked at 7-7 when regular play ended.

Again on the Ft. Scott field, B Battery wrapped A Battery, 19-7, in the afternoon finals. A Battery had earned the right to face the champions by earlier defeating C Battery, 7-0.

4th Msle. Bowlers Issue Challenge To Local Teams

Any local bowling teams that need a few matches to round out their schedules have been issued an open challenge by keggers of the 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery in Berkeley.

The 4th Battalion team, made up of the six high rollers in the Battalion league, would like to slate matches on a home-to-home basis.

Mentors of interested teams should contact M/Sgt. Forrest R. Johns. If calling from the Presidio, dial 85-43, -42 or -41. From off post, dial BE 3-9100 and ask for the appropriate extension.

Now standing by to represent the 4th Battalion are CWO Raymond R. Burns, A Battery, 184; Sfc. John W. Jones, Headquarters Battery, 180; Pfc. Jonathan Alee, A Battery, 179; M/Sgt. Johns, Headquarters Battery, 175; M/Sgt. Leslie G. Heath, C Battery, 170; and Sp4 Leonard Plaskowy, C Battery, 170.

Turkey Shoot Ready Signup Deadline Is Set For Next Week

Presidians with a sharp eye and a taste for Thanksgiving turkey still have time to sign up for the Post Gun Club's annual turkey shoot here on 22 and 23 November.

With a turkey for every winner, entrants may vie in skill and lucky shot events in .22 and .45 calibre pistols and .22 rifles.

Firing will be held Saturday afternoon and all day Sunday at the Post pistol range near Crissy Field.

Tickets are available from any member of the Club and at the clubhouse. For those who don't get a chance to buy a ducat in advance, tickets also may be purchased at the shoot.

Proceeds from the turkey shoot are used to support the youth marksmanship program at the Club.

Will Lead Army Casaba Stars In Olympic Try

By Sp4 Woody Hubbell
Star Presidian Sports Editor

Presidio Sports Director and basketball coach Hal Fischer has been named mentor for the 1958-59 all-Army cage squad bound for interservice, AAU and possible Pan American Games action next Spring and Summer.

Some 80 to 120 Army casaba stars from all over the world will vie here in February and early March for berths on the soldier team.

Letterman Army Hospital gym is the proposed site for workouts.

On the slate for the men finally selected will be the interservice tourney hosted by the Air Force 26-28 March, AAU tournaments and tryouts for slots on the team which will compete in the Pan Am games 27 Aug.-7 Sept. in Chicago.

Mr. Fischer, who has chalked up a fabulous 174-14 record in four seasons at the Presidio, coached the American squad to victory in the first Pan Am basketball tilts (1951, Buenos Aires).

A big name in local basketball circles since he was a kid whiz in 1933 at Presidio Junior High, the 6'4½", then 225-pound former San Francisco City College (1937-39) and University of Nevada (1945-47) "muscle man" turned to coaching in 1950 when an injury the previous season curbed his court play.

Known as a "system" coach who blends ball-handling and defense with a set pattern of plays, Mr. Fischer also has gained recognition for his unique "lanes" fast break offense and his tough conditioning. Here are highlights of what his teams have done:

- 1950—AAU all-star team, tour to Manila and Hong Kong.
- 1951—American team, first place in first Pan Am Games basketball tourney.
- 1952—Oakland Engineers, fourth place in national AAU championships.
- 1955-57—Presidio Toreros, Bay Area and Northern California military champions.
- 1956—Toreros, second place in Southwestern Invitational tourney.
- 1957—Toreros, consolation bracket winners in Southwestern Invitational tourney.
- 1957—Toreros, Sixth Army Champions; runners-up, all-Army.

Hal Fischer

During his playing days, Mr. Fischer was a mainstay on a number of local AAU teams—among them the San Francisco Olympic Club, Athletic Club and Domestics—before World War II.

While in the Army, he was picked for all-Air Corps honors in 1944 and the following year made the all-Army Olympic squad. After his college play came to a close, he joined the Oakland Bittners (AAU) in 1948 and that same year competed in the Olympics tryouts at Madison Square Garden, New York City.

In 1949 he helped the Bittners to the national AAU championship and was leading scorer for an all-star international tourney in Mexico City.

MRU Keglers Upset G1 Leaders; Hilltoppers Down Hq Squad

In the fifth night of action in the Pacific League, Sixth Army Headquarters Company No. 2 maintained its lead despite a 2-2 split with the AAA Sparks. For the victors, Whall rolled a 582-206 as Schneider posted a 523-194 for the Sparks.

Sixth Army Headquarters No. 3, tied for second with the Sparks, got knocked off, 3-1, by the fifth place Hilltoppers. Johnson, 524-185, led the Toppers and Wilmoth was high for losers with 561-205.

The Warrants moved to third place by dumping the cellar-dwelling Missileers, 3-1. Stephens, with 532-235, paced the winners and top kegler for the Missileers was Swingle, 492-214.

The Regioners broke a fifth place tie with the Retorts by besting them, 3-1. Leading the Regioners into fourth place was Niles, 544-189; tops for the losers was Milburn's 453-159.

In the Bay League, a strong MRU five set first place G1, 3½-½, and jumped from third to second place. Leading bowlers on both teams posted two 200-plus games, as MRU's Andresen scored 626-258, 202 and Ross of G1 hit 629-218, 220.

By losing to last place Garrison, 3-1, the JAGS dropped to third place. Mahon, who is tied for the League high average of 177 with Andresen, paced Garrison with 590-206, 208; Burman led the losers, 481-201.

The Compt-Rollers stayed in the fourth spot with a 2-2 tie with seventh place Sixth Army Signal. Routen, 478-168, and Dennis, 549-200, were tops for the respective teams.

Sixth place Headquarters Sixth Army inched closer to the next higher slot by downing fifth place Triple Aces, 3-1. Bonar was high for the winners with 529-204 and Fillmer led the Aces, 536-200.

The fourth week of action in the Pacific League saw front running Headquarters Sixth Army No. 2 increase its lead by trouncing the Regioners, 4-0. Bush led Headquarters with 515-180, while Schenk had a 449-168 for the losers.

Sixth Army Headquarters No. 3 held on to second place by splitting 2-2 with the Warrants. Delaney was high man for the Warrants with 528-192 as Alban rolled 489-181 for the opposition.

The AAA Sparks swept four points from the Retorts, putting the missilemen in third place. Schneider bowled 519-193 for the Sparks; Carmer had a 490-176 for the Retorts.

The Missileers took four points from the Hilltoppers as Wilcox led the winners with 508-212. Johnson was high for the losers with 526-190.

In the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery loop, Headquarters dropped last place A Battery, 3-1, to maintain its tie lead after the third week. Borders chalked up a 459-172 to lead his mates, but he fell shy of A's Luchs, 491-181.

Sitting in first place with Headquarters is C Battery, though it came out on the short end of a 4-0 match with third place B Battery. Pacing the B's was Irving, 453-173, while the losers high man was Vitan, 457-175.

Toreros Win Season Opener 77-57

Crush Hamilton AFB; Vesevick Top Scorer

Presidio's basketball coach Hal Fischer learned Wednesday that he had been picked to head this year's all-Army cagers and that night his Torero squad showed why as it cruised past Hamilton Air Force Base, 77-57, in the local's Northern California Armed Forces Sports League opener and second victory in two games.

Earlier, the Presidians racked up the San Francisco Chinese, 96-59. Tomorrow they will journey to Mather Air Force Base for their second NCAFSL tilt.

Giving enthusiasts here a first look-see at homecourt action, the Toreros struck first in the Letterman gym clash and never lost the lead.

Completely dominating the backboards, but hampered by bad passing and snatches of uncoordinated play, Presidio cagers led only by 10 in a low scoring first half, 39-29.

But the squad on the floor after halftime was a lot sharper and seemed to have lost its fumbleitis as it moved smoothly to the 20 point victory margin.

Pacing the Toreros and making his first appearance this year was team captain John Vesevick, with 19. Pfc. Mike Diaz, who netted a single foul shot in the first half, came back strong in late play to score 13.

Also in the scoring parade were Pfc. Bill VonWeyhe, 12; 1st Lt. Frank Evangelho, 11; Pfc. John Perry, 8; Pfc. Joe Savoldi and 2d Lt. Ed Fine, 5; and Pfc. Frank Zechel, 4.

The Toreros made good 19 out of 30 foul shots.

Presidio Keglers To Meet Castle AFB In League Contest

The Presidio bowling team will journey to Castle Air Force Base tomorrow for its first Northern California Armed Forces Sports League match.

In their only outing since the team was formed two weeks ago, Torero keggers topped Travis Air Force Base, 2-1, in a practice session here.

All seven members of the team will make the trip. They are: Sfc. Donald Andresen, Pvt. Gerald Fuller, Sfc. Ed Johnson, Pvt. Stan Bowlds, Capt. Neal Sanders, M/Sgt. Charles Mahon and Capt. Edward Rusek.

Wednesday night, LAH took an easy 4-0 win from Sacramento Signal Depot in a match which found Col. Karl Woodman posting the high series with 533 and Sp2 Mel Oliver taking high game honors with 194.

Matthiesen Leads LAH To Key Keg Victory Over Fort Mason Team

Sfc. Maynard Matthiesen last week posted a 542-191 to lead Letterman Army Hospital keggers to a 4-0 shutout over a hapless Ft. Mason five in a NorCal Military Sports Association match at LAH alleys.

Yesterday the local rollers faced a previous 4-0 victim, Two Rock Ranch Station, in another NCMSA tilt but results were not available at press time.

Firing high game for the LAH-men was Sfc. George Alberts, with 518-194, and another top kegler was Sp2 Mel Oliver, with 531-187.

A DEFENSIVE STANDOUT in the Presidio Toreros first six games, guard Pvt. Marie Levering is further proof that even an "old pro" quint has room for a rookie on the starting lineup.

Twelve Teams Sign Early

Twelve teams have signed the dotted line for action in Presidio intramural basketball this year and about another 18 are expected to do so shortly.

Presidio Sports Director Hal Fischer said that he intends, if possible, to set up three leagues—Ft. Scott, Presidio and Air Defense. Once the necessary teams are lined up, play will begin.

AF Ski Lodge Open To All Area Military

Ski fans—four hours' drive from the Presidio, high in the Donner Pass country, is Travis Lodge, Air Force winter sports site open to all military personnel.

According to a brochure just received from the men in blue, the low rate (singles, $1.50 a day; family, $5.00) Lodge features such popular snow sports as Reno-ing and skiing, Reno-ing and skating, Reno-ing and tobogganing.

Meals are served at regular mess hall rates, but guests will be expected to return their own dishes to the kitchen.

For the fireside skiers, it's strictly BYO. During the winter months, automobiles have to be checked with Donner Ski Ranch or any garage in Soda Springs. Transportation to Travis Lodge is available.

Reservations may be made by calling the Travis Air Force Base Special Services Office (Idlewood 7-2211, extensions 2832 and 2833).

Win Darts Crown

Sgt. James Hinkle and Sp5 Dean Fuller proved to be right on target last Friday when they took the 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery darts crown.

The duo, from D Battery, bested the runner-up B Battery team of Cpl. Arthur Campli and Pfc. Fred Widmeyer.

Key Speakers To Address Area Meeting Next Week

Big names in the sports world stack up as the feature attraction in the annual Sixth Army Sports Conference scheduled here Wednesday through Friday.

Heading an impressive list of speakers are such well known sports figures as Robert L. King, Executive Director of the Organizing Committee for the 1960 Winter Olympics at Squaw Valley, Calif.; Theodore Wittke, Executive Director of the American Bowling Congress; and Mrs. Norma J. Olsen, National AAU Chairman for Synchronized Swimming.

More than 30 experts will take the podium at the Presidio Service Club during the three-day confab to discuss subjects from the philosophy of sports to budgeting.

James Lang, San Francisco Superintendent of Recreation, will discuss community-Armed Forces relationships and C. Carson Conrad, Chief of the California Bureau of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, will address the group on "Youth Fitness—A Major Challenge in 1958."

The athletic director's viewpoint in athletic problems and sports trends is expected to be the subject of a talk by Gregory F. Englehardt, Athletic Director at the University of California.

Hal Fischer, Presidio Sports Director and Basketball Coach, will describe the role of the Armed Forces in Pan American and international competition, while Sixth Army Sports Director Henry S. Gustafson will outline the Sixth Army sports participation policy.

In addition, the agenda also calls for talks relating to sports programs administration and participation, various types of football, intramural programs, weightlifting and body building, bowling, swimming and reports, as well as discussions on coaching trends and joint military problems in Special Services activities.

Because key sports personnel from nearby Air Force and Navy installations have been invited, time has been reserved for talks relating to specific areas of interest to those services.

Top Flight Set Man On Local Squad Coach Lauds Blair In Early Trials

Pvt. George R. Blair, 23 year old clerk in U.S.A. Garrison Headquarters Company, has added the Torero flavor to the two-hatted Presidio-4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery volleyball sextet.

The set man from the Southland (California, suh) is the only non-missileman on the squad.

A four-year veteran of two-man and six-man action on the beaches and in the sunshine cities around his home town, San Diego, Blair lost little time after his assignment here 28 September contacting team coach M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio and working out for a berth on the high flying six.

M/Sgt. Ignacio, an official of the U.S. National Volleyball Association and a pretty good judge of highnetters, recently described Pvt. Blair's limited play in glowing terms, topping it off with "he's a top notch player and will be a big help to the team."

Blair was first exposed to volleyball during the Summer of 1954 while on the sandy beaches along the Southern California shore.

"I played mostly two-man volleyball then," he said. "It's a terrifically fast game, especially when you consider it is played on a regulation size six-man court."

"Ball on the Beach"

Pvt. George R. Blair

Shortly afterwards he was initiated to indoor volleyball when he competed in San Diego State College interfraternity play. For the next four years, until his graduation this past June with a degree in Industrial Arts and an invitation to enter the Army, he played for such AAU teams as the Double-A San Diego Club and Class A Mission Beach Athletic Club and Miramar Naval Air Station, always as a set man.

After completing basic training, and before coming to the Presidio, he took leave to play for the California All-Stars sponsored by the Hollywood West Side Jewish Center and toured the border towns for clashes with a similar Mexican team.

Blair prefers setting to spiking. "I'm too short (5'10", 150 pounds) to make the power slams of a spiker, and anyway the set man's the key to an offense.

"On the six-man team there are two set men and four spikers. Ideally, the set men are in the center of the front and back rows and they are responsible for making perfect recoveries for the spikers to slam home. Without expert feeds to the set men — no points."

Blair's major athletic problem now is getting in shape before next month's tournaments and heavy outside schedule gets under way.

Blair worked his way through college operating a fork lift for the Pepsi Cola Bottling Company in San Diego and plans to teach high school shop, probably in Santa Paula, when his Army hitch is up.

A SCORING PUNCH is what Cpl. Florian Vierra has been furnishing the undefeated Presidio Toreros in their six games this season. The veteran forward has bucketed 75 points thus far for a 12.5 average.

NOTED BUILDER Henry Doelger gave a special hand to Btry A, 4th Mslc Bn, 61st Arty, in their effort to reach a 100% in the UBAC drive. Gift sets which included expensive wrist watches were auctioned off and proceeds were donated to the unit campaign. While at the Westlake site Mr. Doelger visited missile operations and met enlisted men of the battery. The visit was a success as the group reported in with a 100% of their dollar goal this week. Shown with Mr. Doelger and gifts is Capt. Jack McGurk, Btry CO.

Could Save Lives

Advanced Radar Systems Monitor A-Blast Clouds

Washington (AFPS)—Countless lives could be saved, in the event of a nuclear war, by the Army's advanced weather radar systems now in operation.

Signal Corps tests of this equipment during recent nuclear detonations proved "highly effective," the Army said, in successfully plotting the size and course of "hot" clouds.

During these tests the first photographs of a radar scope showing the nuclear mushroom were made with a special camera. Successive film exposures showed the formation, rise and drift of the clouds, some of which were traced for as long as two hours.

Even if all local communications were to be knocked out in the area of an explosion, long-range radar directed at the probable detonation areas from a safe distance could locate the center of the blast.

This information would be useful in determining what areas, if any, should be evacuated as a safety factor in case of later fallout. In the same manner safe areas for receiving evacuees could be marked off.

Using radar to detect height and drift of radioactive clouds would also be valuable in providing atomic battlefield troops with fallout warnings.

The radar used in the tests is the same type currently in operation to detect the approach of rain, snow, sleet, electrical storms, hurricanes and weather fronts which might generate tornadoes.

The special advantage of using radar to detect nuclear explosions is that it works during darkness and other periods of low visibility.

Spotting and tracking atomic clouds by this method depends on some knowledge of where the blasts would occur or on having a burst low enough to suck up dirt particles, which would activate the radar scopes.

The tests were conducted by Dr. Donald M. Swingle, chief of the meteorological techniques branch of the Army Signal Research and Development Laboratory at Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

The first guided missile unit (battalion) was activated at Fort Bliss, Texas in October, 1945.—DA Pamphlet 355-13.

On the other hand, I feel that too few carried the task of the man. Without certain special activities we might have fallen short of our dollar goal. In the future we should strive for a better showing on the part of all sections and activities."

Meanwhile, back in the city, the civilian portion of the annual drive hasn't gone as well as expected. Indications were that at least two or three weeks extension of the drive cutoff date would be needed to raise community dollar potential.

57 Complete Eight-Week Air Defense Schooling

Fifty-seven privates graduated last week from an eight-week Advanced Individual Training Course from the San Francisco Army Air Defense School, Ft. Scott.

Honor graduate, Pvt. D. M. Toler of A Battery, 1st Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, was presented a certificate and an award by Lt. Col. Ned E. Ackner, Commander of the 1st Battalion.

Chief speaker was Lt. Col. Roy H. Lundgren, Commander of the 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery.

Latest Army Printer 'Shoots' 3,000 Words Every Minute

Washington (AFPS)—The Army will soon tie a new electronic teletypewriter—capable of firing messages at 3,000 words a minute—into its global communications system.

Printing messages at four lines a second, the machine is 50 times faster than conventional teletypes and 45 times faster than the average typist.

For ordinary traffic the super-printer will operate at 750 words a minute—the same speed used by other advanced teletype devices in the Army's worldwide network—but it will be available for much faster transmissions in the event of a national emergency.

The machine has no keys. It shoots letters at the paper electronically from a bank of electrode guns, each aiming its beam at a corresponding spot to fire any letter or number.

After a volley of letters each line of text passes quickly over powdered ink and a heated roller and appears a split-second later as a clear, readable message.

In mass production, the high-speed printer is expected to cost half as much as the bank of eight standard teletypewriters it will replace.

Because there are no moving parts, other than the paper carrier, maintenance will be cut about 50 per cent.

The machine was perfected by the Army Signal Research and Development Laboratory, Ft. Monmouth, N. J., and the Burroughs Corp., of Paoli, Pa.

Army Wind Chill Chart Will Prevent Soldier Cold Injury

Washington (ANS)—The Army now has designed a "Wind Chill Chart" to help prevent cold injury!

"One of the principal causes of cold injury is wind chill," says a recent Army statement. "Through issuance of cold weather clothing and equipment, cold weather training of personnel and the dissemination of meteorological forecast data, the new chart may prevent serious cold injury."

According to the statement, everyone knows that it feels colder when the wind blows, but most people don't realize how much colder. The Wind Table (which will appear in DA Circular 40-33) will show, for example, that if the temperature is expected to be 35° above and the expected wind velocity is about 20 miles per hour, the effect on exposed flesh is the same as —38 degrees with no wind.

From the Army Almanac for November: The well-known K-ration consisting of three packages (Breakfast Unit, Dinner Unit, and Supper Unit) was first issued to soldiers on November 27, 1942.

Civil Service Okays Braille System For Phone Operators

To broaden Federal employment opportunities for the blind, the Civil Service Commission is liberalizing physical requirements for telephone-operator positions in government, CSC has announced.

Until now, the physical standards for telephone-operator positions have required vision in at least one eye. In the course of its study and observation of blind people at work as telephone operators, the Commission found that many blind persons can do the work satisfactorily with the use of Braille attachments to switchboards, and that such attachments can be obtained for one-position (80-plug) and two-position (160-plug) switchboards. General Services Administration has agreed to make the attachments available without cost to blind operators employed in government.

VETERAN MEMBERS of the Women's Overseas League, Miss Laura F. "Mother" Owen (left) and Miss Lucile White meet with Sixth U.S. Army Chief of Staff, Maj. Gen. John J. Binns, following their 38th Anniversary Dinner in San Francisco this week. General Binns was the main speaker at the banquet held in the Women's City Club. The two women served overseas with the YMCA during WWI and Miss Owen, a prep school principal who teaches math to aspiring military academy students, was chosen to supervise the manufacture of shoulder patches in Europe.

Army Wins Coveted Chief Keynotes 38th Meet Award In National Of Women's Overseas Club Suggestion Progr'm

Washington (ANS)—Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker has received on behalf of the United States Army a coveted award from the National Association of Suggestion Systems for "the most improved Suggestion Program among its member governmental agencies."

During this last fiscal year, Army employees submitted 206 suggestions for each 1000 employees (in connection with Project Paydirt). Mr. Brucker, noting the achievements, said, "The record shows that during this period one of every thirteen employees earned a cash or honorary award for a constructive idea or superior work performance. In addition, one of every five received a letter of commendation."

"To those of you who earned such recognition I extend my congratulations," he wrote. "I am confident that in the future all of you will not only sustain past levels of performance, but will also continue to submit your ideas for the improvement of the Army's operating efficiency."

During FY 1957, the Army received an award for "The Excellence of its Suggestion Program," but participation in the program this year increased 41% which fact was considered when the Army's program was found "the year's most improved."

QM Sends Out Call For Space Age Dogs

Washington (AFPS)—The space age has created a new military demand for German police dogs to patrol U.S. missile sites.

The Army Quartermaster Corps has started a drive to buy 1,000 German Shepherds—proved the keenest sentry dogs in WWII and Korea—for Army and Air Force missile installations.

First of many dogs to be needed for security duty during the next few years, the animals will be trained at a canine center operated for the two services at Lackland AFB, San Antonio, Tex.

Acceptable German Shepherds, the Army said, must be nine months to three years old, weigh 60 to 90 pounds and be any inconspicuous color except white.

Chief Keynotes 38th Meet Of Women's Overseas Club

A suggestion that Armed Forces dependents should be permitted to join the Women's Overseas League was given by Major Gen. John J. Binns, Chief of Staff, Sixth Army, at the organization's 38th anniversary dinner, Monday night.

Gen. Binns, principal speaker at the banquet held in the Women's City Club, said, "If I may make a suggestion, membership of your organization should be opened to American dependents who were stationed overseas with their husbands. They also have served."

American women overseas, he said, have acted as a catalyst in the recovery of foreign nations after World War II and have been a positive influence on the women of the world.

The WOSL, which was called the American Women's Overseas League until the 1930's, states its aims as:

- To keep alive and develop the spirit that prompted overseas service.
- To work for the welfare of the armed services.
- To assist the men and women who served and were wounded or incapacitated in the service of their country.
- To foster and promote friendship and understanding between the United States and other nations of the world.

Its members are composed of women who served in the voluntary agencies and in government service during the World Wars and since 1945.

Gen. Binns told the 75 members present that, "We have appreciated tremendously your support of the policies of the American Government in the far flung corners of the world."

Twining On Weapons

Washington (ANS)—General Nathan F. Twining, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, advised members of the AUSA at their annual meeting here that possession of the atomic retaliatory force cannot be considered as sufficient to deter any form of Communist aggression.

"Our force must be capable of coping with general or limited war at the proper time with the proper weapons," he emphasized.

Four Here Win Supergrades One Gains Proficiency Pay

The first four promotions to E-8 of Master Sergeants assigned to TD units on the Post went to Ferdinand Johnston, Sergeant Major of Headquarters, Presidio of San Francisco; James T. Heard, Sergeant Major of the 30th Engineer Bn.; George S. Van Kirk, 1st Sergeant of the Sixth U. S. Army Honor Guard; and William T. Stahl, 1st Sergeant of 'C' Co., Army Garrison.

Cordiner

M/Sgt. Johnston entered the service from Virginia in 1938; was at Schofield Barracks, Hawaii when the Japanese attacked. He served with the 25th Infantry Division through the War in the Pacific and in China-Burma-India Theater. The occupation days found M/Sgt. Johnston in Japan and during the Korean War he served again with the 25th Inf. Div. as Chief Clerk of GI Section. He arrived at the Presidio in February 1954.

M/Sgt. Heard entered the service from Georgia in 1939. He served with G3, Headquarters ETOUSA, in London from 17 January 1942 to 3 February 1943 when he received his commission and assigned to the 115th Inf. Regt., 29th Div. He retired in 1946 as a Captain, Infantry, but enlisted again in 1947, serving with the 30th Engineer Bn. at Schofield Barracks, Hawaii and duty with ROTC at the University of Hawaii. M/Sgt. Heard came to the Presidio in February 1956 after serving in the Philippines and Okinawa.

M/Sgt. Van Kirk entered the service from Maryland in 1943. During World War II he served as Forward Observer with the 3d Armored Field Artillery Bn., 9th Armored Div. and as 1st Sergeant of the 11th Tank Co., both in Europe. He was also an instructor at the Tank School, US Army Europe. M/Sgt. Van Kirk arrived in the Presidio in August 1954 from Athens, Greece where he served as Sergeant Major of the Joint US Military Advisory Group-Greece.

M/Sgt. Stahl entered the service from Pennsylvania in 1941. Starting his Army career as a recruit with the 'A' Co., of the 31st Engineer Combat Regt., he became 1st Sergeant in 1943. During World War II M/Sgt. Stahl served with the 61st Engineer Combat Bn. and 1132d Engineer Combat Gp. in Europe. He came to the Presidio in 1953 serving with the 30th Engr. Gp. and 561st Engineer Port Const. Co. until 1956 when after a year's tour in Korea he came back to the Presidio in November 1957.

Another happy man this week is M/Sgt. Fred W. Schlicker as he became the first NCO at the Presidio to be awarded Army Proficiency Pay. M/Sgt. Schlicker is the Post Telephone Wire Chief and a member of 'C' Co., Army Garrison.

A veteran of over twenty years' service, M/Sgt. Schlicker entered the service from Oklahoma in 1937 and is presently serving his fourth tour at the Presidio. First arriving here in 1939 and serving one year, he returned in 1950 and then again in 1952 after a year's tour in Korea. Now assigned with 'C' Co. since July 1956, M/Sgt. Schlicker hopes to go for 30 right here, where he calls his home.

New Film Release

Washington (ANS)—The Chief of Chaplains Office has announced that copies of the film "Government is Everybody's Business" are now available in film libraries. This movie emphasizes that good government is everyone's responsibility, and that this responsibility is best exercised by active interest in political affairs as expressed through the vote.

of 52,000 of the 84,000 total Wherry units as public housing by the end of Fiscal Year 1959. In addition, 5,000 new leased quarters have been obtained for Armed Forces members at isolated missile sites in the U.S. with 7,700 homes constructed through surplus commodity funds and 3,200 units procured on rental guarantees overseas.

Revision of quarters allowance payments, the Defense Department said, is not included in the 1959 legislative program due to similar problems of establishing an index and the "great fiscal impact of the adjustment."

On the two final Cordiner Committee proposals, Defense officials "agree in principle" with the recommendation for incentive pay for duty in remote areas but defer until later a suggestion to set up an "escrow account" for funds accumulated from savings through increased retention of personnel.

The hardship post pay proposal has numerous problems, officials said, not the least of which is the "currently prohibitive cost." The plan is under interservice study, however, and consideration will be given to offsetting the cost by the use of money now appropriated for foreign and sea duty pay, or by establishing "criteria for remote and isolated pay areas" within the present budgetary limits of these funds.

But in this "era of downward adjustment" of force levels, briefers pointed out, it is difficult to fix savings attributable to better retention or to tell how much is due to reduced requirements and lower calls for men.

Although the time has been short to gauge the effectiveness of the pay bill, promotion incentive and manpower controls in attracting and retaining quality personnel for the services, Mr. McElroy said, "reports indicate that the trend in quality and retention is upward."

Army Wins National Safety Council Award Fifth Year

The Army, in lowering accident rates nearly 19 per cent during 1957-58, has won the National Safety Council's Award of honor for the fifth consecutive year.

Chartered by Congress as an independent organization to promote safety, the council annually cites government agencies and industrial firms for marked improvement in accident prevention.

The Army has had the distinction of earning the NSC's highest award for 13 of the past 15 years.

During Fiscal Year 1958, personnel of the Sixth U.S. Army conducting military operations were involved in 2,384 accidents, both on and off duty, a reduction of 7 per cent over the previous year. Army-wide figures for the same period show 44,500 accidents, a reduction of 13 per cent.

The Army's military vehicle frequency rate for the 1957-58 period dropped from 1.5 to 1.2 accidents for each 100,000 miles of driving, or a cut of 19 per cent, while in the Sixth U.S. Army area motor vehicle accidents dropped from 1.5 to 1.1 for each 100,000 miles, or a cut of 26 per cent.

Thanksgiving Edition

Turkey Day edition of the Star Presidian will be off the presses two days early next week. Photo deadline will be Monday noon and copy deadline will be the same afternoon. Distribution will be made on Wednesday morning.

Will End School Bus Service Next Month

A further tightening of the Army's economic waistline, this week, has forced officials here to discontinue bus service to and from San Francisco schools for dependents of military personnel living on the Presidio of San Francisco. Cutoff date has been set as 20 December.

In a personal letter to military parents, Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Presidio Commanding Officer, stated,

"This action has been taken with great reluctance, and only after careful consideration of all other alternatives. A drastic reduction in the resources available to this command to accomplish its missions has made it mandatory that this desirable service be eliminated in order that more essential missions can be accomplished with the limited resources remaining."

In his letter, Col. Ratliff pointed out that members of his staff would assist in every way possible "to alleviate any personal problem which this action may create."

Fund Raising Chief To Address Military And Civilian Leaders

William H. Coulson, Executive Director of the President's Committee on Fund Raising within the Federal Services, will be guest speaker at a no-host luncheon in the Empire Room of the Fairmont Hotel today at noon. He is the guest of the United Bay Area Crusade.

Military commanders and department heads of Federal installations and bureaus in Northern California as well as representatives of Government Employee associations and United Crusade leaders will be on hand.

Housing, Pay Still Key Items Under Discussion

Washington (AFPS)—Cordiner pay panel members returned to the Pentagon last week for a tally of improvements in career military and civilian service stemming from recommendations in the committee's highly publicized 1957 report. Formed as the Defense Advisory Committee on Professional and Technical Compensation with Ralph J. Cordiner as chairman in 1956, the 12-member group completed an extensive study of personnel practices in the Armed Forces with suggestions in May of the following year for changes and new legislation to better conditions for servicemen and Civil Service employees.

The present meeting was called at the invitation of Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy for a run-down on results and a follow-up on the former committee's report.

Defense officials summarized the action taken as "fully implementing" 10 of the 16 recommendations made for military personnel. These include the new pay system, the added E-8 and E-9 enlisted grades, officer grades O-9 and O-10, elimination of longevity pay increases beyond normal promotion periods, selected promotions to the enlisted super grades, increased use of re-training programs to balance strengths in military skills, extended service for flying trainees and other officers receiving specialized training, wider use of government subsidized education programs, and establishment of the proficiency pay plan.

Two other recommendations were submitted to the last Congress as Defense legislation. These were the Career Officers Personnel Management Bill and the Reserve Officers Term Retention Bill. Although neither measure made headway in Armed Services Committee hearings, both will be re-introduced early in the first session of the 86th Congress, the panel members were told.

Under study by the Defense Department are the Cordiner Report proposals for:

- Military pay scales adjustable to a national economy index—the Defense Department is searching for a means to compile an index appropriate to military personnel. Officials explained that current indices do not meet the requirement but suitable interim data for developing an index may be obtained from the Department of Commerce. If this information does not meet the need, however, an index based upon special Labor Department surveys will be reconsidered.

- More housing for military families with quarters allowances linked to a rental-cost index—the housing program is progressing at a "commendable rate" with 69,000 new Capehart units built since 1957 and government acquisition public.

DA Team Monday

A Department of the Army orientation team will be here Monday and Tuesday to conduct a seminar on the new CSGPA-553 manpower reports prescribed by AR 616-5.

The sessions will be held in Harmon Hall, beginning at 1000 on Monday and 0900 Tuesday.

The new report combines the current CSGPA-372 and -392 reports and introduces the elements of mechanical processing.

Armed Forces Day

Washington (ANS)—The Department of Defense this week announced that ARMED FORCES DAY will be celebrated between May 9 and 17, in 1959. This observance will emphasize that the Free World (to which the Armed Forces are committed) is the POWER FOR PEACE.

Civilian Aides Visit Here Lunch With Nike Crewmen

Six Civilian Aides to the Secretary of the Army visited the Presidio this week.

On hand to confer with Sixth Army Commander, Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, and visit Stanford Research Institute at Menlo Park, were Eugene D. Bennett, Northern California; Don Belding, Southern California; Everett R. Hopper, Idaho; Dr. O. Preston Robinson, Utah; and Paul Pigott, Washington.

During their visit, the aides also visited A Btry., 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty., at Ft. Funston. They were escorted around the site by Col. Iver A. Peterson, CO, San Francisco-Travis Army Air Defense. Following their tour, they lunched with Nike crewmen from their home states.

Civilian Aides represent the Army in interpreting its policies to civilian communities and advise the Secretary of the Army, the Chief of Staff and local Army Commander, on matters of mutual interest to the Army and the public.

GOING UP in grade and special pay are five master sergeants. Here being congratulated by Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Presidio Commanding Officer, are (l. to r.) M/Sgt. James T. Head, George S. Van Kirk, Ferdinand Johnston, Fred W. Schlicker and William Stahl. M/Sgt. Schlicker is the first at the Presidio to be awarded proficiency pay (P-1), the other 'Tops' earned promotions to E-8. The John U. D. Page

Tests This Month

Newest Cargo Vessel

Washington (AFPS)—The very latest in shallow-draft cargo vessels, the 338-foot Lieutenant Colonel John U. D. Page, will undergo shakedown tests off the West Coast in November.

The Army said the new vessel, designated BDL (Beach Discharge Lighter) 1-X, would later conduct tests on the East Coast with the Navy's new roll-on-roll-off ship, the USNS Comet.

Designed to complement the Comet, the ship can receive loaded truck trailers and other wheeled vehicles at sea and transport them ashore in areas where fixed port facilities are not available.

To transfer wheeled cargo at sea the vessels are held in a stern-to-stern position by hydraulic cables while the exchange is made over special stern ramps. Cargo can also be received at sea from conventional transports.

The new lighter is 65 feet wide and can discharge cargo on the beach in depths as shallow as four feet. Powered by two 110-h.p. diesel engines, it is equipped with the latest navigational aids including a radio direction finder, Loran, fathometer and surface radar.

The new ship was built by the National Steel and Shipbuilding Corp., San Diego, Calif. It was named in honor of an Army officer who was awarded the Medal of Honor posthumously for heroic action in Korea.

Army Chief Says:

Individual Is Key

Washington (ANS) — General Maxwell D. Taylor has again emphasized that in this era of continuing world tensions confronting our Nation, the Army regards the individuals who compose it as its most important and valuable asset with which to meet the challenge of the future.

Writing on "Meeting the Challenge" (which recently appeared in a pamphlet prepared by the Missile and Space Vehicle Department of the General Electric Company's Defense Electronics Division—especially for distribution to certain members of AUSA) the Army's Chief of Staff stated it is a basic Army belief that man himself remains the fundamental and ultimately decisive instrument of war.

"This fact is particularly true as the new weapons and materials from our expanding technology, together with the conditions of the modern battlefield, impose greater demands on the soldier than ever before," the General said.

The manner in which the members of the Army world-wide are satisfying these demands should be a source of enduring pride to all Americans, General Taylor declared; then commented:

"As future weapons are evolved to strengthen further our national security, the Army will continue to offer within its ranks unexcelled opportunity for men of leadership and technical skills."

"With men of this character supported by the most modern instruments of battle," he concluded, "the Army stands ready to play its part in keeping the peace through the deterrence of war."

Army Officers' Sons Win Try At Top Scholarships

National scholastic honors were awarded the sons of two 6th Region US Army Air Defense officers this month which may lead to scholarships at the universities of their choice.

Competing with some 40,000 students eligible for the merit scholarships on a nationwide basis, David G. McFeely and David E. Grambort, both 17 years old, are two of 22 students in the San Francisco area chosen to face final examinations for their scholarships early in December. The exams will be given by the College Entrance Board of the University of San Francisco.

The boys are seniors at the Lick-Wilmerding High School in San Francisco. Both students said they intend to study medicine. McFeely prefers Stanford University and Grambort the University of Michigan.

McFeely is the son of Col. Henry G. McFeely, until recently the Assistant Chief of Staff, G-1, of 6th Region. He is currently enroute to his new assignment in Korea.

Grambort's father is Lt. Col. Everett A. Grambort, Chief of the National Guard Division, 6th Region.

Close friends, the two students differed in their academic scores by only one-tenth of a point in McFeely's favor. They hold B averages and both are on the varsity football squad. Grambort is also a varsity baseball player and McFeely a varsity tennis player.

what they said

Ah, Sweet Memories of Life . . . somewhere along the line, looking into the past, we can all say that and believe it. But among those visions, is there, we were wondering, anything outstanding? So this week we asked

The Question: What day has been the most pleasant day of your life?

ANSWERS

Albert Buckles, Scheduled Airlines Representative: I don't know if I can answer that. It's a rough question. I guess the most pleasant day of my life was when I was a boot in the Navy. I was 18 and we got to Hawaii. I'd never seen anything like that before. I was very impressed. We anchored off Lahina Roads on Maui. That was the first time I'd ever been out of the United States. I thought it was beautiful, exactly what I'd imagined. I haven't been back since 1943, and I don't think I'd like to go back because now I imagine it would look like Miami Beach.

Pvt. Darral Swanson, Post Commissary Aide: I guess the most pleasant day of my life was the day I joined the Army. It was a new experience. I learned more about weapons and California weather. I don't know why I like to remember that day. I needed something to do, so I just went down and joined up. I joined in Los Angeles, then went to Fort Ord and Fort Sam Houston, been a year and a half. Yeah. I guess that was the most pleasant day of my life.

Lt. Col. O. J. Vogl, G3, Hqs. XV Corps: In the most recent years, I'd say it was the day I returned from Korea. I'd been there 16 months. We docked downtown, and I can remember walking down that gangplank, tickled to death to be reunited with my family. I guess the last mile home was the longest mile. That was my fourth overseas tour. Each one had been a harder separation. This seemed to be the worst of all. I feel my children are at an age now when they need both parents.

Pvt. Jeannine Miller, Cook in "C" Co. mess hall: The day I came to California following graduation from cooking school, was a day I'll never forget. Nothing much happened, but it was exciting to be doing something I'd dreamed of for a long time. All my life in Reading, Penn., I had heard of the glamour of this beautiful state. I imagined movie stars standing on every corner, handsome men everywhere I went, and of course I thought Hollywood would have the traditional "streets paved with gold." Even though I have found that all of these things are not the complete truth, I am not sorry I came here, and I can honestly say that California has lived up to my every expectation.

"... won't keep time"

Washington (ANS) — Pointing out that Soviet leaders use diplomatic processes not to open the way for orderly settlement of differences but as a device to create disagreements, Secretary of the Army Wilber M. ## ADC High Netters Slate Prep Games; Set Tourny Play

San Francisco-Travis Army Air Defense Command champion volleyballers from 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, will meet San Francisco Central "Y" tonight and go to Travis Air Force Base tomorrow for practice sessions prior to the opening of the 6th ARADCOM tourney here next Friday.

Teams from the Los Angeles and Seattle areas will clash with the 4th Battalion at Letterman Army Hospital gym 28 November through 2 December.

The men of the 4th Battalion will go in the tournament as favorites to cop their fourth straight 6th ARADCOM title, but coach M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio anticipates trouble from Los Angeles.

"I have heard through the grapevine that they are strong," M/Sgt. Ignacio said, "and I know they are coached by an official of the National Volleyball Association." The 4th Battalion coach, a veteran of 15 years as player and coach, also is an official in the association. The 4th won the all-ARADCOM crown in 1957.

21st, 537th Will Meet For Post Championship

The Presidio touch football crown was in the balance yesterday afternoon when two "surprise" squads—the 21st and the 537th Engineers—tangled for the third time during the post-season, four team double elimination championship play.

Results were not available at press time, but the 26 November issue of the Star Presidian will carry full details of this major clash.

The 21st six, Post champions last year and Number One team in the Engineer League this year, earned its finals berth the hard way. After dropping a 13-12 thriller to the 537th in first round tourney play, the 21st topped Letterman Army Hospital, edged Sixth Army and walloped the 537th, 39-7, to force a third meeting with its Ft. Scott rivals.

The 537th scored victories over the 21st and Sixth Army. Some 300 fans braved fog and rain to watch the 21st top Sixth Army, 25-20, in a see-saw battle to earn a crack at the 537th. Sixth Army drew first blood off when quarterback Pvt. Bill Chapman fired in the end zone to Sp4 Myron Bromberg from 10 yards out on fourth down. Four

The 21st jumped ahead, 19-13, in the third period when Ed Kornaga intercepted a Chapman throw and raced 17 yards to the goal line. Sixth Army took a 1 point lead, 20-19, when Pvt. Chapman ran 10 yards for a score and converted on a pass to Sp4 Bromberg.

In the waning minutes of the game, Kornaga snagged another Chapman pass, this time on the Sixth Army 20, and weaved his way to the winning tally. Dumping the 537th, 39-7, the 21st scored two in the first period, one in the second, one in the third and two in the fourth. The hit for three conversions. Pfc. Davenport and Sp4 Shultz proved to be the big offensive guns.

The 537th collected its single marker in the third period when Sp4 Arnold Wickham broke loose on a 50-yard run for the TD and added the PAT by hitting Pfc. Dan Marcus in the end zone. ## 4th Msle Bn Footballers Grab Air Defense Crown

Down and almost out . . .

Touch footballers of the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, last week bounced back from a 7-6 trimming from a husky 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery squad to one day later squash their would-be vanquishers, 39-7, and snatch the 1958 San Francisco-Travis Army Air Defense Command grid-iron crown.

Both teams previously had dumped the 1st Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery—the 4th Battalion, by 21-7, and the 2d Battalion, by 7-0 in a "sudden death" overtime period.

In bulling to the title, the 4th Battalion staged a three-man show in the play-off at Ft. Baker field.

Allen Alexander, team captain and quarterback, ran and passed his victims crazy. On the receiving end of his aerials were Manuel Landis and Jim Sabus. The trio accounted for all the victors' tallies.

And two of them also turned in stellar defensive performances. Alexander and Landis both helped knock out the 1st Battalion in an earlier game by snatching an enemy pass and returning it for TD. In that game Alexander also returned a kick-off for a score.

Col. Iver A. Peterson, 30th Artillery Group Commander, presented the 4th Battalion with the winner's trophy in brief ceremonies on the playing field after the championship game.

ADS Keglers Upset Favored Recruiters; Keystone Kops Tied

A tremendous upset this week livened Monday night bowling in the "nip-n-tuck" Presidio League. A three-way battle for the top spot dwindled by one as a surprising San Francisco Army Air Defense School five shutout the high flying Recruiters, 4-0.

Here is how the first three teams stacked up going into this week's matches. The Shalters were out in front with a record of 27-13; but close on their heels were the Keystone Kops and the Recruiters, tied for second with 26-14 each.

This week the Kops picked up four and the Shalters, only three, to knot them in first with 30-14. The Recruiters, though in second place, fell back to 26-18.

The five SFAADS giant-killers who helped untangle the championship race, while still buried in the cellar with 11-33, were Charles Swingle, whose 496-185 was tops for the victors; Keith Ashbury, Norman Wilcox, Joseph Brownell, and William Schweikhard.

The Keystone Kops used the Islanders as a stepping stone into the first place tie with the Shalters. Behind Alba's 617-216, the Kops blanked the fourth place Islanders, 4-0. Best bowler for the losers was Saito, 509-198. Muffing a chance to stay at the top of the heap, the Shalters could take only a 3-1 decision from sixth place 60th CI Detachment. DuBois, 583-222, and Kirtley, 521-198, were high men for the respective teams.

The third place Alley Rats downed the fifth place King Pins, 3-1, behind the 516-204 of Iwai. Bowlds, with 505-179, proved best for the Pins.

In the seventh week of action in the 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery League, the A Battery Beerkeglers forged into the lead with a 4-0 shutout over the Missilemasters from C Battery. Top kegler in the key match was Pfc. Jonathan Alee, who, in pacing the winners, broke one league record and tied another. With his 614-234, he set a new high series and tied for high game.

Behind the Beerkeglers, the other teams stand in this order: Guided Muscles, C Btry.; Chabot Lakers, A Btry.; Eightballers, Hq. Btry.; Missilemasters, C Btry.; Space Dogs, Hq. Btry.; Ridge-runners, B Btry.; and Ridge Rocks, B Btry.

League in individual average (179), led the winners with 595-203, 208. Big gun for the Rollers was Routen, 540-192.

The League's top bowler, Mahon (181), helped lead Garrison out of the cellar with a 3-1 win over the sixth place Triple Aces. Mahon posted 617-235, while best for the opposition was Fillmer's 468-173.

Sixth Army Signal dropped three points to the third place JAGS and finished the evening at the bottom of the heap. McAfee's 542-200 for the JAGS helped bump the losers into last place, though Dennis of Signal tried to forestall the inevitable by rolling a strong 520-193.

Sixth Army Headquarters Company and MRU finished in a 2-2 draw, with Andersen's 540-181 tops for MRU and Wolfman's 510-205 leading Sixth Army.

In the Pacific League, the leading Sixth Army Headquarters Company Number 2 quint increased their margin by dropping rival Number 3 team from second to third place with a 3-1 victory. Whall was high man for the winners with 488-180, while Alban had 498-172 for the losers.

The AAA Sparks vaulted into second by sweeping 4-0 past the last place Hilltoppers. Schmidt led the Sparks with 500-178;

Johnson rolled 469-164 for the Toppers.

The Regioners pulled into a fourth place tie with the Warrants by downing them, 3-1. Niles had a 537-213 for the Regioners and Delaney headed the Warrants with 533-205.

The fifth place Retorts took three out of four from the Missileers, who are lodged in the cellar with the Hilltoppers. Carmer, 512-201, and Monk, 417-190, took honors for the respective teams.

The 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery League standing took a radical change this week.

Headquarters Battery took over undisputed first place, while A Battery jumped from last to second place in the four team league. C Battery slid from a tie for first to third, and B Battery skidded one notch from third to the cellar.

Headquarters ushered B Battery to the bottom by taking 4 straight behind a 534-200 by Walkley. Alexander was high for the losers with 467-172.

Short handed A Battery, bowling with a blind, beat a more short handed C Battery, with two blinds, 4-0. McClellan paced the winners, 506-190, while Sadler was best for the losers, 487-165.

Toreros To Vie In Southwestern Invitational Area Sports Conference In Final Meeting Today

Today marks the end of the three-day Sixth Army Sports Conference being held at the Presidio Service Club and in winding up sessions covering every feasible phase of athletics, sports directors and guest speakers will enjoy lunch at the Presidio Officers Open Mess with another guest, Hon. George Christopher, Mayor of San Francisco.

Fencers Back Home After Dropping Narrow Decision

Presidio-Letterman fencers returned here this week after scoring an individual first, a team event first and one point shy of a meet victory in a dual International and Letterman-Mexico fencing tourney in Mexico City.

M/Sgt. Severo Pasol proved to be tops in the saber and was awarded a gold trophy. Other team members, though not winners, earned awards made of native silver.

Expecting to face Mexico's best in separate LAH-Mexico and California-Mexico matches, the Presidians actually competed in a single five-team International tourney with points scored also counting to settle the LAH-Mexico meet.

Competing, in addition to the Golden Gaters, was a team from Davis-Monthan Air Force Base, Ariz., and three Mexican teams—Club Junior, D'Artagnon and Puebla—which recently earned the right to represent Mexico in forthcoming world competition. Members of the teams also make up Mexico's Olympic and pentathlon fencers.

By tying various Mexican clubs in epee, foil, saber and the three-weapons event (but winning undisputed first place in only the saber after a fence-off with Club Junior), the locals deadlocked Mexico, 13-13, in individual events and for the first time Coach William O'Brien can remember, the usually non-counted three-weapon event was used to break the tie.

Letterman lost—the final score, 18-17, in favor of Mexico.

The LAH-Mexico team score also went to Mexico, 2-1, for victories in epee and foils.

Volleyball Champs Display High Style In Exhibition

More than a thousand San Rafael youngsters got a chance Tuesday to learn some of the finer points of the game of volleyball and watch court demonstrations when highnetters of the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, conducted an all-day clinic at Marin County's Davidson Junior High School.

The recently crowned San Francisco-Travis Army Air Defense Command champs, augmented by Pvt. George Blair of Headquarters Company, USA Garrison, and Pvt. Herbert Pearson of B Battery, 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery, conducted six 45-minute lecture-demonstration classes during regular gymnasium periods and then let any youngsters who wanted to play about five minutes with them after each class.

Highnetters conducted the sessions at the invitation of the San Rafael Department of Parks and Recreation. They fulfilled a similar request last year.

Win Scotch Golf

Trophy winners in XV Corps' recent Scotch golf tournament were Maj. Cyril C. Disney and M/Sgt. F. C. Weichel. They played as a team.

The awards were presented by Maj. Gen. John W. Harmony, XV Corps Commander.

Bowling Team Wins To Meet Castle AFB

In two matches last Saturday with the Castle Air Force Base "Bombers," Presidio bowlers dropped the first, 3-1, but roared back to exactly reverse the score in the second.

Tomorrow, on the Presidio Service Club alleys, the Toreros will again face the Castle "Bombers," beginning at 1300.

In the earlier go, Torero keggers took only one game, 926-905, and were on the short end of the 2734-2664 total pins mark. Leading the locals in individual performance was Sfc. Donald Andresen, with a 546 series.

The nightcap found the Toreros jumping out in front by taking the first two games, 915-861 and 890-842, before losing the third, 889-975. By a margin of 16 pins, the Presidians also took total pins. Pacing the locals was Capt. Edward Rusek with a 555 series.

Local Golfers Dub Oakland Terminal

Presidio golfers last week swamped Oakland Air Terminal by taking 21 out of a possible 27 points.

Leading the way was Sfc. Murray Jacobs, Number One man on the local squad and Post champion, who shot low score for the day—a 72.

Sfc. Jacobs teamed with Maj. George Reuss to net 8½ points for Presidio, while Sp4 Daryl Mohr and Capt. Doug Barker picked up a full 9.

The only losing duo, Capt. Charles Monges and M/Sgt. Clifford Rogers, came out on the short end of a 3½-5½ score.

No matches were scheduled for this week.

ADC Bowling Tourney Ends 4th Msle Bn Is Top Team

Twenty-eight area missilemen late yesterday wound up a three-day San Francisco-Travis Air Defense Command bowling tournament designed to pick a seven-man team to compete for 6th ARADCOM honors next month.

Individual standings were not available at press time, but 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery took the team crown Tuesday.

The 6th ARADCOM tourney will be staged 15-19 December at Ft. MacArthur.

Entered in the roll-offs here, on the Presidio Service Club alleys, were:

1st Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery. Maj. Robert C. Wuepper, Capt. Amil DeBiaggio, Sgt. Jack Duff and Pfc. Michael M. Kramis, 29th Arty. Gp. Hq.; Sfc. James P. Clark, A Btry.; Pfc. John D. Borg, B Btry.; and Sp5 Ronald L. Vierra, D Btry.

2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery. M/Sgt. John H. Lundahl, CWO Robert L. Sutton and Pfc. Roy Saito, D Btry.; M/Sgt. Andrew W. Horn, Hq. Btry.; Sfc. Shelby Beery and Pfc. Arlon Hopperditzel, A Btry.; and Pfc. Michael D. Culy, C Btry.

4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery. Sfc. Julian R. Walkley, Pfc. Larry Kindred and Pfc. Clayton Tweten, Hq. Btry.; Pfc. Michael Luchs, A Btry.; Pfc. Peter Schmidt, B Btry.; and Sfc. Oscar Vitan and Pfc. John P. Sadler, C Btry.

4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery. CWO Raymond R. Burns and Pfc. Jonathan Alee, A Btry.; M/Sgt. Forest R. Johns and Sfc. John W. Jones, Hq. Btry.; and M/Sgt. Leslie G. Heath, Sfc. Joseph Czupiewicz and Sp5 Thomas Manning, C Btry.

Well Ticked!

An early method of fishing was "ticking." This involved leaning over a pool in a stream where fish swam lazily. The "fisherman" slipped his hand under the belly of the fish and tickled it. While the fish was enjoying such attention, the sly human carefully would open his fingers, spread them around the fish, make a sudden grab and fish and water would part.

Presidio Only Army Team To Win Chance

Presidio basketball coach Hal Fischer Wednesday received a telegraphic invitation to enter the Toreros in the forthcoming 1959 Southwestern Invitational Tournament in Las Vegas, Nev.

He told reporters he plans to accept. Presidio would be the only Army team in the tourney; invitations also were extended to the Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force to enter one team each.

The undefeated Toreros, consolation bracket winners of the SWIT last year and runners-up the previous year, will be thrown in with top AAU, military and college competition.

Here are a few of the teams expected to take the floor when the tourney opens 11 February 1959:

- Mirror-Glaze of Pasadena, Calif.—Southern AAU champs last year.
- Denver (Colo.) Truckers—runners-up in the National AAU Tournament last season.
- Wichita (Kans.) Vickers—feature 7'2" center "Swede" Holbrook.
- McDonald Scotts of Ft. Charles, La.
- San Diego (Calif.) Naval Training Center.
- San Diego (Calif.) USMC Recruiters.
- Andrews Air Force Base, Washington, D. C.

Post Quintet Misses First Defeat By Narrow Margin

"The field day for Presidio is over," basketball coach Hal Fischer lamented after the Toreros squeezed past Travis Air Force Base Tuesday night to remain unbeaten in five games.

Last night the Presidians squared off against the 29 Palms Marines at Letterman gym in a match which could have proved true mentor Fischer's qualms. Results were not available at press time.

Tonight, the Toreros journey to Marin Junior College, tomorrow they will face the San Rafael All-Stars at Letterman gym beginning at 1000 and Tuesday night they will travel to Alameda Coast Guard.

Presidio edged Travis, 71-60, in an away Nor. Cal. Armed Forces Sports League tilt but there were moments during which the locals looked like losers. At one point in the first half the Toreros trailed by 9, though they managed to carry a 1 point half time advantage. Late in the game they again led by a single point, but a fast rally in the last two minutes pulled the game out of the fire.

"(Pfc.) Bill VonWeyhe saved that game," coach Fischer reported. The MRU soldier tied for Torero scoring honors with teammate Pfc. Mike Diaz of Headquarters, 30th Engineers Battalion as both men posted 18.

Although not high scorers, Pfc. Frank Zechel of 16th BPO (8) and 2d Lt. Ed Fine, Post Pharmacy Officer (5), got nods for their fine floor play.

Pvt. Harry Lux of 30th Artillery Group netted 14, Pfc. John Perry of the Honor Guard got 5 and Joe Savoldi of U.S.A. Training Group added 1.

In two earlier games, the Toreros dropped Mather Air Force Base in a League game, 75-57, and swamped the San Francisco Marines, 88-50.

At Mather, it was Pfc. Perry and Pfc. VonWeyhe pacing the scoring with 25 and 24 markers respectively.

Letterman Keglers Meet Fairfield Airmen In Crucial League Game

Last night Letterman Army Hospital keggers faced Fairfield Air Force Station on the LAH alleys in a crucial match which could decide whether the locals grab the NorCal Military Sports Association crown. No results were available at press time.

By splitting, 2-2, last week with league leading Two Rock Ranch station, Letterman stayed half a point out of first place. Under the NCMSA scoring setup, a four-game victory is worth one point and a tie, half a point to each team.

Colonel Karl Woodman took LAH individual honors with a 503-208; on his heels was Sp2 Mel Oliver, with 494-191.

Going into last night's tilt, Letterman carried a 23½-6½ won-lost record. Next Thursday's meeting at Sacramento Signal Depot will bring the league season to a close.

Also dropping it through the hoop were Pfc. Diaz, Pvt. Lux, 2d Lt. Fine, with 5 apiece; Pfc. Zechel and Pfc. Savoldi, each with 4; and 2d Lt. Bill Neider, Executive Officer of Headquarters Company, U.S.A. Garrison, with 3.

2d Lt. Neider was the big surprise of the San Francisco Marines rout. The ace shooter from Kansas used the same agility to drop in 16, though Pfc. VonWeyhe led the locals with 20.

Four men hit for 8: 2d Lt. Fine, Pfc. Joe Savoldi, Pfc. Perry and Pfc. Diaz. Pfc. Joe Gascon of Sixth Army Headquarters Company collected 9, Pvt. Lux made 5, Pfc. Zechel came through with 4 and Pfc. Ken Carroll of Headquarters Company, U.S.A. Garrison hit for 2.

The Toreros now stand 3-0 in NCAFLS play.

30th Arty. Bird Aces 2d In Tourney

Two 30th Artillery Group (Air Defense) missilemen returned here last week after having taken runner-up honors in doubles competition during the 6th ARADCOM badminton tourney at Fort MacArthur.

They were Sp4 Carl Dagle and Sp4 Richard Erkeres, who bowed to a 47th Artillery Brigade (Los Angeles) duo for the championship.

Winners and runners-up were given an opportunity of selecting their own awards—records, clothing, appliances, etc.—according to price limits set for the various standings.

READY FOR ACTION, at least in the field of community relations, is this full scale model of the versatile Hawk missile. Constructed by the Army Exhibit Unit, Cameron Station, Va., the 16-foot missile is slated to tour schools in this area. Giving it the proud once-over are members of the Community Relations Division, Sixth Army Information Section, Capt. Edward P. Endres, M Sgt. Donald L. Hawkins and Mrs. Esther Montooth.

Full Scale Model Hawk Will Tour Bay Schools

The Sixth Army gained another first last week as a full scale model of the new Hawk Missile was delivered to the Presidio.

Constructed by the US Army Exhibit Unit, Cameron Station, Va., and sent here by the Dept. of the Army, the 16-foot model is the first of its kind west of the Mississippi, and is to be used for displays and in conjunction with Bay Area school assemblies.

During the programs, planned by Community Relations Div. of the Sixth Army Information Sec., the Hawk and other missile models will be used to stress their growing importance to the world, and to tell the young people just what the Army has done in the missile field.

Sponsoring the assemblies, which will include music by the Sixth Army Band, are San Francisco Jr. ROTC units.

Although the model will only be in the Bay Area for a short time, plans are underway to build a duplicate here for use in parades, special events, and to help educate the general public on the Army's role in the guided missile story.

The life size model, described by a member of the Information Section as "just right for showing off," has a bright red nose cone and stands on a movable base which may be easily raised or lowered for better viewing.

A versatile surface-to-air missile, the real Hawk, often called the Homing All The Way Killer, was ordered to the Bay Area in mid-October, but exact locations have not yet been decided upon.

The radar "eye" of the weapon ignores stationary objects, but goes instantly toward any threatening moving aerial target.

This radar system makes it possible for the first time for a missile to pick out the reflection from a moving target at low altitude from a mass of signals reflected from ground objects.

The Hawk is considered a key defender of American cities and will complete the defense against high-altitude air attack provided by the Army's Nike units.

Army Medical Service Hits High Record For Reenlistments

Washington (ANS)—Nearly half of those eligible for reenlistment in the Army Medical Service "re-uped" during the past fiscal year.

Presenting an Army Reenlistment Trophy to a representative of recruiting personnel of the Army Medical Service, Major General Silas B. Hays, Army Surgeon General, said:

"I extend my congratulations to all Army Medical Service personnel who helped make the award of this trophy possible. This splendid achievement by our officer and enlisted reenlistment personnel enables the Army Medical Service to continue to provide the individual soldier, his family, and his commander the finest of medical care."

Stamps Next Year

Washington D.C. will be the initial issuing place for three stamps in 1959; a Jose San Martin Champion Of Liberty on 25 Feb., World Peace Through Trade on 19 April, and Lincoln Birth Sesquicentennial on 30 May.

Fact Sheets On New MPV System Go To Major Commanders

Washington (ANS) — The Army has just forwarded to its Major Commanders a fact sheet on the new Military Pay Voucher System, which says that anyone who can add or subtract simple figures can easily check his own military pay vouchers each month.

"All the necessary information is on the form itself," says the publication, which was furnished for use in informing Army personnel more fully about the new system. However the fact sheet warns, "If you think there is an error on your MPV, double check and triple check your figures before reporting it to the unit commander!"

According to the publication, the new system will take effect January 1, and has these advantages:

- The individual's unit personnel office will maintain in one file all the information needed for computing pay.
- Each pay-day, the soldier will receive a copy of his pay voucher for his own records.
- With his individual financial data records folder or competent orders, a soldier who is in travel status or otherwise detached from a parent unit, can draw his pay from any Army finance office.
- The new system employs more efficient modern accounting and auditing techniques.

First Bay Area Troops To Complete Hercules Training Course Back

Members of A Battery, 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery, were welcomed home this week after becoming the first Bay Area group to complete Nike-Hercules training at Fort Bliss, Tex.

On hand to greet the men were Col. Burton Beam, Commanding Officer of the 2d Battalion; Col. Iver Peterson, Commanding Officer of the 30th Group, and the Sixth Army Band.

Among the returning "heroes" were Capt. Roy Goshier, Battery Commander; 2d Lt. Andrew Foster, IFC Officer; 2d Lt. James F. Heanor, Launcher Area Officer; CWO Peter J. Boahn, Chief of Launcher Assembly and Maintenance Crew; Sfc. Hoover C. Lemmons, Electronics Materials Maintenance Man, and Sfc. Garland Silvers, also an Electronics Materials Maintenance Man.

Others in the group included CWO John S. Howell, M/Sgt. Marvin Brimmer and M/Sgt. Hubert Lambeth.

Dallas, Tex. (ANS)—Air Force Secretary James H. Douglas, addressing the Air Force Association, praised the Army Nike-Hercules as "the most effective surface-to-air missile in operational units today."

Set Award Nomination Deadline In December

The Secretary of the Army will nominate an employee, either military or civilian, for consideration for the 1959 William A. Jump Memorial Award. This award is presented annually to an employee of the Federal Government who is contributing outstanding service because of unusual competence, integrity, interest and sustained high level performance in the field of public administration.

The award includes a gold key and certificate of merit. The Foundation will grant, in addition to the principal award, three honorable mention awards each year. This award will be a special honorary certificate and citation.

Any military or civilian employee of the Federal Government who has not passed his or her 36th birthday on 31 December 1958, and whose performance over a considerable period demonstrates unusual competence, interest in public administration and leadership is eligible to compete for the 1959 Award.

Recommendations for nomination have to be forwarded to the Post Civilian Personnel Officer, Building 227, by 17 December. All queries concerning the nomination of candidates may be referred to that office.

Former Dutch Soldier Wins Reserve Rank

Private First Class Herman A. Cellose of the 30th Engineer Battalion has been awarded a reserve commission as a Second Lieutenant in the US Army Corps of Engineers. Pfc Cellose has served 13 months in the US Army.

Born in Amsterdam, Herman's family moved to Indonesia when he was only a few months old. With the Japanese invasion of Indonesia during the Second World War, Herman was sent to a concentration camp where he remained for three years until war's end.

In 1946, he returned to Holland and was graduated from college in 1953, majoring in mechanical design. He was then drafted into the Dutch Army and spent the following two years attached to an infantry tactical demonstration unit where he attained the rank of Sergeant.

After completing his tour of duty in Holland, Herman came to the United States where he felt there was more opportunity to make a living. He was drafted in October 1957, and took basic training at Fort Ord. Placed under the Army S&P Program, Herman now serves in the 99th Engineer Company in the layout section.

A former Battalion Soldier of the Month, Pfc Cellose plans to apply for active duty as a second lieutenant.

Dallas, Tex. (ANS)—Air Force Secretary James H. Douglas, addressing the Air Force Association, praised the Army Nike-Hercules as "the most effective surface-to-air missile in operational units today."

Red Canyon, N. M. (ANS)—A Nike Ajax unit from Kaiserslautern, Germany has bettered the already superlative firing records of Air Defense missile units from CONUS and Europe. The 2d Missile Battalion of the 56th Artillery racked up a perfect score of 12 "kills" out of 12 possibilities during its annual service practice here.

Washington (ANS)—The Army Reservist reports that as of September 1st, there were over 1100 Reserve officers assigned or attached to 60 USAR Research and Development units in 28 states.

Since 1 January 1958 ten new units have been organized, and an additional ten are expected to be authorized before the end of 1958.

Requoteable Quote: "In this complex era of unprecedented technological progress and of intricate political problems, the future belongs to those who refuse to be awed by its difficulties and resolutely accept its challenges."—General Maxwell D. Taylor.

Dateline ... Army

"MAKE MINE SMALL!" chorus Lt. Col. Lenore Price (l.), Sixth Army WAC Staff Advisor, and Capt. Catherine C. Coli, Commander of D Company, U.S.A. Garrison, as Col. Mary L. Milligan, Director of the WAC, cuts the cake at a reception held in her honor at the D Company dayroom.

Women's Corps Head Visits Presidio Group

By Pfc. Janet Holcomb
Star Presidian Staff Writer

Gaity and a little seriousness were intermingled Tuesday night during a reception held in the "D" Company dayroom in honor of Col. Mary Louise Milligan, Director of the Women's Army Corps.

Pfc. Violet Slade, mistress of ceremonies, got the evening off to a good start by introducing a quartet from Oakland Army Terminal who blended their voices through two numbers.

Following the singers came a Spanish dancer from Letterman Army Hospital and a "mystery guest" from Ft. McClellan, Alabama. Although she wasn't too suitably dressed for the occasion, the guest, in reality Pfc. Claudette Schloman, seemed to be enjoying herself as she "plopped down" in the middle of the floor to eat a piece of cake and have a glass of punch. The "D" Co. WAC was apparently oblivious to the fact that she was the only person who attended the event in fatigue and a full field pack.

After removing the "obstacle" from the floor so that the show could go on, Pfc. Slade joined Sp4 Katherine Hirata and Pvt. Ethel

Ringer in singing "Good Night Sweetheart."

Concluding the entertainment the "D" Co. chorus asked the group to join them in singing the "Women's Army Corps."

On the serious side, Col. Milligan, petite and attractive in the new Army dress green uniform, began her short talk by showing the new summer green's and then answering some of the questions she had been asked during this tour. She talked of the much hoped for WAC Det. in Hawaii, the reason for delays in some of the programs, such as getting new quarters, and also told the group how important it was for them to keep up, and even try to raise the high standards of the Corps.

Before concluding Col. Milligan said she was proud to be Director of the WAC not "because it makes me the top boss, or because it puts a bird on my shoulder, but because it makes me one of you, the top women in America."

Jupiter Nose Cone Given Smithsonian

Huntsville, Ala. (AFPS)—One year after President Eisenhower first showed the U.S. public the nose cone of the Army's Jupiter-C test missile, which reentered the atmosphere from outer space, it has come to rest in Washington's Smithsonian Institution.

The historic missile was propelled to an altitude of 300 miles and travelled more than 1200 miles down-range from Cape Canaveral, Fla., on Aug. 7, 1957. Three months later, the President, in discussing the difficulty of bringing one back without its burning up like a meteor, told a TV audience:

"Our scientists and engineers have solved that problem. This object here in my office is an experimental missile—a nose cone. It has been hundreds of miles to outer space and back. Here it is—completely intact."

The nose cone, which was recovered by the Navy, will go on exhibition in the Smithsonian.

PWC's Christmas Drive Will Start At Club Luncheon

The Presidio Woman's Club will kick off its "Christmas Cheer for Children" toys drive 4 December during a luncheon at the Presidio Officers' Open Mess, beginning at 1230.

Each member has been requested to bring a toy, gift wrapped, for an underprivileged child; the package should be marked as to whether it is for a girl or a boy and should note the approximate appropriate age level.

The toy collection will continue on Post through 20 December and Presidians who wish to contribute may leave unwrapped gifts at the following locations: Presidio Officers and NCO Open Messes, Presidio Service Club, Ft. Scott NCO Open Mess and Ft. Scott Toy Shop.

Guest speaker at the December luncheon will be George Mardikian, culinary artist and owner of Omar Khayyam's Restaurant in San Francisco. Sixth Army G4 Section wives will hostess the luncheon. Reservations may be made until 2 December by calling Mrs. Clifford Hill, MO 4-9657.

Warn GI Borrowers To Make Payments Right On Time

Despite what some veterans may believe, there is no grace period for the late payment of installments on GI loans, Veterans Administration announced.

Thus, the agency added, veterans should make their GI loan payments on or before the date they are due.

Failure to do so may prove costly, VA pointed out, since GI lenders may make an extra service charge when payments are received late.

VA warned that veterans who gain the reputation of being "chronic delinquents" will find their lenders taking that fact into account if the veterans should ever need an extension of repayment time on their GI loans.

In addition to their loss of credit standing, veterans who become delinquent in their payments may ultimately be faced with the loss of the property acquired with their GI loans, VA said.

Post PX Officer Wins Silver Bars

Eugene D. Hardy, Jr., Exchange Officer at the Presidio of San Francisco, Calif., was promoted to the rank of first lieutenant this week in ceremonies held in the office of the Presidio's commanding officer.

The 29-year-old officer and his wife, Onella, arrived at the Presidio in September, 1957. They now live with their two daughters, Oaietta and Ondina, in quarters on the post.

Lt. Hardy is a native of Mansfield, Mass., and attended Ohio State University prior to entering the service.

The lieutenant's new silver bars were pinned on by Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Presidio Commanding Officer, and Mrs. Hardy.

Enlisted Benefit Group Reports Year's Growth

Washington (AFPS)—The Armed Forces Enlisted Personnel Benefit Assn. recently ended its fiscal year with insurance in force totaling $12 million.

M/Sgt. John J. Klasinski, president of the association, said that during its first year of operation it paid out $50,000 in death claims and also made three $300 emergency loans to members.

Loans of this nature are available, the association head said, to meet unusual family medical expenses, a death in the family and other emergencies.

The association is controlled by a board of directors who are senior enlisted men on active duty, one from each service. They are elected annually and serve without compensation.

"At the close of each year," an association statement declared "after claims and expenses are deducted from the gross premium contributions, the remainder, except for a small reserve, is returned to the members."

"Now that the first fiscal year has ended, the directors will meet to decide how much can be returned to members. Announcement is expected within a few months."

All grades of regular enlisted personnel in all branches of service are eligible for the association. Basic rates are $9 per month for the $10,000 group life insurance policy, and $12.50 per month for hazardous duty personnel.

There is no age limit, no travel restrictions, no war clause and no exclusions, the association said.

Association headquarters are located at 422 Washington Bldg., Washington 5, D. C.

Honors Press Club

Washington (ANS)—The Army Hour has prepared a special salute to the National Press Club. Honoring the club's 50th anniversary, the program will feature talks by Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker; Army Chief of Information, Major General H. P. Storke; and club president, Mr. John V. Horner. Mutual will air the program stateside November 25th, and 125 overseas AFRTS stations will broadcast it in the near future. Says The Army Hour: "Members of the club have for fifty years consistently worked towards their goal to create light by print and thereby have helped to insure the right of free speech and expression."

Interested persons are invited to attend the luncheon and tickets, at $3.50 per person, must be reserved by calling the World Affairs Council, YU 2-2541.

Nike To Defend Far North Commands

Washington (AFPS)—The Army's operational air defense missile, Nike Hercules, will be installed to defend strategic areas of Alaska early next year.

Defense areas in the Ft. Richardson-Elmendorf AFB-Anchorage and the Eilson AFB-Ladd AFB - Fairbanks complexes are now being converted from 120mm guns to the atomic-capable Hercules.

Personnel to man the Hercules sites will leave for Alaska early in 1959 to form the 4th Missile Bn., 43rd Arty., near Anchorage and the 2nd Missile Bn., 562nd Arty., near Fairbanks.

Two ordnance detachments will also move to Alaska to support the operation. A Nike-Hercules battalion is staffed by more than 500 officers and men.

New State Airmail

Stamp collectors desiring first day covers for the 7¢ Air Mail Alaska Statehood commemorative stamp may write to the Postmaster, Juneau, Alaska, requesting that the covers be held until the new stamp is released.

NEWS ITEM—A Harvard University scientist claims that, with proper financial backing, he could launch the battleship Wisconsin into orbit.

Pacific Air Forces Commander Will Speak At Special Luncheon

General Laurence S. Kuter, USAF, Commander-in-Chief, Pacific Air Forces, Monday will address a special luncheon presented in his honor at the Commercial Club by the World Affairs Council of Northern California, the San Francisco Squadron Air Force Association and the Commercial Club.

A member of the Air Force since 1930, the General has served as an instructor at the Air Corps Tactical School, was a member of the War Department General Staff, and also was Deputy Commander of the N.W. African Tactical Air Force during the Tunisian Campaign. In 1955 he became Commander of the Far East Air Force and then was given his present assignment.

Interested persons are invited to attend the luncheon and tickets, at $3.50 per person, must be reserved by calling the World Affairs Council, YU 2-2541.

"... down to the sea"
Capt. Jeraldine L. Payton

kaleidoscope

Few women ever have the chance to "go down to the sea in ships." "When they do, they're good sailors and love the life."

Captain Jeraldine L. Payton, Army Nurse Corps, recently assigned as Nurse Procurement Officer, Sixth US Army Recruiting District, is a veteran "sailor" of three Army Hospital Ships—Mercy, Hope and Comfort.

"I spent some four years aboard these ships, mostly in the Pacific. However, I did make one trip to Bremerhaven when the Comfort was ordered to the east coast for duty."

"Yes, it was exciting and wonderful duty. On several occasions we would take aboard emergency surgery cases while at sea. A 'hot appendix' or ulcer case, our surgeons, we usually had six or seven aboard, were the best and it was interesting to assist or just watch such operations."

"Of course, with some 200 patients on board most of the time, we stayed pretty busy at our regular jobs. A majority were ambulatory and headed for stateside hospitals where their cases, generally chronic, could be given specialized treatment. We generally had some 30 patients in the deck wards and about 150 to 175 in the below deck wards, or what we called 'the hold.'"

"Sometimes on our trips over we would carry construction workers or military dependents. Trips usually took about two months and ports of call varied, but were mainly those that had major military hospital facilities."

"Social life? In port, we generally visited places of interest with members of our group or planned outings of some kind. At sea, bridge, a fine library and movies were the bright spots."

The Comfort was decommissioned in 1949, the last of the Army's hospital ships to leave active service, and Capt. Payton then served a tour of duty at Ft. MacArthur, California. In 1951, she returned to Europe for duty with the 130th Station Hospital in Heidelberg, Germany.

A graduate of the Charity Hospital School of Nursing in New Orleans, La., Capt. Payton entered the Army Nurse Corps in 1944 and was first assigned at Birmingham General Hospital, Van Nuys, California. She has more recently served as Nurse Procurement Officer in Los Angeles, 57-58, and attended the Army Medical Service School at Ft. Sam Houston, Texas. Prior to reporting here, she served at the Army Hospital, Ft. Hood, Texas.

"I wanted to be a nurse since I can remember. It's a wonderful profession. Being an Army Nurse, however, is even more satisfying. You have that feeling of identity. Of being a member of a historic group, dedicated to a really important mission. Besides which, the Army offers the young nurse the very best of everything. Outstanding graduate and study courses, in any specialized field they might be interested, travel and colorful duty, and most of all—work and association with some of the finest medical specialists and technicians in the world."

"The Army Student Nurse Program is available at any accredited hospital and any girl interested in the field would be missing a wonderful chance if she didn't take a good close look at the opportunities it offers."

Capt. Payton will replace Major Isabel Paulson, who will report shortly to Brooke Army Medical Center, Ft. Sam Houston, for the Army Medical Service Advance Course.

From the Army Reservist: "The soul of an Army still consists of character, discipline, leadership—without which the most intricate skills are useless."

Korean Art Exhibit At Palace of Honor

A special exhibition of masterpieces of Korean art opened yesterday at the Palace of the Legion of Honor, Lincoln Park, San Francisco.

The collection represents a cross-section of over 2,000 years of Korean art—the product of one of the oldest and finest cultures of the world. It comprises a total of 187 objects: 18 of gold, including three jeweled crowns of the 5th-6th century A.D.; 10 stoneware and tile; 25 gilt bronzes; 34 paintings; and 103 pottery, including superb examples of the celebrated Korean celadon (pale green) ware.

The Government of the Republic of Korea arranged the exhibition as an expression of gratitude of the Korean people to America for the aid through Korea's critical years of reconstruction. It was organized with the cooperation of the U.S. Department of State, participating museum directors, the Rockefeller Foundation, the U.S. Army and Navy.

Sponsored by the American-Korean Foundation, the exhibit will be on view daily from 1000 hours to 1700 hours until 1 January. On the upcoming holidays the exhibition hall will be open to visitors from 1300 to 1700 hours. Admission is free.

Dr. Won-Yong Kim, the curator of this special exhibit, said that after January 1, 1959, he and his staff of Korean specialists will take the exhibits on a tour of other leading museums throughout the United States.

No such entertainment would be "legit" without the services of Bob Hope. His colleagues this year include Bing Crosby, Danny Kaye, James Stewart, Milton Berle, Betty Hutton and Dinah Shore.

Also: Louis Armstrong, Kim Novak, Benny Goodman, Jimmy Durante, Dick Powell, Cyd Charisse, June Allyson, Jane Powell and others.

8 Presidio Ladies Aid As Hostesses In Alameda Charity

Eight Presidio ladies have volunteered as hostesses Sunday afternoon for the "Armed Forces Day" portion of Christmas Cargoes, Oakland Auditorium, 10th and Fallon Sts., Oakland.

Christmas Cargoes, a week-long gift sale which closes Sunday, is a fund-raising project to benefit the Alameda County Legal Aid Society.

Local ladies who will join wives of Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force personnel as hostesses during the last afternoon of the sale are: Mrs. Avery Cochran, Mrs. Harold Davenport, Mrs. Louis Greenfield, Mrs. Charles Helderman, Mrs. James Chesnut, Mrs. John Peters, Mrs. Maurice Clark and Mrs. Thomas Merrick.

Welcome Home Party

A welcome back party will be held at Ft. Baker Service Club next Friday for all members of the 561st Engineer Battalion and their wives and families.

Supper will be served at 1900, followed by entertainment and dancing.

Only an Army which is filled with first-class people can in the long run be itself first-class.—(Army Information Digest).

Happy Turkey Day

Good food and a homey atmosphere will be the keynotes for a Happy Thanksgiving at Presidio Service Club No. 1, Thursday. The day will begin with a coffee call at 1030 and end at 1830 with a delicious buffet supper eaten before a roaring fire. Everyone is welcome.

Million Dollar Cast Will Headline Big Christmas Program

New York (AFPS)—A multi-million-dollar cast glitters for 90 minutes in the USO "spectacular" which has been filmed for showing to the Armed Forces overseas this Christmas.

The movie is the holiday salute of U.S. show business to servicemen and women and their dependents around the world. No producer, however prodigal, could hope to corral the luminaries who contribute their talents to this non-profit variety show.

No such entertainment would be "legit" without the services of Bob Hope. His colleagues this year include Bing Crosby, Danny Kaye, James Stewart, Milton Berle, Betty Hutton and Dinah Shore.

Also: Louis Armstrong, Kim Novak, Benny Goodman, Jimmy Durante, Dick Powell, Cyd Charisse, June Allyson, Jane Powell and others.

King's IV Vocal Group Will Entertain At POM On Saturday Evening

The King's IV, four young men of tremendous musical talent, appear at the Presidio Officers' Open Mess on Saturday, 22 November.

The King's IV, made up of Stan Worth, George Worth, Bill Kay and Frank Ciculla, offer a wide range of entertainment which includes comedy, singing and instrumental solos with a smash finale during which all members of the group become violently athletic.

Lately discharged from the Air Force, these top entertainers have been seen and heard in nearly every military installation throughout the west.

For reservations call 4260 or 4269.

Noted Peninsula Author To Address Writers

William Rawle Weeks, 106 La Kuesta Way, Woodside, first-time author of "Knock and Wait Awhile," 1957 top-selling suspense novel of U.S. espionage in postwar Europe, will address a joint meeting of the Peninsula Branch, Armed Forces Writer's League, the Palo Alto and Menlo-Atherton High School Adult Classes and other Peninsula creative groups at the Palo Alto High School, on Monday, 24 November, at 2000. There is no admission charge and the public is invited to attend.

STAR Gazin

Veterans Day, as in the past, brought many show business tributes to U.S. fighting men . . . one was the Jimmy Dean Show aired from the VA Hospital in New York City. Jimmy was in uniform when he formed his first combo with fellow airmen, and the group stuck together after discharge.

Mutual's "Army Hour" had Dane Clark in a special WWI feature, with the Army Band and Chorus spotlighting a George M. Cohan medley and the "Black Jack March" dedicated to the AEF's Gen. John J. Pershing.

Classical note . . . conducting the Houston Symphony Orchestra, Leopold Stokowski featured "Atala," tone poem by 28-year-old Sgt. Serge de Gastyne, arranger for the Air Force Band at Bolling AFB in Washington . . . the work was commissioned by the orchestra at Stokowski's suggestion.

Ever hear of stage directions for a play becoming Army orders? . . . playwright Howard Lindsay, co-authoring "Tall Story," remembers his WWI days as a corporal when the cast members of a play he was directing all outranked him. Lindsay took the script to staff headquarters, had the directions made official.

Another director, this time from England, is Ret. Peter von Garschne-Gerald, now training at Ft. Carson, Colo. . . . he did radio and video for BBC and acted in J. Arthur Rank movies before moving to Tulsa, Okla., where he was regional chairman for the Metropolitan Auditions of the Air.

Easy to behold even if you don't hit the jackpot is TV's "Treasure Hunt" hostess Marian Stafford . . . she recently presented M/Sgt. Joseph Fiorelli, NYC recruiter, with his cash bonus when he re-enlisted with 17 Army years behind him.

Tops in Pops . . . Tommy Edwards with "It's All in the Game" is the leader on the "Billboard Magazine" Honor Roll of Hits, followed by "It's Only Make Believe" (Conrad Twitty). The eight follow-ups: "Topsy It" (Cozy Cole); "To Know Him Is to Love Him" (Teady Bears); "The End" (Earl Grant); "Tea for Two Cha Cha" (Tommy Dorsey Orchestra); "Chantilly Lace" (Big Bopper); "Rock-In' Robin" (Bobby Day) and "The Day the Rains Came" (Raymond Le Favre and Jane Morgan).

movie roundup

HARRY BLACK AND THE TIGER—Reviewed last week. Theaters: No. 1—Today; No. 3—Monday; No. 4—Tuesday.

LEGION OF THE DOOMED—(M), Bill Williams. Dawn Richards. A traitorous Foreign Legion commander almost causes his outpost to be annihilated until he is discovered and the Arabs defeated in a desert battle. No. 1—Tomorrow.

THE BUCCANEER—(F) (Color), Yul Brynner, Charlton Heston, Claire Bloom, Charles Boyer. The picture recreates an exciting chapter in America's history, the crucial battle of the War of 1812, when the future of the United States hung precariously in the balance. It tells of the part played by the pirate king, Jean Lafitte, in tipping the scales in America's favor; and of his alliance with General Jackson. No. 1—Sunday and Monday; No. 3—Wednesday; No. 4—Thursday.

TOM THUMB—(F) (Color), Russ Tamblyn, June Turchin, Alan Young. The remarkable story of Tom Thumb comes to life in a motion picture of infinite magic and surprise. The star is tiny (he's exactly 5½ inches high), but the entertainment is terrific. No. 1—Tuesday; No. 3—Friday.

GUNS, GIRLS AND GANGSTERS—(M), Mamie Van Doren, Gerald Mohr. In her first dramatic role, the curvaceous Mamie portrays a Las Vegas nightclub entertainer whose penchant for the fast buck and easy spenders lands her in a whole mess of trouble. The central plot of the story covers the heisting of an armored car on its run from Las Vegas to Los Angeles. Gerald Mohr portrays the suave heavy who masterminds the robbery, and the affections of the lovely Mamie. No. 1—Wednesday.

THE LAST HURRAH—(F), Spencer Tracy, Jeffrey Hunter, Diane Foster. The Last Hurrah is much more than the story of an election. It is an exciting and powerful study of a man and the city he helped to build. It is a study in triumph, in conflict and defeat. No. 1—Thursday.

SENIOR PROM—Reviewed last week. No. 4—Sunday.

Women's Corps Head Visits Presidio Group

By Pfc. Janet Holcomb
Star Presidian Staff Writer

Gaity and a little seriousness were intermingled Tuesday night during a reception held in the "D" Company dayroom in honor of Col. Mary Louise Milligan, Director of the Women's Army Corps.

Pfc. Violet Slade, mistress of ceremonies, got the evening off to a good start by introducing a quartet from Oakland Army Terminal who blended their voices through two numbers.

Following the singers came a Spanish dancer from Letterman Army Hospital and a "mystery" guest from Ft. McClellan, Alabama. Although she wasn't too suitably dressed for the occasion, the guest, in reality Pfc. Claudette Schlemmer, seemed to be enjoying herself as she "plopped down" in the middle of the floor to eat a piece of cake and have a glass of punch. The "D" Co. WAC was apparently oblivious to the fact that she was the only person who attended the event in fatigue and a full field pack.

After removing the "obstacle" from the floor so that the show could go on, Pfc. Slade joined Sp4 Katherine Hirata and Pvt. Ethel

Ringer in singing "Good Night Sweetheart."

Concluding the entertainment the "D" Co. chorus asked the group to join them in singing the "Women's Army Corps."

On the serious side, Col. Milligan, petite and attractive in the new Army dress green uniform, began her short talk by showing the new summer greens and then answering some of the questions she had been asked during this tour. She talked of the much hoped for WAC Det. in Hawaii, the reason for delays in some of the programs, such as getting new quarters, and also told the group how important it was for them to keep up, and even try to raise the high standards of the Corps.

Before concluding Col. Milligan said she was proud to be Director of the WAC not "because it makes me the top boss, or because it puts a bird on my shoulder, but because it makes me one of you, the top women in America."

Before concluding Col. Milligan said she was proud to be Director of the WAC not "because it makes me the top boss, or because it puts a bird on my shoulder, but because it makes me one of you, the top women in America."

The nose cone, which was recovered by the Navy, will go on exhibition in the Smithsonian.

She has more recently served as Nurse Procurement Officer in Los Angeles, 57-58, and attended the Army Medical Service School at Ft. Sam Houston, Texas. Prior to reporting here, she served at the Army Hospital, Ft. Hood, Texas.

"I wanted to be a nurse since I can remember. It's a wonderful profession. Being an Army Nurse, however, is even more satisfying. You have that feeling of identity. Of being a member of a historic group, dedicated to a really important mission. Besides which, the Army offers the young nurse the very best of everything. Outstanding graduate and study courses, in any specialized field they might be interested, travel and colorful duty, and most of all—work and association with some of the finest medical specialists and technicians in the world."

"The Army Student Nurse Program is available at any accredited hospital and any girl interested in the field would be missing a wonderful chance if she didn't take a good close look at the opportunities it offers."

Capt. Payton will replace Major Isabel Paulson, who will report shortly to Brooke Army Medical Center, Ft. Sam Houston, for the Army Medical Service Advance Course.

From the Army Reservist: "The soul of an Army still consists of character, discipline, leadership—without which the most intricate skills are useless."

Korean Art Exhibit At Palace of Honor

A special exhibition of masterpieces of Korean art opened yesterday at the Palace of the Legion of Honor, Lincoln Park, San Francisco.

The collection represents a cross-section of over 2,000 years of Korean art—the product of one of the oldest and finest cultures of the world. It comprises a total of 187 objects: 18 of gold, including three jeweled crowns of the 5th-6th century A.D.; 10 stoneware and tile; 25 gilt bronzes; 34 paintings; and 103 potteries, including superb examples of the celebrated Korean celadon (pale green) ware.

The Government of the Republic of Korea arranged the exhibition as an expression of gratitude of the Korean people to America for the aid through Korea's critical years of reconstruction. It was organized with the cooperation of the U.S. Department of State, participating museum directors, the Rockefeller Foundation, the U.S. Army and Navy.

Sponsored by the American-Korean Foundation, the exhibit will be on view daily from 1000 hours to 1700 hours until 1 January. On the upcoming holidays the exhibition hall will be open to visitors from 1300 to 1700 hours. Admission is free.

Dr. Won-Yong Kim, the curator of this special exhibit, said that after January 1, 1959, he and his staff of Korean specialists will take the exhibits on a tour of other leading museums throughout the United States.

Cub Pow Wow

Mothers, dads and leaders of Cub Scouts are invited to participate in the 1958 Cub Leaders' Pow Wow from 0930 to 1600 tomorrow at Luther Burbank Junior High School, Persia and La Grande Avenue. Purpose of the annual event is to bring together Cub Scout Leaders from all sections of the city to exchange ideas. A buffet luncheon, included in the $1.00 registration fee, will be followed by training sessions.

8 Presidio Ladies Aid As Hostesses In Alameda Charity

Eight Presidio ladies have volunteered as hostesses Sunday afternoon for the "Armed Forces Day" portion of Christmas Cargoes, Oakland Auditorium, 10th and Fallon Sts., Oakland.

Christmas Cargoes, a week-long gift sale which closes Sunday, is a fund-raising project to benefit the Alameda County Legal Aid Society.

Local ladies who will join wives of Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force personnel as hostesses during the last afternoon of the sale are: Mrs. Avery Cochran, Mrs. Harold Davenport, Mrs. Louis Greenfield, Mrs. Charles Helderman, Mrs. James Chesnut, Mrs. John Peters, Mrs. Maurice Clark and Mrs. Thomas Merrick.

Welcome Home Party

A welcome back party will be held at Ft. Baker Service Club next Friday for all members of the 561st Engineer Battalion and their wives and families.

Supper will be served at 1900, followed by entertainment and dancing.

Only an Army which is filled with first-class people can in the long run be itself first-class.—(Army Information Digest)

Happy Turkey Day

Good food and a homey atmosphere will be the keynotes for a Happy Thanksgiving at Presidio Service Club No. 1, Thursday. The day will begin with a coffee call at 1030 and end at 1830 with a delicious buffet supper eaten before a roaring fire. Everyone is welcome.

Million Dollar Cast Will Headline Big Christmas Program

New York (APFS)—A multi-million-dollar cast glitters for 90 minutes in the USO "spectacular" which has been filmed for showing to the Armed Forces overseas this Christmas.

The movie is the holiday salute of U.S. show business to servicemen and women and their dependents around the world. No producer, however prodigal, could hope to corral the luminaries who contribute their talents to this non-profit variety show.

No such entertainment would be "legit" without the services of Bob Hope. His colleagues this year include Bing Crosby, Danny Kaye, James Stewart, Milton Berle, Betty Hutton and Dinah Shore.

Also: Louis Armstrong, Kim Novak, Benny Goodman, Jimmy Durante, Dick Powell, Cyd Charisse, June Allyson, Jane Powell and others.

King's IV Vocal Group Will Entertain At POM On Saturday Evening

The King's IV, four young men of tremendous musical talent, appear at the Presidio Officers' Open Mess on Saturday, 22 November.

The King's IV, made up of Stan Worth, George Worth, Bill Kay and Frank Cicciulla, offer a wide range of entertainment which includes comedy, singing and instrumental solos with a smash finale during which all members of the group become violently athletic.

Lately discharged from the Air Force, these top entertainers have been seen and heard in nearly every military installation throughout the west.

For reservations call 4260 or 4269.

Noted Peninsula Author To Address Writers

William Rawle Weeks, 106 La Kuesta Way, Woodside, first-time author of "Knock and Wait Awhile," 1957 top-selling suspense novel of U.S. espionage in postwar Europe, will address a joint meeting of the Peninsula Branch, Armed Forces Writer's League, the Palo Alto and Menlo-Atherton High School Adult Classes and other Peninsula creative groups at the Palo Alto High School, on Monday, 24 November, at 2000. There is no admission charge and the public is invited to attend.

STAR Gazin

Veterans Day, as in the past, brought many show business tributes to U.S. fighting men... one was the Jimmy Dean Show aired from the VA Hospital in New York City. Jimmy was in uniform when he formed his first combo with fellow airmen, and the group stuck together after discharge.

Mutual's "Army Hour" had Dane Clark in a special WWI feature, with the Army Band and Chorus spotlighting a George M. Cohan medley and the "Black Jack March" dedicated to the AEF's Gen. John J. Pershing.

Classical note... conducting the Houston Symphony Orchestra, Leopold Stokowski featured "Atala," tone poem by 28-year-old Sgt. Serge de Gastayne, arranger for the Air Force Band at Bolling AFB in Washington... the work was commissioned by the orchestra at Stokowski's suggestion.

Ever hear of stage directions for a play becoming Army orders?... playwright Howard Lindsay, co-authoring "Tall Story," remembers his WWI days as a corporal when the cast members of a play he was directing all outranked him. Lindsay took the script to staff headquarters, had the directions made official.

Another director, this time from England, is Rct. Peter von Garschne-Gerald, now training at Ft. Carson, Colo... he did radio and video for BBC and acted in J. Arthur Rank movies before moving to Tulsa, Okla., where he was regional chairman for the Metropolitan Auditions of the Air.

Easy to behold even if you don't hit the jackpot is TV's "Treasure Hunt" hostess Marian Stafford... she recently presented M/Sgt. Joseph Fiorelli, NYC recruiter, with his cash bonus when he re-enlisted with 17 Army years behind him.

Tops in Pops... Tommy Edwards with "It's All in the Game" is the leader on the "Billboard Magazine" Honor Roll of Hits, followed by "It's Only Make Believe" (Conrad Twitty). The eight follow-ups: "Topsy II" (Cozy Cole); "To Know Him Is to Love Him" (Teady Bears); "The End" (Earl Grant); "Tea for Two Cha Cha" (Tommy Dorsey Orchestra); "Chantilly Lace" (Big Bopper); "Rock-In' Robin" (Bobby Day) and "The Day the Rains Came" (Raymond Le Fevre and Jane Morgan).

movie roundup

HARRY BLACK AND THE TIGER—Reviewed last week. Theaters: No. 1—Today; No. 3—Monday; No. 4—Tuesday.

LEGION OF THE DOOMED—(M), Bill Williams, Dawn Richards. A traitorous Foreign Legion commander almost causes his outpost to be annihilated until he is discovered and the Arabs defeated in a desert battle. No. 1—Tomorrow.

THE BUCCANEER—(F) (Color), Yul Brynner, Charlton Heston, Claire Bloom, Charles Boyer. The picture recreates an exciting chapter in America's history, the crucial battle of the War of 1812, when the future of the United States hung precariously in the balance. It tells of the part played by the pirate king, Jean Lafitte, in tipping the scales in America's favor; and of his alliance with General Jackson. No. 1—Sunday and Monday; No. 3—Wednesday; No. 4—Thursday.

TOM THUMB—(F) (Color), Russ Tamblyn, June Turchin, Alan Young. The remarkable story of Tom Thumb comes to life in a motion picture of infinite magic and surprise. The star is tiny (he's exactly 5½ inches high), but the entertainment is terrific. No. 1—Tuesday; No. 3—Friday.

GUNS, GIRLS AND GANGSTERS—(M), Mamie Van Doren, Gerald Mohr. In her first dramatic role, the cut-throat Mamie portrays a Las Vegas nightclub entertainer whose penchant for the fast buck and easy spenders lands her in a whole mess of trouble. The central plot of the story covers the heisting of an armored car on its run from Las Vegas to Los Angeles. Gerald Mohr portrays the suave heavy who masterminds the robbery, and the affections of the lovely Mamie. No. 1—Wednesday.

THE LAST HURRAH—(F), Spencer Tracy, Jeffrey Hunter, Diane Forrest. The Last Hurrah is much more than the story of an election. It is an exciting and powerful study of a man and the city he helped to build. It is a study in triumph, in conflict and defeat. No. 1—Thursday.

SENIOR PROM—Reviewed last week. No. 4—Sunday.

Toreros To Vie In Southwestern Invitational Area Sports Conference In Final Meeting Today

Today marks the end of the three-day Sixth Army Sports Conference being held at the Presidio Service Club and in winding up sessions covering every feasible phase of athletics, sports directors and guest speakers will enjoy lunch at the Presidio Officers Open Mess with another guest, Hon. George Christopher, Mayor of San Francisco.

Fencers Back Home After Dropping Narrow Decision

Presidio-Letterman fencers returned here this week after scoring an individual first, a team event first and one point shy of a meet victory in a dual International and Letterman-Mexico fencing tourney in Mexico City.

M/Sgt. Severo Pasol proved to be tops in the saber and was awarded a gold trophy. Other team members, though not winners, earned awards made of native silver.

Expecting to face Mexico's best in separate LAH-Mexico and California-Mexico matches, the Presidians actually competed in a single five-team International tourney with points scored also counting to settle the LAH-Mexico meet.

Competing, in addition to the Golden Gaters, was a team from Davis-Monthan Air Force Base, Ariz., and three Mexican teams—Club Junior, D'Artagnon and Puebla—which recently earned the right to represent Mexico in forthcoming world competition. Members of the teams also make up Mexico's Olympic and pentathlon fencers.

By tying various Mexican clubs in epee, foil, saber and the three-weapon event (but winning undisputed first place in only the saber after a fence-off with Club Junior), the locals deadlocked Mexico, 13-13, in individual events and for the first time Coach William O'Brien can remember, the usually non-counted three-weapon event was used to break the tie.

Letterman lost—the final score, 18-17, in favor of Mexico.

The LAH-Mexico team score also went to Mexico, 2-1, for victories in epee and foils.

Volleyball Champs Display High Style In Exhibition

More than a thousand San Rafael youngsters got a chance Tuesday to learn some of the finer points of the game of volleyball and watch court demonstrations when highnetters of the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, conducted an all-day clinic at Marin County's Davidson Junior High School.

The recently crowned San Francisco-Travis Army Air Defense Command champs, augmented by Pvt. George Blair of Headquarters Company, U.S.A. Garrison, and Pvt. Herbert Pearson of B Battery, 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery, conducted six 45-minute lecture-demonstration classes during regular gymnasium periods and then let any youngsters who wanted to play about five minutes with them after each class.

Highnetters conducted the sessions at the invitation of the San Rafael Department of Parks and Recreation. They fulfilled a similar request last year.

Bowling Team Wins To Meet Castle AFB

In two matches last Saturday with the Castle Air Force Base "Bombers," Presidio bowlers dropped the first, 3-1, but roared back to exactly reverse the score in the second.

Tomorrow, on the Presidio Service Club alleys, the Toreros will again face the Castle "Bombers," beginning at 1300.

In the earlier go, Torero keggers took only one game, 926-905, and were on the short end of the 2734-2664 total pins mark. Leading the locals in individual performance was Sfc. Donald Andresen, with a 546 series.

The nightcap found the Toreros jumping out in front by taking the first two games, 915-861 and 890-842, before losing the third, 889-975. By a margin of 16 pins, the Presidians also took total pins. Pacing the locals was Capt. Edward Rusek with a 555 series.

Local Golfers Dub Oakland Terminal

Presidio golfers last week swamped Oakland Army Terminal by taking 21 out of a possible 27 points.

Leading the way was Sfc. Murray Jacobs, Number One man on the local squad and Post champion, who shot low score for the day—a 72.

Sfc. Jacobs teamed with Maj. George Reuss to net 8½ points for Presidio, while Sp4 Daryl Mohr and Capt. Doug Barker picked up a full 9.

The only losing duo, Capt. Charles Monges and M/Sgt. Clifford Rogers, came out on the short end of a 3½-5½ score.

No matches were scheduled for this week.

ADC Bowling Tourney Ends 4th Msle Bn Is Top Team

Twenty-eight area missilemen late yesterday wound up a three-day San Francisco-Travis Air Defense Command bowling tournament designed to pick a seven-man team to compete for 6th ARADCOM honors next month.

Individual standings were not available at press time, but 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery took the team crown Tuesday. The 6th ARADCOM tourney will be staged 15-19 December at Ft. MacArthur.

Entered in the roll-offs here, on the Presidio Service Club alleys, were:

1st Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery. Maj. Robert C. Wuepper, Capt. Emil DelBiaggio, Sgt. Jack Duff and Pfc. Michael M. Kramis, 29th Art. Gp. Hq.; Sfc. James P. Clark, A Btry.; Pfc. John D. Borg, B Btry.; and Sp5 Ronald L. Viera, D Btry.

2nd Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery. M/Sgt. John H. Lundahl, CWO Robert L. Sutton and Pfc. Roy Saito, D Btry.; M/Sgt. Andrew W. Horn, Hq. Btry.; Sfc. Shelby Beery and Pfc. Arion Hopperditzel, A Btry.; and Pfc. Michael D. Culy, C Btry.

4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery. Sfc. Julian R. Walkley, Pfc. Larry Kindred and Pfc. Clayton Tweten, Hq. Btry.; Pfc. Michael Luchs, A Btry.; Pfc. Peter Schmidt, B Btry.; and Sfc. Oscar Vitan and Pfc. John P. Sadler, C Btry.

4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery. CWO Raymond R. Burns and Pfc. Jonathan Alea, A Btry.; M/Sgt. Forrest R. Johns and Sfc. John W. Jones, Hq. Btry.; and M/Sgt. Leslie G. Heath, Sfc. Joseph Czapewicz and Sp5 Thomas Manning, C Btry.

Well Ticked!

An early method of fishing was "tickling." This involved leaning over a pool in a stream where fish swam lazily. The "fisherman" slipped his hand under the belly of the fish and tickled it. While the fish was enjoying such attention, the sly human carefully would open his fingers, spread them around the fish, make a sudden grab and fish and water would part.

Win Scotch Golf

Trophy winners in XV Corps' recent Scotch golf tournament were Maj. Cyril C. Disney and M/Sgt. F. C. Weichel. They played as a team.

The awards were presented by Maj. Gen. John W. Harmony, XV Corps Commander.

Presidio Only Army Team To Win Chance

Presidio basketball coach Hal Fischer Wednesday received a telegraphic invitation to enter the Toreros in the forthcoming 1959 Southwestern Invitational Tournament in Las Vegas, Nev.

He told reporters he plans to accept. Presidio would be the only Army team in the tourney; invitations also were extended to the Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force to enter one team each.

The undefeated Toreros, consolation bracket winners of the SWIT last year and runners-up the previous year, will be thrown in with top AAU, military and college competition.

Here are a few of the teams expected to take the floor when the tourney opens 11 February 1959:

- Mirror-Glaze of Pasadena, Calif.—Southern AAU champs last year.
- Denver (Colo.) Truckers—runners-up in the National AAU Tournament last season.
- Wichita (Kans.) Vickers—feature 7'2" center "Swede" Holbrook.
- McDonald Scotts of Ft. Charles, La.
- San Diego (Calif.) Naval Training Center.
- San Diego (Calif.) USMC Recruiters.
- Andrews Air Force Base, Washington, D. C.

Post Quintet Misses First Defeat By Narrow Margin

"The field day for Presidio is over," basketball coach Hal Fischer lamented after the Toreros squeezed past Travis Air Force Base Tuesday night to remain unbeaten in five games. Last night the Presidians squared off against the 29 Palms Marines at Letterman gym in a match which could have proved true mentor Fischer's qualms. Results were not available at press time.

Tonight, the Toreros journey to Marin Junior College, tomorrow they will face the San Rafael All-Stars at Letterman gym beginning at 1000 and Tuesday night they will travel to Alameda Coast Guard.

Presidio edged Travis, 71-60, in an away Nor. Cal. Armed Forces Sports League tilt but there were moments during which the locals looked like losers. At one point in the first half the Toreros trailed by 9, though they managed to carry a 1 point half time advantage. Late in the game they again led by a single point, but a fast rally in the last two minutes pulled the game out of the fire.

"(Pfc.) Bill VonWeyhe saved that game," coach Fischer reported. The MRU soldier tied for Torero scoring honors with teammate Pfc. Mike Diaz of Headquarters, 30th Engineers Battalion as both men posted 18.

Although not high scorers, Pfc. Frank Zechel of 16th BPO (8) and 2d Lt. Ed Fine, Post Pharmacy Officer (5), got nods for their fine floor play.

Pvt. Harry Lux of 30th Artillery Group netted 14, Pfc. John Perry of the Honor Guard got 5 and Joe Savoldi of U.S.A. Training Group added 1.

In two earlier games, the Toreros dropped Mather Air Force Base in a League game, 75-57, and swamped the San Francisco Marines, 88-50.

Winners and runners-up were given an opportunity of selecting their own awards—records, clothing, appliances, etc.—according to price limits set for the various standings.

Letterman Keglers Meet Fairfield Airmen In Crucial League Game

Last night Letterman Army Hospital keggers faced Fairfield Air Force Station on the LAH alleys in a crucial match which could decide whether the locals grab the NorCal Military Sports Association crown. No results were available at press time.

By splitting, 2-2, last week with league leading Two Rock Ranch station, Letterman stayed half a point out of first place. Under the NCMSA scoring set-up, a four-game victory is worth one point and a tie, half a point to each team.

Colonel Karl Woodman took LAH individual honors with a 503-208; on his heels was Sp2 Mel Oliver, with 494-191.

Going into last night's tilt, Letterman carried a 23½-6½ won-loss record. Next Thursday's meeting at Sacramento Signal Depot will bring the league season to a close.

READY FOR ACTION, at least in the field of community relations, is this full scale model of the versatile Hawk missile. Constructed by the Army Exhibit Unit, Cameron Station, Va., the 16-foot missile is slated to tour schools in this area. Giving it the proud once-over are members of the Community Relations Division, Sixth Army Information Section, Capt. Edward P. Endres, M/Sgt. Donald L. Hawkins and Mrs. Esther Montooth.

Full Scale Model Hawk Will Tour Bay Schools

The Sixth Army gained another first last week as a full scale model of the new Hawk Missile was delivered to the Presidio.

Constructed by the US Army Exhibit Unit, Cameron Station, Va., and sent here by the Dept. of the Army, the 16-foot model is the first of its kind west of the Mississippi, and is to be used for displays and in conjunction with Bay Area school assemblies.

During the programs, planned by Community Relations Div. of the Sixth Army Information Sec., the Hawk and other missile models will be used to stress their growing importance to the world, and to tell the young people just what the Army has done in the missile field.

Sponsoring the assemblies, which will include music by the Sixth Army Band, are San Francisco Jr. ROTC units.

Although the model will only be in the Bay Area for a short time, plans are underway to build a duplicate here for use in parades, special events, and to help educate the general public on the Army's role in the guided missile story.

The life size model, described by a member of the Information Section as "just right for showing off," has a bright red nose cone and stands on a movable base which

Alaska Sets Legal Voting Age At 19

Washington (AFPS)—The legal voting age for servicemen and citizens claiming residency in Alaska has been established at 19, according to the state Attorney General.

Under the constitution adopted last August by the nation's 49th state, eligible members of the armed forces 19 years or older may vote either at the polls or by absentee ballot in the coming Nov. 25 election.

In Alaska's first vote for state officials and representatives to Congress, absentee ballots must be postmarked no later than the date of election. Application for these ballots may be made up to four days prior to Nov. 25.

The only other states or U.S. territories permitting residents to vote before they reach 21 years are Georgia, Kentucky and Guam, where the legal age is 18.

Fact Sheets On New MPV System Go To Major Commanders

Washington (ANS) — The Army has just forwarded to its Major Commanders a fact sheet on the new Military Pay Voucher System, which says that anyone who can add or subtract simple figures can easily check his own military pay vouchers each month.

"All the necessary information is on the form itself," says the publication, which was furnished for use in informing Army personnel more fully about the new system. However the fact sheet warns, "If you think there is an error on your MPV, double check and triple check your figures before reporting it to the unit commander!"

According to the publication, the new system will take effect January 1, and has these advantages:

- The individual's unit personnel office will maintain in one file all the information needed for computing pay.
- Each pay-day, the soldier will receive a copy of his pay voucher for his own records.
- With his individual financial data records folder or competent orders, a soldier who is in travel status or otherwise detached from a parent unit, can draw his pay from any Army finance office.
- The new system employs more efficient modern accounting and auditing techniques.

First Bay Area Troops To Complete Hercules Training Course Back

Members of A Battery, 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery, were welcomed home this week after becoming the first Bay Area group to complete Nike-Hercules training at Fort Bliss, Tex.

On hand to greet the men were Col. Burton Beam, Commanding Officer of the 2d Battalion; Col. Iver Peterson, Commanding Officer of the 30th Group, and the Sixth Army Band.

Among the returning "heroes" were Capt. Roy Goshier, Battery Commander; 2d Lt. Andrew Foster, IFC Officer; 2d Lt. James F. Heantherne, Launcher Area Officer; CWO Peter J. Boahn, Chief of Launcher Assembly and Maintenance Crew; Sfc. Hoover C. Lemmons, Electronics Materials Maintenance Man, and Sfc. Garland Silvers, also an Electronics Materials Maintenance Man.

Others in the group included CWO John S. Howell, M/Sgt. Marvin Brimmer and M/Sgt. Hubert Lambeth.

Set Award Nomination Deadline In December

The Secretary of the Army will nominate an employee, either military or civilian, for consideration for the 1959 William A. Jump Memorial Award. This award is presented annually to an employee of the Federal Government who is contributing outstanding service because of unusual competence, integrity, interest and sustained high level performance in the field of public administration.

The award includes a gold key and certificate of merit. The Foundation will grant, in addition to the principal award, three honorable mention awards each year. This award will be a special honorary certificate and citation.

Any military or civilian employee of the Federal Government who has not passed his or her

Former Dutch Soldier Wins Reserve Rank

Private First Class Herman A. Cellose of the 30th Engineer Battalion has been awarded a reserve commission as a Second Lieutenant in the US Army Corps of Engineers. Pfc Cellose has served 13 months in the US Army.

Born in Amsterdam, Herman's family moved to Indonesia when he was only a few months old. With the Japanese invasion of Indonesia during the Second World War, Herman was sent to a concentration camp where he remained for three years until war's end.

In 1946, he returned to Holland and was graduated from college in 1953, majoring in mechanical design. He was then drafted into the Dutch Army and spent the following two years attached to an infantry tactical demonstration unit where he attained the rank of Sergeant.

After completing his tour of duty in Holland, Herman came to the United States where he felt there was more opportunity to make a living. He was drafted in October 1957, and took basic training at Fort Ord. Placed under the Army S&P Program, Herman now serves in the 99th Engineer Company in the layout section.

A former Battalion Soldier of the Month, Pfc Cellose plans to apply for active duty as a second lieutenant.

Dallas, Tex. (ANS)—Air Force Secretary James H. Douglas, addressing the Air Force Association, praised the Army Nike-Hercules as "the most effective surface-to-air missile in operational units today."

Red Canyon, N. M. (ANS)—A Nike Ajax unit from Kaiserslautern, Germany has bettered the already superlative firing records of Air Defense missile units from CONUS and Europe. The 2d Missile Battalion of the 56th Artillery, racked up a perfect score of 12 "kills" out of 12 possibilities during its annual service practice here.

Washington (ANS)—The Army Reservist reports that as of September 1st, there were over 1100 Reserve officers assigned or attached to 60 USAR Research and Development units in 28 states.

Since 1 January 1958 ten new units have been organized, and an additional ten are expected to be authorized before the end of 1958.

Dateline... Army

Washington (ANS) — ARMY (The magazine of the Association of the United States Army) reports in its November issue that the Army will continue its program of separating from the service those soldiers who are unable to handle the complex jobs of today's Army.

"During the past year," the magazine says, "the Army has given early discharges to 70,000 men."

The discharge of ineffective men from Army rolls has already resulted in an over-all improvement in the level of training, job performance, behavior, and has caused a major upward trend in voluntary participation in elementary education courses, according to ARMY.

Washington (ANS)—The Army Recruiting Service secured more than 95,000 enlistments for the Active Army during the last fiscal year. This was done by some 2000 United States Army Recruiters located in almost 1000 civilian communities in the United States.

Tests This Month

Newest Cargo Vessel

Washington (AFPS)—The very latest in shallow-draft cargo vessels, the 338-foot Lieutenant Colonel John U. D. Page, will undergo shakedown tests off the West Coast in November.

The Army said the new vessel, designated BDL (Beach Discharge Lighter) 1-X, would later conduct tests on the East Coast with the Navy's new roll-on-roll-off ship, the USNS Comet.

Designed to complement the Comet, the ship can receive loaded truck trailers and other wheeled vehicles at sea and transport them ashore in areas where fixed port facilities are not available.

To transfer wheeled cargo at sea the vessels are held in a stern-to-stern position by hydraulic cables while the exchange is made over special stern ramps. Cargo can also be received at sea from conventional transports.

The new lighter is 65 feet wide and can discharge cargo on the beach in depths as shallow as four feet. Powered by two 110-h.p. diesel engines, it is equipped with the latest navigational aids including a radio direction finder, Loran, fathometer and surface radar.

The new ship was built by the National Steel and Shipbuilding Corp., San Diego, Calif. It was named in honor of an Army officer who was awarded the Medal of Honor posthumously for heroic action in Korea.

Army Chief Says:

Individual Is Key

Washington (ANS) — General Maxwell D. Taylor has again emphasized that in this era of continuing world tensions confronting our Nation, the Army regards the individuals who compose it as its most important and valuable asset with which to meet the challenge of the future.

Writing on "Meeting the Challenge" (which recently appeared in a pamphlet prepared by the Missile and Space Vehicle Department of the General Electric Company's Defense Electronics Division—especially for distribution to certain members of AUSA) the Army's Chief of Staff stated it is a basic Army belief that man himself remains the fundamental and ultimately decisive instrument of war.

"This fact is particularly true as the new weapons and materials from our expanding technology, together with the conditions of the modern battlefield, impose greater demands on the soldier than ever before," the General said.

The manner in which the members of the Army worldwide are satisfying these demands should be a source of enduring pride to all Americans, General Taylor declared; then commented:

"As future weapons are evolved to strengthen further our national security, the Army will continue to offer within its ranks unexcelled opportunity for men of leadership and technical skills."

"With men of this character supported by the most modern instruments of battle," he concluded, "the Army stands ready to play its part in keeping the peace through the deterrence of war."

Army Officers' Sons Win Try At Top Scholarships

National scholastic honors were awarded the sons of two 6th Region US Army Air Defense officers this month which may lead to scholarships at the universities of their choice.

Competing with some 40,000 students eligible for the merit scholarships on a nationwide basis, David G. McFeely and David E. Grambort, both 17 years old, are two of 22 students in the San Francisco area chosen to face final examinations for their scholarships early in December. The exams will be given by the College Entrance Board of the University of San Francisco.

The boys are seniors at the Lick-Wilmerding High School in San Francisco. Both students said they intend to study medicine. McFeely prefers Stanford University and Grambort the University of Michigan.

McFeely is the son of Col. Henry G. McFeely, until recently the Assistant Chief of Staff, G-1, of 6th Region. He is currently enroute to his new assignment in Korea.

Grambort's father is Lt. Col. Everett A. Grambort, Chief of the National Guard Division, 6th Region.

Close friends, the two students differed in their academic scores by only one-tenth of a point in McFeely's favor. They hold B averages and both are on the varsity football squad. Grambort is also a varsity baseball player and McFeely a varsity tennis player.

Army Historical Note: General Washington delivered the farewell address to his officers at France's Tavern in New York City, December 4, 1783.

Warning: Whenever conditions seem favorable, Communists are ready to use their military might to conquer other areas — They demonstrated this in Korea and Indochina, to point to but two examples!

Another Army First: The first successful inertially guided firing of a complete U.S.-developed large ballistic missile (The Redstone) was in December 1955.

"Courage on the battlefield is the greatest possible single factor in the winning of battles and the waging of wars," —General Raymond S. McLain.

Minute Editorial: "Our responsibility for maintaining justice for all is easily understood if we are willing to think in terms of the obligations that accompany our rights," says DA Pamphlet 16-5. "Too often soldiers think only in terms of their rights. Too often young soldiers suspect all efforts to make them responsible for the fulfilling of obligations a bungling interference with their rights. Obligations have, for a long time, been a normal part of the equipment of man. Obligations are the normal equipment of the Army. Recognize the fact!"

A Year Ago This Month: The first air defense missile fire coordination system became operational. It was the MISSILE MASTER, operational in Washington-Baltimore defense.

Space Agency Sets Sights On Mars Orb In Next Two Years

Washington (AFPS) — An upper-stage rocket engine with power to hurl a satellite of several thousand pounds into orbit—possibly around Mars—will be built for projected U.S. space shots.

Design and development of the liquid-fueled, high-energy engine has been authorized by the Advanced Research Projects Agency for use with a modified Atlas ICBM as the first stage of the launching vehicle.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration disclosed proposed plans for shoots to Mars and Venus—earth's "other near-neighbors"—in the next year or two at a briefing on current IGY lunar probes.

A contract to design and develop the engine has been awarded the Pratt & Whitney Division of United Aircraft Corp. Initial expenditures will be $9 million with estimated cost of the complete program running about $23 million.

what they said

Ah, Sweet Memories of Life . . . somewhere along the line, looking into the past, we can all say that and believe it. But among those visions, is there, we were wondering, anything outstanding? So this week we asked

The Question: What day has been the most pleasant day of your life?

ANSWERS

Albert Buckles, Scheduled Airlines Representative: I don't know if I can answer that. It's a rough question. I guess the most pleasant day of my life was when I was a boot in the Navy. I was 18 and we got to Hawaii. I'd never seen anything like that before. I was very impressed. We anchored off Lahina Roads on Maui. That was the first time I'd ever been out of the United States. I thought it was beautiful, exactly what I imagined. I haven't been back since 1943, and I don't think I'd like to go back because now I imagine it would look like Miami Beach.

Pvt. Darral Swanson, Post Commissary Aide: I guess the most pleasant day of my life was the day I joined the Army. It was a new experience. I learned more about weapons and California weather. I don't know why I like to remember that day. I needed something to do, so I just went down and joined up. I joined in Los Angeles, then went to Fort Ord and Fort Sam Houston, been in a year and a half. Yeah. I guess that was the most pleasant day of my life.

Lt. Col. O. J. Vogl, G3, Hqs. XV Corps: In the most recent years, I'd say it was the day I returned from Korea. I'd been there 16 months. We docked downtown, and I can remember walking down that gangplank, tickled to death to be reunited with my family. I guess the last mile home was the longest mile. That was my fourth overseas tour. Each one had been a harder separation. This seemed to be the worst of all. I feel my children are at an age now when they need both parents.

Pvt. Jeannine Miller, Cook in "C" Co. mess hall: The day I came to California following graduation from cooking school, was a day I'll never forget. Nothing much happened, but it was exciting to be doing something I'd dreamed of for a long time. All my life in Reading, Penn., I had heard of the glamour of this beautiful state. I imagined movie stars standing on every corner, handsome men everywhere I went, and of course I thought Hollywood would have the traditional "streets paved with gold." Even though I have found that all of these things are not the complete truth, I am not sorry I came here, and I can honestly say that California has lived up to my every expectation.

ADC High Netters Slate Prep Games; Set Tourney Play

San Francisco-Travis Army Air Defense Command champion volleyballers from 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, will meet San Francisco Central "Y" tonight and go to Travis Air Force Base tomorrow for practice sessions prior to the opening of the 6th ARADCOM tourney here next Friday.

Teams from the Los Angeles and Seattle areas will clash with the 4th Battalion at Letterman Army Hospital gym 28 November through 2 December.

The men of the 4th Battalion will go in the tournament as favorites to cop their fourth straight 6th ARADCOM title, but coach M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio anticipates trouble from Los Angeles.

"I have heard through the grapevine that they are strong," M/Sgt. Ignacio said, "and I know they are coached by an official of the National Volleyball Association." The 4th Battalion coach, a veteran of 15 years as player and coach, also is an official in the association. The 4th won the all-ARADCOM crown in 1957.

21st, 537th Will Meet For Post Championship

The Presidio touch football crown was in the balance yesterday afternoon when two "surprise" squads—the 21st and the 537th Engineers—tangled for the third time during the post-season, four team double elimination championship play.

Results were not available at press time, but the 26 November issue of the Star Presidian will carry full details of this major clash.

The 21st six, Post champions last year and Number One team in the Engineer League this year, earned its final berth the hard way. After dropping a 13-12 thriller to the 537th in first round tourney play, the 21st topped Letterman Army Hospital, edged Sixth Army and walloped the 537th, 39-7, to force a third meeting with its Ft. Scott rivals.

The 537th scored victories over the 21st and Sixth Army. Some 300 fans braved fog and rain to watch the 21st top Sixth Army, 25-20, in a see-saw battle to earn a crack at the 537th. Sixth Army drew first blood seven plays after the opening kickoff when quarterback Pvt. Bill Chapman fired in the end zone to Sp4 Myron Bromberg from 10 yards out on fourth down. Four

The 21st jumped ahead, 19-13, in the third period when Ed Kornaga intercepted a Chapman throw and raced 17 yards to the goal line. Sixth Army took a 1 point lead, 20-19, when Pvt. Chapman ran 10 yards for a score and converted on a pass to Sp4 Bromberg. In the waning minutes of the game, Kornaga snagged another Chapman pass, this time on the Sixth Army 20, and weaved his way to the winning tally.

Dumping the 537th, 39-7, the 21st scored two in the first period, one in the second, one in the third and two in the fourth. The hit for three conversions. Pfc. Davenport and Sp4 Shultz proved to be the big offensive guns.

The 537th collected its single marker in the third period when Sp4 Arnold Wickham broke loose on a 50-yard run for the TD and added the PAT by hitting Pfc. Dan Marcus in the end zone. ## Lo, the poor crystal ball man!

Defenestrates Equipment

Sports editors have tough necks—they need them.

But, for the time being, anyway, the Star Presidian sports editor has decided to quit sticking his out by predicting football standings.

He has thrown away Ye Olde Crystal Ball.

When the 21st and 537th Engineers met yesterday (scores not available at press time) for the Post championship, the Presidio pundit was torn between suicide and confession.

As a predictor, he's terrible. Here's the record.

10 October—correctly picked Sixth Army to win Presidio League crown and Letterman Army Hospital to be runner-up; correctly picked the 537th to take second in the Engineer League; incorrectly named the Honor Guard as best bets for the Engineer League title, and was way off base by picking the 21st, actual champs, for third; made wild guess, wrong, of course, that Sixth Army would cop the Post crown.

7 November—picked Sixth Army to beat the 21st for a semifinal crack at the 537th—21st won, 25-20.

When asked to pick the winner of yesterday's 21st-537th clash, he screamed for five minutes and had to be restrained from following his crystal ball out of the window. (W.H.)

4th Msle Bn Footballers Grab Air Defense Crown

Down and almost out . . .

Tough footballers of the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, last week bounced back from a 7-6 trimming from a husky 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery squad to one day later squash their would-be vanquishers, 39-7, and snatch the 1958 San Francisco-Travis Army Air Defense Command grid-iron crown.

Both teams previously had dumped the 1st Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery—the 4th Battalion, by 21-7, and the 2d Battalion, by 7-0 in a "sudden death" overtime period.

In bulling to the title, the 4th Battalion staged a three-man show in the play-off at Ft. Baker field.

Allen Alexander, team captain and quarterback, ran and passed his victims crazy. On the receiving end of his aerials were Manuel Landis and Jim Sabus. The trio accounted for all the victors' tallies.

And two of them also turned in stellar defensive performances. Alexander and Landis both helped knock out the 1st Battalion in an earlier game by snatching an enemy pass and returning it for TD. In that game Alexander also returned a kickoff for a score.

Col. Iver A. Peterson, 30th Artillery Group Commander, presented the 4th Battalion with the winner's trophy in brief ceremonies on the playing field after the championship game.

ADS Keglers Upset Favored Recruiters; Keystone Kops Tied

A tremendous upset this week lived Monday night bowling in the "nip-n-tuck" Presidio League. A three-way battle for the top spot dwindled by one as a surprising San Francisco Army Air Defense School five shutout the high flying Recruiters, 4-0.

Here is how the first three teams stacked up going into this week's matches. The Shafters were out in front with a record of 27-13; but close on their heels were the Keystone Kops and the Recruiters, tied for second with 26-14 each.

This week the Kops picked up four and the Shafters, only three, to knot them in first with 30-14. The Recruiters, though in second place, fell back to 26-18.

The five SFAADS giant-killers who helped untangle the championship race, while still buried in the cellar with 11-33, were Charles Swingle, whose 496-185 was tops for the victors; Keith Ashbury, Norman Wilcox, Joseph Brownell, and William Schweikhard.

The Keystone Kops used the Islanders as a stepping stone into the first place tie with the Shafters. Behind Alba's 617-216, the Kops blanked the fourth-place Islanders, 4-0. Best bowler for the losers was Saito, 509-198.

Muffing a chance to stay at the top of the heap, the Shafters could take only a 3-1 decision from sixth place 60th CI Detachment. DuBois, 583-222, and Kirtley, 521-198, were high men for the respective teams.

The third place Alley Rats downed the fifth place King Pins, 3-1, behind the 516-204 of Iwai. Bowlds, with 505-179, proved best for the Pins.

In the seventh week of action in the 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery League, the A Battery Beerkeglers forged into the lead with a 4-0 shutout over the Missleasters from C Battery.

Top kegler in the key match was Pfc. Jonathan Alee, who, in pacing the winners, broke one league record and tied another. With his 614-234, he set a new high series and tied for high game.

Behind the Beerkeglers, the other teams stand in this order: Guided Muscles, C Btry.; Chabot Lakers, A Btry.; Eightballers, Hq. Btry.; Missleasters, C Btry.; Space Dogs, Hq. Btry.; Ridge-runners, B Btry.; and Ridge Rocks, B Btry.

League in individual average (179), led the winners with 595-203, 208. Big gun for the Rollers was Routen, 540-192.

The top bowler, Mahon (181), helped lead Garrison out of the cellar with a 3-1 win over the sixth place Triple Aces. Mahon posted 617-235, while best for the opposition was Fillmer's 468-173.

Sixth Army Signal dropped three points to the third place JAGS and finished the evening at the bottom of the heap. McAfee's 542-200 for the JAGS helped bump the losers into last place, though Dennis of Signal tried to forestall the inevitable by rolling a strong 520-193.

Sixth Army Headquarters Company and MRU finished in a 2-2 draw, with Andersen's 540-181 tops for MRU and Wolfman's 510-205 leading Sixth Army.

In the Pacific League, the leading Sixth Army Headquarters Company Number 2 quint increased their margin by dropping rival Number 3 team from second to third place with a 3-1 victory. Whall was high man for the winners with 488-180, while Alban had 498-172 for the losers.

The AAA Sparks vaulted into second by sweeping 4-0 past the last place Hilltoppers. Schmidt led the Sparks with 500-178;

Johnson rolled 469-164 for the Toppers.

The Regioners pulled into a fourth place tie with the Warrants by downing them, 3-1. Niles had a 537-213 for the Regioners and Delaney headed the Warrants with 533-205.

The fifth place Retorts took three out of four from the Missleers, who are lodged in the cellar with the Hilltoppers. Carmer, 512-201, and Monk, 417-190, took honors for the respective teams.

The 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery League standing took a radical change this week.

Headquarters Battery took over undisputed first place, while A Battery jumped from last to second place in the four team league. C Battery slid from a tie for first to third, and B Battery skidded one notch from third to the cellar.

Headquarters ushered B Battery to the bottom by taking 4 straight behind a 534-200 by Walkley. Alexander was high for the losers with 467-172.

Short handed A Battery, bowling with a blind, beat a more short handed C Battery, with two blinds, 4-0. McClellan paced the winners, 506-190, while Sadler was best for the losers, 487-165.

Army Wins Coveted Chief Keynotes 38th Meet Award In National Of Women's Overseas Club Suggestion Progr'm

Washington (ANS)—Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker has received on behalf of the United States Army a coveted award from the National Association of Suggestion Systems for "the most improved Suggestion Program among its member governmental agencies."

During this last fiscal year, Army employees submitted 206 suggestions for each 1000 employees (in connection with Project Paydirt). Mr. Brucker, noting the achievements, said, "The record shows that during this period one of every thirteen employees earned a cash or honorary award for a constructive idea or superior work performance. In addition, one of every five received a letter of commendation."

"To those of you who earned such recognition I extend my congratulations," he wrote. "I am confident that in the future all of you will not only sustain past levels of performance, but will also continue to submit your ideas for the improvement of the Army's operating efficiency."

During FY 1957, the Army received an award for "The Excellence of its Suggestion Program," but participation in the program this year increased 41% which fact was considered when the Army's program was found "the year's most improved."

QM Sends Out Call For Space Age Dogs

Washington (AFPS)—The space age has created a new military demand for German police dogs to patrol U.S. missile sites.

The Army Quartermaster Corps has started a drive to buy 1,000 German Shepherds—proved the keenest sentry dogs in WWII and Korea—for Army and Air Force missile installations.

First of many dogs to be needed for security duty during the next few years, the animals will be trained at a canine center operated for the two services at Lackland AFB, San Antonio, Texas.

Acceptable German Shepherds, the Army said, must be nine months to three years old, weigh 60 to 90 pounds and be any inconspicuous color except white.

Four Here Win Supergrades One Gains Proficiency Pay

The first four promotions to E-8 of Master Sergeants assigned to TD units on the Post went to Ferdinand Johnston, Sergeant Major of Headquarters, Presidio of San Francisco; James T. Heard, Sergeant Major of the 30th Engineer Bn.; George S. Van Kirk, 1st Sergeant of the Sixth U. S. Army Honor Guard; and William T. Stahl, 1st Sergeant of 'C' Co., Army Garrison.

M/Sgt. Johnston entered the service from Virginia in 1938; was at Schofield Barracks, Hawaii when the Japanese attacked. He served with the 25th Infantry Division through the War in the Pacific and in China-Burma-India Theater. The occupation days found M/Sgt. Johnston in Japan and during the Korean War he served again with the 25th Inf. Div. as Chief Clerk of GI Section. He arrived at the Presidio in February 1954.

M/Sgt. Heard entered the service from Georgia in 1939. He served with G3, Headquarters ETOUSA, in London from 17 January 1942 to 3 February 1943 when he received his commission and assigned to the 115th Inf. Regt., 29th Div. He retired in 1946 as a Captain, Infantry, but enlisted again in 1947, serving with the 30th Engineer Bn. at Schofield Barracks, Hawaii and duty with ROTC at the University of Hawaii. M/Sgt. Heard came to the Presidio in February 1956 after serving in the Philippines and Okinawa.

M/Sgt. Van Kirk entered the service from Maryland in 1943. During World War II he served as Forward Observer with the 3d Armored Field Artillery Bn., 9th Armored Div. and as 1st Sergeant of the 11th Tank Co., both in Europe. He was also an instructor at the Tank School, US Army Europe. M/Sgt. Van Kirk arrived in the Presidio in August 1954 from Athens, Greece where he served as Sergeant Major of the Joint US Military Advisory Group-Greece.

M/Sgt. Stahl entered the service from Pennsylvania in 1941. Starting his Army career as a recruit with the 'A' Co., of the 31st Engineer Combat Regt., he became 1st Sergeant in 1943. During World War II M/Sgt. Stahl served with the 61st Engineer Combat Bn. and 1132d Engineer Combat Bp. in Europe. He came to the Presidio in 1953 serving with the 30th Engr. Gp. and 561st Engineer Port Const. Co. until 1956 when after a year's tour in Korea he came back to the Presidio in November 1957.

Another happy man this week is M/Sgt. Fred W. Schlicker as he became the first NCO at the Presidio to be awarded Army Proficiency Pay. M/Sgt. Schlicker is the Post Telephone Wire Chief and a member of 'C' Co., Army Garrison.

A veteran of over twenty years' service, M/Sgt. Schlicker entered the service from Oklahoma in 1937 and is presently serving his fourth tour at the Presidio. First arriving here in 1939 and serving one year, he returned in 1950 and then again in 1952 after a year's tour in Korea. Now assigned with 'C' Co. since July 1956, M/Sgt. Schlicker hopes to go for 30 right here, where he calls his home.

A native of Lubbock, Texas, Pfc. Harp attended Texas Technical College and received a Bachelor's degree in architecture in 1957. Upon his induction into the armed forces, he received basic training at Fort Carson and then spent eight weeks at Fort Ord prior to his present assignment. Upon separation from the service next year, Pfc. Harp plans to work in Dallas, Texas, as an architect.

Army Wins National Safety Council Award Fifth Year

The Army, in lowering accident rates nearly 19 per cent during 1957-58, has won the National Safety Council's Award of honor for the fifth consecutive year.

Chartered by Congress as an independent organization to promote safety, the council annually cites government agencies and industrial firms for marked improvement in accident prevention.

The Army has had the distinction of earning the NSC's highest award for 13 of the past 15 years.

During Fiscal Year 1958, personnel of the Sixth U.S. Army conducting military operations were involved in 2,384 accidents, both on and off duty, a reduction of 7 per cent over the previous year. Army-wide figures for the same period show 44,500 accidents, a reduction of 13 per cent.

The Army's military vehicle frequency rate for the 1957-58 period dropped from 1.5 to 1.2 accidents for each 100,000 miles of driving, or a cut of 19 per cent, while in the Sixth U.S. Army area motor vehicle accidents dropped from 1.5 to 1.1 for each 100,000 miles, or a cut of 26 per cent.

Thanksgiving Edition Will End School Bus Service Next Month

A further tightening of the Army's economic waistline, this week, has forced officials here to discontinue bus service to and from San Francisco schools for dependents of military personnel living on the Presidio of San Francisco. Cutoff date has been set as 20 December.

In a personal letter to military parents, Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Presidio Commanding Officer, stated,

"This action has been taken with great reluctance, and only after careful consideration of all other alternatives. A drastic reduction in the resources available to this command to accomplish its missions has made it mandatory that this desirable service be eliminated in order that more essential missions can be accomplished with the limited resources remaining."

In his letter, Col. Ratliff pointed out that members of his staff would assist in every way possible "to alleviate any personal problem which this action may create."

Fund Raising Chief To Address Military And Civilian Leaders

William H. Coulson, Executive Director of the President's Committee on Fund Raising within the Federal Services, will be guest speaker at a no-host luncheon in the Empire Room of the Fairmont Hotel today at noon. He is the guest of the United Bay Area Crusade.

Military commanders and department heads of Federal installations and bureaus in Northern California as well as representatives of Government Employee associations and United Crusade leaders will be on hand.

Cordiner Plan Revisited; DOD Follows Through Housing, Pay Still Key Items Under Discussion

Washington (AFPS)—Cordiner pay panel members returned to the Pentagon last week for a tally of improvements in career military and civilian service stemming from recommendations in the committee's highly publicized 1957 report. Formed as the Defense Advisory Committee on Professional and Technical Compensation with Ralph J. Cordiner as chairman in 1956, the 12-member group completed an extensive study of personnel practices in the Armed Forces with suggestions in May of the following year for changes and new legislation to better conditions for servicemen and Civil Service employees.

The present meeting was called at the invitation of Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy for a run-down on results and a follow-through on the former committee's report.

Defense officials summarized the action taken as "fully implementing" 10 of the 16 recommendations made for military personnel. These include the new pay system, the added E-8 and E-9 enlisted grades, officer grades O-9 and O-10, elimination of longevity pay increases beyond normal promotion periods, selected promotions to the enlisted super grades, increased use of re-training programs to balance strengths in military skills, extended service for flying trainees and other officers receiving specialized training, wider use of government subsidized education programs, and establishment of the proficiency pay plan.

Two other recommendations were submitted to the last Congress as Defense legislation. These were the Career Officers Personnel Management Bill and the Reserve Officers Term Retention Bill. Although neither measure made headway in Armed Services Committee hearings, both will be re-introduced early in the first session of the 86th Congress, the panel members were told.

Under study by the Defense Department are the Cordiner Report proposals for:

- Military pay scales adjustable to a national economy index—the Defense Department is searching for a means to compile an index appropriate to military personnel. Officials explained that current indices do not meet the requirement but suitable interim data for developing an index may be obtained from the Department of Commerce. If this information does not meet the need, however, an index based upon special Labor Department surveys will be reconsidered.

- More housing for military families with quarters allowances linked to a rental-cost index—the housing program is progressing at Chief of Staff and local Army Commander, on matters of mutual interest to the Army and the public.

GOING UP in grade and special pay are five master sergeants. Here being congratulated by Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Presidio Commanding Officer, are M/Sgt. Schlicker (1 to r.) M/Sgt. Stahl, M/Sgt. Johnston, M/Sgt. Heard, and M/Sgt. Stahl. M/Sgt. Schlicker is the first at the Presidio to be awarded proficiency pay (P-1), the other 'Tops' earned promotions to E-8. (See Story on page 8)

5 Sixth Army Soldiers To Nuclear Power Plant

Five of the soldiers accepted for training in the third cycle of the Army's Nuclear Power Program were selected from Sixth US Army's 16 applicants.

To report to Ft. Belvoir, Va., no later than 9 January for the first six months' phase of the year training period will be:

Master Sergeant Edward L. Wright, C Btry., 1st FA Bn., 20th Arty., and Sfc. William H. Loomis, Med. Det., 51st Field Hosp., both of Fort Lewis, Wash.; Sfc. Edgar L. Jones, C Co., 8th BG, 3d Brig., Fort Ord, Calif.; Sfc. Gordon J. Stolla, Hq. Everett Area Comnd., Wash., Sec., X U.S.A. Corps (Res.), Fort Lawton, Wash.; and Sp5 Robert D. Meyer, SigC Met. Tm. 1, Yuma Test Sta., Yuma, Ariz.

The course is designed to furnish nuclear power plant operators, maintenance personnel and cadre supervisors and instructors for the crews of future nuclear power plants.

Training is in two phases, each of six months. The first, to begin 15 January, will be basic instruction at Fort Belvoir in nuclear power plant technology.

The second section is operational training at either the Army Package Power Reactor at Fort Belvoir or the Argonne Low Power Reactor at Idaho Falls, Ida.

Upon completion of training, graduates will be assigned to the operational or instructor staff at the two reactors or at a new reactor scheduled for construction at a permanent installation in Alaska.

Applications were submitted from the following installations in Sixth Army (with numbers in parenthesis):

Presidio of San Francisco (2),

Fort Lewis (5), Yuma Test Station (2), X U.S.A. Corps (Res.) (1), Camp Hanford (1), Fort Ord (5).

CO Returns From Special Hercules Course At Bliss

Colonel Thomas F. Bristol has resumed command of the 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery, after a 10 weeks' absence to complete a special officers' Nike-Hercules Transition Course at Fort Bliss, Texas.

Colonel Burton T. Beam, 2d Battalion Commander during Col. Bristol's absence, has moved to the Executive Officer spot at 29th Artillery Group (Air Defense) at Travis Air Force Base.

Also resuming their commands after absences in connection with Nike-Hercules training are Capt. Roy Y. Higashi, A Battery Commander, and Capt. Glen E. Zile, Battalion S3.

New Class Grads

Individual Training Class No. 3 will be graduated Saturday during ceremonies at the Ft. Scott Chapel, beginning at 1000.

Guest speaker will be Col. Edward B. Hempstead, Chief of Staff of XV U. S. Army Corps.

Chinese Army Head Will Tour Military Installations Here

Washington (ANS) — General P'eng Meng-chi'i (Army Commander-in-Chief of the Republic of China) this week begins a month's tour of U. S. military installations.

During his visit in Washington, General P'eng will receive briefings and pay protocol calls on Defense and Army officials. He will visit the Nike site at Fairfax, Virginia; Fort Belvoir, Virginia; and Aberdeen Proving Ground, Maryland.

Other installations on his itinerary include: Headquarters U. S. Continental Army Command, Fort Monroe, Virginia; U. S. Military Academy, West Point, New York; Fort Knox, Kentucky; Ordnance Tank Automotive Command, Detroit, Michigan; Fort Benning, Georgia; Fort Bliss, Texas; Fort Sill, Oklahoma; Command and General Staff College, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas; Headquarters, Sixth U. S. Army, Presidio of San Francisco, California and the Army Language School, Monterey, California.

Infantry Conference Is Planned For 2-6 Dec.

Ft. Benning, Ga. (AFPS)—The future role of the Infantry in national defense is the theme of the worldwide U.S. Army Infantry Conference here 2-6 Dec.

More than 200 of the Army's most distinguished leaders of both past and present will spend a week of intensive study to establish the future position of the infantryman.

Silver Star Winning Chaplain Also On List

Friday's retreat parade, at 1600 hours on the main parade ground, will honor two especially distinguished members of the Army family on the cue of their departure from service. They are Colonel Burton F. Ellis, until recently Staff Judge Advocate for U.S. Army, Pacific, with headquarters in Hawaii; and Lieutenant Colonel Theodore E. Curtis, Jr., post chaplain at the Presidio since August, 1957.

The senior officer, Colonel Ellis, has completed over 30 years of duty. The 55-year-old native of Idaho is a graduate of the University of Idaho, and has studied law at the University of California, the University of Southern California, and at New York University.

During World War II, the Colonel saw duty with the Army Air Force in the Pacific, then served in Europe as a prosecutor during the war trials and as Chief of Operations for investigation of war crimes. With the beginning of the Korean conflict, Colonel Ellis went to Korea as Judge Advocate for the 2nd Infantry Division and later for I Corps in 1950-51.

From 1951-55 Col. Ellis was Chairman of the Board of Review in the office of the Judge Advocate General and Chief of the Defense Appellate Branch. In 1955, he received his assignment to the Pacific. Col. Ellis and his wife, Dee, plan to travel following his retirement, then to live in Merced, Calif.

Lieutenant Colonel (Chaplain) Theodore E. Curtis, the Presidio's Silver Star-winning chaplain, will also complete a total of 30 years' active and Reserve service during the Friday ceremonies. Chaplain Curtis, an ordained minister of the Church of Latter Day Saints, is a native of Salt Lake City, Utah.

The Colonel came to the Presidio from an assignment as Brigade Chaplain of the 32nd AAA Brigade Headquarters in London, England. Prior to that he served as deputy chaplain to the Seventh Army Headquarters in Germany. In the Far East, he served as U.S. Base Chaplain in Kobe, Japan, with World War II assignments as Division Chaplain to the 40th Infantry Division, in the South Pacific. Colonel Curtis was awarded the Silver Star for gallantry in action.

A married son, a former Marine, is currently studying for a doctor's degree in Psychology at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor. A daughter resides in Mesa, Ariz., with her husband, a Navy surgeon. Chaplain Curtis and his wife Violet will travel for a time following his retirement, then plan to reside in Berkeley, Calif.

Also retiring on Friday, but not participating in the ceremonies, will be: M/Sgt. Frederick A. Butcher, M/Sgt. Clifford A. Matson, M/Sgt. Harlan Steel, and Sergeant First Class Israel Rumbaoa.

Army Tests 'Copter's Weightlifting Abilities

Ft. Rucker, Ala. (AFPS)—The Army's HU-1 Iroquois turbine-powered helicopter did some hefty weightlifting here recently.

In tests, the whirlybird picked up a 1,600-pound H-23 helicopter, a 1,900-pound L-19 airplane, a 2,000-pound load of crated ammunition and a 2,600-pound jeep.

The HU-1 moved horizontally at 60 knots while carrying each item.

The workout was part of Army Aviation user tests being conducted here by the Continental Army Command.

Warfare Course Reduced

Fort Bragg, N. C. (ANS)—The orientation courses of the Special Warfare School, here, have been reduced to one week's duration and scheduled to permit officers to take either the Special Forces or the Psychological Warfare Orientation Course on a one week basis, or both courses in a two week period.

The next scheduled Psychological Warfare Orientation Course (33-a-F1) begins February 8, 1958, with the Special Forces Orientation Course (33-G-F2) beginning February 15. Another Special Forces Course will commence June 14, 1958; followed by the Psy War Course on June 21.

Officer applications for attendance should be made as outlined in DA Pamphlet 20-21.

PLOTTING DIRE deeds and deep doings are Robert Hope, a noted comedian (center), Don Belding, Civilian Aide to the Secretary of the Army, and Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Commanding General, Sixth U.S. Army. Occasion was the presentation, in Los Angeles, of the AFL-CIO Murray Green Award to Hope for his contributions to hundreds of worthy causes and for the countless and selfless hours given to the entertainment of the Armed Forces in all parts of the world. The comedian will give the $5,000 award to UCLA for a scholarship commemorating writer Barney Dean.

Sixth Army Commander

It gives me great pleasure to extend to the members of the Sixth United States Army and to their families personal greetings and sincere wishes for a hearty and memorable holiday this Thanksgiving Day, 1958.

As we gather to observe the time honored observance of our forefathers on Thanksgiving Day, may we be united in our gratitude for the divine providence that has bestowed so many blessings upon us: our rights and privileges as Americans, the health of our loved ones and ourselves, the prosperity and abundance across the land.

Many among us will wish to pause in the day's festivities to pay tribute to Americans of another day, our fathers and forefathers, whose faith spurred the toil and sacrifice they poured into the building of our country and the creation of its present stature of world leadership.

We of the Sixth United States Army, like the men and women of the American Army everywhere, are dedicated to the preservation of that greatness in all its quality and strength. With divine guidance and the fullest exercise of our great capabilities and many blessings, may we, on this occasion, rededicate ourselves once more to serve our Nation so well that the many blessings which are our portion today, shall be enjoyed by future generations of Americans as their birthright, to be cherished by them and their descendants forever.

It's Your Life!

Hint to the Wise . . .

Major General John J. Binns, Sixth U. S. Army Chief of Staff, cautioned those planning holiday travel to be especially alert over this long weekend. In a letter to commanders throughout the Sixth Army area, General Binns stated:

● "The Thanksgiving Holiday weekend is approaching and the normal accelerated highway travel may be anticipated. Unfortunately, as indicated by past experience, death and injury will again be in the offing for many persons using the highways."

● "The results of concerted action at all echelons of command to reduce traffic accidents during the Fourth of July and Labor Day weekends were very gratifying. Commanders are to be congratulated on the fine accomplishments attained. I would like to point out, however, that highway mishaps, the frequency of which remains a serious challenge, still represent the leading type of accident in which personnel of this command are involved."

● "As this challenge can be surmounted only through continuous emphasis on safety indoctrination and education, it is desired that commanders again make special efforts toward this end. It is essential that personnel be thoroughly indoctrinated in driving behavior which will reduce the continued threat of this serious Army and National problem."

Armor Magazine

On Missile Mission

Washington (ANS)—Why is the Army in the missile field? ARMOR (the Magazine of Mobile Warfare, published under the auspices of the United States Armor Association) presenting a roundup of surface-to-surface missiles in its forthcoming November-December issue says:

"There is one basic reason why the Army is in this missile field, and why it is vitally concerned with the many aspects of missile development—The Army has the responsibility of ground combat and furthermore has been given the mission of executing the surface-to-air defense mission."

The Army family of missile systems is designed to live on the ground with the troops and render whatever support is required to win the battle, ARMOR's Editor wrote, then he added,

"Army missiles have one—and only one—mission: to support the ground soldier and his efforts in accomplishing his mission."

Washington (ANS)—The Army has just released its new Troop Topic Trainfire which describes DA's "first" course in individual rifle marksmanship.

Trainfire is the most radical change in rifle marksmanship training in more than 100 years, according to the pamphlet. The 78-hour course will help mold the rifleman for future combat in which he will still be a vital key.

The holiday that wasn't . . .

Across this broad, free land of ours
Tomorrow

Will gallop the Golden Palamino of Plenty
With Joy astride

He'll sweep cross field and hearth
And happy hearts

Will sing those harvest songs

In harmony

With family, friends and good company

That paeans

Man's bright hope in the provident land

He loves.

Oh, joyous feast! Oh, Gallant Horse! Race swiftly in the sun of time.

But, hush!

There falls the shadow of a specter

Pale horse, dark rider

Lost in the bright sunshine

Of happiness

Fearful phantom . . . waiting . . . waiting . . . waiting . . .

The careless heart

The reckless hand

The bleary eye

The heavy foot

The thoughtless deed

Will bring him to the scene

Full tilt

For Death—

Is a tireless rider!

First ROTC Civilian Wins Suggestion Cash

Lester A. Meyers, Supply Officer at the Army Reserve Center in San Jose, was presented a check for $75 by Major General John W. Harmony, XVth US Army Corps (Reserve) Commander, at the Presidio of San Francisco, as a result of the adoption of his suggestion for a new supply form.

Meyers suggested a form for Army Reserve unit allowances which expedites editing, reporting, costing, and estimating fund requirements for Army Reserve and ROTC units. The form replaces several which were needed for the same purpose, and saves approximately a thousand manhours per year.

The award was presented during a conference for Reserve Center Supply Officers of the XVth Corps, which includes Reserve offices in California, Arizona and Nevada. It was the first suggestion award made to a representative of an outlying Army Reserve Center.

The suggestion will be sent to Sixth US Army Headquarters for review and possible adoption by other Army Reserve Corps. If it is adopted elsewhere, Meyers will receive subsequent awards.

Minute Editorial: The idea of a classless society, which communism was supposed to put into effect, is today a grim joke in the Soviet Union. The select few who belong to the Party constitute a privileged class that enjoys vastly higher money incomes and more of the other benefits of life than the rest of the population.

CONARC Commander

On Thanksgiving Day, we Americans traditionally pause in the rush of everyday life to express our gratitude for the blessings we enjoy as a nation and as individuals. In doing so, we perpetuate a custom handed down from generation to generation for more than 300 years.

This year as world tensions increase, let us give thanks for the continued existence of our most cherished heritage — freedom. Let us seek guidance from God to maintain this freedom for our children and for all peoples of the earth.

To each of you, I send best wishes for a pleasant and meaningful Thanksgiving.

BRUCE C. CLARKE

General, U. S. Army
Commanding

what they said

The Question: What are your plans for Thanksgiving?

Lemzie Clemmons, Clerk Typist with Sixth Army Information Section: My girl friend Emily is going to cook a "Southern baked" turkey basted in a fifth of Southern Comfort and I am going to help her eat it. What's Southern Comfort? Well, it's an Old South formula, guaranteed to soften bird or man! As for the dressing, well, my girl friend is Latin, so maybe it will be a hot recipe—you know, chili peppers, tobasco, etc. Anyway it should be good. Entertainment? Oh, we'll make our own entertainment.

C. D. Shipp, Painter with the Post Engineers: I will have Thanksgiving dinner with my nephew at San Raphael. We'll have turkey with all the trimmings, pumpkin pie and everything. I will try to stay off the highways as much as possible. There are entirely too many cars on the road on holidays, so why should I add to the traffic hazard. No, I'll just stay at home and take it easy. I like football, so I look forward to taking in the game on television on Thanksgiving day.

Mrs. Yolanda Farinella, wife of Pfc. Joseph Farinella, 99th Engr. Co.: I am going to cook my first turkey. Of course, my husband is going to help me. We have been married 7 months. In the past I used to help my mother with the turkey and it was a lot of fun. I am going to have corn dressing with sage and all, my husband will probably add some raisins, that's what the Italians have with the dressing. I am also going to bake my own pies—pumpkin pie. Gee, I can't wait to see how it will come out. I have plenty of bicarb around the house, so if the worst happens, we are prepared.

Sp4 Robert Raggio, Draftsman with the 21st Engr. Co.: We are planning to go to Sacramento and spend Thanksgiving with my friends. My wife Geraldine and our two months old baby girl, Becky, are driving down with me. I don't know yet what our friends are cooking up for us, but you can be sure that the turkey with all the trimmings will be there and we are looking forward to a joyous Thanksgiving in Sacramento where the weather, they tell me, is nice and crispy.

Capt. Mildred Barr, Nurse at Pediatric Clinic, LAH: I am flying home to Seattle, where during the Holiday season we always have sort of a family reunion. My father and mother, my brother and sister, and all the nieces and nephews will be there around the table to carve up the big turkey. I am glad to have this opportunity to get together with my folks. These holiday reunions are always informal. It's good to find out what has happened while you were away and to renew old friendships, if only for a short while. Besides, there is always so much good food around, that we all just eat, and eat and eat. . .

Khaki cloth was formally adopted by the Army for its uniforms on October 7, 1898.

EUSTUS WIF D' MOSTESS are the 27 men of A Battery, 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery who got a royal welcoming at San Francisco Depot when they returned last week after four months training in firing the Nike-Hercules at Ft. Bliss, Tex. On hand to greet the first, and only, men in the San Francisco-Travis Army Air Defense Command who are qualified to man the new atomic-capable missile were their jubilant families. Col. Iver A. Peterson, 30th Artillery Group Commander, shook hands all 'round as the Sixth Army Band "Open(ed) Up That Golden Gate." Just before returning home, the A-men scored three for three at the Ft. Bliss range to prove they are ready to take over N-H sites here as soon as they are completed.

Youth Group Will Take Presidio Tour Friday

Fifteen boys from the California Youth Authority's Fricot Ranch School will enjoy a unique view of the Army from the "inside" when they tour the Presidio on Friday.

The boys, who range in age from 12 to 16 years, will be the second group from the school to make a trip to the Presidio. Always members of the school's Honor Group, last year's visitors were so impressed with the top-notch Sixth Army Honor Guard that this year's group will have a special look at them as they prepare for a retirement parade.

The Ranch School, located near San Andreas, specializes in rehabilitation of youngsters who are wards of the court. Many of the boys are from broken homes. The Presidio tour is anticipated as a high point in the year's activities.

This year, the visit will include a "V. I. P." tour of the post and nearby service units. First on the schedule is a guided tour of the NIKE missile site at San Pablo Ridge, after which the boys will be picked up by a Coast Guard launch and will see the Coast Guard station at Government Island. The big launch will then take them to the Presidio, where the boys will have lunch with enlisted men and women in a consolidated mess hall.

Following lunch, they will have an hour-long tour of the 30th Engineers' Group, and, at 1430 the Sixth Army Chief of Staff, Maj. Gen. John J. Binns, will speak to the boys at his office.

The high point for the youngsters will come, though, when they go to the barracks of the Sixth Army Honor Guard to see the area's "sharpest" soldiers as they prepare for a parade. They'll view the inspection of the men and their practice drill, and then will have grandstand seats on the Presidio's main parade ground to view the 1600 hour Retreat Ceremony in which the Guard will participate.

The boys will be accompanied throughout by Mr. Dudley Patten, Honor Group Supervisor at the Ranch School. Army personnel conducting the tour will be Captain Edward P. Endres, Sergeant First Class Charles Hawkins, and Specialist Fourth Class Warren Rosen-gren.

Washington (ANS) — "The Army Reservist" announced last week that Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Director of Selective Service, has advised local boards that no member of any Reserve component of the Armed Forces will be examined or inducted so long as he is serving satisfactorily as a member of the Reserve.

Dateline... Army

White Sands Missile Range, N. M. (ANS) — The powerful engine that provides the power for the Army's Redstone and Jupiter C Missiles set a new record for static firings here recently when it was static fired for a total of 944 seconds in seven main stage tests during an 8-hour day. The previous record was 720 seconds.

Washington (ANS) — General Lyman L. Lemnitzer, Vice Chief of Staff, U. S. Army, addressing a group of officers here recently said: "It is vital to world peace that all nations clearly understand by positive and visible evidence that we have the ability and determination necessary for responding promptly to any challenge with properly selected weapons and appropriate forces."

"It is to this goal that the efforts of the United States Army are dedicated," he declared.

Colorado Springs, Colo. (ANS) — The United States Army Air Defense Command has announced that vacancies still exist in missile units throughout the command for Majors in MOS 1181, and Warrant Officers MOS 1182. DA, according to the ARADCOM ARGUS, encourages transfers to these vacancies from the overstrength in grades in various other branches.

Washington (ANS) — An attractive wallet-sized card bearing the six articles of the Code of Conduct is now being distributed for issue to each member of the active Army and Reserve forces for their personal retention. The card is designed to help personnel become more familiar with the wording and have better understanding of the significance of the Code.

Reminder: The Strategic Army Corps (STRAC), a four division combat ready force is the "fire brigade" of the Army. —Army Information Digest.

Clarke On Quality

Fort Monroe, Va. (ANS) — Stressing that an increase in quality of personnel is imperative, General Bruce C. Clarke, Commanding General of the Continental Army Command, recently declared:

"The performance of every individual must be the subject of constant evaluation. The unfit and unwilling must be rigorously eliminated."

General Clarke, as quoted in the November issue of "Army" Magazine, added, "We cannot let weaklings weaken us at any echelon. The only men we can afford to retain in the Army are those who measure up in both potential and output."

Soviet 'Molly' Woos Troops In West Berlin

Berlin (AFPS) — There's a new gal walking the propaganda street that was once the territory of WWII's Tokyo Rose and Axis Sally. U.S. troops in Germany call her "Moscow Molly" but what she peddles is the same brew of tunes and talk that were her predecessors' stock in trade.

Army authorities admit concern over the Russian radio program that broadcasts on the same frequency as the Armed Forces Network. When the latter goes off the air at one a.m., Molly slips into the vacancy with an imitation of the AFN format.

The Red announcers, who speak expert American-English, are believed to be renegade Americans. Many Europeans accept the program as American in origin—a fact that troubles the Army because from Spain to Scandinavia AFN is estimated to have a European audience of at least 31 million people.

The Army, to combat Molly, is seeking to put AFN on a 24-hour broadcasting schedule. When on the air, the U.S. station easily muffs the Soviet broadcast, and European frequencies are too crowded to give the Reds another opening on the broadcast band.

Army Engineers Test Mine Clearing 'Snake'

Washington (AFPS) — An improved version of the WWII mine clearing "Snake" is being developed by the Army Engineer Research and Development Laboratories at Ft. Belvoir, Va.

According to an Army announcement, the new model consists of a series of prefabricated, quickly connected sections that can be assembled in less time than its predecessor.

Sections of the "Snake" are transported by truck to an assembly point. After assembly, the unit is towed by tank to a mine-field where it is pushed over the field and detonated.

A Btry Pair Win Awards At 2nd Msle Bn Parade

An officer and an enlisted man were honored Monday evening at a retreat parade at A Battery, 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery, where they received different awards for outstanding achievements during the past year.

CWO Thomas J. Napier, Battalion Missile Warrant Officer since November 1957, was presented the Commendation Ribbon With Metal Pendant for his work in developing missile material crews to peak efficiency instrumental in establishing a Battalion service practice fire record of 8 kills in 9 tries at Red Canyon Range, N. M.

Sp4 Leonard R. Easky was presented with a qualification badge (with pendant and bar) for scoring 241 of a possible 250 in the National Individual Rifle Championship course during All-Army rifle and pistol competition last June at Ft. Benning, Ga.

CWO Napier, who was cited particularly for his efforts during the period 1 January-3 August 1958, previously was C Battery Missile WO since January 1957.

He entered the service in March 1937, took a discharge in 1940, was recalled to active duty in 1941 and has been in the Army ever since. The presentation to CWO Napier was made by Col. Iver A. Peterson, 30th Artillery Group (Air Def.) Commander.

Sp4 Easky, who now has earned one of three legs to the coveted Distinguished Marksmanship Badge—Rifle, entered the Regular Army from Skiatook, Okla., in August 1956, has been assigned to the 2d Battalion since completion of basic training.

Nike Hits Target 20 Miles High

Washington (AFPS) — A Nike-Hercules supersonic surface-to-air guided missile has successfully intercepted and destroyed a target at an altitude of more than 100,000 feet—over 20 miles—at White Sands Missile Range, N.M.

The target for the successful shoot was provided by the Pogo-Hi, a Navy-developed parachute-type target.

The shot was carried out as part of the Hercules evaluation test program. The altitude reached is not the limit of the missile, the Army said, but is the maximum altitude of any available target.

The Hercules has demonstrated its effectiveness against targets flying at speeds above Mach 2.5 and against drones that have maneuvered violently just prior to intercept.

The Hercules is produced by Western Electric Co. and Douglas Aircraft Co. and is now installed at sites near critical target areas in the U.S.

Test NIKE Reservists

Washington (ANS) — Use of Army Reservists to augment active Army NIKE batteries during emergency operations will be tested starting next February. The test will run approximately six months. Its objectives will be to determine the capability of the on-site NIKE battery to train operator type Army Reservists and to maintain the proficiency of USAR personnel with prior NIKE service.

Thanksgiving Chapel Programs

Presidio personnel will have the opportunity to offer thanks in both Protestant and Catholic services on Thursday, Thanksgiving Day.

Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Theodore E. Curtis, Jr., will conduct the order of worship at Protestant services in the Post Chapel at 0930 hours. The sermon will be presented by Chaplain (Capt.) Paul M. Pease. Letterman Protestant services will be held at 1000 hours with Chaplain (Maj.) Vincent Nelson officiating.

Catholic Masses will be celebrated at 0800 hours at Chapel of Our Lady and the Letterman Hospital Chapel. Confessions will be heard before the Masses.

Army Air Defense Command, gave the principal address. At right, Chaplain Long accepts a symbolic key from Lt. Roy Lundgren, CO of the 4th Missile Battalion, while William H. Blazier, an honor visitor and a former combat member of the 67th Artillery, during WWI, looks on.

NEW BROWNIES of Presidio troop 558, invested during ceremonies last week at the Scout House, began living up to their promise to "help other people at all times," as they joined together Friday and walked to the fire station to donate some of their toys to be mended for more needy children. Leaders of the group are Mrs. William King, Mrs. William Howell, Mrs. Alf Pedersen and Mrs. Harry Kahn.

Army Train Contract

Washington (ANS)—Award of a $1,717,194 contract to R. G. Le-Tourneau, Inc. of Longview, Texas, for design of a 450-foot long, 12 unit overland train has just been announced by the Army.

Development of the off-road overland train will provide the Army with one answer to its need for a combination of maximum mobility and high cargo-carrying capacity in remote, underdeveloped locations such as polar or desert regions where supply routes are long, fuel supplies scarce and roads non-existent.

The new train will consist of a lead or control car and ten 4-wheel, individually powered 15-ton cargo-carrying trailers as well as a "main generating power car." The 52 wheeled vehicle will be equipped with extremely low pressure, 10-foot high, 4-foot wide tubeless tires.

Recently Assigned

Recently assigned as Cryptographic Custodian and Assistant Communications Officer to the Post is CWO-3 FRED P. LeMASTER, 35, who came to the Presidio from Izmir, Turkey, where he was for the past year Communications and Crypto Security Officer at Headquarters, Land South-East NATO.

Chief Warrant Officer LeMaster enlisted in the Army in July, 1940, at Ft. Benning Ga., and served with the 2d Armored Brig. of the 2d Armored Div. Three years later, in May, 1943, he received his warrant while with the 3d Armored Div. at Camp Polk, La.

In 1944 Chief Warrant Officer LeMaster left for the Pacific where he began his long career as a communications officer, serving in the Philippines with the 91st Signal Operations Bn. and then embarking for Japan after V-J day.

After a brief assignment with Communications Headquarters, Los Angeles, CWO LeMaster again departed for overseas duty in 1946, this time assuming the duties of Crypto Security Officer at Headquarters U.S. Army Caribbean Command. Two years later, in 1948, he first arrived at the Presidio where he was assigned Crypto Security Officer for Sixth U.S. Army and in 1950 he left for Korea where he served with GHQ Long Lines Gp.

CWO LeMaster also served as Crypto Security Officer at Hq. Salzburg, Austria from 1953 until the dissolution of that headquarters after the Austrian peace treaty in 1955. In 1956 he was assigned to the Presidio for the second time, again as Crypto Security Officer for Sixth Army, holding that position until his most recent assignment in Turkey.

CWO LeMaster resides at Corte Madera with his wife, Beth, and sons, Fred, Jr., 5, and Steven Kent, 4.

2d Lt. WALTER G. DAVISON, 23, has been assigned to the Post Dispensary as Medical Supply Officer. 2d Lt. Davison hails from Tacoma, Wash., where he entered the service last July.

Graduating from the University of Washington, College of Pharmacy, he received his commission on 12 December, 1957.

After being called to active duty on 2 July, 1958, 2d Lt. Davison attended the Basic Officer Army Orientation Medical School at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex., and upon graduation on 10 October, 1958, came to Presidio to assume his present duties.

Good Eating Tomorrow

The Presidio Mass Halls will be adorned tomorrow for the sumptuous Thanksgiving feast.

Enlisted men and women on separate rations are invited to come with their families and enjoy the fare at their unit messes. In addition, each member of the unit may invite one friend. The charge for each adult of the enlisted party is 45 cents and 25 cents for each child. For officers and their families the charge is 65 cents per person and 35 cents for each child.

Six Big Birds

For B Btry Mess Sergeant

One hundred and fifty pounds of Tom Turkey are no problem at all—even when 140-plus Thanksgiving Dinner guests are expected to devour the tender birds tomorrow.

Sfc. Clint L. Hill, mess sergeant at B Battery, 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, is the man who will be facing the problem, but two big assists made his load a lot lighter. Uncle Sam's Quartermaster provided him with six 25-pound birds, dressed and quartered, much to the KP's delight.

Then the soldiers' wives pitched in to brighten the dining room with traditional corn stalks, pumpkins, oak leaves and all the other trimmings—the feminine touch.

In his department, Sfc. Hill has worked up a menu which will complement tasty turkey with giblet gravy, shrimp salad, assorted nuts, mashed potatoes, candied yam—and, if anyone is still hungry, ice cream, pumpkin and mince pies, and hard candy.

To start the feast, Lt. Ralph Cordell will say grace; then officers, enlisted men, families and guests will launch into the traditional feed.

Serving hours will be staggered so that every man may enjoy the festivities and yet a constant duty team can be on the job.

All other area Nike units also will have Thanksgiving Day open houses and dinners.

Garrison, Engineers Top Pistol, Rifle Matches

Pistoleers from Headquarters Company USA Garrison, proved to be the Presidio's best in recent Post-level competitions here, while on top in the rifle was a team from the 537th Engineer Company.

Garrison Headquarters Company also boasted the best individual marksman with the pistol, M/Sp. David R. Dunsmoor.

The firing was held to help select Presidio teams to represent the Post in forthcoming Sixth Army and other matches.

Following are the trophy winners:

• Pistol (Teams) — Headquarters Company, U.S.A. Garrison and 163d Military Police Company.

• Pistol (Individual) — M/Sp. Dunsmoor; Sp4 Willie McCrary, 163d MP Company; and Pfc. Jerry Horne, 537th Engineer Company.

• Rifle (Team) — 537th Engineer Company and 21st Engineer Company.

• Rifle (Individual) — Pfc. Anton W. Van Stokkum, 21st Engineer Company; Pfc. John A. Weithman, 537th Engineer Company; and Pvt. Ronald T. Jepson, 21st Engineer Company.

Thanksgiving—Centuries Old Custom

Strange as it seems—the origin of the feast of Thanksgiving dates much farther back than the arrival of the Pilgrim Fathers in Plymouth, Massachusetts! It goes back through the centuries to the land of the Canaanites from whom the Children of Israel copied many of their customs.

The harvest celebration was marked by the Hebrews as a mark of worship to Jehovah. It was then called the Feast of Tabernacles because the ancient Hebrews lived in tents during the festive season, recalling the years when the nation had no home.

The ancient Romans actually worshipped a harvest deity known as Ceres. The event began with a rigid fasting among the farming people, who offered the pagan goddess a sow and the first harvest reaping of the season.

In England, even today, there is a special harvest celebration during which the last sheaf of corn is dressed as a woman—in a white dress, and hoisted on a pole decorated with colored ribbon streamers. This begins with a special service in some village church, beautifully decorated with flowers and orchard fruit. The service is followed by a dinner in a large hall, and rural sports are interspersed with tea drinking and the sampling of enormous loaves of heavy dark fruit cake—made by the farmer's wives and daughters from legendary recipes.

Actually, Thanksgiving, or a reasonable facsimile, was and still is celebrated by the American Indians on their reservations throughout the Southwest and the Northwestern areas. In earlier days the Iroquois used to commemorate their harvest seasons with deer hunting for venison banquets completed by steamed green and ripe corn, and wild strawberry and raspberry maize tarts. Their ceremonial dances began with a human chain linked by hundreds of hands encircling the place where their chief stood elegant in his war paint.

In Scotland, Wales and Brittany, the Thanksgiving ceremonies center 'round a woman symbol known as 'the doll, the hag, the mother sheaf, the harvest mother or the old wife—depending on which country is doing the celebrating.

In Germany, Prussia, Poland and

Denmark the harvest symbol is still introduced as a woman. Poland honors the day by dressing the last sheaf in the cornfield as a housewife, borne home in the last wagon, to be drenched in water and bombarded with ripe apples. Prussia follows the same general idea but they deck the sheaf in wild flowers and place a garland on her head rather than dressing the figure in woman's clothing.

And so it is—from the East Indies to Peru and down the sunny reaches of the Mediterranean, Thanksgiving celebrations are just as much a part of the climate and the people as those of the United States.

The Chinese Thanksgiving—although perhaps more pagan in its implication—is probably the most colorful and symbolic of them all. The mid-autumn feast is only the beginning of a series of harvest festivals in which even the moon and the sun are honored as extra special deities—the moon as a female goddess—the sun as a male! For this event moon cakes are baked far in advance, so that the gods can feast with the more tangible celebrants. The Chinese cut pink watermelons into lotus shapes to be fed to the rabbit god, which supposedly spends his time with mortar and pestle mixing the drug potion that brings immortality to those who love and respect him.

City-wide theatrical performances and troops of entertainers hold their harvest audiences enchanted with feats of sheerest magic. They stick candles into tiny boats and float them downstream on the canals in honor of the kitchen god whose lips they have smeared with honey so that he can speak no evil against any man.

And on the last day of the Chinese harvest festival, it remains an unwritten law that each householder will have paid his financial debts, otherwise the gate gods who protect his home will unlatch the gate and let the evil spirits enter.

In the United States the harvest thanksgiving and its celebration go unreservedly toward the honor of a more universally accepted Deity.

And some little girl sings:
*Over the river and through the wood—
Now grandmother's cap I spy!
Hooray for the fun!
Is the pudding done?
Hooray for the pumpkin pie!*

Latest Report

On Distaff Club

Washington—Incorporation of an Army Distaff Club Foundation in Washington is expected to materialize very soon as a result of the unanimous vote of representatives of the Army Wives' Council at its last meeting held at Patton Hall, Fort Myer, Virginia.

By empowering the AWC president, Mrs. Maxwell D. Taylor, to create an Interim Executive Committee, the way is cleared for the Committee to arrange for the legal incorporation of the Foundation, a chartered non-profit business organization which will provide residence and recreational facilities in Washington to eligible members.

Responsibility for the project is thus from the AWC, at present an affiliation of 44 clubs and groups stretching from Carlisle Barracks, Pa., to Norfolk, Va., to the Interim Committee and thence to the Foundation immediately upon its incorporation.

The Committee will also propose a Constitution and By-Laws for submission to AWC affiliates in advance of the next meeting, date unannounced, when they will be put to a vote.

Analysis of the questionnaires returned since the prior AWC meeting resulted in a return to the original idea of keeping the residential town club separate from the Potomac Post nursing unit.

Named to the Interim Executive Committee are Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. William H. Arnold, Mrs. Samuel D. Sturgis, Mrs. Gordon R. Young, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. James Totten, Mrs. Newell L. Hemenway, Mrs. Jasper Seales, Mrs. Kenneth J. Hodson, and Mrs. Robert F. Evans.

Donations to defray initial organizational expenses are welcome, made payable to "AWC for Distaff Club" and mailed to: Army Wives' Council, P.O. Box 9608, Washington 16, D. C.

Both Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Davis referred to the great worldwide interest already shown in the project on the basis of early press reports and word-of-mouth publicity and as expressed not only in letters but in goodwill financial donations.

"We have a clear mandate to go forward with this altruistic project," said Mrs. Davis. "We have crystallized an ideal which for long has been thought and felt. We have found we are united in purpose to serve our Army widows and daughters."

"All human beings are born free and equal in dignity and rights. They are endowed with reason and conscience and should act toward one another in a spirit of brotherhood."

So reads Article One of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights which the General Assembly of the United Nations adopted and proclaimed on 10 December, 1948.

Embodied in those two simple statements is the essential character of this history-making document which is 10 years old this month. Since its adoption in Paris — without a single dissenting vote, although eight of the 58 member nations abstained and two were absent — the UN Commission on Human Rights has worked diligently to further its objective.

What are the "rights" proclaimed by the General Assembly? They are civil and political; economic, social and cultural. But merely to proclaim them is no guarantee that they will be enjoyed by people the world over.

Today millions live in poverty and servitude, captives of ruthless police states. It is a cruel mockery to talk about their rights. But it is neither cruel nor futile to hold out to them the promise of gradual realization of the great aims of this unique international document.

It may be slow. It may be a case of painful progress by inches. But the past decade has been one of concrete achievement. The declaration's 10th anniversary is a time to recognize all that has been achieved toward a world "spirit of brotherhood." It is also a time to assess the challenge of the work that lies ahead.

The Sixth U.S. Army 1959 Photography Contest, prelude to the 8th Interservice judging, will be conducted 23-27 March.

The competition, designed to encourage participation of amateur and experienced photographers in recreational photography activities during off-duty time, will be the basis for selecting photographs and color transparencies for submission in All-Army judging during May. All-Army winning entries will be entered in the 8th Interservice Contest in June.

Installation selection will be made between 2-6 March in categories specified in DA Circular 28-13, 7 October 1958, and winning photographs must be submitted to Sixth Army by 16 March.

Sixth Army prizes for each of the five categories in both black and white and color transparency groups will be: first—$25, second—$20, third—$15, and five honorable mentions (no award).

Mother-Daughter Tea

Young lady members of the Presidio Teen Age Club will act as hostesses for their mothers Friday at a Mother-Daughter tea for the club members and their parents.

The program, beginning at 1345, will be a lecture and fashion demonstration by Miss Terese Marino, from the San Francisco House of Charm.

Also the Teen Agers were still busy this week gathering food for the Thanksgiving basket to be donated today to some needy family.

Famed Restaurateur Guest Speaker At PWC Meeting

George Mardikian, long time food consultant to the Army and owner of Omar Khayyam's Restaurant in San Francisco, will be guest speaker at the Presidio Woman's Club monthly meeting 4 December in the Presidio Officers' Open Mess.

Sherry hour will begin at 1230. Reservations must be made not later than 2 December by calling Mrs. Lester Kuhr, extension 3319, or Mrs. Clifford Hill, MO 4-9657.

Mr. Mardikian, who in his capacity as an advisor to the Army has traveled to installations all over the world, has been described by the "Reader's Digest" as the "Champion of G. I. Chow."

The luncheon also will mark the kick-off of "Christmas Cheer for Children," a club-sponsored drive to collect toys for San Francisco's underprivileged children. Each member will bring a toy, gift wrapped and identified as to whether it is for a girl or a boy.

Sixth Army G4 wives are sponsoring the luncheon. They are headed by Mrs. Roy E. Goode, and include Mrs. Donald A. Elliget, Mrs. Stuart W. Davis, Mrs. Lorraine H. Brownlee, Mrs. Maurice N. Clark, Mrs. John A. Peters, Mrs. Charles M. Delameter, Mrs. Arley A. Hayman, Jr., Mrs. William H. Stein, Mrs. Vincent P. Kelley, Mrs. Wilbur H. Offner, and Mrs. Thomas L. Merrick.

In 30 Years

Lieutenant Colonel Curtis M. Banks, Executive Officer of the 30th Artillery Group (Air Defense), this month celebrated his 30th year of Army service.

At the clarion call of one-time regimental bugler Capt. George P. Leal of the Group Supply Section, a pair of well-worn GI high top shoes (brown) were presented on a silver tray to Lt. Col. Banks. They were the very first pair of Army shoes issued to then Private Banks, in 1928.

Record Rolling Along

Fort Buckner, Okinawa (ANS) —The Army's now famous theatrical variety show "Rolling Along of 1958," recorded during its appearance here, will be broadcast over the Mutual Broadcasting System on December 2, as a presentation of THE ARMY HOUR. It will also be aired at a later date over 125 AFRTS stations, overseas. Featured in the show are the All-Army Entertainment Contest winners.

THE LAST HURRAH—(F), Spencer Tracy, Jeffrey Hunter, Dianne Foster. THE LAST HURRAH is much more than the story of an election. It is an exciting, entertaining and powerful study of a man and the city he helped to build. It is a study in triumph, in conflict and defeat. Theaters: No. 1—Thursday and Friday; No. 3—Monday; No. 4—Tuesday.

JOHNNY ROCCO—(F), Stephen McNally, Colleen Gray, Richard Eyer. Shocked as he witnesses a cold-blooded murder, Johnny (Richard Eyer) unwittingly becomes a pawn of the underworld, of which his father is a member. The underworld is smashed, his father is free to live a new life and Johnny recovers from his shock. No. 1—Saturday.

AROUND THE WORLD IN 80 DAYS—(F) (Color), David Niven, Cantinflas. It is a sumptuous combination adventure tale-travelogue-satire, based on the world-famous Jules Verne novel. Magnificent entertainment it is indeed for the whole family. No. 1—Sunday and Monday; No. 3—Wednesday; No. 4—Thursday.

THE LAST BLITZKRIEG—(M), Van Johnson, Kerwin Mathews. The story of the Hitler "terror" attack that almost turned the tide of victory during World War II's crucial Battle of the Bulge is told in the picture. No. 1—Tuesday; No. 3—Friday.

THE FAR COUNTRY—(F) (Color), James Stewart, Ruth Roman, Walter Brennan. James Stewart in the character of Jeff Webster lives for himself until he realizes that he must help bring law and order to the brawling, booming Yukon of the gold rush days. No. 1—Wednesday.

THE NAKED AND THE DEAD—(M) (Color), Aldo Ray, Cliff Robertson, Raymond Massey, Lilli St. Cyr. The picture brings together three principals in an outstanding war drama. Aldo Ray portrays the tough, bitter, efficient Sergeant Croft, in command of the battle-weary reconnaissance platoon around which the story centers. No. 1—Thursday.

TOM THUMB—Reviewed last week. No. 4—Sunday.

ARADCOM Volleyball Tournament Here Friday

Torero Keglers KO Castle In Win Here They're a Mile Apart

Torero keglers last Saturday avenged an earlier 3-1, 1-3 split with Castle Air Force Base when Presidio blasted the visiting Bombers, 4-0 and 4-0, in two NorCal Armed Forces Sports League tilts here.

In the early session, Capt. Edward Rusek paced the Toreros with a 601 series as his teammates took all three games and a 347 pins advantage.

Fuller, with a 581 series, was big gun as the Toreros swept the second three games and came out in front on total pins with a 186 margin.

Beale Air Force Base will be here this Saturday for two matches, beginning at 1300 in the Presidio Service Club.

The Army and the Air Force are a mile apart when it comes to football.

In the business of scheduling future gridiron clashes, that mile represents the difference in elevation between West Point and the Air Force Academy.

Coach Earl Blaik of the Military Academy's Black Knights says the thin air around Denver would give Air Force a big advantage. Why not make Chicago (Soldier Field) permanent meeting place for the two academies, suggests Blaik?

The Air Force will play anywhere the Army likes—but only on alternate years. Other years, the game must be in Denver, Air Force officials demand.

So far, neither side has given in.

Next year Army and Air Force will clash for the first time, but at West Point. If the matter of game sites isn't resolved by then, that may also be the last meeting between the two.

A big fight against botulism is underway in the Tulare Lake Area, as some 4,000 ducks have already become victims.

Polo got its name from the word "pulu," which is a description of willow root, from which early balls were made.

LAH Gym Will Be Scene For Area Competition

Stamina, experience—and a darned good chance to go all the way!

That's what highnetters of the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, will take with them Friday to the opening rounds of the third annual 6th ARADCOM Volleyball Tournament at Letterman Army Hospital gym.

The title play will run through clashes are spikers Sp4 David Rhem, 30th Artillery Group Headquarters Battery; Pfc. James McLin, A Battery, 4th Battalion; and Pfc. Allen Kincaid, C Battery, 4th Battalion; as well as set man Sp4 Robert Mendez, C Battery, 4th Battalion.

Newcomers expected to see plenty of action are set man Sfc. Carlos Ramirez, 4th Battalion Headquarters Battery; spiker Sp4 Richard Chute, 30th Artillery Group Headquarters Battery; spiker Pfc. Donald Hubbell, B Battery, 4th Battalion; and set man Sp4 James Morse, C Battery, 4th Battalion.

"I've got to add this," coach Ignacio said. "These men work on a 24-hours-on, 24-hours-off basis and without the cooperation of their unit commanders, I couldn't field a team. If a man is scheduled to work when we have a game, his CO goes out of his way to allow the man to play. With so many people behind us, I think we'll go all the way."

Hunters, attention! Jacksnipe season opens Saturday and will continue through 28 December. Generally, the bag and possession limit is eight birds per day.

Again this year, a lot of the success of the Ft. Scott sextet can be attributed to player-coach M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio. A fifteen-year volleyball veteran and an official of the U.S. Volleyball Association, M/Sgt. Ignacio has groomed his charges—four of them returnees from last year's squad—with grueling, frequent matches with the best amateur teams in the Bay Area and incessant skull sessions.

"We're ready now," reported coach Ignacio, who, up until this week, had been singing the blues about lack of conditioning, bad serves and the like. "I've got great faith in our really hard-hitting sextet. The team work is great, but most impressive is the aggressiveness and will to win of every member of the squad. All the boys have sacrificed a lot of free time and energy to mold this team."

Last December, M/Sgt. Ignacio carried his squad all the way to the ALL-ARADCOM title and he's out to try it again this year. "But," he warned, "we've got to get by Seattle and Los Angeles before we can get a crack at the big tourney. I'm worried a little about the L.A. outfit; I've heard through the grapevine that they're tough."

M/Sgt. Ignacio also led the only other team in the two-year-old ALL-ARADCOM play-offs to the Big Victory. He was player-coach of the 1956 championship 752d AAA Gun Battalion team.

Last year veterans who will bolster the locals in the Letterman

The Ultimate Product Peter Dawkins—All-Around Cadet

"Dawkins" means "halfback" to football fans around the country, but at West Point it means Cadet Peter Dawkins, First Captain of Cadets, President of the Class of 1959, football captain and top scholar.

His gridiron mentor, Earl Blaik, has this to say: I can practically prophesy that someday, if he stays in the Army, Dawkins will be Chief of Staff.

What brings the 20-year-old Smith, "the ultimate West Point cadet."

"If the authorities made book on future generals, Peter Dawkins would be the surest bet since Robert E. Lee."

Mr. Smith writes, however, that Cadet Dawkins "does not even know for sure what branch of service he will chose after graduation—Infantry or Air Force. . . ."

In it Smith observes that as four men rolled into one, Cadet Dawkins "enjoys more power, pomp and responsibility than most men do in a lifetime."

"He is, in short," writes Mr.

Msle. High Netters Clobber 2 Teams; Lose To Hamilton

Volleyballers of the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, spent last weekend getting in last licks before the 6th ARADCOM tourney opens at Letterman Army Hospital gymnasium Friday.

The 4th-men, who earned a tourney berth recently by bowling over all opposition from the San Francisco-Travis Army Air Defense Command, won 15 of 21 games against three different opponents in away matches Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Tackling an aggregation from Hamilton Air Force Base and the Surf Club Thursday night, the locals took a 3-1 decision with games of 15-11, 15-9, 12-15 and 15-5.

They whitewashed the San Francisco Central "Y" the following evening in eight straight wins, 15-7, 15-12, 15-5, 15-11, 15-6, 15-9, 15-18 and 15-13.

But, on Saturday, a joint Hamilton-Travis Air Force Base squad downed the 4th Battalion, 5-4, with scores of 15-8, 15-10, 8-15, 15-11, 12-15, 7-15, 5-15, 15-4 and 8-15.

A jai alai ball is hand wound by a process taking many hours. A layer of linen thread is added and then two layers of goat skin. When the outer layer is scratched the ball must be replaced, each ball costing $25.

Badminton originated in India, and was known as "Poona."

Chasseloup-Laubat was the world's first "speed demon," with an average speed of 39.24 miles per hour.

Seven San Francisco-Travis Army Air Defense Command bowlers emerged late last week as the men who will carry local missilemen's hopes to the Sixth ARADCOM pin championships next month at Ft. MacArthur.

After a roll-off in the Presidio Service Club of the top 28 keggers in the four area missile battalions, five team slots went to men of the 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery and the other two were grabbed by rollers from the 1st Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery. They were (listed in order of finish):

M/Sgt. Forrest R. Johns, Pfc. Jonathan Alee, CWO Raymond R. Burns and M/Sgt. Leslie G. Heath, 4th Battalion; Capt. Amil DelBiaggio and Sp5 Ronald L. Vierra, 1st Battalion; and Sfc. John W. Jones, 4th Battalion.

The Sixth ARADCOM meet will be held 15-19 December. A spokesman for the 30th Artillery Group (Air Defense) Sports Office said that no pre-tourney meets have been scheduled for the team.

Toreros Win Another For Sixth Straight

Torero basketballers stayed unbeaten and made it six straight Thursday night when they dropped 29 Palms Marines, 59-53, in an overtime thriller at Letterman Army Hospital gym.

They also faced Alameda Coast Guard last night, at Alameda, but scores were not available at press time. Saturday, at 1300 at LAH gym they will meet San Francisco City College and Monday and Tuesday they will play Humboldt State Teachers College, the first game in Eureka and the second in Arcata.

The Toreros had to come from behind to edge 29 Palms Marines. Down 29-26 at the half, and trailing by three with a minute to go, the locals pulled up to a 51-51 deadlock when the regular game ended. In the five minute overtime, the Toreros bucketed eight, while holding the visitors to a single field goal, to grab the victory.

Private First Class Bill VonWeyhe of MRU and 1st Lt. Frank Evangelho of 30th Artillery Group (Air Defense) tied for scoring honors with 14. Pfc. Mike Diaz, 30th Engineer Battalion, dropped in 12 and Pvt. Harry Lux, also of the 30th Artillery Group, posted 11 to also hit the double figures.

Others contributing to the scoring parade were 2d Lt. Ed Fine, Presidio Pharmacy Officer, and Pfc. John Perry, Honor Guard, with three apiece and Pfc. Joe Savoldi, U.S.A. Training Group, with two.

LAH Cagers Win Opener Defeat SF Chinese 57-50

Letterman cagers got off to a good start this year with a pre-season practice win over the San Francisco Chinese, 57-50, but they had to pull away from a deadlock with four minutes to go to register the victory. The medics led 26-24 at halftime.

Last night, Letterman squared off against the San Francisco Marines in a non-league tilt, but his right shoulder and step into scores were not available at press time.

Leading the LAH-men in the away clash was 1st Lt. John Meyers, who hooped 26. Starring for the Chinese was 17-year-old Norm "Smiley" Gomez, 4; 1st Lt. Fred Ow Young, tiny George Washington High School star, who posted 23. Norm earlier was the terror against the Presidio Toreros when he ran wild with 35, though his team lost 96-59.

Young scored 16 in the first half before LAH coach M/Sgt. Norman Fricker stopped the youngster's two-handed over the shoulder shot.

LAH Keglers Meet Sac Depot Team For NMSA Playoffs

It's "do or die" tonight for Letterman Army Hospital's keggers when they square off in an away match against Sacramento Signal Depot in both teams' NorCal Military Sports Association finale.

The LAH-men pulled into first place by 1½ games last Thursday when they toppled Fairfield Air Force Station, 4-0, and the former top five, Two Rock Ranch Station, absorbed a 3-1 licking from a surprising Oakland Army Terminal Quintet.

The Medics will have to take at least a 3-1 decision tonight in Sacramento to clinch the League title.

Sparkling Letterman's win over Fairfield was CWO Frank Kessler, whose 564-199 provided both high game and high series. Col. Karl Woodman, with a 506 series, was second best man.

In 1910 the cork-center baseball, introduced for occasional play in 1909, was put into regular play.

Channel catfish have been spawned successfully by artificial means for the first time in California.

Here's Torero Team Statistics To Date

Statistics in sports very rarely are dull; often, they are indeed a story in themselves. Take the records of the unbeaten Toreros—team and individual—for the first six games of the season ("x" indicates did not play):

Toreras Keep Slate Clean; Beat Alameda Hell Kittens

Minus four starters, Presidio's lady basketballers still managed to stay unbeaten (7-0) by toppling a strong Alameda Naval Station sextet, 49-32, in a non-league tilt last week in Letterman Army Hospital gym.

Last night, LAH gym was the stage of Presidio's "Big Game" in WAC circles when the Toreras and the Letterman girls clashed in a Women's Interservice Recreational scrap. No scores were available at press time, but the Presidians were top-heavy favorites to best the often beaten Medics.

In downing Alameda, the Toreras were without the services of regulars Sfc. Georgia Kelly, Sfc. Mary Phillips, Sgt. Terry Silva and Sp4 Peggy Harris.

But, in to fill the gap were substitutes who convinced Coach Sp5 Arleen Patt that she will still have a strong squad when transfers and discharges take their toll during the next two months.

Leading the scoring was regular Cpl. Florian Vierra, who netted 27; two non-regulars who started against Alameda, Pfc. Claudette Schleman, with 14, and Pfc. Evelyn Yaggie, with 8, collected all of the local's other points.

To fill the gap at guard, Sp5 Irma Collins and Sp4 Marjorie Rinke teamed with starter Sp4 Molly Edwards to play a strong zone defense.

Wrestling was a sport as far back as civilization can be traced. The oldest actual evidence was uncovered in 1938 by Dr. S. A. Speiser and his party, while making excavations in Mesopotamia. They found in the ruins of a temple near Bagdad two slabs. One was of stone, on which in bold relief, were the figures of two pugilists squaring off. The other was a cast bronze figurine showing two wrestlers, each with hold on the other's hips.

Cummins Leads Team To Big 54-7 Victory

By Sp4 Woody Hubbell
Star Presidian Sports Editor

Powerful 21st Engineer Company six man touch footballers steam-rolled a hapless 537th Engineer Company squad, 54-7, Monday afternoon on the new Presidio field to capture the Post championship for the second straight year.

In crushing their Engineer League rivals in the post-season playoff finals, the 21st-men parlayed the strong right arm of quarterback and player-coach Sp4 Brownie Cummins and the sticky fingers of four receivers into eight touchdowns and six extra points.

The two teams met three times during the tourney, with the 537th taking only the first game, 14-13. The other 21st victory was to the tune of 39-7.

Rounding out the championship contestants were the one-two teams in the Presidio League—Sixth Army and Letterman Army Hospital—which finished three and four, respectively, in tourney play.

The 537th struck first when, four plays after the opening kickoff, Sp4 Arnold Wickham legged 10 yards for a score and then passed to Pfc. Dan Marcus for the conversion.

From then on it was an aerial circus. An Sp4 Cummins pass was good for every point. Here is what he threw, by quarters:

FIRST QUARTER (20 Points)
Thirty yards to Pfc. Larry Davenport in end zone; PAT to Sp4 Bob Raggio.

Twenty yards to Sp4 Raggio; PAT to Sp4 Artie Kear.

Thirty-yard pass play to Sp4 Kear for score; PAT missed.

SECOND QUARTER (14 Points)
Two 40-yard pass plays to Sp4 Kear; to Sp4 Bodine Schultz for both PAT's.

THIRD QUARTER (13 Points)
Forty-five yards to Sp4 Schultz in end zone; also to Sp4 Schultz for PAT.

Seven yards to Sp4 Kear in end zone; PAT missed.

FOURTH QUARTER (7 Points)
Ten yards to Pfc. Ronald Fernandez in end zone; to Sp4 Kear for PAT.

While Sp4 Cummins was having an offensive field day, a strong defensive squad bottled up any 537th running game and wrecked the loser's passing attack by intercepting five aeriels.

Snatching enemy passes were standout defensive backs Pfc.

Jerry Paugh, Sp4 Ed Kornaga, Pfc. Davenport and Sp4 Stan Philcox and lineman Sp4 Bob Matteson.

In addition to Sp4 Matteson, men on the forward wall who got Sp4 Cummins' nod (in his capacity as coach) for outstanding defensive play were Sp4 Bernard Gallie, Pfc. Joe Ficklin, Pvt. Dick Isenbies and Pfc. James Schulze.

It's all over but the shouting!

LAH Reps Attend NorCal Sports Meet

Two representatives of Letterman Army Hospital are expected to attend the regular monthly meeting Monday of the NorCal Military Sports Association. December host installation is Two Rock Ranch Station.

M/Sgt. Frank Ciensczyk of the LAH Sports Office, one of the pair, said that probably the discussion would primarily be devoted to the feasibility of extending the bowling season which ended this week, funding and volleyball (next scheduled sport).

The other representative, Letterman basketball coach M/Sgt. Norman Fricker, said he would bring up the matter of whether and when softball will start next Spring so that plans can be made in advance for securing uniforms and equipment.

Army Baseball Camp Slated For Fort Carson

Ft. Carson, Colo. (AFPS)—A training camp for top Army baseball players will be held here next year.

Candidates selected for the baseball training school will come from all parts of the world. Through a series of eliminations, on the same order as the spring training camps of the major leagues, only top players will be named to the Army team.

LAH Fencers Given Trophy For International Showing

A gold trophy attesting to Letterman-Presidio fencers' victory in saber in the Mexico International Saber Tournament was presented yesterday to Col. Achilles L. Tynes, Letterman Army Hospital Commander, by Adolfo Dominguez, Consul General of Mexico, during brief ceremonies in Col. Tynes' office.

During the annual Mexico-Letterman Fencing Tournament and the Mexico International Fencing Tournament, 13-18 November in Mexico City, the locals also took the Mexico-Letterman Saber Team Tournament.

In addition, M/Sgt. Severo Pasol of LAH won the Mexico International Individual Foil championship.

The victorious saber team was made up of M/Sgt. Pasol, Col. Laurence Brownlee of Presidio and coach William O'Brien of LAH, with Sp4 William Beaver, Presidio, as alternate.

The Golden Gaters took second in foil and three-weapon events in both the Mexico-LAH and Mexico International competitions.

In addition to M/Sgt. Pasol, fencing in foils were Col. Brownlee and Mr. O'Brien, with Capt. Eugene Hardy, Presidio, and M/Sgt. Burt Sheck, LAH, as alternates.

The three-weapons team included Ed Purdy, LAH, Ben Firth, M/Sgt. Pasol and Col. Brownlee.

In epee, LAH was represented by Mr. Purdy, Mr. Firth and Col. Brownlee, with M/Sgt. Sheck as alternate.

DOUBLE SAFETY AWARD ceremonies were held in the Post Signal office this week, as Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Presidio CO, presented a Certificate of Merit, for outstanding safety practices, 1 July, 1957 to 30 June, 1958, and an inscribed Bronze Safety Plaque for a best first quarter record. Receiving the awards

Nike-Zeus Facility Planned By Army At White Sands

Washington (AFPS)—Facilities to press top priority developments of the Army's anti-missile missile, the Nike-Zeus, will be built at White Sands, N.M.

Construction costs will run almost $1.6 million, the Army said, for launching, assembly and storage areas at the desert test range to handle the Nike family's third-generation missile.

Nike-Zeus will be a solid-propellant, surface-to-air weapon for defense against ballistic missiles.

MacArthur Career Traced In 'Picture'

New York (AFPS) — Televiewers across the country will see an Army documentary tracing the career of Gen. Douglas MacArthur during the week before the anniversary of Pearl Harbor.

The film, titled "The MacArthur Story," is one of the Army's "The Big Picture" series which today is the most widely distributed and telecast TV series in the world.

It traces the general's drama-packed career from his West Point days through two world wars, the Korean campaign and his return to the U.S. where he made his historic address to Congress.

Narration of the film is by Walter Cronkite from a script by Dan Klugherz, with M/Sgt. Stuart Queen doing the introduction.

Air Ground Team

A Joint Air Ground Instruction Team from the Air Group Operations School at Keesler AFB, Mississippi, will present a four hour course of instruction on air ground operations at the Post Theater on Monday, 1 December from 1300 to 1700 hours.

This refresher course is required annually for all military personnel concerned with air ground operations.

Quote of the week: NIKE is not a single weapon but a family of weapons in which the new evolves naturally from experience gained with the old. Coming along behind Nike-Hercules is the third member of this family—Nike Zeus, currently being developed for defense against intercontinental ballistic missiles traveling at tremendously high altitudes and hypersonic speeds. — Army Information Digest.

New Missile Commands Give STRAC Atom Punch

Washington (AFPS)—The Strategic Army Corps, a 100,000-man ZI force, has added two U.S. missile commands.

The Army said the STRAC missile commands are the 3rd (Air Transportable) at Ft. Bragg, N. C., and the 2nd (Medium) at Ft. Hood, Texas.

Armed with Honest John rockets having nuclear capabilities and Corporal guided missiles, the commands provide ground forces in the U.S. and our nation's allies with "tremendously increased" firepower, the Army said.

Other U.S. Army missile commands are the 1st (Medium) in Italy and the 4th (Air Transportable) in Korea, the latter of which has a force of some 1,100 men and is normally composed of an Honest John battalion, an infantry element for security, and logistical troops.

The typical medium missile command has about 5,000 men with a Corporal battalion, two Honest John battalions, an armored infantry battalion, a sky cavalry battalion for target acquisition, plus support elements.

Major units earlier identified with STRAC by the Army are: Hq. XVIII Abn. Corps and the 82nd Abn. Div., Ft. Bragg; 101st Abn. Div., Ft. Campbell, Ky.; 4th Inf. Div., Ft. Lewis, Wash.; 1st Inf. Div., Ft. Riley, Kan.; 2nd Inf. Brig., Ft. Devons, Mass.; Armored Combat Command, Ft. Polk, La.; and the 3rd Armored Cavalry Reg., Ft. Meade, Md.

Social Security—1958

More Benefits Seen With Latest Changes

New York (AFPS)—The Social Security Amendments of 1958 will provide increased monthly payments beginning with checks early in February, 1959.

Payments have been raised for those now receiving benefits and the increased amounts will be sent automatically.

In addition, many people previously not eligible for payments are now protected by the amendments. These people include:

- The disabled who previously were not eligible.
- Dependents of disabled workers.
- Dependent parents of deceased workers whose widows and children are getting benefits.

Another addition stipulates that federal benefits or workman's compensation no longer affects disability payments.

Employees now pay 2¼ per cent tax and get credit for wages up to $4,200 yearly. Beginning Jan. 1, employees will pay 2½ per cent on wages up to $4,800 a year. Employers must match these amounts.

As a result of the changes, many thousands more will now be eligible for various social security payments. It is important to keep in mind, however, that an application must be filed in order to receive payments the first time.

To learn how the amendments apply to you or any member of your family, get in touch with your nearest social security district office promptly.

January Draft Set

Washington (ANS) — The Selective Service System has been asked to provide 9,000 men during January 1959 for assignment to the Army.

It's a fact—To the average person Lewis and Clark connotes a daring expedition that opened the West to settlement. Few recall that it was an Army mission.

New Commandant Named For Army Air Defense School

Capt. Robert W. Monroe, 38, former Commander of B Battery, 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, has been named Commandant of the San Francisco Army Air Defense School at Fort Scott. He replaced Capt. Robert W. Wagers, who has been re-assigned to Iran.

Captain Monroe, who enlisted as a private in 1942, was commissioned (OCS, Camp Davis, N.C.) the following year and saw action in Europe during World War II with the Artillery of the 8th Armored Division. He also has served in Alaska and Japan.

Prior to becoming Battery Commander of B Battery, 4th Battalion, he had commanded the Battalion's C Battery.

He now lives in Daly City with his wife, Doris, and their three children, James, 13; Janet, 11; and Michael, 6.

2.5 Million Serving In Armed Forces

Washington (AFPS)—The total numerical strength of the Armed Forces on 30 Sept. has been estimated by the Defense Department as 2,589,512.

This figure, based on preliminary reports, represents 900,440 in the Army, 643,372 in the Navy, 189,462 in the Marine Corps and 865,238 in the Air Force.

The figures cover full-time military personnel comprising both regulars and reserves on continuous active duty, and officer candidates including naval and aviation cadets and students at the three major service academies.

"The Nation today needs men who think in terms of service to their country and not in terms of their country's debt to them." — General Omar N. Bradley (1948).

Army Hospital Is Feted On 60th Anniversary

Sixty years ago this week, Letterman Army Hospital was created by a War Department order to care for wounded troops returned from Cuba and the Philippines during the Spanish-American War.

To commemorate its anniversary and recognize its immense contribution to both the military and the community, Governor Goodwin J. Knight proclaimed the Hospital's birthday Tuesday as "Letterman Army Hospital Day" throughout California "to urge our citizens to give thoughtful consideration of the splendid humanitarianism of this invaluable institution and its 'mission of mercy.'"

Governor Knight particularly praised assistance furnished the people of San Francisco during the disastrous earthquake of 1906 and the current role its personnel are playing in vital disaster relief planning.

Another outstanding tribute to the men and women who have built Letterman Hospital from an inadequate, temporary hospital on sandy, pestilent beaches of San Francisco Bay to one of the outstanding military medical facilities in the world is an excellent anniversary edition of the Hospital newspaper, "Fog Horn," which depicts both with photographs and carefully phrased features the growth of Letterman from its inception.

Briefly, here are the highlights of Letterman Hospital's progressive history:

- LAH opened under the direction of Lt. Col. A. C. Girard, who also performed all surgery, and with a staff of 6 medical officers, 1 line officer, 3 hospital stewards, 11 acting hospital stewards and 23 women nurses. More than 5,000 patients were treated during the first year.

- During the earthquake of 1906, San Franciscans flocked to LAH and Brig. Gen. George T. Torney, Commander, was put in charge of sanitation for the devastated city.

- In 1911 the Hospital was named after Maj. Jonathan Letterman, Civil War Medical Director of the Army of the Potomac who later was elected Coroner of the City and County of San Francisco. He also gained fame as author of the "Letterman Plan," for evacuation and care of wounded during battle, still the basic concept used by modern armies.

- During World War I, LAH became both an orthopedic and psychiatric center, and an Army School of Nursing was established there.

- During World War II, LAH was the debarkation center for wounded returned from the Pacific Theater; in addition, the Hospital's capacity was increased by 3,500; and in 1945, 72,000 patients were cared for there.

- The Korean War found LAH in a role similar to that of World War II.

Mark 17th Birthday Of Civil Air Patrol

Washington (AFPS) — The Civil Air Patrol, official civilian auxiliary of the Air Force, was 17 years old on 1 December.

The organization's senior and cadet members maintain close relationships with active military personnel through summer bivouacs on Air Force and Navy bases and Army posts.

Aliens Must Register Again Each January

Washington (ANS)—Under the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952, all aliens serving in or accompanying members of the Armed Forces in the Continental United States, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, Guam or the Virgin Islands, are required by law to report their addresses to the U. S. Immigration and Naturalization Service each January.

Service personnel, members of their families, and others including "Lodge Act" enlistees, falling into this category should obtain and fill out an address report form (I-53) at the nearest post office or Immigration and Naturalization Service office and return it to the clerk.

Aliens serving with or accompanying members of the U.S. Army overseas must report their addresses within ten days after returning to the Continental United States, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, or the Virgin Islands. Army Regulation 608-73 outlines details of these requirements.

Have Nike—Will Travel...

The travel-worn Nike Hercules missile shell which recently toured the West Coast under a vital public relations program designed to acquaint the public with the appearance and capabilities of this atomic-potential baby of America's air defense family is scheduled to hit the road again.

Wednesday through Friday the 41-foot display missile will be on exhibition in nearby Antioch.

Before being returned to its home 30th Artillery Group last week, the shell had been hauled around the Bay Area, toured the Pacific Northwest and journeyed through greater Los Angeles. More than five million people, most of them from areas near missile sites where the Hercules will be housed, have visited the motorcade.

Currently, the missile and its trailer and tractor are in the Presidio Ordnance shop for a check-out and a bit of sprucing up before the Antioch trip.

Sp4 Dwight Sands, who nursemaided the monster on the first leg of its initial tour and carried it to Seattle for the second, once more will be in the driver's seat. The young missileman from B Battery, 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery reported that further tours throughout Northern California will follow as soon as they can be scheduled.

Holiday Early Outs Set; Processing Now Underway

Presidio personnel due to be released or separated from the service during the Christmas-New Year holiday season will be discharged earlier when it is possible and consistent with operational schedules.

Specific figures on personnel affected by this "Home for Christmas" operation have not yet been compiled for Sixth U.S. Army or the Presidio, however enlisted personnel of all components (including six months trainees) who normally would be separated during the period 20-27 December have started this week initial processing for release by 12 December.

Those who were due to be discharged during the period 28 December through 4 January will report for processing on 8 December and may start their trip home by 18 December.

Information was not received on how many Army personnel are eligible for early release under the program, but the Defense Department, in announcing the policy of each separate service, said about 16,000 servicemen will be affected.

Specifically excluded from this program are Army officers being involuntarily relieved from active duty on specific dates, personnel under investigation, or those being separated as a result of resignations, or for cause.

Regular Army personnel whose reenlistment bonus and accrued leave pay would be adversely affected by an early release, may be retained until their ETS.

Army Chief Of Staff Will Address NorCal World Affairs Group

General Maxwell D. Taylor, United States Army Chief of Staff, will arrive here Tuesday evening.

Following an overnight stay at the Presidio, General Taylor will address the World Affairs Council of Northern California at a luncheon in his honor in the Venetian Room of the Fairmont Hotel on Wednesday.

Topic of his address will be "Problems of National Security."

Following the luncheon, General Taylor will meet with Bay Area press and television representatives.

General Taylor will arrive in California on Monday and is scheduled to tour Yuma Test Station, Arizona, as well as address a dinner meeting of the Institute of World Affairs of the University of Southern California in Pasadena. A press and television conference will also follow that address.

Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Commanding General, Sixth U.S. Army, will accompany General Taylor throughout his tour of this area.

After the War General Taylor became Superintendent of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, following which he headed the European Command headquarters in 1949. In 1953, after serving as Deputy Chief of Staff for Operations and Administration, he was appointed to succeed General James A. Van Fleet as Commanding General, Eighth U.S. Army, in Korea. General Taylor's leadership through the end of the Korean War has won wide acclaim. In April, 1955, he was named Commander-in-Chief of both the Far East and United Nations Commands. In June of that year he became Army Chief of Staff.

General Taylor has been Chief of Staff since 1955. During WWII he was prominent in the Sicilian and Italian campaigns and commanded the 101st Airborne Division in the invasions of Normandy, Holland and campaigns of Ardennes and Central Europe.

General Taylor holds numerous national and foreign decorations, including the Distinguished Service Cross, Legion of Merit, and the Purple Heart.

Interested members of the World Affairs Council, the armed forces, and the community at large are invited to make their reservations in advance by calling the Council at YUkon 2-2541. Tickets to the luncheon are $4.00 each.

VA Announces New Bonus For Insurance Holders

More than five million veterans who hold participating GI life insurance will share in regular annual policy dividends totaling $256,000,000 during 1959, Sumner G. Whittier, Administrator of Veterans Affairs, announced this week.

Mr. Whittier said the dividends are primarily a refund to policyholders of part of their premium payments, and are made possible because the death rate among GI policyholders continues to be lower than the tables upon which the premiums were established by law.

The dividend declarations were listed as:

- National Service Life Insurance (NSLI), which originated in World War II; $235,000,000 payable to approximately 4,950,000 policyholders.

- U.S. Government Life Insurance (USGLI), which originated in World War I; $21,000,000 payable to approximately 285,000 policyholders.

The 1959 NSLI and USGLI regular dividends are, respectively, $5,000,000 and $1,000,000 less than were declared for 1958, Mr. Whittier said.

However, he explained, individual policyholders will generally receive about the same amount as during 1958, since the number of GI policies in force declines between one and two per cent each year.

Dividends will be paid as soon as possible after the anniversary date of each policy during 1959. For example, if a policy was issued any 1 September the anniversary date will be 1 September 1959, Mr. Whittier pointed out.

He added that dividends will be paid to holders of both term and permanent plan participating NSLI and USGLI policies.

Policyholders should not make dividend inquiries in advance, since this would delay processing time, Mr. Whittier stressed.

Sixth Army Colonel's Son Wins Collegiate Debating's Top Honor

Cadet David H. Rogers, son of Col. Henry H. Rogers, chief, Sixth U.S. Army G2 Section, has been chosen "top debater" in the 5th Annual International Collegiate Debate Tournament at the University of Rochester, N. Y. The tournament, sponsored jointly by the University of Rochester and the Gannett Newspapers, included 23 teams from 19 colleges. Rogers, a first classman at the U.S. Military Academy, West Point, defeated over 100 men in the competition.

No holiday from

War On Carelessness

The nation's death toll over the Thanksgiving weekend reached 593. Of these, 432 were traffic deaths, 48 due to fires and 113 from miscellaneous causes. The National Safety Council had predicted 470 would die on the highways.

To date, the Sixth U.S. Army and the Presidio of San Francisco did not have any military or civilian personnel involved in holiday accidents.

Add this accomplishment to the accident-free records set on the Fourth of July and Labor Day weekends and the picture looks very bright.

However, in the world of accident prevention, there is no room for complacency. Experts tell us that every tool in the business must be used consistently and continuously for maximum success.

So, with Christmas and New Year holidays just around the corner, it is urgent that the all-out war against needless death continue.

Safety experts won't be resting on their laurels and neither should you.

For, not only is accident prevention a full-time job, it is everybody's job.

Let's plan now to keep our record one of the "bright spots" in the battle against "death by carelessness."

Lest we forget . . .

A Day To Remember

On the broad deck of the USS Nevada in Pearl Harbor's Battleship Row, the band and the Marine guard assembled for morning colors. It was 7 December, 1941. As the first bars of "The Star Spangled Banner" burst forth, the enemy struck.

The assault, unprovoked and without warning, lasted for about two hours. It crippled our Pacific fleet, left hundreds dead or dying, plunged the United States into history's greatest war.

Sunday is the seventeenth anniversary of that attack. By designation of President Eisenhower, it also is Civil Defense Day.

That dark day found this great, powerful Nation as unprepared as was the Nevada's band. A seaman on a destroyer caught in the attack said: "I didn't even know they were sore at us."

To recoup the losses we suffered that day, we paid a terrible price in lives and resources. We must not let it happen again.

Supersonic bombers and push-button missiles would make every major city in the United States a potential target. Radioactive fallout from the explosion of hydrogen bombs could reach the farthest points of the Nation. In tomorrow's war every American home would be on the front line.

This is what we are up against. This is why we must prepare now. Your local government—like your Federal Government and your State government—must prepare now so that if an attack comes it can use all of its resources to carry out whatever actions are required for survival and recovery.

And you must prepare. You must take steps now to be sure that you and your family could survive, if an attack came, for at least two weeks without help from your neighbors or local authority.

You cannot wait until the hour of attack to make these preparations. You must prepare now. Your local civil defense will tell you the simple steps to take that could mean the difference between life or death in the event of an attack. Or you can write to the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, Battle Creek, Michigan. But act now—today. We cannot afford another Pearl Harbor.

Recently Assigned

Recently assigned as an Army Aviator to Headquarters XV U.S. Army Corps (Reserve) is Capt. JACK L. TABOR, 30.

Captain Tabor, who entered the Army in 1948 from Kansas, previously served in the Coast Guard from 1945 to 1947. His last assignment prior to reporting to the Presidio was S4 of the 504th Signal Bn., Fort Huachuca, Ariz.

Captain Tabor served a tour in Germany, where he was an Army Aviator for the 97th Signal Bn. at Boeblingen from October 1953 to September 1956. He first arrived at Fort Huachuca in May 1957, assuming command of the 525th Signal Co. (E.W.).

Captain Tabor resides at Mill Valley with his wife, Eileen, and their son, James, 8, and daughter, Karen, 6.

Assigned to the Chaplain's Section, Sixth U.S. Army, is Chaplain (Lt. Col.) RICHARD B. CHEATHAM, 41, who arrived at the Presidio from Korea where he was Division Chaplain of the 7th U.S. Infantry Division since July 1957.

Entering the service as Army Chaplain in April 1942 from Florida, Chaplain Cheatham served in the Aleutian Islands, his last station being at Camp Earl, Attu. From the Aleutians he was transferred to Hq., Second Army in October 1945, serving with the Chaplain's Section, first at Memphis, Tenn., then at Fort Meade, Md., until December 1947.

Chaplain Cheatham served a tour in Germany, being assigned to the Chaplain's Division of Hq. U.S. Army Europe at Heidelberg from January 1948 to September 1950, when he was named to the Chaplain's Board at Fort Meade, Md.

From 1952 to 1954 he was an instructor at the Chaplain School at Fort Slocum, N. Y., and then was with the Office of the Chief of Chaplains until his most recent assignment in Korea.

Chaplain Cheatham holds an AB degree from University of Florida, a Divinity degree from College of the Bible, Lexington, Ky., and an MA from Teachers College, Columbia University.

Chaplain Cheatham resides at San Rafael with his wife, Louise,

First Staff JA At 6th ARADCOM Wins Commendation Award

A former Presidio Judge Advocate was appointed as the first Staff Judge Advocate for the 6th Region U.S. Army Air Defense Command. He is Major Herman G. Kleikamp who has recently returned from Korea where he was Chief of Military Justice for Eight U.S. Army.

A graduate of Fordham Law School, Major Kleikamp served at the Presidio from June 1954 to September 1957. Last week he was presented with a Certificate of Achievement from the Eighth U.S. Army for his services in Korea. The presentation of the award was made by Col. Michael M. Irvine, Sixth Region ARADCOM Chief of Staff.

Alaska First Hand

Fort Richardson, Alaska (ANS) —The January issue of the Army Information Digest will feature an article on the United States Army, Alaska. Written by Major General Gilman C. Mudgett, Commanding General, USARAL, it describes the organization and training of that command and discusses the terrain and weather of the newest and largest state.

and their daughter, Lynn, 15, and son, Richard, 12.

Major BOYD V. HILL was named Senior Advisor to the 499th Engineer Brig. and Engineer Unit Advisor to the 316th Engineer Bn.; 6318 Engineer Brig. (Training Reinforcements), and of Det. 6 and 11 of the 6121st U.S. Army Reserve Control Gp. All are XV Corps (Reserve) Bay Area reserve units.

Major Hill came to the Presidio from Fort Belvoir, Va., where he commanded the 87th Engr. Bn. for the past two years.

Entering the Army in 1940 from Oklahoma, he served with an Engineer Combat Battalion in Europe in World War II and after returning from overseas he was assigned to various Engineer training units at Fort Lewis, Wash.; Fort Warren, Wyo.; and Fort Belvoir, Va.

In 1951, Maj. Hill was in Korea first as a company commander, the executive officer of the 185th Engr. Combat Bn. From 1953 to 1954, he commanded an Engineer Training Battalion at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., and then served a tour in England as executive officer of the 804th Engr. Aviation Bn. His decorations include the Bronze Star Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster.

Major Hill lives in San Rafael with his wife, Maxine, and their children, Judy, Diana, Marilyn, 7, and Randy, 4.

Second Lieutenant GILBERT L. MUCHMORE was recently assigned to Btry. C, 4th Msl. Bn. (NIKE-AJAX) 61st Arty., at Sharp Park, Calif.

Lieutenant Muchmore calls Missoula, Mont., where his mother and father still reside, home. This 21-year-old officer was graduated from Montana State College, with a Bachelor of Science degree, in June of 1957. He was called to active duty in July and reported to Fort Bliss, Tex., to attend the Officers Basic Course. Upon completion of this course, he received his first assignment, to the 4th Msl. Bn. (NIKE-AJAX) 61st Arty. and Btry. C.

Lieutenant Muchmore is single and will live in the BOQ at Btry. C. His hobbies, which he followed during his college years, are music, drama and skiing.

what they said

The pros and cons of the booming sports car craze is the hottest thing under the topical sun. So, this week we ask:

The Question: Do you think small sports cars are here to stay?

Answers:

Pvt. Thomas Heath, 163d M.P. Co.: Yes I do. The sports cars are more economical than the large cars, although they cost more initially. I think sports car drivers tend to be a little heavy footed on the pedal; nevertheless, the first car I buy will be a sports car. I prefer a Mercedes and I am going to get one if and when I can afford it. However, any sports car is better than the conventional types.

Robert W. Kayser, Welder on the Post: I think the sports car is here to stay all right. A lot of them are sold. People love them. I know my children like sports cars (I have a daughter, 16, and a boy, 14), but I wouldn't have one. They are too fast for me. They get you into too much trouble. So, for safety's sake, I'll stick to the standard models.

Sp5 Patricia L. Eachus, clerk with AG Sec. Sixth Army: I definitely do. I own a Triumph (TR 3). I have been driving it seven months now. A sports car gives you better gas mileage and better speed on the road. If I'm on leave, time is valuable and I like to get where I'm going in a hurry. Sports car owners feel kind of a comradeship with one another. Many join clubs and always wave when they pass. I know I do. When I visited home recently—Homedale, Ida. (pop. 1,500)—my car created quite a sensation. Father managed to drive it all the time I was on leave.

EMFN Willis W. Zern, Aboard USS Oriskany, student Army Projectionist School at Presidio: Yes I do. They're lots of fun to drive. They're economical, good curving, and give you speed when you need it. I would like to own one. I like the four gears. For commuters the sports car is ideal. I just got back from the Far East. In Japan, Okinawa, and Hong Kong the sports car is the thing. My favorite is the Jaguar.

M/Sgt. Lawrence Rogers, Chief Clerk, Hq. Maneuver Director, Exercise Rocky Shoals: Yes I do. The sports cars are quite a departure from the square type cars. Oh yes, they are here to stay and since now sports car racing has become so popular, the demand for them will continue to increase. No, I don't have one, but if I had the money, I would sure get one. I prefer the heavier type, like a Jaguar.

Limited Wars

Still Real Danger

Washington (ANS) — The real danger to the United States lies in a series of limited wars in the opinion of Thomas E. Murray, former Atomic Energy Commissioner who is currently serving as an adviser to Congressional members of the Geneva conference on nuclear weapon tests.

"For several years," Mr. Murray said in an address before a Catholic University Alumni dinner here recently, "I have been endeavoring to spread my conviction that limited war is the real danger, and that a small weapons program is a real need."

The former commissioner also alleged that there is good reason to fear tests in the megaton range since they create dangers to health. Nor are they necessary, he contends, since our weapons strength in the megaton range has already gone beyond rational bounds.

"But tests of small weapons are quite a different proposition. The fact is that our security vitally depends on continued progress in perfecting the technology of small weapons—and this progress cannot be assured without tests," he said.

Each combat arm and administrative and technical service, today, maintains one or more service schools to train enlisted leaders and specialists to meet the expanding requirements of its branch of service. At some 60 schools located in all parts of the United States.

PROMOTED THIS week was Colonel Roy A. Resseguie, CO, USA Vet. Food Inspection Det. Maj. Gen. John J. Binns, Sixth U.S. Army Chief of Staff, is pinning the eagles on with the aid of Mrs. Resseguie.

Seven Win Awards For Service With D Btry., 2d Msl. Bn.

Seven missileers in D Battery, 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery were awarded Certificate of Achievement this week, six of them for performance during service fire at Red Canyon Range, N.M., last summer and the other for his superior operation of the Battery Craft Shop.

Singled out for service fire proficiency were M/Sgt. John H. Lundahl, Sfc. Lorenzo F. Vitt, Sp4 Joe F. Page, Sp4 Joseph D. Breaux, Pfc. Ronald H. Blancq and Pfc. Richard Prementer.

Handling the Craft Shop, a vital morale factor on isolated Angel Island, in an outstanding manner is Pfc. Mareus Zweedyk.

2d Msl. Bn. Awarded UBAC Certificate

For going over the top dollar-wise in the recent United Bay Area Crusade drive, the 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery earned a merit award certificate from the UBAC headquarters. In addition, similar certificates will be presented to the five batteries.

Accepting the award was Lt. Col. Thomas F. Bristol, Battalion Commander. He, in turn, will very shortly present UBAC certificates to the commanders of each battery:

1st Lt. Lloyd D. Smith, Headquarters; Capt. Roy Y. Higashi, A; Capt. Joseph Irvine, B; Capt. Arthur C. Sheppard, C; and Capt. James O. Barnes, D.

Presidio Vet Chief Is Promoted To Col.

Wearing the silver eagles of a full colonel this week is Presidio Veterinarian Col. Roy A. Resseguie, long-time Army veteran, who has been here since September, 1956.

The new colonel received the insignia denoting his higher rank from Maj. Gen. John J. Binns, Sixth U.S. Army Chief of Staff.

Colonel Resseguie, holder of the Army Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant, was called to active duty in 1941, five years after his graduation as Doctor of Veterinary Medicine from Iowa State College.

Before entering the service, he had been employed in Chicago, Ill., by the Meat Inspection Division of the Department of Agriculture.

His first major Army assignment was as Assistant Depot Veterinarian at the Chicago Quartermaster Depot. Post World War II, he again served at Chicago QMD, then as Veterinarian for the Inspection Division.

Next, he moved to Giessen, Germany, in the capacity of Depot Veterinarian (1949-1952). Returning to the States, he went to Headquarters, Military Subsistence Supply Division, where he remained until he was transferred to the Presidio.

An enthusiastic golfer, Col. Resseguie last week won the Thanksgiving Tournament here (see Sports).

Colonel Resseguie and his wife, Maxine, live in quarters on Post. They have one son, Arloe, 21.

Unit CO Please Note

Washington (ANS)—Clarification of the unit commanders' responsibilities in the maintenance and use of unit historical document files has just been made by the Army in a newly published directive, AR 220-306.

Sharp NCO Adds New Laurels To Busy On, Off-Duty Career

At 1100 Monday morning, a very surprised Presidio noncom stood tall in the office of Sixth U.S. Army Chief of Staff Maj. Gen. John J. Binns and accepted:

- An Oak Leaf Cluster to the Army Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant for his outstanding performance of duty at Ft. Richardson, Alaska.

- A $20 check, a certificate and a model missile for suggesting, also while in Alaska, that field manuals be used as texts in teaching English to troops who cannot speak English.

Today that same NCO, Sfc. Charles S. Hawkins, 41, of Sixth Army Information Section's Community Relations Branch, will demonstrate the kind of initiative which led to the dual award presentation earlier this week and has marked his whole military career.

A volunteer Troop Information instructor at Sixth Army Headquarters Company since shortly after coming here from Alaska in September, Sfc. Hawkins this afternoon will put into operation the final phase of a three-part TI program he has set up—a trip to the Nike site at Ft. Funston.

In rejuvenating Headquarters Company's TI classes, Sfc. Hawkins has aimed for reaching the troops three ways: imaginative and informative talks, supplemented by models, slides or other visual aids; bulletin board displays on current TI subject; and, when possible, practical demonstrations or field trips.

The Nike site visit, for example, has followed classroom instruction, with scale models, and poster and picture displays on a bulletin board near the unit orderly room.

Civil Defense Day Set For Sunday 7 December

National Civil Defense Day will be observed for the first time on Sunday, 7 December.

Throughout the United States and its Territories, Americans are asked by Leo A. Hoegh, Director of the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, to analyze what they have done toward building an effective civil defense.

Civil Defense Day also is the seventeenth anniversary of the attack on Pearl Harbor. (See editorial.)

Director Hoegh said American's first step toward being informed on civil defense actions is to obtain and carry the OCDM preparedness card. It is available from the Civil Defense office at 45 Hyde Street, San Francisco.

The card urges Americans to take these basic steps toward protection and survival in event of attack:

Prepare a family shelter and equip it with a two-week supply of food and water, plus such essentials as a first aid kit and battery-operated radio.

Learn warning signals, the community plan for emergency action, protection from radioactive fallout, first aid, and the use of CONELRAD for emergency radio information (160 and 1240 on the dial).

Distribution of the wallet card to school children is to be made today by Girl Scout Councils in the Bay Area.

New Stamp Issue

Three new stamps will be issued during the balance of the year. A blue "Jet" Embossed Air Mail Envelope, selling for 7¢, will make its debut in New York today. On Nov. 25 a blue Fort Duquesne Bicentennial commemorative stamp will be first issued in Pittsburgh, Pa., while a maroon John Jay 15¢ postage stamp will be issued in Washington D.C. on Dec. 12.

From The Army Almanac: Battle of the Bulge began in World War II, 16 December 1944.

Mail early and often!

The volume of holiday mail to be handled during the 1958 Christmas season is expected to be heavier than ever before. In order to prevent jam-ups that will strain the postal facilities and transportation lines, everyone is urged to deposit their Christmas mail early.

If you have gifts or Christmas cards destined for overseas you should mail it today. The deadline date for Eastern States is 10 December, while mail for local delivery should be posted by 16 December.

DOUBLE WINNER is Sfc. Charles S. Hawkins of Sixth U.S. Army Information Section who here displays certificates, money and a trophy awarded him for proficiency (Oak Leaf Cluster to the Army Commendation Ribbon) and a suggestion award. The two awards, presented this week by Sixth Army Chief of Staff Maj. Gen. John J. Binns, were initiated while he served at Ft. Richardson, Alaska, prior to coming to the Presidio.

Earlier, he gave a talk on the military significance of Alaska, not only drawing from his personal experience but also showing colored slides he took while there.

Sfc. Hawkins is no newcomer to the TI game. Here is a thumbnail sketch of his military career:

- Entered the Army in 1944, served for the rest of World War II in Europe with Patton's Third Army (awarded Combat Infantry Badge), and then took a break in service until 1948.

- After reentering the service, got his first taste of public information and relations work while with the Recruiting Service for a year in his home town, St. Joseph, Mo. ("I was just a private with no experience in writing. I really had to hustle, so I did a lot of handshaking and made the rounds of all the newspapers, radio stations and clubs.") He was so effective, he enlisted himself into the Regular Army from Reserve status.

- During the next six years, while at Ft. Leavenworth, Kans., U.S.D.B., served as NCOIC of TI&E and supervised three newspapers—"Daily News," biweekly staff "First Guardian" and the prisoner's award-winning monthly, "Stray Shots." Also supervised, though a non-drinker, weekly Alcoholics Anonymous meetings. Earned first Army Commendation Ribbon.

- Since 1955, and until coming here, was TI&E supervisor at Ft. Richardson and published the "Daily News."

Sfc. Hawkins and his wife, Jeanetta, now live in San Francisco with their two children, Carol Ann, 17, and Robert, 14.

ACCEPTING PRESIDIO'S Annual Safety Awards for their units are (l. to r.): 1st Sgt. Edmund J. Gedroc, Sixth U.S. Army Band, Capt. Charles J. Monges, 1st Sgt. Frank S. Datner, CO and 1st Sgt. respectively of

Academy Classmates Win Promotion Here

Two officers who graduated together from West Point (Class of '57) and are serving in the same Nike battery were promoted together Tuesday.

In ceremonies yesterday, Lt. Col. Thomas F. Bristol, Commander of the 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery pinned silver bars on new First Lieutenants James F. Henthorne and Andrew R. Foster, Jr., both of A Battery, 2d Battalion.

Will Address LAH Club

Mr. William Richard MacKenzie III, of the Frank Newman Home Furnishings Co., Stonestown, will conduct a discussion of interior decoration at the Letterman Women's Club Luncheon Thursday at 1230. Reservations may be made by calling 4288, and the price will be $1.50.

Ex-Officer Jumps From Sergeant To CWO-W2

Sergeant Harrison L. Roebke, Btry. D, 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty., got the VIP treatment from Lt. Col. Ernest J. Whitaker, Battalion Commander, and Major Conrad O. Mannes, Jr., Battalion Executive Officer, at an informal ceremony held at Battalion Headquarters, commemorating his appointment to Chief Warrant Officer. Lt. Col. Whitaker and Major Mannes pinned on his first set of WO bars.

This bar-pinning ceremony was a happy occasion for the new CWO, but old stuff for him in a lot of respects. The San Jose, California, native joined the Army in 1940 and received his first bars when he graduated from the Signal Corp Officer Candidate School, a 2nd Lt., in 1942. Then followed his promotions to 1st Lt. and later, to Captain.

In 1954 Capt. Roebke requested a release from active duty to try his luck as a civilian. The day after his release became effective, he was promoted to Major in the Reserves.

By 1956, civilian life had become a bit monotonous for Mr. Roebke of San Jose and he began to think more and more about those fourteen years and two wars he had spent in the Army. Finally, the thought of returning to Army life and NIKE Missiles intrigued citizen Roebke so much, that one morning in May of that year, he got in his car and drove to the Recruiting Station in San Francisco. He was sworn in for the NIKE field in his permanent rank of Sgt. and sent to Ft. Ord, California, for his initial processing. After the processing he returned

Woodruff Top Grad In Largest ADS Class

San Francisco Army Air Defense School at Fort Scott, Presidio of San Francisco, graduated its largest group to date when diplomas were granted to the 74 students of the eighth class in advanced individual training.

The school's eight-week course is the next step after basic training in producing missilemen for the San Francisco-Travis AFB Army Air Defense units.

The class honor student was Pvt. James V. Woodruff, of "D" Battery, 1st Missile Battalion (Nike-Ajax), 61st Artillery, Travis Air Force Base. He was presented with the honor graduate award, a Parker pen, by his Battalion Commander, Lt. Col. Ned E. Ackner.

Col. Iver A. Peterson, commander of the San Francisco-Travis AFB Army Air Defense, congratulated the graduates and introduced the guest speaker, Col. Charles H. Blumenfeld, chief of staff of the 6th Region, United States Army Air Defense Command, who impressed them with the need to be good citizens as well as good missilemen.

Col. Blumenfeld and Capt. Robert W. Monroe, Commandant of the school, then presented diplomas to the graduates. Invocation and benediction were given by Chaplain (Capt) E. G. Carson.

During the eight-week course at the Army Air Defense School, students are taught the characteristics and fundamental operations of the NIKE-AJAX guided missiles. Upon graduation, the "missileers" are sent to their parent units and put their knowledge to practical use as crewmen at the Nike sites throughout the San Francisco-Travis Army Air Defense.

Fire Marshal Urges Careful Check To Prevent Disaster

Presidio Fire Marshal, Col. Ralph J. Griffin, urged civilian and military personnel this week to use the following checkoff list to assure themselves and their families a fire-free holiday season.

"Every year the happiness of the holiday season is marred by neglect, or carelessness on the part of some individual. We owe it to ourselves, and our neighbors, to plan carefully for a fire-free celebration. By following this detailed checklist, you can be sure you and yours and those around you won't pay for an act of carelessness."

Fire Chief George Geller added another word of caution when he stated, "It's an old saw, but the 'ounce of prevention' bit is still the best guide for a fire-free holiday."

Check the following list carefully!

The Christmas Tree

- All trees and greens should be fire retarded. The Fire Department will fire-retard all decorations free of charge. Owners must have their name and address securely attached to all material to be treated and may bring them to the Presidio, Ft. Cronkhite, or Angel Island fire stations.

- Christmas trees and greens should not be installed or hung before 16 December and must be removed before 5 January.

Blithe Spirit On Boards Again Tonight, Tomorrow

Presidio Service Club will be the stage tonight of the second of three performances of "Blithe Spirit," Noel Coward's humorous interpretation of The Eternal Triangle—with an improbable twist!

Last night, the Presidio Players presented their "out of town" opening before a packed house in Letterman Army Hospital Recreation Hall.

Curtain time tonight, as well as for the finale tomorrow, will be 2015.

Usually the much-discussed Triangle involves three very real people, with two of them—disastrously—belonging to the same sex. But playwright Coward deviates a bit and fills only two corners with flesh-and-blood people; the third is occupied, or perhaps unoccupied, by a ghost only perceived by one of the other two.

Essentially, editorial curiosity raises this farcical situation. Our hero, an English author named Charles Condomine, invites a medium to a dinner party to entertain his guests and furnish him material for a new book. During the course of her act, the medium raises the ghost of Charles' first wife who has been dead for seven years. Only Charles can see her. Needless to say, with one flesh wife and one spirit wife, Charles has a pretty entangling go of it.

An old hand in Presidio productions, Pfc. Gene English, is cast as Mr. Condomine and two newcomers fill the roles of his wives: Mrs. Jan Turner, veteran Brigham Young University and Little Theater grad, as spirit Elvira and Mrs. Ann Henning, most experienced actress to perform here (Pasadena Playhouse, radio, TV), as his present wife, Ruth.

Also in the cast are Cammie Maribella as medium Madam Arcati; Dolores Shoemaker, voted Best Actress in the past Presidio One-Act Play festival, as the Condomine's maid; and two other newcomers, Mrs. Sue Rogers and Pfc. John Duley, as Dr. and Mrs. Bradman, the Condomine's dinner guests.

On the technical end, the show is directed by Pfc. John Reid. Pfc. Bill Lee is handling sets and lighting and Pfc. Stuart Blue is in charge of special effects.

The play is being produced by the Post Special Services Office, under the supervision of Entertainment Director Harry Helman.

Schell-Denyer Concert On Sunday

Original compositions by Sp4 George A. Schell and the fine soprano singing of Carol Denyer will highlight a concert at the Post Chapel on Sunday at 1900 hours.

This will be the first public performance of Three San Francisco Songs, with music by Schell (see kaleidoscope) and lyrics by Miss Denyer.

Organist Schell and Miss Denyer will also present Prelude and Fugue-Bach; Frauen Liebe Und Leben-Chamisso; Delius-Jacobsen; Manon Lescaut-Puccini; Scottish Lyrics Nairne; Greensleeves-Purvis; Songs of Christmas, The First Mercy, Virgin's Lullaby and In the Bleak Midwinter; Sacred Songs and the Schell-Denyer originals—Morning Song of the Skyscraper, The Bridge's Cape and A Path of Life.

The concert is free and everyone is invited to attend.

When buying your tree, rub your hand over the branches, to see if needles feel moist; shake the tree, if needles fall off, it may be too old to absorb water. You should stand the tree in water to keep it fresh and fragrant. First cut an inch or so, slantwise, off the butt of the tree. No presently known chemical is as effective as natural moisture in putting fire resistance in trees.

Gifts

- Don't buy pyroxylin dolls, toys or non-flameproofed costumes. Toys operated by alcohol, kerosene or gasoline are especially dangerous. They may upset and ignite children's clothing, the tree, or the house.

Important Points

- Don't permit smoking near the tree where it might ignite decorations or wrappings.
- Have plenty of ash trays available for smokers.
- Guard against flying sparks from fireplaces with adequate fire screening.
- Keep matches, lighters and candles away from small hands.
- Plan now what you will do in case of fire.

1. Call Fire Department, Dial 117
2. Get everyone out of the building
3. Close all doors and windows

Finally, clip this list out and check it many times during the holiday season. Do this, and your holidays will be happy days for all.

Decorations & Wrappings

- Use non-combustible materials, metal, glass, asbestos, etc., in decorating your home. When you must use combustible materials be sure they are flameproofed, particularly Santa Claus whiskers, cotton batting, paper and cloth costumes. Any of these may ignite

MacArthur Story-KPIX Sunday 1330

kaleidoscope

"A tall grey form with spine of steel
Lifts head towards the sky,
And in the early morning mists,
Has raised a sleepy eye."

So begins "Morning Song of the Sky-scraper," one of the three original San Francisco Songs composed by soldier-artist Sp4 George A. Schell to the lyric poetry of soprano Carol Denyer. San Francisco Songs, which include "The Bridge's Cape" and "A Path of Life," will debut as the "piece de resistance" of a concert at the Post Chapel, 1900 hours, on Sunday, 7 December.

"I guess it can best be described as mood music," states Schell. "I've tried to capture the living sound of what I consider the heart beat of San Francisco—the financial district, the Golden Gate and Market Street. I only hope my music lives up to the fine quality of Miss Denyer's poetry."

"Did the music or the poetry come first? Let's say the idea came first. I had mentioned to Carol that I would like very much to do something along these lines and that the right type of poetry would add a great deal of fuel to my inspiration. No sooner said, than done. Carol turned out the poetry, I added the music."

A chaplain's assistant, Sp4 George Schell became interested in music at the age of 7. "It was about the time, during WWII, when martial airs were so popular. We had a piano and I learned to play the Marine Hymn by ear. My parents were impressed, so I began piano lessons at 8."

Schell disavows any prodigy status, however. "There is a solid musical tradition in my family. My father, Paul, is a fine vocalist—he is a solist, has been for years, with our church choir. My mother, Adene, plays the piano. Younger brothers (Schell is 24) Tom, 20, plays the flute, and Dan, 19, has a fine singing voice. My sister, Carolyn, 26, plays the violin and string bass, and has a fine voice also. So, you see, my talent was a very natural gift."

Reserved, quiet-spoken and easy to know, Schell, nonetheless, can give off dynamic sparks when discussing his pet fields—religious music and art.

"Religious music in the past half century has become stagnant. Waiting for the true genius of a Handel or a Bach to give us 'great new vigor' is not enough. Secondary composers should be encouraged to compose good modern hymns. And pastors of community churches should encourage musical understanding and participation from their congregations. An ideal goal would be the teaching of a new hymn every week to church choirs and members."

"Another thing. Why must everyone feel that religious music has to be staid, sad and somber. I agree with Mahalia Jackson's statement the other day. She said that people won't accept her singing as spiritual. They term it 'jazz or blues or even rock and roll' because it has rhythm, beat. After all, church is not just some place to go when you're sad. Faith and love of God should be a joyous and happy thing. Modern composers of religious music should look to the Negro spirituals for a great deal of inspiration."

A native of Clovis, California, Schell finished high school there and then attended Fresno State College where he earned a degree in music. His minor was in art and he still finds time to work in "landscapes and semiabstracts."

At the Presidio for 19 months, Schell will be leaving the service in January and at present has no real definite plans. "I'll go back to school, I'm sure. Maybe later on I'll teach. Of course, I'll work hard at my music and art, but in this day and age such pursuits are considered trivial. I have to look to the future, say 10 years from now, when, unless I've become a sensational success, my bread and butter will depend on a regular income."

"My ambition in life? To leave the world a better place than I found it. And to have contributed to that betterment by broadening the interests of those around me in music and art."

Foul Weather Friend

Fort Riley, Kansas (ANS) — "It's always too warm here," complains Pvt. Thaddeus R. Mayac to his shivering buddies. Mayac, an Eskimo from near Nome, Alaska, is taking basic training here with the 16th Infantry.

"The summers at home are very short," he said. "They run from June to August and the temperature averages between 40 and 70 degrees."

During the winter, Mayac said the temperature is as low as 47 degrees below zero—and that's not considering wind chill.

Big Picture Feature In TV Debut Here

A panorama of a half century of American history as well as a fascinating story of an Army hero of modern times will be told over Channel 5, KPIX 7 December at 1330, when The MacArthur Story is shown.

The half-hour program, a dramatic portrayal of the life of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, is taken from documentary films covering the past fifty years. It is narrated by Walter Cronkite from a script by Dan Klugherz and introduced by Master Sergeant Stuart Queen. The film is being shown on the 17th anniversary of Pearl Harbor, scenes of which are featured.

In no previous film has there been an opportunity to reveal General MacArthur both as a man and as a soldier who made an indelible imprint upon our history.

His career is followed from the days of his brilliant record at West Point; as the youngest general in France in World War I, where he was highly decorated; through outstanding achievements as Chief of Staff of the Army, to his retirement—a lifetime already filled with honor and accomplishment.

In World War II he returns to the military scene to become a master strategist as well as a symbol of American determination. He goes on to a unique military governorship of Japan, directs the Korean campaign while in his seventies and concludes with the dramatic return to America and his historic address to Congress.

The MacArthur Story is not only an appreciation and a tribute, but a chronicle of achievements which make it impossible for him, as he has put it, to "fade away." He will remain, in the way the film presents him, a soldier of tremendous personal integrity.

General of the Army
Douglas MacArthur

The film is part of the Big Picture series, which is the most widely distributed and telecast TV series in the world. Among its many awards is that received from the Freedoms Foundation in 1957. It is now in its seventh year, having released more than 250 issues.

Scouts, Junior Daughters Set Christmas Projects

Ladies of the Presidio Woman's Club combined generosity with pleasure yesterday during their December meeting at the Presidio Officers' Open Mess.

In addition to enjoying luncheon and a speaker-entertainment program, the ladies kicked off their "Christmas Cheer for Children" toy drive by each donating a gift-wrapped toy for a needy youngster.

The Club-sponsored campaign, which will tie in with an annual drive of the San Francisco Fire Department, got a valuable assist this week when members of the Post senior Girl Scouts and the Junior Daughters of the Army turned out collection boxes now located at key spots throughout the Post.

Last year, City firemen passed out new and renovated toys to 3,127 children; to make this possible, the firemen personally repaired more than 5,000 toys. Because of a shortage of available workers this year, the firemen would appreciate new toys, but will be happy to accept used ones.

Guest speaker at the ladies' luncheon was George Mardikian, owner of Omar Khayyam's Restaurant in San Francisco. Heading the entertainment was a skit, "Winter Wonderland," by Mrs. George I. LeBaron and Mrs. A. G. Jordan.

Group singing was led by Sue Rogers, while Charlotte Kvam gave an organ recital and Mrs. Marvin Tjostem played the piano.

Trees Go On Sale

Bay Area Exchange Christmas trees went on sale in Bldg. M-17 this week, and will be sold every Saturday and Sunday until 25 December.

Chapel Guild Meet

Envoy Nightingale, a member of the San Francisco Salvation Army, will speak on "The Problems of the Delinquent Woman," at a meeting of the Presidio Women's Chapel Guild, Thursday from 0900 to 1100.

The business meeting, to be held in the Religious Activities Center, will be conducted by Mrs. Neta Ross, and officers will be elected at that time.

Rowing Club Party

Presidio military and civilian employees are invited to attend the annual MSTs Christmas party tonight at the San Francisco Rowing Club. Admission will be 50 cents, including refreshments and entertainment.

Rhythm At The 'Y'

A Rhythm Round-Up with the Moonshiners tonight at 2030, an awards dance tomorrow night at 2030, and a big dance next Thursday from 2030 to 2300 will highlight next week's Embarcadero Armed Services Y.M.C.A. activities.

Santa Claus Back

Santa Claus and his bag filled with gifts for good boys and girls will return to the Post Exchange Toyland tomorrow from 1000 to 1300. The exchange photographer will also be on hand at the Ft. Scott location to take pictures.

—places to go

Twelve 22-foot candles will begin blazing in Union Square tonight and will continue to spread their glow throughout the Christmas season. Participating in lighting ceremonies this evening will be the Municipal Chorus and Band, and the event will be broadcast over the Columbia System from 2100 to 2130.

"Honey Bun," sung by pert Mitzi Gaynor, is one of the wonderful songs heard in "South Pacific," a new motion picture classic in Todd-AO filmed in the breathtaking color of the islands and now showing at the Alexandria Theatre, Geary and 18th.

Versatile Kaye Ballard, current hit at the Hungry i, is a one woman musical comedy with her dancing, song satires, impersonations and "flute playing?" San Francisco's oldest French restaurant, the Ritz Old Poodle Dog, has an atmosphere carrying out old World traditions, and serves such excellent cuisine as French Onion Soup and Crab Legs Poodle Dog.

Two plays by Tennessee Williams, "Suddenly Last Summer," and "Something Unspoken," will make their San Francisco debuts tonight at the Marines' Theater, Sutter and Mason Sts. This is the double bill which stunned New York and Los Angeles. Tickets for the performances, beginning at 2030, may be purchased at Sherman Clay for $1.85 and $2.75 (tax exempt).

Another first nighter tonight at the Playhouse, The "Cry Of The Peacock," is an electrifying combination of outrageous farce and explosively grotesque tragedy. Tickets are on sale at Sherman Clay for $1.75, or may be reserved by phoning PR 5-4426.

A mistress of satire, Tallulah Bankhead brings her vitality to "Crazy October," madcap comedy opening at the Geary Theater on 15 December with Joan Blondell and Estelle Winwood in featured roles. Advance reservations may be made by calling OR. 3-6440.

4th Msl Bn Sweeps Regional Volleyball Play

NINE BIG REASONS why the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, highnetters are odds-on favorites to retain their All-ARADCOM title when the star-attraction tourney opens at Letterman gym tomorrow night are 30th Artillery Group and 6th ARADCOM champs (l. to r.): Standing—Sp4 David Rhem, Sp4 Richard Chute, Pfc. James McLin, Pfc. Donald Hubbell and Pfc. Allen Kincaid; Kneeling—Sp4 James Morse, Sp4 Robert Mendez, Sfc. Carlos Ramirez and M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio (player-coach).

Will Defend All-ARADCOM Title Here This Weekend

(Ed's. Note: The following is compiled from releases prepared exclusively for the "Star Presidian" by Sfc. David Stanley of the 6th ARADCOM Information Section.)

Presidio's 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery highnetters, who bowled over West Coast competition to take their second straight 6th ARADCOM volleyball title Tuesday, will be cast in the role of host and defending champion this weekend when the third annual All-ARADCOM tourney gets under way at Letterman gym.

(The 6th ARADCOM entry also took the All-ARADCOM crown in the first championship playoff in 1956.)

Team managers and captains will meet with tournament officials, from the U.S. National Volleyball Association, tomorrow morning at the Presidio NCO Open Mess to draw for positions in the double elimination tournament. In addition to the 4th Battalion team, entries from the 1st, 2d, 4th and 5th ARADCOM's will compete.

Two games are scheduled for tonight, beginning at 1830, with two more Monday at 1830 and two Tuesday at 1400. If a playoff is required, it will be held Wednesday at 1400.

The host unit faces the problem of not only successfully defending its title, but also the local missile-men must send members of four other regional Army Air Defense teams back to their home stations well satisfied with San Francisco hospitality.

Despite programmed tours for the visitors to historic landmarks — including Chinatown, Fisherman's Wharf and the Presidio—the favored, hard spiking 4th Battalion club might cancel the guest squads' pleasure.

Player-coach M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio, rated an All-American Armed Forces set man and mentor of both previous All-ARADCOM winners, picks his current team as the strongest he has had. Greater depth—all the way through the ninth man—gives the 1958 group the edge over earlier champs.

Four men, besides M/Sgt. Ignacio, are veteran's of last year's winners: spikers Sp4 Dave Rhem, Pfc. Al Kincaid and Pfc. Jim McLin and set man Sp4 Bob Mendez. New men are spikers Sfc. Carlos Ramirez, Sp4 Dick Chute and Pfc. Don Hubbell and set man Sp4 James Morse.

While rosters of the other four teams have been received, little is known about their play. Each had to win at least two tournaments to reach the big one (4th Battalion won the 30th Artillery Group and 6th ARADCOM titles.

Pvt. Donald Post, during his college days a star for Dartmouth, is expected to be one of the big guns of the 4th ARADCOM team; names of other players do not have a familiar ring.

Brig. Gen. Daniel O'Connor, 31st Artillery Brigade Commander (Seattle), will pinch hit during opening ceremonies and at the awards banquet Wednesday night for Lt. Gen. Charles E. Hart, USARADCOM Commander, and Maj. Gen. Edward J. McGaw, 6th ARADCOM Commander, who will be unable to attend.

Winner and runner-up awards will be presented to team captains and members.

In coping the 6th ARADCOM championship, the 4th Battalion belted Los Angeles twice in the finals of the double-elimination tournament.

In the first game, the San Franciscans' publicized offense fizzled momentarily and LA jumped to a 1-0 lead. Scores saw-sawed until the locals pushed to an 11-10 advantage; then Pfc. Kincaid and Sp4 Rhem slammed spikes for four straight and a 15-10 win.

A second game was no contest as the 4th Battalion tromped LA, 15-4, for the tourney championship.

The locals opened play by blanking a spirited, but badly outclassed sextet from Fairchild, 15-0, followed up by a 15-1 win for the 4th Battalion. Spiker Sp4 Rhem served 13 straight points to almost singlehandedly register the victory for the Golden Gaters in the first game.

Keglers Set Big Turkey Shoot For A 3-Day Affair

Next weekend Presidio keg-lers who think they have a knack for bustin' the pins can take a whack at winning a plump Christmas turkey—it's time again for the annual Mixed Doubles Handicap Turkey Shoot here!

The Post Service Club alleys will be the stage next Friday, Saturday and Sunday when the guys and gals team up to try for the main course of the holiday meal.

Action will get underway Friday evening at 1900, followed Saturday at 1800; the Shoot will wind up Sunday when bowlers take to the lanes at 1400.

Entrants should sign up at the Service Club alleys; further information may be obtained, however, by calling Sfc. Ed Johnson at Ext. 5239.

Nike Hoop Tourney

Basketball will take the limelight in athletic endeavors of the 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery next week when the Nike-men stage a pre-season inter-battery tournament designed to select an all-Battalion team to vie in the 30th Artillery Group (Air Def.) championships early next year.

Scene of the action during the two-day tourney (Thursday and Friday) will be the Letterman gym. The winning battery will be awarded a trophy.

Inter-battery league play will begin in January.

Fencing Tonight At LAH, Purdy Takes NorCal Title

Ed Purdy of the Letterman-Presidio fencing team last Friday won the Northern California Unclassified Epee championship after working through two preliminary rounds and coming through the finals without dropping a bout.

M/Sgt. Bert Scheck also competed in the preliminary rounds but was kept from the finals because of a tie in one match.

Letterman gym tonight at 2000 will be the site of the Northern California Class C Foil championships, with entries expected from all fencing clubs and colleges and universities in the upper part of the State.

Sunday, beginning at 1300, action will move to the San Francisco School of Fencing (3015 Clement St.) where the NorCal Class C Epee meet will be staged.

Representing Letterman-Presidio in foil will be 1st Lt. George Bledschmidt, M/Sgt. Scheck, Pfc. Bill Fleming, 1st Lt. Eugene Hardy, Col. Laurance Brownlee, Ben Firth and Purdy.

To compete in epee are M/Sgt. Severo Pasol, Bill Coleman, Purdy, M/Sgt. Scheck, Col. Brownlee and 1st Lt. Hardy.

Fencers Plan Return Match With Mexicans

Letterman-Presidio fencers who were edged recently by Mexico's best swordsmen in a tournament in Mexico City may get another crack at their vanquishers within the next six months.

Plans are under way for another Fencers-California meet, also to be staged South of the Border, which will find the locals pitted against their rivals; in addition, two other teams from Southern California are expected to compete.

Kops, Shatters In League Tie; Alley Rats Shutout 60th CID

Top spot in the Presidio Bowling League is still all tied up as the front-running Keystone Kops and Shatters both won by shutouts this week.

The Kops blanked the Recruiters, 4-0, behind the 538-193 of Johnson; pacing the losers was Burmeister, 508-201.

Shatters victims were the King Pins as DuBois, with 589-216, led the landslide. The Pins' Bowlds, though, turned in a creditable 557-205.

In a third shutout game, the Alley Rats bounced 60th CI Detachment, 4-0, while Reinders, 560-210, and Kirtley, 458-165, were high men for the respective teams.

The other League match found SFAADS besting the Islanders, 3-0. Top bowler for the Air Defense men was Wilcox, 493-166; heading the Islanders was Lundahl, 465-179.

Standings are now: Kops and Shatters, 38-14; Recruiters, 30-22; Alley Rats, 28-25; Pins and Islanders, 23-29; 60th CID, 15-37; and SFAADS, 14-38.

A forfeit game highlighted bowling this week in the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery. Third place C Battery could not make the trip to meet leading Headquarters Battery, so the Headquarters squad rolled for averages. Walkley, with 505-196, paced the team.

In the only competitive action, second place A Battery white-washed celler dwelling B Battery, 4-0. Heading the winners was Sankey, 500-174, while best for the B-boys was Irving's 443-167.

After six weeks of busting the pins, the 2d Battalions, 51st Artillery, race shapes up this way:

Headquarters is way out in front, 20-4, with the Islanders (D Btry.) a weak second, 13-11. The Rangers (also D Btry.) occupy the third slot, while two teams from B Btry.—the Hilltoppers and the Five Niners—are tied up for fourth, both with 10-14. Sitting in the cellar are the Angels (A Btry.) with 7-17.

The Islanders have posted both the high team handicap series and game with 2,703 and 999.

Individual scratch high series and game both were registered by M/Sgt. Jack Lundahl, 574 and 216; but, high average bowler is CWO Robert Sutton, with 164. 1st Lt. John F. McMahon holds the high handicap game, 230, and WO Eugene Howard the best handicap series, 609.

Over in the Pacific League, the lead changed hands again this week as Sixth Army Headquarters No. 2 climbed back on top as the AAA Sparks got bounced by the Warrants.

Headquarters No. 2 split 2-2 with the Retorts as Whall, 467-162, and Carmer, 452-162, paced the respective teams.

In besting the Sparks, 3-1, the Warrants followed Delaney's 563-210. Best effort for the losers was Schneider's 518-209.

In other action, the Hilltoppers knocked off the Regioners, 4-0. Johnson led the winners with 506-189; Barton was high for the losers with 475-170.

Sixth Army Headquarters No. 3 took a 3-1 decision from the Mis-sileers as Maybee posted a 493 series for Sixth Army and Irving rolled 474-171 for the losers.

Presidio Cagers Drop First Game

BIG SILVER BOWLS, with the biggest for the best, were prizes for the four top golfers in the recent Thanksgiving Golf Tournament staged by the United Services Golf Club here. Admiring the Number One winner's cup are (l. to r.) winner Col. Roy A. Resseguie,

LAH Bowlers Win NorCal Crown By Downing Sac Depot

Letterman Army Hospital keglers are champions!

In burying Sacramento Signal Depot, 4-0, in the final match of the NorCal Military Sports Association season, the local medics clinched top spot in the six-team league.

Leading the title thrust were CWO Frank Kessler, with a 581 series, and M/Sgt. Rex Mullender, with a 229 game.

At the regular monthly NCMSA meeting early this week, it was decided to initiate a new double round-robin, to begin the third week in January.

Although in such competition team and individual trophies would be awarded, no points would be given towards the annual trophy presented to the member installation with the best showing in a number of sports.

Hospital Cagers Underdogs In Go With Marine Five

Letterman Army Hospital cagers saw action last night when they clashed with the San Francisco Marines on the medics' home court.

Results were not available at press time, but the locals went in as underdogs.

Coach M/Sgt. Norman Fricker said this week that the game would test the feasibility of playing a system game when duty restrictions preclude consistent full squad practice.

If the planned plays don't seem to click, M/Sgt. Fricker said, he will switch to a fast break speed game.

Wednesday, the Hospital men will move across the Bay to face Oakland Army Terminal in the locals' first NorCal Military Sports Association game.

The following evening, they will return to Letterman gym to host Long Beach Naval Station, beginning at 1930.

The game of racquets was originated in England by inmates of a jail called Debtor's Prison.

Vet Chief Grabs Silver In USCG Golf Tourney

Four local Army officers copped the top spots in the recently concluded Thanksgiving Golf Tournament sponsored by the United Services Golf Club here.

The 72-hole handicap tourney, in which entries could play four rounds anytime between 1 and 21 November, was tied up at the end of regular play and an 18-hole playoff found:

Colonel Roy Resseguie, Post Veterinarian, taking the crown, 1-up, from Maj. Jack Powell, Sixth Army Special Services.

Getting the nod for the low gross for any 18-hole round was Maj. George Reuss, Assistant Post Provost Marshal, and the low net for the same course was fired by Maj. Jack R. Hunt, Post Quartermaster.

The winner, runnerup and two specialty winners were awarded silver bowls.

In addition, turkeys were awarded to two other winners. George Horan earned one for posting the low gross on the final round and Maj. Morrison H. Belmont (Ret.) took the other home by stroking the low net on the last round.

Wow! Brownie Lays Record 12,040 Eggs

An 8-year-old brown trout created quite a stir in fish circles recently when she laid a record 12,040 eggs at the Mount Whitney Hatchery, Inyo County.

Actual production of the 29-inch, 11½-pounder was 70 liquid ounces of eggs, averaging 172 to the ounce.

As far as can be determined, this is a California record for artificially spawned brown trout. It may be a national high mark, too.

Presidio Bowlers Dump Beale AFB; Andresen Top Man

Beale airmen invaded the Presidio last Saturday for a crack at the Post Torero keglers, but went home on the short end of a 7-1 spread in two NorCal Armed Forces Sports League matches at the Presidio Service Club alleys.

In rolling over the visitors, 4-0, in the first match, the Presidians followed the lead of Sfc. Ed Johnson, who posted a neat 582 series. The locals picked up a 204-pin advantage.

The second match found the Toreros ekeing out a 2681-2589 total pins margin, but they dropped the second game, 873-942, to win the match 3-1. Sfc. Donald Andresen, with a 563 series, took top honors for the locals.

At 1300 today, bowling representatives from the seven installations in NCAFSL will meet here at the Service Club to iron out final league schedules and determine whether previously rolled matches should count in official standings or be tagged "practice" meets.

Tomorrow the Toreros will move to Travis Air Force Base for two afternoon matches, beginning at 1300.

Disabled Vets Asked To Delay Application For Free Fishing Okay

Fishermen entitled to free licenses in 1959 have been asked to wait until 15 December before filing applications.

California License Officer Lawrence O'Leary said that his office will not be equipped to handle requests before that date.

Licenses may be obtained only at the State Department of Fish and Game headquarters, 722 Capitol Ave., Sacramento.

A single point Monday night dumped Presidio Torero cagers from the unbeaten ranks when, with eight seconds to go, guard Eddie Thomas hit with a 25-foot set shot to lead his Humboldt State quintet to a 47-46 win over the local squad.

The next night, the Toreros bounced back to whip Humboldt, 58-51, in the last game of a two-game series on the road. The first tilt was staged in Arcata; the second, in Eureka.

Earlier, the Presidians had registered their seventh win without a loss by clobbering Alameda Coast Guard, 79-47. Now the locals stand at 8-1.

The split with Humboldt marked the two lowest scoring efforts of the Toreros and only the third game in which they have been held to fewer than 70 points.

In the losing fracas, Presidio basketballers seasawed with Humboldt but took a slim early lead and were out in front, 23-19, at halftime. Early in the second half, Humboldt tied it twice and took a six-point lead with 12 minutes to go.

Then the Toreros gunned to a three-point advantage and held the lead until the final minute when Humboldt's Joe Miller hit a free throw to whittle the margin to one point, setting the stage for Thomas' winning basket.

Pfc. Bill Von Weyhe of MRU paced the locals with 16, but hot on his heels was Pfc. Mike Diaz of 30th Engineer Battalion with 15. Four other locals also hit the scoring column: Pvt. Harry Lux, 30th Artillery Group, 8; 2d Lt. Ed Fine, Post Pharmacy Officer, 4; Pfc. John Perry, Honor Guard, 2; and Pfc. Joe Savoldi, U.S.A. Training Group, 1.

In the second game, Presidio again fought a nip-and-tuck battle, with Pfc. Von Weyhe registering 16 for the second straight night to pace the locals.

At halftime, the Toreros were ahead, 36-30, and when the final gun sounded they had increased the margin by 1 more.

The only other Presidians to hit double figures were 2d Lt. Fine, 12, and Pfc. Perry, 11. Also scoring were Pfc. Savoldi, 8; Pfc. Diaz, 6; Pvt. Lux, 4; and Pfc. Frank Zechel of 16th BPO, 1.

In burying the Alameda Coast Guard, team high scorer Pfc. Von Weyhe (160 pts., 17.7 avg.) was held to 10, but to fill the gap was Pfc. Diaz (13.1) posted a strong 26, 12 via free throws.

2d Lt. Bill Neider, ExO of U.S.A. Garrison Headquarters Company hit for 12. Others pouring through the points were Pvt. Lux, 9; Pfc. Perry, 6; Pfc. Savoldi and 1st Lt. Frank Evangelho, 30th Artillery Group Special Services Officer, 5; 2d Lt. Fine, 4; and Pfc. Zechel, 2.

The Torero's schedule called for games at University of Nevada in Reno tonight and tomorrow night. Tuesday, the squad will return here for a return clash with Alameda Coast Guard at Letterman gym, beginning at 2000, and move to Hamilton Air Force Base Thursday evening.

Commercial landings and shipments of fish into California totaled 737,817,645 pounds in 1957, a drop of 35,000,000 pounds from the 1956 figure.

TWO IN THE HAND is the way Maj. Glen T. Sliger has rewritten the old saw. Here he shows off two five-pound snow geese he bagged recently at Tule Lake while on leave from his duties as Sixth Army Troop Information Officer. Using a 12-gauge, pump-action Winchester, he also dropped four more snow geese, 10 pheasants and several ducks.

Additional Awards Given Top Soldier From 61st Arty.

Private First Class Wilfred R. Swedeen, winner of the soldier-of-the-month award, has been rewarded with a $20 check and a year's membership in the Association of the United States Army by Col. Iver A. Peterson, commanding officer of the San Francisco-Travis AFB Army Air Defense. He will also receive a three-day pass as an additional award.

The 23-year-old missile soldier of Battery A, 2nd Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, Fort Barry, is a senior radar operator. He recently returned from the Fort Bliss range where he was a member of a crew which received training in the Army's new HERCULES guided missile system.

PFC Swedeen entered the Army in May, 1957 and completed his basic training at Ft. Carson, Colo. He says, "I'm going to use the $20 to help finance a trip home to St. Paul, Minn., to visit my wife and family during the holidays."

FOR MERITORIOUS service while at Ft. Baker, Maj. Matthew J. Flaherty, G3 Section, 6th Region USARADCOM, was awarded the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant. Col. Michael M. Irvine, Dep. Commander, 6th ARADCOM, is shown presenting the award. Maj. Flaherty is leaving shortly for the Military Assistance Institute where he will prepare for his new assignment with MAAG-Taiwan.

NDTA Holds Big Meet Here Give Awards To SF Students

San Francisco Bay Area Chapter of the National Defense Transportation Association held its "biggest meeting of the year" here yesterday.

Awards were made to six San Francisco high school students as winners of the chapter's annual essay contest by Harlan Copsey, Jones Stevedoring Co., contest chairman.

Howard R. Adams, Washington, D. C., newly elected National President, presented an NDTA award to Stanley Hiller, head of Hiller Aircraft Corp., Palo Alto, in recognition of his contributions to defense transportation.

The National Executive Board, which holds its semi-annual meeting in San Francisco on 5 December, was also honored by the chapter. Special honor was given three chapter members recently elected to national offices. They are John R. Wagner of Pacific Far East Lines and John L. S. Snead, Jr., Consolidated Freightways, National Vice Presidents, and William P. Farnum, American Air Lines, Regional Vice President for California.

Some 300 members and guests attended the meeting at which Daniel Marshall, Bigge Drayage Co., presided.

NSLI Holders May Buy Low Cost Disability Rider

Opportunity for veterans holding National Service Life Insurance (NSLI) to buy a low cost new type of total disability income rider for their GI policies is now offered by the Veterans Administration.

Under the new-type rider now on sale, policyholders, who become totally disabled from any cause before age 60 and while their rider is in effect, will receive an income of $10 per month for each $1,000 face amount of their GI policies.

Previous maximum was $5 per month, VA said.

Payments under the rider begin after the total disability has existed for six consecutive months, and continue for the duration of the disability, regardless of its length.

No payment may be made for disabilities incurred after age 60, and no premium charge is made for this benefit after that date.

If the veteran is in good health and under age 60, the rider may be attached to any NSLI policy, except for a limited number sold to service-disabled veterans since April, 1951.

Although a physical examination is required of those whose age at their nearest birthday is 41 or more, VA pointed out that these policyholders may be examined by local physicians, provided VA medical application forms are used.

The agency said that the premium cost of the rider varies according to the policyholder's age, type of policy, and its face amount.

Those veterans who now have the old rider may get the new one at little extra cost.

Information and application forms are available at any VA office.

Real World Traveler

Washington (ANS) — America's first earth satellite, the Army's Explorer I, has travelled more than 100 million miles through space since it was launched in January 1958. The Naval Research Laboratory said the cigar-shaped satellite has covered 104,170,075 miles in 3,475 trips around the world.

Travis Nike NCOs Win High Peacetime Medals

Two Nike NCOs who last June disregarded their personal safety to drag two airmen from a crashed Air Force Globemaster near Travis Air Force Base (Star Presidian, 6 June) were recently awarded the Soldier's Medal—the nation's highest peacetime decoration.

The two men, Sfc. Edwin J. Berg and Sgt. Forrest C. James, both of B Battery, 1st Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, were honored at a joint Army-Air Force retreat parade at Travis AFB, together with a third rescuer, Air Force M/Sgt. Jesse Warrick, 5th Supply Squadron.

Medals were pinned on the Army sergeants by Maj. Gen. Edward J. McGaw, 6th ARADCOM Commander.

The three servicemen were credited with saving the lives of the only two survivors among the eight persons aboard the ill-fated aircraft.

The Nike men were driving along a highway when they saw the plane crash. Halting, they dashed across a field and, with M/Sgt. Warrick, dragged to safety two crewmen—one dazed and the other unconscious—who had been thrown clear of the wreckage.

Wears Two Hats

Capt. Albert F. Baenziger has been named both Adjutant and S4 of the 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery. He formerly commanded A Battery of the 2d Battalion.

IN RECOGNITION for his services while on duty in Japan, an oak leaf Cluster to the Commendation Ribbon was awarded to Col. William H. Van Dine, recently assigned Chief of Supply Div., Sixth U.S. Army Quartermaster. Pinning on the decoration is Maj. Gen. John J. Binns. Mrs. Van Dine was also present at the informal ceremony held in General Binns' office.

QM Expert Assigned To Presidio S4 Job

Colonel Elmer M. Burns has been assigned as Post S4. He succeeds Col. George O. Pearson, who retired last month.

Col. Burns came to the Presidio from Ft. Lee, Va., where he had served as President of the Quartermaster Board since April 1956.

Since 1933, when he was ordered on extended active duty with the Civilian Conservation Corps, Col. Burns has had a variety of state-side and overseas assignments.

Returning from overseas duty with the 6th Air Force and the Trinidad Sector and Base Command after a three-year assignment in the Caribbean Theater, he was named Assistant Chief of Staff G4 of the Army Service Forces Training Command, Fort Lewis, Wash., in December 1944, and 18 months later was assigned as Quartermaster Supply Officer of the Third U.S. Army, Heidelberg, Germany.

From 1947 to 1949, he was Quartermaster of the Heidelberg Military Post. He returned to the states in the latter year and was appointed as Assistant Professor of Military Science and Tactics at the University of Pennsylvania.

In 1950, he was named Professor of Military Science and Tactics at the University, where he remained until 1953. His next assignment was as student at the Industrial College of the Armed Forces, from which he graduated with the class of 1954.

Prior to his most recent assignment as President of the Quartermaster Board, Col. Burns served a tour in Taipei, Taiwan, where he was Assistant Chief of Staff, G4, Military Assistance Advisory Group.

New Post S4
Col. Elmer M. Burns

Colonel Burns holds a degree of Master of Business Administration from the Wharton School of Business and Commerce, University of Pennsylvania.

He received his BA at Ripon College, Ripon, Wis.

Colonel Burns resides on the Presidio with his wife, Lucille.

1050 Troops Are Engaged In Fighting Malibu Fire

One thousand and fifty military personnel are engaged in fighting the Malibu area fire in Southern California, it was announced by Sixth U.S. Army Headquarters, which is responsible for coordinating Armed Forces disaster relief activities.

Army firefighters include 100 troops from Fort MacArthur, San Pedro, and 400 troops from Camp Irwin, desert tank training center, near Barstow, Calif.

The Navy has sent 100 personnel from Pt. Mugu Naval Air Missile Commands and 100 from Long Beach Naval Station.

150 Marines from El Toro Air Station near Santa Ana and 200 more from Camp Pendleton are also fighting the fire.

The Army has made available 300 cots and 600 blankets to the Red Cross from Fort MacArthur for use in a relief center being established for fire victims.

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

Friday 12 December, 1958

Christmas Season To Open Here Next Wednesday Evening

Christmas season will come to the Presidio officially Wednesday evening.

At 1830, out in front of Sixth U.S. Army Headquarters, Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Presidio Commanding Officers, will push the button to light the Post Christmas tree.

Joining Col. Ratliff in the annual ceremony will be the Presidio Catholic and Protestant Chaplains, Capts. Albert D. Bull and Paul M. Pease.

In addition, the combined choirs of the Chapel of Our Lady and the Post Chapel will entertain.

Award Dam Contract

Washington (ANS)—The Army Corps of Engineers has just awarded Henry J. Kaiser and Raymond International, Inc., Oakland, California, an $8,840,000 contract for construction of the Howard A. Hanson Dam on the Green River in the State of Washington.

Chief's Visit Delayed

Urgent business in Washington forced General Maxwell D. Taylor, U.S. Army Chief of Staff, to cancel a scheduled visit to San Francisco this week. General Taylor was to have addressed the World Affairs Council of Northern California at a luncheon in his honor in the Venetian room of the Fairmont Hotel on Wednesday.

STRAC Film Set

Washington, (ANS)—In a special issue of THE BIG PICTURE, to be televised during the holiday period, the Army will present its famed film Fire Brigade. The "fire brigade," shown as one of the most effective forces available for dealing with the brush-fire type of war, consists of the airborne units of the U.S. Army, which are a part of STRAC.

To depict a combat situation, the TV film ranges from scenes showing a division-wide alert to the assault parachute jump putting the 82d Airborne Division into "war."

Approve Transfer Of Parks Air Base To Army Control

Washington (AFPS)—The transfer of Parks AFB, Calif., to the Army has been approved by Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy.

Scheduled to replace Camp Stoneman, Calif., as an Army facility, the base can be maintained more cheaply and also provide greater flexibility for existing requirements.

Present plans call for a portion of the base eventually to accommodate California national guardsmen for training activities. One section will also be used by the Navy for research work.

Final concurrence for the transfer must still be made by congressional armed forces committees. Camp Stoneman will be declared excess to requirements when final action has been cleared.

Both installations are in the San Francisco-Oakland area.

FIRST "SUPER" SERGEANT in Sixth U.S. Army Special Troops, new E8 Edward Wolfman, is congratulated by Sixth Army Commander Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer after being selected over 18 other master sergeants for the single allocation. Since July, M/Sgt. (E8) Wolfman has been Sergeant Major at Sixth Army Headquarters.

Sixth Army Sergeant Major Tops 18 For E8 Promotion

"What did I do?"

M/Sgt. Edward Wolfman, 45, feared the worst when ordered last Friday to report to the office of Sixth U.S. Army Commander Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer.

A little later he wondered, "How did I do it?"

The amiable Sixth Army Sergeant Major was told by Lt. Gen. Palmer that he had been promoted to the highly-prized E8 supergrade, selected over 18 other master sergeants to become the first man in Sixth Army Special Troops to earn the honor.

Although he had appeared before a promotion selection board made up of four colonels more than a week previous, a rank boost was the last thing he had considered when reporting to Lt. Gen. Palmer.

"Naturally, I had hoped to be the man," M/Sgt. Wolfman admitted, "but I wouldn't have been surprised if any one of a number of the other men being considered had been chosen."

The promotion will mean about a $20 jump in his monthly paycheck.

Experience could have been a mark in M/Sgt. Wolfman's favor. His assignments as a sergeant major date back to World War II days when he held the top admin slot in the 117th Engineer Combat Battalion (37th Infantry Division) throughout the island-hopping stages of the bloody Pacific campaigns.

The San Francisco native entered the Army in 1941 with a National Guard unit from Washington, D. C.—he was employed there by the U.S. Commerce Department—and fought with the 117th from Fiji through Guadalcanal and New Georgia to the Philippines. He earned the Purple Heart for shrapnel wound received on New Georgia.

After the war, he served briefly with the 2d Infantry Division at Ft. Lewis and then returned to the Far East for assignment in Tokyo as Chief Clerk of Special Services Section, GHQ FEC, where he earned the Army Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant.

In December, 1951, he returned for duty in Seattle with the Washington Military District before leaving for a two-year tour in Izmir, Turkey, as Chief Clerk in the NATO G1 Section.

M/Sgt. Wolfman came to the Presidio in April, 1955, and served as Chief Clerk of Sixth Army G1 Section until named Assistant Sergeant Major in October, 1956. He became Sergeant Major this past July.

An enthusiastic kegler, M/Sgt. Wolfman belongs to three on-Post bowling teams and rolls in the 758 Scratch League at Broadway Bowl. He also enjoys gardening and photography and gets in a little fishing when time permits.

M/Sgt. Wolfman is a graduate of Los Angeles Junior College and has attended University of California, Berkeley, and George Washington University, Washington, D. C.

At present, M/Sgt. Wolfman, a bachelor, lives in San Francisco with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wolfman.

Desert Warfare Plans 10 Courses In FY 60; 80 Openings Locally

The U.S. Army Desert Warfare Training School at Camp Irwin, Calif. will conduct three-week desert warfare courses in fiscal year 1960, Headquarters, Sixth U.S. Army announced.

Ten courses are planned, five each for CONUS officers and NCOs. Reporting date for the first officer course is 11 July 1959 while NCOs will report 15 August 1959.

The objectives of the courses are to prepare officers and non-coms for performing duties as leaders and instructors of units operating in desert regions, and to maintain a pool of personnel trained in techniques of desert warfare.

A quota of 40 officers and 40 NCOs is anticipated for the Sixth U.S. Army area. Two officers and two NCOs is the quota for Presidio.

New Lighter Here

The Army's newest and largest beach discharge lighter, the 338-foot Lt. Col. John U. D. Page (Star Presidian, 21 Nov. 58), berthed at Ft. Mason docks Monday for a month's stay before resuming sea trials.

The vessel, designed to carry wheeled and tracked vehicles for assault landings, has been undergoing initial sea tests since last month along the West Coast.

Truth will out—

And So Did Rudy's Big Secret

The balding little newshawk wearing the dirty white cap never expected to make the papers himself.

For 37 years he'd peddled his wares to the passing parade of soldiers and civilians who trooped through the Presidio—closing each sale with a lopsided grin, often pointing out items he thought would be of special interest.

But "Rudy"—or "Curly," as the oldtimers around Letterman Army Hospital called him—had a secret!

And, since truth and secrets will out, this week Rudy Chorovsky made the news.

Rudy is a year-around Santa Claus!

For longer than he can remember, he's brightened his own life by bringing happiness to countless of his little friends—the children in his Marina District neighborhood.

Every day he sets aside part of his meagre profits so that two or three times a week he can drop by the Post Thrift Shop to search out a bargain—an unpainted doll house, a broken hobby horse, a twisted tin soldier—anything he can spruce up for one of his young pals.

Rudy's hobby has become his fulfillment; his basement is a regular Santa's workshop, stuffed with toys in various stages of repair. When he's not caring for his invalid mother, Mrs. Agnes Chorovsky, he's hammerin' or sawing or sewing away for the future surprise and joy of some youngster.

Rudy is prone to dismiss this altruistic side of his life with a simple, "I get a kick out of it," but it must have meant sacrifice to a man who had to quit grammar school and go to work.

Rudy first showed up on the Presidio scene in 1921—a scraggly kid of 11 hustling the old "Bulletin" six days a week. Through the years, the paper changed, the post changed—and so did Rudy.

During the Depression, the troops of the 30th Infantry Division here became his special buddies, and through the years he made it a practice to sell his papers "on the cuff" when the soldiers were short of cash. He cheered the men when they were in the hospital; helped out a case of "shorts" here and there, and eventually became one of the gang.

World War II scattered his garrison buddies all over the world and Rudy tried hard to enlist with the 30th—but just missed when the unit was ordered overseas.

Instead, he served out the duration at Ft. Riley, Kan., Monterey, Calif., and Ft. Lewis, Washington. While at Ft. Riley he made a name for himself as a welterweight boxer. With V-E Day, Rudy returned to his first loves—the Call-

Bulletin and the Presidio.

Nowadays, Rudy doesn't talk much. He flits around the Main Post every day—a bundle of papers tucked under his arm and a white cotton golf cap, smudged with newsprint, perched on his head. With chill weather, he'll drag out an old black sweater, another familiar trademark, and continue his busy rounds.

Yes, Rudy and his "secret" made news this week and a legend gained substance. And, for awhile anyway, knowing customers will favor Presidio's year-around Santa Claus with brighter smiles.

Yet the adult smile, which often fades as quickly as tarnished tinsel in the afterglow of burned Christmas wrappings, isn't Rudy Chorovsky's "golden fleece." He has sought and found another—

"The indelible smile in the heart of happy childhood!"

CHRISTMAS FUND drive at Headquarters Company, Sixth Army Special Troops, netted $238.50 to bring the wife or mother of a bed-ridden Letterman patient for a holiday visit. Col. A. L. Tynes, Commanding Officer of the Army Hospital accepts a check from M/Sgt. Lee A. Nichols, company first sergeant.

Headquarters Christmas Fund Will Aid Letterman Patient

Carrying on a tradition begun during the Korean war, the men of Headquarters Company, Sixth U.S. Army, at the Presidio of San Francisco, donated $238.50 this week to unite a bed-ridden Letterman Army Hospital patient with his mother during the holidays.

The money was presented to Colonel A. L. Tynes, Letterman Commanding Officer, by Master Sergeant Lee A. Nichols, first sergeant of Headquarters Company.

As they have done each Christmas for the past seven years, Letterman doctors and nurses will select the patient to be visited. His inability to travel, his family's financial condition and the degree to which a Christmas visit would be beneficial are the deciding factors.

Each year in the history of the fund, a patient's mother has come to visit, travelling free aboard airlines and staying at the nurses' quarters at the hospital during her visit. Any relative, however, may be chosen, since the fund's invitation has "no strings attached." In past years, a marine, a sailor and a National Guardsman have shared in the gift with three Army men. A total of $1,686 has been given to Letterman for the visits.

Last Christmas, Headquarters Company brought Mrs. Esther Reopelli, of Jacumba, San Diego County, to visit her son, Sp4 Johnny A. Van Noy, 21, who was paralyzed as the result of an auto accident.

This year the fund is large enough to bring a visitor from east of the Mississippi.

Honor Ceremonies For Chinese Army Chief On Tuesday

Honor guard ceremonies, highlighted by a 17-gun salute, will be held Tuesday on the parade ground north of Bldg. 50 to welcome Gen. P'Eng Meng-chi, Commander-in-Chief of the Chinese Nationalist Army, just prior to his return to Formosa after an official visit to the United States.

He is scheduled to depart San Francisco International Airport Thursday morning.

Prior to coming here, Gen. P'Eng also visited Ft. MacArthur and the Los Angeles area within Sixth U.S. Army. He is expected to visit the Army Language School in Monterey.

Three Win Promotions

Two West Pointers and one graduate of North Georgia College were promoted to 1st Lt. at the 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty.

Lt. Ralph D. Cordell, ExO at Btry. B and a graduate of North Georgia College, class of 1957, Lt. James D. Powell from Btry. B, and Lt. Phineas K. Morril from Btry. D, both graduates of the U.S. Military Academy, class of 1957, received their promotions 18 months from the day they were commissioned.

Recently Assigned

A native San Francisco was named Chief of Military Justice Division of the Judge Advocate Section, Hq. Sixth U.S. Army, this week. Lt. Col. GEORGE S. PRUGH came to the Presidio from Seoul, Korea, where, since August 1957, he held the job of Deputy Staff Judge Advocate for Eighth U.S. Army.

He entered the Army here in July 1942 serving with the 19th Coast Artillery until 1944 when he sailed for New Guinea and the Philippine Islands where he joined the 14th Antiaircraft Command.

He returned to the states in 1946 to attend Hastings College of Law in San Francisco and in November 1947 he was recalled to duty. However, he stayed on at school getting his law degree in 1948.

His first assignment after graduating from law school was at the Presidio as Trial Judge Advocate for Sixth U.S. Army. From the Presidio Lt. Col. Prugh was transferred to the Judge Advocate General's Office in Washington, D.C. where he was with the Litigation Division for a year.

In 1950 he went to Germany and was assigned TJA for Wetzel Military Post for a year and then as Staff Judge Advocate for Western Area Command at Kaiserslautern, until 1953 when he was appointed to the Board of Review at JAG. From 1954 to 1956 he was still at the Pentagon, but this time with the Military Justice Division of JAG. From Washington Lt. Col. Prugh went to the Command and General Staff College, Ft. Leavenworth, Kan. graduating in 1957.

Besides the LL.B degree from Hastings, Lt. Col. Prugh holds a B.A. from University of California, Berkeley. He is a member of the bar of the State of California as well as U.S. Supreme Court, Federal District and Circuit courts, and the U.S. Court of Military Appeals.

Lt. Col. Prugh resides at Piedmont, Calif. with his wife, Katherine, and their daughters, Stephanie, 14, and Virginia, 9.

Captain WALTER D. O'NEAL was recently assigned as Special Projects Officer of the Sixth U.S. Army Communications Agency.

He arrived to the Presidio from Seoul, Korea, where he was in charge of the Communications Center, Eighth U.S. Army, since August 1957.

Capt. O'Neal entered the Army in 1939 from Nebraska. During World War II he served with the 75th Inf. Div. in Europe returning in 1945 to the States, but soon returning overseas, this time to the Far East where he received a direct commission in Tokyo, September 1946. In Japan Capt. O'Neal was assigned to GHQ Communications Section and in 1950 was shifted to Washington, D.C. where he served at the Communications Center, DA.

In 1952 he crossed the seas again, this time to Africa where he took charge of the Communications Center of the Administration Network at Asmara, Eritrea.

Capt. O'Neal received the Bronze Star while serving in the last war in Europe.

He lives in Irvington, Calif., with his wife, Lorraine, and daughters, Elizabeth, 14, Theresa, 7, and Germaine, 6.

The new flight surgeon for the post is Capt. ADOLPH H. GIESECKE, who entered the Army in 1957 from San Antonio, Texas.

A graduate last year of the Medical School of the University of Texas at Galveston, Capt. Giesecke was first assigned for one year internship at William Beaumont Army Hosp., El Paso, Tex., and then as a student to the U.S. Air Force School of Aviation Medicine at Randolph AFB, Tex.

Capt. Giesecke came to the Presidio from Ft. Rucker, Ala., where he attended the U.S. Army School of Aviation Medicine, graduating last November.

He resides now at Mill Valley with his wife, Veronica, and son, Carl 3, and 18 month old daughter, Suzanne.

2nd Lt. EARL M. DEVINE was recently assigned to Btry. A, 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty, in the position of Launcher Platoon Commander.

The 22-year-old bachelor officer hails from Highland, New York. In June of this year he was graduated from Oklahoma State with a Bachelor of Science degree.

He was called to active duty in July 1958 and reported to the Officers Basic Course at Ft. Bliss, Texas. From there he was assigned to the 4th Msl. Bn.

2nd Lt. FRANK J. FALCO was recently assigned to Btry. B at Ft. Scott. He is a graduate of Pennsylvania Military College. He was called to active duty and reported to the Officers Basic Course at Ft. Bliss, Texas. Upon completion of this course, he was assigned to the 4th Msl. Bn.

Lt. Falco and his wife, Patricia, now reside in San Francisco.

SANTA CLAUS'S HELPERS at the Presidio include the 187 WACs of D Company. Girls are busy gathering gifts and money for a destitute family of five who they have adopted for the yuletide season. Shown with part of the array of gifts and toys already contributed by the unit are (l. to r.) Private Clarice Bodden, Sp4 Shirley Maust and Sp4 Patsy Wright.

WACs Turn Santa's Helpers

Adopt SF Family For Christmas

Somewhere in the slums of San Francisco, huddled in some dank, chilled flat, a destitute mother—pregnant, impoverished, abandoned—will soothe her four youngsters in a foreign tongue on Christmas Eve, silently admonishing God for hiding His glory from her raggedy brood.

There'll be a rap at the door And, ushered in will be all the surprise, the excitement, the cheer, symbolic of Christ's birth.

There will be the squeals, then the hush, then the tears of disbelief.

Of course—with realization—there will be the pause to thank Him.

For, on Christmas Eve, Santa will come—he'll be wearing 187 skirts! His helpers won't be there. Scattered their 187 ways, the girls of Presidio's WAC Detachment must be with their adopted waifs only in spirit.

When, with mingled tears and smiles, the mother unwraps milk—the first her one-year-old Phyllis, has had in a long, long time—or the turkey or the tinned goods or the toys or the Christmas tree or the stockings filled with candies, she'll bless her absent friends.

The girls' generosity, their good will to a family they do not know—probably never will know—will draw these five lonely, hungry people back into the fold of human fellowship.

And there's more, too. The rent will be paid for a month, diaper service also will be paid up for a month. No longer will 10-year-old Paul, and Lilly, a year younger, shiver while walking to school these chilly mornings; no longer will four-year-old Frances huddle, shivering, on the floor at home without even a toy to play with—all because of 187 girls.

There's a story behind the story. Sp4 Doris Fedrick had the idea, the Salvation Army furnished a needy family and five other WACs—Sp4 Patsy Wright, Sp4 Shirley Maust, Sp4 Hazel Moody, Pvt. Evangeline Cyr and Pfc. Janet Holcomb—started the ball rolling.

Now toys are beginning to pile up in the WAC barracks. Bay II donated its own Christmas tree. Plans are under way to get staples and tins of food. Money has been collected to buy turkey and all the trimmings.

At 1300 on 23 December, the Salvation Army will pick up the gifts—the next day a family's hope will be reborn.

What do the girls have to say about their share?

"Say, has anybody got a spare refrigerator we can send along, too?"

DOG'S EYE VIEW of a made-made object finds Fifi, mascot of Btry. C, 2d Msl. Bn., 51st Arty., a little skeptical. Despite the missing smell of dog food, Fifi joined the rest of the battery in congratulating Pfc. Franklin Landmesser on his "light shielding box" which has been adopted for use by all units within the San Francisco-Travis Defense Area.

Army QM Unveils Protective Suits For Missile Men

Colorado Springs, Colo. (AFPS) —Two new protective suits for missilemen have been developed by the Army Quartermaster Corps for use by the Army, Navy and Air Force.

Modeled in a recent safety conference at Army Air Defense Command headquarters here, both suits are reported able to withstand penetration by acids for several hours compared with the three-minute resistance offered by present clothing.

The new full protection suit is about 4½ pounds lighter than present gear and offers increased visibility and ease of movement.

The second suit, a limited protection ensemble, allows the wearer more freedom than the full protection gear and is designed for use in routine operations involving little hazard.

The full protection suit is being prepared for use within the first six months of next year. The less protective suit is still being tested.

Group Supply Chief Is Promoted To Major

"Captain's bars, anyone?" newly-promoted Maj. Bernard C. Sanders remarked happily as he received his gold oak leaves from Col. Iver A. Peterson, commanding officer of the San Francisco-Travis AFB Army Air Defense Command.

Maj. Sanders lives at 313 Starling Court, Mill Valley, with his wife, Bonnie, and two daughters, Linda, 10, and Lu Verne, 5.

Born in Crookston, Minn., Maj. Sanders joined the National Guard when he was 16 and served several years in the Guard before entering active Army duty in 1941.

He began his career as an officer in 1942 when he graduated from Officer Candidate School, Camp Davis, N. C. In 1943 he was sent to a command post in the European Theater and served in five major campaigns during World War II. He has been deco-

Nike PFC Wins Certificate For Shielding Box Design

Private First Class Franklin Landmesser, a fire control radar operator, Battery C, 2d Missile Battalion (Nike-Hercules), 51st Artillery, was presented a Certificate of Achievement at a Retreat Ceremony held at the battery site last week. The presentation of the award was made by Lt. Col. Thomas F. Bristol, Commanding Officer of the 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery.

The citation lauded Landmesser for his "Knowledge of his assigned duties and his ability to apply his knowledge." Also "His initiative, resourcefulness and devotion to duty inspired the utmost confidence in his superiors and contemporaries alike. Indicative of Pfc. Landmesser's initiative was his construction of a light shielding box which permits radar operators to obtain a better view of their oscilloscope without distraction from outside interference."

The shielding box has since been adopted for use by all batteries within the San Francisco-Travis Defense Area.

Landmesser, separated this week from active military service, will return to his home at 737 Vanderpool St., Troy, Mich.

Prior to entering the service,

Landmesser attended Troy High School and worked as an apprentice aircraft mechanic at Big Beaver Airport in Troy.

During his two years in the service, Landmesser participated in two annual service practice shoots at Red Canyon, New Mexico. He contributed greatly to the excellent score of five kills in six tries achieved by the battery.

SP Will Suspend For Two Issues

The Star Presidian is going to take a two-week vacation. Authorized to publish only fifty issues a year, your paper traditionally suspends over the Christmas and New Year's holidays.

Final issue of 1958 will be Friday, 19 December, and the first of '59 will be 9 January.

Public information officers and organization publicity chairmen are requested to program submission of material accordingly.

Military, Civilians Get Extra Holiday

A long, long weekend is in the offing over the Christmas holidays for most soldiers and civilians here who are not already on Yuletide leave.

President Eisenhower has decreed that 26 December, a Friday, be a day of rest for all military and civilian employees except those required for maintenance, protective, security or other critical activities. The extra holiday is gratis and will not be charged to annual leave time.

This will give the bulk of persons on Post off-duty time from Thursday through Sunday.

Nike Laiety Join Hands To Build Religious Room

Protestants and Catholics at one nearby Nike site joined hands recently to build a Chaplain's Corner for their unit.

Opened last week was the religious center for A Battery, 1st Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery—built from materials obtained by the men, especially M/Sgt. Cyril Q. Ahmer, First Sergeant.

The actual construction was handled by the IFC Platoon, under the joint direction of Platoon Sergeant M/Sgt. Sylvester C. Herring—a Protestant—and Catholic Sp4 Enrico Milani, former Chief Carpenter for the Battery.

The center contains literature of all faiths and is used by the missilemen for prayer and meditation.

The lower half of the room is designed with a louvre effect; the upper half contains windows inset with crosses. Furnishings include a rack for pamphlets and books, a table, chairs and a floor lamp. On one wall hangs Sallman's portrait of the head of Christ and future plans call for a mural on the other wall. M/Sgt. Herring may paint the mural himself.

The 2d Battalion Chaplain, Capt. William E. Calbert, directly attributes a jump by 50 per cent of the attendance at weekday worship services by men of A Battery to the corner.

Unit Protestant religious representatives are Pfc. Robert H. Brown and Pvt. Richard G. Maley; Catholic, Pvt. William J. Stadler and Pvt. Hugh R. Peterson.

Former Stock Car Buff Named 61st Arty Best

Private First Class Charles W. Cragg, a Fire Control Generator Operator at Btry. D, Newark, Calif., is the Battalion Soldier of the Month. He holds a Certificate of Achievement presented to him by Lt. Col. Ernest J. Whitaker, Commanding Officer of the 4th Msl., 61st Arty. Cragg also earned a check for $25 and a three day pass for being "top man" in the Battalion.

Manhattan, Kansas, was always home to Cragg, but his fiancée lived in San Francisco, so he pulled stakes and moved there to be near her. Shortly after they were married, Cragg joined the Army. He was sent to Ft. Ord, Calif. for processing and then to Ft. Lewis, Washington, for his Basic Training.

From Ft. Lewis he went to the Engineer Maintenance School, at Ft. Belvoir, Virginia. When he completed the course, he was sent to the Baltimore Air Defense. He stayed long enough in Baltimore to win Soldier of the Month there in January of this year, before being transferred to his present assignment, Btry. D, 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty. at Newark, Calif.

Pfc. Cragg, and his wife, Betty, live near his Army job in East Palo Alto, Calif., 13 miles from Btry. D. In the good old days, before he was married, the 24 year old Kansan raced stock cars as a hobby.

Reports Required From Non-Citizen

Washington (AFPS) — Alien members of the Armed Forces stationed in the ZI or U.S. Territories are cautioned by the Justice Department to report their addresses to the Attorney General each January.

Under the Immigration and Nationality Act, non-citizen servicemen temporarily overseas also have personal responsibility to make a similar report to the U.S. Attorney General within 10 days of return to the States.

Cards upon which aliens may make the report are available at any U.S. Post Office during January or are obtainable from the Immigration Service, Department of Justice, Washington 25, D. C., at any time.

Willful failure of any alien to comply with the law may lead to serious penalties including fine, imprisonment or deportation.

SANTA CLAUS GROUNDED—While on a reconnaissance of Fort Baker, Calif., Santa "hit the silk," landing in a pine tree at the rear of the 6th Region headquarters building. On hand to help Santa down are Mrs. Hubert G. Lambeth and M/Sgt. Floyd Beatty. Mrs. Lambeth is co-chairman of the Fort Baker's Children's Christmas party committee. Her husband, M/Sgt. Hubert G. Lambeth, is assigned to Battery A, 2nd Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery, Fort Barry. M/Sgt. Beatty is the 6th Region sergeant major.

Korean Vets To Use GI Home Bill More Often

A greater percentage of Korean veterans is expected to purchase homes through VA-guaranteed mortgages than did veterans of World War II, VA indicated today.

With more than six years remaining in which to apply for home loans before their deadline of 1 February, 1965, VA says 10.8 per cent of the eligible Korean veterans have already availed themselves of their loan guaranty privileges.

This figure was reached in spite of the fact that the average Korean veteran came out of the service younger than his counterpart of World War II; in most cases was single or, at least, had not started a family, and in general was less disposed to take on serious financial responsibility.

So far, after thirteen years of opportunity for VA-guaranteed home loans, about 31.9 per cent of the eligible World War II veterans have availed themselves of their loan guaranty privileges.

VA statisticians forecast in the approximate year-and-a-half remaining before 25 July 1960, in which World War II veterans can make loan guaranty applications, as many as 400,000 may actually take advantage of the privilege if past performance is any indication. This figure could add a little less than 3 per cent to the World War II picture.

On the other hand, VA says that out of the home loans guaranteed currently each month 57 per cent are being made to Korean veterans and 43 per cent to World War II veterans. And Korean veterans have approximately four-and-a-half years to apply after the World War II deadline is reached.

Actual cumulative figures to 30 September 1958, show that 578,000 out of 5,353,000 eligible Korean veterans have made home loans compared to 4,582,000 out of 14,366,000 World War II eligibles.

Decoration Prizes

Presidio Park Apartments will give $105 in prizes for the most attractive Yuletide window decorations again this year. Judging will take place on Thursday night, 18 December, and prizes of $20, $10 and $5 winners in the three apartment types.

War College Will Maintain New Army Military Reading Plan

Carlisle Barracks, Pa. (ANS)—The U.S. Army War College here has been called upon to maintain the Department of the Army's new Contemporary Military Reading Program.

Recognizing that in today's world the professional Army member can no longer confine his intellectual range to subjects unmistakably and exclusively labeled "military science," the program seeks to develop a broader understanding of the soldier's role in the complex life of his country and the world.

Announced recently by the Army Chief of Staff, General Maxwell D. Taylor, the program consists of an initial list of over thirty titles on subjects ranging from military history and government to geopolitics and nuclear warfare.

The War College has been assigned the task of reviewing the list at appropriate intervals to insure that each of the books included is informative, authoritative, provocative and current.

Though all personnel are encouraged to purchase the books for their personal libraries, each of the titles will be available in each of the Army libraries throughout the world.

'Sponsor System' Back In Vogue At 61st Arty

An old Army tradition has been reinstated at the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery.

By direction of Lt. Col. Ernest J. Whitaker, new Battalion Commander, the "sponsor" system is underway.

When notification is received that a man has been assigned to the Battalion, the Adjutant passes the word along to the Chaplain and the Battery Commander concerned — the sponsoring has then begun.

The Battalion Commander writes the new man a letter of welcome; the Battery Commander appoints a "sponsor" of equal or higher rank to make all arrangements for the new man and his family.

The sponsor makes reservations for billets, meets the new man and escorts him and his family to their temporary quarters. After advising the assignee of available facilities and helping him get settled, the sponsor then introduces him to his commander and the officers and men he will work with.

First man to receive the VIP treatment was CWO Clifford A. Thomas, who was assigned to C Battery. CWO Joseph F. Fouke was his sponsor.

Success Of Army Moon Shot Will Depend On A Great Many Complex Calculations

FEATURESCOPE (AP) —

The problem of charting a course to the Moon is more involved and more daring than anything man has achieved in recorded history. Virtually everything he has learned about how the Universe operates and about mathematics from the time of the ancient Egyptians to the present time has been brought to bear on this complex project.

For Dr. Rudolf Hoelker the period between December 7th and 14th is extremely important. The German-born deputy chief of the aero-ballistic laboratory at the Army Ballistic Missile Agency in Huntsville, Alabama, has been making astronomical calculations for two years.

Their purpose: An effort by the US Army to shoot the Moon.

Three times the Air Force has tried and failed.

On December 7th, the Moon starts swinging across the heavens like a bullseye wheeling across a celestial shooting gallery. Sometime between that date and the 14th, the Army plans to make its attempt, using a satellite-carrying, multi-stage missile launched from the rocket testing base at Cape Canaveral, Florida.

December 10th is the most likely time for the Army Moonshot because that's when the New Moon appears best as a clay pigeon.

During World War 2, Dr. Hoelker worked on Germany's V-2 rockets. He's now a naturalized US citizen. He is the one who has charted a flight path to the Moon. Whether the US has the rockets to follow it is the big question.

The mere mechanics of firing are tough for the rocket experts. For one thing, the missile must be fired within 5 minutes on either side of designated X-hour. It must not exceed escape speed if it is to go into orbit. Should it go much faster than 24,000 miles an hour it will breach the gravitational barriers. That means it will whip past the Moon toward infinity.

The missile also has to be turned on course at a low altitude. Its speed must be relatively low or it will break in two because of the structural strain of turning at high speed. It will also be subject to the destructive friction-head problem if it is turned too quickly and too low.

However, the Army's scientists will not be disappointed if the satellite actually goes into orbit around the Earth and Moon. They'll be satisfied if it can be put within two or three diameters of the Moon or within a range of 4300 to 6500 miles of it. In fact, the experts won't kick if the satellite rushes past the Moon. That will tell them how far into space they can track. A true orbit will be all to the good.

Hoelker's calculations are greatly affected by gravitational influences. When scientists talk of escape velocity they are referring to the speed needed to overcome the gravitational pull of both the Earth and Moon. The Earth's attraction is about six times greater than the Moon's. The Moon is estimated at about 240,000 miles from the Earth. Its path around the Earth is egg-shaped or elliptical.

There's no end to the gravitational influences exercised by the Earth. Other occupants of space present the same problems. In other words, space is one huge mass of acting and counteracting gravitational influences.

The whole problem can be simplified by comparing it with shooting an arrow into the air. The arrow starts out at high speed, slowing as it approaches its peak, stops, then falls back to Earth. As with the arrow, the missile returns to Earth at the same speed at which it was launched.

Hoelker is confronted by many other factors. Among them is the fact that the launching site at Cape Canaveral is 28 degrees north of the Equator while the Moon in December is 18½ degrees below the Equator. December 7th is the first day in December that the Moon is in a position for a shot from the Florida test site.

The ideal time will be December 10th when the Moon has moved southward until it is roughly in line with the sun. The missile can be launched due East. Because the center of gravity is the theoretical center of the Earth, the missile will be dragged slightly southward after launching by the gravitational influence.

Of course, there is the possibility that unfavorable conditions may prevail at the launching site at the time planned for the shoot. Delay of half an hour will mean that a given point on the Equator has moved 500 miles eastward. Thus, the angle and direction of the shoot must be changed.

Hoelker's overall problem is hinged on the fact that he will be shooting at a target he can't see and which is traveling along an irregular course. It's like trying to fire a rifle that is resting on a wobbly, spinning platform.

Tall Texan Is Top WAC For Month Of December

Better beware!

There is an unusual Texan working in Central Files right here on the Presidio. What makes her unusual? She is MODEST! In fact, the December WAC of the Month never brags about having the biggest oil wells, the longest car, the largest ranch or the most cattle, which is pretty rare for someone from the land of bigness.

Another fact which tends to shock people about Sp/4 Doris Fedrick is that she would rather listen to "long hair music than punch 'doggies'!"

Born in Sulphur Springs, Tex., Doris grew to a 'tall Texan' there and then moved to Mt. Vernon, Ill., in 1944.

Following her graduation from high school, where she was a top member of the basketball and softball teams, Specialist Fedrick attended a year of college in Henderson, Tenn.

However, this life didn't appeal to her so she went back to the "Lone Star State," and on 16 March, 1951, enlisted in the Women's Army.

Upon the completion of basic training at Ft. Lee, Virginia, Doris was sent to Ft. Monmouth, N. J., and then shipped to Tokyo, where she spent the next 2½ years.

Discharged in 1954, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Stansbury was a civilian for seven months before she realized that military life was the only life for her.

Named Best WAC Sp4 Doris Fedrick

Since re-enlisting, the blue-eyed blond has served two years in Paris and two years here at Post Headquarters.

Among her awards and decorations the D Co. WAC includes the Korean Ribbon, United Service Ribbon, Good Conduct Ribbon and the UN Ribbon.

A participant in the Victory Corps while still attending high school, Doris says she has "always liked military life, and will stay in until it's time to retire," back to that little bit of Heaven called Texas."

what they said

Everybody likes the holiday season, but some have very different reasons. We decided this week to find out just what most people like about Christmas and New Year's. So we ask:

The Question: What do you like most about the holiday season?

ANSWERS

Joe Blaser, carpenter with the Post Engineers: The idea of being home with my children is what I like best about this holiday season. I also have one grandchild, Vallerie, with whom I am going to spend my first Christmas. I am 38 and a grandfather, isn't that great! I have been away six years with the Army and eight with the Navy and this will be the first time since 1941 that the family will be together for Christmas.

Sp4 John G. Bayer, 561st Engr., Ft. Baker: I would like most to be with the family back home in Brooklyn. I can't make it this year as I am getting discharged from the Army on the 6th day of January (missing the early release deadline by two days). But there is good feeling that next holiday season I can be home and enjoy Mom's good German-style cooking. She also does a lot of baking. But then if I can't be home, I can still do the celebrating here with my wife, Betty. We've been married almost a year and this will be our first Christmas together.

Sp4 Minnie McKenzie, Post Billeting Office: I like the time off, the good food that is special for the holidays, and I also look forward with great anticipation to the exchange of gifts at Christmas. I haven't been home since 1953, but hope to be there for this Christmas. It's a great joy to be with the whole family, there are about 20 in ours. Mother does the cooking for the whole family and I like to help her. I especially like to prepare the turkey with the corn bread dressing, sage, and all.

EM3 James F. O'Donnel, with the USS Oriskany, student at Post Projectionist School: When the holidays come around there are always a few extra days you can get off. That's what I like most about the holiday season, it gives me time to travel, on land that is. I had four days off for Thanksgiving and I went down to San Diego and visited with the family. My aunt prepared a big turkey dinner and we all had a swell time. I am also going to have four days off for Christmas and the same for New Year. I plan to travel and visit with friends and relations.

Toy Drive Drops Set For PWC Campaign

Here is where you can leave the toys you donate to San Francisco's underprivileged kids:

Presidio and Ft. Scott Officers' and NCO Open Messes, Presidio Service Club, Presidio Fire Station and the Ft. Scott Toy Shop.

In each location, there is a big red box just waiting for you. In these boxes will pour the generosity of Presidians who believe in "Christmas Cheer for Children."

The toy drive, sparked by the members of the Presidio Woman's Club, will tie in with the annual San Francisco Fire Department collection to bring happiness to thousands of youngsters who otherwise would have no Santa Claus.

Although new toys are preferred, used toys in good condition will be accepted. Old toys, however, require repairs and Fire Department officials report that this year a shortage of manpower may preclude repairs to the extent of last year. In 1957, firemen renovated more than 5,000 old toys.

Gift toys should not be wrapped.

Wherry Cub Scouts Plan Busy Holiday; To Sell Mistletoe

Big doings are underway here by Cub Scouts from the Post Wherry Housing area.

Tomorrow, 36 boys of Pack 178 will decorate the lower floor of Laguna Honda Home in San Francisco, using decorations they made themselves to drape a Christmas tree and fill the windows.

Already going full speed ahead is a fund-raising mistletoe sale, guaranteed to be the lowest priced in town—only 25 cents a bag. The six-Den Pack expects to net about $212 to further Cub activities on Post, if they can sell all 850 bags they have packaged.

At 1930 next Friday (19 December), the Pack will meet at the Presidio Religious Center.

And all this will only hold them over the Christmas season.

Fort Bragg, N.C. (ANS)—Corporal Estes Copeland, one of the five survivors of a plane crash in Utah on 14 November, felt that his escape from death was sufficient reward for his 9,000 foot parachute leap into the snow. His commanding officer disagreed — had the jump entered on Copeland's records—qualifying him for his $55 a month jump pay.

McChord Artillery Commander Visits

Brig. Gen. Daniel A. O'Connor, Commander of 31st Artillery Brigade, McChord Air Force Base, Washington, toured the San Francisco-Travis AFB Army Air Defense this week.

Included in his tour was the San Francisco Army Air Defense School at the Presidio, Hq. 30th Artillery Gp., Ft. Barry, Headquarters Western Air Defense Force at Hamilton AFB, and several Nike batteries in the San Francisco-Travis AFB Army Air Defense.

Brig. Gen. O'Connor's last assignment was Assistant Commandant, U.S. Army Air Defense School, Fort Bliss, Texas, where he briefed thousands of "Operation Understanding" guests and foreign dignitaries, who go to Fort Bliss for orientation in the Army's air defense program and for observation of firings of the Nike missiles.

Partial Pay Set

Christmas partial pay (half that due for December) will be made Wednesday to all military personnel here who requested it. Other officers and enlisted men will be paid the full month's salary 31 December. Only emergency payments will be made during the period 18 through 30 December.

Ladies' Clubs Sponsor Christmas Dance Here On 26th Of December

Two ladies' clubs here will jointly sponsor a Christmas dance 26 December for the college-age dependents of active and retired military personnel in the Bay Area.

Set from 2100-2400, it will be held in the Ft. Scott annex of the Presidio Officers' Open Mess. The ballroom will be decorated by the College Club Board and committees from the sponsoring Presidio and Letterman Army Hospital Woman's Clubs.

Reservations should be forwarded to Mrs. James Enmeier, 329-B Infantry Terrace.

BEAUTIFUL BEVY above will headline the Merri'O Revue which plays the Presidio Service Club this Sunday at 2015 hours. Popular Bill Bell of Radio Station KLX will serve as master-of-ceremonies. Kathy Barnes, California Baton Champion, will demonstrate her speciality.

OH, KAY!, a roaring 20's musical by George Gershwin, plays its last night at the Opera Ring tomorrow. The show is staged in the round and directed by Irma Kay, and reservations may be made by calling UN 1-1208.

Also on the bill of fare for tomorrow, Carlos Montoya, famed flamenco guitarist with spectacular technique, will perform at the Veteran's Auditorium, Civic Center. Tickets are on sale at Sherman Clay from $2.20 to $3.30.

Sunday at 1500 hours members of the municipal choir will present a Christmas Concert at the Palace of Legion of Honor. Directed by Dr. Hans Leschke, the group will sing Arthur Honegger's Christmas Cantata, based on well known European carols, and selections from Handel's Messiah.

Bach's Magnificat will be one of the selections heard during the S.F. Bach Choir Christmas Concert Sunday evening at the Calvary Presbyterian Church, Fillmore and Jackson Sts.

Tickets for the tenth local appearance of violinist Tossy Spivakovsky, who will play at the Civic Center Monday, are now on sale at Sherman Clay, from $1.65 to $3.30.

4th Msl Highnetters Win ADC Championship

Double Header To Open Intramural Casaba Play

Intramural basketball here will get underway tonight with a double header at Ft. Scott gym, beginning at 1800.

Kicking off the season in the first game will be quints from the 21st Engineer Company and XV Corps, both in the Ft. Scott League. Air Defense League action will open at 1915 when B Battery, 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery clashes with C Battery, 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery.

Schedules were finalized yesterday, but none was available at press time. Here, however, is the way the 22 teams have been grouped in three leagues:

Air Defense League—A, B and D Btrys., 2d Msl. Bn., 51st Arty.; A and B Btrys., 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty.; SFAADS; and Hq. Btry., 30th Arty Gp.

Ft. Scott League—21st Engrs., XV Corps, Ft. Mason, U.S.A. Tng. Gp., 99th Engrs., Honor Guard, 537th Engrs., and Hq. 30th Engr. Bn.

Presidio League—MRU, Teenagers, 16th BPO, Hq. Co. U.S.A.G., Hq. Co. Sixth Army, C Co. U.S. A.G. and 561st Engrs

At the end of regular play, a double round-robin tournament including the top two teams in the three leagues, will determine the Post champions.

Holder Of Perfect Bowling Score Now Here At XV Corps

The scouts will be out!

When a man who has bowled a "dream" 300 hits the Post, there's sure to be a rush of leggers to grab him for this team or that.

Causing the commotion is Capt. Jack L. Tabor, 30-year-old Army aviator who was recently assigned to XV Corps.

While at Ft. Huachuca, he rolled 18 straight strikes during a three-game series, starting the streak in the first game as he finished with four strikes.

He continued to split the wood in the second game as he recorded 12 more strikes for the perfect 300. His no-miss performance continued through the second frame of the third game.

Capt. Tabor, who began bowling about five years ago in Boeblingen, Germany, and previously had registered an impressive 246, has not yet made any indication he will join any particular team here.

Two Win Battalion Marksmanship $$

Two men of the 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty., scored an impressive 198 out of a possible 200 at the Carbine Marksmanship firing at Ft. Barry Rifle Range.

Sp4 Jesse L. Harper of Btry. A at Ft. Funston, and Pvt. Robert P. Morgai, Btry. C at Sharp Park will receive a check for $15 each for their prowess as top marksmen of the year at battalion level.

Three other men, Pfc. James McLin, Pfc. Sammy Sessions, and Sfc. Donald DuBois, of A, C, and D batteries, respectively, will receive $6 apiece for scoring 197 out of 200.

All five men will receive Certificates of Achievement when Lt. Col. Ernest J. Whitaker, the Battalion Commander, presents the cash awards.

Win Lambert Trophy

Army's Black Knights this week gained additional grid fame as they earned the annual Lambert Trophy, symbolic of Eastern major college football supremacy.

The honor came shortly after the Cadets bounced Navy, 22-6, to post their first undefeated season since 1949. West Point also set a record of 1,550 yards gained through the air as compared to the 1,158 mark chalked up four years ago.

A SMALL EDITION of what the highnetters of the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery earned for copping their second (and 6th ARADCOM's third) All-ARADCOM volleyball title Wednesday is this trophy which they took for winning the recent region tourney. Here, player-coach M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio (r.) accepts the 6th ARADCOM trophy from Col. Michael M. Irvine, 6th Region Deputy Commander.

Dawkins Heisman Winner

Another laurel was added to the collection of Pete Dawkins, all-American halfback and team captain of West Point's unbeaten, once tied Black Knights.

This week Cadet Dawkins (Star Presidian, 26 November) was awarded the Heisman Memorial Award as the "outstanding college football player" of 1958.

He also is a scholar and military leader: First Captain of Cadets, President of the Class of '59, and in the top 10 scholastically.

McNamara Buckets 24 As LAH Beats Marines

Flushed from victory in their NorCal Military Sports Association opener Wednesday night against Oakland Army Terminal, Letterman Army Hospital cagers last night took the floor on their homecourt in an attempt to make the Long Beach sailors their fourth victims this season.

Results were not available at press time. The Medics went into last night's game with a 3-1 record, having also in the past week reversed the tables on the San Francisco Marines — their lone vanquisher.

Next Wednesday, the LAH men will move to Fairfield Air Force Station for their second NCMSA tilt.

In stomping Oakland, 61-42, the Medics seesawed with their rivals across the Bay until, with six minutes left in the game, Letterman went into high gear and outscored OAT 21-6 to post the lopsided victory. At halftime, LAH held only a 22-20 lead.

Three big guns for the Medics were 1st Lt. John Meyers, with 21; followed closely by 2d Lt. Bob McNamara, 16, and 1st Lt. Ronald Lowell, 14. Tossing in the rest of the local's points were Pfc. Chuck Barnes, 5; 1st Lt. Fred Insley, 2; and Sp4 Wayne Peterson, 3.

Earlier, Letterman avenged a 48-41 away loss to the San Francisco Marines by bumping them, 51-43, in a homecourt thriller.

Coach M/Sgt. Norm Fricker's LAH men suffered when their two tall men—high scoring 6'3½" 1st Lt. Meyers (held to 9) and 6'2" Pfc. Barnes—fouled out early in the second half.

Stepping in to fill the gap, though, was 2d Lt. McNamara, who netted 24 to take game scoring honors. Pfc. Barnes hooped 6 before retiring.

Others hitting were Sp4 Peterson and 1st Lt. Lowell, 4; and Sp4 "Chick" Brenneise and Pfc. "Smiley" Gomez, 2.

The Marines struck first with a 2-point lead in the opening minute. Letterman then tied it up and moved ahead, to lead at halftime, 32-26. In the middle of the second half, the Marines jumped to a 39-38 advantage, but from there on out it was Letterman all the way.

With the loss of height, LAH stalled the last 5½ minutes to clinch the win.

Annex Second Crown With Perfect Record

4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery highnetters proved invincible this week as they powered to seven straight wins over two different opponents to sweep the 3d annual All-ARADCOM volleyball double-elimination tourney staged at Letterman Army Hospital gym.

In rolling up a staggering 105 points to their opponents' meagre 33, the 4th-men copped their second straight All-ARADCOM crown and added the third straight national title to the 6th Region trophy case.

The Presidio sextet clinched top honors by bowling over the fighting 5th Region (28th Arty. Gp., Detroit, Mich.), 15-1, 15-7 and 15-9, in the finals Wednesday night.

The 5th Region had earlier that night earned the right to face the 6th Region's 4th Battalion by bouncing the 2d Region (5th Msl. Bn., 3d Arty., Pittsburgh, Pa.), 15-9, 7-15, and 15-7.

Earlier, the local missilemen trounced the 4th Region (2d Msl. Bn., 67th Arty., Ellsworth AFB, S. Dak.) on Monday, 15-4 and 15-3, and on Tuesday smashed the 5th Region, 15-0 and 15-9.

At an awards banquet last night in San Rafael, Brig. Gen. Daniel A. O'Connor, 31st Artillery Brigade (Seattle) Commander, presented championship and runner-up trophies as representative of ARADCOM Commander Lt. Gen. Charles E. Hart. Guest speaker was Col. Arthur W. Gustafson, Sixth Army Special Service Officer.

Action got under way Saturday when the 4th Region got dumped, 11-5, by 1st Region (4th Msl. Bn., 71st Arty., Ft. Hancock, N. J.) and then roared back to topple the Easterners, 15-12 and 15-2.

In the second game Saturday, 5th Region followed the earlier pattern by getting belted, 5-15, in the opening set with 2d Region and then coming back to take the match with 15-7 and 15-12 victories.

In blasting the 4th Region Monday, the 6th Region's Presidio boys relied heavily on the smashing spikes of Pfc. Al Kincaid and hard-to-handle serves of All-American player-coach M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio. The match boiled down to a case that the locals showed too much class for the visiting 4th Region to handle.

In the other Monday match, the 2d Region bounced back from its first round defeat to eliminate the 1st Region, 15-8 and 15-11.

Tuesday, the local 6th Region pummeled 5th Region, unleashing a blistering attack to blank the 5th men in the first game. Paced by Pfc. Kincaid and Pfc. Jim McLin, who drove spikes into, through, around and past opposing blockers, the West Coasters allowed 5th Region only six scattered serves.

In the second tilt, coach M/Sgt. Ignacio used reserves Sp4 Dick Chute and Sp4 Bob Mendez as key men in belting out the win.

2d Region then eliminated 4th Region, 15-8 and 16-14, to force the semifinal playoff with the 5th Region. The 5th Region then disposed of the 2d in the opener Wednesday night and had to face the 6th Region.

In coasting to the tourney title, the 6th Region's Sp4 Dave Rhem, Pfc. Kincaid and Pfc. McLin alternated in powering spikes through the 5th Region's spotty defense after taking outstanding sets from M/Sgt. Ignacio. The third game proved to be the only close one, with the runner-up's Bill White giving a fine display of blocking to keep the losers in contention.

Olympic Tickets Pegged At $60 For 11-Day Meeting

It takes money to make money.

Winter sports enthusiasts who have a spare $60—the price of a "season" ticket to the VIII Olympic Winter Games—can see every skiing and speed skating event, and most of the hockey games, during the 11-day meet at a savings of $22.50.

An announcement this week from the Games Organizing Committee pointed out that tickets in the "season" book average $5.45 per day while the daily rate is $7.50.

However, if saving isn't important, "season" tickets in reserved seat and reserved loge areas are available at $200 and $250, respectively.

The $60 book will enable the bearer to see 15 skating and ski jumping events, 8 speed skating races and at least 15 hockey games, in addition to the opening, closing and victory award ceremonies.

Applications should be made through the Organizing Committee headquarters, 333 Market St., San Francisco 5, Calif.

Salmon Proved Testy, Says Fish And Game

The salmon just didn't bite this year.

Figures just released by the California Department of Fish and Game revealed that the commercial troll catch for '58, if statistics to date are any indication, will be under four million pounds—the lowest since the beginning of World War II.

Warn Skindivers On Abalone Restrictions

Skindivers with aqualungs or "Scubas" (self-contained underwater breathing apparatus) had better confine their appreciation of abalones to just looking.

North of Yankee Point, Monterey County, it is illegal to use the artificial breathers for bringing in the undersea delicacies. In addition, other divers can land only five.

Tom Junker of Gualala, Calif., learned the hard way. Using a lung, he speared 34 abalones and ended up paying the state $125 in fines for the sport.

Presidio Cagers Lose Pair In Nevada

"LOVE AND . . . XXX" to everybody who signs up for the annual Mixed Doubles Handicap Turkey shoot say cuties Pfc. Margaret Kramer and Pvt. Jeannine Miller. And Sfc. Ed Johnson, sitting there in the middle—he's just running the show. By the way, the young ladies were wondering out loud who might be their partners when action gets underway tonight.

Presidio Bowlers Set For Big Turkey Shoot

It's turkey time for Presidio keggers!

Big, plump birds are waiting for bowling enthusiasts here to earn them in the annual Mixed Doubles Handicap Turkey Shoot which gets underway tonight at 1900 at the Service Club alleys.

If you can't make it tonight, there's still plenty of time to sign up for action tomorrow at 1800 or Sunday at 1400.

So grab your partner and hustle down to the alleys for reservations; those of you who are already in, remember to be on the spot 15 minutes before you are scheduled to bowl.

As it stands now, each partner will bowl three games; but there's no limit on the number of sets each pair can roll.

Handicaps, where possible, will be based on the highest known average, being computed as two-thirds of the difference between the average and 200. For those bowlers who have no established average, the average will be determined by the three games bowled. The maximum handicaps will be: men—50; women—60.

If you have a question, call Sfc. Ed Johnson at Ext. 5239.

Torero vs. Travis In Bowling Meet

Travis Air Force Base Keglers will be here tomorrow to meet Presidio's Toreros in the two teams' first NorCal Armed Forces Sport League clash.

Action will begin at 1300 at the Service Club alleys. The meet will be a double-header.

The Toreros were scheduled last Saturday to journey to Travis, but alley repairs there precluded the trip. In a pre-season match, the Presidians downed the airmen, 2-1 (total pins not counting).

Money Making Rascals

Income from the Army-Navy game nets each school more than $250,000 from ticket sales and another $100,000 apiece for TV and radio rights. The profits help defray expenses in other inter-collegiate athletics.

Toreras vs. Mather In Crucial League Meeting Last Nite

Last night Presidio WAC basketballers tangled with the Mather Air Force Base WAFs on the air-ladies home court in what was the Golden Gaters most crucial Women's Interservice Recreational League clash this season.

Going into last night's fray, the unbeaten Presidians were leading the league with 5-0, but Mather was hot on their heels with 5-1. A loss would dump the Toreras out of first.

The local gals, who have been idle since blasting Letterman, 45-22, on 25 November, will host Hamilton Air Force Base Tuesday at 1800 on the Letterman court.

They also will play another league game at Letterman Thursday (1900), but at press time the opponent had not been named. It is expected the girls will square off with either Ft. Mason or Travis Air Force Base.

Swamp Alameda 85-64 In Local League Play

By Sp4 Woody Hubbell
Star Presidian Sports Editor

After dropping a pair of "heartbreakers" to University of Nevada last weekend, Presidio Torero cagers swamped Alameda Coast Guard, 85-64, Tuesday night and last night took the floor at Hamilton Air Force Base in attempt to stretch their unbeaten skein in NorCal Armed Forces Sports League play.

The Toreros now stand at 3-0 in NCAFSL competition and 9-3 on the season.

Scores of last night's clash were not available at press time; but the Toreros went in heavy favorites, having dropped HAFB, 77-57, in the 1958 League opener.

Tonight's scrap with St. Mary's JV has been cancelled, but tomorrow at Letterman gym the Presidians will face their one-time 75-57 victims, Mather Air Force Base, beginning at 1900.

Tuesday, the Post quint will journey to University of San Francisco's new gym to meet the USF JV (1900); and the following night, they will host Travis Air Force Base in a second NCAFSL match with the airmen. Earlier, Presidio beat Travis, 71-60.

In the Alameda game, Pfc. Bill VonWeyhe of MRU kept up his high-scoring streak to net 25 and completely overshadow the Coast Guardsmen's All-Navy, 6'8½" center, George Haney.

Much of the credit for holding Seaman Haney to 15 was the outstanding defensive play of Pfc. Joe Savoldi, of U.S.A. Training Group, who restricted the giant sailor to 6 in the first half.

2d Lt. Ed Fine, Post Pharmacy Officer, shook his early-season scoring allergy and hit for 17 in a game which found the Toreros literally running the pants off their opponents.

Coach Hal Fischer's squad took only one time out, and that at the end of the game, while running the CG-men ragged. For example, with two minutes to go to the half, the Presidians led by only five, but they splurged the points to take a halftime edge of 14 points, 44-30.

The rest of the game followed the same pattern—run, run, run—with the locals never in danger.

Also hitting the double figures were Pvt. Harry Lux of 30th Artillery Group, 11, and Pfc. Joe Perry of the Honor Guard, 10.

Pfc. Savoldi and Pfc. Mike Diaz of 30th Engineer Battalion both sank 6, while Pfc. Joe Gascon of Sixth Army added 5 and Pfc. Ken Carroll of Headquarters Company, U.S.A.G., 2.

The Nevada games were almost carbon copies of each other—heavy fouls on the Presidians and nip-and-tuck all the way.

Presidio dropped the first, 58-61, and the other, 49-50. In both games Nevada held the halftime margin by 1 point, 37-36 and 25-24; in both games Pfc. VonWeyhe paced the Toreros with 17, with Pvt. Lux's 13 and 10 being the Presidians' next best individual effort.

Other scoring (both games) was:

Pfc. Perry, 2 and 7; Pfc. Diaz, 4 and 2; 2d Lt. Fine, 5 and 2; Pfc. Carroll, 7 and 5; Pfc. Savoldi, 6 and 6; and Pfc. Frank Zechel of 16th BPO, 4 and 0.

Comets vs. Elgin AFB For Services Title In Shrimp Bowl Play

Ft. Sam Houston, Tex. (ANS)—The Brooke Army Medical Center's Comets will take on Elgin Air Force Base for the service football championship in Galveston's Shrimp Bowl December 14. The Comets, undefeated until they lost to Fort Riley last week, hold impressive wins over Hamilton AFB and Corpus Christi University.

The bowl game—a charity tilt—is sponsored by the Galveston Chamber of Commerce for the March of Dimes.

Sponsors of the Galveston game indicated that the Comets' lopsided win over Hamilton AFB was a deciding factor in the invitation.

Keg League Leaders Flounder Big Stretch Battle On Tap

Week by week the supremacy of G1 in the Bay Bowling League becomes more questionable as the Number One keggers drop decision after decision, staying out in front only on the strength of an early-season spurt which at one time pushed them almost 200 percentage points ahead of their nearest rivals.

After taking it on the chin, 3-1, this week from sixth place Sixth Army Headquarters, the G1-men now hold only a .073 margin. Pacing the upset victors was Bonar, with 493-185; but high bowler in the match was G1's Lasch, with 508-188.

The second place JAGS helped fill the gap by knocking off the seventh place Triple Aces, 3-1, behind the 545-200 of Hood. Tops for the losers was Blumenfeld's 540-209.

The fourth place Compt-Rollers boosted their shot at the next higher slot by dumping third place MRU, 3-1. Morgan of the Rollers posted 480-163; Bowlds of MRU, 541-198.

Fifth place Garrison got in solid with a 4-0 shutout over cellar dwelling Sixth Army Signal as Wood paced the winners with 492-177. Best for Signal was Hunt's 452-169.

In the Presidio lead, the Shatters broke a deadlock for first with the Keystone Kops to move out in front by whipping the Islanders, 4-0, while the Kops split with the cellar-dwelling 60th CI Detachment, 2-2.

Heading the Shatters' crucial win was DuBois' 582-236, while tops for the losers was Saito's 471-198. The Kops-60th clash found individual leaders Shou-del, 534-183, and Gregor, 506-187, respectively.

In other games, SFAADS pulled out of the basement by upsetting the King Pins, 4-0, behind the 530-204 of Schweikhard. Bowlds, with 463-174, led the Pins.

The Recruiters and Alley Rats also rolled to a 2-2 tie, with Bolton's 573-222 and Reinders' 555-192 top scores for the respective teams.

Standings in the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery League remained unchanged this week as the one-two teams, Headquarters and A Batteries, tied 2-2. Walkley, with 487-209, proved best for the Headquarters quintet, while leading the attack for A Battery was Lee, with 467-175.

B and C Batteries also wound up 2-2 in a complicated two-way forfeit. Neither team showed up, so each took two points.

The ninth week of bowling in the Pacific League found Sixth Army Headquarters No. 2 stretch its lead by taking a 4-0 decision from the Missileers, who forfeited. Whall of Sixth Army rolled 519-196.

The Warrants pulled up to a tie for second place with the AAA Sparks by beating the Hilltoppers, 4-0, while the Sparks split with the Regioners, 2-2.

Marlow rolled 520-203 for the Warrants, Saiki had a 457-180 for the Toppers, Beery bowled 495-179 for the Sparks; Niles, 508-188 for the Regioners.

The Retorts bested Sixth Army Headquarters No. 3, 3-1, behind Milburn's 458-170; Wilmoth posted a 484-166 for the losers.

Pasol Wins NorCal Title Bests Field 22 Fencers

M/Sgt. Severo Pasol, Letterman-Presidio fencer who recently copped the Mexico International Individual Foil crown, last week also plucked the NorCal Amateur Fencing League of America Class III Foil title by besting the field of 22 swordsmen from colleges and fencing clubs all over the Northern part of the State.

Coach Bill O'Brien's former pupil, Peter Schwartz (now at University of California), and Col. Laurance Brownlee of Presidio took second and third, respectively.

In the championship, staged at Letterman Army Hospital gym, the following O'Brien-men also competed: M/Sgt. Bert Sheck, Pfc. Bill Fleming, 1st Lt. George Bledschmidt, 1st Lt. William Coleman, 1st Lt. Eugene Hardy, Ed Purdy and Carl Dorman.

Sunday, the LAH-PSF fencers also dominated the AFLA Class III Epee meet at San Francisco School of Fencing, with Schwartz slashing his way to first place honors and Col. Brownlee taking the runner-up spot. M/Sgt. Pasol was held to a three-way tie for third.

Dorman and Purdy also competed.

(The previous weekend, Purdy had won the Unclassified Epee championship.)

Bible Class Has New Son; Daughter Returns To Home

There was both joy and sorrow in the hearts of Presidio's adult Kenneth E. McDaniel memorial Bible Class members last month as they received a letter telling them, "To Sun has been reunited with her Mother."

They were happy that the little girl who has been their

Bible Class Son To Sun

Christian Children's Fund, Inc., "adoptee" since 1956 would now again have a home and loving parents, but it saddened them to realize that there would be no more happy little notes from "Your adopted child, Kang To Sun."

However, no one could remain unhappy for long as they viewed a smiling picture of their new "son," Choi Chul Joong.

Born in 1948, Chul Joong lost his father shortly after the Korean War broke out, and soon he and his mother had "to leave their simple home and possessions and flee with the masses." The two of them became separated and the little boy, whose name means strong, never again saw his mother.

A gentle, active third grader, Chul Joong now lives at the Kyung Nam Boys' School in Pusan, Korea. His favorite subjects in school are reading and arithmetic and his favorite sport is football.

Although the youngster suffered extremely during the chaotic conditions of the bitter fighting period, his health is now good and, although he is too young for vocational training as yet, he daily has the chore of sweeping all the garden paths.

The Kyung Nam Boys' School is typical of the many sponsored by Christian citizens. Situated in the outskirts of Pusan, it consists of a dormitory, school building, office and library, dining hall, chapel, medical clinic, and a large workshop where everything is taught from weaving to the raising of bees. Outside there are playgrounds where "growing boys and girls may forget work and study for a time each day in wholesome outdoor play."

Perhaps the feelings of the children who have been given "a new lease on life," by American Christian Organizations can best be expressed by the words of a card sent to their "parents."

"For we love you like you love us and we try our best to do the Will of Him Who came this Blessed Day to help us weld the golden chains that made us all one family."

Presently completing a two year study of the Bible, the adult Bible Class will begin another survey on 14 December, with sessions each Sunday morning at 0930 in the Presidio Religious Activities Center.

All adults, both civilian and military, interested in learning more about "His Words" are urged to come and join the group, led by Col. Albert Butler, G-3 Section, and Maj. William Byrum, Post Engineer Section.

A pot luck supper on the third Thursday of each month for the whole family, will be only one of the classes' many social functions designed to promote fellowship.

Sixth Army Col.'s Son Is Runnerup In Essay Contest

Richard J. Stillman, 15, son of Col. R. J. Stillman, Deputy G1 Sixth U.S. Army, has been named second place winner in the third annual defense transportation essay contest sponsored by the San Francisco Bay Area Chapter of the National Defense Transportation Association. His award was a deluxe portable typewriter.

The winning essays on the subject "Transportation, the Key to National Defense" were selected by a board of judges consisting of Major General John J. Binns, Sixth U.S. Army; Rear Admiral Harold Larson, Military Sea Transportation Service-Pacific Area; Brigadier General Robert C. Tripp, U.S. Army Transportation Terminal Command-Pacific; Frederic Whitman, Western Pacific R. R.; George Killion, American President Lines, and John R. Wagner, Pacific Far East Lines.

In a separate ceremony, Howard Adams, National President of the National Defense Transportation Association, presented a transportation achievement award to Stanley Hiller, Hiller Aircraft Corp., Palo Alto, in recognition of his work in the military helicopter and flying platform field.

Fade Away? Military Chiefs Still Active After Retirement

New York (AFPS)—Old soldiers never die . . . they just fade away.

When General of the Armies Douglas MacArthur quoted this refrain before a joint session of Congress in 1951, it caught the popular imagination. But as far as "fading away" goes, how true is it?

The record shows that some of the nation's most illustrious combat leaders are still very active in their retirement years. One of them, of course, holds the biggest civilian job of all — the U.S. Presidency.

Others have been snared by industry, education and related fields where their executive and administrative talents qualify them for key positions. Quite a number are contributing their extensive experience to the business and industrial world as chairmen of boards and company directors.

An outstanding example is Gen. MacArthur himself, at 78 chairman of the board of the Sperry Rand Corp. Others include:

• Gen. Lucius D. Clay, 61, chairman of the board and chief executive of the Continental Can Co.

• Gen. Omar N. Bradley, 65, chairman of the board of the Bulova Watch Co., and also chairman of its research laboratories.

• Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe, 62, vice president for engineering and construction of the American Cyanamid Co.

• Adm. Ben Moreell, former board chairman and now a director of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp.

• Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, 63, chairman of the board of the Mellon Institute for Industrial Research.

• Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, 63, vice chairman of the board of the American Machine and Foundry Co.

• Lt. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, 62, vice president of Remington Rand.

• Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, 59, president of the American Red Cross.

• Lt. Gen. Willis D. Crittenger, 68, president of the Free Europe Committee, Inc.

All of these retired generals and flag officers, and many others, ended their military careers after years of staff work, in, and direction of, sprawling, many-faceted organizations where cool thinking and the ability to make critical decisions under pressure were indispensable.

Their brains, their understanding of the human elements that affect problems involving the efficient disposition of manpower, their training to accept and execute orders as well as give them—these are some of the factors that make them invaluable in industry and public life.

10th Annual Observance

1959 Armed Forces Day Scheduled For 16 May

Washington (AFPS)—Plans for the tenth annual observance of Armed Forces Day on 16 May, 1959, have been announced by Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy.

"Power for Peace," the slogan used since 1953, will again be the theme for the day on which the public is invited to take a close look at our national defense system at home and abroad.

A gigantic all-service open house will be held at Andrews AFB, Washington, D. C., 9-10 May, one week ahead of the traditional observance on the third Saturday in May.

Mr. McElroy has authorized observance throughout the U.S. and overseas between 9-17 May.

The 1959 Armed Forces Day program, the Defense Secretary said, calls for increased attention to the relationship between our national strength and the peaceful aspirations of the U.S. and the free world.

The observance is designed specifically, he added, to give Americans and people of friendly countries a better understanding of the personnel, equipment and teamwork of the various components of our armed forces.

Besides the traditional open house, programs will feature educational exhibits, demonstrations, air shows, parades, drills, award ceremonies, vessels in port, meetings, sports events, social affairs, special films and other activities.

A joint command, including the Coast Guard, has been established to make sure Armed Forces Day activities in each of seven geographical areas of the U.S. function smoothly.

In addition to a project officer for each area, every post, camp, station, base or other command will have an Armed Forces Day representative. The overseas projects will be organized by unified commands.

The 1959 celebration will pay special attention to the National Guard and other components of the reserve forces, Civil Air Patrol and similar supporting units.

Mr. McElroy said the record shows that the public has welcomed this annual opportunity to see their defense team in operation. In 1958, for example, Armed Forces Day programs had a direct impact on nearly 22,000,000 people in the U.S. and abroad.

Attendance at 1,000 community programs in 1958 was estimated at 4,600,000. Approximately 7,000,000 more watched 500 parades in which a half million uniformed personnel participated. Millions of others learned about "Power for Peace" through radio, television and other news media.

50,000 Traffic Deaths

A safety expert, Henry J. Hoeffler, assistant general manager of the National Safety Council, predicted recently that unless effective action is taken, 50,000 will die in violent traffic deaths in 1966. He added that last year's fatalities numbered 38,500, and that since 1925, 1,081,600 people had died on our highways.

AFPS-Wide World

Countdown at the Pentagon

WASHINGTON (AFPS)—The Pentagon, the world's largest building for the world's largest business, today houses almost 29,000 workers, topping a peak WWII staff of 26,500.

This up-to-date figure, plus additional data just released, shows the magnitude of the operation which directs U.S. military activities world-wide.

The Pentagon was built on a "crash" basis in 16 months and completed in January 1943. At one time 13,000 men were employed in the construction of the building on a 24-hour schedule.

Surrounded by 200 acres of lawn and terraces, the building itself covers 34 acres. It has five floors, a mezzanine and a basement. Its five concentric rings are connected by ten spoke-like corridors.

The home of the Defense Department and hub for Army,

Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force operations, the Pentagon has 7,600 windows, 65,000 light fixtures, 3,000 clocks, 550 water fountains, 1,900 toilets in 249 rest rooms and 530 hose cabinets for fire protection.

Boasting the world's largest switchboard, the DOD's telephone system handles 270,000 calls a day over 50,000 phones connected by 175,000 miles of cable. The system could normally provide service for a city of 200,000 residents.

The total length of the corridors in the Pentagon is 17½ miles. But the maximum distance between any two rooms—a six-minute walk—is only 1,800 feet. The distance around the outer edge of the building is about one mile. There are 150 stairways and 19 escalators.

To feed the "noontime eaters" a staff of 625 persons prepares and serves meals from three kitchens to two restaurants, six cafeterias, nine beverage bars and an outside snack bar.

The Pentagon facilities include: medical and dental clinics, optometry shop, bank, credit union, post office, dry cleaning and laundry shop, barber shop, uniform and tailoring shop, shoe shine and repair shop, railway and airline ticket services, bakery, candy store, drug store, camera shop, department store, jewelry store, florist, newsstand and book store.

The Pentagon is served by two commercial bus companies which operate approximately 800 trips in and out of the building bus terminal every day.

For those who drive their cars to work there are 30 miles of access highway with cloverleafs leading to parking areas which cover about 67 acres and can accommodate 9,307 automobiles.

Vol. 7, No. 30 PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA Friday 19 December, 1958

DA Orders Suspension Of Helicopter Program

Department of the Army this week announced suspension until 1960 of pilot training for cargo helicopters.

In a message to subordinate commands, DA stated, "No input of active Army personnel under AR 611-85 is scheduled for the Army Cargo Helicopter Pilot Training Course before 1 January 1960."

The message explained that applications submitted prior to this message will be processed in accordance with current procedures, but that only applications of the "best qualified" volunteers will be retained by the Chief of Transportation for future consideration.

Applications submitted subsequent to the date of the DA message will be "returned through channels citing this message as authority."

Another key suspension was of the provisions of paragraph 10a, AR 611-85, which had stipulated that, normally, individuals who had submitted applications for the pilot training would not be reassigned to other areas until receipt of final notice on the application.

Now, such persons may be transferred. Paragraph 10d, however, requires that applicants keep the Chief of Transportation informed of their changed addresses.

A Sixth U.S. Army circular containing full details in regard to the new policy is expected to be in the field shortly.

DA advised that information regarding the resumption of pilot training would be disseminated at least 90 days in advance of the effective date.

New Series Inside

General Bruce C. Clarke's new series—Forewords For Combat Readiness—begins in this issue of the Star-Presidian. Private or general, you won't want to miss a single installment in this new monthly series by one of the country's most articulate military leaders. General Clarke is presently serving as Commanding General of the United States Continental Army Command at Ft. Monroe, Virginia.

Major Commanders In Conference At Sixth Army Today

Commanders of every major Army installation and command in the Sixth U.S. Army area met here today for an Army Installation Commanders' Conference.

The 21 visiting officers discussed operational, logistical, personnel, intelligence and budget problems with Lieutenant General Charles D. Palmer, Sixth U.S. Army Commander, and members of his headquarters staff.

Among the visiting officers are Major General Louis W. Truman, Fort Lewis, Washington, Commander; Major General John W. Harmony, XV U.S. Army Corps (Reserve) Commander; Major General Francis M. Day, X U.S. Army Corps (Reserve), Commander, Fort Lawton, Washington; Major General E. J. McGaw, Commanding General, 6th Region, U.S. Army Air Defense Command, Fort Baker, California; Brigadier General Frank W. Moorman, Commanding General, Fort Huachuca, Arizona; Brigadier General Edgar T. Conley, Commanding General, Camp Irwin, California; Brigadier General Robert C. Tripp, Commanding General, U.S. Army Transportation Terminal Command Pacific, Fort Mason, and Colonel Howard F. Haberman, Chief of Staff, Fort Ord, representing Major General Carl F. Fritzsche.

First Army Exercise

Washington (ANS) — In its forthcoming January issue, The Army Reservist announces that a map exercise, FAREX 59, (slated for mid-April 1959) will involve nearly 100,000 National Guardsmen and Reservists from the First Army Area.

It will be the first time the new pentomic units will be employed on an Army scale in the First Army area and will have a heavy play on missiles and nuclear weapons, according to the magazine.

Army Chief of Staff

As the Christmas season draws near, once again we of the Army pause to offer our thanks for the blessings of peace and security which our nation enjoys. While performing essential duties in many areas of the world, we stand ready to protect our Christian way of life and to defend the peace. With the advent of the New Year, the Army rededicates itself to the continuing deterrence of war and the ultimate achievement of true peace for all men of good will.

The obligations of the service will require many of the Army's men and women to observe the Yuletide in a variety of foreign lands. To them and to all other members of the Army and their families I send best wishes for a merry Christmas, together with my sincere hope for a joyous New Year of continued happiness in their significant service in the cause of peace.

GEN. MAXWELL D. TAYLOR
Army Chief of Staff

Thai Surgeon Visits Here

The Surgeon General of the Royal Thai Army, Maj. Gen. Thanom U, visited the Sixth U.S. Army Medical Section and Letterman Army Hospital on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. This was the final stop in a MAP-sponsored visit to medical installations in the U.S.

Swedish Ship To Visit

The Swedish Training Ship "Alvsnabben," a minelayer, commanded by Captain Gunnar Norstrom, will visit San Francisco late this month. Presidio will exchange salutes with the vessel.

Secretary of the Army

The Christmas season affords me a welcome opportunity to extend to every man and woman in the United States Army—including both uniformed and civilian personnel—my warm personal greetings and best wishes for a joyous Christmas and a successful New Year.

To each of you I voice my deep appreciation for your splendid performance as a member of our great United States Army team. To know that in serving our country you are helping to strengthen the cause of the free world should be a source of great personal satisfaction. Among the freedoms you defend is one that guarantees the right of all of us to enjoy this holy season in peace.

To those of you who are separated from your families, I send my special greetings. Your loved ones are thinking of you and are proud of your steadfast devotion to your country's cause.

May each one of you, as well as each member of your family, enjoy the full blessing of the Christmas season and the happiness of a New Year.

WILBER M. BRUCKER
Secretary of the Army

U.S. SENATOR William F. Knowland receives a certificate naming him a member of the Infantry Hall of Fame from Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Commanding General of the Sixth U.S. Army.

Brochures To Aid Families On Travel To Overseas Billets

Washington (ANS) — Personnel authorized concurrent travel of dependents will now receive brochures of general information on the overseas area of assignment through the local installation commander rather than directly from the overseas commander.

Circular 55-20 published in November directs that overseas commanders (who desire to furnish such information to personnel prior to their departure) will forward it by air mail to the installation commander with an appropriate covering letter requesting expeditious handling.

Such mail will then be forwarded to the military personnel concerned at his current military address or a leave address maintained by the installation commander in accordance with current regulations.

Career Board Pick

The Career Executive Board has chosen James C. O'Brien, Director of Personnel of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, to become its Executive Secretary. The Board was created last March by Executive order to help Government agencies develop programs to effectively use and retain career executives in the Federal service. Arthur S. Fleming, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, is Chairman of the Board.

Name Senator Knowland To Infantry Hall Of Fame

United States Senator William F. Knowland was presented a certificate announcing that his name has been placed on the Honor Roll of the Infantry Officer Candidate Hall of Fame in an informal ceremony held this week in the office of Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth U.S. Army commander.

General Palmer made the presentation on behalf of Major General Paul L. Freeman, Jr., Commandant of the Infantry Center at Fort Benning, Ga., where Senator Knowland attended the Infantry Officer Candidate School, from which he was graduated as a second lieutenant of Infantry in February 1943.

Military personnel selected for inclusion in the Infantry Officer Candidate Hall of Fame must have attained the rank of lieutenant colonel or have been awarded the Medal of Honor. Civilians selected for the honor are those graduates of the Infantry Officer Candidate School now in high Federal or State civilian offices, or who are on a Secretary level in a military department. The Hall of Fame also is intended as an incentive for all present and future Officer Candidates.

Senator Knowland, who entered the Army as a private in June 1942, rose to the rank of major before he was separated from the service in August 1945 to accept his appointment as United States Senator from California.

With the advent of another new year, hopes are reborn for bringing calm to our world. With the guidance of God, and the example of his Son, we can face the future with the spiritual strength which is such a vital part of combat readiness.

General, USA
Commanding

CONARC CG

To every military and civilian member of this command, I extend warmest Christmas greetings.

As we enjoy this most festive of all holidays, let us remember that it is the birth of the Prince of Peace, almost 2000 years ago, that we celebrate. Our job is to help preserve that peace which He so vividly symbolizes.

With the advent of another new year, hopes are reborn for bringing calm to our world. With the guidance of God, and the example of his Son, we can face the future with the spiritual strength which is such a vital part of combat readiness.

Crisis Background

Why We're In Berlin

The U.S. position in Berlin is based on rights gained in the conquest of Nazi Germany. With the other victorious powers the U.S. agreed to the military occupation of Germany, including joint occupation of Berlin, the fallen nation's capital.

The victors established a military rule to continue until a peace treaty was conducted with a satisfactory new German government. The military regime persists today because there has been no German peace treaty and no formation of a single government satisfactory to all the former allies of WWII.

The following is a chronology of negotiations and agreements relating to Berlin and the present crisis:

- Conference of Foreign Ministers in Moscow, October 1943: Foreign ministers of the U.S., Britain and U.S.S.R. agreed to joint responsibility for and occupation of Germany and set up the European Advisory Commission.
- The European Advisory Commission: By July 1944 this commission had agreed on joint occupation of Berlin and the creation of a Soviet occupation zone embracing East Germany as it exists today. No agreement guaranteeing Western access to Berlin was ever reached by the Commission.
- The Yalta Conference, February 1945: Government heads of the U.S., Britain and the U.S.S.R. met and ratified the two E.A.C. agreements. They also agreed that France should have an occupation zone.
- Germany's Surrender, May 1945: British and U.S. troops had penetrated farther east by V-E day than it had been expected they would. The Russians, on the other hand, were in complete control of Berlin. The Soviet Union would not give the West its share in Berlin unless the West withdrew its troops from the substantial and rich area they had conquered but which had been promised to the Soviets.
- The Berlin Agreement, June 1945: Quadripartite rule (U.S., Britain, France, U.S.S.R.) of both Germany and Berlin was established as agreed to by the E.A.C. and at the Yalta Conference.
- The Potsdam Agreement, August 1945: This reiterated the previous agreement without mention of Berlin. It listed occupation objectives, provided for German reparations, gave support to a Soviet seizure of northern East Prussia from Germany and the area of Germany east of the Oder and Neisse Rivers.
- The Air Corridor Agreement, November 1945: It was agreed that three corridors for air travel between Berlin and West Germany should be created and that flights along these corridors could proceed without notice.
- The Jessup-Malik Agreement, May 1949: The Soviet blockade of Berlin, initiated in June 1948, was unsuccessful because of the Berlin Airlift. In early 1949 the Soviet Union decided to end the blockade and arrangements to do so were made at the United Nations. Dr. Philip C. Jessup of the U.S. and Yakov A. Malik of Russia were the negotiators. In return for the lifting of the blockade, the West agreed to stop a retaliatory blockade it had imposed on East Germany.
- The Foreign Ministers Agreement, June 1949: The Big Four foreign ministers met in Paris and ratified the Jessup-Malik pact. It also declared that each zone would be responsible for insuring normal function and utilization of rail, water and road transportation.
- The Convention of October 1954: Concluded between the Western occupation powers and West Germany, this document reserved for the Western conquering powers all rights and responsibilities relating to Berlin so that they would continue after establishment of the German Federal Republic as a sovereign state.
- The Soviet-East German Agreement, September 1955: In this agreement the Soviet Union recognized the sovereignty of the German Democratic Republic (East Germany), but reserved for the Soviet Army control of American, French and British military and freight movement between West Berlin and West Germany.

New Warrant Officer Has Been There And Is Back

It's bars again for former non-com, former captain George H. Powers who this week turned in sergeant first class stripes for the insignia of chief warrant officer, W-2, after two years break as an enlisted man.

He was released in 1956 as a captain, then enlisted in the Army's guided missile program for the Electronic Material Maintenance Course at Ft. Bliss, Tex.

With C Battery, 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery as an Assembly Sergeant since his graduation from Air Defense School, he now will move to the Battalion's D Battery on Angel Island.

CWO Powers entered the service with the Massachusetts National Guard in September, 1940. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in 1943 while at Cp. Davis, N.C., and transferred to Panama. In January 1946 he was released from active duty as a first lieutenant.

Recalled in 1949, he was promoted to captain in 1952 and then was released in 1956.

Infantry Still Key To Offense, Defense Chief Tells Confab

Fort Benning, Ga. (ANS) — "Firepower, mobility, communications, and well-trained men employed in the proper combination at the decisive point of combat remain the keys to success in battle" said General Maxwell D. Taylor, Army Chief of Staff, in an address to the U.S. Army Infantry Conference here this week.

General Taylor warned Infantry leaders that, "In this era of military change and growing complexity, tomorrow belongs to soldiers who refuse to be awed or confused by it and who resolutely rise to meet its challenge."

He pointed out that the double threat of either total or limited war puts the Infantry in the position of being both the offense and the defense at the same time. In case of limited war, the Infantry would act as the offensive to destroy localized aggression while nuclear weapons would be held as the shield, keeping in check the nuclear potentiality of the enemy.

"If we should have to face general war," the Chief of Staff continued, "the shield is those deployed forces which meet the enemy's thrust on the ground and in the air and blunt or parry it in preparation for the riposte of the sword of nuclear retaliation."

12 Complete Army Instrument Course

Army Instrument Certificates were presented this week by Col. C. L. Hankins, Chief, Sixth Army Aviation Section, to members of the twelfth class of Army aviators completing the Sixth Army Instrument Flying Course.

The purpose of the course, which consists of 92 hours of ground school instruction, 65 hours of dual instruction and 40 hours of link training, is to qualify Army aviators as "instrument pilots" in accordance with Civil Aeronautics Administration standards.

Participating in this group were 12 officers from Ft. Ord, Calif.; Ft. Lewis, Wash.; Alaska; Ft. Huachuca, Ariz.; Dugway Proving Ground, Utah; Utah National Guard; Indiana National Guard and Idaho National Guard.

The most popular Christmas tree is the balsam fir, because of its shape and because it lasts a long time without shedding its needles. Others used are Douglas fir, blue spruce and lodge-pole pine.

Forewords For

Combat Readiness

By GENERAL BRUCE C. CLARKE

This begins a series of messages bearing upon our primary job in the United States Continental Army Command — combat readiness.

As with any job, our work will go forward faster if workers know WHY as well as what to do. That is the aim of your commanders' orientation talks. That is the aim of FOREWORDS.

Today's topic is "One Army"—an expression that you will see and hear more often in the future. I want you to know why the idea it signifies is becoming ever more important to combat readiness.

In battle there has never been anything but "One Army." No victory in American military history has ever been won by a single arm, service, or component of the Army. Victory in the field has always been the product of the combined efforts of Regulars, Guardsmen, Reservists and Army civilians with all arms and services working as a combat team.

In the past, however, space, allies and the pace of warfare granted years to activate unity and teamwork in the Army after war began. So, in the past, parochial pride and petty rivalry within the Army during peacetime were considered relatively harmless—even permissible in the name of esprit de corps. There was time enough to erase conflicting attitudes and complete the welding process before commitment to combat.

Today the time is ZERO!

From the very outset of a shooting war—general or localized—all components and all arms and services would be involved. The unity of spirit and teamwork of performance so essential to combat readiness must exist throughout the Army before the first shot is fired. Today our Reserve Forces are an integral part of our front-line deterrent to aggression.

It is not enough that every member have the peacetime skill to serve on the Army team; he must have the wartime will. Any detracting influence is erosive. Any lesser loyalty is cancerous if it conflicts with loyalty to the Army and the security of our country.

Not all members of our "One Army" Team wear Army Green. More than 78,000 men and women in USCONARC alone are Department of the Army civilians. At many posts their average on-the-job longevity exceeds that of members in uniform. In some offices their total service with the Army exceeds that of military personnel. At all posts their stability of assignment and devotion to duty add materially to maintaining a working continuity in our efforts.

In our public as well as our internal relations, the "One Army" attitude must pervade all ranks. Public statements which seek to promote esteem for one element of the Army at the expense of another are harmful to all.

Our Army has but one goal: the security of our country. Surely this responsibility is too grave for us to indulge in petty press-agentry. Only by unity will the Army Team focus public interest effectively upon the essentials for fulfilling our responsibility to our country.

The "One Army" attitude also bears upon our inter-service relationships with our Navy and Air Force. Army doctrine is TRI-SERVICE. When the Army speaks as one, there is no doubt of it. We avoid even the semblance of parochial bickering.

We have no rivals this side of the Iron Curtain. By unity of Army effort and the support of our sister services, we will maintain the combat readiness to keep our real rivals where they belong.

HI VISITORS! waves Santa to everyone who comes on the Presidio from the Golden Gate Bridge approach. Santa, with his sleigh full of presents and his eight reindeer, poses here with his creator, Sfc. Stanley Wade of the Post Provost Marshal Office, whose home overlooks the Bridge entrance.

NCO Brightens Post With Own Creations

Pride in the Presidio, sprinkled liberally with Christmas cheer, has turned an MP non-com's quarters into a Holiday showcase.

Sfc. Stanley Wade has planted Santa, with his sleigh full of toys and eight dancing reindeer, across his front lawn to greet all who come on Post from the Golden Gate Bridge approach. "Merry Christmas" and "Happy New Year" stretch across the frontage below gaily painted Santa and his crew.

To all military and civilian personnel of the U. S. Army Garrison and their families, and all activities and commands based on the Presidio for support, I extend sincere wishes for a HAPPY HOLIDAY SEASON. May the coming NEW YEAR hold for you and your loved ones, peace and prosperity.

FRANK G. RATLIFF
Colonel, Artillery
Commanding

Getting his handmade miniatures in place, and stringing complementary lights across the front of his house was a two-day job for the 22-year veteran, who hopes to spend the next eight years here, turning out a bigger and better display every year.

Two months of off-duty time went into cutting, painting and assembling his showpiece—scheduled to be entered in the San Francisco "Examiner" Christmas decoration contest.

Sfc. Wade, here since January 1956 and now a traffic investigator with the U.S.A. Personnel Conduct and Security Detachment operating out of the Presidio Provost Marshal's Office, puts his effort this way:

"I live right at the corner (962 Lincoln Blvd.) where everybody has to pass when they come on Post from the (Golden Gate) bridge; so my house is the logical spot for a different kind of Christmas display—you know, sort of a greeting for them."

"I've spent almost all my State-side time here (his first permanent assignment, in 1936, was with the 30th Infantry) so I enjoy doing something like this—something that brightens up the Post a little."

Last year, Sfc. Wade's plans for a similar display were short-circuited when pneumonia forced him to stop after just getting the sleigh set up.

This year, however, he has managed to get everything shipshape, with the assistance of his wife, Mary, and his two sons, Mike, 12, and William, 11. He also has a daughter, Geraldine, 17.

Civilian Jobs Open

Civilian personnel openings at the Presidio this week include: Accounts Maintenance Clerk, GS-520-4, $3,755 per annum, applicant must have a total of two years experience, including one year of general experience and one year of specialized; Secretary, GS-318-4, with two years of general office clerical experience; and Clerk Stenographer, GS-312-4, with two years of general office work.

Separate applications must be submitted with the Civilian Personnel Division for each position desired, and must be filed not later than 23 December.

Six Win Awards Cash In Time For Merry Christmas

Dollars richer at Christmas time were six Department of the Army civilian employees at Sixth US Army headquarters at the Presidio of San Francisco, this week.

Maj. Gen. John J. Binns, Sixth U.S. Army Chief of Staff, presented Department of the Army Superior Performance Award Certificates and checks totaling $1,000 to the group.

Awarded $200 each were: Mr. Jack Gardner, Signal Section Administrative Officer; Mr. Ned Stone, G1 Management Analyst; Mr. James Carr, G1 Management Analyst, and Mrs. Halocine Carter, Adjutant General Section, Supervisory Clerk.

One-hundred dollar winners included: Mrs. Alice Ehing, Judge Advocate Section Secretary-Stenographer, and Miss Carole Zabriskie, G3 Section Clerk.

Private industry "thanks" its employees with bonuses, Uncle Sam does it through its Incentive Awards Program.

ADS Class Graduates

Fifty-five will graduate on Saturday from the ninth class at the San Francisco Air Defense School. Col. Iver A. Peterson, commander of the SF-Travis AFB Army Air Defense, will congratulate the grads and introduce guest speaker, Col. Frank G. Ratliff, CO, Presidio.

Quads Born At LAH

Santa will have a hard time this year competing with the bundle already left at Letterman Hospital this week by the stork.

A 22 year old Navy wife, Mrs. Mae Currington, who has four children, doubled her family Tuesday by giving birth to quadruplets at LAH.

However, the wife of Machinist's Mate 3C Delano Currington, attached to the USS Noble, Navy Transport, will still have to go some to beat her own mother, who had 13 boys and 13 girls.

The quads, three boys and a girl, were born over a period of 22 minutes, and the proud, bewildered father, who was home when he received the news "Liked to have fainted."

Xmas Gifts Pile Up

"D" Co's dayroom is beginning to look like Santa's workshop as gifts continue to pour in for the family "adopted" by the 187 girls in the company.

Among the assortment can be seen a dozen warm blankets, sheets, towels, washcloths, canned goods, a tiny toy stroller, a cuddly bunny, over fifty mysterious packages, and even a Hula Hoop, all intended to make Christmas happy for four children and their Mother.

All of the WAC's agree that though their pocket books may be a little bit emptier this holiday, their hearts will be a "lot" fuller.

Completes Associate Course

Today was graduation day for Lt. Col. Lester B. Johnson, Manpower Control Officer, Sixth Army G1, as he completed the Associate Course at the U.S. Army Command and General Staff School, Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas.

Band Concerts Set

A Christmas Concert by the Sixth U.S. Army Band, under the direction of CWO Louis Ferraro is slated for the Presidio Service Club, 1430, Sunday. The band will also participate in the San Francisco Music Week Festival at Union Square today, 1215 hours.

Psychostatman Is 16th BPO Best Soldier This Month

A psychologist turned statistician has been selected Soldier of the Month for 16th Base Post Office, and according to the top man, Pfc. Joseph R. Fichtl, he "feel(s) pretty honored because there are a lot of sharp soldiers in my outfit."

The 25-year-old New Yorker earned a three-day pass and an excuse from a full inspection.

Pfc. Fichtl, a graduate in Psychology from New York University in 1956, has a still-uncertain future ahead of him.

A two-year man, he is due for separation in April. But, "I'm taking the Series 10 and if I get a commission, I'll stay in."

Otherwise, it's back to school for him—this time to pursue an M.A. and a Ph.D. in Statistics at Columbia University.

Pfc. Fichtl entered the Army in April, 1957; took basic training at Ft. Carson, Colo.; and completed clerk-typing training at Ft. Ord before being assigned as a supply clerk at 16th BPO.

He and his wife, Elaine, now live in San Francisco.

AWOL Bag Comes Home

Brooklyn, N.Y. (ANS) — The case of the AWOL bag has been solved after 14 years. Capt. Charles E. Boger, Jr., checked his bag in Algiers, North Africa in 1944 and after trying to locate it for some time gave it up for lost. It recently arrived at Brooklyn Army Terminal via air from the American Consulate General in Algiers and an official said it had probably been overlooked in a warehouse. It was delivered to Boger at his home in Concord, North Carolina.

Missilemen Plan Big Holiday

It'll be a big Christmas for the missilemen.

Here are highlights of activities planned by Nike battalions in this area:

In 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, A Battery has invited some 30 youngsters from the Santa Rosa School for Crippled Children to spend most of Monday as on-site guests, complete with tours, movies, Santa and dinner in the mess hall. In return, the children have programmed a pageant and carol sing for their hosts.

The officers and men of Battalion Headquarters plan to exchange gifts on Tuesday afternoon, together with the traditional best wishes for a merry Christmas.

Monday will be a big day for the children of men in B Battery for the site will be open to them and movies and ice cream and cake, with the timely arrival for Santa, will highlight the program.

Children of men in C Battery will get the same VIP treatment tomorrow and Christmas Day is open house at the Battery.

D Battery's children's party is party is scheduled for Tuesday afternoon, also. The men of D Battery this year, however, have concentrated on collecting and repairing toys to be turned over to needy youngsters.

Christmas decorations in the 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery will include a 60-foot tree at A Battery, large crosses at B and C Batteries and a huge star at D Battery. Each display will be brightened by more than 100 lights. In addition, at the assembly site at B Battery there is a Santa Claus train on top of the revetted area and a large snowman on the door of the assembly building, both painted by CWO Vernon D. Jones.

A Battery will host 20 children from Sunny Hills Home of San Rafael on Christmas Day. Each child will have soldier sponsor and will enjoy dinner, games, refreshments and gifts.

On 27 December, youngsters from the Crippled Children's Home of San Rafael will be entertained by men of D Battery on Angel Island. Again, the children will each have a soldier sponsor and will be treated to dinner and tours.

An anticipated 300 children of military personnel at Ft. Baker, Barry and Cronkhite and of missilemen from Ft. Scott will be thrilled by a Christmas party at the Ft. Barry Theater tomorrow from 0930 to 1030. Winding up a program of movies, music and carols, Santa will arrive via helicopter with gifts for all.

Five young ladies from the Presidio Special Services Office will be the "Military Merry Christmises" for Nike-men held on the job on Christmas Day. They are Miss Mary Simons, Miss Janet Martin, Miss Peggy Jo Shaw, Miss Jane Hunt and Miss Ann Herold.

"Idle hands are busy . . ."

kaleidoscope

Is Edna idle?
Well, yes and no!

Her last name is "Idle," but her activities for the past few years suggest her surname is a misnomer.

Just after Christmas, 1954, now-Sp4 Edna R. Idle resigned as chief babysitter for her eight younger brothers and sisters and joined the WAC to see Europe.

But the pert, 22-year-old Midwesterner climbed Mt. Fuji instead.

What puts Edna—recently assigned to Sixth Army AG Enlisted C&A Unit—in the news is her having been named WAC of the Quarter at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ill., while on TDY from the Presidio to the steno school there.

But this is not the first honor Edna has picked up since packing her bags and saying goodbye to hometown Lafayette, Ind. During a career which has taken her to four states and the Far East, she has:

- Been named Basketball Queen at Ft. Leavenworth, Kans., in 1955, while a clerk at the Army hospital outpatient clinic.
- Been awarded a Letter of Appreciation in November, 1957, for service as a personnel specialist with the Traffic Management Agency at Cp. Zama, Japan.
- Earned a GED high school diploma (she had to quit school in the 11th grade when her father became ill) and attended a business college for six months.
- Completed Army clerical and steno courses.

Edna, who says she "just loves San Francisco," took a discharge last December to attend Heald's Business College here, but decided to take another crack at getting to Europe. She reenlisted in June, was assigned to the Presidio, then breezed off to Ft. Harrison for steno school. She started to work in Sixth Army shortly after Thanksgiving.

Third oldest of 12 young Idles, Edna inherited her babysitting job after her older sister married and became second oldest when her brother, Wilbert, a private first class with the 24th Infantry Division, was killed during early fighting in the Korean War. Another sister, at age 12, died from a brain tumor.

So, making the transition from civilian life to the ways of the WAC was easy for Edna. With 14 people living in the same house, she was used to having a crowd around.

A special show, THE SIGNIFICANT YEARS, Sunday at 1300 on channel 4, will show the march of significant news events from 1933 to 1958 from newsreels of the period. . . . Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., U.S. ambassador to the UN, will be interviewed Sunday at 1500, channel 4, by a panel of newsmen which includes Pauline Fredrick, NBC; Ernest K. Lindley, Newsweek; Krishna Balaraman of the Hindu, an Indian newspaper; and Lawrence Spivak. . . . Dr. Milton Eisenhower, President of Johns Hopkins University, Luis Munoz-Marin, governor of Puerto Rico, and Dr. Galo Plaza, former president of Ecuador, will join Edward R. Murrow in a filmed conversation Sunday at 1500 on channel 5's SMALL WORLD. . . . Also on channel 5 Sunday, at 1600, Walter Cronkite will narrate "Mission: Outer Space." Sometime between now and next spring the U.S. plans to send a man into space in the X-15, a missile now being readied at Edwards Air Force Base. The film will show the development of earlier supersonic airships and of the X-15, which is designed to travel faster than a mile a second and to reach a height of 100 miles.

Food for Thought: The Communists promised much to the people of Russia, but accomplished little of what they promised. They made Russia into a great industrial power but gave the power of rulership to the few who would cooperate rather than to the many who had been promised a classless society with equal opportunity. The price of achievement has been enslavement of the many to the advantage of the few. —DA PAM 21-79.

Missile Officers Promoted; Wives Still Remain Senior

Department of the Army this week promoted two Class of '57 West Pointers now stationed with C Battery, 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery, to first lieutenant.

But, not to be outdone by DA, the Battalion's Supreme Council of Wives elevated the two officers' spouses to captain to keep the home front in line with the thinking of all good wives.

During a quadruple promotion ceremony in the office of Battalion Commander Lt. Col. Thomas F. Bristol, new silver bars were pinned on the shoulders of 1st Lt. Samuel S. Sindoni and 1st Lt. John P. Real by their wives.

Then, Lt. Col. Bristol, ably assisted by his wife and her mother, Mrs. George Drolet of Tuscaloosa, Ala., presented railroad tracks to Patricia Sindoni and Barbara Real, together with appropriate scrolls to attest, beyond a doubt, to the supremacy of the little lady in the home.

1st Lt. Sindoni, though, is still top man in the Battery IFC Platoon; and 1st Lt. Real will stay boss of the Launcher Platoon.

Plaques, Missile Badges Awarded Battery B At Travis AFB Formation

Battery B, 1st Msl. Bn., 61st Arty., recently won plaques for the Best Day Room and Best Motor Pool in the SF-Travis Air Defense area. Col. Malcolm F. Gilchrist, Jr., CO, 29th Arty. Group, presented the awards.

First Sergeant J. W. Phernetton received the "day room" award which will be retained permanently, since the unit has won it three successive times.

Sergeant J. W. Battle accepted the "motor pool" plaque.

First Class Missileman badges were presented to CWO J. T. Pope and WO A. L. Van Ornum at the same ceremonies.

Capt. Allen L. Penny commands the battery.

Cub Scout Meet Tonight

Cub Scouts from the Wherry Housing Pack 178 will meet tonight at 1930 at the Presidio Religious Center.

How About That Doll?

"... and a little girl will have a doll."

Will she? She may not—she's one of San Francisco's thousands of underprivileged kids. Only your generosity will make her Christmas bright.

City firemen have put out the call.

The Presidio Woman's Club answered. Now collection boxes dot the Post; but, they're woefully short on toys for little girls.

Monday will mark the close of Presidio's drive for "Christmas Cheer for Children." Are you going to help make this a Christmas of cheer?

Army Year

Passes In Review

(By Armed Forces Press Service)

Servicemen, scientists and government officials spent a hectic but undeniably progressive 1958. Some of the highlights follow:

January—Florida's little known Cape Canaveral became as celebrated a spot as New York City when the Army's four-stage Jupiter-C rocket boosted the first U.S. earth satellite into orbit. President Eisenhower dubbed the vehicle Explorer I, from a list of names submitted by the Army. Missile scientist Dr. Wernher Von Braun, a key man in the historic launching, cited "teamwork" and "close cooperation" among the services.

• Army officers and warrant officers were required to don the new Army Green uniform.

March—Both the Army and Navy successfully launched satellites into orbit. The Navy: Vanguard I; the Army: Explorer III, both from Cape Canaveral.

• The Army said it would foot the bill for a soldier's college education provided the man would give the Army three years for every one at school.

May—Possibly the day servicemen anticipated most during 1958 came in this month. It was the 20th, when President Eisenhower signed the military incentive pay bill, placing Public Law 85-422 on the books and raising the pay of almost all members of the Armed Forces. The bill also created some new pay grades: E-8 and E-9 for enlisted men; O-9 and O-10 for officers.

• An Air Force major took an F104A jet fighter up 91,249 feet, higher than any man had ever flown from ground takeoff. The same model plane also set a world speed record of 1,404.15 m.p.h.

• Members of the 40th Field Arty. Missile Gp. made the first unassisted launching of the Army's Redstone missile.

June—The U.S. revealed it had a Strategic Army Corps of more than 100,000 troops alerted and ready to strike in any direction. STRAC's motto: "Skilled, Tough, Ready Around the Clock."

• Fashion made military news when the new white dress was approved for wear by the WAC.

• The Army launched the nation's fourth satellite, Explorer IV.

September—An Army private named Presley shipped overseas from New York. Said one correspondent at the scene of Pvt. Presley's departure for truck-driving duties in Germany: "... a darn fine looking soldier."

November—A Nike-Hercules supersonic surface-to-air missile successfully intercepted and destroyed a target at an altitude of over 20 miles.

Homo Sneakus Thievus A Very Special Breed

(Ed's Note: During the busy holiday season people tend to become more than a little careless. They rush here and there, leaving gifts on bunks, lockers open, packages in unlocked cars and often the keys, and in general "letting down" from the normal good habits that protect their property. In recent weeks there has been a rash of sneak thefts on the Presidio. The following article with timely reminders on how to protect your property from "sneak thieves" was submitted by the Provost Marshal section.)

A study recently completed by the Office of the Provost Marshal in collaboration with other interested authorities has classified the common barracks thief into three distinct types.

First there is the "sneaky" type who prefers the hours of darkness (though he is almost as effective on Saturday and Sunday afternoons), and waits until everyone is asleep or no one is around to do his filching.

Second, we have the "friendly" type who poses as one of your "good buddies" while he makes mental notes of the amount of cash, jewelry, etc. you carry (for the time being), your "secret" hiding places, and the opportunities you might give him to relieve you of your property. The "friendly" type will often leave you a dollar or two, so you won't have to bum cigarettes for the rest of the month.

Third, we have the "casual" type, who strolls through various barracks other than his own, on the lookout for currency, watches, rings, radios, and other items readily convertible to cash, and if challenged as to his reason for being there, responds, "I'm looking for Kilroy," etc. This type usually goes longer than the others before he gets caught, since most of his victims are too bashful to ask for identification and check his excuse.

There was some discussion of a possible fourth type who specializes in ransacking unlocked lockers for cigarettes, candy, postage stamps, etc., but it was decided that this is properly classified as a variation of the sneaky approach.

It was also determined that the variety which steals property from cars parked outside the barracks is not actually a barracks thief, but is just a plain ordinary thief who likes to break glass.

It was acknowledged that at present there is no sure-fire eradicator for the pest in question, though there are numerous preventive measures. A few are summarized below:

- Do not retain large amounts of cash in your possession. Convert sums in excess of your immediate needs to checks, bonds, money orders, bank accounts, Soldiers Deposits, etc.
- Do not leave money, jewelry, or other valuables lying about unattended; not even for "a few minutes."
- Obtain good sturdy padlocks for your lockers, and use them to the fullest extent permitted by your unit commander.
- When retiring to bed, secure your wallet, money, jewelry, and other personal valuables in a locked locker, with the key placed on a chain around your neck, or inside your pillow slip. Take the key with you at any time you leave the vicinity of your bed.
- When taking a shower, again lock all valuables in a locker and take the key with you. A little water won't hurt the key.
- Don't rely on hiding places for valuables or the key offering access to same.
- Do not leave personal property in your car; locked or otherwise.
- Challenge all strangers who enter your barracks when not accompanied by authorized personnel. Require them to show identification and state their business. If there is any doubt of the person's status, escort them to the First Sergeant, CQ, etc. where their status can be verified.
- If you see or catch someone stealing in the barracks, report such incident to your unit commander without delay. Don't give a barracks thief a second chance. There are only a few, but they really get around on YOUR money!

Distaff Club Idea Grows; Will Soon Incorporate

Mrs. Charles D. Palmer announced this week that she and members of her committee would begin an all-out effort after the first of the year to gain area-wide support for the Army Distaff Club and the Potomac Post Nursing Home. Both are top priority projects of the Army Wives Council in Washington, D. C.

The Army Distaff Club is envisioned as a well-appointed modern club offering first class facilities at nominal cost for the widows and daughters of Army officers as a permanent or temporary home. Some transient facilities are planned for Army officers' wives and their families.

Although originated by the Army Wives Council, an organization of presidents, honorary presidents and deputies of the forty-odd clubs in and around Washington, D. C., support from the Army as a whole has been growing by leaps and bounds in recent months.

Mrs. Maxwell D. Taylor, AWC president, has been empowered to create an Interim Executive Committee for the project and plans are presently under way to incorporate.

Named to the Interim Executive Committee are Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. William H. Arnold, Mrs. Samuel D. Sturgis, Mrs. Gordon R. Young, Mrs. Hoy Davis, Mrs. James Totten, Mrs. Newell L. Hemenway, Mrs. Jasper Searles, Mrs. Kenneth J. Hodson and Mrs. Robert F. Evans.

An enthusiastic supporter of the plan, Mrs. Palmer said, "I hope to interest every officer and his wife, at least in the Sixth Army, in this wonderful project. I've heard it said so often, 'the Army takes care of its own,' and it's true in most every circumstance except that of officers' widows. Now for the first time we not only have an idea, but a fine group of women working to make this idea become a reality. They deserve our support."

Teenage Club Has Big Holiday Plans, Formal Ball Set

Big Yuletide doin's at the Presidio Teenage Club!

Highlighting the holiday season will be a gala Christmas Lite formal ball 23 December at the Ft. Scott annex of the Presidio Officers' Open Mess.

Dancing, to the tunes of Lou Frye and his Orchestra, will begin at 2000.

On Christmas Eve, Teenage carolers will serenade the Post between 1830 and 2230.

Here is the holiday schedule:

- 22, 23, 29 and 30 December the Club will be open from 1300 to 1630.
- 26 and 27 December and 2 and 3 January it will be open from 1930 to 2300.

Club members will meet tonight at 2000 to elect officers, to include a president, vice president, secretary and two sergeants at arms, and eight new Board members.

PWC Will Honor Blanche Parsons At Special Luncheon

The monthly meeting 8 January of the Presidio Woman's Club has been set as "Blanche Parsons Day" in recognition of the outstanding contribution made by Mrs. Parsons during the past five years as volunteer manager of the Post Thrift Shop.

After the Sherry Hour, beginning at 1230, and the luncheon at the Presidio Officers' Open Mess, Mrs. Judy Peterson will present her own 30-minute comedy skit on the woes and ways of operating a thrift shop.

The luncheon is being sponsored by wives of Sixth U.S. Army Comptroller and Finance & Accounting officers, under the joint chairmanship of Mrs. C. A. Schrader and Mrs. W. F. Aschenfelder.

Reservations may be obtained by calling Mrs. Lester Kuhr, ext. 3319, or Mrs. Clifford Hill, MO 4-9657.

Post College-Agers Plan Holiday Dance Next Friday Night

A Christmas Dance for Presidio's college-age dependents will be held 26 December from 2100-2400 at the Ft. Scott annex of the Presidio Officers' Open Mess.

The dance, sponsored jointly by the Presidio and Letterman Woman's Clubs, is designed to promote "friends at home" among dependent students who are enrolled in colleges and universities away from San Francisco.

Reservations may be made by sending them to Mrs. James Enmeier, 329-B Infantry Ter.

EM Eligible For MOP, Leave Pay On Extension

Washington (AFPS) — Enlisted personnel on active duty with any branch of the armed forces are now entitled to mustering out pay and unused leave pay if they voluntarily extend their enlistment.

In a recent decision by the Comptroller General it was ruled that payments would be made on the date the regular enlistment expires.

The length of the extension is immaterial, the Comptroller General said, but payment is authorized on the first extension only.

The right to a reenlistment bonus or a mileage allowance is not affected by this ruling.

Cartoon Festival Set

Now what can be better than Santa with goodies and a free cartoon show?

Tomorrow, beginning at 1030, the Post Theater will feature the good Saint Nick—and he'll have a bag of presents—as well as an all-cartoon show.

All dependent youngsters around the Presidio have been invited to attend.

Although there is no admission charge, the kids have been asked to remember the Christmas Spirit and bring along a can of food to be distributed to the needy.

Toreros Swamp Travis To Hold League Lead

Toreras Lose To Mather —Tied For League Lead

Presidio's usually redhot WAC basketballers last week got toppled from the ranks of the unbeaten and bounced from their undisputed league lead when Mather Air Force Base's WAF's surprised the local ladies, 38-36, in a thriller in the Letterman gym.

Mather now stands tied with the Toreras for first honors in the Women's Interservice Recreational League.

In another WIRL clash, the Toreras squeezed by Hamilton Air Force Base, 44-38, in a game which found forward Sfc. Georgia Kelly unstoppable.

Hitting mostly from the outside, Sfc. Kelly dumped 15 set shots and 7 free throws to score 37 of the WAC sextet's points.

In the Mather upset, the Toreras were without the services of high-scoring forward Cpl. Florian Vierra (see separate story) and Sfc. Kelly was able only to make limited appearances. Sfc. Kelly still managed to chalk up 18, while the rest of the tallies came from Sfc. Mary Phillips, 14, and Pfc. Claudette Schleman, 6.

With Sfc. Kelly hot as a pistol against Hamilton, forwards Sgt. Terry Silva and Sfc. Mary Phillips concentrated on feeding her the ball.

Sgt. Silva stayed near the backboards in case the WAF's were drawn outside, and Sfc. Phillips served as screen blocker for her high scoring teammate. Sgt. Silva picked up 3; Sfc. Phillips, 4.

Neider Named As Project Officer, Army Cage Team

2d Lt. Bill Neider, Executive officer of U.S.A. Garrison Headquarters Company and member of the Presidio Torero basketball squad, has been named Project Officer for the All-Army cage try-outs and team practice here in February.

Presidio Sports Director Hal Fischer said this week that 2d Lt. Neider will be responsible for billets, local transportation, supply and administration (among other duties) for some 80 cage stars from Army installations all over the world who will vie for berths on the All-Army squad.

Mr. Fischer will be head coach of the team finally selected and will supervise preliminary tryouts at Letterman gym.

Air Force, East Dominate All-Service Grid Picks

Air Force and the East dominated this year's Armed Forces Press Service all-star gridiron squad as military sports writers and coaches picked four airmen for both the first and second teams and gave nods to only five players who hailed from installations other than along the Atlantic Seaboard.

Army and the Marine Corps each placed five on the two squads, with the Leathernecks taking four starting berths to the Army's two. Navy managed only one slot on the first eleven and three on the second.

Army's two first stringers were:

- End Jim Boone of Ft. Bragg, N.C., former West Virginia State star who led his team in offense with 30 points, six of them from catching a TD pass with a broken right hand.

New Look For LAH Alleys

Letterman Army Hospital bowling alleys have been closed indefinitely for renovation, which is expected to include installation of automatic pinsetters and tele-scoring devices on all four alleys.

In addition, official announcement Tuesday of the revamping project indicated that new ball returns will be furnished and the alleys will be resurfaced.

Letterman officials, noting that all contract matters have not been ironed out, were unable to predict when the alleys will reopen.

Torero Highnetters Set Sights On Area Crown

Volleyballers from the All-ARADCOM champion 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, doffed their Air Defense cap, picked up three new men and now wear the tag of the Presidio Toreros.

Tomorrow morning at 1000 they will see first action as a Post team when they host the NorCal Armed Forces Tournament at Letterman gym.

Trying for the area interservice crown will also be highnetters from McClellan, Hamilton and Travis Air Force Bases.

Non-4th Battalion team players now on M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio's squad are Lt. Col. William L. Burmeister of Headquarters Sixth Army, Pvt. Richard R. Blair of U.S.A. Garrison Headquarters Company and Pvt. Herbert E. Pearson of B Battery, 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery.

After the holidays, the Toreros will open a top tournament schedule which will run through April. The sextet hopes to place members on the national and Pan American Games teams. The tourney season is as follows:

- 10 Jan.—Hamilton (open).
- 24 Jan.—Sacramento (open).
- 7 Feb.—Embarcadero "Y"—Olympic Club (open).
- 14 Feb.—2d NorCal Armed Forces tourney at Travis AFB.
- 28 Feb.—Fresno (open) or tentative 3d NorCal Armed Forces tourney at Mather AFB.
- 21 Mar.—NorCal (open) at Berkeley.
- 4 Apr.—Stockton (invitation) (top 8 teams in 21 Mar. tourney).

Seek Rosin Candidates

Presidio Sports Director Hal Fischer this week urged all Presidians interested in boxing or wrestling to contact him at his office immediately. Telephone extensions are 3968 or 2282. His office is located in the Post Special Services Office, Bldg. 122.

VonWeyhe Buckets 22 As New Players Debut

Busy Bill VonWeyhe bucketed 10 points in the first five minutes of play to give the Presidio Toreros an early lead over the Travis Airmen here Wednesday night as the locals coasted to an 82-48 victory.

This was the 11th win against only four defeats for the Toreros and they were never behind at any time in the contest. VonWeyhe was high man with 22 markers. Ed Fine poured through 17, and Mike Diaz bucketed 12 points. They lead the NorCal League with a 4-1 record.

Earlier, the Toreros shot down the Mather airmen, 89-50, but dropped a tough one, at the foul line, to a vastly inferior Hamilton Air Force Base quint, 83-78, in two other NCAFSL tilts.

In the Mather game, it was the Presidians all the way. Coach Hal Fischer called 2d Lt. Fine's stellar play, both in scoring and under the backboards, as the spark which boosted the Golden Gaters to a 51-20 halftime walk-a-way and carried them through the second half without challenge.

2d Lt. Fine bucketed 21 points while controlling the court play. Although short on the scoring end, three other Presidians got nods from coach Fischer: Pfc. Zechel, Gascon and Carroll, with 4, 4 and 6 points, respectively.

Again, big scoring guns, besides 2d Lt. Fine, were Pfc. Mike Diaz, with 23, and Pfc. VonWeyhe, 22.

The Hamilton clash was lost at the foul line, and on the little calls of walking, staying in the circle, etc., that are not free throw penalties.

The Toreros swamped Hamilton by 20 points in an earlier meeting which found the locals using extensive substitutions and experimenting with various plays. The Presidians, in bowing to the airmen, collected three technical fouls and suffered by having one of the Hamilton coaches as a referee.

Torero scoring was as follows: Pfc. VonWeyhe, 24; Pfc. Carroll, 17; Pfc. Perry, 15; Pfc. Diaz, 12; Pfc. Savoldi, 7; and 2d Lt. Neider, 2d Lt. Fine and Pfc. Lux, 1 each.

Pasol Wins NorCal Class III Saber Pamonia AC Tests

M/Sgt. Severo Pasol, the Letterman-Presidio fencers' high riding expert in saber, foils and epee, last week added another championship to his collection—this one for winning the NorCal Class III Saber title during fence-offs at the Pamonia AC in San Francisco.

Another Golden Gater, M/Sgt. Bert Sheck, placed fourth, missing the next higher step by a single touch. Also representing the local fencers were Sp4 Bill Beaver and Carl Dorman.

Coach Bill O'Brien has announced that members of his multi-medaled squad also will compete 10 January 1959 in the NorCal Class B Foils championship, which is the qualifying event for the Pacific Coast Fencing (foils) championships.

The great auk was not, as many people believe, a truly Arctic bird. Its most populous areas were near Labrador and Newfoundland.

Complete First Week Intramural Casaba Play

Three close games and two runaways marked action in the first week of play in Presidio's three intramural basketball leagues.

Showing early power were Sixth Army and B Battery, 4th Missile Battalion, both of which overcame halftime deficits to gain late game victories.

Sixth Army's 43-28 victim was USA Training Group, which led the Headquarters men 21-18 at mid-game but could only tally 7 in the second half while the victors poured through 25.

Big gun for the winners was Gascon, with 14 and only man to hit the double figures, while Johnson's 6 made him top man for the Training Group.

B Battery jumped from the short end of a 31-20 halftime score to crush A Battery, 2d Missile Battalion, 64-50. Leading the rash of second half buckets was Zandis, who collected 20 to add to the 8 he picked up in the early period. Helping in the deluge was Sabus, with 18.

But game scoring honors went to the losers' Pruett, with 30. Next high man was Strofus, with 10.

In other games: 21st Engineer Company was badly outscored in the second half, 16-28, by XV Corps but managed to hang on long enough to notch a 40-38 win.

Out in front 24-10 at mid-game, the Engineers needed every one of Fernandez's 16 to snatch the victory. Welch, with 12, all in the second half, almost led XV Corps to the bacon.

C Battery, 4th Missile Battalion edged rival B Battery, 2d

Big Bird—For Stan, Irma

Stan Bowlds and Irma Collins got the bird! A plump one, at that.

Stan and Irma last weekend proved to be the Presidio's hottest kegling couple as they bowled over all other local duos to take top honors in the annual Mixed Doubles Handicap Bowling Turkey Shoot—and take a Christmas bird.

After handicaps were figured in, Stan led the field with 604-248; with Irma's 565-222, they out-pinned everybody with 1169.

Capturing the runner-up slot were Ed Johnson, 568-193, and Anita Amoy, 540-176, to post total pins of 1108.

Third in line was the team of Bienvenido Alba and Connie Lund, chalking up 1077 with 551-183 and 526-191, respectively.

In fourth place, still eligible for a turkey, were Grant Allison and N. Ross, who totalled 1025 by rolling 518-203 and 507-182, respectively.

New Sports Editor

Introducing Pvt. Dale C. Clark, new Star Presidian Sports Editor.

Dale, essentially a sports car buff, will replace Sp4 Woody Hubbell, who was levied to Europe.

The new Sports Editor who has been on the Star Presidian staff since early last month hopes to be around until separation in August 1960.

A Cedar Rapids, Ia., design draftsman, specializing in aircraft instruments, he is married and plans to have his wife, Carole, join him here right after the Christmas holidays.

Crippled LAH Quint Battles Sailor Team

Last night Letterman Army Hospital cagers took the floor at Oak Knoll Naval Hospital, expecting to lose to a team they beat handily last week.

M/Sgt. Norm Fricker's squad was completely devoid of height, three tall men being out of action from injuries and a fourth tied up by military duties. Coach Fricker said that of the seven men who would see action, the tallest was 5'10".

Missing men will be Sp4 Chuck Barnes, whose knee was injured in the recent clash with Long Beach Navy; high-scoring 2d Lt. Bob McNamara, who has a cold; Sp4 Ed Spinnie, who got a black eye Wednesday night against Fairfield Air Force Station; and high point man 1st Lt. John Meyers, who will be on duty.

The picture is not too black, however. During the past week the LAH-men boosted their season record to 7-1 and their NorCal Military Sports Association mark to 2-0 with three timely wins.

In the first game, against Long Beach, Coach Fricker's quint played its best game of the year in edging the sailors, 56-54, after being on the short end of a 28-25 halftime score.

Paced by 2d Lt. McNamara's 28 points, the Medics were able to roar back in the second half and bottle up the visitors' early strong offense.

1st Lt. Meyers and Sp4 Wayne Peterson each picked up 10, while Sp4 Barnes tallied 4 before a knee injury forced his retirement. Sp4 Spinnie and 1st Lt. Ron Lowell each got 2.

The first Oak Knoll clash was a second half affair, also. Knotted at 26-26 at midgame, the LAH-men poured it on for 34 after the half while holding their opponents to 20. Final score: 60-46.

1st Lt. Meyers led the scoring parade with 20 and 2d Lt. McNamara counted for 14. Others hitting were Sp4 Spinnie, 9; 2d Lt. Tom Golden, 7; Sp4 Wayne Peterson and Pfc. "Smiley" Gomez, 5; and Sgt. Joe Stewart, 1.

The 68-64 win against Fairfield Wednesday was, in Coach Fricker's words, "a weirdie." All tied up, 64-64, at the end of regulation play, the Medics held Fairfield scoreless in the three-minute overtime period while picking up 4 for the win.

During the last 10 minutes of regular play, LAH did not score a single point from the floor, yet the quint made 16 from the foul line, missing four more.

Letterman controlled the ball, but could not get a shot away before a foul was called against Fairfield. So, the Medics had to rely on big 2d Lt. McNamara, who made 12 out of 13 from the free throw line. In all, he posted 24 points for the game and made 18 of 21 free throws in the second half.

High point man, though, was 1st Lt. Meyers, who tallied 28. Also scoring were 1st Lt. Lowell, 10; Sp4 Barnes, 5 (before knee reinjured); and Sp4 Spinnie, 1 (before eye blackened).

Yew is the traditional wood for making bows, and arrows may be made of pine, birch or yew dowels.

6th Volleyballers Whip Scrappy Athens AC Team

The 6th ARADCOM (4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty.) varsity highnetters Wednesday night downed a scrappy Athens AC from Oakland, 3-1, in a 2¼-hour session which found coach M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio with only the highest praise for one of his key men, spiker Sp4 Dick Chute.

"Chute is spectacular," coach Ignacio said. "For the short time he has been playing, his fast thinking and bullet spiking are just simply amazing."

In downing Athens, 15-8, 12-15, 15-8, and 15-6, the local volleyballers ran into stiff competition. But, another man who probably provided the margin of difference is relative newcomer Sfc. Carlos Ramirez.

"Ramirez," coach Ignacio added, "will be terrific if he remains consistent. Now, his serves are unbelievable; most of them are unreturnable."

Sfc. Ramirez, as well as newcomer Pvt. George Blair, is expected to help fill the gap when valuable spiker Pfc. James McLin is separated from service 24 January 1959.

Pvt. Blair, of U.S.A. Garrison Headquarters Company, is the only non-missileman on the two-hatted 6th ARADCOM-Presidio squad.

Basketball originally was played with seven men on a side, then nine, later eight, and now five.

A MEDAL FOR THE LADY. Cpl. Florian Vierra, athlete and sharp soldier, this week was awarded the Army Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant for her work as a crypto operator in 6th ARADCOM Signal Section. Making the presentation just prior to her discharge from active duty is Col. Michael M. Irvine, 6th ARADCOM Deputy Commander.

WAC Basketball Star Out; Wins Commendation Ribbon

High scoring Cpl. Florian Vierra, standout cage star with the Presidio Toreros for the past three years, hung up her shoes this week and decided to give civilian life a try.

Already holding a 15.5 average in seven games this year, the pert, 21-year-old Hawaiian was a major reason the WAC squad stayed undefeated until after she had played her last game.

(In the first game without her, the WACs lost to Mather Air Force Base, 38-36.)

Cpl. Vierra, who this week was awarded the Army Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant for her work as a crypto operator in Signal Section, 6th ARADCOM, also was January (1958) WAC of the Month at D Company, U.S.A. Garrison.

At the end of last basketball season, Cpl. Vierra finished with a 16 point average and was named to an honorable mention slot on the Women's Interservice Recreational League All-Stars.

Here since the summer of 1956, Cpl. Vierra plans to return to her home in Wailuki, Hawaii.

Andresen High Man As Post Keg Team Downs Travis AFB

Presidio's Torero keggers took a trip to Travis Air Force Base last weekend and came back on top of a 2-1 score in games. The Presidians also were way out in front in total pins, but they did not count officially.

Sfc. Donald Andresen of MRU set the pace for the Golden Gaters with a 571-213 as the local quint posted 871-850, 836-973 and 969-848 for the win.

The Toreros have now suspended activities until after the Holiday season.

Holiday Sports Schedule

NorCal Rec Meet May Add Teams To Current Roster

Addition of two more installations to the NorCal Military Sports Association may turn out to be the big issue at the next league meeting 12 January.

M/Sgt. Norm Fricker, Letterman basketball coach and Hospital NCMSA representative, said this week he intends to recommend the league be increased to eight member installations. Currently, there are six.

M/Sgt. Fricker said he is pushing this proposal because "it'll make competition better, it'll make fuller schedules and better the whole set up."

He indicated that possible choices for inclusion would be Oak Knoll Naval Hospital, or San Francisco Marines.

Bowling Buffs Intensify League Play As Leaders Add To Margins

Bay Bowling League's front-running G1 quintet finally shucked its losing ways and last week bounced fifth place Garrison, 3-1, to widen the previously diminishing margin it held.

Sparkling the G1 comeback was Daujat, with 533-191, while Thraill's 468-167 was tops for the losers.

In other action, the second place JAGS kept the same position with third place MRU by splitting 2-2 with the MRUs in a clash which found McAfee, 547-201, and Dennis, 524-189, earning the individual honors for the respective teams.

Fourth place Compt-Rollers pushed the Triple Aces a little deeper in the cellar with a 3-1 decision. Morgan, with 556-226, was high for the Rollers; Blemefeld, 509-182, proved best for the Aces.

Sixth Army Headquarters Company, sitting in sixth, took the wrong end of a 3-1 game with seventh place-6A Signal as the Signalmen's Hunt posted a strong 538-203. Bonar of the losing Sixth Army squad rolled 489-179.

Over in the Presidio League, the Shalters pulled away from their hottest rivals in a race for the League crown. The top spot Shalters belted the Keystone Kops, 4-0, to stay in front 46-14 to 40-20. Just two weeks ago the two teams were knotted in the lead. Red Hot Opozda rolled a blazing 565-223 to pace the winners, while Johnson of the Kops posted a good 553-204.

The Recruiters kept a strong grip on the Number 3 position by slapping the sixth place King Pins, 4-0. It was Fisher, 540-202, for the Recruiters and Dennis, 548-205, for the losers.

The fourth place Alley Rats dropped the fifth spot Islanders, 3-1, behind Duke's 524-206. Franklin, with 500-202, was high for the Islanders.

In a battle of the bottom bowlers, seventh place SFAADS split, 2-2, with the last place 60th CI Detachment. Individual honors went to Wilcox, 488-199, and Ogle, 463-178, respectively.

After the 10th week of bowling in the Pacific League, Sixth Army Headquarters No. 2 is barely hanging on to its lead by one game after having been worked over, 3-1, by the runner-up Warrants.

In their short bid for first, the Warrants relied on Stephens, 559-197, as pacemaker; heading the losers was Lux, 486-169.

The AAA Sparks dropped into third after being swamped by the cellar dwelling Missileers, 4-0. Swingle of the Missileers rolled 518-188; for the Sparks, Beery had 538-199.

The fourth place Regioners took a 4-0 decision from Sixth Army Headquarters No. 3, dropping the Headquarters men into a fifth place tie with the Hilltoppers. Leading the Regioners was Matticola, 487-191. Wilmoth, with 507-186, was high for the losers.

The Hilltoppers gained their tie with Headquarters by blasting the next-to-last Retorts, 4-0. Johnson headed the winners with 526-179; top man for the losers was Swarberg, 439-156.

HAPPY HOLIDAYS are ahead for Pfc. Rodney K. Johnson, a patient at Letterman Army Hospital. Here Major Martha Lark, Army Nurse Corps, shows Johnson a telegram that tells him his mother will accept an invitation from soldiers of Headquarters Company, Sixth U.S. Army Special Troops, to visit with her son, at their expense, over the Christmas Holidays. Mrs. Johnson will fly here from Hoopston, Illinois.

Hooray for New Year's Day; Anyone Askin' for Aspirin?

(AFPS Feature)

Hangovers, hilarity, hope—New Year's Day since early times has spelled all things to all men. The Chinese, Egyptian, Jewish, Roman and Mohammedan years began at different times, but the first day of each was an occasion for elaborate ceremonies.

The ancient Romans, who were no slouches when it came to celebrating, dedicated their New Year's Day to the two-faced deity Janus, god of beginnings and endings. Our own January, named for him, dates from the adoption of the Gregorian Calendar in 1582.

Many of today's New Year's customs—in addition to the New Year's Eve party-going—have their roots deep in the past. We still make rueful jokes about New Year's resolutions and "cleaning the slate." Centuries ago the English called it cleaning the chimney, a practice which was supposed to bring good luck to the household during the coming year.

Another old English custom called for a husband to give his wife enough money on New Year's Day to buy pins for the whole year. This went out in the 19th century when pins were manufactured by machines, but the term "pin money" to mean small sums is still with us.

New Year's traditions even extend to the armed forces. One of long standing in the Navy made it the only occasion when the ship's bell was struck 16 times. At midnight the oldest man aboard ship would "ring out the old" with eight bells; one minute later the youngest man would "ring in the new" with another eight.

Just as Christmas has its special songs, no New Year's Eve celebration is complete without a harmonizing of "Auld Lang Syne." And, comes the dawn, exhausted revelers can say with Robert Burns:

*"This day Time winds the exhausted chain
To run the twelvemonths length again."*

You've got a whole day of peace before Jan. 2 brings the postman to ring in the wild bills from your Christmas shopping.

XV Corps CG

On behalf of the personnel of the XVth U. S. Army Corps (Reserve), I wish to extend the season's greetings to the military and civilian personnel at the Presidio. It is heartwarming to reflect on the outstanding cooperation and assistance continuously given to the Corps during this, our first year of operation. A Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to everyone.

NATO Troops End Guided Missile Training Course

Huntsville, Ala. (AFPS)—The first class of 60 officers and men from Belgium and France has been graduated from the Army Ordnance Guided Missile School here.

The groups have been in training for more than a year, the Army said, on the Nike-Ajax and Nike-Hercules anti-aircraft missiles now being deployed to bolster NATO defenses.

The graduation of this class brings to five the number of NATO nations whose missile units have completed training at the missile school.

Earlier this year students from Italy, Denmark and Norway were graduated. Still in training are officers and men from West Germany, Turkey, The Netherlands and Greece.

After graduation the students are transferred to the Army Air Defense School, Ft. Bliss, Tex., for organization into formal military units.

Downgrade Old Files

Washington (ANS)—The backlog of old classified military documents that has been accumulating for half a century will be reduced under a plan activated by a new Department of Defense Declassification Directive, according to the January issue of ARMY INFORMATION DIGEST. Under it, millions of documents originated before 1 January 1946 will be downgraded or declassified. All of this material now is classified as Top Secret, Secret or Confidential. Except within a few limited categories, the new directive cancels the security classifications on voluminous documents which no longer need protection in the national interest. Further, the directive downgrades from Top Secret to Secret those documents which are otherwise excepted from the declassification.

Illinois Mother Due Here Via Troop Christmas Fund

A Hoopston, Ill., mother will join her disabled 19-year-old son for a three-day Christmas visit at Letterman Army Hospital next week.

The visit is being paid for by the men of Headquarters Company, Sixth U.S. Army, who for the seventh consecutive year donated money last week to finance a mother's visit to her son.

The soldier is Pvt. Rodney K. Johnson, who was injured early this month when a vehicle in which he was riding turned over during a training exercise at Fort Ord. The accident left him completely paralyzed from the waist down and also impaired the use of both arms.

After receiving word that Rodney had been chosen to receive the visit, the soldier's mother, Mrs.

Harry Johnson, wired the hospital that she would arrive at San Francisco International Airport at 11:20 p.m. (American Airlines Flight 683), on 22 December.

She will stay at the Letterman Nurses Quarters until her departure on 26 December.

Private Johnson, a six-months trainee under the Reserve Forces Act, was scheduled to be released from the Army next month.

A total of $238 was collected at the company this year, making the grand total for the seven Christmas visits $1,686. In past years, mothers have been flown from Michigan, Pennsylvania, Idaho and Arizona for the Yuletide reunions.

The selection of the patient to be visited is determined by the inability of the patient to travel, his family's financial condition and the degree to which a Christmas visit of his mother would be beneficial.

Letterman CO

It gives me profound pleasure to extend the season's greetings on behalf of the patients and staff of Letterman Army Hospital.

It is hoped that during the coming year we may all truly enjoy Peace on Earth and Good Will toward all men.

To all, a very Merry Christmas.

A. L. TYNES
Colonel, MC
Commanding

Sixth US Army CG

I would like to extend to all members of the Sixth United States Army and to their families, warmest greetings of the Christmas Season and all best wishes for health, happiness and prosperity in the New Year of 1959.

During the year now coming to a close, the peace of the world was maintained only at the cost of utmost vigilance by the free nations of the world. The joint effort and accomplishment of all in the Sixth United States Army community, military and civilian alike, have contributed to assuring the strength and preparedness of the United States, and have thereby assisted in the maintenance of peace. Stimulated by this success, I am sure that all will face the demands of this world situation in the new year with the same high sense of duty but with even greater dedication of themselves and with even higher spirits than have marked their fine performance in the past.

May each and every one enter into the festivities of Christmas with the satisfaction that in his wholehearted and selfless service to our Nation he has helped to make this Christmas one which Americans everywhere will be able to celebrate in peace and security. Thus may we all look forward to our service in the new year reinforced by the full knowledge that our continued success means continued peace on earth and good will toward men.

CHARLES D. PALMER
Lieutenant General, U. S. Army
Commanding

6th RAADCOM CG

With the advent of the Christmas season, I extend to each member of the command my sincere best wishes for a joyous Christmas and a happy and successful New Year. Also on this occasion, I would like to commend each of you for your past accomplishments and express my appreciation for the ingenuity and diligence which you have displayed throughout the year.

As in every other season, many of us will be required to remain at our duty stations on Christmas and New Year's day. I trust that you and your families appreciate the fact that this sacrifice upon your part and by numerous other members of the Armed Forces is essential in order that the great bulk of our fellow citizens may enjoy their normal pursuits in peace. These and similar contributions to our national defense are appreciated by those whom you protect. I am but their mouthpiece, and I thank you as you go about your work to insure continued freedom and prosperity throughout the land.

Once again I wish you and your loved ones the happiest Christmas and a New Year filled with an abundance of good fortune.

Commanding

Tight Budget Limits Personnel Legislation

the

"serving those who serve a nation!"

STAR-PRESIDIAN

Vol. 7, No. 31

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

Friday 9 January, 1959

Only Essential Needs Will Be Asked By DOD

Washington (AFPS) — A tight budget and mounting costs of military hardware will limit Defense-sponsored personnel legislation presented to the 86th Congress mainly to measures is deemed essential to efficiency.

Of 73 Defense Department proposals for Congressional consideration, about 35 concern military or civilian personnel of the Armed Forces. None of these, however, would mean any appreciable amount of money for most servicemen.

The Defense Department earlier scotched reports that there would be a bid in 1959 for an increase in quarters allowances. A review of rental problems confronting service families is underway but no request for adjustment of allowances is expected to be sent to Capitol Hill during the coming session.

A similar situation exists with reference to any bid for a "hardship post" pay differential—recently in the news—although a means is being sought in interservice study whereby extra reward for serving in remote and isolated areas might be derived from foreign and sea duty pay within present budgetary ceilings for these funds.

The DOD will ask Congress to continue the Dependents Assistance Act authorizing "Q" Allotments. This law, which expires June 30, 1959, has been extended periodically since WWII when the draft first went into effect.

The lawmakers also will be requested to extend the special pay provision for medical officers at the current rates.

Among the measures of paramount importance to the services are proposals to maintain the present authorized strength of the Armed Forces—set at 2,525,000 for the end of FY 1959—and to continue induction authority under

Seek Applicants To Fill Critical Civilian Vacancies

Civilian Personnel issued an urgent call this week for qualified personnel to fill four critical civilian vacancies.

Three key medical positions at the Post Dispensary are open and include: Medical Officer, Occupational Medical Supervisor, GS13, $10,130 a year; two Medical Officers, General Medicine and Surgery, GS12, $8,810 a year.

Also in the critical category is the position of Electronics Engineer, General (Guided Missile and Fire Control Systems), GS12, $8,810 per year.

Further information on qualifications and application may be obtained at the Civilian Personnel Division, Bldg. 227, Presidio, or by calling WEst 1-6111, Ext. 2349.

New Fact Sheet Out

Washington (ANS) — DOD Fact Sheet 1-G, titled "West Berlin: Free World Outpost" is now being distributed to major commands.

This document sets forth the historical background of the Berlin occupation and presents briefly the United States position on the present difficulties there.

Corporal Contract Let

Washington (ANS)—Award of a $5,866,920 contract to the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company of Los Angeles, California, for work on the Army's Corporal guided missile has just been announced by the Department of the Army.

Work on the contract will be done at the Firestone plant in Los Angeles.

Honor Awards Given CO For Crusade Leadership

In recognition of his outstanding leadership in the recently conducted United Bay Area Crusade fund raising drive, Lieutenant General Charles D. Palmer, Commanding General, Sixth U.S. Army, was the recipient of two singular awards.

From the officials of the United Bay Area Crusade, San Francisco's fund raising group, General Palmer received the Honor Award, an exceptional presentation which is given in very few cases. General Palmer is the only individual to receive this award this year. The American National Red Cross, a participant in the united drive, also presented the Sixth Army Commander its highest honor for fund raising.

In presenting the UBAC award to General Palmer, Mr. Norris Nash, President of UBAC, lauded the remarkable performance of the military services in the Bay Area Crusade and said that it signified the success of solicitation of civilian and military personnel alike in the armed services. He added that this was achieved in a year when the whole pattern of the Crusade drive throughout the Bay Area was one of severe difficulty.

Mr. Charles W. Fay, San Francisco chapter chairman of the Red Cross, said that General Palmer's leadership as chairman of the United Bay Area Crusade Military Committee was so outstanding that it could not pass unnoticed by the American National Red Cross.

General Palmer served as campaign chairman of the Military Committee for this year's Crusade drive. This committee is comprised of the senior officers of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard and Air Force present in the Bay Area. The chairmanship and prime responsibility for the coordination and conduct of the Crusade within the military is rotated each year among these senior officers.

Total production of the military in the recently completed campaign amounted to $289,456, or 96.5 per cent of the military goal of $300,000. The general five-county campaign, including the civilian effort, raised $9,875,367, or 84 per cent of its goal. The Army's contribution of $33,220 was 126.6 per cent of its goal. In addition the Army led all services in individual contributions, in percentage of participation, in per capita donations, and in achievement of its goal.

Mr. Nash said that the figures reveal that the Army did a very outstanding job and that he expressed the thanks of the entire community for a job very well done.

New Meal Rates Set

There has been a revision of meal rates, which is a slight increase over the old rates due to an increase in operation cost. The new rates will be as follows:

| Enlisted Men's Rate | Per Diem Rates   |
|---------------------|------------------|
| Breakfast $0.40    | Breakfast $0.60 |
| Dinner .65          | Dinner .85       |
| Supper .55          | Supper .80       |

ROA Meeting Set Today

Presidio of San Francisco Chapter 18 of the Reserve Officers Association has scheduled a short business meeting for today at 1645 hours on the second floor of Bldg. 258. All membership and those eligible for membership are invited to attend.

Army Builds Portable Aircraft Repair Shops

Washington (AFPS) — Light-weight aircraft maintenance shops that can be airlifted from rear areas to front lines by helicopter have been developed by the Army.

The shops, equipped with leveling jacks for uneven terrain, weigh slightly less than 4,000 pounds. They contain enough equipment to perform light maintenance work under field operating conditions.

The portable shops were developed by the Army Transportation Research and Engineering Command, Ft. Eustis, Va.

DA Orders Modifications In New Pentomic Concept

Department of the Army has announced minor modifications in the organization of the Infantry and Armored Division and the Armored Cavalry Regiment within the new Pentomic concept.

Principal improvement in the organization of the Infantry Division involves the division artillery which, in addition to its present nuclear delivery capability, will be provided with a substantial increase in conventional fire power.

Other improvements in Infantry will include an increase from four to five in the number of rifle companies and the addition of a Combat Support Company will include combat support elements such as reconnaissance, engineer and assault gun platoons.

Additions to the division will also include a radiological center to predict nuclear fall out; a ground radar section in each battle group; aircraft field maintenance capability and a navigational system for control and landing of Army aircraft.

Within the Armored Division, a redistribution of personnel will provide a more effective reorganization of the companies of the reconnaissance battalion and the addition of an aircraft maintenance detachment.

The Battalions and Companies of Armored Cavalry Regiments will be redesignated as Squadrons and Troops, respectively. The Squadron will have a greater capability of operating independently over widely dispersed areas. Aircraft for the Armored Cavalry units will be increased and concentrated in the aviation companies. This will increase flexibility as well as increase the Armored Cavalry capability for aerial observation, aerial reconnaissance, target acquisition and combat surveillance.

In Struggle Ahead

The face of crippling is always harsh. Sometimes it is so harsh that we would rather not look at it. Look, or not, the face is still there.

Once people turned their backs on the face of polio. While they did, the disease raged unchecked. When they met the problem squarely and did something about it, things began to happen. The desperately stricken were snatched from death. The crippled began to walk. The Salk vaccine became a reality.

Still, the battle has only begun!

Although polio is succumbing to Salk vaccine, there are 43,100,000 Americans under 40 still unvaccinated. There are 150,000 Americans who already have had paralytic polio and need patient care; 1700 are still dependent on machines to breathe and many more must have stand-by respirators at nearby hospitals.

One of the most important, and as yet unmet, problems of the day is that of birth defects. Some 250,000 are born each year with some significant defect; about 34,000 die annually or are stillborn as a result. This field has been almost completely neglected until recently.

Arthritis and other rheumatic diseases are the leading cause of disability in America today. These diseases cost the public more than $1,500,000,000 a year and affect some 11,000,000 people, old and young.

These are the three major fields in which your March of Dimes contribution will be put to work. Your donation will buy patient aid, research and help train disease fighters.

So despite our qualms, we must look once again on the harsh face of crippling. We must look intently and give generously.

Make your contribution to the March of Dimes today!

Trudeau Says

Russians Close Gap

Washington (ANS)—The Army's Chief of Research and Development, General Arthur G. Trudeau, last week pointed out that the new Soviet seven-year plan to achieve 1970's goals in 1965 is already dangerously closing the gap in Russia's production race with the United States.

At the same time, the United States Army prescribed new procedures to expedite its own Research and Development programs. This was a part of a continuing program designed to put new weapons and equipment into the hands of troops faster, as outlined in the New Army Regulation 705-5.

The new regulation describes measures to cut "lead time" by beginning production engineering early in the development cycle, the use of standard parts in R&D equipment, and reducing the testing period without detracting from weapon or equipment reliability.

In My Opinion: Our force structure must be capable of coping with general or limited war at the proper time with the proper weapons. Our strategy must be sufficiently flexible to permit us to select the most feasible and advantageous course of action.—General Nathan F. Twining, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Income Level Upped For Short Tax Form

Persons having incomes of not more than $10,000 yearly may use the simple card Form 1040A beginning with the 1958 federal tax returns, the Internal Revenue Service announced recently.

Until this announcement only those earning less than $5,000 have been permitted to use the simplified form which is not much larger than a post card.

As usual, the W-2 form furnished by the military services to show taxes withheld during the year must be enclosed with the single card.

The 30 million taxpayers who are expected to file next year will have to answer only 15 questions. The punch card will permit use of high-speed electronic computer equipment in processing these returns.

The new card may be used by any person whose income is below $10,000 if the income consists of wages subject to withholding and not more than $200 of income in dividends, interests and wages not subject to withholding.

Use of the new form means that taxpayers automatically claim the standard 10 per cent deduction allowed by law for personal expenses such as contributions, interest payments, medical payments and the like.

February Draft Call

Washington (ANS) — The Department of Defense has requested the Selective Service System to provide Armed Forces Induction Stations with 9,000 men during February 1959 for assignment to the Army.

The February call is the same as for the month of January and is based on attainment of approved strength after allowances have been made for enlistments and reenlistments.

SURPRISE PARTY for two old soldiers who are passing on to their greater rewards as civilians was given by Company C NCOs as they bade retirement farewells to Sgt. Wayne L. Guernsey (L) and M/Sgt. William J. Teahan (r.). First Sgt. William T. Stahl is in the middle, as usual.

what they said

This issue being the first of the New Year, a good question seemed to be:

THE QUESTION: What New Year's resolution have you already broken?

ANSWERS:

Pfc. T. Raab, Aviation Mechanic, 6th Region Aviation Section: "I haven't broken my New Year's resolution yet and I hope that I can keep from it. I made the resolution that I would stop smoking and so far so good. My hands feel idle now that I've stopped smoking so I started chewing toothpicks to keep from smoking. This is the third time that I have tried them to quit the nicotine habit and I heartily recommend them, at least for a while."

George Negri, fireman and boilerman, Engineer Section, Crissy Field: "To tell you the truth I didn't have time to make any resolutions this year let alone break any. With working during the holidays and all the hustle and bustle of Christmas shopping I just didn't get around to making any this year. Maybe now that the Christmas and New Year holidays are over I'll be able to find time, in between firing up the boilers and checking the gauges, to resolve to make some resolutions for next New Year's."

Sp5 Joseph E. Curry, Clerk with No. 1 Service Club, PSF: "I should have made quite a few New Year's resolutions this year, but as usual they would probably be broken after a few months as we all do. The one resolution that I am going to try to keep though is to save some money this year to meet the high cost of living. With the raise in car insurance, registration, taxes, and other necessities, I am doubting that I'll be able to keep even this resolution for long, but I hope to keep at least this one that I made."

Mrs. Sybil Clary, American Red Cross Worker on the Post: Mrs. Clary says that like most people she doesn't plan to break any New Year's resolutions and up to date she is proud to say that she hasn't broken any. Admittedly she says that smoking only one cigarette an hour is the hardest resolution to comply with. Her second resolution—to stop setting the clock ahead at work—is also being followed because it was confusing her co-workers at the Post Red Cross Office. A trip to the Post Library confirmed her third resolution, which is to brush up on her French and Japanese in hopes of another overseas assignment. She has previously served in Japan from 1954 to 1956 and would like to be assigned in France.

MOS Tests Set

Washington (ANS)—DA Circular 611-27 is now being distributed to major commands announcing the MOS proficiency tests which will be administered in March 1959.

The circular provides for immediate requisition of certain MOS proficiency test materials and prescribes inclusive dates of the testing period.

Are Rockets New?

Not Since 1232

Any history of the rocket, pocket or otherwise will have to begin pretty far back. As long ago, perhaps, as the year 160 A.D. when Lucian of Greece wrote stories of trips to the moon.

We still tend to think today of rockets and guided missiles as weapons spawned by the space age. Yet, revolutionary in power and performance as the modern versions are, the use of rockets in warfare actually dates back to 1232 when Chinese defenders of the city of Kaifeng shot self-propelled missiles at besiegers.

Still later, the ingenious Chinese developed a fireworks rocket, and by mid-13th Century rockets were introduced in Europe. There, for the next 500 years, they were employed occasionally in battle but also reached a high stage of development simply as fantastic pyrotechnic displays.

By 1790 the rocket entered its first period of military significance in the battle of Seringapatam in India when the Prince of Mysore's rocketeers used iron-tipped missiles to break up the attacking British.

It was a Briton, in turn, who was inspired by the Indians' success to explore the field. The result was Sir William Congreve's 32-pound sheet iron weapon; also the surprise rocket barrages which the British unleashed in capturing Washington during the War of 1812.

HAPPY ABOUT the whole thing is Miss Gladys H. Lucie, Sixth Army Comptroller Section, as she receives a sustained superior performance award certificate and a $200 check from Maj. Gen. John J. Binns, Sixth Army Chief of Staff. General Binns presented civilian awards to 13 recently.

Suggestion, Performance Cash To Army Civilians

Thirteen Sixth U.S. Army civilians have been presented Department of the Army Superior Performance and Suggestion Award Certificates and checks. Major General John J. Binns, Sixth Army Chief of Staff, made the presentations.

Seven G2 (Intelligence) Section personnel won performance awards and a suggestion award. $100 award winners included: Mrs. Virginia Koehne, Administrative Clerk; Miss Pearl Lee, Personnel Security Clerk; Mrs. Mary Bazille, Personnel Security Clerk; Mrs. Elizabeth Tyne, File Clerk; Miss Marganetta Stribling, Clerk-Typist; and Mrs. Doris Porter, Clerk-Typist. Winning a $10 suggestion award for "Reproduction of a Form Letter" was Mrs. Margaret Costello, Security Specialist.

Other Superior Performance Award winners included: Miss Gladys Lucie, Comptroller Management Analyst, $200, and Miss Ada Jones, G4 Procurement Analyst, $200.

Mrs. Helen Findley, Secretary, Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff, received a Performance award based on an "Outstanding" rating, and check for $100.

Also based on an "Outstanding" rating, Mrs. Eileen Shearrow, Stenographer, G1, Military Personnel

Chief Nurse Guest For 3-Day Confab Late This Month

Colonel Inez Haynes, Chief of the Army Nurse Corps, will be a featured speaker at a three-day conference of chief nurses of Army hospitals in the Sixth U.S. Army area on 28-30 January at the Presidio. She will discuss the program and activities of the Corps as well as nursing trends and pending legislation affecting the Corps, as observed from her post in the Army Surgeon General's office in Washington, D. C.

Principal purpose of the conference, according to Lt. Col. Edna A. Ross, Sixth U.S. Army Nurse, is consideration of problems of mutual interest in the nursing field and the formulation of plans for their solution.

Conferees and other Army nurses in the Bay Area will also observe the 58th anniversary of the founding of the Army Nurse Corps, which falls on 2 February, with a party at the Fort Scott Officers Club on 29 January.

War College Commandant

Washington (ANS) — Major General William P. Ennis, Jr., will become Commandant of the Army War College, Carlisle Barracks, Pa., 16 February, 1959, Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker announced this week.

General Ennis, currently Deputy Chief of Staff for Operations and Intelligence, Allied Forces Central Europe, will succeed Major General Max S. Johnson, Commandant of the War College since October, 1955. General Johnson is expected to retire early in 1959.

Division, received $100. Mrs. Shirley Hickman, Clerk-Stenographer, Ordnance Section, $100, and Mr. Stuart Jarrett, Photographer, Picitorial Section, $100.

From the Army Information Digest: America's national safety depends upon the ability to prevent both limited and general war—or if prevention fails, to fight and win either kind.

Davis Team Wins Trophy

Major General John W. Harmony, Commanding General, XV US ARMY CORPS, recently presented the Warrior of the Pacific Trophy to Chancellor Stanley B. Freeborn, of the University of California at Davis, during ceremonies honoring the Davis Cadets' top score in the 1958 shooting competition with 200 other universities. The University of California at Davis is the only U.S. university to have won the trophy twice. The Davis cadets also took top shooting honors in 1956. The rifle competition is held annually during summer training.

Due 10 January

List 60 MOSs With Supergrade

Washington (AFPS) — The Army has identified more than 60 MOSs which contain E-8 or E-9 positions for other than first sergeants and sergeants major.

A list of the MOSs selected for supergrade consideration, with examples of the duty position titles, will be published about 10 Jan. on release of the E-8 promotion quotas for the third quarter of Fiscal Year 1959.

Naming the military specialties in which there will be grades E-8 or E-9 follows a job evaluation of all MOSs categorized into 72 occupational fields—few having no level above E-7.

Military personnel officials point out, however, that the listed MOSs will indicate only those occupational specialties having positions warranting promotions to either one or both of the supergrades and will not necessarily make all E-7s serving in these skills eligible for advancement.

As an interim measure for the last quarter promotion cycle, the Army in September allocated quotas based on unit strength of eligibles permitting commanders to appoint to E-8 qualified individuals occupying "key NCO positions" other than first sergeants or sergeants major.

The promotion authority carried the proviso that in event those selected did not fall within this subsequent supergrade MOS group, they would be subject to reclassification or retraining when the upgrading program was completed.

The selected MOSs, which later may be expanded under a continuing study of E-7 skill fields, were determined after an extensive review of some 500 TO&Es and 1,500 T/Ds for line and technical service units and organizations.

Congress provided the new E-8 and E-9 grades through the pay act of 1958, personnel experts explained, on the basis of the fact that various degrees of experience and knowledge in the performance of the duties of E-7s could not be equitably rewarded under the old enlisted structure.

Ceilings in the pay law limit E-9s to one per cent and E-8s to two per cent of the total enlisted strength of any service.

Current Army plans call for phasing the promotions within legal limits—over a four-year

CHAMP MILITARY suggestor at the Presidio is Sgt. Albert C. Schultz, who was recently presented his fourth suggestion award certificate, plus a check for $15 by Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Presidio Commanding Officer.

Soldier Wins 4th Award; 21 Others Get Top Cash

A garrison soldier at the U.S. Army Dispensary here, Sgt. Albert C. Schultz, laid a firm claim this week to the title of "top military suggestor" as he won his fourth cash award.

His award, presented by Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Presidio CO, was for $15 and raised his total awards cash to $75. The award was given for an improved method of Reporting of Dispensary Workload. Other awards were given for suggested improvements in methods of maintaining Health and Physical Examination Records and a Locator Card System.

The Sergeant, who entered the Army in 1952, served with the Medical Record Unit, Seventh Army Headquarters in Germany, and as a Chaplain's assistant with the 11th Infantry Regt., 5th Int. Division, also in Germany. He has been at the Dispensary as NCO-in-Charge of the Receiving Office since March, 1957.

Presidio civilian employees receiving Superior Performance Awards and Suggestion Awards were: From the Dispensary, and based on an "Outstanding Rating", Mrs. Mavis Bailey, Dental Assistant, $100, and Mrs. Kathryn Plumbe, clerk-typist, $100.

Finance and Accounting: Miss Beth Geddes, Voucher Examining Supervisor, $100.

Post Ordnance Section: Superior Performance Award winner, Mrs. Nels Martin, clerk-typist, $100. Suggestion award winners included: Miss Soledad Diaz, Property and Supply Clerk, $10; Mr. Albert Wallace, Painter, Lead Foreman, $50; and a group award totaling $20 divided equally by Mr. Roy Nixon and Mr. George Polovneff.

S4 Suggestion award winners were: Mrs. Marion Lee, Purchasing Agent, $30; Mr. Harry Hersh, Warehouseman Lead Foreman, $10; Mr. Arthur James, Warehouseman Bin, $10; and Mr. Charlie Mudd, Warehouseman Bin, $10.

Post Engineer and Field Maintenance Shop Suggestion award winners included: Mr. Robert Fromm, Mechanical Branch Chief, $10; and a $25 award divided equally between Mr. Richard Sharpe and Mr. Frank Fazzino, electricians.

From the Field Maintenance Shop in Sausalito, Mr. Joseph Knipschild and Mr. Bernard Remler divided $95, and Mr. Bernard Mitchell received a $50 suggestion award check.

Signal Section awards winners were: Superior Performance Awards for Mrs. Lois Glazier, $100, and $200 for Mr. Milne Ramsey. Mr. Rene Borde received a $25 suggestion award.

Btry. C Officers Leave For 10-Week Transition Course At Fort Bliss

Three officers of Battery C, 2d Missile Battalion (N-H), 51st Artillery departed this week for Fort Bliss, Texas, to attend the Officer Transition Course for Nike Hercules. They are: Captain Arthur C. Sheppard, Commanding Officer of Battery C, 1st Lt. John P. Real and 2d Lt. Daniel M. Fleming. The officers will be gone for a period of 10 weeks.

During Captain Sheppard's absence 1st Lt. John F. McMahon will command the battery.

Enlisted personnel who will make up the rest of the training package will depart this command later this month.

2d Msl. Bn. Places Sixth Best Soldier In Group Competition

Private First Class James M. Franklin, Battery D, 2d Missile Battalion (N-H), 51st Artillery, continued the monopoly held by the 2d Missile Battalion on the 30th Artillery Group (Air Defense) Soldier of the Month, as he became the sixth consecutive soldier of the 2d to win the award and the ninth in the last twelve months.

Franklin entered the service in November, 1957 and enlisted in the Regular Army for three years the following February. He is a graduate of the San Francisco Army Air Defense School, Fort Scott, California, and is desirous of attending the Mathematics Course being taught at the Presidio of San Francisco or the Language School, Presidio of Monterey, California.

Before entering the active military service Franklin served for six years as a member of the New Mexico National Guard where he attained the grade of sergeant. During his time in the Guard he attended the NCO Course at Fort Ord and graduated with top honors. All other students were RA.

Local Parade Honors Two On Retirement

Lt. Colonels Delmas L. White, 42, Chief, Officers Branch, Sixth U.S. Army G1 Section, and John R. Spark, 49, Reserve Forces Division Chief of the Sixth U.S. Army Adjutant General Section, reviewed a parade 19 December, 1958, at 1400 at the Presidio of San Francisco. The parade was held to honor the two officers retiring with a combined 49 years of Army service.

Colonel Spark, who entered the Army 17 November 1932 from Wenatchee, Washington, served in the General Headquarters and in the Pacific Theater in World War II. His postwar assignments included duty with Second Army Headquarters at Fort Meade, Md., and the U.S. European Command Headquarters in Frankfurt, Germany, and Paris, France, where he served as the Adjutant General.

During his Army career he has been awarded the Commendation Ribbon and the World War II Victory, Japan-Korean, Philippine Liberation, Philippine Independence and American Defense service medals.

Colonel White enlisted in the Army in February 1935 in his native state of Pennsylvania. He served with the 11th Infantry Regiment in the Pacific Theater of operations during WWII, and as aide-de-camp to the commander and deputy commander of the First Army, Governors Island, N. Y.

In 1952 he became Executive Officer of the 1st Battalion, 505th Infantry, 82nd Airborne Division. He joined the 65th Infantry in Puerto Rico in 1952 and transferred to the Presidio in April 1955.

Among Colonel White's decorations and awards are the Bronze Star, American Defense Service Medal, American Campaign Medal, Asiatic and Pacific Theater Medal, WWII Victory Medal, Army Occupation of Germany, National Defense Service Medal and the Combat Infantryman Badge.

Memo from the President: "We must stay alert to the fact that undue reliance on one weapon or preparation for only one kind of warfare simply invites an enemy to resort to another. We must, therefore, keep in our Armed Forces balance and flexibility equal to our needs."

Connecticut Private Wins Top Soldier Honor At 4th Msl. Battalion

Eighteen-year-old Private Donald C. Newton, Btry C, Sharp Park, was selected 4th Msl Bn 61st Arty, Soldier of the Month. Each Btry sent its best to appear before the Board of Officers at Bn. Hqs. at Fort Scott and the Board selected Newton.

Pvt. Newton is from New Britain, Connecticut, where he graduated from High School in June 1957. He worked for nearly a year until he became interested in missiles and the Army. On 3 April, 1958, Newton packed his shaving kit and went in search of the local Recruiter. From New Britain, he was sent to the Main Station in New Haven for processing, and then to Ft. Dix, N. J., to begin his Basic Training.

From Ft. Dix he came to the San Francisco Army Air Defense School at Ft. Scott, for his 8 weeks of advanced Basic. Upon completion of training, he was assigned to Btry C, at Sharp Park, where he is a Launcher Crewman.

Golf is Newton's hobby and he expects to play a lot on his 3 day pass, which he was awarded as Soldier of the Month.

Army Will Build New Test Facility

Washington (AFPS)—New construction work—totaling $2 million—will provide facilities to be used in future testing of the Army's surface-to-surface Pershing missile.

A solid propellant ballistic missile, the Pershing will be smaller, lighter and more mobile than the Redstone.

Expected to be more versatile and flexible as a battlefield weapon, the missile was authorized by Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy on Jan. 10, 1958.

The Army said recent advances in solid propellant missiles such as the Army Sergeant and Navy Polaris have accelerated development of the missile.

The construction work will be done by R. E. Clarson, Inc., St. Petersburg, Fla. The new missile is under the supervision of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency, Redstone Arsenal, Huntsville, Ala.

Card Tournament Set

Every card game has its day and the current rage at Service Club I is the ancient game of Pinochle. Interest has reached the point where Service Club Director, Elizabeth de la Torre, feels that a weekly tournament, with fabulous prizes, is a must. Such tournament nights are now in the offing for each Wednesday. So come on down and join the paste board shufflers—you might win a mink card carrying case, who knows.

Cut in Lead Time On New Weapons Sought By Army

Washington (AFPS)—New procedures to reduce the time between the conception of an idea and the production of hardware have been prescribed by the Army to expedite its research and development program.

Lieutenant Gen. Arthur G. Trudeau, Chief of the program, emphasized the critical need for cutting this "lead time." He said the new Russian seven year plan to achieve 1970's goals by 1965 already is dangerously closing the gap in the Soviet production race with the U.S.

The new procedures entail beginning production engineering early in the development cycle, using standard parts in equipment and reducing testing periods without endangering reliability.

"It appears that the next 15 years may witness even greater and faster technological advancements than took place over the preceding centuries. . . . No step is sacrosanct or immune to improvement," Gen. Trudeau said.

Typing Classes Open

Military and civilian personnel wishing instruction in typing, beginning or advanced, are reminded that enrollment is still open in the new on-post class starting at the Presidio, 5 January, 1959. Classes meet daily from 0900 to 1100 in Bldg. 252 under a certified civilian instructor, and are open to all without charge. Students may report directly to class, or may contact the Army Education Center, Ext. 2974, for further information. Unit or section commanders may assign personnel to this class and will be given attendance and progress reports.

New 'Y' Dance Series

A dance class for beginners will be renewed this evening at the Embarcadero YMCA and an advanced class will begin tomorrow. The hour-long (1930-2030) six-week series is taught by Jeanne Nichols and is only three dollars per course. Enrollment may be made by calling EXbrook 2-2191.

IF ARMY PLUMBER Charles Hastings has his way, he won't be turning pipe wrenches forever. A young man of 31, he already has a number of outstanding accomplishments to his credit and the way things look there are more to come. A veteran of Navy service in World War II and Korea, he recently graduated at the top in a class of thirty-seven of the Navy Apprentice school at Alameda, here Frank Edwards, president of the Master Mechanics and Foremen's Asso., presents Hastings with a gold wristwatch as top grad, while wife Doris looks on. While attending the trade school for the past four years, he managed to put in some night work at San Francisco State and get a BA in Business Administration at the same time. Now a journeyman plumber with the Post Engineers at Ft. Baker, he continues to study at night for his Master's degree. From journeyman plumber to top exec may not be far in the future.

AN OLD FRIEND gets the heave-ho after 40 years of tried and true service as personnel of the Sixth Army AG Records Branch (l. to r.) Gertrude Healey, Lawrence Storbon and Maggie Murphy give the circular file treatment to the WD Decimal Filing Book.

An Old Friend Passes; Decimal File System Out

Out goes the old, in comes the new, not only with the New Year, but also with the Army's filing system. Starting 1 January 1959 the new Army Functional Files System (TAFFS) replaced the old War Department Decimal File Book throughout the Sixth U.S. Army.

Except in certain DA offices, the Decimal File Book is being retired after having served the Army for over 40 years. Technological improvements in armaments and materiel, Army organization and mission changes, plus improved records disposition procedures had made the Decimal Book obsolete to the point of requiring a major revision.

TAFFS is officially defined in AR 345-210 as, "a numerical scheme for classifying papers for file. The classification assigned . . . identifies a paper for filing, reference and disposition." Papers will be filed by function instead of subject. Once classified for file, the papers are automatically keyed for future disposition. The principles of TAFFS were developed by Hq., U.S. Army, Europe, in 1956. Subsequent testing resulted in its Army-wide adoption beginning 1 January 1959.

Colonel W. S. Renshaw, the Adjutant General, Sixth U.S. Army, pointed out anticipated benefits of TAFFS: Simplified records disposition, improved documentation; elimination of records control scheduling and the Decimal File Book; simplified training of new personnel since both filing and disposition are covered by one system instead of two.

Repro Photographer Named Best Soldier At 30th Engineer Bn.

Private First Class Carl F. Manske of the 99th Engineer Company has been selected as the 30th Engineer Battalion Soldier of the Month. PFC Manske serves as a process photographer in the 99th Engineer Reproduction Plant.

Best Soldier
Pfc. Carl F. Manske

For his achievement, Pfc. Manske received a certificate of achievement from Lt. Col. Richard M. Underwood, Battalion Commander. He will be exempt from all duty rosters for 30 days and will receive a three day pass.

A native of Webster, New York, Pfc. Manske received his basic training at Fort Jackson, South Carolina. Upon completion of basic training, he attended the U. S. Army Engineer School at Fort Belvoir, Virginia. Upon separation from the Army in 1961, Pfc. Manske plans to return to New York and continue his education.

Slate Parachute Assault In Banyan Tree Exercise

Washington (ANS)—Details of exercise BANYAN TREE, a major Army and Air Force exercise that will be conducted in Panama February 15-28, have been announced by the Department of Defense.

The exercise will include Strategic Army Corps and Tactical Air Command Strike Force elements from the United States among the more than 5,000 Army and Air Force personnel and 140 Air Force aircraft taking part.

For the first time in either an exercise or actual operation, an Airborne Battle Group will be flown directly from the United States to an overseas area and execute a parachute assault against enemy forces on arrival.

The concept of the exercise is based on rapid reinforcement of the Commander-in-Chief Caribbean whose forces are engaged in combatting an aggressor who has made surprise penetration in the vicinity of Rio Hato, in the Republic of Panama, intent on seizing the Panama Canal.

STRAC forces in BANYAN TREE will be an Airborne Battle Group from the 82d Airborne Division, reinforced with an Honest John rocket unit.

Mrs. Blanche Parsons
"She'll have her say!"

kaleidoscope

Yesterday the Presidio Woman's Club hosted a luncheon (Star Presidian, 19 Dec.) in honor of Blanche Parsons, the dynamic little lady who for the past five years has managed the Presidio Thrift Shop. Managed it so well, that today it furnishes the funds for such varied youth activities as the Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, Sea Scouts, Brownies, Teenage Club, Vesper Group, Nursery and Nursery School, Little League and Youth Activity athletics.

"Our operation is improving every year," says Mrs. Parsons, wife of retired Col. Lloyd C. Parsons, president of the Golden Gate Little League, "and of course it's a good thing, since financial support for our young people's activities is increasing each year."

Mrs. Parsons has managed the Thrift Shop since 1953 when the Woman's Club took over its operation. "I accepted the original invitation to run the shop as a challenge, after all I had a perfectly good business course stored away and I wanted to put it to a practical use, and it has continued a challenge ever since."

Mrs. Parsons' biggest problem is recruiting volunteer workers for her five-day-a-week operation. "It's more difficult for the younger women to find free time these days than it used to be. Baby sitters are expensive. Family responsibilities have increased and the whole general tension that surrounds the average Army family seems to defeat interest in club and social work."

A sprightly veteran of 41 years of marriage and 35 years in Army distaff ranks, Mrs. Parsons is no shrinking violet in the opinion department. "The Army has changed, for the worse, I think. It has very little to offer the young man or woman of today. Why? It seems to me that something very important has gone from the Army way of life. That intangible feeling of 'belonging,' or as others put it 'morale,' or 'esprit de corps.' It used to be that no matter where you were, you were still 'Army.' Now, or at least since just after World War II, everyone seems to be concerned mainly with self. Maybe we've begun to think and act like the average worker on a day to day job, lost our sense of loyalty to the one thing we always considered higher and more important than ourselves—the Army. Perhaps we've become too civilianized at the higher levels or so imbued with efficiency and management that we haven't time to consider the human element. Anyway, it seems to me that it's this 'missing something' that defeats us when we try to sell young officers and enlisted men on making the Army a career."

"I'm not one to always be harking back to the 'good old days,' but, even allowing for world tensions, the increase in job responsibilities, reductions in personnel, and the constant 'crash programing' of even Army social activities creates too much strain. Maybe the job has just become too complex, or, maybe instead of worrying about reaching the moon, we should concentrate more on the condition of the world we live in."

Although this is Mrs. Parsons' first venture into the management of a thrift shop, she has always been active in club work and served for many years in Red Cross units on the camps or posts where her husband was assigned. She also served as 1st Vice President of the Army Relief Society from 1953-56 and was President of the Presidio Woman's Club from 1950-52.

"Women, especially Army wives, should never lose sight of their obligation to contribute to the military community they live in. After all, it is the needs of their families and themselves that are being served when dedicated women's groups, often the same faces year in and year out, give time and hard work to making dependent living a brighter and happier prospect."

Have act, will travel?

Fame, fortune and a chance to exercise those deep repressions are about to become yours for the asking.

How? Well, if you can play a lil ol' juice harp, beat out a march on a saw, beller out big in rock-n-roll, cut a mean buck and wing, tell jokes (parlor variety) or have any (that is almost any) other hidden talents, you're in big demand.

Special Services has sent out a clarion call for all talented, used loosely, military or civilian (see below) personnel to register now for the All Army Entertainment contest. On Sunday, 18 January, you'll be given your big chance to tryout for better things. First rehearsal is slated for Monday, 12 January and another rehearsal will take place on Thursday, same week.

So call, write, or wire and get an early seat on the talent gravy train. You'll never have a better chance to practice Freud and earn cabbage at the same time.

All Army Entertainment Contest Plans Now Firm

Plans are now underway for the 1959 All Army Entertainment Contest, which is a stepping stone to "Rolling Along," the Ed Sullivan Show, and possible stardom for military personnel, their dependents and civilian employees.

Many new categories have been added to both the recorded and live classes, permitting civilian employees and military dependents to take part in the world wide search for talent.

Categories in the recorded class, which must be completed by 15 March, include: classical vocal soloist, with or without accompaniment; classical instrumental soloist; country and western group, not more than seven persons; vocal group unaccompanied, not more than five singers; dramatic group, two or more persons; small chorus, from twelve to twenty singers; large chorus, more than twenty members; Army Band chorus, twelve or more in the group; and group singing, which must have twenty-four or more persons.

The live portion of the contest will be held at the Presidio Service Club on 15 April, and will feature winners from contests at Ft. Baker, the AAA sites, the Presidio and Letterman Army Hospital. Winners of the Post competition will participate in the Sixth Army Finals at Ft. Ord on 6 May.

Included among the live categories are: vocal soloist; instrumental soloist; individual specialty, which includes all acts that are nonmusical, partially musical, or whose performance depends upon nonmusical, comedy or novelty actions for effect; vocal group, of not more than five members; instrumental group, also not more than five members; specialty group musical, not more than three members; specialty group nonmusical, not more than three members; and team production numbers, which may include, but not exceed, all members of an area level entertainment team entered in the live phase of the grand finals.

Further information on how to enter the contest may be obtained by contacting the Post Entertainment Director at EX. 4121.

things to see —places to go

There's plenty in store for jazz fans this week as Cal Tjader, first lord of the vibraphone, and his modern Afro-Cuban Quintet make exciting music at the Blackhawk; while Turk Murphy, with his San Francisco Jazz Band, blasts out his style at the Easy Street.

The first West Coast showing of "Printasia—A Symphony of Fine Printing," will begin at the Sheraton-Palace Hotel Monday and will continue from 1000 to 2100 daily through the sixteenth. Admission is free for this Graphic Arts Exhibit, and there will be a continuous showing of colored slides.

Tuesday Morning Lectures at the Alcazar Theatre, beginning with John Mason Brown on "Seeing Things," 13 Jan., will also include: Ernest Gruening on "Alaska, Our Last Frontier," 21 Jan., and Daniel Schorr on "Can We Trust Russia?" 27 Jan.

Approximately 1,500 dogs of all breeds will be entered in the 49th annual Golden Gate Kennel Club Dog Show, to be held in the Civic Auditorium on 17 and 18 Jan.

George Kirstein, publisher of The Nation, will present a free lecture on "The Importance of Dissent" at 1615 today in Dwinelle Hall at the University of California, Berkeley.

A View From The Bridge, now playing at the Curran Theatre, is the exciting drama of a longshoreman driven to a heartless betrayal by emotions he never understands. Chester Morris stars as the kindly stevedore who has reared his orphaned niece from early childhood. Violent happenings occur when his family harbors two Sicilian cousins who are illegal immigrants, and the young girl falls in love with one of them.

Free record concerts are given in the Main Public Library, Tuesdays at 1945.

Ski Forum Set Here

An open forum on skiing will be held at the Service Club next Thursday at 2000 hours. Any questions you might have on where to go, what to wear or the principles of skiing will be answered at that time.

Toreros Add Seven Victories To Win Skein

During the holiday season the Toreros brought home the bacon, a total of seven times in all, without a loss. This brings the season total up to 18 wins against 5 losses for Coach Hal Fischer's quintet.

The high point was a hard fought 61-53 victory over the San Francisco Olympic Club at Kezar Pavilion.

It was standout defensive play and balanced scoring that sent the powerful Olympic Club down to defeat. Leading the way for the Toreros were Lt. Evangelho and Pfc. VonWeyhe, who split scoring honors by bucketing 14 points apiece. High man for the game was Flaig of the Olympic Club with 15, followed by Nanson, who grabbed 13.

In other action the Toreros torpedooed the USS Hancock team 84-50, with surprising ease, at Letterman Gym. The Sailors are the best Navy team in the Far East, boasting a hot 25-4 record. The fast-breaking Toreros jumped off to an early lead that the Navy team was never able to overcome. Scoring honors for the game went to Navy's Mann, a 6' 8" center, who found his "land legs" long enough to dump in 28 points. High man for the Toreros was Lt. Evangelho with 19 and Pfc. Perry, who garnered 18.

The first of two games with Shasta College was taken quite handily by the Presidians. Leading by 43-14 at half-time, Coach Hal Fischer experimented with various plays and used the game to let newcomers to the team gain experience. Final score was 70-38 with scoring honors split between Pfc. VonWeyhe and Pfc. Perry, both getting 17 points.

The second game proved to be

Presidio Highnetters Take Holiday Tourney

Recently, the Presidio Toreros hosted the NorCal Armed Forces Volleyball Tournament at Letterman Gym and the highnetters grabbed the crown from a hot Hamilton Air Force team. Coach M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio attributes the victory to the superb condition of the team gained by heavy workouts and a tight schedule in the past weeks.

This fact was made evident in the last two games as Hamilton and Travis both ran out of gas while the Toreros maintained the same furious pace they showed in earlier games.

a replay of the first. Half-time score was 35-28 in favor of the Toreros, and the game ended 71-50 with Shasta on the short end of the scoring. Pfc. Lux popped in 18 for the Presidians but scoring honors for the game went to Johansen of Shasta with 20, who seemed to be their only bright spot in both defeats.

The Toreros also managed to double-up on the Santa Rosa JC team for another pair of wins. In the first go-round at the Santa Rosa Gym the Presidians copped a 72-62 victory, leading 47-23 at half-time on the strength of Pfc. VonWeyhe's 20 points. The team spent most of the second half working on new combinations and giving new players a chance to see some action. Harper led the scoring for the losers with 15 while Pfc. VonWeyhe finally tallied 25 when the shooting was all over.

The second game, played at LAH Gym, found the Toreros leading 38-27 at the half and then breaking loose for a 71-42 win. Lt. Evangelho and Pfc. VonWeyhe split the honor for high-point man with 21 apiece while Pons of Santa Rosa came up with 13.

Marin JC was another victim in the Toreros' sweep of the basketball slate during the holiday string of triumphs. The Marin team just wasn't up to the occasion as the Presidians swamped them 87-45. Pfc. Savoldi worked the basket over for a 21-point total as Pfc. Perry gathered in 16 and Pfc. Lux hit 15.

In the double round-robin elimination, the Toreros came through with a 5-1, won-lost record. Following up was Hamilton AFB with 4-2, Travis AFB with 2-4 and Mather AFB with a 0-6 record by forfeit.

The only game the Toreros dropped was a 13-15 thriller to Travis which left the Air Force team so exhausted they could barely manage to grab their one other victory from Hamilton by a similar score.

Spectacular spiking by veterans Sp4 Dave Rhem and Pfc. Allen Kincaid was equally matched by the relative newcomers to the team Sp4 Dick Chute and Pvt. George Blair. Coach Ignacio had nothing but praise for setter Sp4 Jim Morse who turned in a stellar performance on defense.

Coach Ignacio is looking forward to the U. S. Nationals in May with the hopes of placing a few members on the team that will compete in the Pan American games next August.

League Leading WACs Will Meet Travis Sextet

Tonight the Presidio Toreras journey to Travis AFB for a game with the WAFs at 1830. The bus leaves from the WAC barracks at 1530 and anyone desiring to go to the game may accompany the team as there is space available.

The Toreras boast a 9-1 record for the season, with their only defeat suffered at the hands of the Mather team in a 38-36 heart-breaker.

Mather AFB, Ft. Ord and the Presidio Toreras are tied for the league lead with identical records of 6-1.

The next league action will take place at the LAH gym with the Toreras hosting Mather AFB on 16 Jan. at 1900.

Toreros To Defend Title Against Area's Best

Presidio's Toreros will be cast in the dual role of defending champions and host when the Sixth Army Basketball Tournament gets under way here on 20-24 January at the Letterman Army Hospital Gym.

The double-elimination competition will bring together Ft. Lewis, Ft. Ord, Ft. Huachuca, Dugway Proving Ground and the winner of the current preliminary playoffs at Camp Irwin.

Most teams, though unknown and unsung except in their local areas boast at least two or three top flight college greats. Ord will have Charles Franklin, 6' 5" All American from the University, along with Charles Kenz, 6' 6" All American JC from San Francisco City College, on display.

Another standout performer is expected to be Ken Walker, a 5' 10" guard who anchored the varsity at USC for three years. Lewis, always a basketball dark horse, will bring along their 6' 6" center, Jack Adams, who was a former Gonzaga University great.

Last year, the Toreros had to come off the deck to beat a hard-fighting 12th Infantry Division team from Ft. Lewis in the finals at Camp Irwin. They scored a thrilling 54-52 victory in the waning seconds of play. This year, with a whole new aggregation in the building stage, Coach Hal Fischer has his work cut out for him. As Fischer puts it, "We don't expect a walk-through in this tournament. We'll have to earn everything we get!"

Roundup stories on the competing teams with pics of their stars are expected to be available for the next issue of the S-P.

Distinguished Rifleman

Frederick A. Zehrer, son of Letterman's Lt. Col. F. A. Zehrer, became the second member of the Presidio Rifle Club ever to win the National Rifle Association's Distinguished Rifleman award.

A member of the Junior Rifleshooters, young Zehrer was presented the award during the annual AFOTC Cadet review at Franklin and Marshall College, where he is a student.

Army Bowler Misses Record Roll By Inches

"I got lucky, I guess," is the way Sfc. Matt Matthiesen describes his dazzling 681 series bowled at the Lincoln Bowl. It was the high point of the season for the Letterman Hospital League kegler, and high series in his bowling career thus far.

As an eye-opener for the casual onlookers, he tossed a solid 224 in the first game. Those who saw, but did not believe, were treated to a sparkling 233 in the second game. As a finisher, another 224 came scorching down the alleys to match the opening game effort.

Series perfection was missed only by an unconverted 5-7 split in the second frame of game three. "It only missed by inches, but it missed," was the reply.

This native of Pocahontas, Iowa, took up bowling at the age of 14, and when he was 15, managed to roll his high game to date, 268. Giving up bowling when he entered the Army, he only resumed play when he was stationed at Letterman five years ago. Now bowling in three leagues, Matt is

National Magazine Honors Presidio NCO For Gun Work

"GUN'S" Magazine recently bestowed an "Honorable Mention Award" on M/Sgt. John D. Vekich, chief clerk of the post MPs here at the Presidio.

A leader in youth rifle instruction, Sgt. Vekich has given a great part of his off-duty time to aiding young people in learning how to shoot, with safety. He feels that "if you give young people something to do, they stay out of trouble."

Among the accomplishments of Sgt. Vekich in terms of the shooting program, is the setting up of the remodeled Presidio Gun Club which was dedicated in April, 1958. The 24-pistol and 13-rifle point range is complete with TV and soft drink lounge, an armory and loading room, modern rest rooms, and an intercom.

Both Sgt. and Mrs. Vekich work as instructors and keep records needed for the Presidio Junior Rifleshooters. With their unselfish work and willingness they have become a credit to the Presidio and the Armed Forces.

high average man in every one of them. Not bad for a person who retired for almost ten years and then made a comeback to his present position.

HOME FROM the bowling wars, the victorious Sixth Region Army Air Defense team is welcomed back by Lt. Colonel Curtis M. Banks, 30th Arty. Group ExO.

Team walked off with top honors in the recently concluded competition at Los Angeles.

Toreros To Meet Top Semi Pros In LAH Gym Clash

Letterman Gym will be the scene for some fast and furious basketball action tomorrow as the Toreros host the Los Angeles Trucking Co. at 1330. The Truckers are one of the best AAU teams in the state and figure to be a strong contender for National honors.

Cordell Green, former All-American JC, is featured in the starting lineup along with 6' 7" Al McClutcheon, former All Pacific Coast Conference player, in the center slot. Spelling McClutcheon at center will be 6' 8" Max Anderson.

Also appearing in a feature role will be Willie Davis, the highest scorer in the history of Alameda High School. Rounding out this impressive array of players is Al Gaden, former star at St. Mary's.

SF-Travis Bowlers Take Tourney Hardware

The San Francisco-Travis Air Defense Bowling Champions returned victorious from the recent Invitational Tournament at Ft. MacArthur. The locals copped all of the trophies with the exception of one in the singles event.

Hosting the show was the 47th Brigade, who saw all of their trophies take wing to other bases.

Captain Del Biaggio, who is also team captain, came up with a first in the singles competition and the all-events. In the doubles it was CWO Burns teaming with Pfc. Alley to grab the crown.

M/Sgt. Johns and Capt. Del Biaggio toppled the opposition to finish second and make it a team affair entirely. The remaining trophy was taken by CWO Burns with a second place finish in the all-events.

Gen. John T. Honeycutt presented the trophies and prizes at a buffet supper following the tournament.

30th Arty Quint Aces 4th Msl Btry In Corker

Intramural basketball action featured a one-point victory and a sweeping runaway as play picked up in the Presidio's three leagues.

In a tight game at the Ft. Scott Gym, the quintet from Headquarters Battery 30th Artillery Group aced out the team from A Battery, 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery in a 38-37 thriller. The men from Headquarters made it a team victory with everyone breaking into the scoring column. Leading the victory was Fischer with 11 but honors for the game went to the Missilemen's Taylor hitting 14. Landes followed, bucketing 12 in the losing effort.

The Honor Guard five, after a slow start, came on like gangbusters in the last half to smash the 537th Engrs. team 73-31. Manager McDonald must have listened in on his own half-time speech as he burned the basket for 24 of his 34 game total points after the intermission. Bean and Furrer followed the spectacular display by getting 13 and 12 respectively. The bright spot for the 537th was Wickham who managed to get 10 of his 12 points in the disastrous second half.

Hq. Company, Sixth Army bounced Hq. U.S. Army Garrison by 53-39 in a hotly contested match. Garrison, behind 21-13 at the half, could never draw any closer to the winners. Fine of the losers was high man for the game with a bulging 24 point display. Scoring for Hq. Company was shared by McAllister with 18 and Ihlenfeldt, 15.

Leading 14-5 in the early stages of the game, the 561st. Engr. Co. maintained their throttle hold of the MRU team to win 49-40. It was the one-two scoring punch of Jensen and Seng who garnered 22 and 14 points respectively for the winners. Hartman tossed in 13 and Richards followed with 11 for MRU.

2d Msl. Soccer Team Takes SF-Travis Title In Local Playoffs

In a sudden death overtime period, the 2d Missile Battalion soccer team hung a 2-1 defeat on representatives of the 4th Battalion, 61st Artillery, to become the San Francisco-Travis champions.

The championship team is coached by team captain 1st Lt. Andrew R. Foster. Other members of the team include Pfc. Lawrence Strobus, Sp4 Ralph Smith, Pfc. William Nash, Sp4 Charlie Prather, Pvt. Sal Scapellati, Pfc. Bennie Frank, Pvt. Walter Miller and Pfc. Melvin Allen.

Fencers Go Electronic In LAH Meet Tomorrow

The next fencing match will be at the LAH Sports Center on 10 January at 2000. Entrants will be vieing in the Class B Foil Championships. The top nine qualifiers in this match will go on to the Pacific Coast Championships in the middle of May to be held here in San Francisco.

Competing members of the Letterman - Presidio team are Col. Donnelly, M/Sgt. Pasol, M/Sgt. Bert Scheck, Lt. Gene Hardy, Lt. George Blechschmidt, Ed Purdy and Coach Bill O'Brien.

Preliminary action will be held using regulation foils. In a competition first, the electric foils, which are slightly heavier than standard foils, will be used to determine the winner in the finals. Entrants will wear a metallic jacket over a regular jacket and both foil and jacket will be wired electrically.

Torero Volleyball Team To Vie At Hamilton AFB

The national championship volleyball team representing the Sixth Region U.S. Army Air Defense Command here at the Presidio will be one of at least eight teams participating in the Hamilton Air Force Base Open Volleyball Tournament tomorrow.

Fresh from winning the national title, the Toreros will compete in the single round-robin tournament beginning at 1000. Other teams tentatively scheduled to participate include those from Hamilton and Travis Air Force Bases, Embarcadero YMCA of San Francisco, Athens Club of San Francisco, Olympic Club of San Francisco, Sacramento YMCA, Stockton YMCA and Oakland YMCA.

According to Coach M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio, who has coached the Army Air Defense Command's national title holding teams for the past 3 years, the present team is the strongest he has coached.

"Besides Rhem and Kincaid, we've got Carlos Ramirez and George Blair, who can both spike and set, as well as setmen Jim Morse and Don Hubbell, whose spiking is improving tremendously. He's really hitting the ball with power," Ignacio continued, "We're also concentrating on a number of newer players who have joined the team in the last couple of weeks."

Holiday Lull Hits Bowling; Leagues Now Back In Action

A holiday lull that saw the suspension of action in all three bowling leagues was due to end this week as keggers got set to swng back into action.

As a result of final pre-holiday action, the leading G-1 quintet enjoyed a 4-0 victory over the cellar-dwelling 6A Signal. Paving the way for the shutout was Sabo with 501-202 while Hunt led the Signal men 462-194.

The JAGS blanked fourth place Compt-Rollers 4-0 in an effort to close the gap with the league leaders. Holding a firm grasp on second place, the JAGS' McAfee posted a hot 541-183 as Routen was gathering honors for the Compt-Rollers, 509-203.

Garrison grabbed fifth place from Sixth Army Headquarters on the strength of their 3-1 win. Paving the way for the winners was Mahon with a sparkling 598-214. Lux tallied a strong 527-199 in the losing effort. The Triple Aces hoisted themselves out of the cellar by hanging an upset on third place MRU, 3-1. Blumenfeld rolled 532-208 for the winners while Andresen's 534-181 took the honors for MRU.

In the Presidio League keg action the Shalters still reign supreme over their nearest rivals, the Keystone Kops. In a tight contest the Shalters spilled the third place Recruiters 3-1 and kept their place on top of the league. It was Rogers blazing a path through with 582-221 for the Shalters while the Recruiters' Fisher rolled a 492-198.

The Keystone Kops managed to pick up a game on the league leaders by blanking the King Pins 4-0. Johnson, of the Kops, led the way with a 569-200 while Dennis, of the King Pins, was getting 544-213.

The Alley Rats split with the SFAADS 2-2 with Havrilla, of the Alley Rats, rolling a 526-182 and Schweikhard with 458-160 for SFAADS.

The match between the Islanders and bottom-dwelling 60th CI Detachment was postponed.

The standings in the Pacific League remain the same after 11 weeks of play with Hq. Co. 6A No. 2 still on top. Hq. Co. 2 thumped the Regioners 3-1 on the strength of Lux's 502-173. Childers led the losers with 453-158.

The second place Warrants and Hq. Co. 6A No. 3 played a tie in their second game resulting in the Warrants edging Hq. No. 3, 2½-1½. Stevens of the Warrants had a resounding 610-233 and Wolfman for Hq. No. 3 got 516-193.

The third place AAA Sparks and Retorts split their session 2-2. Schneider for the Sparks posted a 508-200 while Swarberg of the Retorts was rolling a 481-166.

The Missileers forfeited four games to the Hilltoppers. Johnson of the Hilltoppers carded a 544-186 as the team bowled for score.

The WAC Bowling League got back on the boards with the Brewmasters and the Alley Kats still in a tight battle for the honors.

Making certain that first place doesn't slip away from them, the Brewmasters bested the Orbits 3-1. Phillips of the Brewmasters notched a 388-155, but the Orbits' Dolan came up with a dazzler, 452-157.

It was the Alley Kats over the Powder Puffs 3-1 as Baker bowled her high series to date, 475-173. Coming through in grand style for the Powder Puffs was Morehouse with a 409-157.

There should be top action next Monday night when the leading Brewmasters meet the second place Alley Kats. The Kats need a 3-1 margin to deadlock the league lead.

Overseas Allowance Due Adjustment Next Month

Washington (AFPS)—Station allowances for the Armed Forces in some 180 overseas areas will be adjusted Feb. 1 under a more equitable system for computing subsistence and quarters differentials.

The new allowances will be based on net income for rank and number of dependents linked to an overseas cost-of-living index, rather than flat rates now paid officers and enlisted men fixed on a comparison of average expenditures for food and housing.

In general a station quarters allowance now is paid to personnel living in other than government facilities where average costs of housing are higher than in the U.S. Similarly, a station subsistence allowance is authorized in areas outside the States where expenses for food are excessive for those not eating in military messes.

Although these allowances will be revised upwards in some localities and cut or eliminated in others, there will be an over-all reduction of about 10 per cent in the new rates, according to the joint Per Diem, Travel and Transportation Allowance Committee, which determines the amounts to be paid.

The revamped system, however, still will provide separate allowances for housing and what will be called a "cost-of-living allowance" to replace payments for subsistence.

The housing rate will be based (1) on a comparison of reported living-quarters costs in each overseas area with the regular housing allowance for each grade instead of the U.S.-average figure now used; (2) the supplemental allowances will be computed separately for each officer, warrant officer and enlisted grade, rather than for the averages of all commissioned and all EM grades as at present.

The cost-of-living allowance, which includes everything but housing, will represent the relative difference in the expenses of Armed Forces members and their dependents in the U.S. and at overseas stations.

These costs will be determined by comparing prices of selected goods and services bought by military families overseas with the prevailing outlay of money required to purchase similar items at home.

The allowance, however, will be computed for single servicemen and every family group up to five or more dependents on the basis—in each category—of average net income after federal tax deductions and the normal amounts ordinarily put aside for insurance, savings and contributions.

The remaining amount of income, a committee official explained, thus represents the amount of money usually spent for those items included in the "measured elements" of the cost of living.

These figures will be reviewed every six months and later revisions in the rates may be made, he added.

Wants 1,000,000 Army

Washington (ANS)—Army Magazine, in its forthcoming January issue, reports that Senator Richard B. Russell (Dem.-Ga.), Chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, believes the security of the nation requires an army of one million officers and men.

"I'll fight against attempts to reduce the size of the Army," the influential Senator is quoted as saying.

Civil Service Exam Seeks Unit Aides For XV Corps Area

A Civil Service examination to fill Unit Aide (Reserve) GS-5 ($4,040 a year) positions in some 44 cities in California, Arizona and Nevada is now open.

Successful applicants will serve in administrative, advisory and instructing capacities in Army Reserve units from company to division organizational levels.

No written examination will be given, but applicants will be rated on quality of their experience and training relevant to the duties of the position.

Applications are now being accepted by Director, Twelfth U.S. Civil Service Region, Room 128, Appraisers Building, 630 Sansome St., San Francisco 11, California, until further notice.

Additional information on job requirements can be obtained at the Civilian Personnel Division, Bldg. 227, Presidio or by calling WEst 1-6111, Ext. 2349.

Dimes Campaign Now Underway; Needs Your Support

The annual March of Dimes campaign began here last Friday and will run through 2 February.

Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Commanding Officer, has authorized the placing of promotional material and collection containers at key locations on the Presidio.

Capt. Elmer W. B. Hassett, Funds Custodian, has been named to aid Foundation representatives in placing materials.

Presidents of the Presidio Woman's Club and NCO Wives' Club will help organize the Mother's March here.

3 Forts Due Mothballs Sometime This Summer

Washington (APFS)—Three stateside Army installations—Ft. Polk, La.; Ft. Chaffee, Ark.; and Ft. Miles, Del.—are scheduled to be closed by next summer.

Army officials said the installations will be retained on a standby status after the necessary relocation of activities has been accomplished.

Units stationed at Ft. Polk, numbering some 8,700 troops, will either be transferred to other posts or inactivated.

The major unit at Ft. Polk is Armored Combat Command "A," which will be moved to another post as yet undetermined.

Ft. Chaffee, a basic training center, will be absorbed by other recruit centers. The Army said that since there are no major tactical units presently at Chaffee, the mothballing will not require relocation of large organizations.

Ft. Miles is primarily a firing range for conventional antiaircraft artillery, now being phased out of the active Army. Its present station complement is six officers and 45 enlisted men. The Army said there are no known operations that can be transferred to the post for more efficient use of the installations.

More than 2,500 civilian employees will be affected in the closing of the three forts. Re-employment assistance will be given those workers made surplus by the shutdowns, the Army said.

Savings estimated at $5.3 million are expected to be made during the first year the installations are inactivated.

Reduction in end troop strength has cut training facilities requirements, the Army said, to the extent that consolidation of activities and closing of installations is possible "in the interest of reducing operating costs and the number of overhead personnel."

Funston Missile Site Renamed "Westlake" Under New System

The NIKE-AJAX guided missile site at Fort Funston, Calif., recently took on a "community name" when it was officially titled the "Westlake Battery Site". The "community name" is a relatively recent idea of the U.S. Army Air Defense Command for identifying each NIKE site with its locality.

Citizens of nearby Westlake and Daly City, as well as the missilemen of "A" Battery, 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, assembled at the battery area to watch the ceremony.

Lt. Warren W. Buckingham, battery commander, began the program by introducing the civilian and military dignitaries present. The main topic of the dignitaries was the importance of cooperation between communities and the military, and the vital need the battery and the community have for each other.

New Chaplain to School

Leaving for nine weeks Chaplains Basic Course at U.S. Chaplain Training Center, Fort Slocum, New York, is 1st Lt. John C. Sargent, Southern Baptist Denomination. A graduate of the Oklahoma Baptist University and the Golden Gate Theological Seminary, he was sworn into the U.S. Army by Chaplain (Col.) Herman H. Heuer, 6 U.S. Army Chaplain, on 29 December 1958. Upon completion of the Chaplains Basic Course, he will be assigned to Camp Irwin, California.

Legislation

the Universal Military Training Act until July 1, 1963.

Bills which were put before the 85th Congress but never got beyond committee and will be represented are:

- Longevity and retirement credit for WAAC service during WWII for servicewomen.

- Active duty agreements for reserve officers.

- The Career Officers' Personnel Management Bill, which would amend Title 10 with reference to methods and procedures for making regular promotions and other career matters affecting Regular officers of the services.

Other measures on the DOD's 1959 legislative calendar would:

- Authorize extension of enlistments for a total period not to exceed six years in all services.

- Amend the Career Compensation Act to relieve obligatory repayment by husband and wife members of the armed forces for overpayments of quarters allowances.

- Provide Family Separation Allowances for personnel whose dependents do not reside at a permanent duty station and validate any such payments made after Mar. 1, 1956.

- Revise the proficiency provisions of the 1958 Pay Act to include a "savings clause" for armed forces members who are promoted or transferred to service schools for training.

- Amend the Contingency Option Act of 1953, to improve dependent-survivor benefits under the law and, at the same time, reduce service-retiree contributions.

- Fix, armed forces-wide, uniform conditions for entitlement to reenlistment bonuses for enlisted personnel.

- Authorize similar rations throughout the services.

- Amend the dual compensation and dual employment laws to permit the Federal government to hire retired officers in Civil Service positions, most of whom are presently excluded.

Browning To New Staff Position; Mearns Takes Over G3 Slot

Sixth U.S. Army Commander, Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, has named Col. Harold W. Browning to the newly created staff position of Deputy Chief of Staff, Operations and Reserve Forces. Previously Deputy Chief of Staff, G3, Plans and Operations, Col. Browning will be succeeded in that assignment by Col. Fillmore K. Mearns.

In his new assignment, Col. Browning will be the principal assistant to the Sixth Army Chief of Staff for military operations and matters pertaining to Reserve Forces in this command. He will exercise policy direction and staff coordination, and approve actions within approved policy, on matters pertaining to:

- (1) Army operational plans, including Army aspects of joint operational plans.
- (2) Mobilization planning.
- (3) Troop movements and deployments.
- (4) Training.
- (5) All Reserve Forces actions, including USAR, National Guard and ROTC.

A West Pointer, Class '34, Col. Browning reported here in July of 1957 from the National War College at Ft. McNair, Washington, D. C.

During WWII, he served with the 66th Infantry Division and later Hq. of the U.S. Forces, European Theater. He also saw action during the Korean conflict as Artillery Commander and ExO of the Second Infantry Division, completing his Far East assignment with G4, Hq., 8th Army.

Col. Browning has completed the Command and General Staff Course and Armed Forces Staff College. He spent three years with the G3 Section, DA, and later served in the Pentagon with Artillery Career Management.

He holds the Legion of Merit,

Col. H. W. Browning

Croix de Guerre and the Bronze Star.

Col. and Mrs. Browning reside on the Presidio. They have two daughters, Helen and Anne.

Col. Mearns arrived at the Presidio in August of last year and was assigned Deputy Comptroller to the Control Group, Hq., Exercise Rocky Shoals. He had completed the Army War College in June.

The 42-year-old West Pointer was a combat infantry commander and Silver Star winner while with the 34th Infantry Division in Italy during WWII. Col. Mearns has also been an artillery commander, Ft. Sill, 1950-51, and is a senior parachutist.

He holds the Legion of Merit, Bronze Star for Valor, Purple Heart with two Oak Leaf Clusters, and the Combat Infantry Badge for his World War II service.

The versatile colonel attended Columbia University in 1946-47 for four semesters (international law) while on active duty; was Director, Special Forces Department of the Psychological Warfare School, Ft. Bragg, N. C., 1952-54; and served in Moscow, Russia, from 1954 to 1957 as Army Attache at the American Embassy.

The colonel also is a graduate of the Armed Forces Staff College, Norfolk, Va. (1952).

He will reside here with his wife, Elizabeth, and their three children, Nancy, 18; Suzanne, 15; and Robert, 12.

NEW INSURANCE expiration sticker will be placed alongside of the 1959 Presidio vehicle registration stickers as shown above. The calendar decal, mandatory for civilian and military personnel here, will have the car's insurance expiration date marked on it as a reminder to the vehicle owner and as a means of enforcing the law.

Set Registration Dates For Auto Owners Here

1959 Registration of privately-owned vehicles at the Presidio has been scheduled for 21 February through 10 March, the Post Provost Marshal announced yesterday.

Registration is mandatory annually for all military, civilian and dependent personnel who work or reside on the Presidio or its subposts.

This year in addition to the registration sticker costing 55 cents, an insurance expiration decal is required at a cost of ten cents. This insurance decal (see drawing) which has the years 1959-62 and months marked on it will go to left of the registration certificate.

Hours at the Post Provost Marshal Office, Bldg. 558, will be from 0800-1100 hours and 1300-1500 hours Monday through Friday. Registration will not take place on Saturday this year.

An alphabetical schedule has been arranged to prevent long delays. It is:

A-F, 15-21 February.
G-N, 22-28 February.
O-Z, 1-10 March.

Late registration 10-15 March.

The Post Provost Marshal will coordinate with staff sections, activities and major units to effect group registration where possible. Enlisted applications below grade E-5 must be authenticated by a commissioned officer of the unit concerned.

In order to register your privately owned or operated vehicle, you must meet the following requirements:

- proof of ownership (car registration);
- valid operator's license;
- valid 1959 State Registration;
- liability, injury and property damage insurance.

Your insurance must cover a minimum of $5,000 for personal liability, $10,000 for injuries and $5,000 property damage for each accident.

This insurance must be valid on and off the installation within the State of California.

An out-of-state driver's license is valid in the State of California for only one year. Thereafter all persons (including military) must have a valid California driver's license.

All persons under 21 must have a valid California driver's license within 10 days to operate a vehicle in this state.

Nonresidents (including military) are exempted from obtaining California license plates as long as they have valid plates from their legal residence state, however, a new ruling, details in another story in this issue, by the State Attorney General has tightened registration requirements this year.

When a military person declares California as his legal residence he must obtain California plates upon expiration of his nonresident plates and registration.

Annual LAH Bovard Won By Major Ruth Edenfield

Major Ruth Edenfield, Letterman Army Hospital, received yesterday the 1958 Evangeline G. Bovard Award worth $600 for outstanding professional achievement in nursing.

The award, offered only to Letterman nurses, was presented by its founder, Colonel Robert Skelton, USA, retired. It is named for Colonel Skelton's wife, a former Army nurse.

Major Edenfield, Head Nurse, Medical Nursing Service, was nominated by her associates for the award and final selection was made by the Commanding Officer, Chief Nurse and Executive Officer of Letterman.

XIV Corps CG To Attend Dedication Ceremonies At Fresno

A memorial plaque will be accepted by Maj. Gen. John W. Harmony, Commander of the XVth U.S. Army Corps, Sunday, as the main building in the U.S. Army Reserve Center, Fresno, is dedicated to the memory of Major Zygmunt S. Leymel, former member of the Army Reserve and outstanding Fresno civic leader.

Preceding the program, during which addresses will be given by Mayor Arthur L. Selland, of Fresno and Brigadier General John W. Guerard, retired National Guard officer, a half-hour concert will be presented by the Sixth U.S. Army Band.

Name Top Batteries For Final Quarter At SF-Travis AAD

Top missile batteries for the final quarter of 1958 have been selected for the San Francisco-Travis AFB Army Air Defense.

"C" Battery, 2nd Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery, located at San Rafael, was named best in integrated fire control, while "D" Battery of the same battalion, located on Angel Island, was chosen tops in missile-launching readiness. Ever-alert "Flo," at Sharp Park, Calif., was rated the best long-range acquisition radar of the Defense.

Stockade Bird

Can't Find A Nesting Place As Army Seeks His Extinction

The "stockade type" of the James Jones era is becoming as extinct as the dodo bird in the "new" Army.

There has been a 74 percent drop in prison population since 1955 and this week the Army announced the closing of the third disciplinary barracks—New Cumberland, Pa.—since 30 June, 1957. It had previously shut down prisons at Ft. Gordon, Ga. and Ft. Crowder, Mo.

At Presidio, Sixth U.S. Army Provost Marshal Harold A. Davenport, who will be honored by the American Hygiene Association for his outstanding work in rehabilitation at a luncheon at the Sir Francis Drake Hotel on 19 January, stated that with fewer than half the number of prisoners in confinement compared with this time last year, "our stockades are closing one right after the other."

According to Col. Davenport, a number of things account for the declining prisoner population. "The policy of the Army now is to insist on high standards at the time of enlistment and we are getting fewer of the types who previously filled our stockades. In addition, soldiers who have proved themselves unsuitable to the Army's needs have been discharged."

The increased technical and intellectual demands placed on modern soldiers, coupled with cutbacks in personnel, he said, make it impossible for the Army to carry "dead-wood."

"The shrinking number of prisoners is very gratifying for many good reasons—not the least of which is the taxpayer's money that is saved when a stockade closes."

Colonel Davenport pointed out that only four stockades now remain in the eight western states—with only 230 prisoners among them. The stockade most recently closed was at Yuma Test Station, Arizona, and the stockade at Fort MacArthur is scheduled for mothballing in the near future. This will leave the Ford Ord, Presidio and Fort Lewis stockades operational. At one time during World War II, there were more than 45 stockades while as recently as May, 1957, there were eight.

"Last year at this time we had more than 500 prisoners — now there are fewer than 250," Colonel Davenport said. "We are able to give these few prisoners excellent attention in the way of mental hygiene and social rehabilitation, so that our percentage of repeaters is quite low."

Model educational, psychotherapeutic and social service programs are conducted in the eight-state area of the Sixth Army, he said. Living conditions in stockades are comparable with those provided normal on-duty personnel and a "cell-block" atmosphere is discour-

Reserve Retention Bill Presented To Congress

Washington (AFPS)—The new Defense sponsored reserve retention bill, unlike legislation presented in the last Congress, would make active duty contracts for officers mandatory rather than permissive beyond obligated service.

Discarding indefinite agreements, the measure recommends contracts Armed Forces-wide for periods not to exceed six years, depending upon needs for reserve officers as determined by the secretaries of the various services, including the Coast Guard.

Written to provide greater security for active duty reservists, the proposed Title 10 and Armed Forces Reserve Act Amendments just sent to Capitol Hill for consideration by the 86th Congress also stipulate that reserve officers after 14 years' service be given regular commissions, be released on the basis of revised rates of readjustment pay or given contracts carrying them to eligibility for 20-year retirement.

Although the legislation as drafted eliminates the present half month's pay for the first two years of obligated service, reserve officers would receive two months' basic pay for each year served beyond this period whether involuntarily released or, upon completion of a contract, continuing on active duty under subsequent agreements.

Officers paid any such readjustment pay who later qualify for retirement, however, would have this payment deducted from retired pay in amounts no more than 25 per cent of their monthly checks.

This is in contrast to current law under which a reservist gets severance payments of one-half month's pay for each year served—providing he has at least five years' continuous service—but is given nothing if he resigns at his own request.

If, according to the proposed bill, a reserve officer is involuntarily separated while serving satisfactorily (his agreement is cancelled, for example, in a force reduction), he would be paid two months' pay for each year served under contract. In addition, he would receive a month's basic pay plus allowances for each remaining year of the uncompleted term.

The law now has a proviso that where released prior to completion of an agreement, he only gets a half-month's pay for the total number of years served or a month's pay and allowances for each of the years remaining in the unexpired contract, but not both.

aged. Once a soldier is released from custody, every effort is made to insure a proper adjustment to military life.

"The emphasis is on rehabilitation, not on punishment," Colonel Davenport said.

He gave credit to Armed Forces Disciplinary Control Boards in the area for their studies of crime problems which affect the Army.

"Their work in Army towns has caused a much healthier situation for soldiers on pass, and we've been able to eliminate many temptations which used to get our men in trouble."

The Army reported its disciplinary prison population had dropped to only 1530 as of 30 November last year, compared to 4359 as of 30 June 1956.

This represents a 1.3 rate per thousand in prisoners in confinement as compared to the entire Army and in contrast to the old rate of 4.3 per thousand.

The rate of persons tried by general courts martial dropped from 54.1 per 100,000 to 18.2 per 100,000 per month.

The Army added:

"In summary, the number of Army prisoners in disciplinary barracks has decreased more than 74 percent since 31 Dec. 1955; during the same period the strength of the Army has decreased less than 17 percent (from 1,081,258 as of 31 December 1955 to 898,151 as of 30 November 1958)."

The Lobber, an experimental cargo missile.

Army Interested

New Cargo Missile

Washington (AFPS)—The Army is interested in the Lobber, a supersonic ballistic cargo missile, which may develop into a revolutionary first in military logistics.

Devised and flight tested early in December by Convair Division of General Dynamics Corp., the Lobber developers propose that the missile would be useful to deliver food and supplies to embattled or isolated troops in combat in place of regular airlift.

Fired from a hand-carried launcher, Convair officials say that quick-disconnect Lobber payload sections could be prepacked at supply depots and at least 70 per cent of every missile would be recoverable for reuse.

In initial testing of the solid propellant missile at Camp Irwin, Calif., the Army's tank and artillery range in the Mojave Desert, a nine-foot Lobber reportedly delivered a 50-pound payload intact a distance of about six miles.

Already under development, according to Convair, are such additional Lobber capabilities as transporting small radio transmitters; putting cables across rivers for engineers building pontoon bridges; laying cable tramway lines over impassable barriers; stringing communications wire to forward observers; spreading smoke cover for assault landings; and delivery of fuel and munitions to advanced units.

Definition: General war would be a direct armed conflict involving the United States and the Communist Bloc in which our national survival would be at stake. . . . Limited war . . . is any military conflict short of a general war, one in which our national existence is not at stake.—General Maxwell D. Taylor.

It's a Fact: "...a total of 17 limited war situations have arisen since 1945. They include a wide variety of military actions such as the Chinese Civil War, guerrilla operations in Greece and Malaya, the North Korean aggression, the Hungarian revolt, and the recent renewal of hostilities in the Taiwan Straits by the Chinese Communists."—General Maxwell D. Taylor.

New Plans Will Bolster People-To-People Drive

Washington (AFPS)—The Defense Department, spurred by President Eisenhower's keen interest in the People-to-People program, will take new steps to prepare U.S. military families going overseas for making friends in foreign lands. The People-to-People Program is a voluntary effort of private American citizens' groups to foster goodwill for the U.S. in foreign lands and to promote international understanding through a common exchange of ideas and ideals.

Members of the Armed Forces and their families, whose conduct has a tremendous impact on foreign nationals, are the principal representatives of the American way of life to the populations in many of the 70 countries in which they are stationed throughout the world.

So important are servicemen and dependents in demonstrating what Americans are like and in correcting false impressions of the U.S., the President believes that each individual who extends a hand of friendship overseas makes a substantial contribution to the program.

In a December meeting of the heads of People-to-People committees in all government agencies, the Office of Armed Forces Information and Education (OAFIE) presented new plans to better prepare service families outside the country for their good will role.

At the meeting, John C. Broger, Deputy Director of OAFIE, disclosed that, in addition to the mediums presently used, the following were under consideration:

- Color films of major overseas areas to be shown at ports of embarkation. These motion pictures will tie-in with pocket guides on the customs, culture and history of peoples across both oceans.

- Long-play language records of several hundred common phrases used in the particular nation to which the serviceman and his dependents are traveling. The 12-inch records are expected to encourage Americans to learn foreign tongues—one of the best means of building friendships with local populations—and to take part in off-station community activities.

- Dramatic radio skits on the life and people of other continents which will be played over communications networks aboard transports.

- A pamphlet, titled "Americans Abroad" and being published by the Common Council for American Unity, a private foundation, will give service personnel the nation's philosophy as well as intelligent, clear answers to a number of "thorny" questions on national and international problems that might be asked in associations with foreigners.

The services long have had concerted community relations programs overseas and the acts of open-handed assistance of many military organizations and servicemen have gone far in winning new friends for America.

President Eisenhower has declared, however, "if our American ideology is eventually to win out in the great struggle between opposing ways of life, it must have the active support of thousands of independent private groups and institutions and millions of individual Americans acting through person-to-person communications in foreign lands."

Installation of officers of the Bay Area chapters of Reserve Officers will be held at the Presidio tomorrow evening. All members and those eligible for membership are invited to attend.

Student-Trainee Job Offered To College Students

Several thousand student-trainee jobs will be open for college students and high school graduates in Federal agencies during the next 12 months, according to the Civil Service Commission.

Most of the training opportunities will be in science and engineering, fields in which Federal research laboratories and offices throughout the country provide on-job training in three basic ways. Depending on the agency, the student may work during summer vacation and attend school during the usual academic year, may alternate periods of employment and school study, or work part time while in school.

The rate of pay ranges from $3,255 to $3,755 a year, based on the level of scholastic training. Trainees are paid only during periods of employment. For example, a student employed in grade 3 ($3,495 a year) would earn $811 for 12 weeks during the summer.

Many agencies offer programs in such fields as architecture, cartography, chemistry, engineering, mathematics, metallurgy, meteorology, and oceanography. Other programs are offered in physics, accounting, agricultural economics, statistics, plant pest control, biological and plant sciences, entomology, home economics, and soil science research. Applicants must be at least 16 years of age, pass a written test, and apply for training in the specialized field consistent with their college or high school studies.

Further information about student-trainee examinations is available from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., college placement offices, many post offices, Civil Service regional offices, and boards of civil-service examiners at many Federal agencies and installations.

what they said

With today's emphasis on a college education and a career we felt an appropriate question would be:

THE QUESTION: If you were a young man or woman just starting college today what career field would you choose?

ANSWERS:

M/Sgt. Tigne, XVth Corps, Unit Advisor: I believe that if I were a young man just starting out today I would choose some kind of career in the field of electronics. I would learn all about today's new modern weapons and then I would join the Army and work with guided missiles or radar. It seems to me these are the key fields of the future and offer the best opportunities for a successful career.

Miss Rita Smith, Civilian Stenographer with Sixth Army Transportation: Recently I have become very interested in medical work. I would like very much to have a nursing career, and I am sure that is the field I would go into if I were just starting college. At the present time I am working on first aid crews and am attending classes given by the American Red Cross. But I believe that Medical Science offers the most interesting and varied challenge to the individual and next to nursing would choose that.

Hugo Andreis, Civilian Employee with the Post Office: The field for me would be scientific or chemical. These are two separate, but closely related fields that I have been interested in all of my life. I feel that today, more than ever before, these fields offer great opportunities for exciting and successful careers. Besides, the world of the future will depend more and more on man's success in the 20th Century.

Mrs. Ruth Berger, wife of CWO Berger, Ft. Ord: I first became interested in the sciences and biology during high school and would, if I were just starting college, continue to study in these subjects. I would like to help in the study of those insects which destroy our food and the safety of our homes. There is much research yet to be done in these fields. Man's life is one long, incessant struggle in pushing back the mysteries of nature through better understanding. Biology can make life better for all of us.

Mrs. J. Peeters, Sales Clerk: If I were young, whether man or woman, I would go into a professional field. Possibilities would be: law, teaching or medicine. However, the career I would choose must depend, and this is true not only for myself but for everyone, on how much ability one has and whether or not one is capable of doing the job desired. A person should be sure of his ability to succeed in his chosen field. Job counseling is a good idea for anyone planning a career.

WHEN THREE YEAR OLD KANDEE TAYLOR was told by her Daddy that "cleanliness is next to Godliness," she decided to help. Daddy, Army Chaplain (Major) Newell E. Taylor, is the newly assigned 6th Region, U.S. Army Air Defense Command chaplain. He assumed the job this week, reporting in from Korea, where he was Assistant Division Chaplain for the famed 1st Cavalry Division.

New Staff Chaplain On Duty At RADCOM

Chaplain (Major) Newell E. Taylor, Baptist minister, of Novato, Calif., has assumed duties as staff chaplain to the 6th Region, U.S. Army Air Defense Command, Fort Baker, Calif.

Chaplain Taylor reported to his current assignment from Korea where he was Assistant Division Chaplain of the 1st Cavalry. Born in Ennis Tex., the 42-year-old Chaplain was graduated from Woodrow Wilson High Schol, Dallas, and from Baylor University, Waco, in 1940. He received a Doctor of Divinity degree at Southern Baptist Seminary, Louisville, Ky., in 1943.

The newly-assigned chaplain entered Federal service in 1944 and was assigned to the 315th Infantry, 79th Division, in Europe. From 1950 to 1953, Chaplain Taylor served in Trieste, Italy, as assistant TRUST Chaplain for the 7100 AU Depot.

From 1946 to 1949, Chaplain Taylor was a member of the Chaplain Board, DA, Ft. George E. Meade, Md. and served on the staff and faculty of the Chaplain School, Ft. Slocum, N.Y.

Among the military schools attended by Chaplain Taylor were the US Army Chaplain School, Carlisle Barracks, Pa., Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass. (Chaplain Basic Course), and George Washington University, Washington, D.C., where he studied Psychometrics.

Chaplain Taylor now lives in Novato, Calif., with his wife, Delight, and the couple's son and daughter, Jeffrey Douglas, 2, and Kande, 3 years old.

2 Win RA Commissions

Two young officers of the 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty., 1st Lt. Richard E. Jewett of Btry. A, Ft. Funston, and 2nd Lt. Gilbert L. Muchmore, Btry. C, Sharp Park, have won commissions in the Regular Army. Announcement of their appointment was made by Lt. Col. Ernest J. Whitaker, Bn. CO, at Ft. Scott.

New Designation

Effective 1 January, Camp Irwin became the US Army Armor and Desert Training Center.

New CSC Regs Will Ease Retention Pay For Downgrades

Washington—The Civil Service Commission recently issued regulations to guide agencies in applying liberalized salary-retention benefits for Federal white-collar employees downgraded through no fault of their own. The new salary-retention protections result from a law enacted by the 85th Congress.

Under the old law, the salary-saving benefit was limited to Classification Act employees who continued to hold the same positions in downgradings resulting from job reclassification in which there was no material change in duties. The new law extends the protections to cover certain situations where there is a change in position, such as downgradings resulting from reductions in force caused by reorganization or from employees exercising certain rights in returning to their former jobs.

Downgraded employees are not entitled to the salary-saving protections if a demotion is made at their own request, is due to their personal fault, or is the result of a reduction in force resulting from lack of funds or curtailment of work in a particular competitive area. While the old law provided salary-retention benefits for an indefinite period, the new law limits the benefit period to two years after the reduction in grade.

Promoted To WO

A member of "C" Btry., 4th Msl. Bn., 67th Arty., located on San Pablo Ridge near Tilden Park, Berkeley, recently traded his Sfc. stripes for Warrant Officer's bars.

The new Warrant Officer, Joseph P. Czuprewicz, received his bars from Major Arthur V. White, Battalion Commander, and 1st Lt. Nick P. Tinios, Commanding Officer of "C" Btry. in a ceremony held at 4th Msl. Bn. Hdqs.

Area Marksmen To Vie In Matches At Lewis, Ord

Military marksmen from the eight western states will compete in full-scale rifle and pistol matches at Fort Lewis, Washington, and Fort Ord from late March to mid-April. Lt. General Charles D. Palmer, Sixth U.S. Army Commander, announced yesterday.

Rifle matches will be held at Fort Lewis from March 23 to April 8. Fort Ord will host the pistol matches April 6 to 18.

Teams from each installation in the Sixth Army will compete in both events.

Lt. Colonel Walter Andrews, commanding officer of the Sixth U.S. Army Marksmanship Detachment at Fort Ord, said that high-scoring shooters will join the detachment after the matches to begin training for national matches to follow later in the year.

The Sixth Army teams will fire in the All-Army Matches at Fort Benning, Georgia, in June, and in the National Matches at Camp Perry, Ohio, in late August.

Writers League Plans To Print Short Stories

New York (AFPS)—Military and civilian fiction writers working for the Armed Forces will get an opportunity to display their work in an annual volume of short stories which the Armed Forces Writers League plan to publish in the fall.

Each writer whose work is selected will share in advance and royalty payments. Further information can be obtained from the Armed Forces Writers League, 4306 Knowles Avenue, Kensington, Md.

Set New Com Sked

A new Commissary Store and Annex time schedule will go into effect Monday for the convenience of personnel who have shopping difficulties because of duty hours.

Army Demonstrates New Emergency Medical Kit

Washington (AFPS)—A new emergency medical packet to be used in mass military casualty situations was demonstrated here recently to top Armed Forces officials.

Army Medical Service Supply Officers gave a detailed briefing on the new jointly devised unit to representatives of out by all three services.

Officials, explaining the emergencies for which the kit is intended, said mass casualty situations occur whenever the number of persons injured is out of proportion to available medical facilities.

It was also pointed out that the kit's use is not confined to nuclear warfare, but can be employed in disasters resulting from fires, floods, hurricanes and other civil emergencies.

Nike-Hercules Phamplet

Washington (ANS)—The Department of Defense in its pamphlet Guided Missiles and Rockets (to be distributed soon) says that the Army's NIKE-HERCULES system is now operational in eight units in the United States and in some overseas areas. The NIKE-HERCULES, according to the pamphlet, will be sited in defense of many SAC bases and will be added to all metropolitan areas now under the protection of NIKE-AJAX as well as to new installations in cities not now protected.

Designed to meet conditions immediately following a major military disaster in an area where adequate medical resources are not available, the packet contains 23 items intended to provide medical material for treatment of approximately 100 casualties for about 72 hours.

Called Phase I Emergency Medical Treatment Unit, the kit was devised for much more than first aid treatment, officials said.

During the briefing it was explained that the complete packet held nine component cartons. It has two master packs containing a synthetic plasma expander, surgical instruments and other items. It also has one fracture pack, two burn packs, and four wound packs.

The items were carefully selected by Defense medical officials as well as representatives from each of the military departments.

Training in the correct use of the new packet will be carried

Palmer Luncheon Will Stress Fund Needs Of Distaff Club

Mrs. Charles D. Palmer will host a luncheon at her quarters today for wives of Bay Area Army commanders in connection with the current drive to raise funds for the proposed Army Distaff Club in Washington, D.C.

The Army Distaff Club, a project of the Army Wives Council in the Capital, is envisioned as a well-appointed residence club offering first class facilities at nominal cost for the widows and daughters of Army officers, including those wives and daughters of Reserve officers who have served on active duty for twenty or more years.

A previous consideration of possible "transient rooms" has been dropped because it would bring the club under hotel classification and regulations.

Letters have gone out from Mrs. Palmer, with an enclosure letter from Mrs. Maxwell D. Taylor, to wives of Army commanders throughout the Sixth Army area in an effort to gain widespread support for the program.

"This program is of tremendous significance to every officer and wife in the Army," says Mrs. Palmer. "It gives him another inexpensive and practical way of providing for the future comfort and security of the women in his family. It gives her the reassurance that she will not be forgotten when she most needs help. I think it is a wonderful idea."

At the luncheon today, Mrs. Palmer will bring guests up to date on the project's progress and stress the importance of the current fund drive. She will also solicit ideas for fund raising and the big membership drive that is a future project for the club.

"Most urgent consideration is the need for funds right now," states Mrs. Palmer. "Money is needed for selection of a suitable site, construction of buildings and provision for continuous management. By sending what you can, right now, you will insure the continuity of this part of the program."

Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower has consented to serve as Honorary Chairman of the National Advisory Committee. Other positions include:

Board of Directors

Gen. John E. Dahlquist, Chairman
Gen. Wade H. Haislip
Maj. Gen. Ernest M. Brannon
Maj. Gen. Mark McClure

Recently Assigned

Lt. Col. EARL W. LIMBERG was assigned recently to the Internal Review Office, Comptroller Section after a tour of three years and five months in Honolulu, Hawaii. His last assignment in Honolulu was with USARPAC Headquarters at Ft. Shafter.

Col. Limberg entered the Army in 1937 after graduating from University of Illinois with a B.S. degree in Accounting.

He served in the European Theater during WWII receiving the Bronze Star and several ribbons. During the Korean conflict he served with the Far East Command Headquarters in Tokyo. Married, he and his wife Eleanor, live in Mill Valley.

Lt. Col. CHARLES O. REED, Manpower Division, G1 Section, arrived here from Camp Zama, Japan, where he was assigned to the USAR Intelligence Support Center for a year and a half.

Prior to that, he was with Joint Headquarters, Far East Command, Tokyo, Japan, from 1956 to 1957, which was his second tour of duty there, having served there during the Korean conflict.

He and wife, Nellie, live on the Presidio. They have two children, Beverly, a housewife, and Douglas, a Jr. High School Teacher at Wilmington, Calif.

A recent graduate of the Command and General Staff College, Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas, Major ARIEL E. STOUT was recently assigned to the G4 Section.

Some of Major Stout's previous assignments were: As assistant S4, Frankfurt Post, Frankfurt, Germany, 1956-58; advanced Quartermaster Course, Ft. Lee, Va., September, 1955 through May 1956; and CO of the 8,000th WAC Detachment, Headquarters 8th Army, Yokohama, Japan, 1949-52.

She is a graduate of the University of Washington, majoring in physical education and receiving a BA Degree. She also attended the University of Southern California where she gained her General Secondary Teaching Certificate.

Before entering the WACs, Major Stout was a high school teacher at Corona, Calif.

Major ROBERT L. CLARK has been assigned as Assistant Medical Supply Officer, Sixth Army Medical Section. Major Clark completed a six-month advance course at the Army Medical Service School at Ft. Sam Houston, Texas, prior to being assigned here.

From 1955 to 1958 he was the CO of the Medical Detachment at Camp Bender, Japan Medical Depot.

He entered the Army in September 1942 as an enlisted man after attending the University of Idaho for three years. In 1944 he received a commission following graduation from OCS at Ft. Benning.

His wife Ethel and their four children, Sandra Lee, 11; Linda Kaye, 9; Jean Marie, 7; and Gary Alan 15 months, are presently staying in Blackfoot, Idaho, but expect to join him in a few months.

Meanwhile, Back In Atlanta...

It was the day after Christmas and people in Atlanta, Georgia, heard over the radio how a company of soldiers over 3,000 miles away at the Presidio of San Francisco brightened the holiday for a paralyzed soldier in Letterman Hospital.

The Five Star Final News Broadcast on WSB—affiliated with NBC—cited Sixth Army's Headquarters Company for its "humanitarian gesture," which brought Pvt. Rodney K. Johnson and his mother together for Christmas.

Headquarters Company collected money to enable a mother of a patient at Letterman to be with him during the Christmas holiday. Pvt. Johnson, paralyzed from an accident at Ft. Ord, was selected and his mother was flown from Hoopston, Ill., at no expense to herself.

Maj. Gen. John J. Binns, Sixth Army Chief of Staff, formally presented WSB's 750 Award Certificate to Colonel R. A. Ports, Headquarters Special Troops CO, yesterday.

Military Scientists Producing New Fighting Man's Fashions

Washington (AFPS)—Advent of the nuclear and space ages is pushing Armed Forces scientists to produce strange new "fashions" for fighting men who will bear the brunt of modern warfare.

At a recent New York City meeting of Army, Navy and industry experts on radiation and high temperature behavior of textile materials, the Naval Clothing and Textile Research Laboratory paraded some of the protective garb being perfected for the services.

One test garment, fitted with porous filter fabrics, can exclude airborne contaminants such as gas or other CBR agents. By means of a miniature blower mounted on back of the suit, humid air built up inside by body heat is expelled, allowing the wearer to work in relative comfort.

The circulating unit, weighing less than two pounds, was developed for the air-tight suit by the Navy's clothing laboratory. The device runs for some 15 hours on two 1.3 volt mercury batteries.

Another experimental suit displayed is a decontamination jumper suit for bluejackets working below decks in battened-down areas during an attack.

For example, in a boiler room where outside ventilation has to be cut off because of radiation following an atomic explosion, crews clothed in the impermeable suit can continue with their duties in temperatures to 140 degrees Fahrenheit. Air pumped in through a neoprene (synthetic rubber) hose keeps the interior of the suit cooled to 80-90 degrees for up to two hours.

Unveiled for the scientists for the first time was a shiny, aluminum-surfaced coverall that keeps balloonists in exposed gondolas warm at heights above 40,000 feet by cutting down on heat loss due to radiation from the body.

New Regs to Field

Washington (ANS) — New regulations, AR 640-203, which prescribe procedures for preparation and maintenance of DA Form 20 (Enlisted Qualification Record) are being distributed to the field. These regulations supersede the same AR, dated 27 June, 1956, including Change 1, 5 June, 1958.

Army Hourglass: On January 21, 1932, the Army dropped 10,800 pounds of rations to snowbound Navajo Indians near Winslow, Arizona. The air-drop was instrumental in saving hundreds of lives.

that the aim of the Quartermaster Research and Development Command is to devise uniforms offering protection against the heat of detonated nuclear weapons for troops on the atomic battlefield. Extensive tests of heat-resistant fabrics now are being made at the QM laboratory, Natick, Mass.

Is Native From "Big Island"

A native of Papaalooa, Hawaii, "the big island," neither rain, snow or San Francisco fog can keep the January WAC Of The Month from seeing that members of "D" Co. get their mail twice a day.

This outstanding WAC could, of course, be none other than Sp4 Katherine Hirata, "D" Co. Mail Clerk.

Tomorrow will be an anniversary for the Laupahoehoe High School graduate as she celebrates the end of her first year here, coming to the Presidio after basic and Clerical Training School, both at Ft. McClellan, Ala.

Nineteen year old Katherine, who joined the Corps in Honolulu on 15 Aug., 1957, with the intention of traveling, meeting people and learning the ways of a WAC, feels that she has been able to accomplish all of these things.

As her record shows, she has not only learned the ways of a WAC, but has learned them well. The girls in the barracks will also agree that she has met many people, and there are very few, at least "down under the bridge approach," who haven't succumbed to her Hawaiian friendliness.

A talented singer, Sp4 Hirata was one of a trio who were asked to entertain for Col. Mary Louise Milligan, Director of the Woman's Army Corps, on her recent visit here.

On many evenings "Froggie" and several of the other Hawaiian girls can be heard strumming ukeleles and singing their native songs. As music fills the company everyone becomes a little more cheerful, some even try to join in. The

Auto License Deadline Set; Military Face Stiff Fees

Nonresidents, including military personnel, will have to have their new license plates before 30 January or be subject to steep penalties according to the California Department of Motor Vehicles.

As a result of a ruling by the Attorney General that the 30-day limit for vehicle operation in California after the expiration of a nonresident registration applies at all times, any grace period allowed by other states for registration after 31 December cannot be honored in California.

Registrations and renewals from residents, as in previous years, will be accepted through 4 February.

Nonresident applications must be made at Department of Motor Vehicle offices. In San Francisco these include the ones at 160 South Van Ness and 1425 Noriega St.; in Daly City the DMV office is at 199 Southgate Avenue.

Renewals may be made at most banks and include:

For every renewal there will be issued a silver white reflectorized sticker for the rear plate, to cover the expiring 1958 green sticker. The Department reminds applicants that a front plate must be kept in place on the vehicle.

Fees due include a standard annual registration fee of $8 on all vehicles except station wagons whose owners under a new law pay $9 annually. A vehicle license fee computed at two per cent of the value of the vehicle is collected by the State for cities and counties as a fee "in lieu" of a local property tax, forbidden in State law.

Weight fees due on commercial vehicles are also payable on registration.

Wins high nursing award

kaleidoscope

By Pfc. Martin Rein
PIO Reporter

Battle veteran, teacher, artist and outstanding nurse—these are but a few facets of the colorful career of Major Ruth Edenfield, winner this week of the annual Evangeline G. Bovard Award for nursing at Letterman Army Hospital.

As a nurse in Europe, Major Edenfield showed her devotion to her profession by serving in some of the bitterest battles of WW II and winning five battle stars.

Yesterday, she received recognition for her work when she was presented with the Bovard Award, worth $600, for outstanding performance of duty by a Letterman nurse.

Major Edenfield's — a diminutive woman with graying-brown hair, and gracious manner — reaction to the award was in keeping with her character:

"All I've been trying to do is a good job. . . I'm really shocked since I had not thought about it. . . It is real fine that this recognition of the nursing profession is given."

Nursing is actually the second profession for her, although the one she finds "satisfaction in" and where she is able "to be of greater service."

After three years of teaching high school French and history and Jr. High Schol math and English in her native state of Georgia, and South Carolina, she decided, "formal teaching in a classroom did not bring the satisfaction that is needed to be happy as a teacher."

She decided a nursing career was to be her life's work because, "it is such an exciting field and there are opportunities in it for a woman which are not available in other fields."

Graduating from nursing school, she embarked on her professional career in 1940. In 1943 she entered the Army and after receiving training was sent over to Europe as part of an evacuation hospital unit.

From 1944 to 1946, Major Edenfield was part of a team that tried to salvage the human wreckage of war. They served in the Normandy, Northern France, Central Europe, Ardennes and the Rhineland Campaigns with the 1st and 3rd Armies.

In 1946 she "had enough of the Army" and separated from it retaining a reserve commission. Various assignments in public health and the Veterans Administration followed until 1950.

Then she decided, "I missed the Army and found that civilian nursing did not have as much to offer."

"There are more opportunities for advancement, more varied experience in different nursing fields, more travel, better pay and a retirement plan in the Army," she said. "I sound like I'm recruiting, don't I?" she laughingly asked.

Major Edenfield requested duty at San Francisco on her entrance to active duty, but was assigned to Hot Springs, Ark., which prompted her to say, "Don't ask for anything in the Army."

When asked what she remembered most from her experiences, Major Edenfield said, she still very vividly recalls walking into a field tent during the war and seeing 80 to 120 men lying on litters wrapped up in OD blankets with plasma and blood containers attached to wires and tent poles all swaying above them.

"The men although seriously hurt whistled at us — dressed in fatigues — and always thought Army nurses were beautiful," she said.

After several assignments, Major Edenfield was granted her original request and was assigned to Letterman in November, 1957.

She plans to retire in 1961 and to live with her family in Savannah, Ga. There she will continue her nursing career, but not as intensively as now, and devote her free time to painting and art studies.

Set Photo Contest Rules; Cash Prizes For Winners

Attention, Shutterbugs! Load up that old "Brownie" and snap your winning entry for the annual All Army Photography Contest. Specific details of the Presidio Contest rules and regulations may be obtained from the Post Crafts Director, Building 122, Post Special Services.

Prize money for the winners at Post level competition will be as follows:

- $15.00, 1st prize—black and white
- $10.00, 2nd prize—black and white
- $ 5.00, 3rd prize—black and white
- $15.00, 1st prize—colored slides
- $10.00, 2nd prize—colored slides
- $ 5.00, 3rd prize—colored slides
- and 3 honorable mentions.

Classes in both black and white and color will be as follows: (1) sports and action, (2) portraits—animals or human beings, (3) experimental—technique, (4) military—not official, (5) scenic—landscapes, seascapes, etc.

Pick your pictures for both idea and emotional content as well as technical skills. It is not mandatory that the contestant develop or print his own entry, although a better picture is often the result of doing your own work. Be sure that all entries are taken after 1 June, 1957. You may enter as many as 10 pictures, one in each category, in Presidio competition. Winners will be sent to the Headquarters Sixth US Army Contest and from there to the All Army.

Next Monday evening and every other Monday evening until contest deadline, 28 Feb., 1959, there will be a critique for prospective contestants in order to help them select possible prize winning photos.

QM General To Speak At NorCal Meeting This Month

Major General Webster Anderson, Executive Director of the Military Clothing and Textile Supply Agency and Commanding General of the Philadelphia Quartermaster Depot, will be guest speaker at this year's first meeting of the Northern California Chapter of the Quartermaster Association 29 Jan. in the Main Ballroom of the Presidio Officer's Open Mess.

Anyone desiring to attend the dinner meeting which begins with pre-dinner cocktails at 1830 and will include election of officers, may make reservations by calling the Chapter Secretary, Capt. Myron F. Wheeler or Col. J. M. Shanks, Sixth Army Quartermaster, ext. 3719.

Need Male Voices

Tenors, baritones and basses interested in taking part in Bay Area light opera productions should contact Miss Ann Pool, BA 1-0905, or H. Clay Bernard, ED 2-1639. Rehearsals will be held on Monday nights from 2015 to 2230 at the Jewish Community Center, Presidio and California.

Need Actors Here

Plans for the next production and plays under consideration will be discussed Tuesday at a meeting of the Presidio Players, 1930 in the Little Theater. Anyone interested in joining the group is urged to attend.

ARADCOM Photo Contest Judges Pick On Thursday

Judging of entries in the third annual photography contest of the 6th Region, U.S. Army Air Defense Command, will take place at the command's Fort Baker headquarters next Thursday.

Winning entries will be selected from the best photos submitted from each of the 6th Region's defense areas: San Francisco, Travis and Los Angeles, Calif., and Seattle, Tacoma and Hanford, Wash.

Judges in the photo contest will be Ira La Tour, from the Art Department of San Francisco State College; Lt. Col. Robert E. Simons, Information Officer, 6th Region USARADCOM; Carmine Sena, Crafts Director, 6th U.S. Army; Benjamin Chinn, chief of the 6th U.S. Army Central Photographic Facility, and M/Sgt. Olive Hinchcliffe, professional photographer. The last three are from the Presidio of San Francisco.

"The best photos will be selected on the basis of impact, freshness of approach, story telling and technical skill," said Lt. Col. Calvin B. Leek, regional Special Services officer. He also announced that cash prizes will be awarded for the 1st, 2nd and 3rd place entries in the contest. Col. Leek explained that regional winners will be urged to enter their photos in further contests sponsored by Army installations.

The first place winner will receive $25 in the regional contest, while second place will win $15 and third $10.

Catholic Alumni Club Offers Membership To Service Personnel

Observing its second birthday in February, the Catholic Alumni Club of San Francisco gives many college alumni an introduction to cultural, religious, recreational and community service activities in the Bay Area.

Weekend ski trips, dances, discussion groups, bowling and bridge sessions are only a few of the activities planned for the group which is open to unmarried Catholic men and women who are graduates of colleges and universities.

Prospective members, including men and women in the Armed Forces, may mail inquiries to the Catholic Alumni Club, 1100 Franklin St., San Francisco 9.

Cha Cha Classes Here

The ever growing popularity of the Cha Cha was proven Monday as the Presidio Service held its first dance instruction class this year.

Teachers for the class, to be held each Monday at 2000, are, Mr. Walter Leggé and Miss Lonnie Carls, Dance Directors of the Irene Studios, 466 Geary.

All Presidio personnel are welcome and American Red Cross Hostesses will act as partners.

things to see

—places to go

Paul Badura-Skoda, brilliant Viennese pianist, will present a recital Tuesday at 2030 in the Veterans Auditorium. Tickets are on sale at Sherman Clay from $1.65 to $3.30.

Other musical events this week include a band concert at the Music Concourse in Golden Gate Park, Sunday at 1400; a performance on 23 and 24 Jan. by violin-cellist Pierre Fournier, to be presented at Hertz Hall, the University of California; and a program by the Oakland Symphony Orchestra in the Oakland High School Auditorium on 27 Jan.

The BACKSTAGE, a mecca of make believe created by New York theatrical director Dick Freye, is currently featuring "Bright Lights," starring comedian Stan Arnold and Broadway singing star, René Joubert.

Sight seeing? There's something to interest everyone in Golden Gate Park. Once nothing but shifting sand dunes, it is now the largest man made park in the world. In its 1013 acres are miles of picturesque auto roads, foot-paths, equestrian trails and shady lanes. All kinds of sports may be enjoyed there, including cycling, tennis, handball, polo, horseshoes, basketball, volleyball, badminton, croquet, archery, model yacht sailing and horseback riding.

Also in the Park may be found: an authentic Japanese Tea Garden; an aquarium, with snakes, alligators and thousands of fish; a Planetarium; De Young Museum and Academy of Sciences; an Arboretum and Botanical Gardens; one of the country's largest children's playgrounds and one of the last remaining bison herds.

Area Basketball Tourney Here Next Week

Four Teams Seek Sixth Army Title; Ord Team Drops

Competition in the Sixth Army Basketball Tournament will get underway next week when the Presidio Toreros put their title on the line against top teams in the area. The double-elimination affair starts Wednesday and runs through Saturday at the Letterman Gym.

Four teams will be vying for the title with defending champions Presidio Toreros heading up the list. Other teams represented in tournament play will be Ft. Lewis, Camp Irwin, and Dugway Proving Ground. Ft. Huachuca and Ft. Ord have declined to enter tourney play.

Opening festivities for the event will be a banquet held for the visiting teams on Tuesday at the Montclair Restaurant, 1900 hours. Tournament play will begin on Wednesday, 21 Jan. with schedule as follows:

| Game Schedule  |                     |
|----------------|---------------------|
| 1400—Wednesday | 1930—Friday         |
| 1600—Wednesday | 4th Day (if needed) |
| 1745—Thursday  | 1400—Saturday       |
| 1930—Thursday  | 1600—Saturday       |

Outstanding players in the tournament will be selected to compete for berths on the All-Army team, which will compete in the Pan-American Games later this year.

Observing the action and helping make the selection will be Mike O'Neil, three time All-American with the Oakland Engineers and captain of the U.S. Pan-American Olympic team that competed in '51. Mike has also played pro-ball with the Minneapolis Lakers and the Baltimore Bullets.

Assisting in the selection will be John Burton, former San Francisco State player, who was voted All-Conference member three consecutive years. He also played on and was selected for many All-Star Teams in the European theater when he was in the service. Henry Gustafson, Sixth Army Sports Director, and Hal Fischer will also be aiding in the selection.

Boys will be men—

That old saw—never send a boy to do a man's job—got its tail twisted recently when the Tamalpais High School basketball team waxed stalwarts of the 6th ARADCOM Hq. Detachment to the tune of 54-36.

Half-time score was just 15-10 as both teams had difficulty finding the range. Both sides started hitting the bucket in the second half and midway through the final period the score stood at 32-22.

The missile men salvaged some glory as the two high scorers for the night were Fred Cagle with 17 and Jerry Helum hitting 16 for the Army team.

Ross Bowls 663 Series; Seeks Individual High

In one fell swoop, Major James Ross took over the Bay Bowling League lead in two departments and jumped into third in another. Bowling a board-burning 663, Maj. Ross now has command of the High Individual Series, 663, High Individual Average, 182, and is in third place in the race for HIGH ROLLER Maj. James Ross, sporting a newly acquired 182 average, shows the winning form it takes to bowl a 663 series which he accomplished in recent keg action.

High Individual Game with a 247. Not bad for a night's work.

Claiming Cedar Rapids, Iowa, as his home, Maj. Ross has been bowling since his high school days. A graduate of Baker University, Baldwin, Kansas, Maj. Ross and his lovely wife, Neta, have been married 18 years and now have three children.

Back in 1950 the hardware started rolling in and his skill with the bowling ball has collected more each year. Maj. Ross was last year's winner of the High Average and High Series trophy for the Summer Bowling League.

Perhaps his most unusual trophy is one that he received from Turkey after his return to Stateside. Arriving uninscribed, it spent a year on the mantel until a knowing friend explained that it was for High Series in a tournament, played by the Major just before he left there.

LAH Downs Signal; Increase NoCal Lead

The LAH cagers took a commanding lead in the Northern California Military Sports Association when they dumped their nearest rivals, Sacramento Signal Depot, 49-37, in league action last week.

Leading at the half 29-21, the Letterman quintet really put on the pressure in the second half for the win. Doolittle of the Signalmen was held to 9 points for the night, far from his average of 20 plus. Scoring for Letterman was Meyers, 15, and McNamara, 10.

In earlier non-league action the Letterman cagers dropped their second game of the season to Mare Island by 75-63. Their only other loss was a 46-41 affair with the San Francisco Marines, which was avenged a week later finding Letterman on the long end of a 57-43 score.

The Mare Island quintet led at half-time, 37-34 and kept the pressure on throughout the second half to come up with the victory. Gathering scoring honors for the game was Letterman ace 2nd Lt. Bob Mc-

Toreros Beat VFW 61-53 —Play Top All-Stars Here

In recent non-league action at Letterman Sports Center, the Presidio Toreros ran into stiff competition from the California VFW and had to scramble to get a 61-53 victory.

Catching the Toreros napping, the VFW took a 25-24 half-time lead but couldn't hold it as the Presidians fought back to take the game. Scoring high for the Toreros was Pfc. Harry Lux who netted 15. Splitting second place with 12 were Pfc. Joe Savoldi and Pfc. John Perry.

Starring for the Vets was 6'8" Max Andersen, All PCC player from Univ. of Oregon at center; Bob Stout, 6'4" All Northern Selection from Oregon U. at forward; Keith Pastil 6'6" 3-year veteran from the Olympic Club of San Francisco.

Games coming up for the Toreros include a tough one tonight at 2000 hours in the LAH Gym against the Oakland All-Stars. Composed of top notch players from the coast team, the Japanese smelt like to live dangerously! It prefers life in trout waters despite the fact it is a favorite delicacy of the larger fish. Smelt, which rarely grow longer than 3½ inches, feed on plankton found in trout waters.

All-Stars include Earl Robinson, U. of Cal. two-time all PCC Selection; Larry Friend, 6'4" 1957 All-American from U. of Cal. and who last year played Pro-Basketball with the New York Knickerbockers; Bob Matheny, Look Magazine All-American in 1955.

Tomorrow at 1330 the Toreros again take the floor at LAH in a contest with the Livermore Raiders with another group of All-Stars. The Raiders boast a 12-2 record and have proved to be one of the toughest teams to beat in the area.

Pasol Grabs Foil Honors; Saber Tests Set Saturday

Over the weekend, the Letterman Army Hospital-Presidio fencers hosted the Northern California Class B Foil Championship at the Letterman Sports Center. The meet entries totaled 21, with all of the local fencing groups being represented.

Preliminary elimination rounds were held using the regular foil. In a championship fencing first, the final winners were determined by the use of electric foils.

In a meet that lasted 7 hours Letterman fencing ace M/Sgt. Severo Pasol came away with top honors. Finishing a close second was Pete Schwartz, University of California student and former Letterman fencer.

Col. Laurance Brownlee, stand-out performer for Presidio, finished in third place. M/Sgt. Bert Scheck, Lt. Gene Hardy, Karl Dorman and Ed Purdy just missed making the finals.

The three top fencers in this meet are now qualified for the Pacific Coast Championship to be held at the Letterman Sports Center in May.

Tomorrow night at 2000 the Sports Center will again echo with the clash of steel on steel as the Northern California Class B Saber Championship gets under way. Top qualifiers in this event will also be qualified for the Pacific Coast Championships.

LAH Alleys Boast Automatic Pinsetters At Grand Opening

Today marks the opening of the Letterman Bowling Alley with the new look and automatic pinsetters. Manager Sfc. George Alberts has spent the last month organizing and arranging the alley for its grand opening.

New features include a lounge that is being readied in the rear of the approaches to lessen the distraction to the bowlers; hot air hand machines are being installed to eliminate the use of towels, chalk and resin; projected score sheets will be used so that everyone can see without crowding around the scorekeeper. "The use of two sets of pins in the automatic pinsetters will speed up league action by 15 or 20 minutes per game," according to Sfc. Alberts.

Japan, during the 16th and 17th centuries, used the biggest bows in history. They were from 7'6" to beyond 8'.

GONZAGA star Harry Watson will add strength, height and experience to the Ft. Lewis Chiefs' bid to regain the Sixth Army Basketball Championship.

EXPECTED to deal nothing but trouble in the upcoming Sixth Army Basketball Tournament is the Ft. Lewis Chiefs' outstanding scorer, Joe Alligood.

Ft. Lewis Chiefs Team To Watch In Area Play

If anyone upsets the favored Presidio Toreros in the Sixth Army Basketball Tournament here next week, it will be the Ft. Lewis Chiefs, now enjoying the favorite's role in the Northern Division Tournament playoffs.

Long hot rivals in the world of casaba, the Toreros and Chiefs have alternated as area champions over the years. A narrow two-point margin separated the arch rivals for tourney honors last year.

The Chiefs, coached by Pfc. Don Meyers, a former All-Conference guard at Central Washington College, although not loaded with big-name power as they have been in past years, boast a well-balanced quintet and at least a baker's dozen of top players.

High scorer on the Chiefs is Little Joe Alligood, a veteran of play at Sewanee. Joe is currently sporting a 12.2 per game average. Alligood is the smallest man in the lineup at 5'8".

Center Harry Carl Watson, a 6'4" veteran from Gonzaga, gives the team height and weight. Watson's best college performance was 30 points against Seattle U. in the 1956 season.

Ron Taylor, a 6'1" guard from Willamette, and a Far Western Basketball Tournament all-tourney selection in 1958, is another stellar member of the Chiefs. Taylor poured 28 points through the hoops against Chico State in a 1958 game.

Bruce Palmer, a forward, is the team's second high scorer this season. A veteran of net play at Kansas State Teachers College, he was an All-Conference selection for three years, an All-Tournament NAIA selection in 1956 and was named to the Helms Little All-American team in 1956.

Other team members include Jim Hanson, 6'2" forward from Central Washington College; Ralph Thomas, 6'1" forward from Marquette; Ron Ryding, 6'4" from Pratt Institute and Jim Desmond, 6' guard from East Orange, N.J. and at 21 the youngest member of the team.

The Chiefs have won six of their last eight games, bowing only twice to the semi-pro Tacoma Brewers.

NorCal Highnetters Vie Saturday At Hamilton AFB

The top five volleyball teams in Northern California will compete in round-robin competition tomorrow at the Hamilton Air Force Base Gym. The tournament will make up for the undisclosed cancellation of last week's Open Tournament, also scheduled at Hamilton. Play will commence at 1000.

Among the entries are the Presidio team, composed of members of the 6th Region U.S. Army Air Defense Command, national title-holders for the 1958 season.

Other teams scheduled to put in appearance include the Olympic Club and Embarcadero YMCA of San Francisco, Hamilton and Travis Air Force Bases.

"Our starting team will be much the same," Coach M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio said, "with Sp4 Dave Rhem, Pfc. Al Kincaid and Sp4 Dick Chute at three of the spikers positions. In addition, we'll work some of the newer players into the team."

Shuffle-board was denounced as a "gambler's pastime" and banned in New England from 1845 to 1890.

WAFs Knock WACs From League Lead In Travis Contest

The Presidio Toreros suffered their second loss of the season and were bounced out of the lead in the Women's Inter-Service Basketball League by the WAFs of Travis AFB, 54-41.

The Toreros found themselves without the services of first-stringers Harris and Schlemen, but trailing only 5 points at the end of each of the first three quarters, the Toreros couldn't seem to get a rally going and were out-scored 15 to 8 in the final quarter.

Scoring honors for the game went to Kelly of the Toreros with 25, while tops for the sextet from Travis was Shapp, who netted 21.

Tomorrow at the LAH Gym, 1000 hours, the Toreros will try to get back on the winning trail by hosting league leading Mather AFB. Also on the agenda is an up-and-coming Sixth Army Women's Invitational Basketball Tournament tentatively scheduled for 26-31 Jan. at the LAH.

Hot Rod Mecca

The time draws near for Hot-rodgers to make their annual journey to Mecca; Mecca in this case being the National Roadster show held at the Exposition Building in Oakland.

Show dates are 14-22 Feb. for this, the tenth annual National Roadster Show. Offering, "the newest and latest automotive innovations—some startling, some foolish, but many so good that they will appear on production cars within five or six years."

Intramural Casaba Play Back In Full Swing Here

Intramural basketball has started to separate the men from the boys as teams in all three leagues took to the hard courts this week.

The Honor Guard five is shaping up as a tough team to beat as they showed no mercy in their 70-23 victory over the XVth Corps. It was McDonald breaking the game open for a 30-point splurge that almost matched his total of a week ago. Following up in the scoring department for the Honor Guard was Perry with 14. Scoring for the XVth Corps was split among Hosake, Lee and Capers, each with 6 points.

Headquarters, U.S. Training Group, doubled the score in their 45-22 rout of C Btry., 2nd Misl. Btl. Leading 26-3 at halftime, the Hilltoppers coasted to an easy victory. The scoring was led by Douglas of the Hilltoppers with 17 points. High for the Missilemen was Hinkley with 12.

The 159th Reserve Training Group hung a 49-27 defeat on the 30th Engineers in a 22-point shooting display by the 159th's Short. Trailing 22-9 at the half, the Engineers just couldn't contain the attack in spite of the 14-point shooting of Murphy.

Rolling along in fine style the 21st Engineers smashed the 537th Engineers 73-24 for the largest spread of points this season. The 21st jumped to a commanding 28-6 lead and controlled the game from there on. Malone and Shegina made it their personal business to control both backboards, while Davis and Guthrie stood out on defense. Philcox of the 21st led the scoring with 18 as Davis and Shegina split honors with 12 apiece. High man for the 537th was Wickham.

Leading at halftime 20-15, the A Btry., 2nd Misl. Btl. quintet attack went sour in the second half and the Missilemen dropped a thriller to Hq. 30th Arty. Group, 40-39. Beltz with 12 to lead the missileers, fouled out in the last remaining minutes of the game and it spelled the difference between victory and defeat. Top man for the 30th was Fluata, who got 10 of his 14 in the last half to put the artillery team over the top.

Down 24-15 at the half, A Btry., 4th Misl. Btl., 61st Arty., came off the deck to bag a 46-45 win over the boys from B Btry., 4th Misl. Btl., 61st Arty. It was a pitched battle all the way as Landes and Dalmore hit 23 and 15 respectively for the winners. Alexander, 16; Frohlich, 11, and Dwyer, 10, paced the ill-fated attack for the losers.

Down four at the midpoint of the game, the Hilltoppers from Hq. U.S. Training Group just couldn't get a combination to click and were shackled with a 47-39 defeat by 16th Base Post Office. Zechel of the B.P.O. led the scoring by netting 19. Douglas hit 15 for the Hilltoppers.

In 1787, Tennessee passed an act setting the salaries of the governor at 100 deer skins per year; the chief justice at 500 deer skins and the governor's secretary at 500 raccoon skins.

G1 Keglers Axe JAGS, Up Lead; Alley Rats Down Top Shatters

The Bay Bowling League's leading G1 keglers knocked the pins out from under their nearest competitors, JAGS, in a 4-0 shutout. This opens the gap to 8½ games for the leaders. It was Ross sparking the win with a 247, 212, 204-663 series that put him on top for the high individual series for this season. This also fattened up Ross' individual average from 178 to 182. Top man in the JAGS' losing effort was McAfee, who managed a 511-191 score.

Compt-Rollers bounced Hq. Co. 6A 3-1. Doing the honors for the Compt-Rollers was Routen, 527-216, while Lux led the losers, 203-179.

Third place MRU salvaged a split with Garrison 2-2. Andersen of MRU tabbed a 567-205, 200 as Garrison's Thrailkill rolled 498-211.

In a scramble at the bottom of the league, the Triple Aces put the clamps on 6A Signal, 3-1. Pacemaker for the Triple Aces was Blumenfeld with 518-194; heading 6A Signal was Salisbury with 501-186.

Action in the Presidio League continues to get hotter each week as the second place Keystone Kops narrowed the gap on the leading Shatters to only two games. The margin is due in most part to the Alley Rats putting the Shatters on the short end of a 3-1 score. Havrilla of the Alley Rats connected for a 548-193 but honors went to Wood of the Shatters with 548-204.

In a strong bid for first place the Keystone Kops blanked SF-

AADS 4-0 on the strength of Rusek's 531-185. The best that SFAADS could muster was a 461-167 by Wilcox.

Third place Recruiters pinned a 3-1 loss on the Islanders with Eyerman getting a hot 550-224. Kudos for the week in the Presidio League, however, belong to Lundahl of the Islanders with a 560-213.

Cellar-dwelling 60th CI quintet was worked over by the King Pins, 3-1. Bowldes was pacemaker for the King Pins as he hit 505-210; heading the 60th CI was Smith, 510-182.

In WAC Bowling League Competition, the Brewmasters still hold a two game lead over the second place Alley Kats by virtue of a 2-2 split. For the Brewmasters it was Reinke hitting a strong 471-187 but the real cake-taker was Baker of the Alley Kats with 481-180.

The Orbits blanked the Powder Puffs 4-0 with Miller leading the way 421-151 as Armstrong of the Powder Puffs hit 385-143.

When the smoke cleared away following the 12th week of play in the Pacific League, the league sported a new leader. The Warrants took four games the easy way, as the Missileers forfeited, and found themselves with a game lead on the rest of the league. Rolling for average, the Warrants' Delaney had a 528-203.

Hq. Co. 6A No. 2 had the rug pulled out from under them when third place AAA Sparks split with the former leaders 2-2. Lux of Hq. No. 2 rolled a 468-167 while Beery carded a 501-176 for AAA Sparks.

Hq. Co. 6A No. 3 took the measure of the Hilltoppers, 3 games to 1. Browning of Hq. No. 3 led with 581-222, while the Hilltoppers' Johnson was getting a 509-174.

The fired-up Retorts dumped the fourth place Regioners 3-1 with Milton of the Retorts throwing a 486-170. High man for the Regioners was Barton, 476-184.

Over in the Wed. Night Mixed League the Nikes continued their virtual league domination by sweeping past second place Pick-ups 4-0. High for the Nikes was Ross with 575-197. Johnson of the Pickups rolled high game of the night, 221 in a 542 series to take top honors for the Pickups.

The Spoilers had a chance to take over second place but muffed it when they split with the Tyros 2-2. For the Tyros it was Alban leading 503-183, as Browning of the Spoilers kegged high series of the night 587-209.

Cellar-dwelling Cutups kept the Guys & Dolls from getting into the thick of battle for second place as they evened the score 2-2. For the Cutups it was a lovely lady doing the honors as Helga Lee hit 483-180. The best Guys & Dolls could manage was a 473-160 by Lutz.

Retorts handed the Alley Byes (tied for third) the short end of a 3-1 score and boosted themselves up the ladder to possible contention as the battle for second place is getting tight. Doing it up in fine fashion for the Retorts was one of those female type bowlers, Jean Dempsey, with 475-173. Opozda of the Alley Byes bettered this with a 519-202.

MERIT AWARD winner for services in connection with the recently concluded United Bay Area Crusade is Major John J. Earley (left), Press Officer, Sixth Army

7 Win College Degrees In Army Ed Program

Six officers and one enlisted man will "reap the fruits of their labor" this month when they receive degrees from San Francisco State College.

Col. Byers Coleman, who completed his first two years on post, will receive his AB degree in Hawaii, after finishing final requirements by correspondence.

Assigned to Sixth USA Aviation, Capt. James F. Hill began the San Francisco State courses in Junior Standing, and having completed another one and a half years, will continue towards his Masters.

Enrolled on post in September, 1957, Capt. Edward King, XVth Corps, ROTC, City High Schools, was then a Sophomore, needing 39 more units to complete work.

Future plans for Capt. Myron F. Wheeler, Sixth USA Quartermaster, who began S.F. State work in August of 1957, include working for a Masters degree in the field of education, specializing in school administration.

Both Capt. Duane Compton and Major George Lahey, formerly stationed at the Presidio, completed courses after being transferred to other posts. Capt. Compton, following his reassignment to Europe, took classes from the University of Maryland and then had his records transferred here. Major Lahey finished his work at Florida State University after being sent to Puerto Rico.

The only enlisted man receiving his degree, Sfc. Robert E. Flynn, assigned to Ft. Mason in the capacity of Liaison NCO, 8th Army, Korea, began classes in January 1957 with only 23 hours to his credit and has completed final requirements with a 3.7 average.

HONORED RECENTLY for over 30 years of military and civilian services was Vicente Clar, civilian employee at the National Cemetery here. He retired from the Army in 1949 after 30 years of service and has worked here since 1956. Brig. Gen. E. S. Ehlen, CG, Sharpe General Depot, which has jurisdiction over all National Cemeteries west of the Mississippi, presented the ex-Staff Sergeant with a 30-year pin and an engraved desk set.

Reserve Bill

As a transitional device for those currently on duty who would be eligible for a contract under the proposal but might be separated involuntarily, the bill carries a clause to increase the present half-month's-year readjustment payment to two months' basic pay a year beyond 10 years' service.

Thus a reserve officer who has served 12 years under contract, if released or requests release at the end of contract, would get the equivalent amount of severance pay as do regular officers with 14 years' service if involuntarily separated. The regular, however, who leaves the service of his own volition at this point gets no monetary assistance.

Estimated to cost the Armed Forces some $27 million in severance and readjustment payments over the next five years, Defense officials pointed out, the measure would reduce expenditures for procurement and training as well as bring savings through improved efficiency and lower turnover of junior officers by offering more attractive terms for retention.

Should Congress approve the bill, as submitted by the Defense Department, provisions of the law would become effective 1 July, 1959.

The legislation, which has considerable Armed Services Committee support, is being shepherded through hearings on the hill by the Defense Department.

Retreat Parade Today

A NCO Retreat Parade is scheduled to take place today on the main parade ground at 1600.

Commander of Troops for the parade will be M/Sgt. George Van Kirk, first sergeant of the Honor Guard. The scheduled Battalion Commanders are: First M/Sgt. Cecil Bartholomew, US Army Garrison; Second, M/Sgt. Robert J. Carr, Chief Clerk, Sixth Army Special Troops; Third, M/Sgt. James Heard, Sergeant Major, 30th Engineers.

As usual no parking will be permitted on the main parade ground from 0600 until the ceremony is completed.

Press Officer Wins Merit Award For Crusade Zeal

Major John J. Earley, Sixth U.S. Army Press Officer, has received the Merit Award of the United Bay Area Campaign in recognition of his outstanding contribution to the highly successful Armed Forces phase of the UBAC campaign.

Presentation of the certificate denoting the award was made by Colonel Richard J. Stillman, Deputy G-1, Sixth U.S. Army, who was chairman of the UBAC Military Planning Committee, of which Major Earley was a member.

Major Earley was cited for his effective efforts in promoting and publicizing the military phase of the campaign, which, under the direction of Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth U.S. Army commander, netted $289,466. The Army, with a contribution of $83,220, or 120.6 per cent of its goal, led all military services in individual contributions, percentage of participation, per capita donations and percentage of achievement of its goal.

Colonel Stillman and Lt. Col. Frank H. Mumme, Jr., Chief of the Personnel Services Branch of G-1, had earlier been presented with similar UBAC awards by General Palmer.

New Reg Stresses Privacy In Housing Army Chaplains

Better housing for Army chaplains is in the offing as the result of a new (AR 210-14) regulation.

The new reg requires that "special consideration" be given in the housing of chaplains who are bachelors, or serving in bachelor status because of the "nature of their specialized duties."

It further cites that "in fulfillment of the clergyman's mission, privacy is considered an essential tool and the requirement for private living accommodations is considered a necessity."

In the future, says the reg, bona fide bachelor chaplains, regardless of grade, should be afforded living accommodations based on the following criteria:

1. On-post single separate dwelling containing at least one living room, one bedroom, one bath and one kitchenette.
2. On-post housing with a minimum of two rooms, private bath and private kitchen facilities.
3. Family-type quarters for community living by two or more bona fide bachelor chaplains.
4. Quarters acceptable to the bachelor chaplain on a voluntary basis.

Hitherto, company grade bachelor chaplains could demand only one room with ½ bath.

Jupiter Contract Let

Washington (ANS)—The Department of the Army this week announced the award of a $18,000,000 contract to Chrysler Corporation, Detroit, Michigan, for the Jupiter missile program.

2 1/2 Million Servicemen

Washington (ANS)—The Department of Defense has just announced that total numerical strength of the Armed Forces on November 30, 1958, based on preliminary reports, was 2,589,200.

Army procurement during November totalled 27,219 with 11,336 inductions through Selective Service, 9,110 new recruits, 6,265 reenlistments and 507 reservists entering upon active duty. Army strength was estimated at 900,596. On October 31, 1958, it was 901,793.

AND ATLAS MAKES FOUR—Dotted lines indicate the approximate orbits of man-made satellites circling the earth. The AF's Atlas, launched Dec. 18, joins the Army's Explorer I and IV, the Navy's Vanguard I and Russia's Sputnik III.

Atlas Will Stay Up

Washington (AFPS)—The Atlas ICBM satellite, launched 18 December, 1958, is now expected to remain in orbit until 1 February.

Original estimates predicted a 20-day life for the satellite but, because the accuracy of its internal guidance system exceeded expectations, the Atlas will actually remain aloft for 45 days.

The "talking rocket" ceased to speak this week.

Test Centralized Personnel Section At Lewis In March

The Army's first test in the field of a centralized personnel section to serve all the units of a division will be conducted at Fort Lewis starting in March.

The four-month test will consolidate operations of the individual personnel sections now serving each unit in a single location.

A test group from the Adjutant General's Board at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., will direct the experiment.

It is expected that creation of a centralized personnel office should reduce the number of "chiefs" needed although the roster of "Indians" would remain about the same.

In addition to personnel savings, it is expected that the centralized operation will relieve commanders of administrative problems allowing them to devote more time to training and tactical matters.

Sixth U.S. Army Activated Sixteen Years Ago

The Sixth United States Army, continental guardian of America's vast, prolific western states frontier, will celebrate its 16th anniversary tomorrow. It was activated at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, on 25 January in 1943.

At the Presidio, the Sixth U.S. Army will celebrate this 16th anniversary with a review.

Major General John J. Binns, Sixth Army Chief of Staff, will review the three battalions of troops who will participate in the ceremony. The troops will be commanded by Colonel Frank G. Ratliff, Presidio CO. The parade will begin at 1600 hours and the public is invited. Assistant Chiefs of Staff G1, G2, G3 and G4, and the Comptroller will serve on the staff of the reviewing officer. Other Sixth Army staff officers will also be present in the reviewing group. Major Generals Edward J. McGaw, Commanding General, Sixth Region Army Air Defense Command, and John W. Harmony, Commanding General, XV Corps (Reserve), and Colonel Achilles L. Tynes, Commanding Officer of Letterman Army Hospital, have been invited to attend the ceremony. This peacetime defense force now occupied with numerous non-combat activities ranging from reserve training to military research has come far since those hot months of 1943 when, on the request of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, then Commander-in-Chief, Southwest Pacific, it was activated to spearhead his return to the Philippines. Just 90 days

FOR OUTSTANDING SUPPORT OF COMMUNITY HEALTH AND WELFARE SERVICES THROUGH THE UNITED BAY AREA CRUSADE

Grant W. Allison
President, United Bay Area Crusade
W. H. Harrison
General Campaign Chairman

BAY AREA'S BEST news and feature coverage of the annual United Bay Area Crusade has won for the "Star Presidian" the above 1958 Merit Award.

SP Wins Merit Award For Area Crusade Work

The highly coveted 1958 Merit Award has been won by the Star Presidian for "the most sustained and skillful effort which any newspaper gave to the United Bay Area Crusade."

In forwarding the award to Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth U.S. Army Commander, Mr. Robert E. Mangan, Chairman of the Public Relations Committee, cited the SP's "ingenuity and good judgement in developing its own coverage of the Crusade as well as using the material offered by the Crusade staff."

General Palmer further congratulated the Presidio's Commanding Officer, Col. Frank G. Ratliff, under whose supervision the paper is published, and stated that "this achievement is in keeping with the fine reputation for quality and service which the 'Star Presidian' consistently has maintained."

During the recently completed campaign, the Army, with contributions totaling 120.6 percent of its goal, led all military services in individual contributions, percentage of participation, per capita donations and percentage of achievement of its goal.

Hercules Training Group Leaves For AA Defense School

Members of Battery C, 2nd Missile Battalion (N-H), 51st Artillery that comprise the second group to receive Nike Hercules training, departed for Fort Bliss, Texas, Saturday, 17 Jan.

The new package will join other members of the battery who have been receiving specialized training at the U.S. Army Air Defense School, Ft. Bliss and enter into unit training at the 1st Guided Missile Brigade at the GM Center. Later the battery will conduct Annual Service practice at McGregor Range, New Mexico.

Members of the package that left Saturday are: M/Sgt. Wilson Collie, Sfc. Donald Janke, Sgt. James Foresee, Sgt. John Zgola, Sgt. Alfred Lewis, Sgt. Howard Trull, Sp4 Troy Tolleson, Sp4 Allen Wise, Sp4 Homer Lynch, Pfc. Carrol Stuart, Bobby Skai, Benny Franks, Douglas Hanna, Edgar Huggins, Abel Servantes, Lauren Dryer, and Gerald Stenerson.

Pfcs. Larry Dixon, Carl Lewis, John Shaw, C. Mallette and Pvts. Leon Miller, Andrew Gonzaga, Lawson Cowart, Alto McCain and Michael Sanford.

DA Circular Lists Details On Military Travel Deductions

Washington (ANS)—Since it appears that the greater number of military personnel and DA civilian employees will not be required to itemize their travel expenses, the widely published comment "military personnel, under the new regulations, need not account for per diem," has some foundation.

"However," DA Circular 608-15, 23 December 1958, which is now being distributed throughout the Army, explains, "it has been, and still is, incumbent upon all taxpayers to report excess allowances and conversely, everyone has the right to claim a deduction from gross income for his excess expenses."

Generally, no itemization of expenses is required, the Circular points out, unless the taxpayer desires to claim a deduction for expenses greater than the payment received.

All personnel who received per diem or travel payments for 1958 are advised to read the Circular and to see the local Legal Assistance Officer in the event of additional questions.

University of California, with its main campus at Berkeley, across the bay from San Francisco, is the largest university in the world.

Wearing o' the Green . . .

Washington (ANS)—The Army Green uniform is now authorized for wear by officers and warrant officers during attendance at sporting events and movies according to a recent announcement by Department of the Army.

Major commanders have just been notified by TWX that AR 670-5 has been changed to indicate that while this is the prescribed general duty uniform, "The wearing of this uniform during other than normal duty hours is also acceptable for social functions after retreat. For the purpose of this regulation the phrase, 'social functions' does not include such activities as sporting events, movies, etc."

Three Will Retire During Review Here Today

Retirement ceremonies honoring more than 70 years of service will be held for three soldiers here this afternoon as part of a parade honoring the 16th anniversary of Sixth U.S. Army.

The men are Lt. Colonel Edward G. Paar, Executive Officer, Headquarters, Presidio of San Francisco, Chief Warrant Officer Laurence T. Maxted, Assistant Administrative Officer, Presidio Officers Open Mess, and Master Sergeant James R. Harty, Headquarters, Sixth U.S. Army.

Colonel Paar, who retires with 20 years' active service, will make his home in Menlo Park upon his retirement. Warrant Officer Maxted with 30 years' service, and Sergeant Harty, with 20 years, have not announced plans for their retirement.

Others to retire at the end of January are Lt. Colonel Daniel H. Swet, Presidio Logistics Executive Officer, Lt. Col. Lewis V. Smith, Sixth Army Inspector General Section, Major Eugene B. Bair, Sixth Army Logistics Section, and Master Sergeant Nerley L. Hutson, Company C, U.S. Army Garrison. All the men have more than 20 years' service.

SGS To Far East; Former Manpower Chief Will Replace

Lt. Col. Winston G. Whall, Sixth U.S. Army Secretary to the General Staff, has been assigned to United Nations Headquarters in Seoul, Korea, Sixth Army headquarters announced today.

Colonel Whall will join the U.S. Army element at UN Headquarters. It is his first assignment to Korea.

He will be replaced as Sixth Army SGS by Lt. Col. George E. Myers, former Chief of the Authorization Branch, Manpower Division, Assistant Chief of Staff, Personnel.

Colonel Whall came to the Presidio of San Francisco in June, 1957, when he returned from duty in Japan. He served as Chief of Planning, Assistant Chief of Staff, Operations, until May, 1958, when he was appointed SGS. His family will return to his home in Seattle, Washington, upon his departure.

Captain R. M. Miller will stay on as assistant SGS.

Win CO's Award

Battery C, 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Art., soon to undergo transition training from Nike Ajax to Nike Hercules, was recently presented the Commander's Award for acquiring a 66% reenlistment rate during the second fiscal quarter.

Makes Local Address

Brigadier General Kenneth A. McCrimmon, Commanding General of the First Logistical Command at Fort Bragg, North Carolina, addressed Reservists of the 305th Logistical Command (USAR) at the Presidio of San Francisco, 20 Jan., on the two major changes in Logistical organization.

High School Courses

On-post high school courses, given by San Francisco City Schools, will begin here on 2 February.

Anyone interested should contact the Army Education Center.

SAFETY CAMPAIGN award winners, George J. Hill (L), Post Safety Director, and Henry E. Bennett, Supervisory Safety Inspector, received a State Safety Citation and congratulations from Lt. Col. Grant W. Allison, Post S1.

Post Cited For Support Of Safety Campaign

The Presidio was cited Monday by California Safety Coordinators for its efforts in aiding the "Slow Down and Live" campaign.

Lt. Colonel Grant W. Allison, post S1, presented the citation in his office to George J. Hill, post safety director, and Henry E. Bennett, supervisory safety inspector, on behalf of the Association of State and Provincial Safety Coordinators.

This safety committee evolved from a group set up by President Truman in 1955 which sponsored a "Safe Driving Day."

The Association's aim of preventing traffic accidents has been keynoted by the President and is being led by major safety organizations in the nation.

Bennett, who has represented the Presidio in State Traffic coordinator meetings, said, "I am glad to see that our efforts have been recognized. We shall continue to strive to maintain the excellent record that we have made over the past several years."

Presidio's vehicle—military—accident ratio has been lower than the national and Sixth Army average for the past 18 months, Bennett said.

282nd Msl. Troops Answer Blood Call At Army Hospital

In response to a request for blood donors by Letterman Army Hospital recently 28 men of the 2nd Missile Battalion (N-H), 51st Artillery responded.

All batteries in the battalion were represented and included; 1st Lt. Andrew R. Foster, Jr., Sfc. Jose Reyes-Sanchez, Sfc. Frank J. Orr, Sgt. William B. Ross, Sgt. Howard M. Trull, Sgt. Alfred L. Lewis, Jr., Cpl. Sam Nanfrite, Sp5 Lawrence Hildebrand, Sp5 Glenn Percel, Sp4 James Heldenbrand, Sp4 Frances D. Sibbitts, Sp4 Daniel Most.

Sp4 Robert A. Eastman, Sp4 James P. Anderson, Sp4 Jack R. Simpson, Pfc. Jack M. Venegas, Pfc. John H. Shaw, Pfc. Lauren D. Dryer, Pfc. Leonard S. Coffman, Pfc. Edgar J. Huggins, Pfc. Charles M. Wenzel, Pvt. Porfirio Gutierrez, Jr., Pvt. Manuel E. Palomarez, Pvt. Joel B. McCray, Pvt. Richard E. Sorenson, Pvt. Salf Scapellati, Pvt. Andrew J. Gonzaga and Pvt. Michael W. Sanford, Jr.

Parade Will Honor New 40th Brigade At Ft. Scott Today

A special retreat parade honoring the reactivation of the 40th Artillery Brigade will be held today at 1600 hours on the Fort Baker parade ground.

The 40th Brigade, with headquarters at Ft. Barry, commands the 29th and 30th Artillery Groups of the San Francisco-Travis AFB Army Air Defense.

Brig. Gen. R. H. Van Volkenburgh (USA Ret.) who commanded the 40th Brigade during World War II, will be guest speaker at the ceremonies. Maj. Gen. Edward J. McGaw, commanding general of the 6th Region USARADCOM, Fort Baker, will present the brigade colors to the brigade commander.

Air defense soldiers from all four battalions of the San Francisco-Travis AFB Army Air Defense will march in the parade.

The public is invited to attend the ceremonies.

18 Complete Studies

Eighteen military and civilian personnel have completed the evening high school study program given on Post by Benjamin Franklin Adult High School, and will be among 200 people who participate in graduation ceremonies at John Swett School Wednesday at 1330.

Included on the program will be music by the Sixth Army Band and an address by Joseph W. Burke, Presidio Education Officer.

Win Reup Plaque Again

The 6th Region US Army Air Defense Command Reenlistment Plaque has been won for the third consecutive time by the 47th Brigade (Air Defense) Los Angeles, it was announced by regional headquarters today.

Care To Improve?

A Plain Letterwriting Workshop, based on Sixth U.S. Army Manual M6-67, will be given during the 3rd and 4th quarters for all civilian and military personnel who compose or review letters or memoranda in their normal work.

Chiefs of Sections and Activities are requested to send the names of nominees to Civilian Personnel Division, Building 227, ATTN: Employee Development Officer, before 29 January.

COLD WEATHER instructor, Sp4 Ray L. Denny, Alaskan Command, dreams of happier days ahead. This week his dream became a reality as he checked in at the Presidio to begin an expense-free perfect furlough.

kaleidoscope

By MARTIN REIN
PIO Reporter

In the 58° below zero weather of the nation's newest state—Alaska—a young man's fancy often turns to thoughts . . .

"Of sunny California and a beautiful blonde wife!"

At least Sp4 Ray L. Denny, 24, an instructor at the Cold Weather and Mountain School in Ft. Greeley, says that's where his thoughts were turning when he got a hurry-up call to report to the office of his commanding officer recently.

Denny doesn't recall all of the details of the dreamlike sequence that followed, at best he remembers something about "a perfect furlough with all expenses paid by some big movie studio."

However, Denny says "He who hesitates might miss out and in this case I gave the fastest yes ever recorded."

That conversation started a series of events that will bring the "perfect furlough," to Denny and his wife Helen, 21, natives of Sacramento.

Denny was selected to represent the Alaskan command to help publicize it and the Army's role there, and a Universal film, "The Perfect Furlough."

Plot of the movie deals with the adventures of a soldier stationed in Alaska who is given an all expense paid furlough to Paris.

Since the Army and Universal Studios are more interested in selling their respective wares, the Alaskan command and a movie, to Americans, Denny did not go to Paris, but to California.

Last Friday, he arrived here at the Presidio from an overnight flight from Elmendorf AFB, Alaska, tired, confusingly-happy, and very anxious to see his wife.

How does he feel about not going to Paris? "Just to see my wife, that's enough. Just to see her," he repeated, "it's better than a three week trip to Paris."

Denny is a wiry built 5'9" and weighs 158 pounds. He doesn't appear like the "rugged-type of outdoorsman" one imagines a skier and mountain climber to be; however, his face, parchment-brown from wind exposure, testifies otherwise.

And active he is. "I go skiing all the time, play basketball, bowl and go to the movies," he said of his life at Ft. Greeley. In summer he turns from skiing to mountain climbing. His theory on how to overcome inertia and boredom: "If you have enough energy you have plenty to do."

For those less active in Ft. Greeley, there is the town Big Delta, population 100, with its half-a-dozen bars and general store, six miles away. Or for the ambitious, Fairbanks is only 100 miles away.

Denny is going to have to call upon his reserve energy as a hectic schedule of radio, television and public appearances have been organized for his stay.

A press conference at the St. Francis Hotel, Monday started off the schedule and includes: Interviews over radio and TV; lunch with drama critics at the Garden Court in the Palace Hotel; dinner at Bardelli's Restaurant to complete the day's activities.

More radio and TV interviews on Tuesday; lunch at the Mark Hopkins Hotel and supper at the Venetian Room in the Fairmont Hotel and nightclubbing at Bimbo's and the Hungry i. Wednesday the Denny's, escorted by press agents, traveled to Sacramento, where another heavy schedule was arranged. After that it was either to Squaw Valley or other points in California. But best of all . . . "A little time alone, with my wife."

In My Opinion: "To be prepared for war is one of the most effectual ways of preserving peace."—General George Washington.

With Cuba in the news, so is ex-Army officer and renowned concert pianist, Havana-born Jorge Bolet . . . he'll record the keyboard pyrotechnics for "The Franz Liszt Story" in which Britain's top box office star, Dirk Bogarde, will play the Hungarian.

Brigitte come and Bardots go, but still there's nobody like Monroe . . . good to have MM back in "Some Like It Hot."

Tops in Pops . . . The old timers are doing okay on the "Billboard Magazine" Honor Roll of Hits, although first position for another week is copped by David Seville and "The Chipmunk Song." But in second spot is "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes" (Platters) and third place goes to "My Happiness" in the Connie Francis styling. The other seven: "To Know Him Is to Love Him" (Teddy Bears); "Tom Dooley" (Kingston Trio); "Lonesome Town" (Ricky Nelson); "One Night" (Elvis Presley); "Gotta Travel On" (Billy Grammer); "Whole Lotta Loving" (Fats Domino) and "Problems" (Everly Brothers).

FIRST MAN to reenlist at the Presidio under a new Army Career option is Pfc. Paul J. Zettler (r.) who is administered the oath by Capt. William E. Le Gro, CO of the Honor Guard. Post Reenlistment NCO, M/Sgt. John E. McConnell is the interested onlooker.

First Reup Under New Option Here This Week

Private First Class Paul J. Zettler, a native of San Francisco and a member of Co. A, U.S. Army Garrison (Honor Guard), became the first enlisted man on the Presidio to take advantage of an Army Career Group Option by enlisting in the Regular Army from a draftee status. Pfc. Zettler's chosen career group is Air Defense Electronics Maintenance.

Army career group enlistment options as outlined in AR 601-215 provide greater flexibility in enlisted utilization as well as increased Army career attractiveness by replacement of the former system of regular Army branch enlistment options with enlistment options for occupational career groups.

The new options have distinct advantages, both for the Army and for the applicant for enlistment or reenlistment. The Army will benefit by a more effective method of assignment that will integrate readily into the current system of classification and assignment. The individual will benefit by his being able to choose an Army career group consistent with his desires and aptitudes; furthermore, the applicant will have a greater number of job areas from which to choose, and he will be more likely to receive precisely the training he desires.

This forward step will provide the prospective reenlistee who can qualify with "on the job" or school training in the occupational career group of his greatest interest and with subsequent assignment to that type of work without regard to branch.

Specific advantages accruing from the career group options include:

The Career Counselor is enabled to offer a definite enlistment commitment in the applicant's area of greatest vocational interest. This avoids the danger inherent in the former system, wherein an individual may enlist for ordnance with the intention of becoming a wheeled vehicle mechanic, but ends up unhappily assigned as an ordnance ammunition helper because of lack of requirements for a wheeled vehicle mechanic. He remained assigned to ordnance to satisfy the enlistment commitment.

Maximum flexibility in assignment and distribution can be effected through the career group option. The system permits establishment in advance of the exact number of individuals by skill level required to support the Army structure and thus provide a sound basis for recruiting and reenlistment objectives. With reference to the example cited above, the individual would have been reenlisted for the career group automotive maintenance, rather than for ordnance and would have been assigned either to Vehicle Mechanic

School or to "on the job" training in this occupational area. The Army would thus benefit from the standpoint of a better satisfied soldier working in the area of greatest interest to him.

The new system not only insures the Army's ability to utilize the individual in his area of choice, but provides sufficient diversification of skill levels to insure intelligent utilization of an individual. This would apply equally to the enlistee who qualified for the highest level of Army schooling as well as his opposite number, whose utilization may be limited to that area of minimum skill adaptability. Again the individual is utilized in accordance with his desires and skills as well as in accordance with the Army's requirements.

This program of career group options is separate and apart from other established options such as reenlistment for own vacancy, enlistment for airborne, etc., and it does not change special options such as choice of overseas area.

Further information may be obtained by contacting the Career Counselor assigned to your organization.

Wins Promotion

The new 1st Lt., who has been with the 30th Engineer Battalion since Nov. 1958, received his commission in the Reserve Officers Training Program at Texas Christian University.

Service Club Concert

Under the baton of CWO Louis Ferraro, Bandmaster, the Sixth Army Band will present its monthly concert at the Presidio Service Club Sunday, 1430 hours.

Selections will include the Spencerian March, Burlesque, Metropolitan Scene, the Cinderella March, Resurgam, the Euryanthe Overture, Valzer Campestre, Gloria and the Purple Carnival March.

Acting Tryouts Set

Readings and tryouts will be held at the Presidio Little Theater Building at 1930 hours on 28 Jan. for "Uncle Harry." Military, dependents and civilian employees are welcome to tryout for this production.

Ft. Ord Is Army's Top Training Center In West

One of the nation's important infantry training centers is Fort Ord, located in the historically rich and scenic Monterey Peninsula area.

Covering more than 28,600 acres, ranging from rolling plains to rugged hills that make it ideal for the post's Infantry training mission, Ft. Ord was named after Major General Edward Cresap Ord, who achieved fame as an Indian fighter and Civil War Commander.

Fort Ord's beginning dates back to 1917 when the government bought 15,324 acres for about $160,000 from the David Jacks Corporation primarily for the use as a maneuver area and field artillery target range for the 11th Cavalry and the 76th Field Artillery which were then stationed at the Presidio of Monterey. During the summer months the 30th Infantry Regiment from San Francisco used the reservation for maneuvers as did ROTC, ORC, National Guard and CMTC units.

No improvements were made until 1938 when, with the aid of federal funds, primarily in the form of WPA projects, the post was built up and by 1940 the size was expanded to more than 20,000 acres. During World War II the post was host to many famous fighting divisions and units. At one time there were as many as 50,000 troops on the installation.

At the outbreak of the Korean conflict, the 6th Infantry Division, which participated in 306 days of continuous combat in the South Pacific during World War II, fighting its way from New Guinea and the Philippines, was reactivated there.

In 1951 Congress appropriated more than $26,000,000 in funds to provide the post with permanent buildings, replacing the temporary ones built during the war years. The revamping program is now under way.

Today, Ft. Ord, no longer a headquarters for any infantry division since the deactivation of the 5th Infantry Division last June, serves mainly as a replacement training center. It is equipped with all the necessary facilities that provide for the present basic training program with 19 small arms firing ranges, and 20 firing ranges that fire into a common impact area. At the same time, Ft. Ord is accessible to Hunter-Liggett Military Reservation near King City which is ideally suited for large scale maneuvers and for the majority of technical training and Army training tests for units stationed there.

CONARC CG

Congratulations and best wishes on the occasion of the sixteenth anniversary of the Sixth United States Army, 25 January, 1959.

You may well take inspiration from Sixth Army's World War II combat record. Sixth Army was constantly in the midst of the fighting in the Pacific, and was preparing for an important role in the invasion of the Japanese mainland when that empire surrendered. In the initial post-war occupation of Japan, it again performed with distinction.

Your efforts today on the drill fields and rifle ranges are no less important to our nation than our amphibious landings made by your World War II predecessors. I feel sure you will continue to write an outstanding record as you work to build a strong peacetime America.

Army Language School Fast Becoming World Renowned

Located on the panoramic slopes of the historical Presidio of Monterey, is the Army Language School, which could very well become the most beautiful campus in the country when a 20-year master plan for this growing institution is completed.

Students at ALS range from raw recruits fresh from eight weeks of basic training to seasoned soldiers of the Regular Army.

The size of the classes would make any teacher or student in an overcrowded school green with envy — maximum number of students in a class is eight, and they try to have even fewer!

There are four basic purposes for the concentrated instruction at ALS: for intelligence work; for so-called military missions, which means accompanying American military equipment when it is sent to friendly nations so that American personnel can explain operation of such equipment to the recipients in

The Post also operates several specialist schools, including training in food service and administration.

Fort Lawton Gained Fame As Pro Center

Fort Lawton, located on Magnolia Bluff, a 650-acre point of land jutting into Puget Sound six miles northwest of Seattle, processes dependents, Army civilian employees going to or returning from the Far East and Alaska and military personnel returning from overseas stations.

In addition, the mission of Fort Lawton includes operation of a U.S. Army Hospital and support of 42 activities and agencies of the Department of Defense.

Established in 1897 as a two-company Army post, its original purpose was to provide additional protection for the Puget Sound area.

The post was officially named Fort Lawton in 1900 in honor of Maj. Gen. Ware Lawton, who was killed in action during the Spanish-American War.

Until World War II the post was garrisoned by Engineer troops with some Infantry, Quartermaster and Coast Artillery units.

During World War II it became increasingly important as a troop processing center capable of readying a full division of troops at one time for overseas duty.

Last year, Xth U.S. Army Corps (Reserve) Headquarters was established at Ft. Lawton.

Fort Lawton's main duties still are as a processing center for military, dependent, and civilian personnel.

Yuma Test Key Area Component

Located in an area comparable to the Sahara Desert, in the sand dunes of California, is the Yuma Test Station established by the Army in 1943 for the purpose of testing military equipment under desert conditions.

Covering approximately one million acres of land, Yuma Test Station is easily the largest military reservation in the United States.

Among the first military equipment tested at the station were pontoon bridges built by Italian prisoners of war in 1943 across the Colorado River. In the latter part of 1949, Yuma Test Station was closed, but was reactivated shortly afterwards in the Spring of 1951.

Since then, the Army has made rapid strides in expanding and increasing the activities of the station. Numerous test teams from both military and civilian agencies are using the facilities. Today, YTS is still undergoing a tremendous increase in research and development facilities for complete testing of equipment and materials of the U.S. Army.

LIVE ARMOR PROBLEMS at night are an important part of the six-week advance course in tank firing and maneuvering at the Sixth Army's U.S. Armor and Desert Training Center, Camp Irwin, located in the vast Mojave Desert of Southern California.

Camp Irwin Last Haven For Top Tank Training

The U.S. Armor and Desert Training Center, the Army's most advanced tank-tactic and desert training school, is located at the Sixth Army's Camp Irwin, 37 miles south of famous Death Valley, the only area in the nation suitable for long-range gunnery.

Situated in the midst of the 12-million-year-old Mojave Desert, Camp Irwin is 2300 feet above sea level, has an annual rainfall of about 1.54 inches and its temperatures vary from 28° in winter to 139° in summer. Water for all its necessary activities of living and military operations is supplied from a number of reservoirs located several hundred feet below the ground.

Realizing the value of this desert region as a training ground the Army had used the site of Camp Irwin in the Bicycle Lake area for several years. With the advent of World War II the number of troops coming to the desert increased and the War Department in 1941 established the Mojave Anti-Aircraft Range, popularly shortened to "MAAR," and renamed Camp Irwin in 1942 in honor of Maj. Gen. George LeRoy Irwin, Battle Commander of the 57th Field Artillery Brigade in World War I.

Its mission completed in 1944, the Post was deactivated, then reactivated at the beginning of the Korean Conflict as The Armored Combat Training Center, when a need arose for an armored training center west of the Mississippi.

During the six-week highly compressed advance course in tank firing and maneuvering given at the Combat Training Center participants are thoroughly trained in the intricacies of tank warfare and climax their training with "Live Armor" problems.

Camp Irwin's 673,000 acres comprise the last reservation where firing up to distances of more than 35,000 yards will not interfere with civilian industry or residential development.

The constant encroachment of non-military enterprises has caused many posts which formerly trained tankers to limit their firing to a "slot" or fixed lane which cannot be deviated from. This is hardly comparable with the free wheeling type of firing tankers must do in combat.

The terrain at Irwin also presents a cross-section of every natural topographical feature to be found in the battlefields of the world.

CG's Message

I share fully the pleasure and pride with which the military and civilian members of the Sixth United States Army will welcome the sixteenth anniversary of this command on 25 January, 1959.

Sixth Army was born during the wartime crisis in 1943. Its contribution to victory in the Pacific was a vital one which carried its soldiers across 4,000 miles of ocean and island combat, including 15 amphibious operations and 22 assault landings, to ultimate triumph and occupation of Japan in 1945.

The record of effective service to the Nation thus established has been maintained by the Sixth United States Army. To men of the 4th Infantry Division at Ft. Lewis, Washington, and other units which comprise the Sixth United States Army's element in the STRAC emergency striking force, I remain constantly, keeping themselves fit and ready to move instantly in support of our Nation's policy. In administrative and logistic support of ARADCOM, in basic training and combat experimentation at Ft. Ord, California; in tank training and desert tactics at Camp Irwin, California; in hot weather experimentation at Yuma Test Station, Arizona; in support of U.S. Army Reserve and National Guard; as in every other installation and activity of the vast eighth-state Sixth United States Army area, all are united to accomplish our mutual missions.

On the occasion of reaching this milestone in our history, I wish to express my appreciation for the significant contributions all have made to the successful fulfillment of these missions. Looking to the future, I am confident that the men and women of the Sixth United States Army stand ready to meet and overcome any challenges that may fall to our lot.

Madigan Army Hospital Serves Key Defense Area

Madigan Army Hospital, located on the Fort Lewis reservation but a separate entity, is one of the largest Army hospitals in operation in the United States and is one of two on the Pacific Coast.

The hospital serves not only the upper half of the Sixth Army area, which includes the States of Idaho, Montana, Washington, and the upper half of Oregon, but also serves Alaska, the Aleutian Islands, and the Far East Command.

Completely equipped to the last detail for service to its patients, the hospital runs the gamut from out-patient service to neuro-psychiatric treatment.

Madigan Army Hospital as it stands today is the result of several years of expansion of the former station hospital. The modern buildings were built and commissioned in August, 1944, by the Armed Service Forces and named

Hanford Guards Vital Atomic Site

Charged with the mission of defending and logistically supporting the Atomic Energy Commission's Hanford Reservation, personnel of the Sixth Army's Camp Hanford ring this important uranium-conversion center with the silver-bright shapes of deadly Nikes and keep the never-tiring eyes of radar sweeping the skies.

Back in 1945 during the early days of the construction of this atomic center, there were only 15 or 17 Army officers at Hanford commanding small detachments of military police and WACs. Today they number in the thousands.

The General Electric Company took over the operation of the Hanford Works when E. I. duPont de Nemours, the first prime contractor, relinquished its contract in 1946. Control of the plant was transferred in 1957 from the Manhattan district of Army engineers to the Atomic Energy Commission.

No one except the Army knows how many Nike batteries surround the atomic reservation and its residential areas, but the silent guardians are there ready to spring into action at the touch of a button.

Sacramento Signal Depot Is Army 'Nerve Bank'

The Sacramento Signal Depot might well be called the "nerve bank" of the Sixth Army because of the thousands of pieces of electronic equipment ranging in size from a tiny resistor, a fraction of an inch in length, to complete mobile radar sets weighing many tons, which it stores, repairs and distributes to the eight-state Sixth Army Area, the Alaskan outposts and the Far East Command.

Established in 1942—one month after Pearl Harbor—the depot was originally intended to relieve crowded conditions at the San Francisco Port of Embarkation.

In 1943 it was officially activated and named the Sacramento Signal Depot. It continued to expand and in 1944 became recognized as the principal Signal Corps depot on the Pacific Coast and moved to its present site seven miles southeast of metropolitan Sacramento.

A ten million dollar construction program in 1951 brought many needed additions to the Depot.

Besides its Signal Corps work Sacramento Signal Depot serves as a branch depot shipping to any part of the world and repairs damaged items received from other services.

Ft. Lewis Was Founded On Land Gift To Army

Fort Lewis, one of the largest and most modern military posts in the country, was 42 years old on 6 January.

When founded, Fort Lewis became the first military installation to be created by an outright gift of land from the citizens themselves. In 1917, Pierce County, Washington, residents voted eight to one to bond themselves for $2,000,000 in a far-sighted plan to buy 70,000 acres of the Nisqually Plains and give them to the government for a permanent military post. There were business, as well as patriotic, motives for the gesture.

From this unique beginning, Fort Lewis has grown to become today one of America's largest permanent Army posts and one of the nation's most important defense links. The fort, with an estimated value of more than $60,000,000, covers an area of more than 85,000 acres on the west side of the Cascades and 161,000 acres across the mountains at its vast sub-post, the Yakima Firing Center.

Fort Lewis was born in WWI. In 90 days, after the American entry into the war, a city of 1,757 buildings and 422 other structures all lighted and heated for 60,000 men had been erected.

The now famous 91st Division, the first division to be stationed at the then Camp Lewis, moved into the hastily constructed cantonment to train for WWI. Recruited largely from the Northwest, the 91st was considered "Washington's Own."

The 91st Division was followed at Camp Lewis by the 13th Division which was organized at the camp and was preparing for overseas duty when the Armistice was signed.

After almost disappearing in the economy rash of the twenties and early thirties, Fort Lewis went on to become the training ground for more than a million men who fought in three wars.

The 3rd, 6th, 27th, 33rd, 40th, 41st, 44th, and 96th Infantry Divisions trained here in World War II, then the 2nd Infantry Division and a Canadian Army Special Force for the Korean fighting.

Today, Fort Lewis houses the 44th Infantry Division, the Personnel Center, Madigan Army Hospital, Mount Rainier Ordnance Depot, and Camp Murray, headquarters for the Washington National Guard.

Camp Roberts, Hunter-Liggett Are Still Important Posts

Camp Roberts and Hunter-Liggett Reservations, sub-installations of the Sixth Army's Fort Ord, are primarily used for reservist summer training activities, advanced infantry training for infantry specialists, and for the carrying out of the Combat Development Center's mission of testing new weapons and tactics.

Camp Roberts is a comparatively young post in the Sixth Army Area and was established at its present location in January 1941 and is named after Corp. Harold W. Roberts. Corp. Roberts, a San Francisco soldier, was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor (posthumously) for outstanding services to his country during World War I.

In November 1941 an Infantry Replacement Training Center was established with the 16th, 17th, 18th, and 19th Infantry Training Regiments under the command of Brigadier General Lane. During the early stages of World War II, Camp Roberts was utilized for the training of several Infantry and Artillery regiments which saw action in both theaters of operation.

Hunter-Liggett Military Reservation was named as a sub-post of 1953. Shortly after the outbreak of hostilities in Korea, in August, 1950, Camp Roberts was returned to an active status. In November of that year, Brigadier General Frank H. Partridge, USA, assumed command and the 7th Armored Division was activated. Maj. Gen. Robert F. Sink was in command of the 7th Armored Division when it was deactivated in November of 1953.

Chief of Staff

On the occasion of the sixteenth anniversary of the Sixth United States Army, I extend congratulations and best wishes to all its members on behalf of the United States Army.

Created to meet the requirements of global conflict in World War II and matured in the bitterly contested island campaigns of the Southwest Pacific, the Sixth Army has won for itself a proud tradition of efficiency and achievement in the sixteen years since its organization.

Today, the Sixth Army is adding to this tradition by its significant contributions to the effectiveness of the Army's efforts in furtherance of our national security.

American soldiers throughout the world join with me in expressing pride and continuing confidence in the Sixth United States Army upon its completion of another year of successful service to our nation.

MAXWELL D. TAYLOR

Desert Rock Support Camp In Test Shots

Established in 1951 by the Army, Camp Desert Rock, located adjacent to the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission's Test Site northwest of Las Vegas, Nevada, is used exclusively for supporting atomic-related maneuvers.

Exercises are conducted during full-scale nuclear tests to develop tactical concepts and techniques relating to atomic warfare, and to accustom personnel to the environment of atomic battlefields.

During the several atomic tests conducted over the past few years, there have been as many as 6,000 Army personnel stationed at the camp.

Among the exercises conducted at the Nevada Testing site during the past few years, in which Desert Rock personnel participated, were Operation Upshot-Knothole in March, 1953, and Operation Teapot in 1955, a series of explosions from 400 and 500-foot towers, including several air drops. Troop indoctrination exercises were conducted on most of the shots.

The most recent exercise, Operation Plumbob, was held during the summer of 1957.

CDEC Stays Busy Finding Answers To Tough Problems

In order to maintain the Army as the most modern, effective striking force possible the Combat Development and Experimentation Center established at Ft. Ord on 1 November 1956, has been carrying out a series of scientific tests over the past year.

The over-all purpose of the CDEC is to test those concepts which will indicate the impact of the use of new weapons and equipment on combat operations and to attempt to develop the most effective combinations of manpower and latest weapons and equipment under conditions anticipated in the atomic battlefield.

The Army's Combat Development Program actually got under way on an extensive basis in 1952, but the establishment of CDEC was a step to centralize this program. Previously the Army has utilized various areas for this purpose.

The relatively new organization consists of officers, enlisted men, and as advisers, some 15 of the country's leading scientists. Shortly after its inception, the 10th Regimental Combat Team, part of the former 5th Infantry Division stationed at Ft. Ord until its inactivation last June, was designated to be used by CDEC as the testing unit.

Most of the experimenting has been conducted on the Hunter-Liggett Military Reservation.

Some of the experiments which have been carried out have included the testing of the effectiveness of new weapons such as the new 7.62 mm. machine gun which is described as "a lightweight, general purpose gun developed to replace all three of the present .30 caliber machine guns." Another weapon tested is the new M14 rifle which fires NATO ammunition, and is scheduled to replace the M1 rifle in the near future.

Numerous field tests have been conducted to determine the best size unit for modern warfare. As a result of these tests, it is anticipated that the reorganized infantry divisions will be characterized by increased firepower, greater mobility and the capability of wide dispersal to survive under atomic attack.

The results of CDEC's work is expected to give the Army a sound basis for determining organizations and tactical doctrine best suited for future war with savings in time, effort, and money.

what they said

Life in the missile age has been the topic of much discussion in the past few months, so we decided to ask our readers this week:

The Question: What single accomplishment of the missile age has impressed you the most?

ANSWERS

M/Sgt. Johnston, Sixth Region Aviation Section: "Hmmm. I'd say the recent moon shot by the Russians was most impressive. The fact that their missile shot past the moon and, supposedly orbited the sun, makes it even more spectacular. I think we'd better get busy and get something up that high ourselves."

Chief E. O. Cristenson, Ft. Mason, Continental Military Sea Transport Service: "I'm most impressed with man's conquering of space, at least his great progress toward that end. At the expense of sounding partisan, I'm also very impressed with the Navy's feat of launching the Regulus from a submarine. I think this is quite an outstanding accomplishment and will lead to bigger things."

Pfc. Bruce Privette, communications repairman, B Btry., 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty.: "The speed of the missiles and how they are continuously able to increase it, is what impressed me the most. Things are advancing so fast that missiles brought out only a few months ago are outdated sometimes before they are even fired and tested. This is very impressive to me."

M/Sgt. Willie L. Brown, operations sergeant, Hq., 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty., Ft. Scott: "I think the Russian shot at the moon was most impressive. Even its failure to orbit didn't detract from the feat. In fact, I think its ability to continue on towards a solar orbit was even more impressive. I would say this was the biggest single accomplishment of the missile age."

DUGWAY STARS expected to show well in this week's All Sixth Army Basketball tournament at the Presidio are Jim Whatley, a veteran of varsity play with Eastern New Mexico U. and Texas Tech, and Harold Richardson, a junior college star.

Dugway Boasts Good Record In Local Play

Featuring a well-balanced attack, the quintet from Dugway Proving Ground enter into battle in the Sixth Army Basketball Tournament, this week.

Having three returning veterans from last year's tournament squad has eased the task of rebuilding for Coach Sfc. Lloyd Ford. Back for the second year are Tom McMurtry at center, Harold Richardson and Jim Whatley at the forward positions.

Dugway brings a 7-5 record into tournament play that was compiled against some of the top industrial league teams in the Salt Lake City area. The record shows a number of close games where any break would have put Dugway on the long end of the score.

Case in point is a 59-57 heart-breaker to Utah Power and Light which is composed mostly of former top Skyline Conference personnel.

Fencing Meet Saturday; Cellar Dwellers Fight Brownlee 2d In Saber To Close Finish In WAC Basketball Tilt

Tomorrow night the Individual Northern California Epee Championships will be held at the Berkeley Fencing Club, 2571 Shattuck Ave., Berkeley, Calif.

In the recently completed Individual Northern California Class II Sabre Championships, Col. Laurence Brownlee of Presidio took second place in a fence-off that found three men tied for first. Coach William O'Brien of Letterman Army Hospital finished fourth and M/Sgt. Severo Pasol, also of Letterman, took sixth.

Cellar-dwelling Letterman Army Hospital WAC team nearly pulled one out of the fire but couldn't quite get the job done in their 26-28 loss to Ft. Mason.

Leading the game scoring was Lusk of Ft. Mason with 18, while Wynne of Letterman was topping out with 11.

The next game for the ladies from Letterman is with the Presidio Toreras on Tuesday 27 Jan. at 1900 in the Letterman Gym.

Distaff Club Campaign Gains; Progress Meet Set For Today

County chairman of the retired officers wives' Bay Area committee to raise funds for the proposed Army Distaff Club in Washington, D. C., will meet at the quarters of Mrs. Charles D. Palmer today for preliminary reports on the campaign.

"I'm tremendously impressed with the organization and pre-campaign planning that has been accomplished by this enthusiastic group of women," said Mrs. Palmer. "I only hope that the rest of us can show equal zest for this important project."

The Army Distaff Club, a project of the Army Wives Council in the Capital, is envisioned as a well-appointed residence club offering first class facilities at nominal cost for the widows and daughters of Army officers, including those wives and daughters of Reserve officers who have served on active duty for twenty or more years.

Last Friday Mrs. Palmer hosted wives of Bay Area Army commanders and plans for installation campaigns were discussed. "We're pretty far along now in all our organization and planning," states Mrs. Palmer, "and have high hopes that other installations throughout the Sixth Army area are doing as well."

Letters have gone out from Mrs. Palmer, with an enclosure letter from Mrs. Maxwell D. Taylor, to wives of Army commanders throughout the Sixth Army area in an effort to gain widespread support for the program.

Mrs. Palmer hopes to have "some good solid dollar reports" in the near future and will host workers to a "progress report tea" at another date.

She restressed the need for immediate contributions "so that selection of a suitable site, construction of buildings and provision for continuous management could go ahead."

"Of course, it isn't all smooth sledding at this point," says Mrs. Palmer. "Some have questioned Washington as a site for the club. Others feel that only a 'select few' will ever enjoy the benefits of the club. On the first point, I can only say that the idea had to find roots and support someplace and that if the Washington Club is successful, and there is a need indicated, I'm sure that it will be a focal point for the establishment of other clubs in other central areas."

"On the second point, I'm sure that any future screening board for applicants to the club will make 'need' their first criteria. I have this much confidence in the people who are dedicating their free time and efforts to making this idea a reality."

Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower has consented to serve as Honorary Chairman of the National Advisory Committee. Other positions include:

Board of Directors

Gen. John E. Dahlquist, Chairman
Gen. Wade H. Haislip
Maj. Gen. Ernest M. Brannon

Tankers Earn Finals Berth In Tough Go

Camp Irwin captured the Sixth Army Southern Division title for the second year in a row by dropping tough Yuma Test Station 56-48 in the final. The win earned them a berth in the Sixth Army Championship Basketball Tournament currently underway at Letterman Sports Center.

For the Tankers it was Ransom Robinson, 6'3" center (right), voted the tournament's most valuable player," leading the scoring spree with 23 points. In the three tournament games Robinson dunked in a total of 70 points. Teammate John Call chipped in with 14 to insure the win over Yuma.

Jumping into an early lead, the tight defense of the Tankers proved unrelenting and they led at the half 33-19. Yuma was forced to fire from the outside for most of their points, while Camp Irwin virtually controlled both boards and went on to cop the crown.

The highly competitive tournament in the southland featured two overtime battles and the largest crowds in the history of sports at Camp Irwin.

The Tankers were third-place finishers in last year's tourney place, which took place on their home court.

Lewis, Presidio Win Opening Games

Distaff Casaba Tourney Slated Here On Tuesday

Even the ladies are getting into the act.

Following hard on the heels of the Sixth Army Men's Basketball Championship now being held at Letterman Gym comes an announcement that the Presidio Toreras will host the first Presidio of San Francisco Women's Invitational Basketball Tournament on 27-31 Jan. also at Letterman Gym.

Invitations have been extended to Alameda Naval Air Station, Hamilton Air Force Base and Camp Pendleton Marine Base, making it an All-Service Championship tourney. Game dates for the double elimination tournament are as follows:

| Game Schedule |               |
|---------------|---------------|
| 1830—Tuesday  | 1100—Friday   |
| 2000—Tuesday  | 1200—Saturday |
| 1230—Thursday | (if needed)   |
| 1730—Thursday | 2000—Saturday |

Lewis Chiefs Swamp Madigan In Northern Division Tournament

The Ft. Lewis Chiefs entered competition for the Sixth Army Basketball Championship in convincing style by overwhelming Madigan Army Hospital 90-51, to cap the Northern Division crown.

Leading all scorers was center Harry Watson of Ft. Lewis with 33. Madigan's Bob Sutton bucketed 19 for team honors.

Leading 43-17 at halftime, Ft. Lewis reserves played most of the second half to sharpen up for the play in the Sixth Army Tournament.

LAH Beats Two Rock; Keep NorCal Leadership

Widening the gap on first place in the Nor Cal Military Sports Association, the leading Letterman quintet squeaked by a determined crew from Two Rock Ranch to post a 44-43 win.

For Letterman it was McNamara and Meyers teaming up with 15 and 12 respectively. Getting the scoring crown for the game was Meurs of Two Rock Ranch with 21 while his team-mate Schaeffer hit for 6.

Torero Highnetters Gain Standoff With All-Stars

The Presidio Toreros volleyball team played a Hamilton-Travis Air Force Base All-Star team to a three-all standoff in recent action.

The highnetters, composed primarily of missile-men of the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, played 9-15, 15-6, 11-15, 15-11, 8-15, and 15-13 games against the Air Force's All-Star sextet.

Sparkling the potent Army offense were spikers Dave Rhem and Al Kincaid. Coach M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio was unable to play because of an illness which has led to his being hospitalized this week. His absence as a coach and player will be felt quite noticeably in the California State Tournament tomorrow at Sacramento.

In competition tomorrow, the Toreros face some of the nation's top rated teams, including those from the Embarcadero YMCA and the Olympic Club of San Francisco, the Berkeley YMCA, the Oakland YMCA, Air Force teams from Hamilton and Travis, and other AAU teams from San Jose, Sacramento and points throughout the state.

One bright spot in the picture is the addition of spiker Leonard Kaczmarek from Florida State College, who has played top calibre volleyball on nationally rated teams. "The addition of Kaczmarek will give us an offensive punch unequaled by any Army team," Sgt. Ignacio indicated.

Thunderbirds Test SF Frosh At Gator Gym This Evening

Tonight at 2000 the Sixth Army U.S. Army Air Defense Command's Thunderbird basketball team will tangle with San Francisco State College's Frosh at the Golden Gator's Gym.

Team manager, Sfc. David Stanley, indicated that added players will be used to augment the strength of the squad and will be drawn from 40th Air Defense Artillery Brigade and the 561st Engineer Company. By doing so, the Thunderbirds will become a "Baker" team.

Starting lineup will include 6'4" Fred Cagle at center, 6'1" Milt Ploen and 6'1" Al Begley at the forward spots. Starting guards have yet to be named.

San Francisco State's Frosh team has a 3-7 record and the Thunderbirds have a 3-4 total for the season.

Toreras Fade As They Lose Another

The Presidio Toreras took the wrong end of a 41-35 score at Ft. Ord and now have a 5-3 record in league play for the season.

It was a case of not being able to hit the bucket in the early stages of the game that hurt any chance for a win. At the end of the first quarter Ord led 7-2, and the half-time found them out in front 19-10. In the third quarter both teams seemed to find the range and the score ran up to 39-27. In a slam-bang fourth quarter the defense held Ord to only two points but the offensive unit couldn't close the gap entirely and Ord escaped for the win.

The outcome of the game might have been a little different if the Toreras had been more accurate from the free-throw line. Out of 14 attempts from the free-throw line only three managed to go through the hoop.

Kelly of the Toreras led all scoring with 19 followed by Phillips with 10 and Silva, 6. High for the Ft. Ord sextet was Garcia 15 and her teammate Akiu 14.

Toreros Down Dugway; Chiefs Bounce Tankers

First round action in the Sixth Army Basketball Championship has shown the devastating scoring power of both winners, Ft. Lewis Chieftains and the Presidio Toreros.

In the opening game it was the Ft. Lewis Chieftains against the Tankers from Camp Irwin. The Chiefs effectively put the Indian sign on the Tankers for an 86-56 margin of victory.

Scoring for the Chiefs was led by Harry Watson, 19; Fred Diehl, 15, and Joe Alligood with 13. For the Tankers it was Dan Caldwell, 15, Ransom Robinson, 9.

In the second game of the day the Presidio Toreros jumped off to an early lead and increased it throughout the game to shackle the quintet from Dugway Proving Ground with a 90-49 defeat.

For the Toreros Bill VonWeyhe was high with 21; Frank Evangelho, 15, and Ed Fine, 14. Dugway's Jim Whatley bucketed 18.

Rangers Ring New Records In Missile Handicap Bowling

Records previously set in the Missileer Handicap Bowling League, 2nd Missile Battalion (N-H), 51st Artillery, were smashed at the Marin Bowl, San Rafael last Friday night. Only the high team game with handicap record was able to withstand the onslaught of the "hot" Rangers of Battery A.

Leading the team to its record performance was Lt. Robert W. Senn with games of 173, 203 and 243 for a 619 scratch for the night. Lt. Senn's 243 game is the high individual scratch score of the season. With handicap added Lt. Senn has a 269 single game and a 697 three game series, also high for the season.

Games of 901, 950 and 986/2837 with handicap gave the Rangers the high series for the season for a team. Their 986 is second high team single game.

Capt. Glenn E. Zile of the Oozlefinches had a high game of 235 and a 532 total as his team's best effort against the hottest team in the league at present, the Rangers.

Win Sports Trophy

Permanent possession of the Commander's Sports Trophy first awarded in 1957 was gained by C Btry., 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty., this week as they shut out all other competitors for the third straight annual period.

Bowling League Action This Week

In Presidio Bowling League this week, the Keystone Kops gained a tie for first place with the Shalters when the 60th CI Detachment took a 3-1 series from the Shalters and the Kops scored a 3-1 win over the Islanders.

The Kops' Johnson was high with 595-205. For the Islanders it was Lundahl, 470-165.

Bright spot for the Shalters was Opozda with a 511-188. Top man spot for 60th CI was Walker, 451-192.

Third place Recruiters shut out SFAADS 4-0. Recruiters' Bolton hit 564-218. SFAADS' Schweikhard gained 475-177.

King Pins kept a firm hold on fifth when they beat the fourth place Alley Rats 3-1. For the King Pins it was Bowlde 522-179; Iwai of the Alley Rats hit 502-188.

In a makeup game 60th CI blanked the Islanders 4-0, to continue their hot shooting night. For 60th CI it was Ogle 511-185 and for the Islanders, Lundahl with 469-177.

In WAC Bowling League the leading Brewmasters picked up a game on their nearest rivals the Alley Kats, by beating the Powder Puffs 4-0. Parr hit 454-169. Armstrong of the Powder Puffs tallied 410-154.

The Alley Kats then beat the Orbits 3-1, as Hefner hit 463-187. Miller of the Orbits hit 476-181.

The thirteenth week of bowling in the Pacific League didn't prove unlucky to the leading Warrants as they took the Regioners 4-0. Stephens led with 575-228, Schenk 481-176.

Second place Hq. Co. #2 lost to Hq. Co. #3. High man for Hq. #3 was Wilmoth 531-189, Holmes led Hq. #2 with 505-197.

Third place AAA Sparks crushed the Hilltoppers 4-0 to reach League contention. Beery kegged 538-198. Hilltopper's Johnson hit 471-168.

Last place Missileers beat the Retorts 3-1. Swingle rolled 453-158, LaClair led the losers 449-175.

In the Wednesday Night Bowling League the leading Nikes lost to the Spoilers, 4-0. Browning led the way with 579-205. Lowe of the Nikes hit 467-169.

Second place Pickups became even more firmly entrenched in their spot by blanking the Tyros 4-0. Sue Varner was high with 553-199. Alban of the Tyros rolled 483-183.

The Cutups blanked the Retorts 4-0. Lee hit 475-165. Honors were divided for the Retorts as Jean Dempsey and Milburn both had a 479 series.

Over in the Bay Bowling League the leading G1 quintet boosted their lead to 10½ games over their nearest rival as they beat third place MRU 3-1. Lasch hit 523-201, Andresen, 521-195.

Fifth place Garrison rocked second place JAGS 3-1 to put them far off the pace of the league leader. Opozda of Garrison sent a 557-212 down the boards as McAfee of the JAGS hit for 508-194.

Tail-enders 6A Signal came out of their hole long enough to dump fourth place Compt-Rollers 3-1. For Signal it was Dennis in great form with a 521-191 as Routen of the Compt-Rollers put together a 508-194.

Triple Aces managed to hang a 3-1 defeat on Hq. C. 6A. For the Aces it was Blumenfeld 499-179, the losers Maybee hit 505-212.

Presidio Is Hub Post Of Bay Area Activity

The Presidio of San Francisco, founded as a Spanish outpost in 1776, is the administrative and logistical hub of United States Army operations in the San Francisco Bay Area.

Besides its housekeeping chores for Sixth U.S. Army Headquarters, the Presidio either directly commands or supports administratively or logistically, or both, some 50 other military organizations.

These include such important commands as Sixth Region, U.S. Army Air Defense Command, under the command of Major General Edward J. McGaw; XV U.S. Army Corps (Reserve), under the command of Major General John W. Harmony, and Letterman Army Hospital, under the command of Colonel Achilles L. Tynes.

Other key units supported by the Presidio range from the 29th AAA Gp. at Travis Air Force Base to the San Francisco National Cemetery located on the Presidio proper.

The 30th Engineer Battalion (topographic survey) under the direct supervision of the Presidio is the only group size unit of this kind in the Army. Its 418 men are under the Command of Lt. Col. Richard M. Underwood. Their mission is map compilation, map reproduction and surveying both overseas and in the states. The 30th is supported by an air wing of 28 aircrafts.

Attached to the Presidio for administrative and/or logistical support is the 30th AAA Group under the direction of Col. Iver Peterson with headquarters at Ft. Scott. This group, whose primary weapon is the Nike, encompasses two battalions and has the mission of supplying anti-aircraft defense to the Bay Area.

Directly under Post Headquarters are the station complement units. Among these 14 units are Headquarters Company, which contains the personnel working directly in Post Headquarters, Company C, housing technical and transportation personnel, Company D, the WAC Detachment and Company Guard, the Sixth Army Honor Guard.

Further Clarification

Non-residents who plan to register for California auto license are allowed 30 days from the time their present license expires. New registrations must be made in person at the California Motor Vehicle office at 160 South Van Ness or 1425 Noriega St. Servicemen should double check to be sure of expiration date of current auto license. Failure to meet the prescribed 30-day non-resident requirements can result in stiff penalties. This does not preclude servicemen from registering in their state of legal residence.

Anyone interested in aviation should contact the Presidio Information Center for information about the on-post aviation course to start here on 3 February.

NCO Mess To Host Free Dinner, Floor Show On Tuesday

The Presidio NCO Open Mess will host a dinner, refreshments and floor show for its members and those of the Fort Baker and Fort Scott annexes, on Thursday, January 29, immediately after the General Membership meeting, which begins at 1500 hours on that date. All members are asked to make every effort to be on hand for this meeting.

An innovation sponsored by the Commanding Officer and the club Board of Governors, to spur new membership and renew pride in established membership, the program is free to voting non-commissioned officers of the main club and the Forts Baker and Scott annexes.

Top-drawer entertainment provided by the American Artist Agency, of San Francisco, will be featured in the one-hour show. The performance will be followed by free refreshments including a buffet dinner, and dancing until 2100 hours.

LAH Has Served Gallantly Through Three Major Wars

Sixty years ago an institution that was to become one of the major hospitals of the United States Army existed only on a piece of paper that ordered it into being.

The site was a flea infested strip of sandy shore on San Francisco Bay where a field hospital was in operation.

Today, the stretch of beach behind the hospital has been filled and the institution's capacity has been increased to 900 beds.

Today, Letterman Army Hospital is in its sixtieth year of operation.

The hospital opened with only three divisions—general medicine, general surgery, and venereal. Today it is a full scale operation.

The horsepower which purrs under the hoods of the modern day ambulances is a far cry from the horsepower of the "blue wagons," drawn by mules over dusty roads.

After the 1906 earthquake and fire the hospital's commanding general was placed in control of the city's sanitation and the institution opened its doors to San Francisco.

It was not until 1911 that the hospital changed its name from United States Army Hospital to Letterman for Maj. Jonathan Letterman, Civil War medical director of the Army of the Potomac. Letterman also reorganized the field medical service and created an effective ambulance service for the evacuation of battle casualties.

During World War II the hospital became a debarkation center and its capacity was increased to 3,500 beds. The peak patient load reached 72,000 in 1945 when the hospital utilized Crissy Field facilities, Dante Annex, and buildings at Fort Cronkhite.

In 1955 a new recovery ward was added.

And today a new surgery is in partial operation and is expected to be completed sometime this year.

Ft. Mason One Of Army's Foremost Port Facilities

Fort Mason, the Bay Area Terminal Center, dates back to Spanish colonial days when Governor Diego de Borica decided he should do something about strengthening the defenses of the San Francisco Bay against foreign vessels.

De Borica sent a battery of five 8-pound brass cannons and the new post was called Bateria San Jose, one of the four names the Fort Mason area had.

When California became a state in 1850, President Fillmore signed an executive order establishing the area as a military reservation in the name of the government of the United States.

Because of its fine harbor, Fort Mason became a popular embarkation center and, shortly afterwards, relinquished its duties as a training center for infantry and artillery units.

During the Spanish-American War, troops left for the Philippines in ships which weighed anchor from Ft. Mason. Expeditionary forces to Siberia were mounted and supplied from the local terminal during World War I. World War II brought about a rapid expansion of the terminal. More berth space was acquired to handle the heavy wartime traffic.

Today, Ft. Mason still serves as a key port of embarkation, transporting many of our soldiers and supplies overseas.

'Guardian Of The West' Will Celebrate Birthday

after its activation, Gen. Walter Krueger, the first Sixth Army Commander, was directing troops in action at Milne Bay, New Guinea.

This was the beginning of a series of island hopping actions that culminated with the liberation of the Philippines and the total defeat of Japanese forces in the Pacific.

The bitter battles on Leyte, Mindoro and Luzon Islands in the Philippines, the capture of the western end of New Britain, seizure of the Admiralty Islands Group, the battle of Cape Gloucester, the Hollandia-Aitape operation, the seizure of Biak Islands and the final New Guinea landings are but a few of the 15 amphibious operations which included 22 major assault landings.

At one time during Sixth US Army action in the Pacific, Gen. Krueger commanded 203,608 officers and men from the following units: Six Army corps, one Marine amphibious corps, 18 Army divisions, four Marine divisions, one Army airborne division, three Army engineer special brigades, five antiaircraft artillery brigades, three separate regimental combat teams, one armored group and three engineer construction brigades.

The Sixth US Army's victory over the enemy in the Philippines did not earn it a rest. Instead it relinquished control of the Islands to the Eighth US Army and immediately went into training for "Operation Olympic"—the invasion of the Japanese home islands.

But a few short weeks before the scheduled invasions, the atomic bomb forced the Japanese into an unconditional surrender. Instead of attacking Japan, the Sixth US Army became the first American occupation force to land on the islands.

After performing the transitional phases of the occupation under Gen. MacArthur for four months, the Sixth US Army was inactivated on 28 January, 1946, and Gen. Krueger and the members of his staff returned to the United States.

Then on March, 1946, the Sixth US Army was reactivated at the Presidio of San Francisco under the command of another veteran of the Pacific campaign, Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stillwell.

Since Gen. Stillwell's death in October, 1946, Sixth US Army commanders have been Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark, Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, Lt. Gen. Joseph M. Swing, whose 11th Airborne Division was part of the wartime Sixth US Army; Gen. Willard G. Wyman, Lt. Gen. Robert N. Young, Lt. Gen. L. Mathewson, Maj. Gen. Robert Lee Howze and present commander, Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer.

As the key western component of the Continental Defense Command, the Sixth US Army today is vitally concerned with providing defense facilities for the eight western states, which includes Arizona, California, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, Oregon, Utah and Washington. From the Nike batteries that guard the skies to the massive armed strength of the 4th and 5th divisions, Sixth US Army is ever alert, fulfilling its defense mission.

But this modern army is also actively employed in numerous peacetime activities. Fine Army hospitals care for military personnel, dependents and veterans. Engineer units are involved in mapping projects both in the Army area and as far away as Iran and the Philippines.

Medical research is carried out in the Army hospitals and research laboratories. Military research is going on in research centers and testing grounds.

And finally, Sixth US Army stands alert and ready to make its contribution to the eight-state community around it. From liberal money contributions to local charity drives to the technical contributions of demolition experts called to handle "bomb scares," Sixth US Army personnel are continually involved in some phase of community service.

Lt. Gen. Stillwell

Ft. Huachuca: Famous Indian Outpost

Only five years ago, historic Fort Huachuca, cavalry outpost in the Apache uprisings, was reactivated under the control of the chief Signal Officer as the Army Electronic Proving Ground.

In the fields of electronic warfare, battlefield surveillance, Signal Corps aviation, and meteorology, the command runs performance tests; evaluates communication and electronic systems, conducts operational analysis experiments and field tests; formulates doctrine, and new concepts of Signal organizational elements; provides specialized training; maintains prototypes of specialized signal equipment, and recommends needed research.

In selecting a proving ground for this mission, there were two requirements which had to be met. The test center had to be isolated from metropolitan areas so that electronic experiments with jamming devices would not interfere with commercial radio and television broadcasts, and increasing activity in Signal Corps aviation demanded remoteness from commercial airways while offering adequate flying facilities.

There is no doubt that Fort Huachuca is isolated. By road, Tombstone, the nearest town, is 28 miles to the northeast, and Tucson, 96 miles to the northwest. The commercial airport and TV station in Tucson should be out of range of interference from the test and experimental transmissions. Its 77 square miles provide adequately for the many test ranges on which mock battles are fought and test firings accomplished under electronic control and supervision.

Fort Huachuca boasts a colorful 81 year history extending from its humble beginning in 3 March, 1877 through Indian wars, two world wars, and the Korean war.

Before the fort slipped into Army mass production methods when during World War II, it had gained widespread fame during the opening and settling of the west.

The hard-riding cavalrymen supported by small field artillery pieces subdued the aroused Indians under Geronimo . . . they kept outlaws in line . . . they guarded the early payrolls from the mining towns . . . and they were ready at all times to put down any Mexican uprisings.

Geronimo's surrender to General Miles at the San Bernardino Ranch occurred in 1886, ending the fort's most colorful era, but subsequent dispatches record the revival of Indian excitement in the territory and the trail of the "Apache Kid" in 1890 and 1891.

In the Spanish American War, the 25th Regiment was ordered to the Philippines along with the 9th Cavalry. Only Company F of the 9th remained at the fort.

Work at the fort again settled down to routine duties and after several such years, the 10th Cavalry left the Huachucas to accompany Gen. John J. Pershing's forces on the expedition into Mexico in an unsuccessful attempt to trap the wily Pancho Villa. In 1918 Mexico was again having internal troubles and the regiment returned to the border to set up headquarters in Naco.

In 1929, Mexican troubles again called the troops to the border, but it was the last time that Huachuca stationed men were called upon to fight practically within sight of their barracks. From then until World War II, the cavalry units and the 25th Infantry became the object of sightseers throughout the Southwest.

Then came World War II and the fort's population leaped to 30,000. Stationed at the fort were the 92nd and 93rd Negro Infantry Divisions, complete with division artillery, quartermaster, engineering and medical battalions.

Vol. 7, No. 34

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

Friday 30 January, 1959

Sixth Army Surgeon Will Retire Tomorrow

A 30-year military career which began at the Presidio of San Francisco will end here tomorrow when Colonel Henry W. Daine, Sixth U. S. Army Surgeon, retires from active duty.

Colonel Daine began his career as an intern at Letterman Army Hospital in 1923, following graduation from the University of Iowa.

On 2 February, Colonel Daine will take up civilian duties as Assistant Superintendent in Charge of Professional Activities at Fairmont Hospital, in San Leandro, Calif.

The colonel has been Sixth Army Surgeon since June 1956. During World War II, he served as surgeon of the 2d Infantry Division from January, 1942, until May, 1943, and was then named commander of the 107th Evacuation Hospital, the unit he commanded through Normandy, Northern France, the Ardennes Campaign, and in Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg and Germany.

Following his return to the United States in August, 1947, Colonel Daine was assigned to Fitzsimmons Army Hospital in Denver, Colo., until December, 1947.

He then reported to Fort Knox, Ky., as Chief, Surgical Service of the Army Hospital there, and in 1949 was named commanding officer of the hospital in addition to his surgical assignment.

In June, 1951, he became commanding officer of Rodriguez Army Hospital, San Juan, Puerto Rico and Antilles Command Surgeon, holding both posts until May, 1954, when he was ordered to Washington, D.C., to be Inspector General, Office of the Surgeon General of the Army.

Col. Daine was graduated from the Army's Medical Field Service School at Carlisle Barracks, Pa., in 1931, and from the Command and General Staff College, Fort Leavenworth, Kans., in 1942.

He is married to the former Miss Dorothy Shuey of Davenport, Ia. They have two children: Elizabeth E. Daine, a graduate of the University of Iowa, at present teaching in South San Francisco, and a son, First Lieutenant Robert H. Daine, Army Medical Service Corps, stationed in Berlin, Germany.

Colonel Daine is a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons, a member of the American Medical Association, Military Surgeons, and a member of Phi Rho Sigma medical fraternity.

DOD Asks Double Pro Pay Increase In Budget Request

Washington (AFPS) — The Defense Department may authorize the services to make 5,000 incentive awards of $60 a month in budgeting for an additional 80,000 proficiency payments for the Armed Forces in Fiscal Year 1960.

The retention program, launched only last November, is just now getting into full swing to award $30 a month in first-step pro pay to a similar number of enlisted personnel—primarily in specific critical skills—prior to next 30 June.

The services, however, already have been asked to submit plans to the Secretary of Defense for the second round of P-1 awards in the coming fiscal year and P-2 payments which would be limited to those who have received the initial $30 in extra pay for over six months.

As in the FY 1959 program, a Defense official said, most of the P-1 and P-2 pay for the period will be in skills where higher retention rates are desired and with 15 per cent or less going to personnel who have demonstrated outstanding effectiveness in military specialties other than those considered critical.

'Soldier In War' Will Key Courtenay Series

One of the outstanding war correspondents of the British Empire and noted world traveler, Mr. William Courtenay, will conduct a series of lectures at the Presidio and throughout the Sixth US Army area during the period 2 February through 12 March. The primacy of the soldier in war, a much debated topic at the present time, will be the subject of Mr. Courtenay's lectures.

The lecturer has had a long and distinguished career as a soldier and war correspondent, ranging from the time he became a Territorial Cadet in 1911 until the most recent conflicts throughout the world. To keep abreast of the ever changing world situation, Mr. Courtenay makes two trips around the world annually as a press correspondent.

During World War I, he fought in the Gallipoli Campaign in the Dardanelles, and the Tripoli Desert and participated in the march from the Suez Canal to Gaza, Palestine. In 1917 he learned to fly and served in the Royal Air Force, Middle East. Mr. Courtenay was wounded in 1917 and awarded the Military Medal.

When war appeared on the horizon in 1938, he left his job as aeronautical correspondent and rejoined the Royal Air Force. In 1941, Mr. Courtenay came to the United States to lecture on the role of the Royal Air Force and British Army in the "Battle of Britain." The speaking tour lasted until 1942 when he sailed from San Francisco as a war correspondent with US troops bound for the Pacific Theater.

In the Pacific Theater he climbed the Owen Stanley Mountains of New Guinea; was with the Australians from Port Moresby to Kokoda; flew with the first United States paratroopers to Markham Valley Nadzab landing. Following a series of tours in the United States when he lectured on General Douglas MacArthur's campaigns, he returned to combat action in the Pacific, landing with the troops of the 1st Cavalry Division at Los Negros, Admiralty Islands. He was in Japan on 30 August 1945 with the United States 11th Airborne Division and was aboard the USS

Originated Pipe Band

Former Presidio DPC Passes

Colonel Paul R. Goode, the originator of the famous Sixth Army Pipe Band (a recent casualty of missile economy) and a former deputy post commander at the Presidio, died in Washington, D. C., at the age of 66.

A graduate of West Point, Class '17, he served here in 1949 and retired in 1952 with 35 years of service as an Infantry Officer.

An illustrious combat commander, Col. Goode led an Infantry Regiment in the invasion of Europe. He was captured and spent the remainder of the war as a POW.

He served assignments as Chief of Staff, XV Corps, and on the War Department General Staff.

He is survived by his wife, Helen, and their daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Owen of Lynchburg, Va.

Rule 937,000 Not Eligible For Insurance Dividends

Veterans Administration today identified the groups of GI insurance policyholders who will and who will not share in the recently-announced regular annual dividends of $256,000,000 for 1959.

The agency said an estimated 5,235,000 policyholders will and 937,000 will not participate in the dividends.

Included in the 5,235,000 participating policyholders are:

• About 4,950,000 holders of National Service Life Insurance (NSLI), which originated during World War II and has the letter "V" preceding the policy number.

• About 285,000 holders of U. S. Government Life Insurance (USGLI), which originated during World War I and has the letter "K" preceding the policy number.

VA listed the 937,000 policyholders who will not participate as being divided into the following groups:

• About 716,000 Korean and post-Korean conflict veterans who hold special non-participating NSLI policies identifiable by the letters "RW", "W", or "RH" preceding the policy number.

• About 150,000 servicemen who, prior to 1 January, 1957, placed their "V" or "K" policies under in-service waiver of premium payments and who have not rescinded such waivers. The law provides that as long as a GI policy is under in-service waiver of premium payments, it does not participate in any dividends for which it might otherwise be eligible.

• About 57,000 NSLI and 7,000 USGLI policyholders who have extended term insurance in the "V" and "K" series, respectively. These veterans allowed their permanent-plan policies to lapse and VA automatically extended their insurance as term policies without further premium payments.

• About 7,000 veterans who hold special non-participating NSLI insurance because of disabilities incurred during World War II. These policies, which had to be applied for prior to 1 January, 1950, are identifiable by the letter "H" preceding the policy number.

Top Commanders Meet

The specific objectives of the 6th Region, Army Air Defense Command were presented Monday during a meeting between Brigade commanders of the Pacific Coast Nike defenses, principle officers in the commands, and their Commanding General, Maj. Gen. E. J. McGaw.

Following this, the meeting was opened to discussion of the various problems and achievements in the protection of the important industrial and population centers on the Western seaboard.

Short, Orth Have New Assignments In DOD Shuffle

Washington (ANS) — Several changes have been made in the organization of the Department of the Army Secretariat as a part of the over-all Department of Defense reorganization program, Secretary of the Army Wilbur M. Brucker announced this week.

Assistant Secretary of the Army Dewey Short has been assigned to the position of Assistant Secretary of Army (Manpower, Personnel and Reserve Forces), effective December 31, 1958. This position has been vacant since the appointment of Hugh M. Milton II as Under Secretary of the Army on August 25, 1958. Mr. Short formerly held the position of Assistant Secretary of the Army (Civil-Military Affairs), which has been abolished.

The functions of the office of the Assistant Secretary of Army (MP & RF) and the office of the Assistant Secretary of Army (CMA) are being consolidated. Within the office of the Assistant Secretary of the Army (MP & RF), Franklin L. Orth has been redesignated as Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Army for Manpower and Reserve Forces, and Edward A. Bacon has been redesignated as Deputy Assistant Secretary for Civil Affairs.

what they said

Psychiatry in recent tests has shown that color association has a definite pattern in life. This week we asked:

Question: What is your favorite color and the color of your car?

ANSWERS

Mrs. Dorothy Crawford, clerk-typist, Physical Standards and Professional Services Office, Sixth Army Medical Section: I like blue because it reminds me of the sky and sea. I'm very fond of the color and wear dark blue clothing in winter and light or pale blue in the summer. My car is pale blue and white. Autumn tones, however, are used in my interior decorating with rust, green and predominating.

touches of coral

Sp5 Virgil Clarkson, electronic mechanic, B Battery, 4th Missile Bn., 61st Arty., Battery Caulfield: Gray is my favorite color. It seems to have no clashing effect with other colors and it is easy to match with. My car is whitish-gray. A good deal of my clothes are shades of gray and brown. I don't particularly care for loud colors like red or orange.

Mrs. John J. Early, wife of Major Early, Sixth Army Information Section: Red is my favorite color because it looks so lively. I use it in accessories for clothing and in landscaping where I use roses as border flowers. Red is not used in our home decorating, but our car is partly colored red. I probably like that color because, having been a nurse I could not use color during duty hours.

M/Sgt. Saige Aramaki, personnel chief clerk, Sixth Army Medical Section: I guess blue is, as most of my clothes are blue. I don't care for bright colors. My car is not blue, but color was not the determining factor in buying it. Colors at home are determined by my wife and she likes light, pale colors. I don't know why I like blue, I just prefer it.

Captain James Pooler, post chemical officer, Battery Chamberlain: Red, because it is cheerful and bright. I like bright, chipper colors as they are more appealing to the eye than dull grays or dirty yellow. Posters and signs are a good example of the use of bright colors to catch the public eye. As for my car it is blue, but color was not the reason I bought it. I have had red cars before. I think I'm part Gypsy, I just like red.

Stamp to Honor

'Hero Of The Andes'

José de San Martín will become the fourth "Champion of Liberty" to be recognized by the U.S. Post Office when new four- and eight-cent stamps bearing his likeness are placed on sale 25 Feb.

New U.S. Stamp

Martín (1778 - 1850) was an Argentine general who fought for the independence of South America in the wars with Spain. He and Simón Bolívar were the two great South American leaders in that cause.

After nearly three years of preparation, Martín undertook the campaign for which he is famous. In spite of terrible hardships he led his army over the snow-covered Andes mountains, surprised the royalists in Chile, joined forces with Chilean troops and drove the royalists off Chilean soil.

He later went to Peru and helped that country win its freedom from Spain.

Both stamps feature a three-quarter portrait on a medallion. The four-center will be blue; the eight-center, blue, red and golden ocher.

Post College Classes Start Here Next Week

Four new on-post San Francisco State College courses will begin on 9 February: Social Pathology, Mon. & Wed., Bldg. 1131; Peoples and Cultures of the Pacific Islands, Mon. & Wed., Bldg. 1101; Atomic Energy and Man, Tues. & Thurs., Bldg. 1101, and Nineteenth Century Europe.

Social Pathology, to be taught by Dr. Felton D. Freeman, is the study of problems of social disorganization and deviant behavior of individuals and groups; culture patterns, social change, and conflicting behavior standards in relation to the creation and control of social problems. Also discussed in this class, worth 3 units toward the social science major or an elective credit, will be problems of urban-industrial society; crime and delinquency; alcoholism; old age; intergroup relations; and other group and individual problems.

A descriptive survey of the races, languages and cultures of Oceania (Micronesia, Polynesia), Melanesia, Australia, Indonesia and Southeast Asia, Peoples and Cultures of the Pacific Islands, taught by William D. Hohenthal, deals with origins, migrations, Pacific explorations, art, customs, industries, social organization and magico-religious beliefs. Also included and illustrated with audio visual material during the three unit course will be native achievements, social forces and cultural changes today.

Taught by Dr. George Gibson, Nineteenth Century Europe, also a three unit class, deals with the development of Western European civilization from the Congress of Vienna to World War I. Interpretations are based on the struggle to establish political, social and economic liberalism and on the growth of forces in opposition.

To be held in bldg. 1131 on Tuesdays and Thursdays, Atomic Energy and Man, given by Dr. Robert A. Thornton, is designed for students without intensive technical background, and tells of the development of modern concepts of the nature of the atom, the present day importance of atomic energy and its effect on human affairs.

Army Hourglass: 29 December, 1890, saw the last of the Indian Wars as the U. S. Army won the final one at the Battle of Wounded Knee Creek, in South Dakota.

Recently Assigned

Major CARROLL E. CARY has been assigned as special assistant to the finance and accounting officer, Sixth Army, after spending 18 months in Japan.

His last assignment there was finance and accounting officer at Oppama Ordnance Depot from June to November 1958.

Major Cary entered the Army in 1940 as an enlisted man and was commissioned as a lieutenant in Artillery, at Ft. Sill, Okla. in 1942. At Ft. Sill, he also received Liaison Pilots Wings in August 1943.

He served as a liaison pilot during WW II at the Sixth Army Headquarters in the Pacific Theater. In 1946 he returned to reserve status and entered Pace College in New York City, from which he graduated in 1948.

Major Cary was recalled to duty in October of 1948 and transferred to finance from artillery.

He was awarded the Air Medal and Campaign Ribbons for the Pacific Theater.

He lives with his wife, Margaret, and two daughters, Michele, 11, and Jeanne, 9.

Recently assigned as the accountable officer for the 8th Olympic Winter Games, Capt. CECIL A. CROWE, G4, formerly was the assistant J4 for Exercise Rocky Shoals.

Prior to that he was a company commander of a training outfit at Ft. Ord from December 1957 to June 1958.

He entered the Army in 1950 as an enlisted man and received a battlefield commission during the Korean Conflict in July, 1951.

Capt. Crowe served with the 3d Division in Korea from October 1950 to April 1952 and was awarded the Purple Heart.

The Pessimist's Manual*

REMINDE YOURSELF:

TO be so dull that nothing can disturb your peace of mind.
TO talk gloom, misery and despair to every person you meet.
TO make all your friends think you have it in for them.
TO look at the glum side of everything and exhortation to optimism.
TO think only of the best—and know you sure as — are not it.
TO be just as envious about the success of others as you are despairing of your own.
TO never forget your past mistakes and to try to emulate them.
TO look your own miserable downtrodden self at all times and give every living creature you meet a DROP DEAD look.
TO give so little time to self-improvement that you can spend all your time downgrading and demeaning everyone.
TO be too clodlike for sympathy, too crabbed for happiness, too weak to surmount your natural chicken-hearted fears, and too trouble-burdened to permit the presence of any thought but—
PEOPLE ARE NO — — GOOD!!

Forewords for Combat Readiness

By GENERAL BRUCE C. CLARKE

This is the second in a series of messages bearing upon our primary job in the United States Continental Army Command — combat readiness.

As with any job, our work will go forward faster if workers know WHY as well as what to do. That is the aim of your commanders' orientation talks. That is the aim of FOREWORDS.

The focal point of all our efforts is the ground combat soldier. Organizing, equipping, training, sustaining and supporting him so that he can perform his indispensable role in combat IS the Army role.

This role is equally significant in any kind of war — hot or cold. It is just as important in general war as it is in limited war. For our nation to entertain any notion to the contrary would be dangerous.

The danger could be social as well as military.

More than any other category of personnel in the Armed Forces, the ground combat soldier comes from the general populace. He is the private citizen under arms—the clenched fist of his people.

It is by no idle chance in the history of mankind that the course of democracy parallels the importance accorded the ground combat soldier in the military forces of nations. It is no exaggeration to say that the basic freedoms we now enjoy are closely related to his ascending importance on the battlefield since the Battle of Crecy. Nor is it an exaggeration, in my opinion, to say that the preservation of those freedoms will continue to be preserved by his place in the sun.

Only when men from all of the people are willing and ready to fight and die for freedom does freedom have meaning for them. Only then does democracy thrive. That is the inexorable lesson of history.

Beguiled by the mechanical marvels of an age, it is easy for people to forget the true character of the ground combat soldier's role in war. When free men have been so beguiled in the past, they have slipped back into vassalage. For the ability of the ground combat soldier to play his part in the social scheme of things depends upon the part he is given in the military scheme of things.

It will be a sorry day for all mankind in this supersonic nuclear age of ours should the ground combat soldier ever be deprived of his rightful place in the hearts and minds and military forces of his people.

In our efforts to avert this danger, a ONE ARMY attitude must pervade all ranks. The ground combat soldier is not a Guardsman, nor a Regular, nor a Reservist, nor a Selectee. He is simply the American fighting man on the ONE ARMY team. I appeal to every member of the team—civilian and military—to give his cause the enthusiastic support merited by its vital importance to our country.

MEMO FROM THE CHIEF OF STAFF:

FIVE-POINT PROGRAM

To Meet the Possible Challenges Posed by Limited War.

- MODERNIZATION OF APPROPRIATE EQUIPMENT
- IMPROVED STRATEGIC MOBILITY OF LIMITED WAR FORCES
- PRE-PLANNED USE OF AIR AND SEALIFT
- EXPANDED JOINT PLANNING AND TRAINING
- PUBLICIZING LIMITED WAR STRENGTH

It's That Time Again

Besides switching over to the new pay system this month the Post Finance Office will distribute 1958 Withholding Statements (W-2 forms). The W-2 is essential for computing 1958 Federal Income Tax.

Anyone who made more than $600 during the year 1958 must file a Federal Income Tax. In many cases allowable deductions and exemptions will be such as to entitle one to a refund of part of the money withheld during the year. In other cases an additional payment beyond that already withheld will be required.

Military personnel and their dependents who have questions concerning their Income Taxes are urged to call on the Legal Assistance Branch of the Office of the Post Judge Advocate located in Building 36 for advice and assistance.

Courtenay Lecture Sked

Missouri for the Japanese surrender.

Mr. Courtenay remained in Japan with the Occupation Forces until July 1950 when he sailed with the 1st Cavalry Division for Korea. He also served as a correspondent in the French Indo-China Campaign; from time to time with the Malaya jungle operations against Communists; and was a recent visitor to Aden Protectorate and Cyprus.

His tour of Bay Area installations will begin Monday, 2 February at the Presidio of San Francisco. At 0800 Mr. Courtenay will speak at Harmon Hall to XV US Army Corps (Res) personnel, and at 1300 to the 561st Engineer Company at the Fort Baker Theater.

On 3 February, at 1000, he will continue his lecturing at the Fort Mason Post Theater, and at 1300 will speak to 30th Engineer Battalion, and 40th AAA Brigade Personnel at the Presidio Post Theater, and on 4 February at 1300 will talk to United States Army Garrison Units, and Special Troops at the Presidio. On 5 February at 1000, Mr. Courtenay will speak at the Oakland Army Terminal Post Theater, and then return to the Letterman Army Hospital Theater at 1300.

He will complete the first round of his Bay Area Installation tour on 6 February at the Presidio Post Theater, when he speaks to members of the Presidio WAC Company at 0800, and to officer personnel at 1300.

Moonshot 90% Success, Measures Radiation Belt

Washington (AFPS)—Nature makes no compromises in space with mankind, whose greatest hopes for worldly achievement lie in cooperation.

Attesting to the exacting demands on man's probes into space and the unyielding forces of nature is the marginal 3.7-second burnout failure of the Army's Pioneer III which led to the four-stage missile's plunge to a fiery finish over North Africa on 7 Dec.

In the shot, considered 90 per cent successful, the 13-pound instrumented nose cone of the Army's first vehicle hurled beyond a satellite orbit of the earth was burned up in the atmosphere 55 miles above the African jungle after being tracked 66,654 miles into space.

Major Gen. John P. Medaris, head of the Army's Ballistic Missile Agency, Huntsville, Ala., declared the launching accomplished its primary objective, which was to measure and record the width of the dangerous band of radiation encompassing the earth.

In fact, scientists of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration—civilian space agency for which the research probe was made—claimed they gathered twice as much information on the radiation because Pioneer III passed both ways through the deadly zone's peak more than 20,000 miles out.

The Army said the modified Jupiter IRBM, dubbed Juno II, failed in the secondary goal—to skirt the moon and orbit the sun—because it fell short of the planned velocity by some 500 m.p.h., due to adjustment of a fuel-mixture valve, and veered off course.

Experts explained that fuel in the first stage of the vehicle cut off 3.7 seconds early so that the missile did not achieve the 24,530 m.p.h. required to break from the gravitational pull of the earth.

Pioneer III, the Army said, lifted off from Cape Canaveral at 12:45 A.M., E.S.T., 6 Dec. at only 24,000 m.p.h. and tilted 3½ degrees from its intended flight path, eventually to swerve back toward the earth and disintegrate 38 hours, six minutes later.

During World War II

Was Sixth Army Combat Pilot

"I was scared to death when those Zeroes attacked," Major Carroll E. Cary, recently assigned here as assistant finance and accounting officer, Sixth Army, said as he recalled his experiences as a liaison pilot with 6th Army during the Pacific Campaigns of WW II.

This was at Leyte Province, during the battle for the Philippine Islands in 1944, when Major Cary, then a captain, was a member of the 465th Field Arty. Bn. assigned to 6th Army.

His job was to direct from the air, fire from 8-inch howitzers onto enemy targets. Several times while performing his mission he had to flee from enemy planes.

"We flew slow, light L5's, but we were able to evade the Zeroes after they attacked by flying low, almost following the contour of the earth. The Zeroes were too fast to maneuver at very low altitudes and had to give up the chase."

Enemy planes weren't the only dangers faced by these pilots. In order to perform their basic mission of directing fire, Major Cary and his fellow pilots had to practically "sit" on their targets.

Consequently, "quite a few planes were lost both from our own artillery fire and the Japanese."

Still another hazard was the AAA and small arms fire. Because of their attempts to keep their camouflaged positions concealed the Japanese would not fire at us during the day.

"It was a different story in the evening as they usually changed their positions during the night and then they would throw up everything at us."

For his services during this Campaign he received the Air Medal.

Ironically, when a welcome change came and he was transferred to 6th Army Headquarters as a liaison pilot, which was considered less dangerous, Major Cary received his closest call.

It was the day after American paratroops landed at Corregidor and he had flown then Brig. Gen. Homer W. Keefer, Arty. CG, from Manila to observe the maneuver and back to his Headquarters. He then had to return to the "Rock."

After making a few passes at the landing field, a parade ground, and fighting strong winds, he attempted to land, but a strong gust tipped the plane over on its side and a wing and the tail section were ripped off.

Unhurt, Major Cary had to wait two days before another plane could get to him and bring him out.

Many Changes Were Made During First Year Of Service

Sunday, 1 February, marks the first anniversary of the XVth United States Army Corps (Reserve) at the Presidio of San Francisco. The Corps was activated to serve as a coordinating body for Army Reserve activities in California, Arizona and Nevada. Reserve affairs had previously been administered by Military Districts in the three states. The activation was a part of the Army plan to put all Reserve units in the United States under the Corps concept.

Commanding General of the XVth Corps is Major General John W. Harmony, who was formerly Chief of the California Military District. Colonel Frank R. Maerdian served as Deputy Chief of the Military District from June 1956 and Deputy Commander of the XVth Corps until his retirement in July 1958. Succeeding Colonel Maerdian was Colonel Douglas G. Dwyre.

The first Chief of Staff was Colonel James B. Evans, who became Commander of the Northern California Sector at its inception in the fall of 1958. Colonel E. B. Hempstead replaced Colonel Evans as Chief of Staff.

Turnover in personnel resulted in Colonel James K. Bell taking the place of Colonel Glynn C. McBride as Arizona Sector Commander during the past year. In Nevada, Colonel Thomas S. Dallas succeeded Colonel John G. Folkes in the Sector Commander post and in Southern California the transfer of Sector Commander Colonel John P. Dicks resulted in the selection of a new Commander, Colonel R. C. Ashby, Jr.

There were 79 Reserve centers in the three-state area at the time the Corps was activated. Since that time there has been an increase of eight new Reserve centers in less than a year, bringing the total to 87.

The organization was constituted on 1 October 1933, as Headquarters XVth Army Corps in the Organized Reserve, redesignated as Headquarters, XVth Corps on 19 August 1942 and ordered into active military service on 15 February 1943. During World War II the XVth Corps was responsible for the reception, training and re-equipping of many divisions for their departure for a theatre of operations.

During the time the Corps was in battle 26 divisions were attached to it at one time or another. Distinguishing itself in battle, the XVth Corps received campaign streamers for combat in Normandy, Northern France, Ardennes-Alsace, Rhineland and Central Europe.

The Corps was inactivated on 1 April 1951 at Camp Polk, Louisiana and redesignated Headquarters XV United States Army Corps (Reserve) and assigned to Sixth U.S. Army on 20 December 1957. Activation ceremonies were held 1 February 1958 at the Presidio.

Wins Certificate

A Certificate of Achievement was presented this week to Capt. Raymond L. Stull, QMC, for outstanding service to the US Army as commissary officer, United States Army General Depot, Nancy, France.

New Post Assistant ExO Was Top Combat Soldier

Lt. Colonel James R. Showers has been named to succeed Lt. Colonel Edward G. Paar, scheduled to retire tomorrow, as post assistant executive officer.

Col. Showers formerly was assigned to Exercise Rocky Shoals from 20 July until 1 January.

A recipient of two Bronze Stars, Col. Showers saw action in WW II and in the Korean Conflict. As a company commander in the 95th Infantry Div., Third Army, during WW II, he participated in the battles at Metz, Saar Basin, the Bulge, Meuse River and the Rhine.

His company, often involved in fierce house to house, "sometimes room to room" fighting lost all its officers and all but two of its platoon sergeants.

Besides receiving a Bronze Star, he was awarded the French Croix de Guerre for leading a joint American-French patrol into no-man's land before Metz. He received the Purple Heart after being wounded in this action.

From Jan. 1946 until 1949 Col. Showers was assigned to work with various Federal and Social agencies in Bremen, Germany, to aid refugees to migrate to new lands.

He was assigned as a battalion executive officer in the Second Division during the Korean Conflict. It was there that he won his second Bronze Star. Colonel Showers became an instructor in the NCO Squad Leaders School in Seoul after the armistice.

After leaving Korea he was assigned to Ft. Leonard Wood from February 1954 until June 1958 where he held positions as a battalion and regimental CO, and in post headquarters.

Col. Showers entered the Army in September 1940 after his National Guard unit in Everett, Wash., was activated. He had been a member of the Guard since 1936.

Col. Showers and his wife, Erika and their three children live in San Bruno. Their children are Charlotte, 3, Sabrina, eighteen months, and Cheryl, six months.

Army Vehicles Aid PO Over Holidays

The Post Office Department has returned 770 vehicles borrowed from installations in the Sixth U.S. Army area during the Christmas season, according to Colonel Louis Greenfield, Army Transportation Officer at the Presidio of San Francisco.

The vehicles, ranging in size from jeeps to 2½-ton cargo trucks, were used during the period of 2 December to 20 January to handle the great volume of mail during the holiday season.

All vehicles loaned were operated at no cost to the Army by post-masters in the eight states of the Sixth U.S. Army area.

Basic Ed. Classes Set

Basic education and individual supervised study, a class designed to aid those who have not completed the 8th grade, is being given in two sections, Monday through Friday, from 0800 to 1130, and from 1300 to 1630.

Instruction will also be available for anyone desiring special coaching for the high school GED or retesting on their Army Classification Battery for service school requirements.

Entrance to the class is by application to the Education Advisor at the Army Education Center, Bldg. 258, Ext. 2974.

The Richmond-San Rafael Bridge, located on the upper part of San Francisco Bay, is the longest continuous steel bridge in the world, totaling 5½ miles.

Information Agency Is Poking Holes In Iron Curtain

Philadelphia, Pa. (ANS)—George V. Allen, Director of the U.S. Information Agency, told the World Affairs Council of Philadelphia last week that the United States has managed recently "to poke five small peep-holes in the Iron Curtain."

He listed the five as:

- The increasing two-way flow of visitors to the Soviet Union and the U.S.
- The Voice of America (which he termed "America's ICTM, for Inter-Continental Truth Missile.")
- The popularity of the monthly USIA magazine America Illustrated in the USSR.
- The new acceptance of U.S. motion pictures.
- The forthcoming U.S. national exhibition in Moscow next summer.

"Every time we open a hole in the Iron Curtain and let the light in," Mr. Allen said, "we score in the battle of ideas."

Hasn't Faded Yet

General of the Army Douglas MacArthur celebrated his 79th birthday on the 26th of this month. He was honored at a special banquet at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel by former members of his staff.

Taps Sounded

Major Henry Schroeder, the man who sounded the charge at San Juan Hill in the Spanish-American War, died Tuesday at 84 in Long Beach. He was believed before his death to be the oldest holder of the Medal of Honor, which he won in the Philippine Insurrection in 1898.

Army Signal Scores Major Breakthrough With New Cool-Tube

Washington (ANS)—Development of a new, cool-running radio tube, considered the first major breakthrough in basic tube design in more than thirty years, was announced this week by the Department of the Army.

The radically new tube, developed jointly by the U.S. Army Signal Research and Development Laboratory, Fort Monmouth, New Jersey, and Tung-Sol Electric Incorporated, Bloomfield, New Jersey, glows blue instead of red and uses less than one-tenth the power of a standard hot cathode tube.

The new "cold cathode" tube could be the forerunner of a new line of general-purpose tubes for broad military and civilian use. Due to its potential reliability, the tube may outlast any equipment in which it is used. In the future radios and TV sets equipped with cold tubes may rarely, if ever, need tube replacement.

Secretary Dedicates New Building At C & G Staff College

Ft. Leavenworth, Kans. (ANS)—Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker, this week dedicated the new academic building of the Command and General Staff College which has been named in honor of Maj. Gen. J. Franklin Bell, who is known as the "father of the modern Army school system."

General Bell was Commandant of the college from 1903 to 1906 and Army Chief of Staff from 1906 to 1910.

The new building has twenty-four 50-man classrooms, auditoriums, a faculty briefing room, conference rooms, library, archives, and staff and faculty offices which will permit the consolidation of all resident instructional facilities under one roof.

Free Typing Class

Military and civilian personnel with some basic knowledge of typing may enroll in a free three-week brush-up course that will start at Presidio on Monday, 2 February. Instruction will be given from 0900 to 1100 (9 to 11 a.m.) daily, Monday thru Friday, in Bldg. 252 under a certified civilian instructor. Students may go directly to class on 2 February to enroll, or may call the Army Education Center, Ext. 2974, for registration and information.

Pioneer III Tapes Show Solid Data

Washington (ANS)—Dr. William H. Pickering, Director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's recently assigned Jet Propulsion Laboratory, said that PIONEER III, which was propelled into space by the Army's JUNO II, provided an unexpected dividend of information.

He said that telemetry tapes for both the launch and the trip back to earth show solid data as to some of the energy levels in the radiation belt as well as some idea of the physical limits of the belts. "I am greatly pleased with this significant result of the experiment, as well as by the evidence that the tracking network proved itself most efficiently," Dr. Pickering stated.

UBAC MERIT AWARDS went to the Presidio and four individuals at ceremonies in the office of the Commanding Officer this week. Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Post CO, displays the Presidio award to individual winners (l. to r.) Col. Harold H. Brown, Post Comptroller and UBAC Project Officer, Maj. Charles Dong, Secretary Treasurer, and Capt. E. W. B. Hassett, Vice Chairman. Not present for the presentation was Capt. William L. Gerardy, Assistant Project Officer, Sixth Army G1.

Tighten Math Requirements For Special School Courses

Sixth U.S. Army has tightened up regular prerequisites for personnel applying for certain courses requiring a background in mathematics and science.

According to Sixth Army Circular 2-39, 1958, "each applicant or nominee, other than enlistments through U.S. Army Recruiting Main Stations and reservists not on active duty, for an Army Service School course requiring knowledge in trigonometry, algebra, mathematics and/or science is required to attain a passing grade on Form A or B of the Hq. USCONARC Basic Mathematics and Science Proficiency Test or Tests 1 or 2 published by the AA and GM School Electronics and Engineering Department, Fort Bliss, Texas, administered by the Army Education Centers at each station."

Waivers will not be requested.

This Sixth Army requirement was initiated because of the number of applicants who met basic Department of the Army math and science prerequisites but who, over the course of years, had forgotten much of the essential knowledge.

537th Company Clerk Named Best Soldier At 30th Engineer Bn.

Private First Class Willam T. Brown of the 537th Engineer Company (Survey Base) has been selected as the 30th Engineer Battalion Soldier of the Month. Pfc Brown serves as Company Clerk for the 537th Engineer Company.

For his achievement, Pfc Brown received a certificate of achievement from Lt. Col. Richard M. Underwood, Battalion Commander; he will be exempt from all duty rosters for 30 days, and will receive a three day pass.

A native of Vienna, Illinois, Pfc Brown attended Southern Illinois University where he was a graduate assistant in Geology. Upon his induction into the armed forces, he received basic training at Fort Carson, Colorado and was then assigned to the 537th Engineer Company. Upon his separation from the service in May 1959, Pfc Brown plans to continue his education towards a Masters Degree in Geology.

Math Classes Start

A daily five-week class in general mathematics, especially designed to help anyone desiring to go on to Electronic and Guided Missile service schools, is scheduled to start here on 9 February.

Subject matter for the 0800 to 1630 course will include algebra, geometry, trigonometry, and basic electricity, including physics.

Army Moons Log 175 Million Miles

Huntsville, Ala. (AFPS)—Two of the Army's three satellites launched in 1958 logged more than 175,000,000 miles in their continuous orbits around the earth during the calendar year.

The third satellite, Explorer III, traveled 34,100,000 miles during its 94-day lifetime.

Explorer I, the first US artificial satellite, was launched on 31 Jan. 1958, and is expected to continue in orbit for another 5-7 years. As of 31 Dec., scientists figured the satellite had traveled 120,737,000 miles.

Launched on 26 July, 1958, Explorer IV is estimated to have logged 59,156,000 miles up to 31 Dec. It will probably remain in orbit for another 11 or 12 months, according to Smithsonian Observatory scientists.

Attache Jobs Open

Washington (ANS)—DA Circular 611-26 has just been published listing officer vacancies in the Army Attache System for which the tentative date to start training occurs in 1959, 1960 and 1961.

Officers on active duty in the grade of Captain and above may apply, in accordance with AR 611-60, for these vacancies. Applications normally should be submitted 12 months prior to the date training is scheduled to begin.

No Temporary Thing!

New York, N.Y. (ANS)—The Committee for Economic Development—a group of 150 leading businessmen and educators dedicated to "thoroughly objective" research for the general welfare—warned in a statement published here recently that the United States "must assume that the Communist threat will continue into the distant future," and that the Soviet block has a great capacity for conducting "limited war."

The United States must meet the challenge, the committee emphasized.

Rhee Infantry Student

Kingsuk Rhee, son of South Korean President Syngman Rhee, will begin infantry leadership courses next month in the U.S. Infantry School at Fort Benning, Ga.

"I often had nightmares..."

kaleidoscope

By MARTIN REIN
PIO Reporter

"The first time I went up, I felt horrified and when we made that turn by the bridge, I started to pray."

That's how Mrs. Helen "Pat" Walsh, a mother of four grown children, reacted to her first flying lesson which was also her first airplane ride.

And why should Mrs. Walsh, chief, Administration Branch, Civilian Personnel Division, learn how to fly, much less enter a plane after resisting this mode of transportation all her life?

"I thought I could conquer my fear that way. I decided if I was going to do it (fly), I would learn right from the start," Pat said.

So about nine months ago she went to the Presidio Flying Club and began her "therapy."

On New Year's Eve, Pat became the first on post female member of the club to solo, and much to her consternation as she landed there was not a soul in sight. Nor was she able to find any of her fellow members to tell of her dazzling achievement.

As disappointed as she was in not being "able to tell a soul" Pat saved her tail. "A club custom calls for cutting the tail of the shirt, blouse, or sweater that you solo in." She was wearing a cashmere sweater that day.

Pat squeezes in her flying time during lunch breaks and after working hours.

Since taking lessons two changes have occurred in her life:

She has flown commercially, flying to Kansas City for a convention. Of that flight she commented, "There were a few times that I didn't think the pilot knew his business. I sat where I could see the exhaust and watch for fire.

"Nothing, however, could compare to looking at cumulus clouds at 20,000 feet. A little old lady sitting next to me, who also was flying for the first time, and I had the same thought at looking out of the plane: How anyone looking out at this, could not believe in God!"

The second change has been the cessation of nightmares. "I'm one of those people who has often had nightmares about falling from great heights. Since I have been flying, they've stopped."

Besides learning how to fly, Pat has many other interests.

Four of them are her children: Jack, a teacher at Piedmont High School, studying for his doctorate; Jimmy, drama major at San Francisco State; Jerry, former all-city high school basketball star and presently a professional baseball player—he hit 360 and had 119 RBI's for Visalia in the California League last year; and Joan, a chief usherette for the San Francisco Giants and head bookkeeper for an auto agency.

Jack and Jimmy are married. Joan and Jerry still live with their mother.

The children were brought up by their mother who divorced their father when they were infants. It wasn't until 1952 that she remarried. Last year her husband was killed in an auto accident.

Since then, Pat has spent more time on outside interests. She is president of Local No. 1, of San Francisco Chapter of the National Federation of Federal Employees. Pat has been a member of the union since 1941 when she first arrived at the Presidio. She devotes from eight to twelve hours a week to this job.

Besides her union activities she attends Adult Education courses and is taking pre-flight aeronautics, and navigation courses. Her interest in education is great.

"I want to take Spanish and other courses. If I could quit work, I would go to college," she said.

In addition Pat finds time to be active in a number of personnel societies, Federal and non-Federal.

Pat's reaction to her solo flight is indicative of her attitude toward life:

"I hand a wonderful quiet feeling of accomplishment about soloing. To want to do something and do it, that is the thing."

Army Rocket Guide

To Aid Nation's Young Scientists

Ft. Jay, N. Y. (AFPS)—The Army's program to encourage youthful scientific research took another forward step with the distribution of a packet of educational material on rocketry to some 2,600 teen-age rocket clubs across the country.

The packet contains a 52-page handbook, "A Guide to Amateur Rocketry," prepared especially for amateurs by experts on the staff of the Army's Artillery and Missile School at Ft. Sill, Okla. The booklet is the first of its kind to give practical advice on the design and construction of amateur rockets.

Other items in the packet include an excerpt from the Army's first aid field manual covering the treatment of injuries from rocket fuels; a letter from the Civil Aeronautics Board outlining proposed changes to regulations governing rocket and missile flights; a Department of Defense booklet listing and describing every U.S. missile; and a copy of the "Army Information Digest" devoted to plans, programs and material under development for the Army.

Many of the rocket clubs identified by the First Army in its survey of amateur rocket activity consist of as few as two members, but average out to five per group. The survey indicates that more than 13,000 young scientists of tomorrow are currently engaged in rocket experimentation.

About 75 of the groups that have written to First Army are in foreign countries, with Canada, England, Mexico and South Africa most frequently heard from. One such club is in Nairobi, Kenya Colony.

"The United States Army desires to extend the maximum degree of cooperation to these budding scientists in their experiments," says Maj. Gen. T. E. de Shazo, commander of the Ft. Sill school, in his preface to the guide.

"We recognize, however," he adds, "that there is an ever-present danger in the use of experimental rockets. Our daily newspapers record altogether too many instances in which young students have been seriously injured. . . ."

In the interest of increased safety, Gen. de Shazo says, the Army at Ft. Sill has made available to young scientists in the area its range facilities to permit firing of experimental rockets with a high degree of protection.

PWC Will Host Top Decorator At Luncheon

Members of the Presidio Woman's Club will hold their February luncheon at 1230 at the Officer's Club on Thursday, 5 February. Wives of the Ordnance Section and wives of the Chaplain's Corps will be hostesses for the occasion with Mrs. Fred J. Gosinger and Mrs. Herman H. Hueur as chairmen.

Mr. Norman Black, decorator for W. G. Sloane and Co., will give a short talk "Fashions For Your Home". Mr. Black has been in the Bay Area for 15 years and is familiar with the problems of service wives. He is winner of the National G. E. Decorating Contest for the United States.

Cal. Feminine Leaders Will Visit Nike Sites

Major General E. J. McGaw, Commanding General of the 6th Region U.S. Army Air Defense Command (Pacific Coast Nike Defense), will be on hand in Los Angeles on 10 February when about 200 members of the California Federation of Women's Clubs meet with key officers of the Army's Southern California air defense units and their wives.

The purpose of the conference, to be sponsored by the 47th Artillery Brigade, will be to acquaint military commanders and leading clubwomen with each other, as the first step toward increased understanding between missilemen and their civilian neighbors.

Presidio Grabs Sixth Army Crown

GANGWAY as Fred Diehl (left) of the Ft. Lewis Chiefs blasts through the middle for two quick ones as Frank Evangelho of the Toreros arrives just a bit too late to block the shot. Above right—Smiles all around as Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Commanding Officer of the Presidio of San Francisco presents the Sixth Army Commander's Trophy to John Vesevich, Captain of the Presidio Toreros. This marks the third consecutive year that the Toreros have captured the title, setting a precedent in Sixth Army Basketball Tournament play.

Toreros Are Unbeaten; Chiefs Gain 2nd Place

By Pvt. Dale Clark
Star Presidian Sports Editor

The Presidio Toreros set a precedent by copping the Sixth Army Basketball Championship for the third year in a row. For the Toreros it was a walkaway as they sent the Ft. Lewis Chiefs down by the whopping score of 70-47. Leading at the half 41-17, Coach Hal Fischer emptied the bench as the Toreros coasted to victory.

Leading all scorers for the game was Fred Diehl of the Chieftains who meshed 19. Following hard behind were Bill VonWeyhe 17, Frank Evangelho 16, and John Perry 16, all for the Presidio team.

Tournament play opened as the Ft. Lewis Chiefs swamped the Tankers from Camp Irwin, 86-56. In the second game the Presidio Toreros bounced the quintet from Dugway Proving Ground 90-49.

Action in the second round saw Dugway eliminate the Tankers of Camp Irwin 63-54 in a hard-fought battle. Jim Whatley and Harold Richardson of Dugway pooled their talents to gather 18 and 17 points respectively. Game honors went to Ransom Robinson of the Tankers with 26 as his teammate Erland Laursen hit 15.

In the battle of the unbeaten ranks, the Presidio Toreros put themselves on the long end of a 79-64 score against the Chiefs from Ft. Lewis. Trailing throughout the game, the Toreros finally managed to knot the score with 4 min., 25 secs. to go and went on to a blazing finish for the margin of victory. Pacing the scoring was Bill VonWeyhe of Presidio with 28 points but the bright star for the Toreros was John Vesevich who snagged 23 defensive rebounds and garnered 24 points in the process. The victory clinched a berth for Presidio in the finals of tourney play.

To determine who would meet the undefeated Toreros in the finals, the teams from Dugway and Ft. Lewis squared off in a consolation match. Dugway almost pulled an upset on the taller Ft. Lewis squad but ended upon the light end of a 46-40 score. Big guns for the Dugway team were Jim Whatley with 14, and Harold Richardson, 9. The scoring for Ft. Lewis was spread evenly as Joe Alligood hit 11 and Harry Watson 9.

Once again the Chiefs met the team responsible for their only defeat in the person of the Presidio Toreros. The chips were on the table but the Toreros held all the winning cards as they proceeded to squash the Chiefs 70-47.

Outstanding stars competing in the tournament were selected to be on the All-Tourney Team, leading to tryouts for the All-Army team to be conducted at the Presidio of San Francisco next month. The All-Army team will compete in the National AAU Tourney with the winner going to the Pan American Games.

Top scorer in the tournament was Bill VonWeyhe of the Presidio Toreros with 66 points for a 22-point average. Honors for second were nearly split by two men as Harry Watson of the Ft. Lewis Chiefs and Jim Whatley of Dugway had 51 and 50 points respectively. Whatley sports the better average as his total was garnered in three games while Watson played in four.

The All-Tourney Team is as follows:

| GUARDS          |           |
|-----------------|-----------|
| John Perry      | PSF       |
| Harry Lux       | PSF       |

Thunderbirds Thud In Meeting With SF State Gators

The Thunderbirds from 6th Region Headquarters Detachment journeyed to San Francisco State College's Gym and met a disastrous fate at the hands of the Golden Gators as they wound up on the short end of a 64-39 score.

It was a case of "too much" as far as the Thunderbirds were concerned. The Golden Gators had too much speed, youth and ability and only in the latter stages of the game could the Thunderbirds rally to match basket for basket.

Cold is the only word available to describe the opening of the game as neither team could find the range for the first 4 minutes and 25 seconds. The Thunderbirds finally broke the ice for their only lead of the evening, making it 1-0.

Bright spot for the 6th Region quintet was center Pfc. Fred Cagle with 19 points followed by forward Sp4 Jack Moriarty and guard Pfc. Jerry Hellum with 8 and 7 respectively.

The loss put the Thunderbirds' record at 3 and 5 for the season. In Air Defense League play their record is 2-2 after winning their last two games.

Intramural High Scorers Set Pace In League Play

Scoring races have begun to develop in the Intramural League play with several individuals showing up well in every game. Following is a list of scoring for the top cagers in each league with at least three games played:

| Air Defense League |           |         |
|--------------------|-----------|---------|
| Player             | Points    | Average |

| Douglas .....      | 36        | 12.0    |

Pacific Keg Season Ends; Shatters Lead Own League

Play in three of the bowling leagues tightened up with the second place teams in each league sitting only one game out of the lead.

The Shatters hold first place in the Presidio league by one game as they blanked SFAADS 4-0 while their rivals, the Keystone Kops, dropped one game. For the Shatters it was Thrailkill with 568-199 as Schweikhard of SFAADS hit 440-169.

Tied for first last week, the Keystone Kops had a 3-1 match with the Alley Rats and find their loss a costly one. For the Kops it was Johnson with a hot 597-213, while Iwai of the Rats rolled 505-179.

The King Pins dumped the Islanders 3-1 as Dennis kegged 508-193 for the winners and Lundahl hit 485-174 for the Islanders.

The Recruiters shackled 60th CI Det. 3-1 as Bolton warmed to the occasion 569-210. Gregor of the losers scored 490-171.

Action in the WAC Bowling League is getting tight as the Alley Kats bested the Brewmasters 3-1 to put themselves only one game out of the lead. Martinson of the Kats rolled 480-200 as Spillane of the losers carded a 503-177.

Powder Puffs and Orbits tangled with the orbits on the short end 4-0. Wansley of the Powder Puffs led with 420-157 but making it a close one was Harris with 419-169.

Wednesday Night Bowling League lead could conceivably change hands this week as the leading Nike quintet hold a slim one game lead over the Pickups.

Action in the league was curtailed last week as only two games were played. Fifth place Tyros caught the fourth place Alley Bys 3-1. For the Tyros it was Routen 538-213. Opozda of the losers rolled 498-202.

In the other game, the Pickups swept over the Guys & Dolls 3-1 with Johnson of the winners making 510-175 and Gibbs hitting 471-165 for the losers.

Holding a comfortable margin in the Pacific League, the leading Warrants didn't let up a bit as they waxed the Retorts 4-0 with Marlow leading the Retorts 488-180. Tops for the MRU squad was Andresen 570-201.

Retorts.

Hq. Co. 6A #2 in second place bopped the Hilltoppers 3-1 on the strength of a 556-214 by Lux. Adameitz of the Hilltoppers had 419-152.

Fourth place Hq. Co. 6A #3 knocked off third place AAA Sparks 4-0. Browning led the parade for the winners with 598-218, while Berry was tops for the losers 498-172.

Last place Missileers jumped on the Regioners 3-1 as Irving led the way 533-222. High for the losers was Schenk 529-192.

This is the end of the first round in the Pacific League and the individual standings are as follows:

High Individual Average—Browning, Hq. #3, 180.

High Individual Series: Marlow, Warrants, 613.

High Individual Game: Schneider, AAA Sparks, 255.

High Team Game: Hy. #3, 1069.

High Team Series: Warrants, 3003.

The G1 quintet still reign high and mighty in the Bay Bowling League with a 12½ game lead over their nearest rivals. In their latest test they trounced fourth place Compt-Rollers 3-1. Sabo led the way 554-202. High for the losers was Kunec 528-215.

Last place 6A Signal has found a new lease on life lately as they dumped second place JAGS 3-1 with Dennis leading the show 540-243. McAfee of the JAGS was tops with 577-224.

Garrison kept the Triple Aces off their back by bouncing them 3-1 as Opozda belted a 554-217. Ace of the Aces was Blumenfeld, who got with it and rolled 602-238, 209.

Hq. Co. 6A pulled the carpet from under third place MRU 3-1 as Lutz rolled a good 488-180. Tops for the MRU squad was Andresen 570-201.

Intramural Casaba Action At Tops In Three Leagues

Injuries Hit Spikers; Finish 4th In Tourney

By. Sfc. David L. Stanley
6th RADCOM PIO

With three of their top players injured or sick, the Presidio's Torero volleyball team last Saturday placed 4th in the Northern California AAU Volleyball tournament in Sacramento.

"Had the team been at full strength," said tournament officials and coaches of the top three teams, "they could well have won the Northern California title." The team is composed primarily of missilemen from the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery at Fort Scott.

The team won five games in the tournament before being eliminated from the double-elimination affair by a combined Hamilton-Travis Air Force Base team which placed second in the tournament. The other Presidio loss was a first game defeat at the hands of the Olympic Club of San Francisco.

Both the Olympic Club and Hamilton-Travis teams are composed of all All-American players with but one exception.

Al Kincaid the San Franciscan's big spiker, paced the way for the Toreros in the opening contest, along with spikers Dave Rhem and Jim Blair. Blair switched to spiking after Kincaid was injured in the fourth game of the day, and Bob Mendez took over setting chores. Leo Kaczmarek, newcomer to the team, also shared in the effort.

Kincaid, with a back injury of some sort, is currently hospitalized at Mather Air Force Base, near Sacramento.

The Toreros defeated Stockton, Sacramento and Fresno YMCAs and the Olympic Club "B" team and Oakland Naval Air Station in placing fourth. They were also hampered by the injuries to Sfc. Carlos Ramirez and the illness of team coach M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio.

The team will meet virtually the same opponents on 7 February in the AAU Invitational Tournament at the Embarcadero YMCA and Olympic Clubs in San Francisco. By that time at least Ignacio will be back in action, and perhaps Ramirez and Kincaid.

On 5 February the Toreros meet the Embarcadero YMCA in a tilt there.

Lone Post Boxing Rep Stands Good Chance In Tourney

Hitting the leather and rosin trail for Presidio in the forthcoming Sixth Army Boxing Championship will be Pvt. Tom Powell of the 197th Ordnance Detachment. The Championship is slated for Ft. Lewis on 3-5 February.

Hailing from Washington, D.C., Tom has spent ten months working for his "uncle." A product of the Golden Gloves tournaments, he was selected as "Outstanding Sub-novice of the Year" for his showing on the way to grabbing the welter crown in 1958.

Starting at the tender age of 12, Tom proved not so tender to his opponents as he copped the 85-pound Junior Golden Gloves Championship. Then came the long lay-off before returning to action to win the welter-weight City Championship and later, the same title in the Golden Gloves.

Little League Plan For '59 Meet Set; Ryan Will Retire

Little League baseball looms just around the corner for the Presidio teams in San Francisco. It will only be a short while before Dad shows Junior how to throw that famous old curve ball and Mom becomes widowed for the remainder of the season.

At a recent meeting of Three Little Leaguers, Mr. Robert Lolluck, 11 Hacienda Court, San Rafael, was elected District Representative to succeed Bob Ryan who has held the post for the past two years.

Mr. Ryan, retiring representative, stated that there will be a regional meeting of Western District Representatives at the Disneyland Hotel, Anaheim, California, 6-7 March. This meeting is being held in lieu of the Annual National Congress of Little Leagues.

District Three Little Leagues include all of those in Marin County plus the Golden Gate or Presidio teams of San Francisco.

Kelly Fires Record 28; One Point Sinks Waves

The opening round of the Presidio Women's Invitational Basketball Tournament was the scene of a comfortable margin of victory in one game and a hair-raising overtime win in the other.

Kudos in the first game went to the Presidio Toreras over the Letterman Army Hospital WACs by 59-26. The Toreras jumped off to a commanding 17-4 lead in the first quarter and proceeded to open the margin throughout the game. Chances for a Letterman victory were curtailed when their offensive star Stallings picked up four fouls in the first five minutes of play, and only returned to the game in the last quarter.

For the Toreras it was a scoring demonstration by Kelly as she poured 28 points through the nets for the night. Backing her up all the way was Phillips with 15. Top scorer for the Letterman sextet was Groseclose, who hit 18, followed by Stallings with 6.

In the second game the ladies from Hamilton Air Force Base came away with a storybook 41-40 overtime win against a strong team from Alameda Naval Air Station. Trailing by various amounts all through the game, Hamilton came from a 33-24 third quarter deficit to knot the game at 37 all and put it into an overtime period. Seemingly to gather strength from their experience, the Hamilton sextet put the pressure on Alameda for the victory.

Leading all scorers for the game was Sieg of the Alameda Hell Kittens, boasting a 25 point total. Pressing hard on her heels was Owram of the Hamilton team with 22.

In an effort to prepare the best Army players for interservice and Pan-American games, nine training camps have been established for basketball, boxing, wrestling, volleyball, track and field, swimming and diving, tennis and golf, in addition to baseball.

Post Quintet Will Face Tough Nazarene Five Here

Fresh from their triumph in the Sixth Army Basketball Tournament, the Presidio Toreros take on a tough Pasadena Nazarene College at Letterman Gym tomorrow night at 2000.

This is the same team that put the skids to all the other small colleges in California to gain a berth in the National Small College Championships held at Kansas City last year. They were defeated in the third round of the tournament by Tennessee A & I who went on to win the title. Currently they sport an excellent record and are leading their league again this year.

Next Tuesday the Toreros take to the hardwood again the always tough San Francisco Olympic Club. The Olympic Club will be seeking to avenge an earlier loss to the Toreros and bring a squad of top-notch veterans into their line-up to insure it.

Noted stars playing on the Olympic Club are: Ron Tomsic, All-American from Stanford; Phil Viklovich, USF All-American; Bob Plunkett, AAU All-American; Bill Romanoff, 6' 8" center from Oregon State; Bob Bogle, 6' 9" former Oregon Tech star; Marv Branstrom, 6' 9" center from San Jose State.

Game time is 2000 at the Letterman Gym.

C Btry. Proves Best In 4th Msl. Bn. Sports

The men from C Battery, 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery have won permanent possession of the Commander's Trophy for Sports Participation and Achievement.

To capture the trophy the men from C Btry. gained 819 points. Close on their heels were B Btry., 805; D Btry., 556; A Btry., 418. Points were given to teams competing in all sports of Battalion level or higher.

Sixth Army Sports Sked Big, Varied This Season

The Sixth Army Sports Program for 1959 features a heavy schedule in all activities. All competition at the Sixth Army level will be restricted to male personnel. Titles in boxing, swimming, tennis and golf will be on an individual basis. Competition level in volleyball will be installation teams. Baseball will be determined later.

First of the Sixth Army Championships was the recently completed basketball tournament at the Presidio of San Francisco. Coming up is the Sixth Army Boxing Championship at Ft. Lewis, 4-6 Feb.

Volleyball is the man attraction from 7-9 March as the competition gets under way at Ft. Lewis. Coming almost back to back will be the Swimming and Diving Championships 4-6 June and the Tennis meet 13-17 June, both to be conducted at Ft. Ord.

The duffers will reign supreme on 10-14 Aug. when the Golf Championship will be decided at Ft. Ord. The Presidio gets back into the act by hosting the Sixth Army Baseball Championship at a date to be determined in the near future.

Purdy Grabs Epee Honors In NorCal Fencing Tests

In their latest excursion into the fencing field the Letterman Army Hospital-Presidio of San Francisco fencing team walked off with first place honors. The occasion was the Northern California Épée Championships held at Berkeley, California. The man who rose to the occasion was Ed Purdy, who came through without suffering a loss. In winning, Purdy defeated several noted épée fencers, including one who ranks eighth in the United States.

The LAH-PSF team placed other members well up in the standings on the match. Lt. Ben Firth took 4th, Col. Laurance Brownlee 6th, M/Sgt. Severo Pasol 8th, and Lt. Gene Hardy in 10th.

Tonight the LAH-PSF team will be duelling in the Northern California Class B Foil Team Championships held at the San Francisco School of Fencing, 3015 Clement St., San Francisco. Starting time for the event is 2000 and all the teams from colleges and fencing clubs in the area are expected to be in competition. The LAH-PSF teams have won this event in the past years and are putting their crown on the line once again with three teams representing them.

Colorful Ceremonies Highlight Reactivation 40th Arty Brigade

Four men of the San Francisco-Travis AFB Army Air Defense received Commendation Ribbons with Metal Pendants last Friday at Ft. Baker during a special retreat parade honoring the reactivation of the 40th Artillery Brigade.

Receiving the honors were: CWO Samuel R. Liles Jr., for his work as integrated Fire Control Officer of the 4th Msl. Bn., 67th Arty.; M/Sgt. Steve Shish, Hdqs., 30th Arty. Gp., for his service in Korea as supply sergeant for the S-4 Section of the 3rd Medium Tank Bn., 40th Armor, 1st Cavalry Div.; Sfc. Paul Morazzini, 66th Signal Det., 1st Msl. Bn., 61st Arty., for performance as a Chief Radar Repairman; and Sp6 Dale E. Kringler, Hq. 30th Arty. Gp., for work as a legal clerk.

Other awards given were: "Best Battalion," 1st Msl. Bn., 61st Arty.; reenlistment and sports, 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty.; C Btry., 2d Msl. Bn., 51st Arty., tops in integrated Fire Control and Best Barracks; and D Btry., 2d Msl. Bn., Best Launcher Area and Craft Shop.

Top honors for Defense Acquisition Radar went to "Flo," at Sharp Park, while B Btry., 1st Msl. Bn., 61st Arty., Travis AFB, had the most efficient Nike Acquisition Radar and Best Supply Section; A Btry., 4th Msl. Bn., won the award for Best Security, and B Btry., 2d Msl. Bn., 51st Arty., took three awards, Best Engineering Equipment, Best Day Room, and Best Motor Pool.

First place in the Best Mass competition was taken by Sfc. Weader, Mess Steward of A Btry., 1st Msl. Bn., 61st Arty.

A native of Illinois, Col. Andrew R. Lolli, Commanding Officer of the newly-reactivated 40th Arty. Brigade, began his military career in 1940, and during World War II served as a battalion commander with the 90th Division in the European Theater.

A former Commissioner of Public Safety in New Jersey, Col Lolli, since joining the Army, has also served as Chief of Staff at Camp Hood, Texas, Director of Training in the Far East, Post Commander of Carlisle Barracks, Penn., Commandant of the Armed Forces Information School at Ft. Slocum, New York, and was Commanding Officer of the 23rd Anti-aircraft Artillery Group at Ft. Totten, New York, just prior to coming to San Francisco.

Education Center Makes High School Completion Easy

High school graduation can be of great value both in military and civilian life.

The Presidio Education Center is now offering a chance for a high school diploma to anyone desiring it. All that is required is to complete General Mathematics, Mondays and Thursdays from 1800-2100, and U.S. History and Government, Tuesdays and Thursdays, 1800-2100, beginning this week.

Following these courses, in April, will be classes in English and General Science.

Those completing all four courses of the series will be granted certificates at commencement exercises held twice yearly at Benjamin Franklin Adult High School.

Military personnel taking the classes and passing the USAFI GED High School Level Test may qualify for the diplomas either from San Francisco or their home town or community.

Students may register now at the Army Education Center, Bldg. 258, Ext. 2974, or may enroll directly at classes the first week of school.

New 40th AAA Brigade Boasts Top Combat Record In 3 Wars

Fort Barry, Calif.—A major reorganization of the Army Air Defense for the San Francisco Bay Area took place last Friday when the 40th Anti-Aircraft Artillery Brigade was reactivated to command the Bay Area's NIKE guided missile units.

Originally activated 31 August 1918, at Fort Hamilton, New York, the 40th Brigade has developed from horse-drawn artillery pieces to the modern supersonic NIKE-AJAX and HERCULES guided missiles. It is again ready to assume an active role for the U.S. Army.

A parade and review to honor the reactivation was held at Fort Baker, Calif. The 40th Brigade now takes command of the 29th and 30th Artillery Groups of the San Francisco-Travis AFB Army Air Defense, with headquarters at Fort Barry. 30th Group headquarters, which, until the activation of the 40th Brigade, had exercised operational and command control of the Defense, will be located at Fort Winfield Scott.

Originated in 1918 as part of the Coast Artillery Corps, American Expeditionary Force, the 40th Brigade saw service in France at the end of World War I, then returned to Fort Hamilton and was demobilized.

The 40th was reconstituted in October, 1933, again as part of the Coast Artillery, but this time on the Army's inactive list. It was activated into the Regular Army 23 January 1941, at Fort Sheridan, Ill.

The Brigade then saw service in the Pacific during World War II, and campaigned in the East Indies, New Guinea, Southern Philippines, Luzon and Leyte. The Brigade was decorated in 1944 with the Philippine Presidential Unit Streamer. In 1946 it was deactivated.

In 1949 the unit was activated at Yokohama, Japan, where it maintained the air defense for the U.S. air bases in and around Japan.

Regulars May Change Services Under Law

Washington (AFPS) — The Defense Department has published a new directive which permits the transfer of regular officers from one service to another.

The directive (1300.4) was authorized by the 85th Congress under Public Law 85-599.

The three departments—Army, Navy, Air Force—are to implement the new DOD directive within 60 days after publication. Defense officials said the new directive is now at the printer and distribution can be expected soon.

With the exception of medical officers, the new directive applies to officers holding regular commissions in the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps.

Medical officers will continue to be governed by existing regulations, the directive states.

The transfer of reserve officers on extended active duty is not applicable to this directive and will be covered in a separate DOD regulation, to be published later.

Although intended primarily for officers in technical fields, the new directive is not restricted to the technicians, the DOD said.

Defense Department policy, officials pointed out, dictates that an officer of any military service who is especially qualified to contribute to the success of an activity of another service will be given the opportunity without interruption to his career.

Transfers will be made only within strength limitations, the DOD said, and no officer will be transferred without his consent.

In addition, no officer transferred from one service to another will be appointed in another service with a higher rank or precedence than that held on the date prior to his transfer.

Requests for transfers will normally be originated by an appropriate agency, a military department desiring the services of an officer, or by the officer himself.

The Secretary of Defense will recommend to the President those requests for transfers he considers in the best interest of the Department of Defense.

The new DOD directive states that the continuity of the transferred officer's total military service will not be interrupted. Termination of presently held commissions and reappointment in another service will be handled by the affected service.

An officer's temporary grade and date of rank will remain the same as that held in his parent service on the day prior to transfer.

Officers transferring to another department under the new directive will be placed on the applicable promotion list or lineal-list of the armed service to which transferred.

The officer will be placed in an appropriate position as determined by the amount of promotion list service with which he was credited in his present service on the day prior to transfer.

Permanent grade and date of rank will be determined by applying that amount of promotion list service to the appointment laws pertaining to the gaining service.

Officers transferred under the new directive will be credited with unused leave accrued at time of transfer and also retain the total military service longevity they had on the date prior to transfer.

Five At West Point Win Appointments As Rhodes Scholars

West Point, New York (ANS)—Among the thirty-two United States students awarded Rhodes Scholarships this year are five Cadets of the Class of 1959 at the U. S. Military Academy. They are: Peter M. Dawkins of Royal Oak, Michigan; Michael James Gillette of West Point and Castine, Maine; Cuthbert Powell Hutton of Charlottesville, Virginia; Stanley M. Kanarowski, Jr. of Toledo, Ohio, and James Floyd Ray of Fort Lee, Virginia.

This is the highest number of Cadets named in any one year; previous records were four from the Class of 1955 and three each from the Classes of 1946 and 1954.

The Rhodes Scholarships, founded in 1903, under the will of Cecil Rhodes (1853-1902), British financier, statesman and graduate of Oxford University in 1881, bring to Oxford students from the United States as well as from nations of the British Commonwealth. Criteria for selection are based on qualities of intellect, character, leadership, and physical vigor.

The ultimate strength of the Western World is founded on the cornerstone of Justice—justice for and because of the individual. Justice, firmly embedded in Anglo-Christian law. Law that makes the state the servant of the people. Because this is so, our people will never succumb to the denuded ideas of police-state philosophers.

According to Mr. William Courtenay, noted soldier, war correspondent and lecturer, this is the "primary reason why the Free World soldier has no equal in combat."

"I have faced the Turks, Japanese, North Koreans, Chinese Communists, and many others, in battle, and not once did I feel that any of them were equal to the Anglo-American fighting man.

"The Japanese soldier had most of the prerequisites—discipline, dedication and even contempt for life—but he lacked that essential virtue, so commonplace in the soldiers of free nations, the ability and initiative to act individually when a set plan of concerted action failed, or when the fast changing tactics of the battlefield demanded individual leadership and effort."

A veteran of over 38 years of military experience of all types and in all climes, Mr. Courtenay feels strongly that the Infantry soldier will never be replaced.

"In England, we still call the Infantry 'the Queen of Battle.' We believe now, as ever, that weapons and tactics, regardless of their modernization, will never be successful, or even useful, unless the man who puts them into action is an expert in his profession. That man is today, and always has been, the field soldier. He must have a full understanding of the basic principles of Christian heritage. If he does, he will accept discipline and return you dedication and intelligence."

Mr. Courtenay is a firm believer that too much exposition of "theory and ideology" is a needless worry for the soldier.

"He really doesn't care about all the dialectics of Communist philosophy unless he is a pale, pimply fellow with a bent for intellectual charades; in that case he'll more than likely never become a really good soldier. It suffices to point out to him, early in his military training, that his freedom is threatened, that freedom engenders certain individual responsibilities and that it is up to him to fulfill his obligation to protect his way of life."

Mr. Courtenay believes that the inculcation of understanding and discipline is the direct responsibility of the unit commanders.

"In England we're keen on leadership. We train our young company officers that their very first

2386 For Sixth Army; No E-7 For Presidio

Some 2386 Sixth U.S. Army soldiers will have a chance to add another stripe to their sleeves before the end of this quarter on 31 March.

Of the 53,578 promotions allotted by Department of the Army for this quarter, Sixth Army will get five E-7; ten E-6; 113 E-5 and 2258 E-4.

Presidio won't have an E-7 promotion this time, but will have one E-6, three E-5 and 156 E-4.

Because of present Army-wide overstrength, appointments to pay grades E-7, E-6, and E-5 are not authorized in the following MOS's:

192, 191, 421, 518, 525, 542, 551, 553, 555, 621, 622, 631, 632, 643, 714, 719, 762, 764, 767, 941, 942, 943, 951, 073, 113, 635, 716, 717, 773 and 074.

It was also indicated that appointments are not authorized in grades E-7 and E-5 in MOS 768.

Deputy Surgeon Named To Top Sixth Army Job

The assignment of Colonel Raymond Harold Bunshaw as Sixth United States Army Surgeon was announced this week by Lt. General Charles D. Palmer, Sixth Army Commander.

Colonel Bunshaw has been Deputy Sixth Army Surgeon since August 1957. He came to the Presidio from Seventh U.S. Army, in Europe, where he served as Deputy Surgeon, and Surgeon.

He received his Bachelor of Arts Degree from the University of Michigan in 1931, and his medical degree from the University of Buffalo in 1935. Colonel Bunshaw entered the Army in 1937.

During World War II, Colonel Bunshaw served as Commanding Officer, 25th Medical Battalion, 25th Infantry Division, and Division Surgeon at Pearl Harbor, Guadalcanal, Northern

Col. R. H. Bunshaw

Solomons and Luzon, Philippines, from 1941-45.

From 1945-48 he was assigned to duty at Headquarters, Army Ground Forces in Washington, D. C.; Medical Section, Headquarters First U.S. Army from 1948-50, and as Deputy Surgeon, Army Field Forces, from 1950-53.

Colonel Bunshaw completed a course at the Army Medical Graduate School in 1939. He is also a graduate of the Army Medical Field Service School, Carlisle, Pa.; Armed Forces Staff College, Norfolk, Va.; and the Army War College, Carlisle, Pa.

Numbered among his awards are the Legion of Merit and Bronze Star Medal. He is a member of Theta Chi and Nu Sigma Nu fraternities.

Colonel and Mrs. Bunshaw (Gladys) have two children, Harold Raymond Bunshaw, 18, a freshman at Cornell University, and a daughter, Hollis Ann Bunshaw, 11.

Recondo Course

STRAC Leader Plan

Ft. Campbell, Ky. (AFPS)—Squad and fire team leaders in STRAC's 101st Abn. Div. are displaying the brand "Recondo" on their helmets.

Students practice repelling

It stands for reconnaissance-commando, and implies a mixture of airborne ranger and commando tactics. A Recondo School, which began classes here on Jan. 5, is offering a tough two-week course to corporals and above with at least 12 months to serve before discharge. Commandant of the school is Maj. Lewis L. Millet, a graduate of the British Army Commando School and winner of a Congressional Medal of Honor earned in Korea. The first class to attend the Recondo School was made up of members of the 187th ABG and consisted of approximately 40 students. "The two week course is a tough one," says Maj. Millet. "It covers everything from rope repelling down the side of a sheer cliff to long-range reconnaissance patrols."

Courtenay Interview

Army Air Needs

"As for the Infantry, or field soldier, being passé, we in England don't believe it. True, we must stress smaller, more versatile units, with top consideration of mobility, heavier firepower, and the very latest in combat equipment. However, don't you see, this puts even more demands on us to turn out a first class fighting man. His responsibility will be ten times greater than it has in the past, and the equipment he carries and uses will demand far greater training and knowledge than has ever been required of the individual field soldier. And mind you, it will be these units that will have to fight the brush fire. The type of small war that can happen at any time and any place.

"As for nuclear war, I think experience has shown us that when both sides have an ultimate weapon, i.e., gas, germ warfare, there is little chance it will be used, even in limited circumstances. At least not as long as conventional weapons can do the job. Then there is the moral problem to consider. . . ."

A combat pilot, as well as a soldier, Mr. Courtenay is an accepted expert in the field of military aviation. He has his own aviation news agency and contributed regularly to newspapers and periodicals on the subject. He views tactical air support and future of military aviation from a broad base.

"Although progress in aviation may change some of the tactics of Infantry combat in the years to come, it will, for the most part, return to the ground soldier the elements of 'mobility and surprise.' When the ultimate in 'direct lift' (vertical takeoff) is perfected, say 100-seater aircraft with speeds capable of up to 1500 miles per hour, we will be no longer dependent on airfields and will be able to disperse planes and troops to isolated and protected areas. This way, when we launch an attack, not only will it have the key element of surprise, but it will draw any counter attack away from populated areas.

"As for tactical air support, it will continue to play the same role as it did in World War II and Korea. The new flying platform, helicopters and advanced observation and communication systems will all be vital assets to the combat soldier in case of small or brush fire wars, or for that matter, even in a large conflagration. For the small, mobile combat units have the best chance to survive and fight another day in case of any sneak nuclear attack.

"Of course, there may be a need for closer coordination in tactical air for close combat support. This can be gained by providing the commander at the front with what he asks for, when he asks for it. It calls for very close inter-service harmony. We have recently in Britain established an Army Air Corps much like yours, and have given the Army the use of observation planes, helicopters and will undoubtedly give them priority on the 'hoppy birds' (one-man helicopters, flying platforms) when they are available on a production basis."

These were Mr. Courtenay's views on the Army in general, the field soldier in particular. He had other things to say about attitudes, politics and the world picture.

(Next Week: Mr. Courtenay views the British "intellectual" and his impact on English public opinion; Berlin, what it means today; the contribution that Britain feels she has to offer in the leadership of the Free World and the English attitude on Americans.)

State Adjutant General Dies Suddenly In Oregon

The Adjutant General of the State of Oregon, Major General Thomas E. Rilea, died suddenly at his home in Clackamas, Oregon, on Tuesday afternoon of this week.

A former Director of Selective Service for Oregon, Gen. Rilea enlisted in the Oregon National Guard in 1916, serving that same year as bugler and corporal of Infantry in the Mexican Border Campaign.

He was recalled to active service prior to the outbreak of WWI and served as a sergeant major until 1918. Commissioned a second lieutenant, AG, he served with the National Guard and with the AEF in France. He won the Purple Heart and was cited by the Oregon Legislature "for outstanding service."

Following WWI he became Executive Officer of the Oregon National Guard and advanced through the grades to Major General.

He was recalled to active duty in 1940 and was assistant division commander of the 41st Infantry Division, participating in the heavy fighting of the New Guinea and Papuan campaigns. He later commanded a large supply base in Australia.

General Rilea's awards and decorations included the DSM, Bronze Star, Commendation Ribbon with Pendant and the Legion of Merit.

He is survived by his wife, the former Helen Coe Webster.

Huntsville Agency Will Remain In Control of Army

Washington (AFPS)—Continued Army direction and control of its Ballistic Missile Agency at Huntsville, Ala., with a staff of 2,000 space scientists under Dr. Wernher Von Braun, has been approved by President Eisenhower.

However, in an executive order Mr. Eisenhower transferred from the Army to the civilian National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) the Jet Propulsion Laboratory at Pasadena, Calif. The laboratory will continue to be operated by California Institute of Technology.

Under terms of the order the Huntsville agency will undertake such research as its schedule of priorities permits.

It has been left to Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, head of the Army Ordnance Missile Command, to decide how much of Huntsville's capacity will be available to the civilian space agency.

Of the executive order, President Eisenhower said: "This decision is necessary in the national interest. It prevents unnecessary duplication and effects economies in space research and development."

Pickering, Allen Win Top Civilian Awards For Work

Washington (ANS)—Secretary of the Army Wilbur M. Brucker presented the Army's Distinguished Civilian Service Award to Dr. William H. Pickering and Dr. James A. Van Allen, during a special ceremony this week, at the Smithsonian Institution.

The awards were made during Secretary Brucker's presentation to the Smithsonian of a full-scale replica of the Army JUPITER-C missile with an EXPLORER satellite on the first anniversary of the launching of America's first satellite, EXPLORER I.

Dr. Pickering was cited for exceptional technological and leadership contributions to the Army's mission in the intermediate range missile and space fields as the Director of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory.

The honor was conferred on Dr. Van Allen, who is Chairman, Department of Physics, University of Iowa, for his exceptional contributions in the conception, planning and execution of the scientific research phase of the U.S. International Geophysical Year Program.

what they said

Efforts over the past few years to make San Francisco one of the nation's top convention cities have been greeted with mixed emotions. Some residents feel that too much commercialism might spoil the city's cultural atmosphere; others feel that increased revenue and distinction would be the end result of increased convention facilities. So this week we ask Presidians:

Question: What is your attitude toward making San Francisco an even greater convention city than it is?

ANSWERS

Pfc. Gerald Simon, administration clerk, 4th Missile Bn., 61st Arty., Ft. Scott: San Francisco offers enough varied activity that any visitor could find himself ample interesting things to do during his stay. The influx of conventioners certainly stimulates a certain amount of trade, and patronage to the cultural activities. I am in favor of making San Francisco an outstanding convention site.

Mrs. Grace Hilton, clerk, Operations Branch, Sixth Army Signal Section: I think conventions bring business and we have a lot to offer a convention: Scenic views that are world famous, Golden Gate Park—a beauty spot in itself, the Cliff House on a clear day, and so many others. Also there are so many nice places to eat here. It would improve conditions for stores, restaurants, and hotels and therefore I think they are good for the city. For the people in the mid-west who have not been near the ocean, visiting San Francisco should be an exciting experience.

Sgt. James R. Kneisler, Intelligence Office, Sixth Army Engineers Section: If I were a San Franciscan or a businessman earning my livelihood here, I would be most happy about it. Especially with all those "foreigners" bringing in that extra loot. Being a major convention city should further improve the cultural life of San Francisco. The exchange of ideas and cultures can only bring good to the community. If you are learning about someone else's ideas you can only benefit.

Mrs. Della D. Spry, clerk, Post Chemical Section, Battery Chamberlain: There are a number of advantages for a convention here, such as the Cow Palace, good hotel accommodations, and good eating places. Any big convention brings money into the city and increases trade. It lets the rest of the world know more about San Francisco which helps promote the tourist trade.

From the Army Almanac: The American flag was lowered from Fortress Ehrenbreitstein at Coblenz on January 24, 1923, ending the American occupation of Germany after World War I.

Thought for Today: "The location of the men on foot, struggling forward with the help of artillery, tanks, air, his own supporting weapons, and all the services, is still the gauge by which we measure success or failure."—General Joseph W. Stillwell.

Fifty Years Ago: On 28 January 1909, all United States troops were formally withdrawn from Cuba.

Requotable Quote: "If we desire peace, one of the most powerful institutions of our rising prosperity, it must be known that we are at all times ready for war."—General George Washington.

A Key to Peace: The Sixth United States Infantry was established at Fort Clay, Nebr., on 31 January 1856, as a defense for pioneers in the prairie country.

Warning: The Chinese Communist Party exercises complete control over the lives of the people through propaganda and terror backed up by a huge militia, the army, the secret police, "people's" courts and party units.—DA PAM 21-79.

Definition: Limited war may be defined as anything less than all out war. It is a war fought with some degree of restriction as to areas of conflict, targets attacked or weapons employed.—Army Information Digest.

Cal Teacher Says:

“Leadership Has Different Mein In Peacetime Army”

There are 21 persons currently enrolled in a course designed to help Presidio workers, both military and civilian, to improve their job performance and to bring about the “feeling of team membership.”

The course, Conference Leadership, is being given to officers and civilians in supervisory positions

“Lead, don’t drive!”
Richard Pfaff

by a University of California lecturer, Richard Pfaff. The class meets Wednesdays from 0800 to 1200 at the Service Club.

Pfaff believes that group loyalty, in this case the Presidio and the Army, can be brought about by a series of conferences between supervisor and subordinates which will give the workers a feeling of aiding in decisions.

“By promoting greater participation of their own employees and by becoming aware of the dignity of the individual in his job irrespective of the nature of the job, and to help them feel part of the Presidio team,” Pfaff said he hopes to aid supervisors achieve their key function.

He also pointed out that this course is aimed at preparing the Army officers for civilian life after they retire, since supervisory decisions are brought about in a different way.

“The modes of operation taught to the military for combat are not particularly applicable to a peace time post.

“Nor are they seldom, if at all, applicable to civilian life. The difference in the concept of leadership between the military as compared to the civilian is context.

“While responsibilities of leadership are essentially the same, the mode of implementation of decision is different,” Pfaff said.

The first Tunney-Dempsey match still holds the attendance record for boxing bouts at 120,757, while their second fight is still the top money-maker, with gate receipts of $2,658,660.

Thought for the Day: The Army’s military and civilian personnel work as a team, reports DA PAM 360-1—A team founded on the solid rock of mutual respect. The civilian workers are just as much a part of this team as the uniformed soldiers.

Two Retire In XV Corps Ceremonies At Presidio

The office of the XVth Corps Commanding General was the setting for retirement ceremonies honoring Lt. Col. Joseph W. Morrison and Major Adam W. Durham on 31 January at the Corps headquarters. Lt. Col. James Evans, Assistant Chief of Staff, G-1, read the citations which were presented to the retiring officers by Maj. Gen. John W. Harmony, Corps Commander.

Col. Morrison, who served as Assistant G-3 at the headquarters, ends 20 years’ active federal service. He served in overseas assignments in Japan, Korea, Turkey and the Mediterranean. Among awards and decorations he has received are the Combat Infantryman’s Badge and the Bronze Star Medal. His plans are to continue living in his Tamalpais Valley home with his wife and child.

Maj. Durham, retiring with 20 years’ active federal service, was the Infantry advisor to the 6227th USAR School in the XVth Corps’ San Francisco Area Command. He served in foreign missions in the Panama Canal Zone, Alaska, Japan, Saudi Arabia and the Mediterranean. He holds, among other awards, the Purple Heart, Combat Infantryman’s Badge and the Glider Badge. Maj. Durham intends to work in the Bay Area. He and Mrs. Durham and their three children live in San Anselmo.

Minute Editorial: “The National Guard today—as in the past—continues to typify the idea of the part-time soldier who prepares himself in peace for his military obligations in war. These volunteer citizen-soldiers stand in the first line of the Nation’s defenses as a deterrent to aggression and as a bulwark of our ever-growing ready forces in reserve.”—DA Pam 360-1.

NEWEST WEAPON—This is the new M-60 machine gun that will replace all U.S. machine guns now in use. The first of the new weapons, designed to fire the standard 7.62 m.m. NATO cartridge, rolled off the assembly line Dec. 29. The 23-pound weapon can fire 550 rounds a minute from the hip, shoulder or tripod.

FSJ Crusade To Start At Presidio On Sunday

Sunday is the launching day for a drive at the Presidio to gain funds for the Federal Service Joint Crusade, in conjunction with the Federal Service Campaign for National Health.

More than $929,000 was raised among U.S. Servicemen last year on behalf of these agencies, which support CARE, Crusade for Freedom, American Korean Foundation, Muscular Dystrophy, and the National Societies for Crippled Children and Adults and the Prevention of Blindness.

The American Korean Foundation is being included for the first time this year, but more than $11 million has already been located by the Foundation for rehabilitation projects in the stricken country. Every dollar given through AKF helps to shelter homeless orphans, train helpless war widows for self support, rehabilitate the maimed and sick, educate destitute children for citizenship, train teachers, doctors and technicians, support 4-H Clubs, and strengthen a new republic to fight Communism.

Each dollar contributed to CARE delivers a 22 pound package of food, enough to feed a family of four for a month. Voluntary contributions are essential, not for food, because the U.S. Government gives the farm abundance from America, but for packing and distribution.

Crusade For Freedom maintains Radio Free Europe, the private American broadcasting network which is fighting Communism relentlessly with its broadcasts into the Iron Curtain countries.

Help is also needed for the other groups; The National Society For Crippled Children and Adults, which last year put 160,000 people “on the road back”; The National Society For the Prevention of Blindness, constantly expanding research into causes of blinding eye disease and improving methods of treatment to save sight; and the Muscular Dystrophy Association, headed by Jerry Lewis and Mrs. Lou Gehrig, now conducting nearly one hundred MDAA research projects here and abroad.

3 Civilians Awarded Cash For Performance

Three Army civilian employees at the Presidio of San Francisco are a total of $500 richer today, because of superior performance of their government duties.

Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Deputy Commanding Officer, presented Department of the Army Superior Performance Award Certificates and checks for $200 each to: Mr. Edward G. Couture, Post Engineer maintenance foreman, 1974 - 34th Ave., San Francisco, and Mr. Myrle G. Wise, Post Signal photographic equipment repairer, 549 Redwood Ave., San Bruno.

Mr. Couture was cited for his consistent high standard of work accomplishments. He has been a Federal employee since 1941.

Mr. Wise received his award for performing his duties in an outstanding manner, accomplishing inspections, repairs and overhauls swiftly, while insuring the continued efficient operation of the equipment in the field.

He came to the Presidio as a civilian employee in 1946, following three years’ Army duty. Mr. Wise has also been awarded a Department of the Army Suggestion award and $20 for developing an instrument for checking tube testers.

The awards were granted through the local Army Incentive Awards Committee. Incentive awards are either cash awards, honorary awards or both. Cash awards are based on employee contributions which may result in either monetary savings or other benefits to the government. Honorary awards are granted employees in recognition of service which is determined to be meritorious or exceptional.

Mrs. Morgia Smith, supervisory clerk, Region I, 116th CIC Group in Oakland, was presented an “Outstanding” rating award, check for $100, and a Department of the Army Performance Award Certificate, from Colonel William Rainford, Commanding Officer, at an informal ceremony this week at the Presidio of San Francisco. This is her second such award.

Mrs. Smith, a University of California graduate, began her Civil Service career at the Naval Gun factory in Washington, D. C., in 1942. In 1944, she returned to California to work for the Douglas Aircraft Corporation. In 1945, Mrs. Smith returned to Northern California and worked for the University of California Extension Division. She reentered Civil Service in 1954, and was assigned to the 115th CIC Group.

Recently Assigned

The new Personnel Services Officer, Officers Personnel Unit, AG, 2d Lt. NEIL R. SLOCUM entered active service in 1958 after completing his ROTC training at the University of Iowa.

Lt. Slocum was trained at AG school at Ft. Harrison, Ind., and after completing the course was assigned to Sixth Army Headquarters here arriving Dec. 11.

He and wife, Margaret, live at the Presidio.

By Sp3 MARTIN REIN
PIO Reporter

He stepped jauntily out of the courtroom, walked briskly down the corridor and through the doors into a bright new world.

Sp4 Harald Scherwinski looked up at the sunlight and thought, "this day was especially made for me." And possibly it was, as Harald after waiting the required five years became a naturalized citizen of the United States.

A member of Hq. Co., Special Troops, he is the first person in his family, parents, five sisters and two brothers, to become a citizen of the United States.

The Scherwinskis came to America from Germany 1 July, 1953 because Harald's father, "wanted to give the children a better opportunity."

One of the few members of the Latter Day Saints Church — derived from the Mormon Religion founded by Joseph Smith — the elder Scherwinski felt the only logical place to settle his family was in Salt Lake City.

There are many memories of Germany that Harald retains, some unpleasant. The family home was in Elbing, a West Prussian industrial city, near the Danzig Corridor.

Mr. Scherwinski earned his living, as he does now, by being a genealogist, a person who traces family histories. His favorite joke is that his family can be traced back to Adam and Eve. That is Adam and Eve Scherwinski in the 1700's.

When Harald was fourteen the family moved 200 miles west of Elbing to Pomerania six months ahead of the Russians' entry into Elbing. During the battle for that city, a shell struck their house and his grandmother and two aunts who remained behind were killed.

After building a house in Pomerania, the family left, via cattle car, because of harassment by the Russians. They spent six months in Saxony before settling in Langen, which is near Frankfurt in West Germany.

From 1946 until they were able to gain admittance to the United States in 1953 they remained in Langen.

Unable to speak English, Harald, then 19 years old, went to night school and later was able to earn a high school diploma. Although drafted into the Army on March 5, 1957, he has continued his education.

Presently he is attending City College here at night taking trigonometry. This September Harald expects to enter the University of Utah in Salt Lake City where he will major in mechanical engineering.

Physically, Harald is 5 foot 11 inches, and of medium build. His dark-blondish hair is cut in a crew style. Very dark brown eyes are his most prominent physical feature.

Nervously fidgeting with his Green uniformed hat, he tried to explain his emotions upon becoming an American citizen.

"I felt like anyone would feel after being a citizen of Germany, or any other country, and being made an American citizen," he said.

He paused, and while fingering the bill of his hat, tried to explain his thoughts:

"I don't want you to say that I was not proud of being a German, because I am, but it is a privilege to be an American. I feel that the United States, its constitution and its history is something to be proud of," he said.

Again he stopped speaking and then added, "While as you know during my life at least, we (Germans, Ed. note) lived under a dictatorship.

"America is the land of freedom for your European people who have been living under dictatorship."

While Harald was taking one of the preliminary exams in the process of becoming a citizen, an examiner said, "he would make a fine prospective citizen."

He isn't prospective any more.

"The Army force specifically oriented toward readiness for limited war is the Strategic Army Corps, or STRAC, which is based in the United States, together with the back-up forces supporting its employment."—Army Information Digest.

Cash Awards, Trophies For Local Productions

Post Special Services announced this week that plans have been completed for the Second Annual Presidio Playwriting Contest. Three one-act plays will be selected by a panel of experts on 23 April and the plays will be produced by the Entertainment Section on Friday 12 June.

Last year, "Five Minutes to Dawn," by Pvt. David Sofield, won top honors. "The Wrong Slant," by Sp3 Linden Chiles, was second, and "Nude With Nike," by Sp3 Wolcott W. Hubbell, Jr., was third.

Acting honors went to Sp3 Maxy and Delores Shoemaker. Pfc. Eugene English won the award as the best director for his work on "Five Minutes to Dawn."

Manuscripts, dealing with some phase of contemporary Army life, should be submitted before 1600 hours 15 April. Prizes of $25, $15, and $10 will be awarded to the winning playwrights. Trophies will also be given to the best actor, actress, director and playwright.

This year final judging will be by a panel instead of applause.

Playwrights have the choices of directing their plays, selecting a director, or allowing the Entertainment Section to obtain one.

Harry Helman, Post Entertainment Director, emphasized that manuscripts have to conform to the language code of radio and television.

Other rules are:

Manuscripts must be for one-act plays — musicals are not eligible for competition — with production time ranging from 20 to 45 minutes.

Only active-duty military personnel on the Presidio and its subposts including Letterman Army Hospital, XV U.S. Army Corps (Reserve), Sixth Region, U.S. Army Defense Command, and the Sixth U.S. Army will be eligible to enter the contest. Personnel on a tour of active duty of 90 days or less are not eligible.

Typewritten manuscripts should be submitted on 8½ x 11 bond paper and triple-spaced. A separate title sheet should accompany the manuscript, including name, rank, unit and title of the play. Author's name should not appear on any page in the body of the play.

Entries should be sent to Play Contest Editor, Room 211, Building 87A, Presidio, San Francisco, no later than 1600 hours on 15 April.

Field Trips on Tap

Field trips to scenic spots for practice in drawing or painting will be leaving the Presidio Service Club at 1400 each Sunday this month.

Anyone who is artistically talented, or just likes to draw for the fun of it, is welcome to join the group.

Presidio Mothers' March Garners $500 For Polio

A total of more than $500 was collected during the Mothers' March of Dimes conducted by members of the Presidio Women's Club and the Presidio Non-Commissioned Officers Wives' Club Tuesday evening.

Headed by Mrs. Milton Yarbrough, of the NCO Wives' Club, the Presidio area committee visited all the quarters on the post, including Wherry Housing apartments, and in cases where families were not at home, left literature explaining the drive for funds to combat polio, crippling arthritis and birth defects.

In addition to the "March," the "Dimes" committee has placed containers in all barracks, clubs, mess-halls and post business offices.

Toreras Take Basketball Tourney

Kelly, Oworm, Dominate Scoring In Final Game

By Pvt. Dale Clark
Star Presidian Sports Editor

"Anything you can do I can do better," might well be the phrase used by the Presidio Toreras when talking about winning basketball tournaments. Following in the footsteps of the Toreras, who won the Sixth Army Tournament in three straight games, the Toreras hosted a Women's Invitational Basketball Championship and won it the same way.

Opening play in the tourney, the Toreras downed the sextet from Letterman Army Hospital, 59-26, as the Hamilton Air Force Base team spilled Alameda Naval Air Station in an overtime, 41-40.

The second round brought the Hamilton crew together against the Toreras. In a real crowd-pleaser, the Toreras overcame a 22-18 deficit at halftime and overhauled their rivals from Hamilton to take the win, 48-41.

Leading all scorers for the game, Kelly of the Toreras totaled 30 for a nice evening's work. Top scorer for the WAFs from Hamilton was Oworm with 18.

In the match between the first-round losers, the Hell Kittens from Alameda smothered Letterman 43-16. Leading 21-8 at the half, the sextet from Alameda showed no mercy as they kept the pressure on for the win.

Cooper and Sieg of the Hell Kittens led the scoring with 20 and 19 respectively as the best for Letterman was Wynne with 8.

The consolation round put Alameda and Hamilton back on the floor together, with the Hell Kittens looking for sweet revenge. They were denied the win again, but by the convincing margin of 35-25. The Alameda attack never quite jelled as it did the first time the teams met, as Hamilton led at the half 17-12. They kept widening the gap and came away with the win and a chance to meet the Toreras again for the championship.

Scoring was led by Oworm of Hamilton with 24 as Sieg of the losers poured in 13.

The battle for the title started out as a hotly contested affair but gradually grew to be a lop-sided battle as the Toreras led 27-14 at the half. The sextet from the Presidio didn't relent in the second half and went on to sweep the game 50-33.

Kelly again led the scoring race with 29 as Oworm from Hamilton dumped in 18. The victory really belonged to the defensive half of the team as they blanketed the basket to keep Hamilton from getting any closer than 10 points after the first quarter. The trio of Marie LeVering, Molly Edwards and Marjorie Rinke, with Terry Silva alternating, kept the crew from Hamilton shooting their baskets from far out and then picked off the rebound almost every time.

Tournament scoring honors went to Georgia Kelly of the Toreras, who averaged 29 points in each of the three games. Her nearest competitor was Oworm of Hamilton Air Force Base, with 20.5 points per game for four games. Kelly not only held the better average but also outscored Oworm 87 to 82 in one less game.

BIG ONE that didn't get away is the trophy for capturing the first Presidio Women's Invitational Basketball Championships held at Letterman Gym. Presenting the trophy (top) to the winning Presidio Toreras is Maj. Dorothy Childers, Assistant S1. Team, L to R: Diane Engle, Molly Edwards, Roberta McAllister, Harmony Cummings, Irma Collins, Linda Overton, Coach Mary Lyons, Marie LeVering, Maj. Childers, Georgia Kelly, Fumika Uyeda, Mary Galipeau, Marjorie Rinke, Evelyn Yaggie, Mary Phillips and Terry Silva. Opening the tournament (left) by tossing up the first ball is Maj. Dorothy Childers. Poised for the jump are Hilda Melnyk of Letterman and Georgia Kelly of the Toreras. Somewhere in the maze of arms (right), Mary Phillips of the Toreras managed to send a shot arching for the basket. Hamilton defenders are Pat Carido (6), Elsie Swanson (14), and keeping Marguerite Allen blocked out of play is Georgia Kelly of the Presidio Toreras.

New Grid Conference Would Include Service Academies

New York (AFPS) — Consideration is being given to the formation of an American Conference, a nationwide football league which may include the Army, Navy and Air Force Academies.

The league, proposed at a recent meeting of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn., has been under discussion for several years and has been brought closer to reality with the breakup of the Pacific Coast Conference.

Thirteen teams from the East and Pacific Coasts, along with two other schools, have expressed interest in the alliance.

Floyd (Ben) Schwarzwald, coach of Syracuse, suggested the conference setup could be arranged so that six eastern teams would play basically among themselves, with a few inter-sectional games. The western teams could do the same.

The sectional winners might then meet in one of the major Bowl games, Schwarzwald related.

Dubbed the "airplane conference," since by using air transportation games could be played without serious interruption of academic studies, the potential members include: Southern California, UCLA, Stanford, California and Washington on the West Coast; Syracuse, Pitt, Penn State, Army, Navy, West Virginia in the East and possibly the AF Academy and Notre Dame in the interior.

A Big Fish Now!

How would you feel if one of your young charges grew 30 inches and gained 85 pounds in only 28 months?

The Department of Fish and Game were the proud parents in this case and were quite pleased about it. The youngster was a yellowfin tuna which was 22 inches long and weighed 8 pounds when tagged and released in July, 1956, about 920 miles south of San Diego.

When it bit the hook again for the final time it was only 90 miles north of where it was tagged and weighed a whopping 93 pounds.

TOP GUNS in the San Francisco-Travis Air Defense Marksmanship match are Sfc. Daniel Bennet, Reenlistment NCO for the 40th Brigade, winner of the pistol match and Sp4 Jimmy Price, Headquarters 40th Artillery Brigade, winner of the M1 competition. They will both compete in the Sixth Army Rifle and Pistol Matches in May.

4th Msl. Bn. Takes High Marksmanship Plaudits

Rifle and pistol teams consisting of the four NIKE guided missile battalions and Headquarters Battery, 40th Artillery Brigade of the San Francisco-Travis AFB Army Air Defense "shot it out" on the Presidio Pistol Range and the Fort Barry Rifle Range to determine the top marksmen of the Defense.

The team from the 2nd Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery at Fort Baker, Calif., took first place in the pistol competition. The 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery's team from Berkeley, Calif., had the top rifle team.

The ten high pistol firers and 12 best riflemen from the recent matches now begin intensive practice to select the marksmen to represent the 40th Brigade against other Defenses of the 4th and 6th Army Air Defense Regions during the 6th U.S. Army rifle and pistol matches in May.

Sergeant First Class Daniel W. Bennet, Reenlistment NCO for the 40th Brigade, emerged "top gun" of the pistol match. The other high-scoring pistol firers are: from the 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery—CWO Benjamin Walter of B Battery, Pfc. Richard Jones of A Battery, and Sgt. Harold Brown of C Battery; from the 2nd Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery—CWO Peter Bohan of B Battery and Sp5 Dian Fuller of D Battery; from Headquarters Battery, 40th Brigade—Pfc. Jimmy Tomlinson; from Headquarters Battery, 30th Artillery Group—Pfc. Robert Radowicz; from B Battery, 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery—Sgt. Robert Kuntz; and from 1st Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery—Pvt. Jack McKee.

In the shoulder gun contest, Specialist Fourth Class Jimmy L. Price, Headquarters, 40th Artillery Brigade, rifled his way to the championship of the M-1 competition.

The other top riflemen are: from the 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery—CWO Fred Blankenship of A Battery, CWO Benjamin Walter of B Battery, Lt. Gordon O'Neil, and Pfc. Richard Jones; from 2nd Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery—Sp4 Leonard Easky of A Battery and Pfc. Bob Stubblefield of C Battery; from 1st Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery—Sp4 Gerald Wallace of A Battery and Sgt. Alan Pupp of D Battery; from 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery—Pfc. Sammy Sessions of C Battery; and from Headquarters Battery of the 29th Artillery Group—Sp5 John Lindsay and Pfc. Ernest Valenzuela.

NorCal Sports Meet Draws Plans For Baseball, Softball

The Northern California Sports Conference held its monthly meeting at the Presidio Enlisted Men's Service Club on 3 Feb. and drew up the schedule for spring and summer sports.

League play for Post level golf will commence 27 March and continue through June.

Baseball and softball leagues were also established and will begin play in April and June respectively. Important to all intramural softball coaches, players and personnel who would like to officiate, is the clinic that will be held 1300 hours on 25 March at the Enlisted Men's Service Club. Movies will be shown and techniques described which will be followed by an actual demonstration on the PX Field.

Fencing Team Takes Top Honors In NorCal Meet

The LAH-PSF No. 1 fencing team captured the honors in the Northern California Class B Foil Team Championships held at the San Francisco School of Fencing. Teams represented were from the Northern California area and as far away as Sacramento.

Two preliminary elimination rounds were held, during which time the two teams representing LAH-PSF qualified for the final rounds along with the Pannonia Athletic Club (Hungarian Club).

in third place.

As a foil team event, this is one of the two top-ranked foil events in the Northern California Division, being surpassed only by the Open Foil events to take place in March.

This coming Sunday evening at 2000 the team will give an exhibition at the Presidio Service Club. The next competition will be in the Northern California Class B Sabre Team Championships held at the Pannonia Athletic Club, 625 Polk Street, on the 5th floor, Friday, 13 Feb., at 2000.

Intramural Basketball Roundup

In past action, the Honor Guard squeaked by their nearest rivals in the league, the 21st Engineers in the final four seconds of the game 59-57. Hero of the whole affair was Perry who sank the 28 ft. set shot to win the game.

The contest was evenly matched as neither team had a lead of over 6 points at any time. Big gun for the 21st was Shagina with 32 as Philcox added 13. McDonald of the Honor Guard hit 20 and Perry chipped in 18.

The Honor Guard picked up another easy win as the 30th Engineers forfeited the contest.

In other league action, the 21st Engineers had to come from a 22-19 halftime deficit to whip a determined crew from the Reserve Training Group, 42-37. For the 21st it was Shagina again paving the way with 14. Honors for the contest went to Short of the losers with 21.

99th Engineers put down the quintet from 537th Engineers to the tune of 37-28. Scoring for the 99th was led by Harris who netted 11. Best total for the night went to Wickham of the 537th with 22.

The 537th downed Headquarters 30th Engineers impressively 48-32 for a league win. Wickham led for the night with 23 as DeGroot added 13 to his total for the 537th. Scoring for the 30th was split between Sawell and Lee with 14 and 12 respectively.

The 99th Engineers put XVth Corps on the light end of a 42-32 score as Carlin with 13 and Winkelman with 12 led the Engineers' attack. Game honors went to Lee of XV Corps with 16.

Ft. Mason started off the year in a proper manner by shellacking XV Corps to the tune of 56-39. Big men for Ft. Mason were Ferguson 26 and Wairs 20. Guiding the XVth Corps were Lee with 13 and Welch 11.

In the Air Defense League the Headquarters 30th Group rambled over the quintet from B Btry., 4th Misl. Btl., to a 56-27 win. Lux and Fischer of the winners garnered 16 and 11 respectively while scoring for the losers was evenly divided with Alexander's 9 points being top.

The 6th Region Thunderbirds belted the C Btry. 4th Misl. Btl.

five for a 49-32 victory. Cagle of the T-Birds displayed his scoring prowess with 27, while the best the losers could do was 10 by Towels.

A Btry. 2nd Misl. Btl. rapped the A Btry. 4th Misl. Btl. cagers for a loss, 40-37. Down 22-19 at the half, the winners won as White went on a scoring spree with 21 for the evening. Landis of the losers meshed 13.

B Btry. 2nd Misl. Btl. took an easy one as the D Btry. 2nd Misl. Btl. team failed to show.

The Presidio League action was led by the MRU cagers as they jumped off to a 25-11 halftime lead against the C Btry. 2nd Misl. Btl. and kept the pressure on for a 52-22 league win. Packard of MRU handled the scoring chores with 22 as Hinkley with 7 was tops for the losers.

Leading 23-21 at the half, the Teenagers couldn't hold it as Headquarters Co. 6th Army pulled away for a 51-45 win. Scoring was split evenly for the winners as both Gascon and McAllister had 14. Bright spot for the losers was Clark with 18.

Stock Shows Arm; Will Join Orioles

San Mateo was the scene of some Major-Minor League All-Star baseball action in the weekend past. Wes Stock, pitching star for the Presidio Toreros baseball team, pitched five innings in relief as his team won the game 10-1. Wes allowed three hits and only one run as he struck out eight players.

After receiving his separation papers, Wes will head for the Baltimore Orioles' rookie training camp on the 15th of Feb.

Kops, Shatters Tie For League Lead

It's happened again in the Presidio League as the Keystone Kops and the Shatters hold identical 58-22 records. The in-again-out-again Kops knocked over the third place Recruiters 4-0 behind the hot playing of Rusek with 579-241. Bolton of the losers hit 513-175 for his team's top effort.

The Shatters stopped the King Pins 3-1 but found it wasn't enough as they now have to share their league lead. For the Shatters it was Opozda making a 526-191 only to be outdone by Dennis of the King Pins 533-205.

The Islanders and SFAADS at the bottom found themselves no better off as their meeting was split 2-2. Lundahl of the Islanders carded a 462-171 while Ashbury of SFAADS hit 454-168.

The Alley Rats, snug in their fourth place position, downed 60th CI Det. 3-1. Iwai of the Alley Rats kegged a red-hot 567-250 as Ogle of the losers was getting 507-188.

The Alley Rats set a new league record for a team series with a scratch 990. Individual scoring went as follows: Duke 131, Wors-fold 185, Brunk 224, Iwai 250, Havrilla 200.

The Nikes hold a commanding 4½ game lead in the Wednesday Night Bowling League as they blanked the Retorts 4-0. Hitting on all cylinders, Lowe of the winners blasted a 600-213. High for the losers was Jean Dempsey 466-161.

Sitting in second place the Spoilers hacked away at the tail-ending Cutups for a 4-0 league win. Beery led the winning effort with 519-187 as Helga Lee was tops for the losers 475-178.

The Alley Bys and the Pickups find themselves none the worse for wear as they split 2-2 with Opozda leading the Alley Bys 571-202. Big gun for the Pickups was Johnson with a high and mighty 619-211.

Tyros still hold their 1½ game lead over the Guys & Dolls by virtue of a 2-2 split. Gibbs of the Guys and Dolls rolled a 447-164 as O'Donnell of the Tyros hit 527-197.

In the make-up of postponed games the Spoilers proved their right to second in the league by blanking the Retorts 4-0. For the Spoilers it was Wilmoth with 521-191 and tops for the Retorts was

Jean Dempsey 490-183.

The second of the postponed matches saw the leading Nikes flash past the Cutups 3½-½ with Ross of the winners getting 531-181. Star kegler for the Cutups was Helga Lee with a sparkling 500-190.

Action in the Bay Bowling League was full of surprises this week as three of the leading teams came out on the short end of their matches with their supposed "weak sisters".

Leading G1 had the old razzle-dazzle pulled on them as they were blanked 4-0 by the Triple Aces. Goettl of the winners had a 508-187 while Ross was posting 578-223 for G1.

6A Signal is like a rose in late bloom lately as they put MRU on the short end 3-1. Doing it up nicely for the winners was Dennis with 495-192. Top man for MRU was Andresen with a good 536-194.

Hq. Co. 6A upset the apple cart on the second place JAGS for a 3-1 victory. For the winners it was Lux 529-211 as McAfee of the JAGS posted a 537-215.

In the only match to go by the book this week the Compt-Rollers downed Garrison 3-1.

Routen led the winning cause 519-187 and Opozda of Garrison hit 549-185.

The second half of the season in the Pacific League opened up last week and marked the appearance of a new team, the 30th Group, which took the place of the Missiles. In their first battle they didn't fare too well as Hq. 6A No. 3 spilled them 3-1. Browning of the winners warmed to the occasion and tossed a 561-193. For the 30th it was Gardner salvaging some honor with 479-182.

Warrants, winners of the first round, proved their mettle by blasting the AAA Sparks 4-0. In a display of power all the way down the line Delany of the Warrants opened the season with a 589-244. Schmidt led the losers 458-179.

Retorts dumped Hq. 6A No. 2 4-0 to start off the new season in fine fashion. Milburn of the Retorts kegged a 484-170 as Zimmerman of the losers was getting a 509-199.

The Hilltoppers took the Regionees to the cleaners 4-0 as Johnson of the winners came through with 507-214. For the Regionees it was Childer 454-177.

Nazarene College Upsets Presidio Quintet

LAH Keeps Clean Slate; Beat Airmen Quint 67-52

Letterman Army Hospital now holds a wide margin over their nearest rivals in the Northern California Military Sports Assn. Basketball League. The Letterman cagers are undefeated thus far in the season, while each of the other teams have at least two defeats. The worst Letterman could finish now is a tie for the league title.

Their latest victims were the team from Fairfield Air Station, which they beat quite handily 67-52. Letterman held the lead at halftime 35-27 and kept it throughout the game.

For the LAH quintet it was McNamara meshing 26 to lead all scoring in the game. Meyers and Lowell chipped in 11 points apiece to aid the effort. Tops for the losers were Cruze with 14 and Hut-sell, 13.

In other league play the Letterman quintet rolled over the Oakland Army Terminal cagers 49-35. Leading 30-15 at the half, Coach M/Sgt. Norman "Bud" Fricker played the Letterman reserves for a great part of the game.

Paving the way for the Letterman victory was Lt. Bob McNamara with 24. Top man for the OAT team was Iwinski with 9.

Keeping in fine tune for league play the Letterman team scheduled a second game with the crew from the USS Hancock. The LAH cagers put an anchor on the sailors to come away with a 55-51 win. The LAH reserves saw 18 minutes of action as Coach Fricker emptied the bench.

Lt. Bob McNamara, Letterman scoring leader with 19 points per game average, meshed 21 for the night. The best that the crew from the U.S.S. Hancock could muster was 18 by Williams.

Central Division Volleyball Tourney Set At Fort Lewis

The Central Division Sixth Army Volleyball Tournament will be held at the Presidio 27 Feb.-3 March, 1959. Winner of the tournament will proceed to the Sixth Army Championships held at Ft. Lewis 7-9 March.

The Presidio-Air Defense team has won the Sixth Army Championship for the past three years and will be odds-on favorites to repeat. The team under the coaching of M/Sgt Catalino Ignacio has virtually dominated local play this season.

The Presidio-Air Defense high-netters will compete in a Northern California Armed Forces Tournament this weekend at Travis Air Force Base.

Fencing Lecture Here

A lecture on the art of fencing, the different fencing terms, and an exhibition by the Letterman Army Hospital Fencing Team will be given at the Presidio Service Club, Sunday, 2015 hours.

Ping Pong Tourney Set

The San Francisco-Travis Air Defense Command will hold its Ping-Pong Tournament at the Presidio of San Francisco Service Club 10-11 Feb., starting at 0900 both days.

Of the more than 500 species of parrots, only one, the Carolina parakeet, is known to have lived and bred in the United States. It is now extinct.

An ADC Tourney Set

The San Francisco-Travis Air Defense League will hold a Basketball Tournament Feb. 17-20 at the Letterman Gym. Game time for the first game is 1830. The winner will go on to compete in the Sixth Region Championships to be held at a later date.

Intramural Casaba Nears Final Stage

Intramural casaba action is in the latter stages of play with the Air Defense League already finished. There still are a few games to be played in the other leagues and there should be final results posted in next week's Star Presidian.

The 159th Reserve Tng. Gp. put the 537th Engineers on the light end of a 56-38 score in Ft. Scott League play. For the winners it was the combined talent of Short and Towner with 20 and 17 points respectively. Wickham with 12 and Distifano 10, led the losing effort.

The undefeated Honor Guard still holds a mysterious power over their victims as they spilled the 99th Engineers 53-42. McDonald of the winners continues his high-scoring ways as he added 16 to his season total. Scoring for the 99th were Slater 15 and Winkleman 11.

To determine the winner of the Post Intramural Basketball Championship, there will be a double-elimination tournament with the top two teams in each league competing. In case of a tie in either first or second place in any of the leagues, a play-off will be conducted with the winner entering tournament play. The date for the Post Championship Tournament will be announced next week at the conclusion of action in all the leagues.

Thinclads Please Note!

Anyone interested in competing in track and field events during the forthcoming season is invited to call Lt. William Nieder, Ext 3968/2282 or call in person at the Sports Office, Bldg. 122.

Tough Angelenos Catch Locals With Stars Down

The Presidio Toreros, playing without the services of John Vesevich, Harry Lux, Marion Landes and Joe Savoldi, were stopped cold by the Pasadena Nazarene College 75-60.

The college cagers played a fast game which caused both sides to commit an abnormal number of fouls. Toreros fouling out of the contest were Frank Evangelho, Bill VonWeyhe and John Perry. As the game ended, the Toreros had no one left on the bench to substitute if anyone else fouled out.

High for Pasadena and leading scoring for the game was Blomquist with 20. The Toreros produced good scoring in the first, Fred 16 and VonWeyhe hit 18, Fine 11 and Evangelho 13, but the game was lost as the guards could only produce 9 points between themselves.

Rebounding from their loss to the Pasadena crew, the Toreros whipped a determined team from the San Francisco Olympic Club 71-62.

Leading 38-31 at halftime, the Toreros kept up their basket barrage in the second half to come away with the win. Ron Tomsic of the Olympic Club led the scoring with 21 points but had a poor percentage of shots. Evangelho led the scoring punch for the Toreros with 20, followed by Perry with 17. Carroll and VonWeyhe bucketed 12 apiece in the winning effort.

Top Army Skiers Due At Squaw Valley

By Miss Edith Miller
PIO Reporter

For the first time in twenty-eight years, the colorful entwined rings of the Olympic banner will wave over United States territory when Squaw Valley, Lake Tahoe, California, plays host to the VIII Olympic Winter Games in February 1960.

The Secretary of the Army has designated Lt. General Charles D. Palmer, Sixth U.S. Army commander, coordinating officer for the three services. General Palmer has named Army Lt. Colonel Arley A. Hayman, Jr., VIII Olympic Winter Games Project Officer.

Among recent Army visitors to the winter games site were: Major General Robert L. Howze, Deputy Commanding General, and other Sixth Army officers.

A Sixth United States Army Olympic Support Detachment has been organized and will report this weekend for duty at Squaw Valley. Colonel Hayman is the Officer-in-Charge; Capt. Cecil A. Crowe, Project Accountability Officer; M/Sgt. Charles Chadd, Administrative Sergeant; Sergeant First Class Robert Bowen, Supply Sergeant; Private First Class Charles E. Voelker, Supply Clerk, and Specialist-4 Mollie Bruhn, WAC, Secretary. The group will serve as administrative and operational headquarters for all military personnel.

Trial events are being held this year at Squaw Valley for more than 160 skiers, speed skaters, and biathlon (skiing and shooting) competitors beginning February 21-23 and February 28-March 3. Representatives from 13 foreign countries will compete.

GAMES SITE VISITOR is Maj. Gen. Robert L. Howze, Sixth U.S. Army Deputy Commanding General, as he views VIII Olympic winter games site at Squaw Valley, Lake Tahoe, Calif., with Mr. Robert L. King, Olympic winter games executive director, during a recent visit by Sixth Army officers to the area.

A number of Army skiers have been approved for entry in the Trial Events, which include the North American Alpine and Nordic Ski Championships, and the North American Biathlon Championships.

Army skiers scheduled to compete in the three divisions—Alpine, Nordic and Jumping—are:

ALPINE: Lt. Gary Vaughn, Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.; Pvt. Royal S. Robbins, Fort Bliss, Tex.; Pvt. Carleton H. Parker, Fort Jackson, S. C.; Pfc. Ronald M. Funk, USAG, SAGA, USA-REUR, and Pvt. Thomas F. Burns, 1st BG, 23d Inf., Alaska.

NORDIC: Pvt. Edward Letson, Fort Carson, Colo., and Pvt. Craig M. Lussi, Fort Dix, N. J.

JUMPING: Pvt. Joseph T. Ryan, Fort Huachuca, Ariz.; Pvt. Jon T. St. Andre, USAREUR, and Pfc. Bruce A. Jarbinen, Camp Lucas, Mich.

BIATHLON Championships: 1st Lt. Phillip A. Jobert, 1st BG, 23d Inf., Alaska; 1st Lt. Paul Schweikert, Jr., Hq. USARAL; Pfc. Lawrence Damon, Pfc. William A. Rudd, and Pfc. Gustave E. Hanson, Alaska.

The last time the International Olympic Committee honored the United States with competitions was in 1932, when the Winter Games were held at Lake Placid, New York, and the summer competitions at Los Angeles.

The first separate Olympic Winter Games were held at Chamonix in 1924. Since then the Games have been conducted at St. Moritz in 1928, Lake Placid in 1932, Garmisch-Partenkirchen in 1936, St. Moritz in 1948, Oslo in 1952, and Cortina, Italy, in 1956.

Squaw Valley itself was selected by the Site Selection Sub-Committee of the U.S. Olympic Committee in New York on January 7, 1955, and was subsequently awarded the Winter Games by the International Olympic Committee at its 50th session in Paris, June 18, 1955. The other candidates at the Paris meeting were Innsbruck, St. Moritz and Chamonix.

More than 1,000 athletes from 34 nations are expected at Squaw Valley for the 11 days of competition in 1960.

Specifically - designed facilities are now being prepared in and near Squaw Valley. The Games area will include more than 6,000 acres of land, 1,000 of which will remain as a permanent State Park and winter sports area. Walt Disney, famed movie producer, is chairman of the pageantry committee.

Squaw Valley itself is a natural amphitheater, one mile wide and two miles long, situated seven miles from Lake Tahoe in the Sierra Nevada Range, and approximately 200 miles from San Francisco.

On May 15, 1958, President Eisenhower signed a Congressional Bill appropriating $3,500,000 for construction of a 11,000-seat Ice Arena, and an additional $500,000 for use of Army ski troops, Navy engineers and communications equipment in course preparation and a snow safety plan.

The Department of the Army will furnish ski troops and other personnel and equipment necessary for the proper staging of the international competition.

The Department of the Navy is conducting a program of snow compaction in Squaw Valley.

NEW MISSILEMEN were ready to join the Bay Area Army Air Defense Command this week following their graduation from an MOS, Military Occupational Speciality, conversion course at the San Francisco Army Air Defense School, Ft. Scott.

Top Chem. Officer Visits Here; Speaks On Recent Trends

Brig. General William E. R. Sullivan, Deputy Chief Chemical Officer, Washington, D. C., addressed a meeting of Army Reserve chemical officers here 28 January.

General Sullivan spoke at a dinner in the Officer's Open Mess and his topic was "Recent Trends in the Chemical Corps." In attendance were the personnel of the Mobilization Designating Detachment, USAR, and Research and Development Reserve.

The following day he spoke to a similar group in the San Pablo Reserve Center. General Sullivan also inspected a Seattle chemical plant under contract to the Department of the Army.

He is scheduled to leave from San Francisco today for Washington, D.C.

Ord Wins Fire Award

Fort Ord, Calif. (ANS)—In an annual contest, sponsored by the National Fire Prevention Association, the Fort Ord Fire Department has won the Boston-Percy-Bugbee Award, in competition with more than 200 other military entries.

The competition is judged on a scrapbook or album submitted by each entry covering: Fire Protection Organization, Year-Around Training and Fire Prevention Activities, Activities During Fire Prevention Week, Publicity for Fire Prevention Week, and General Results.

Nike Strikes Again

White Sands Missile Range, N.M. (ANS)—The Army's Nike Hercules air defense guided missile successfully engaged and destroyed the supersonic XQ-5 target missile travelling faster than 1500 miles per hour and at an altitude greater than 60,000 feet (12 miles), here recently.

Although the Nike Hercules is capable of destroying targets at a range of more than 75 miles, the range of the successful shoot was not disclosed for security reasons.

The XQ-5, fastest flying target currently available for tests, is powered by a ramjet engine capable of flying at several times the speed of sound.

Good Conduct Medals

Six men of Battery "D", 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery were recently awarded Good Conduct Medals.

The men are, Sp/4 William E. Smith, Sp/4 Loyd J. Bolding, Sp/4 Richard F. Weaver, Sp/4 Robert R. Bressler, Pfc James S. Coyle, and Pfc Jerry M. Seay.

33 Complete AAD School; Will Join Defense Sites

An MOS (Military Occupational Specialty) conversion course of the San Francisco Army Air Defense School at Fort Scott, Calif., Saturday qualified 33 missilemen for the Bay Area Army Air Defense.

Artillerymen coming into the Defense attend the four-week course to develop new specialties within the guided missiles system.

Honor graduate of the class is Specialist Fourth Class Kelso L. Strawther of "A" Battery, 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery, located at Castro Valley, Calif. He was presented the honor student award, a Parker pen, during graduation ceremonies by his battalion commander, Lt. Col. Benjamin N. Page.

Col. Iver A. Peterson, commanding officer of the 30th Artillery Group, Fort Scott, congratulated the graduates and pointed out that the conversion curriculum could well be called the "Guided Missiles Career Entrance Course."

Lt. Col. Edward J. Whitaker, commanding officer of the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery at Fort Scott, in his graduation address, reminded the new missilemen that knowledge breeds leadership—valuable both to themselves and to the Army.

Lt. Col. Whitaker and Capt. Robert W. Monroe, commandant of the school, then presented diplomas. Invocation and benediction were by Chaplain H. A. Clark.

Win 'Ready' Awards

"Operational Readiness Awards" were presented to Col. E.J. Ingmire, C.O. of the 5th Artillery Group and Maj. A. H. Beebe, C. O., 1st Bn., 43d Artillery Group during a recent Commanders Conference at Ft. Baker.

NEW MISSILE SITE—Vandenberg AFB, the nation's newest missile launching complex, is located 150 miles northwest of Los Angeles. Vandenberg will be used to train personnel in the operational use of missiles as well as continue research and development work on advanced missiles.

Named D Btry's Best

A one year membership in the Association of the United States Army was recently awarded to Sp4 Billy C. Sessions, D Btry, Newark, as he outdrilled and out-answered all competition to become the Battalion's Soldier of the Month.

Soon to complete his tour of duty in the Army, the 22 year old Texan feels that this honor has "fittingly topped off his career."

First Post Soldier Wins College Okay In Army Program

A member of the Presidio Veterinary Detachment has been selected as the first post enlisted man to attend college under the Army's new education training program.

Sfc Bent (cq) Ramskov, Veterinary Foods Inspecting Detachment, has been chosen to attend Ohio State University with the Army paying all expenses.

Under this college training program an enlisted man can apply to enter college with the Army paying expenses and in return the soldier must serve at least three years for every year of schooling.

Sfc Ramskov will take courses in food technology and eventually hopes to obtain a Bachelor of Science degree from the University. He is scheduled to be at Ohio State in March.

Accompanying him will be his wife, Paulette, and their two children, Bruce, 7, and Charles, 6. They presently live at 1589 C Stilwell Road, in the Presidio.

Resked Taylor Speech

General Maxwell D. Taylor, Army Chief of Staff, has rescheduled a previously postponed visit here as guest of the World Affairs Council of Northern California. He will be guest of honor and address a luncheon in the Venetian Room of the Fairmont Hotel on Thursday 26 February. Reservations and tickets for the luncheon may be obtained by writing or telephoning Council Headquarters, 421 Powell St., YUkon 2-2541.

Increased Social Security Rate To Hit Military Pay

Washington (ANS)—Social Security deductions (identified on the Military Pay Voucher as FICA) have been slightly increased effective 1 January, 1959, for all military personnel. This increase is first reflected in pay received about 31 January.

During 1957 and 1958, military wages were taxed at the rate of 2 1/4 percent on the first $4,200 of income, which resulted in a maximum tax of $94.50. During 1959 and 1960, the tax rate will be 2 1/2 percent on the first $4,800 of income. The maximum tax payable will now be $120 per year.

When basic pay is $4,800 per year or less, Social Security tax will be deducted in equal monthly amounts throughout each calendar year. When basic pay exceeds $4,800 per year, the tax will be deducted only until such time as $4,800 of income has been taxed at the rate of 2 1/2 percent which results in a payment of $120.

Department of the Army Circular 608-16, 14 January 1959 provides a table showing the monthly rates of Social Security tax deductions which will be made during 1959 and 1960.

Minute editorial: "Today," according to DA Pamphlet 355-11, "more than ever before, the Army encourages soldiers with ability and determination to set their sights on service as a commissioned officer. There are several routes to a commissioned or warrant officer rank open to enlisted men. Among them are: Appointment to West Point; Officer Candidate School; Direct Appointments to commissioned rank for those who qualify in specific fields as scientific and technical specialists; Army Reserve Commission; and Warrant Officer rank in many technical and administrative fields."

Fort Ord, Calif. (ANS) — Infantry gunners, dug into deployed positions, are firing on low flying jets at the Hunter Liggett Military Reservation near here—using motion picture film as ammunition.

The experiment, being conducted by the U.S. Army Combat Development Experimentation Center and the USAF, is designed to determine vulnerability of aircraft to ground fire.

The Presidio of San Francisco, chosen as military headquarters for the soldiers of Charles III of Spain in 1776, is 1,540 acres, making it the largest military reservation within a city's limits in the country.

Army Will Reorganize Reserve Units

the "serving those who serve a nation!"
STAR-PRESIDIAN

Vol. 7, No. 36

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

Friday 13 February, 1959

ALL READING and no play may make Jack a very dull boy, but if he aspires to a future in stars, general's, that is, he'll have to settle down more often with a good book. Here Capt. Frank A. Henning, an aide to Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth U.S. Army Commander, looks over a formidable array of the titles current on the Army Contemporary Military Reading Program list. Post assistant librarians Lois Anderson and Sp3 Judy Hudson lend encouragement.

Sixth U.S. Army CG Attending Nuclear Weapons Course

Military Reading Kits Distributed In This Area

Sixth U.S. Army Commander Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer left last week to attend the Senior Officer Nuclear Weapons Employment Course at Ft. Leavenworth, Kans., from 8-20 February 1959.

Maj. Gen. Robert L. Howze, Jr., Deputy Commanding General for Reserve Forces, Sixth Army, also is expected to attend the same course the first two weeks in March.

Conducted at the Command and General Staff College, the course covers technical aspects of nuclear weapons employment, employment of nuclear weapons in ground operations, logistical support of nuclear weapons and delivery units, and administrative support in nuclear warfare.

FJS Needs Your Help

The Federal Service Joint Crusade is presently in progress at the Presidio. In conjunction with the Federal Service Campaign for National Health, this drive supports six major agencies including: CARE, American Korean Foundation, Muscular Dystrophy, Crusade for Freedom, and the National Societies for Crippled Children and Adults and Prevention of Blindness. Give a healthy person's share today!

Top JAG Officer Here

Major General Stanley W. Jones, The Assistant Judge Advocate General, Department of the Army, is in the Sixth US Army area, and will inspect all phases of Judge Advocate facilities at the Presidio; Fort Mason; USARADCOM; Disciplinary Barracks, Lompoc; Fort Ord, and Fort Lewis.

Sixth U.S. Army Special Services announced this week that 40 kits, containing the 34 titles in the Army's Contemporary Military Reading Program, have been distributed to installation libraries throughout the Western States area.

Here at the Presidio all post libraries have kits, plus several additional copies of the most titles that were routinely purchased prior to the new program. The Sixth Army Reference Library has six kits and additional titles, but has been designated a technical reference source and will use their material to support those isolated readers who do not have access to other library sources. Already, some two dozen requests of this type have been received and are being processed.

In establishing the program (Cir. 28-15) the Army pointed out that the "complexities of modern warfare require that all military leaders keep themselves currently informed on military affairs as well as matters of national and international interest."

The stated purpose of the program is "to stimulate constructive thinking concerning problems of prevailing and future military importance and encourage Army personnel to engage in a systematic program of voluntary reading to improve their professional competence."

An updated list of no more than 36 titles, revised about once yearly, will be the over-all responsibility of the Office, Chief of Staff, U.S. Army, and will be under the supervision of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Personnel.

Although the Army is making every effort to provide reading copies for interested personnel, it is also encouraging individuals to establish personal collections as "a source for continuing perusal and reference." Many of the earlier, and better known international works, such as Raymond Aron's Century of Total War, can be purchased in the paperback editions. San Francisco boasts a number of book stores that handle the better class paperbacks.

Established minimum goal for readers has been set at four books per year.

Livermore Atomic Energy Laboratory Slates Open House

Presidio personnel and their families have been invited to visit the new Livermore Laboratory, a permanent ordnance facility established to work with the Ernest O. Lawrence Radiation Laboratory on the design and development of nuclear weapons, on East Avenue, Livermore, California, from 1300 to 1700 hours tomorrow.

The Livermore Laboratory is associated with the Sandia Laboratory at Albuquerque, New Mexico, and both are operated by the Sandia Corporation, a non-profit subsidiary of the Bell System's Western Electric Company, for the Atomic Energy Commission.

Tour directors will be on hand to show and explain to visitors the function of the new facility, and several special displays have been designed for entertainment and information.

To Implement Pentomic Concept in 22-Months

Plans to reorganize the United States Army Reserve along the lines of the "Pentomic" concept of the Regular Army are being implemented in the Sixth United States Army area, it was announced today by Lieutenant General Charles D. Palmer, Sixth Army Commander. The change, which must be completed by 31 December 1960, will make the organization of Reserve units identical to like units of the Active Army.

It was explained that if Army Reserve units are to replace, reinforce, or relieve Active Army units, it follows quite logically that the organization of like units must be identical.

The planned reorganization affects everyone in the Reserve, though many individual assignments will remain unchanged and many units will retain their fundamental missions and basic organizations.

As missions, weapons and tactics change, many members of the Army Ready Reserve will find themselves taking on new duties, preparing to assume new responsibilities, becoming proficient in new military occupational specialties, or filling new assignments.

The change will require the inactivation of some units with resulting reassignment of some personnel to other available units, control groups, standby or retired lists.

In addition, new units will be activated which will require personnel skilled in new occupational specialties. Consequently, some personnel will be retained in these specialties while some skilled specialists may have to be acquired from other sources.

Both divisional and nondivisional units will be affected by the change. Those units which do not themselves undergo a physical change will feel the effects of the reorganization, as new personnel made available by inactivation of other units become eligible for assignment to these unchanged units to fill existing vacancies.

Among the existing Reserve divisions, the Department of the Army has designated ten USAR combat divisions and thirteen USAR training divisions. Each of the ten combat divisions in the structure will contain five battle groups instead of Infantry regiments and battalions, while the training divisions will contain five regiments, each of which will include training battalions.

These training divisions will play a most important role in time of mobilization, being responsible at an early date for the training of those men called to fill the ranks of the divisions in being and to serve as replacements in a wide span of units.

Within the Sixth U.S. Army area the 91st Infantry Division (Northern California) and the 104th Infantry Division (Washington and Oregon) have been designated training divisions. The 63rd Infantry Division (Southern California) and the 96th Infantry Division (Montana, Idaho, Arizona and Utah) have been designated combat divisions.

Army officials made it clear that they wish to retain the highly skilled and experienced personnel now serving in Army Reserve units, and that ample time would be given officers and enlisted men in which to qualify for new assignments.

Taylor Address Ticket

"Problems of National Defense" will be the topic of General Maxwell D. Taylor's address to the World Affairs Council of Northern California when he is honor guest at a luncheon in the Venetian Room of the Fairmont Hotel on 25 February. Reservations and tickets are still available by writing or telephoning Council Headquarters at 421 Powell St., YUkon 2-2541.

6th Region CG Sets Speaking Tour Of Key Northwestern Region

"The Army Role in Air Defense" will be the topic given by Maj. Gen. Edward J. McGaw, Commanding General of the 6th Region, U.S. Army Air Defense Command, on 26 February when he speaks before two Portland groups.

General McGaw will discuss the subject at a luncheon meeting of the Portland Women's Forum, followed in the evening by an "Army Night" gathering of the Portland Chapter of the Military Order of the World Wars, Columbia River Chapter of the Association of the U.S. Army, the National Guard Association of Oregon and the Portland Chapter of the Reserve Officers Association.

MAN OF THE HOUR at the Presidio this week was James G. Chesnutt who was awarded the eagles of a full colonel. Shown pinning the new rank on are Major General Robert L. Howze, Sixth Army Deputy Commanding General, left, and Major General John J. Binns, Sixth Army Chief of Staff. A veteran San Francisco newspaperman, Col. Chesnutt is currently serving as Deputy Information Officer, Sixth Army.

Part II

Courtenay Interview

By Kenneth L. Erwin
Editor, Star Presidian

(Ed's Note: This is the second of two articles based on interviews with Mr. William Courtenay, OBE, MM, noted war correspondent, military expert and world traveler who is currently on a lecture tour of the Sixth U.S. Army area. This week's article takes the form of a question and answer session. Next week the "Star Presidian" will begin a five-part series by Mr. Courtenay on topics of major interest to the modern soldier.)

QUESTION: Mr. Courtenay, we in America hear a great deal about anti-Americanism in England. That the British people as a whole frown on American diplomacy, politics and attempts at world moral leadership. How much of this is true?

ANSWER: I think this picture of British public opinion is greatly distorted. You Americans have a habit of falling head over teapot for the opinions and blasé generalities of the so-called British intellectuals. You give more attention to the vapid ideas of our "angry men" and our Shaws, Russells and Mugeridges, than to those who really represent the general British public.

At home these "ivory tower" gentlemen are accepted, as you would say—with tongue in cheek. We view the intellectual and pseudo-intellectual with suspicion. They cut no ice with us. The British are a stubborn, proud and practical race. After all, in our thousand-year history, we've heard a great many "grand plans." We have accepted none of them carte blanche.

Instead, we've gone about this business of building a great nation, a great commonwealth of nations, in much the same way our ancestors began, independent-minded, but with respect for the other fellow's rights and opinions; stubborn in our self-imposed and we believe, God-given, responsibility to bring good government and justice to those less fortunate peoples in the uncivilized portions of the world; steadfast in our dedication to the law, and to the rights and dignity it guarantees the individual.

It is true that the British public raises an eyebrow when it hears unflattering remarks by Americans about "British colonialism." But let me assure you it is only a raised eyebrow. This, because we sometimes feel that a segment of Americans can't see the forest for the trees. After all, we have brought civilization, law, education and eventual self-rule to more people than any nation in history.

No, I would say the Britisher feels a strong kinship with his American cousin. He may not always agree with you on everything, or the way you do it, but as far as his deep Anglo-American ties are concerned, this bond is unbreakable.

We in England would like to see America develop a sense of chivalry towards the old country. We very much appreciated the way you welcomed our young Queen when she visited you. We're very proud of our Monarchy. We believe Americans have a great love and respect for British traditions.

Today in Britain, with a young Queen on the throne, we are gaining a renewed vigor. The populace has a sense of a second Elizabethan age. That a whole new era in adventure, scientific and political leadership is beginning to flower. As a result, we believe we have a great deal to offer to a full-blooded Anglo-American alliance, as well as world leadership in the independent commonwealth of nations.

QUESTION: Part of your current lecture series is on the Berlin Airlift, what about the situation in Berlin today?

ANSWER: The political considerations implicit in the Berlin Airlift of '48-'49 are the same in the Berlin situation today. The Airlift broke the Russian blockade and caused them to lose a great deal of face. If we in the Free World stand together on a firm Berlin policy now, the result will be the same. It is merely another pressure area created by the Russians to test the Western Alliance.

QUESTION: Were the recent race riots in England an indication that some color bar exists, if not in law, at least in the feelings of the people?

ANSWER: There is no color bar in England. There never has been. Those so-called riots were neighborhood affairs, stemming from bad living conditions in overly-populated districts. True, there has been a great influx of people from some of the new commonwealth nations. This has to some extent created a difficult situation in some sections, and may cause trouble again. But it's not as much a question of color as it is of crowded and poor living conditions, however, as you know the courts acted quickly and severely in trying and punishing those involved in the affair.

A-Planes Could Provide Deterrent to Aggression

Washington (AFPS)—Atomic aircraft, "inevitable" in the opinion of an Air Force nuclear expert, could provide the U.S. with mobile missile launchers that would discourage any aggressor.

Strategically, maintains Maj. Gen. Donald J. Keirns, Deputy Chief of Staff (Development, for Nuclear Systems), missile-armed atomic planes on unlimited-range roving patrols — invulnerable to surprise attack—could assure "any nation contemplating aggression a devastating retaliation."

Nuclear power, said Gen. Keirns in a New York City address 28 Jan. before the Institute of the Aeronautical Sciences, could bring along a "penetrating" bomber with capability to approach a target from any direction over a wide range of altitudes and speeds.

The A-plane, Gen Keirns continued, also could provide the nation with a system of "continuous early warning and surveillance capability. It might mean global support for limited war operations."

Recently Assigned

Lt. Colonel HOWARD F. McKEOWN (cq), has been recently assigned here as Chief of Plans and Training Division of the Sixth Army.

Colonel McKeown has had an extensive background with the Army engineers, being with them for 19 years. He entered the Army in October 1940 as a 2nd Lieutenant after leaving his civilian position as assistant construction officer of the Vancouver Civilian Conservation Corps District.

Some of his former assignments were: From 1957 January to 1959 January as a member of Temporary Equipment Recovery Mission in Viet Nam; Chief of Military Branch Engineers Section, Fifth Army Headquarters, 1954-1956; Commanding Officer of the 83d Engineer Construction Bn., Bordeaux, France; and with the 2nd Engineer Construction Gp., in Okinawa from August 1948 to 1949 December.

During WWII Colonel McKeown served both in the European and Pacific Theaters.

He and his wife, Marion, have two children: a son, Patrick Michael, 16, and a daughter, Tobe Lee, 8. They live at 1558 C Pershing Drive, Presidio Park Apartments.

what they said

Congress has been asked to establish a 150,000-man Youth Conservation Corps, much like the CCC of the 1930's. As a means of conserving forest lands and of fighting delinquency in cities, the corps would enroll young men between 16 and 22 to work in federal and state forests and parks. Pay would be $78 a month.

QUESTION: Would such a program have any real value today?

ANSWERS

M/Sgt. Harold A. McLean, Intelligence NCO, 30th Arty. Gp. (AD), Ft. Scott: I am heartily in favor of it. One of the best government programs devised was the CCC. Also it was one of the programs that met very little, if any, criticism while it was in operation. As a former company officer in the CCC, I certainly witnessed needed forest improvement, road and bridge building, tree planting, and creek and watershed control. The program was particularly good for the youth in need. I saw many young men come from large cities, starved, dirty and everything else. Within two weeks they were new men entirely. They lived a fine life in the open; eating good food and putting on flesh. There was an emphasis on education and supervised trips. This program would be exceptionally good for the country as it could bring about needed soil erosion control and reforestation.

Pfc. Margaret E. Heidt, AG Section, 6th Region ARADCOM, Ft. Baker: I'm from Washington State and forest fires and resulting loss of land is a problem up there. My brother and friends have been hurt fighting fires because there were not enough men to help. It could also help combat delinquency. This Corps would be real good for younger fellows because it would give them something to do. Give them a sense of responsibility. It's definitely a good idea. I know in my home town (Yakima) there are a lot of fellows in that age group that would be helped. They're not bad kids, but they just don't have enough to do. They would make them feel a little proud of themselves, a little grown-up, while giving them something to work on.

Captain Albert J. McClure, Information Officer, 40th Arty. Brigade (AD), Ft. Barry: I can recall CCC's and I understand the prior program was a huge success. At the time it was done there was a need for employment for young men between these ages. The military training received by these men and their commanders was valuable later on when we entered the war.

As to setting up a similar program in 1959, I wonder if there is a need for it. The pay is rather slim compared to today's high wages. Anything, however, we can do to improve our state parks and national forest land would benefit the country.

Pfc. Norman E. Livengood, 21st Eng. Photo Mapping Co., Ft. Scott: Yes, I think it's a good idea. It gives a guy a pretty good chance to get out and get a job. Probably his first job. It would also give them the opportunity to get out in the fresh, clean air. It probably would knock down the delinquency rate. If I had the opportunity to enter this program when I was younger, I would have taken advantage of it and practiced wild-life photography. I'm a commercial photographer in civilian life.

SMITHSONIAN CERTIFICATE for his contribution to the Geophysical Year is displayed by Jim Massey, Post Comptroller Section, to co-workers Judy Palmer and Marian Brown.

Civilian Worker Cited For Moonwatch Studies

A management analyst with the Post Comptroller Section, James Massey, won a unique award recently when he was presented with a Certificate of Appreciation by the Smithsonian Institution.

The award, from the Astrophysical Observatory, reads "in recognition of Significant and Devoted Participation in the Moonwatch Project, Satellite Optical Tracking Program, International Geophysical Year, 1957-1958."

How do you square astronomy with management analysis?

"You don't, really," says Jim. "I got interested after taking a celestial nav course while studying for my pilot's license. One thing led to another and the first thing I knew, I was a member of the San Francisco Amateur Astronomers Club."

Jim's interest soon turned into a full time hobby and when, in 1957, the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory requested the S.F. unit to establish a moonwatch station for observing satellites, Jim was a natural for the job.

"I am chairman of the group. We constructed a station on top of the Morrison Planetarium and with 12 specially designed telescopes, built by our members, began a series of 40 observing sessions. Fog and heavy overcast were our worst hazards and of the observations, only five were accurate enough for use by the Observatory."

Jim's group is still on the job as the result of a six-month extension of the Geophysical Year. So far they have actually seen three Russian and two American satellites. They are currently building new telescopes in an effort to gain better sightings on launchings in Southern California.

"Our club has 75 members," Jim is secretary and a member of the board of directors, "and our main aim is the overall study of astronomy. We build our own telescopes, even to grinding the lenses. I've already completed a 4½-inch telescope and am working on an 8-inch one. The club meets on the first Wednesday of each month at 2000 hours at the Josephine Randall Junior Museum, at 16th and Roosevelt Way."

What started out as a personal hobby for Jim has turned into a family affair.

"My wife helped me grind my first lens and both my youngsters, Judith Ann, 6, and James Robert, 5, have helped in the work and observations. In fact, Judith became quite a VIP at school during the early interest in satellites and had to give a weekly report to her class on her personal observations."

A civilian worker at the Presidio for the past seven years, Jim is also a licensed pilot. He is high on amateur astronomy as the coming thing and as a great source for family activity.

"We're always interested in new members, so if any Star Presidian readers, military or civilian, are interested in joining, tell them to give me a call. My local extension is 3801, and I can be reached at home by calling MO 1-0181."

In case you do call and Jim isn't in, be patient—there may be another Sputnik or Atlas passing by.

VA Warns Veterans To Check Offers On Payment Aids

Veterans who get behind in payments on their GI home loans should check carefully any offers strangers may make to supply the delinquent payments if the veteran will "sign here."

J. Glenn Corbitt, Manager of the VA Regional Office in San Francisco, warned veterans to check immediately with their mortgage holders to determine whether or not the offer is legitimate.

In some parts of the nation, he said, a flim-flam practice called "milking" has been revived. An offer to pay delinquent installments is made if the veteran will sign an "acknowledgment." Later the veteran learns he has signed a deed and must "buy" his property back at a higher price.

In another version, entire neighborhoods are canvassed to learn which veterans are having trouble meeting their GI loan payments. Then a "salesman" will offer each veteran a nominal amount for his equity, plus the privilege of buying another home in a lower cost development.

His signature is secured on a deed giving the right of possession in 60 days.

Later he is advised that no lower cost homes are available and he now faces eviction from the home he has sold.

These practices, though the intent is unethical, are conducted in such a manner as to make them legal, Mr. Corbitt pointed out.

Reminder: Ideas and suggestions are needed in connection with declassifying or downgrading the many documents which no longer warrant security classification. Such suggestions should be submitted through the established Incentive Awards Program.

Top Army Aviation Safety Conference Here Next Thursday

Sixty-five Sixth U.S. Army Aviation personnel, including X and XV Corps, National Guard and USARADCOM, and Safety Directors from installations throughout the Army area, will meet for a two-day Army Aviation Flying Safety and Training Conference, 19-20 February, at the Presidio of San Francisco.

Colonel C. L. Hankins, Sixth U.S. Army Aviation Officer, will be the moderator for the conference, which begins at 2000 hours on the 19th at the Fort Scott Annex.

A team from the U.S. Army Board of Aviation Accident Research, Fort Rucker, Ala., will conduct the flying safety portion of the conference.

Team members include: Lt. Col. Edward Raff, Deputy Director, Mr. Frank G. Andrews, Chief of the Investigation Division, and Mr. Pierce Wiggins, Chief of the Literature Division, and Captain Archie Summers, Liaison Officer. They will discuss: Philosophy of Aviation Accident Prevention; Aircraft Accident Reporting System; and Aircraft Accident Investigation.

The second day of the conference, the Transportation Corps will discuss: Supply and Maintenance Operations; The Signal Corps—Ground Control Approach, Signal Equipment and the Jeppesen Navigation Manual. Sixth Army Aviation section staff officers will discuss Administration, Safety and Training within the Sixth Army area.

The same day, Mr. Joseph Ellery, Sixth Army Safety Director, will meet with installation safety directors in the conference room, building 227, at 8 a. m., to discuss safety problems and new safety developments.

Annual Washington Birthday Service Slated Next Week

Commemorating the birthday of George Washington, a Memorial Service and Massing of the Colors will be held at 1600 in Grace Episcopal Cathedral, Nob Hill, on 22 February.

Guest speaker at the event, sponsored by the Society of the Cincinnati, Sons of the American Revolution, Daughters of the American Revolution and Military Order of the World Wars, will be the Reverend Albert H. Olson, Chaplain, U. S.A.R. (Rector, All Soul's Parish, Berkeley).

Colors with Color Guard are to be furnished by the Sixth U.S. Army, U.S. Marine Corps, U.S. Navy, 12th District, U.S. Naval Air Station, Alameda, U.S. Air Force, Hamilton Field, U.S. 12th Coast Guard District, and the Drill Corps of the California Commandery Number One, Knights Templar, has been invited.

Reserved seats are available for the central section of the Cathedral, and may be obtained by telephoning Miss Jones, Ex 7-3035.

List Berlin Highlights

Washington (ANS)—A chronology of the highlights of Berlin's crucial history since 1945 and an explanation of West Berlin's place as a Free World outpost is contained in DA Pamphlet 355-200-2 which is being distributed throughout the active Army.

SAYING GOODBYE to CWO Ernest W. Childers, Assistant Military Personnel Officer at Post, are members of his section who prepared a surprise party. Cutting the cake with the CWO is Mrs. Childers. An added surprise was the awarding of the Army Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant by Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Deputy Commanding Officer.

Decoration, Surprise Fete For Retiring S1 CWO

Chief Warrant Officer Ernest W. Childers, 43, Assistant Personnel Officer, Headquarters Presidio of San Francisco, Calif., will retire from active Army duty on 28 February, after 22½ years military service.

On the eve of his departure from the Presidio, Mr. Childers, a Warrant Officer since 1943, was awarded the Army Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant, by Colonel Frank G. Ratliff, Deputy Commanding Officer.

Mr. Childers was commended for "Meritorious service as Assistant Military Personnel Officer during the period Aug. 15, 1955, to February 10, 1959."

"During this time, he was responsible for all personnel actions affecting assigned officers and enlisted personnel, as well as personnel assigned to units under the administrative control of the headquarters. His sound judgment, analytic mind and deep sense of responsibility were invaluable contributions to the successful accomplishment of the mission of the Headquarters. Chief Warrant Officer Childers' outstanding leadership, diligence and sincere devotion to duty reflect great credit upon himself and the military service."

Mr. Childers began his military career following graduation from Pikeville, Ky., High School in 1936. He enlisted in the Army, and took his basic training at Schofield Barracks, in Hawaii. He was later assigned to the 8th Field Artillery Battalion, Hawaii Division, where he served in various administrative jobs. Following the Pearl Harbor attack by the Japanese on December 7, 1941, Mr. Childers left Hawaii with the 25th Infantry Division for duty at Guadalcanal, the Philippines, and Japan. Other overseas assignments include duty in Germany from 1952-55 with the 51st and 53d Ordnance Groups.

Numbered among his decorations are: Bronze Star Medal, Commendation Ribbon, Good Conduct Ribbon, and theater ribbons.

He and his wife, Ruth, and two children, Bonnie Ruth, 10, and Wayne Sidney, 4, will reside in Tampa, Florida.

From the ARs: Qualified individuals may now enlist or reenlist for advanced specialist guided missile courses at the U. S. Ordnance Guided Missile School, Redstone Arsenal, Alabama, or in the advanced ordnance courses at the Armed Forces Special Weapons Project, Sandia Base, New Mexico, according to AR 601-236.

Oregonian Named WAC Of The Month At D Company Here

Curiosity made the WAC of the Month join the service, and, since her enlistment on 18 March, 1957, she has learned that the Women's Army Corps, like any other job, "is just exactly what you yourself make of it."

As for Sp4 Rutha Glenn, she has made her life in the Corps a happy and profitable one for both herself and the Army.

A native of Oregon, Rutha "raised her hand" in Portland, took basic training at Ft. McClellan, Ala., and, following graduation, did not go far, just moving "up the hill" to Clerical Training School, also at Ft. McClellan.

Assigned as a clerk typist for G-4, Headquarters Sixth U.S. Army for almost two years, Rutha has for quite some time also been working at night whenever she can.

However, she believes the old saying that "all work and no play will make Rutha a dull girl," so her spare time is spent roller skating, playing baseball, horseback riding, and trying to learn how to bowl.

A graduate of Rainier Union High School, Rainier, Oregon, the WAC of the Month is also a camera enthusiast and likes to develop and print her own pictures whenever time permits.

Although her future plans include marriage instead of a long career in the Army, Sp4 Glenn is glad that she has had the opportunity to see for herself what the service is really like and is proud, because "anyone can wear civilian clothes, but not just anyone is allowed to wear the uniform of the Women's Army Corps."

Named Best WAC Sp4 Rutha Glenn

READY FOR ACTION are the members of the Operations Section of the San Francisco-Travis AFB Army Air Defense Command Post at Fort Barry, Calif. Plotting the tracks of incoming planes to the Defense are Sp4 Terry Davis and PFCs Michael Culy and Odber

AG Schools Office Urges Applicants Send Papers

Sixth Army soldiers interested in attending college under the Army's enlisted college training program were urged today by Headquarters, AG Schools Office, to submit applications immediately.

Personnel who are selected for this program receive four years of college with the Army paying all costs. In return the soldier promises to serve three years of active service for every year of college.

The School Office said that the Department of the Army announced there may be openings in 53 fields in this program in the fall.

So far 63 applications have been submitted by Sixth Army personnel with twelve presently under consideration and four EM now attending college.

Presently there are 154 EM attending civilian colleges under this program and the Army hopes to have 1,200 soldiers attend a year. This means that there will be from 200 to 300 vacancies a year.

Requirements are: graduation from high school or its equivalent (General Educational Development certificates are acceptable); applicants must be on active duty status and have completed one year of a two-year active service obligation; and they must complete college training requested prior to their 35th birthday.

Applicants for the September 1959 semester will be notified of acceptance by the Department of the Army during the summer.

Selection of applicants can be facilitated by EM taking entrance examinations at the college of their choice and obtaining acceptance letters. These letters should be forwarded to the Department of the Army through the person's company.

NCO's Will Stage Retreat Parade This Afternoon

Three battalions, and members of the Sixth U.S. Army Band, and Letterman Army Hospital color guard, will participate at 1600 hours today in an NCO Retreat Parade to be held on the Main Parade grounds.

Commanding the troops will be M/Sgt. Carr; while M/Sgt. Bray commands the first battalion, composed of Headquarters Company, USA Garrison, D Company, USA Garrison, and A Company, USA Garrison.

The second battalion, Headquarters Company, Sixth USA Special Troops, C Company, USA Garrison and the 561st Engineer Company, will be commanded by M/Sgt. Brown.

Forming the Third Battalion will be three companies of the 30th Engineer Battalion, commanded by M/Sgt. Heard.

Alert All Units!

'Ops Men' Key Nikes "Courier" Relay System In Atlas

By Pvt. Bart Richard
40th Brigade PIO Reporter

"Unknown aircraft spotted at Hotel-Kilo, 30-45. Alert all units!" What does this mean? It means the Operations crew of the San Francisco-Travis AFB Army Air Defense is on the job.

And their job is in a single, dimly-lighted room at Fort Barry—the Operations Section of the San Francisco-Travis AFB Army Air Defense Command Post. These "Ops" men, sometimes overshadowed by the glamour of the guided missile crews, are never overshadowed in importance.

How does their system work?

All manned high-performance aircraft that fly are detected and reported by the nation's early warning units—the Navy's ship radars, the Air Force aerial and ground-based radars, and the Army's own long range defense acquisition radars.

If a plane is identified by the Air Force as "hostile" or "unknown," its flight path, speed and altitude all are plotted in the Operations room at Fort Barry on a gigantic, transparent plotting board.

Meanwhile, the missile firing batteries are alerted to the exact location of the threat and prepare to fire.

Since Operations must be manned 24 hours a day—every day of the year—its staff is divided into two 24-hour shifts; one working and one off. The working shift is then halved into a day and night crew. The crew not on immediate duty remains in the area, ready for action if called.

What about the behind-the-scenes who make up these crews? Sergeant First Class Lyndell E.

Goodson, Operations' Chief Plotter, says, "We operate more like a team than a duty crew. We have a lot in common, too, because every man here is personally interviewed by Operations Officer Captain Edmund Porada, and must meet his exacting qualifications."

Specialist David Rhem, one of the shift leaders, asserts "The men here stick together. On and off duty we get along fine. Most of us 'pal around' together and enjoy the same things."

For the married men, who sometimes find the 24-on-off schedule rough-going, other crew members trade days off until a convenient routine is worked out. This is especially appreciated during the holidays.

All agree their most enjoyable duty is breaking in new recruits. Plotters, who stand behind the transparent plotting board, must write in reverse to make it readable for Defense Commander Col. Andrew R. Lolli and his battle staff, who view the information from the front. This reverse writing is easier said than done, and is comically proven by the rookie plotters.

Phone answering is not as simple as it sounds, either—especially when each telephone operator must keep up with eight different defense sources at once.

All officers and enlisted men are thoroughly cross-trained and each can do the other's job if necessary. This provides flexibility, relief from boredom and frequently a bit of friendly competition.

"We believe," asserts Assistant Chief Plotter Sergeant Russel E. Hill, "that our job is the most important duty in the Nation's defense." This is the kind of spirit required by all elements of the Army Air Defense.

New Sights—Sounds

The orbiting communications relay inside the Atlas missile now circling the earth is a first step toward "courier" satellites for military communications, the Department of the Army has announced.

The communications payload provided by the Army consists primarily of transmitting, receiving and recording equipment which are designed to receive, store, or relay messages from ground stations. When in range of these stations the orbiting relay can receive and transmit seven written messages and one voice message at one time.

To obtain stored messages from the communications relay in the Atlas, a ground station triggers off the relay transmitter by electronic command. As long as the satellite courier is in range the ground station can also transmit its own message for relay to another station. Messages can be relayed from one station to another without storage.

The project, including the launching and the communications payload provided by the Army, was conducted under the auspices of the Advanced Research Projects Agency directed by Roy W. Johnson. It is called PROJECT SCORE; SCORE is an abbreviation for Signal Communications by Orbiting Relay Equipment. The Army's contribution was developed by the Army Signal Corps in cooperation with the Astro-Electronics Products Division of the Radio Corporation of America, Princeton, N. J., and other firms.

The orbiting communications relay was installed inside the Atlas, using the missile itself as the carrier. The relay consists primarily of two transmitters, two receivers, and two recorders using erasable loops of magnetic tape. The total payload, including antennas, is about 150 pounds. The transmitter produces 8 watts of power and uses zinc-silver oxide batteries with an estimated life of four to six weeks. Solar cells, which were successfully converted for satellite use by the Army Signal Corps for the Vanguard program, were not used because of the expected short life of the huge Atlas satellite in orbit.

The courier satellite communication system includes four ground stations. They are located at Fort Huachuca, the Army's Electronic Proving Ground; at Fort Sam Houston, Texas; at Fort Stewart, Georgia; and another near Los Angeles, California. Messages destined for the communications relay in the Atlas can be fed to these ground stations over standard links. Teletypewriter dispatches and a voice message would be transmitted to the satellite courier when it comes within range in its pass.

The ground stations are similar. Each consists essentially of 5 standard trucks, in which the communications and other equipment is mounted. The antenna array is a separate unit. The multiplexing equipment at the ground stations can handle up to 60 words a minute on each teletypewriter channel, or a total of 420 words a minute, plus a voice communication. The recorder in the communications relay can store about 1680 telegraphic words in its 4 minute storage capacity.

The satellite communications relay shows promising advantages in helping to solve the growing traffic jam in the radio wave spectrum in ground-to-ground military communications. The system also suggests a means of eventually using satellite relays to store large amounts of messages, carry them thousands of miles, and release them on call to ground stations around the world.

A dark-haired, olive-skinned beauty from Costa Rica decided to join the Women's Army Corps because of a bug that bit her.

The bug, not known to the entomologists, but certainly still very much alive in the minds of persons like Pvt. 2 Clarisce Bodden, who early in life was bitten by the Dip-tera Wandalusta, or just plain wanderlust.

Bitten By Bug
Pvt Clarisce Bodden

Clarisce, a Company D supply clerk, is the daughter of a British father and a Honduran mother. Her father was employed by an American firm and had to travel extensively. And as she explained in an accent which managed to be as pretty as herself: "My father worked with an American firm, an how do you say, he had a contract. And they move him from one place to another.

"He is retired now and doesn't plan to move, they like Costa Rica. It is a pretty country," she said. When Clarisce was still an infant her family moved from Honduras to Panama. Six years later they moved to San Jose, Costa Rica. She remained there until the urge to travel became very strong. "I don't want to stay all the time in the same place, and I had the opportunity to come here," she said.

A married sister (Clarisce has three older sisters) living in Edenburg, Texas, was the opportunity and she arrived not knowing a word of English.

"I still don't know English much. I guess it will take all my life to learn."

One reason she didn't learn English, even though it was spoken in her home, is familiar to many second-generation Americans. English was only spoken by her parents when they didn't want the children to understand the conversation.

Clarisce never liked Rio Grande Valley where Edenburg is, for as she expressed it, "maybe, I feel lonesome there." Ft. Worth, where she and her sister moved, was more to her liking, but San Francisco is her town.

"Here I like it. I feel at home here because the people are so nice. San Jose is like this . . . fresh. It is not very cold nor warm there having the same climate all year," she said.

She does not have any plans for the future. One minute she believes, "I'm not going to make the Army a career," and the next, "well, maybe, sometimes I think I will. Really, I like it."

An attractive 5' 2½" ("but put 5' 3") properly curved girl, Clarisce is 25 years old, and looks much younger. She has large brown eyes, dark prominent black eyebrows and black hair which is complimentary to her complexion.

Clarisce attends movies and reads historical novels (in Spanish) for her main recreation. A romantic, she prefers to listen to operas like "Carmen" or see films such as "A Farewell to Arms," and "Love is a Many Splendored Thing." William Holden is her favorite actor because, "he is a good actor and I think he is cute too."

As for dating, Clarisce points out that in Costa Rica there are different customs.

"We are old fashioned," she said. "Girls never enter a car alone with their date. If they wish to be alone they walk and we are usually home by 10," she stated.

Now she will stay out later than 10, but, "It depends upon the boy I go out with."

Unlike our conception of a fiery tempered Latin American, Clarisce says she does not get angry:

"I never get mad. My father is from England and I guess I have his temperament. I look like my mother."

And a right pretty mother she must have, too.

Entertainment Chief Says Play Contest Wide Open

"Keep the language clean. The ideas bright. And the subject contemporary Army life, any phase or any stage."

This was the advice Harry Helman, Post Entertainment Director, was giving aspiring playwrights on preparing entries for the Second Annual Presidio Playwriting Contest, now underway.

Besides cash awards of $25, $15 and $10, there will be trophies for the winning playwright, best actor and actress and best director. Plays will be produced by the Entertainment Section on Friday, 12 June, and the author has the option, not only to direct, but to cast and even act in his own creation.

So, boy, or aging, genius, this is your big chance to give concrete expression to your creative ideas. Other contest rules are:

- Manuscripts must be for one-act plays—musicals are not eligible for competition — with production time ranging from 20 to 45 minutes.
- Only active-duty military personnel on the Presidio and its subposts including Letterman Army Hospital, XV U.S. Army Corps (Reserve), Sixth Region, U.S. Army Defense Command, and the Sixth U.S. Army will be eligible to enter the contest. Personnel on a tour of active duty of 90 days or less are not eligible.
- Typewritten manuscripts should be submitted on 8½ x 11 bond paper and triple-spaced. A separate title sheet should accompany the manuscript, including name, rank, unit and title of the play. Author's name should not appear on any page in the body of the play.
- Entries should be sent to Play Contest Editor, Room 211, Building 87A, Presidio, San Francisco, no later than 1600 hours on 15 April.

Barc 'Y' To Honor Actress, Marine For Service Work

Local TV and movie actress Miss Lucille Bliss will be honored as "Hostess of the Year" at the YMCA formal Coronation Ball February 21. Honored for her outstanding volunteer work for the Armed Forces Y, Lucille has organized and emceed variety shows at the Presidio, several of the Nike sites and at other camps and Bases. Known as "The Gal of 1,000 Voices" she is the voice of "Crusader Rabbit," "Droopy Leprechaun," "Tuffy the Mouse" and other cartoon characters.

Honored with Lucille will be the "serviceman of the year" Corporal Jon Neisius, USMC, MCSFA, San Francisco who is an active member of the Armed Forces Organization and the program council at the "Y".

Major General James P. Berkeley, USMC, Commanding General, Department of the Pacific, will be the speaker at the ceremony and present awards to the honorees.

The Hamilton Air Force Base "Blue Notes" Orchestra will play for dancing from 2100 to 2400. All service personnel are invited.

Bond Drive Coming Up

Washington (ANS)—The 1959 Army Savings Bond Program person-to-person canvass normally will be conducted during May 1959 at each installation and activity, according to a recent Department of the Army announcement.

The objective of the 1959 person-to-person canvass is indoctrination of each nonparticipating individual in the merits of payroll purchase of bonds.

A DA spokesman indicated that installation and activity commanders were authorized to schedule the campaign in March or April if field exercises, maneuvers, or similar activities make it impracticable to conduct the canvass during May.

Post Photo Contest Deadline Near; Get Entries In Now

Post Special Services Officer, Major Ben Kvitky, sent out an urgent call this week for Presidio shutterbugs to turn in their entries in the Presidio section of the annual All Army Photography Contest.

"Some people seem to think they must have technically perfect pictures, or they stand little chance," said the Major. "However, they fail to consider the importance of imagination and human interest, ingredients that are prime considerations on the part of the judges."

Deadline for entries here is 28 February and cash prizes will be awarded as follows:

- $15.00, 1st prize—black and white
- $10.00, 2nd prize—black and white
- $ 5.00, 3rd prize—black and white
- $15.00, 1st prize—colored slides
- $10.00, 2nd prize—colored slides
- $ 5.00, 3rd prize—colored slides
- and 3 honorable mentions.

Classes in both black and white and color will be as follows: (1) sports and action, (2) portraits—animals or human beings, (3) experimental—technique, (4) military—not official, (5) scenic—landscapes, seascapes, etc.

Pick your pictures for both idea and emotional content as well as technical skills. It is not mandatory that the contestant develop or print his own entry, although a better picture is often the result of doing your own work. Be sure that all entries are taken after 1 June, 1957.

You may enter as many as 10 pictures, one in each category, in Presidio competition. Winners will be sent to the Headquarters Sixth U.S. Army Contest and from there to the All Army.

Next Monday evening there will be a critique for prospective contestants in order to help them select possible prize winning photos.

Band Concert Sunday

Under the baton of Bandmaster CWO Louis Ferraro, the Sixth US Army Band will present a concert Sunday at 1430 in the Presidio Service Club.

Selections included on the program will be: From Tropic to Tropic March, Ballet Egyptian, Annie Get Your Gun, Songs of a Wayfarer, the March of Siamese Children, Zampa, The Enchanted Lake, The Rakes of Mallow and Brookes Chicago Marine Band March.

PTA Meeting Set

The Winfield Scott School's Parent Teachers Association will honor the 63d anniversary of the PTA movement at a meeting in the schools' auditorium next Thursday at 1300 hours. Mrs. Gene Marchi, founder and executive director of the "Aid to Visually Handicapped Organization," will be the guest speaker. Other events scheduled are singing by students, election of officers and serving of tea.

Top Army All Stars Here For Team Tryouts

'Dream Team' Plan Ready For Testing

By Pvt. Dale Clark
Star Presidian Sports Editor

For the next few days the Presidio of San Francisco will be the world-wide gathering point of basketball hopefuls here for the All-Army tryouts. From points as far away as Germany and Korea, players of top-notch caliber are arriving every day by air and rail. The prize at stake is a position on the All-Army Team that will compete in the National AAU Tournament with the winner going on to appear in the Pan American Games this summer.

Following are thumbnail sketches of a few of the players that are already at the Presidio:

- Jack Sallee, 6' 2", former University of Dayton star who received Honorable Mention All-American in 1953, 1954, and 1955. Played in the East-West All-Star Game in 1955. Coached the Third Army Championship Team in 1958.
- John Connors, 6' 5½", St. Bonaventure player who was co-captain of his college team in 1958. Played in the NIT two years at Madison Square Garden. St. Bonaventure's Most Valuable Player for the 1958 season. Honorable Mention All-NIT 1958. All-East in 1958.

- Eddie Mitchell, 6' 1", former College of Sequoia cage star and captain of the team both in 1956 and 57. Also made All-Conference the same years. Holds the conference record of 48 points in one game and had a 23 points per game average. Played on the Ft. Meyer team that won the Bermuda Invitational Tournament in 1958.
- Carlton Rolfe, 6' 1½", Sacramento State player and team captain in 1957; co-captain in 1956. All-Conference honors when playing at Grant Tech JC in both 1954 and 55. All Northern California in high school, 1953.

- Gerald Hicks, 6' 3", Idaho State captain and All-Conference pick in 1957. Played in the Western NCAA playoffs in 1955, 56 and 57.

- Eugene Booth, 6' 1", former Dartmouth player and All-Ivy League Conference pick in 1957. Was a member of the 1956 team that played in the NCAA Tournament at Madison Square Garden. All New England Tournament All-Star team in 1954.

- Bobby Erwin, 6' 3", Murray State of Kentucky player that helped his team sweep the Kentucky Invitational Tournament in 1955. Averaged 21 points per game last year and 16 per game in the Third Army Tournament this year.
- Virgil Dykstra, 6' 6", standout center for Central College of Pella, Iowa. Holds scoring record for both game and entire season. Averaged 22 points per game in college, led scoring in conference 1958, captain of the team in 1958 and was All-Conference selection in 1957 and 58. Played for Sanitary Dairy of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, in the AAU Tournament 1958.

- Richard Kniffin, 6', Bucknell University cager who averaged 32 points per game for the 7th Division team in the Eighth Army Area. Spent three years at Bob Cousy's Basketball Camp and was voted Most Valuable Player in 1953 and 54. Was a 7th Division All-Star Team member selected during the 1958 Christmas Tournament.

Torero High Netters Sixth In 'Y' Tourney

Playing without the services of potential All-American spiker, Sp4 Al Kincaid, and team coach and All-American setman Catalino Ignacio, the 6th Region, U.S. Army Air Defense Command volleyball team from the Presidio placed sixth among 14 team competing in the Embarcadero-Olympic Club USBVA Tournament at San Francisco City College.

Although placing sixth, the team was the highest rated of the military teams participating in the double-elimination type tournament. The National Champion, Stockton YMCA team, was first, followed by the San Francisco Olympic Club "A" team.

The Olympic Club "A" team has nine All-American rated players.

"Just plain terrific," was all Ignacio could say about the play of Dave Rhem, and, "He couldn't be stopped," was the comment by Ignacio of newcomer Lee Kaczmarek's spiking.

The 6th Region team, composed primarily of players from Nike missile sites in the Bay Area, opened tournament play by trouncing the Sacramento YMCA 11-4 and 11-5.

The USARADCOM title holding team will compete in the Armed Services Fellowship Tournament this Saturday at Travis Air Force Base. Six to seven military teams will be in the tournament, according to Ignacio. Expected to participate are Sacramento Signal Depot, Oakland Naval Air Station, Hamilton and Travis Air Force Bases, Oakland Army Terminal and perhaps two other teams.

Toreras Meet Mather Sextet At Gym Here; Play Ord At Oakland

Tonight the Presidio Toreras hope that Friday the 13th is unlucky for the Mather Air Force Base basketball team when they clash in Letterman Gym at 1900. Mather is currently in the league lead and if the Toreras can get past them and the Ft. Ord sextet Sunday, they will be tied with Mather for the title, forcing a play-off.

The Sunday game with Ft. Ord will be played in the Oakland Sports Arena at the Oakland Army Terminal. Game time is 1600.

Kops, Shafter's Battle For League Lead; G1 Rules Bay Competition

The Presidio Bowling League lead is still knotted as the Shafter's and Keystone Kops hold identical 61-23 records.

For the Kops this week it was Shoudele leading out with a 566-204 in their 3-1 victory over the 60th CI Detachment. High for the 60th was Ogle with 467-168.

Opozda of the Shafter's hit 536-187 in their 3-1 win over the Islanders. Lundahl was the lone winner for the Islanders as he scored 475-176.

The King Pins knocked SFAADS deeper into the cellar 4-0. Dennis rolled 511-173 for the winners as Swingle of SFAADS hit 471-167.

Third place Recruiters rolled over their nearest rivals, the Alley Rats 3-1 as Bolton hit 561-198 for the Recruiters. Tops for the losers was Iwai with 526-212.

In the Bay Bowling League the G1 quintet rule the roost with an iron fist as they rapped Hq. Co. 6A 3-1. Getting the work done for G1 was Ross with 578-204 as Wolfman salvaged the lone win for the losers 482-166.

JAGS sitting in second place picked up a game as they blanked the Triple Aces 4-0. McAfee led the winners with 538-194 as Goettl of the Triple Aces hit 539-187.

MRU boosted themselves into third place by shutting out the Compt-Rollers 4-0. For MRU it was Martin leading with 532-187 and Routen hit 511-186 for the losers. Garrison and 6A Signal battled to a standoff 2-2 as Rogers paved the way for Garrison 528-192. Dennis scored 496-183 for 6A Signal.

The Wednesday Night Mixed League is still presided over by the Nikes but an old-fashioned Donnybrook is in the making for second place between the Spoilers and Pickups.

The leading Nikes dropped the Tyros 3-1 as Lowe of the Nikes blasted a 579-232. Carr scored 482-193 for the losers.

Spoilers racked Guys and Dolls 3-1 behind Browning's 490-177. Best for the losers was O'Brien with 418-149.

Pickups blanked the Retorts 4-0 and put themselves in hot contention for second in the league. Johnson rolled 519-191 for the winners as Dempsey hit 468-215 for the Retorts.

The Alley Byes changed their losing ways as they dumped the Cutups 4-0. Shoudele kegged 513-174 for the winners and LoMonaco bowled 458-159 in the losing effort.

The WAC Bowling League lead is now shared by the Alley Kats and the Brewmasters with 49 wins each.

The Alley Kats split with the Orbits 2-2 as Silva of the Orbits rolled a hot 527-188. Tops for the Alley Kats was Collins with 511-187.

The Powder Puffs pulled the upset of the week as they downed the previously invincible Brewmasters 3-1. Morehouse hit 487-179 for the winners. The best the Brewmasters could do was 430-146 by Dailey.

The second week of play in the Pacific League in the second round of the season saw the Hilltoppers, Warrants and Hq. Co. No. 3 in a three-way tie for first place.

The Hilltoppers and Warrants drew 2 games apiece with Sabo of the Warrants taking the honors 574-220. Top man for the Hilltoppers was Johnson with 509-190.

Hq. Co. No. 3 dumped the Retorts 3-1 behind the 561-202 score of Wilmoth. La Clair hit 467-173 for the losers.

Hq. Co. No. 2 rapped the 30th Group for a 3-1 margin for their first wins in the second round. Lutz rolled 482-175 for the winners but Shish of the 30th Group came through with a classy 517-245.

Regioners and AAA Sparks battled to a 2-2 tie for their first victories this round. High for the Regioners was Niles with 498-177. Berry led the AAA Sparks with a hot 552-196.

Honor Guard Ends Season Unbeaten

MRU, BPO All Even In Presidio League

Intramural casaba action is getting down to the wire as one league is closed and the other two are in the final stages.

In the Ft. Scott League, the Honor Guard emerged as champions with an undefeated season. In their battle with the Reserve Training Group they were down 26-19 at halftime, but staged a tremendous rally to cop the win 52-40. For the Honor Guard it was a scoring show with Perry hitting 18, Boan 17 and McDonald 12. Leading the losing effort was Tanner 15 and Short 13.

Continuing in the Ft. Scott League it was the 21st Engineers over the 99th Engineers 37-33. The 21st, leading 22-15 at the half, played a bottle-tight defense to keep the 99th from closing the gap. For the 21st it was Shegina leading with 16 and tailed closely by Maurer with 13. Scoring for the 99th was evenly distributed as Slater hit 12 and Wickham and Torrey netted 6 apiece.

Action in the Presidio League was especially hot as most teams had to play two games this week in order to catch up with the other leagues. Postponements and cancellations earlier in the season were made up in double-quick fashion to finish out the season.

MRU caught last week's leaders, 16th Base Post Office, in a weak moment and put the skids to them 54-34. Ahead 25-16 at the half, MRU seemed to have no trouble in containing the 16th BPO attack. For MRU it was Von Weyhe 18, Packard 17 and Vesevich 14. Zechel led the losers with 11 and Wheeler added 8.

In keeping with their new-found power MRU dumped the USA Training Group cagers 53-38. With the score knotted 22 all at the half, MRU unleashed its star Vesevich against the losers to sweep the victory. Honors for the game went to Vesevich with 27 as his teammate Mulvihill hit 9. Keeping the losers in the thick of it during the first half were Douglas with 14 points for the game followed by Johnson and Scott with 8 and 7 respectively.

Bouncing back from their loss to MRU the quintet from Training Group rolled over the 561st Engineers 37-30. Capitalizing on their 20-13 halftime lead, the winners coasted to a victory. Douglas again led the Training Group five as he tossed in 16, and was backed up by Wheeler with 8. Big guns for the 561st were Jensen with 14 and Seng 10.

Still smarting from their only loss, 16th Base Post Office shackled the Hq. Co. 6th Army team 47-34 to complete their season. Led by Zechel who hit 22 for the game, 16th B.P.O. jumped off to a comfortable 24-14 halftime lead. Other scoring in the game was McAllister 16 and Borrecco 9 for the losers while Haney was contributing 11 to aid Zechels' efforts.

All-Star Msl. Quints Slate Championship Tourney Next Week

All-star basketball teams from the four missile battalions in the 40th Artillery Brigade will meet next week on the hardwoods at Letterman Army Hospital Gym in a casaba contest that will see one of the quintets emerge as Brigade champions.

Players in the tournament are part of the San Francisco-Travis Conference. Their teams will represent the 2nd Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery; 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery; and the 1st Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery.

The double-elimination tourney begins Tuesday evening, 17th February at 1830. Games are scheduled on the 17th, 18th, 19th and, if necessary, on the 20th.

The tournament champion will represent the 40th Brigade in the 6th Region Basketball Tournament in Los Angeles March 6 through 9, matching basketball acumen with squads from the Seattle and Los Angeles Nike defenses.

The winner of the 6th Region tournament will go to New York for the All-ARADCOM championship finals.

Squad To Visit LA For Week Of Play

The Letterman Army Hospital basketball squad will make a trip to the warmer climes when they journey to the Los Angeles area for a week of games with teams there.

The first game for the Lions will be against the cagers from the 47th Artillery Brigade on Feb. 17. From there they proceed to Ft. MacArthur for another game on 19 Feb. The last game will be played against Long Beach Naval Station on 21 Feb. and the Lions will return to the Presidio on the 22nd.

LAH Loses First Contest In NorCal League Playing

The Letterman Army Hospital Lions suffered their first NorCal Military Sports Association Basketball League loss at the hands of the cagers from Sacramento Signal Depot, 70-64.

The score at halftime was 35-32 with Sacramento in the lead and the game-ending score was just double this as a small quirk of fate.

The game was played on a Junior High School gym floor that measured 84' x 44'. The Lions just couldn't cope with the narrow width and short length of the floor and the zone defense that Sacramento used effectively bottled up their offense.

Doolittle of the winners led the scoring race with 23 and was aided considerably by his teammate Peterson who added 17. Letterman had four players break into the double figures but it wasn't enough as Sacramento hit an incredible 85% of their shots.

McNamara hit for 18, Meyers and Barnes each had 15 and Petersen meshed 14 for Letterman in the losing effort. The game was lost for the Lions from the foul line as they missed 13 attempts, 6 of them on the 1 and 1 rule.

Phillip's Scoring Spree Too Much For LA WAC's

The Presidio Toreras have just returned from their southern journey to Smogland and brought back two victories over the sextet from Ft. MacArthur.

The first game was a breeze for the Toreras as they led 33-23 at halftime and experienced no trouble at any time as they swept the game 65-47.

Without the services of their leading scorer Georgia Kelly, the Toreras took up the slack as Mary Phillips scorched the nets for 37 points.

Adding to the cause were Terry Silva with 14, Evelyn Yaggie 10 and Mary Gallipeau 4. Scoring for Ft. MacArthur was led by Linz with 30 followed by Schwab 8 and Mitchell 7.

The second game was a tightly contested affair as the Toreras played with the unlimited dribble permitted, as in men's basketball. This was standard method of play for Ft. MacArthur but was something new as far as the Toreras were concerned. This strangeness of play almost caught the Toreras napping as they had to overcome a 34-30 halftime deficit to win 54-51 in the final stages of the game.

Scoring was again led by Phillips of the Toreras with 29. Silva seemed to develop a better shooting eye as she dunked 20 to aid the winning effort. Finding the range for the losers was Onken with 26 aided by Linz with 14.

Thunderbirds Win 2d Msl. Bn. 51st Arty. Tournament

The Headquarters Detachment 6th Region Thunderbirds won the 2nd Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery Basketball Championship over the A Battery cagers (Ft. Barry Nike site) by the score of 41-38.

Forward Frank Mahoney popped a layup into the basket to put the Thunderbirds ahead 39-38 with 26 seconds left on the clock. When Jerry Hellum, fast moving T-Bird guard, was fouled in a scramble for a loose ball, he calmly stepped to the line and iced the game by making both baskets.

Scoring for the game were Milt Ploen with 13 and Fred Cagle with 10 before he fouled out early in the fourth quarter. Top man for the A Btry. team was Beltz with 15.

Presidio Pugilist Grabs Army Title In Lewis Tourney

Presidio's "lonely boxer," Pvt. Tom Powell, 197th Ordnance Detachment, completely outclassed two opponents in the Sixth U.S. Army Boxing Championships at Ft. Lewis, Washington, last week, to gain the title in the Light Middleweight Division.

In the semi-finals Powell decisioned David Hoff of Ft. Lewis. to open the evening's boxing fare. After a short rest, Powell met Landry Tregle of Ft. MacArthur in the seventh bout of the night and came away with the decision to win the finals in his class.

In the finals, Charles Perkins of Ft. Lewis decisioned Udell Miller of Ft. MacArthur for the Heavyweight Division title.

AAA High Netters Find New Method To Their Liking

Volleyball with a new twist was played by the 6th Region highnetters in a meet at Embarcadero YMCA. Initiated by the Embarcadero is a new method called "the 52 point system." The teams play until one or the other has scored 52 points or 1 1/2 hours playing time has been used, whichever occurs first.

The 6th Region team came out on top 52-39 as Len Kaczmarek put on an outstanding display of spiking to lead the winners.

In a second game this week, the 6th Region team journeyed to Oakland for a five game "revenge" series with their old nemesis Oakland YMCA.

The 6th Region Club took the best three out of five as they scored 9-15, 15-7, 15-9, 15-17, and 15-6. Victory was especially sweet as the Oakland team has been more than just a thorn in the side, and have defeated the Regioners more than once in tournament play.

Post Quint Draws Tough Denver In SWIT Pairings

The Presidio Toreros drew a tough opponent in the first round pairings at the Southwest Invitational Basketball Tournament when they take the floor against the Denver-Chicago Truckers at Dula Memorial Center, Las Vegas, Nev.

Other pairings in the tourney, held 12, 13 and 14 February, are Kirby Shoes vs. San Diego Marines, USAF All-Stars vs. Pasadena Mirror-Glaze and McDonald Co. vs. McDonald Scots.

The Truckers had a 36-18 season record last year and finished third in the SWIT in 1958.

Led by George BonSalle, 6'8" center who averages 20.1 points and 9.3 rebounds per game, the team has five men averaging in the double-figure scoring column. Art Bunte, former Utah All-American, averages 16.8 per game. NIBL Rookie of the Year, Harvey Schmidt, can be counted on for 16.2 in the clutch.

Past champions are Vrontikis Brothers of Salt Lake City (1954), San Diego Marines (1955), Wickland-O'Neil of Pasadena (1956), Pasadena Mirror-Glaze (1957) and Topp Manufacturing of Los Angeles last year.

Presidio Keg Team Drops First In League Series

The Presidio Toreros bowling team journeyed to Castle Air Force Base and were soundly trounced 5-1. This was their first defeat in the Northern California Air Force Sports Conference Bowling League and puts their record at 1-1.

In the first go-round Castle scored 835, 947, 821 for a total of 2603 as the Toreros were scoring 771, 824, 803 for a 2398 total.

High man for the Toreros was Fuller with 162, 186, 181 for a 529 series. Tops for Castle was Bonin with 200, 177, 160 for a 537 series.

The second series proved almost as disastrous as Presidio scored 800, 851, 919 and 2570 total to Castle's 869, 909, 763 and 2541 total. Ace kegler for the Toreros was Andresen with 151, 219, 187 for a 557 series that was high for the meet. Seidel led the scoring for Castle with 200, 189, 158 and a 547 series.

The Toreros got off to a bad start and couldn't overcome the edge that was built up on them. In the first three games, not one Torero could boast of getting a double. "We were hitting them in the same groove as Castle but we weren't getting any pin action," is the way that Sfc. Donald Andresen explained it.

The next outing for the Toreros will be 21 Feb. when they host the team from Beale Air Force Base.

NEEDLEWISE NCOs from C Company, USA Garrison, keep a watchful eye on their executive officer, Lt. Raymond La Roche as he prepares to donate blood to the LAH Blood Bank. They include (l. to r.) 1st/Sgt. William Stahl and M/Sgts. Fred Schlicker, Lee Rogers and Joseph Vierra. Capt. Eugene J. Feeley, LAH, does the checking.

'C' Company Aids Blood Donor Program At LAH

Eleven NCO's and Lt. Raymond LaRoche, Executive Officer, "C" Company U.S. Army Garrison, Presidio of San Francisco, met at the Letterman Army Hospital Blood Bank this week, to participate in the company's monthly donation of blood to the bank.

Last year, and for the month of January 1959, more than 700 pints of blood were given the Bank by Companies "A," "C" and "D" U.S. Army Garrison Troops, 30th and 561st Engineer Companies; 163rd Military Police Company, including the Conduct and Security Detachment, 60th MP Detachment; Armed Services Police Detachment; U.S. Army Dispensary (medical-dental-veterinary); 16th Base Post Office; Sixth U.S. Army Band; and 197th, 548th, 49th, and 87th Ordnance Detachments. Other units in the Bay Area also contribute to the Blood Bank.

Letterman Hospital uses on the average of 200 pints of blood each month. Blood is available, free of charge, to military personnel, including retired personnel, and their dependents.

The Blood Bank will accept blood donors any week day morning from 0800 to 1100 hours.

Blood may also be donated at Letterman or Irwin Memorial Blood Bank in San Francisco, for the purpose of transferring blood credits to any part of this country for use by any member of one's immediate family, whether or not a dependent.

Any person donating blood will have blood available for one year from the time of donation.

Add New Officers To G3 Assignment At XV Corps Here

Two officers have been assigned to the G-3 Section of Headquarters XV U.S. Army Corps (Reserve). Col. Frederick S. Wright, Jr., recently returned from duty in Iran, has been charged with the duties of Deputy G-3. Lt. Col. Joseph H. D'Enbeau occupies the position of Assistant G-3.

Col. Wright, a graduate of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, served in campaigns in New Guinea, Leyte and Luzon during World War II. Among his decorations and awards he holds the Bronze Star Medal with two oak leaf clusters, the Purple Heart, Combat Infantryman's Badge and Master Parachutist's Badge. He is married and has two children, Frederick S. Wright, III, and Sharon Elizabeth.

Lt. Col. D'Enbeau, returned from duty in the Territory of Hawaii, is a graduate of Indiana University. During World War II he was engaged in campaigns in Normandy, Northern France and Rhineland. He saw action in Korea also, in 1952-53. He holds the Bronze Star Medal, Purple Heart with oak leaf cluster and Combat Infantryman's Badge. Col. and Mrs. D'Enbeau have two children: Madeline and Joseph H. D'Enbeau, Jr.

Aid Small Businesses

Pacific Transportation Terminal Command awarded contracts for supplies, services, and ship repair totalling $77,336.00 in the San Francisco Bay Area during January, it was announced today at Fort Mason. Of the total, $60,829.00 went to "small business" firms.

HONOR GRADUATE of the San Francisco Army Air Defense School's NCO Command Course last week was Pfc. Antonio Guerrero of A Btry., 2nd Msl. Bn., 51st Arty., who receives his special award from Major Edmund Scheibe during ceremonies that graduated a class of 28 artillerymen.

28 Complete NCO Course At Air Defense School

Twenty-eight artillerymen from various NIKE guided missile units of the San Francisco Bay Area Army Air Defense are now ready to fill the need for non-commissioned officers within the Defense.

The missilemen graduated Saturday from a four-week NCO (Non Commissioned Officer) Command Course for leadership at the San Francisco Army Air Defense School at Fort Scott, Presidio of San Francisco.

Honor graduate of the course is Pfc. Antonio Guerrero, of "A" Battery, 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery, at Fort Barry, Calif. Major Edmund Scheibe, representing Guerrero's battalion commander at the graduation ceremonies, presented the honor graduate award, a Parker pen.

Col. Andrew R. Lolli, new Defense Commander, congratulated the students and welcomed them to his command, asserting that NCOs are the backbone of any Army organization.

In the graduation address, Col. Michael M. Irvine, Deputy Chief of Staff of the 6th Region, Army Air Defense Command at Fort Baker, Calif., told the graduates that as leaders they now will be teachers as well as students.

Col. Irvine and Capt. Robert W. Monroe, commandant of the school, then presented diplomas. Invocation and benediction were by Chaplain (Capt.) E. G. Carson.

Air Transportable

Mobile Communications Center

Development of a new highly mobile, air transportable communications center, designed to direct fast moving U. S. Army forces, has been announced by Department of the Army.

The system, which has an extremely high degree of mobility, can be set down almost anywhere by helicopter and be flown out immediately for relocation elsewhere. It can also be moved rapidly from place to place on conventional Army trucks.

Developed by the U. S. Army Signal Corps, it provides the vital nucleus for a communications network of radio, telephone, telegraph and teletype-writer combat links.

The system can be carried by helicopters to a remote destination in hours rather than days, or can be set up on otherwise inaccessible mountain tops. With its communications tentacles spread over hundreds of miles, the new system can get an urgent message through to a distant outpost even with direct lines broken or destroyed.

Speed and flexibility in communications would be vital on a battlefield where troops would have to be continuously on the move and widely dispersed to avoid annihilation by a nuclear warhead.

For quick transportation and added versatility, the center is made up of separate aluminum houses or "shelters", each fully equipped and independent. These can be hooked up quickly to fit any battle situation. Small centers for the front lines would have two or three shelters; larger headquarters would have as many as 24.

Each shelter carries its own independent supply of electricity, but can also plug into a central power source.

High priority combat messages flowing into the center from combat groups and other sources would be immediately available to the Army field commander. And the same network of communications lines carries his message with reflex speed to higher headquarters or to hard-hitting Army combat elements.

The new system, the first fully air transportable message center of its kind, is the result of 12 years of design and research. It was developed under the guidance of the U. S. Army Signal Research and Development Laboratory, Fort Monmouth, New Jersey.

March Info Digest Offers Top Articles

Washington (ANS)—Man is the key element in Command in the light of observations by both the Commanding General of U.S. Continental Army Command, and the Commandant of the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College, writing in March issue of ARMY INFORMATION DIGEST, the official magazine of the U.S. Army.

The lead article, by General Bruce C. Clarke, CG, USCONARC, "Combat Readiness Is Our Job," emphasizes that the solution to continuous combat readiness is to be found in five fundamental and familiar principles: Build on what we already have that is usable; eliminate false starts and expensive trial and error by thinking out projects in advance; concentrate on the essential—eliminate the non-essential; do things concurrently instead of consecutively; and maintain continuity of effort.

Maj. Gen. Lionel C. McGarr, Commandant of the USA CGSC, describes the role of the college in assisting USCONARC in molding the Combined Arms and Services Team in an article titled "Symphony of Combat Power."

The rapid rise of the U.S. Army Advanced Marksmanship Unit to prominence in marksmanship competition is outlined by SP4 King McElroy in "Record Shattering Shots."

Other articles in the issue include a pictorial story of Army Aviation, "Above the Best"; "Atoms for Air Defense," by Maj. Gen. Dwight E. Beach; "More Effective Manpower Through Improved Discipline," by Col. Raymond R. Ramsey; "The Big Picture," by M/Sgt. Stuart A. Queen; "Your Travel, and How It's Paid," by Joseph F. McGowan; and "How Are We Doing?" by Maj. Eugene D. Taber.

GOLD IS WHERE YOU FIND IT and the Comptroller Section has a famous way with a dollar. This week, seven members, at Sixth U.S. Army, won a total of $420 in cash awards. Maj. Gen. John J. Binns, Sixth U.S. Army Chief of Staff, reads the accompanying citation as he congratulates

Crest Contest Launched At 4th Msl. Battalion

A battalion-wide contest for the best replica of the new 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty. Crest has been launched by Lt. Col. Ernest J. Whitaker, Bn. CO.

One sample of the Crest, reproduced to scale from a small picture sent by the Dept. of the Army, has been sent to each Btry. for use in preparing entries, but each entry must be double the size of the sketch and must be on plywood, beaver board, aluminum or some other suitable material.

Entries must be submitted to Bn. Hqs. by 5 March and then will be put on display until a decision is rendered.

DA Form 1041 A Must For All Officers And Enlisted With 18 Years

Washington (ANS) — Under the Uniformed Services Contingency Option Act, all officer and enlisted personnel must, before completing 18 years service for pay purposes, execute DA Form 1041 to indicate whether they desire to elect an option governing retirement pay benefits for survivors.

Many military personnel have lost out on the benefits of the program, a DA spokesman emphasized, due to the erroneous impression that the limiting date was 18 years of active service.

A simple explanation of the operation of the Act is contained in DA Circular 608-13.

Wins Promotion

Friday the 13th turned out to be a lucky day for Robert W. Martin, Chief of the Enlisted Branch, G1, as he received his silver Lt. Col.'s oak leaves from Maj. Gen. John J. Binns, Chief of Staff.

Military Travel Easy - - If You Know Where To Go

New arrivals at the Presidio and its sub-installations are reminded there is a Scheduled Airlines Office and a Railroad Office maintained at the Post Transportation Office adjacent to Crissy Field.

Information, reservations, and tickets on all Scheduled (Commercial) Airlines and Railroads may be obtained at the office without going downtown and with a minimum of delay. The airline office, designated a JAMTO (Joint Airlines Military Traffic Office), is operated by the Air Transport Association as a convenience to all personnel, military and civilian, at the Presidio.

Unofficial travel may be obtained by contacting the carrier representative directly at Building 251, or by phone—Air reservations, Ext. 2920; Rail, Ext. 2200.

Military personnel traveling on official orders which will require payment by the government should contact civilian transportation personnel at Extensions 3531, 3039 or 2831.

The airline representatives are on duty from 0800 hours until 1630 hours, Monday through Friday. The rail representative is on duty from 0800 hours until noon only, Monday through Friday.

Ten Civilians Win Cash Performance Awards

The largest group of civilian employees to win a Department of the Army Suggestion Award Certificate for a Special Act or Service was won by seven Sixth U.S. Army Comptroller Section personnel this week.

Maj. Gen. John J. Binns, Chief of Staff, presented certificates and a check for $420, which was divided equally by the seven, to: Mr. Bernard Kahn, Chief, Command Program Appraisal Division; Mr. Donald Marcy, Assistant Chief, Command Program Appraisal Division; Mr. A. D. Kuperstein, Chief, Cost and Performance Systems Branch; Mr. Arnell Jamin, and Mr. Joseph Kuncic, Analyst Branch. Mr. Kuncic was also awarded a Superior Performance award and $200, and won the office check pool; Mr. Richard Meacham, Plans Officer; and Mr. Albert Leslie, Internal Review Officer.

This group award was given in recognition of exceptional accomplishment in the design and preparation of Sixth U.S. Army Training Course in Techniques of Analysis, Presentation and Use of Command Management Data, which has been published in Sixth U.S. Army Manual MG-61. The Comptroller of the Army, as well as other commands, have adopted, and are using this course as the outstanding example of its kind in the field. The Army Management School, the Army's top management school, Fort Belvoir, Va., is using parts of the course.

Superior Performance Award Certificates and checks for $100 each were also presented by General Binns. Miss Marion Low, Clerk-Typist, G1 Section, won her award based on an OUTSTANDING rating. She has been at the Presidio for the past two years.

Mr. William Forsell, Mail

$500 Suggestion Award To Former Presidio Employee

Harry N. Krenkel, retired Army Colonel, 45 Valdez Ave., San Francisco, won $500 and Department of the Army Suggestion Award Certificate this week.

Maj. Gen. John J. Binns, Sixth U.S. Army Chief of Staff, made the presentation to the retired veteran of 42 years' combined military and civilian service.

A new procedure used in "Marking of Overseas Household Goods Shipping Boxes," and inclusion of the procedure in the Federal Handbook for Preparation of Household Goods for Shipment and Storage, brought Mr. Krenkel the highest single cash suggestion award ever awarded here. The award was granted by the Office, Chief of Engineers, Department of the Army.

Mr. Krenkel retired from Civil Service on 31 May, 1958, following seven years as General Engineer with the Building and Grounds Division, Sixth U.S. Army Engineer Section.

Army Aviation Safety Meet Now Underway At Presidio

Sixty-five Sixth U.S. Army Aviation personnel, including X and XV Corps, National Guard, USARADCOM and Safety Directors from installations throughout this area are meeting today in the final day of an Army Aviation Flying Safety and Training Conference here at Ft. Scott Annex. Moderator for the conference, which began yesterday morning, is Col. C. L. Hangins, Sixth Army Aviation Officer.

A team from the U. S. Army Board of Aviation Accident Research, Fort Rucker, Ala., will conduct the flying safety portion of the conference.

Team members include: Lt. Col. Edward Raff, Deputy Director; Mr. Frank G. Andrews, Chief of the Investigation Division, and Mr. Pierce Wiggins, Chief of the Literature Division, and Captain Archie Summers, Liaison Officer. They will discuss: Philosophy of Aviation Accident Prevention; Aircraft Accident Reporting System; and Aircraft Accident Investigation.

Today, the Transportation Corps will discuss: Supply and Maintenance Operations; The Signal Corps—Ground Control Approach, Signal Equipment and

Honor Gen. McGaw

Two parties were given at Ft. Baker last Friday honoring the 58th birthday of Maj. Gen. Edward J. McGaw, Commander of the Sixth Region, U.S. Army Air Defense Command.

A surprise party given in the morning by staff officers, enlisted personnel and civilian employees of the Headquarters, was followed by a senior NCO luncheon, at which the General was guest of honor.

DOD Asks Congress For New Housing In U. S., Overseas

Washington (AFPS) — The Defense Department has asked Congress to sanction the construction of 21,701 new family housing units at U. S. and overseas bases.

The request, incorporated in a bill seeking legislative approval of $1,356,290,000 for Fiscal Year 1960 military construction, calls for the construction between next 1 July and 30 June, 1960.

Of the proposed quarters, 18,546 would be Capehart dwellings for the U. S. and Territories. Slated for overseas would be 2,694 units financed with foreign currencies from sale of surplus farm commodities. Appropriated funds would account for 461 units at various locations.

Capehart housing is built with private capital, the government assuming and paying off the indebtedness from savings in quarters allowances.

A breakdown of proposed Capehart housing within the Army follows:

ARMY UNITS

ARADCOM Tac Sites, 575 units; Ft. Huachuca, Ariz., 200 units; Ft. Eustis, Va., 223 units; Ft. Dix, N. J., 200 units; Ft. Ritchie, Md., 27 units; Ft. Bragg, N. C., 367 units; Ft. Bliss, Tex., 1,050 units; Ft. Hood, Tex., 800 units; Ft. Riley, Kan., 867 units; Ft. Wood, Mo., 800 units; Camp Irwin, Calif., 140 units; Ft. Ord, Calif., 500 units; and Ft. Knox, Ky., 350 units.

VA Urges Veterans To Guard Official Documents Carefully

Hang onto family documents such as birth and marriage certificates and keep them where they can be readily found, Mr. J. Glenn Corbitt, Manager, VA Regional Office, San Francisco, advised veterans and their dependents today.

Mr. Corbitt said documents of this sort may be needed to support claims for veterans' benefits, and for other purposes.

These include military discharge or separation papers, death certificates, divorce decrees, and guardianship or child custody evidence, he said.

"Preserve these valuable papers carefully and make sure your family knows where they are at all times," Mr. Corbitt said.

He said types of veterans' claims in which the documents may be needed include disability or death compensation or pension and burial benefits.

DCG Ordered To Europe; Replacement Not Named

Major General Robert L. Howze, Sixth U. S. Army Deputy Commanding General for Reserve Forces, Presidio of San Francisco, Calif., has been assigned to U. S. Army Europe, it was announced this week by Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker.

General Howze, assigned to the Presidio since April, 1957, will report to his new assignment on 15 May.

Brigadier General John B. Sullivan, Deputy Chief of Staff for Personnel and Administration, Headquarters U. S. Continental Army Command, Fort Monroe, Va., has been assigned to Camp Irwin, Calif. He will report for duty on 1 August.

General Howze came to the Presidio from Ft. Polk, La., where he was commanding general of that installation and the 1st Armored Division.

During World War II, General Howze, a graduate of West Point in 1925, commanded the 36th Armored Infantry Regiment in Europe. Returning to the United States in 1945, he became Chief of the Personnel Actions Branch, of the Army General Staff. After three years of duty in the Caribbean area, he became assistant commandant of the Armored School at Fort Knox, Ky.

In 1954 he was assigned as assistant division commander of the 3rd Infantry Division in the Far East. He subsequently became chief of the United States Military Advisory group to the Republic of Korea where he served until his return to the states in 1955 to assume command of the 1st Armored Division at Fort Hood, Tex.

General Howze wears the Silver Star with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Legion of Merit and the Combat Infantry Badge. He has also been awarded decorations from France, Belgium and Korea.

Set Project Saturn

Washington (ANS) — The Department of Defense's Advanced Research Projects Agency this week announced that the program to develop a 1,500,000-pound thrust super booster for heavy space payloads has been designated "Project Saturn."

The Saturn development program, according to Roy W. Johnson, ARPA Director, is progressing at an accelerated rate at the Army Ballistic Missile Agency, Huntsville, Ala. The booster is expected to be test flown in 1960.

INSIDE LOOK at the Army Winter Sports Team at Squaw Valley will be an exclusive feature of the Star Presidian Sports Section next week. Sp3 Martin Rein, Information Specialist, and Pfc. Donald Hagness, Radio & TV, Sixth U.S. Army Information Section, left this week for a three-day stint at the Olympics Winter Games Site. They'll tape interviews, take pictures and do roundup and individual stories on each of the soldier competitors. Don't miss next week's "Soldiers on Skis: A Trip to Squaw Valley."

Nationalist Chinese Colonel:

"Our Justice Is More Severe"

By Pfc. Barry Farrell
PIO Reporter

A high-ranking Chinese Nationalist Army officer sailed for the Orient from San Francisco this week full of information about the American military legal system and full of hope for the Year of the Boar.

Colonel Wang-Fang, vice section chief of the Military Justice Administration Division in the Chinese Ministry of National Defense, had spent twelve weeks in the United States and left "happy and more learned."

"I am very appreciative to have studied in this country," he said, accompanying his words with his almost constant smile. "My education was very satisfactory and I had a fine opportunity to compare my notes from China with my new studies here."

The Colonel added that he considered himself lucky to pass through San Francisco during Chinese New Year celebrations. "In China now," he said, "New Year is not so gay as here. On the mainland, they have nothing but a little banquet."

He laughed happily at the suggestion that his presence here might be a good omen. "Very likely, very likely," he said.

Wang-Fang came to the United States in November as a guest of the Judge Advocate General to at-

The Army's first soldier, General Maxwell D. Taylor, Chief of Staff, will arrive here next Thursday morning. He is scheduled to address the World Affairs Council of Northern California at a luncheon in the Venetian Room of the Fairmont Hotel at noon the same day.

Prior to his address as guest of honor, he will attend a press conference at the Fairmont.

In the afternoon, General Taylor will visit the Stanford Research Institute and will be guest of honor at the Press and Union League Club Gang Dinner that evening.

The Army Chief of Staff will depart here very early Friday morning.

General Taylor had planned to be in San Francisco last December, however, unexpected circumstances made it necessary for him to cancel his trip to the West Coast.

General Taylor's long and varied military career was climaxed by his appointment in 1955 as Army Chief of Staff. He was prominent during World War II in the Sicilian and Italian campaigns, and commanded the 101st Airborne Division in the invasion of Normandy, Holland, and campaigns of Ardennes and Central Europe.

After the War he became Superintendent of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, and later headed the European Command headquarters. In 1953, after serving as Deputy Chief of Staff for Operations and Administration, he was appointed to succeed General James A. Van Fleet as Commanding General Eighth U. S. Army in Korea. In April, 1955, General Taylor was named Commander-in-Chief of both the Far East and United Nations Commands, and in June of that year he became Army Chief of Staff.

Interested members of the World Affairs Council, the U. S. Armed Services and the community, are invited to make their reservations in advance to attend this special event by calling the World Affairs Council at YUkon 2-2541. Tickets to the luncheon are $4.00 per person.

"A good omen, maybe." Colonel Wang-Fang tend an Army-sponsored course at the University of Virginia. The eleven-week course was offered to both foreign and American legal officers and dealt with legal theory and techniques in the U. S. Army.

"The Chinese legal system is much like yours—only more severe in some instances," he said in clipped English. "It is composed of Continental law—as in Western countries—plus Chinese codified law and the ancient common law of China."

Korean Army law, they said, is identical to the Articles of War, from which the U. S. Army drew its legal guidance until the adoption of the Universal Code of Military Justice. In the Korean Army, too, they said, the crime rate is dwindling and the state of martial law has been replaced by a tense peacetime atmosphere.

ARMY POWER—KEY TO PEACE

U.S. Forces In Korea

Their Contribution

Special to the Star Presidian
By William Courtenay, OBE MM

(Ed's Note: This is the first of a series of five articles on vital military topics by William Courtenay, OBE MM, noted British military correspondent who is currently on a lecture tour of the Sixth U.S. Army area.)

What did we achieve in Korea in three years of the conflict from June 25, 1950, to the 'Cease fire' at Panmunjom July 27, 1953?

Many people may think it was a wasted effort. But consider, President Syngman Rhee is 83 and may pass away even this year. If he does there may be trouble in South Korea and the Communists will try to exploit it and unite the South with the North under Communism—just as the Communists are trying in Berlin. The original directive given to General MacArthur by the United Nations was to unite North and South; that directive still holds good; we have not yet accomplished it; so we may still find ourselves fighting there again. It's as well to appreciate what was achieved.

When the Russians raised, trained and equipped a North Korean Army 200,000 strong; gave it superb training in mountain warfare and tough communist discipline it was clearly with the intention of launching it across the 38th Parallel to steal South Korea by surprise; by a trick; and by an avalanche of superior forces. It aimed at reaching Pusan, the port in S. Korea by August 15th, 1950—the 2nd anniversary of South Korea's Independence. So the blow fell June 25th, 1950, when the North Korean Army spearheaded by 400 Russian tanks swept into South Korea.

At this stage there were only 50,000 South Korean troops; hastily raised and trained in 1950 after the American forces had withdrawn to Japan. They were not given armor so they couldn't start the war. They fell back before the avalanche and General MacArthur rushed the remnants of the U. S. 24th Division to stem the onslaught; and in July 1950 the Famed First Cavalry Division and 25th Divisions came from Japan. But all were still falling back into what became known as the Naktung River Perimeter for a last ditch stand.

It was largely the U.S. 5th and Far East Air Forces which helped to turn the tide and stem the headlong march—aided by carrier borne pilots from the U.S. and Royal Navies. They quickly went into action destroying the 60 or 70 bridges over all the rivers and railways between the Yalu river boundary (between North Korea and Manchuria), and the Naktung River positions the infantry were trying to hold. This won the essential time by slowing and blunting the enemy advance.

Then in September 1950 came General MacArthur's brilliant counterstroke at Inchon on the coast 40 miles from Seoul, the capital. He landed forces there, infantry and Marines, and cut off all the North Korean army in South Korea. They fled the field rushing north to get back on their supply line as MacArthur intended.

Our armies burst forth from the Naktung perimeter into the North and would have reached the Yalu River and united North and South Korea under a democracy but by November 1950 the Chinese 750,000 strong poured into North Korea and drove us south again

Presidential Rail Home Rumbles Off in History

(By Armed Forces Press Service)

The U.S. private railroad car "Ferdinand Magellan" has rumbled down the tracks into history, perhaps closing a 126-year era of presidential rail travel.

Last used five years ago when Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower traveled to Groton, Conn., to launch the atomic submarine Nautilus, the monstrous Pullman has been in storage for the past year at Ft. Holabird, Md.

The Magellan, known as United States Car No. 1, has been donated to the University of Miami at Coral Gables. It is possibly the last railroad car of its type and, if so, it ends an era which opened when President Andrew Jackson journeyed to Baltimore on steam cars in 1833.

The car was designed by the Assn. of American Railroads in 1942 for President Franklin D. Roosevelt. It is virtually accident and assassination-proof, weighing 285,000 pounds against the ordinary Pullman's 160,000.

In comfort, according to the National Geographic Society, the Magellan ranks with the finest private cars ever built. It has four bedrooms, a living room, a kitchen, and a dining room with a capacity of 12.

Not even a generous dynamite charge could blast the Magellan off its tracks. It is completely armor-plated, with doors like those on bank vaults. Its windows are three inches thick, and its roof has a submarine escape hatch.

Although President Roosevelt at first disliked this "fortress on wheels," he used it extensively during WWII, preferring a speed of about 35 m.p.h.

Safer In Service

Washington (ANS) — Your chances of escaping injury are 1 to 4 if you're in the Army — a recently released Army statement on Safety, reports that only one out of every 55 soldiers suffered an injury last year as compared with the national injury rate of one out of every 14 employees.

Every Dodge Has Its Day—Daisy's a West Point Wheel

West Point, N. Y. (AFPS)—The U.S. Military Academy has something new in the way of wheels—a venerable antique named "Daisy." But cadets won't have to go out of their way to dodge her.

For Daisy is a Dodge, 1917 model. She is the staff car used by Gen. John J. Pershing, commander of the American Expeditionary Force in WWI. The olive drab, 12-horsepower car got her name from soldiers of the AEF in France.

what they said

Freeways, and the property and people they displace, are not always happy ways. Recently in a number of major cities, San Francisco included, there has been a great deal of controversy over to have, or not to have, more freeways. This week we asked our readers:

What do you think about building more freeways?

Floyd H. Randall, Electronics Fire Control Repair Foreman, Post Ordinance: I think they are needed and necessary. We have more cars on the road every year, and more people are moving out to the suburbs who must have access to the metropolitan areas. People like to travel—I like to travel myself—and the freeways and turnpikes help. I have traveled on the Oklahoma, Missouri, and New Jersey Turnpikes among others and I find them necessary. I think statistics show that they are no safer than the other highways. I don't know why, I believe they should be safer than regular roadways. We will have to accept freeways in the city.

Sp5 David B. Vail, assistant to Sgt. Major, Sixth US Army Communications Operation Agency: I was most unhappy when the San Francisco commission cut out all but two of them. With a state like California with its tremendous population growth, particularly in the Bay area, it is possible to look forward 10 years and find 100,000 additional vehicles on the road. It certainly appears as if the commissioners have a shortsighted outlook for the future. I think for large cities, like Los Angeles and San Francisco, your potential growth is in a large measure stimulated by an adequate highway system or hindered by the lack of them. They (freeways) are safer and able to carry a tremendous amount of traffic, particularly in the Bay area where your highways are restricted by bridges and geographical position.

Mrs. Augusta O. Aubler, G4 Office, Sixth Region, ARADCOM, Ft. Baker: Looking at it off hand, I would think it would be beneficial to San Francisco. It would help to get the traffic across the city. I don't drive, so I'm not affected by them too much. It looks like a necessity, though I much prefer to go through Sausalito from my home in Mill Valley rather than go on the freeway. I watch the traffic when I'm on the freeway.

Pvt.-2 Charles L. Borreco, Finance Clerk, Hq. Sixth US Army Special Troops: The freeways are fast and furious, but I like them. For one thing the opposite direction of flows of traffic are well divided. On a freeway you can concentrate on what is in front of you and not the cars that would come from a crossroad, since they are eliminated. They are definitely safer than other roads. I don't think it detracts from the landscape. While would some of these critics of freeways have, better assets for drivers or improved landscapes?

Top Army Skiers To Vie In Trials This Weekend

The world's finest skiers, speed skaters and biathlon competitors will compete in the Trial Events at Squaw Valley's Olympic Winter Games over the next two weekends.

Sixteen of the Army's outstanding winter games athletes will be in the games.

The Trial Events schedule includes the North American Alpine and Nordic Ski Championships, the North American Biathlon Championships, an International Invitational Speed Skating Competition, and two exhibition ice hockey games.

While competition in the championship events will be fierce, the Trial Events are "trials" for the Olympic courses, rinks, ovals and other facilities—not "trials" for the athletes.

Tremendous competition for honors is assured by the fact that over 70 foreign competitors from 12 different countries will be on hand for the Trial Events. Among the nations sending athletes are Austria, Canada, Chile, Finland, France, Great Britain, Italy, Japan, the Netherlands, Norway, Russia and Sweden. Additionally, over 90 of America's top 1960 Olympic Games candidates will compete.

A few of the top competitors at the Trial Events are Verne Anderson, 1958 Canadian downhill champion; Rolf Ramgard, Sweden's world cross-country champion; Halgeir Brenden of Norway, Olympic 15-km cross-country titlist in 1952 and 1956; Veikko Hakulinen of Finland, 1956 Olympic 30-km cross-country champion; Knut Johannessen of Norway, second place winner in 10,000-meter Olympic speed skating in 1956; Oleg Goncharenko of the U.S.S.R., who placed third in both the Olympic 5,000 and 10,000 meter speed skating races in 1956; and Finland's Toivo Salonen, third place finisher in the 1956 Olympic 1,500 meter speed skating race.

Army contestants will include: ALPINE: Lt. Gary Vaughn, Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.; Pvt. Royal S. Robbins, Fort Bliss, Tex.; Pvt. Carleton H. Parker, Fort Jackson, S. C.; Pfc. Ronald M. Funk, USAG, SAGA, USA-REUR, and Pvt. Thomas F. Burns, 1st BG, 2nd Inf, Alaska.

NORDIC: Pvt. Edward Letson, Fort Carson, Colo., and Pvt. Craig M. Lussi, Fort Dix, N. J.

JUMPING: Pvt. Joseph T. Ryan, Fort Huachuca, Ariz.; Pvt. Jon T. St. Andre, USARAF, and Pfc. Bruce A. Jarbabin, Camp Lucas, Mich.

BIATHLON Championships: 1st Lt. Philip A. Jobert, 1st BG, 2nd Inf, Alaska; 1st Lt. Paul Schweikert, Jr., Hq. USARAF; Pfc. Lawrence Damon, Pfc. William A. Rudd, and Pfc. Gustave E. Hanson, Alaska.

Local Fencers Stay Busy; Two Meets This Weekend

The Letterman Army Hospital-Presidio of San Francisco fencers spent a busy weekend in sabre and foil competition after a layoff of one week.

On the evening of Friday, 13 Feb., the LAH-PSF sabre team entered competition in the Northern California Class B

Sabre Team Championship and placed second to the Pannonia Athletic Club (Hungarian) in a final round fence-off by the score of 7 to 9. The LAH-PSF team consisted of Severo Pasol, Bill Beaver, Karl Dorman, and Coach Bill O'Brien.

The LAH-PSF second team composed of Gene Hardy, George Blieschmidt and Ed Purdy finished fourth behind the San Francisco State College Intercollegiate team. The locals were handicapped by the absence of Bert Seck who could not be present, and as such had an automatic loss of four bouts each time they met another team.

Saturday afternoon 14 Feb., Col. Laurence Brownlee, M/Sgt. Severo Pasol and Mr. Wm. O'Brien were back in competition at the Pannonia Invitational Foil Championship. The event was by invitation only and fencers in competition were to be the strongest in that weapon. The entire event lasted four and one-half hours and when the final rounds ended Girard Biagini of the Pannonia Athletic Club and member of the 1958 World Championship Team was in first place. Sewall Shurtz of the American and Pan-American Olympic Team finished second. Severo Pasol and Bill O'Brien, both of LAH-PSF fenced off for third with Pasol taking it 5-4. Col. Laurence Brownlee of LAH-PSF took fifth place.

There is another full weekend of activity slated for the fencers as tonight they put on an exhibition for the Cub Scouts in the East Hospital Area. Tomorrow morning, Ed Purdy will take part in the Pannonia Athletic Club Invitational Epee Championship against a field of the best epee men in the area. Tomorrow night the LAH-PSF team will enter the Northern California Class B Epee Team Championship at the Berkeley Fencers Club, 2571 Shattuck Ave., Berkeley, California. The team will be composed of Ed Purdy, Severo Pasol, Ben Firth, and Col. Laurence Brownlee.

Intramural Casaba Finals Expected Here Next Week

The Intramural Basketball League standings are for the most part fairly well ironed out, with one game yet to be played to determine second place in the Air Defense League.

The other leagues have finished play and are waiting for the outcome of the game between C Btry, 4th Msl. Bn. and Hq. 6th RADCOM Team. The game will take place at Ft. Scott Gym. Game time is 1900, Feb. 24.

The Intramural Basketball Finals will be held next week in a single round-robin tournament. Each team will have to play all the other teams once with the winner being determined by the greatest number of games won. The first and second place team in each league will enter tourney play.

The Presidio Toreras finished up a disastrous season as they dropped two games over the weekend. Holding the league lead earlier in the season, the Toreras dwindled gradually until they finished up in third place.

The first defeat was a 37-31 affair to the league champions Mather Air Force Base. Down 20-19 at the half, the Toreras stayed in thick of it until only two minutes playing time remained. It was then that Mather clicked for two quick baskets and a couple of free throws for the final margin.

For the Toreras it was almost all the eggs in one basket as Kelly hit 29 and Phillips 2. Scoring was split for the Mather sextet as Fugere hit 15, Ingersoll 12 and Rundle 10.

The deciding game for second place was played against the ladies from Ft. Ord with the Toreras on the short end 46-37. Presidio couldn't rally from a 26-19 half-time deficit to force the playoff for second in the league.

Scoring honors were passed around a bit this time as Kelly hit 25; Silva and Phillips garnered 6 apiece. For Ft. Ord it was Garcia 23, Akiu 17 and Dherty 6.

New Trout Lake In Colusa County Has Been Finished

Trout fishermen will soon have a brand new lake in which to test their skill.

The Wildlife Conservation Board announced that its $20,000 Lett's Valley project, which will create a 33-acre lake in the Mendocino National Forest 18 miles southwest of Stonyford, Colusa County, has been completed. Located in a dry area of the Coast Range containing few fishable waters, the lake will have an average depth of 20 feet.

Lying at an elevation of about 4,200 feet, the water supply will come from winter runoff, plus springs, and is held in check for angling purposes by a newly constructed dam.

The U.S. Forest Service plans to develop additional recreational facilities for picnicking and camping around the lake. Home sites will also be developed there. The new lake is accessible by gravel road with no motorboats permitted on the lake proper.

Volleyball Team Grabs Armed Forces Tourney

The Presidio Varsity Highnetters swept the NorCal Armed Forces Volleyball Tournament held at Travis Air Force Base by going undefeated in all of their games. In the round-robin affair each team had to play all the others at least once with the winner determined by the team with the most victories at the end of play.

Presidio opened tourney play with a match against the Fairfield Air Station team and trimmed their wings 15-2, 15-10, 15-8. Their next victim was the tough crew from Hamilton Air Force Base which got clipped 15-10, 15-10, 15-5. The Navy team from Oakland Naval Air Station was torpedoes by 15-1, 15-6, 15-7. The last team to taste defeat were the host highnetters from Travis as Presidio downed them 15-2, 15-8. No third game was necessary because even if Presidio lost they would still win the tournament.

Team records in tourney play were Presidio of San Francisco—11-0, Travis Air Force Base—9-2, Hamilton Air Force Base—4-8, Oakland Naval Air Station—4-8, and Fairfield Air Station—1-11.

Spikemasters Dave Rhem and Len Kaczmarek paved the way with their spectacular display of offensive power. Setman, George Blair, who can spike with the best of them, turned in a whale of a job on defense. John Sadler and Al Kincaid aided the offense with their spiking; Kincaid seeing action on a limited basis due to a recent injury. Dick Chute continued to improve his ball-handling ability and shows tremendous improvement. Sfc. Carlos Ramirez came back on the playing floor after a long layoff due to an injury to aid the team in their victory.

Little League Plans Set; Registrations Are Open

Registration for the 1959 season of the Golden Gate Little League is now open. Registration forms or information concerning League activity can be obtained from the following: Captain Bjornberg, Room 209, Bldg. 39; M/Sgt. Franklin, Room 116, Bldg. 38; Sgt. Major, Presidio of San Francisco, Bldg. 220; Information Desk, Letterman Army Hospital, Bldg. 1016; Sgt. Major, Hq. Sixth Army Special Troops, Bldg. 106.

League age limits are 8 to 12. Tryouts will be held at 1230 hours, 7 March, for 11-12-year-olds; 1230 hours, 14 March, for 10-year-olds; and 1230 hours, 21 March, for 8-9-year-olds and those boys of other ages who missed earlier tryouts. Auction and player assignment will be accomplished the first week in April.

Boys who registered for the 1958 season are not required to re-register as their prior registration remains valid; however, unless they were assigned to a Major League team last year they must appear for tryouts. Boys who were members of Major League teams last year should notify team managers that they are available.

A boy need not reside on the Presidio proper to be eligible for the league provided his parents are assigned to duty at the Presidio or its environs or to a unit based thereon.

Equals Rifle Record
A Ft. Carson, Colorado sergeant, Bruce D. Silvey, equalled the indoor four position rifle record by firing 395-400 in unofficial practice. Silvey's record won't go in the books because it wasn't fired in competition. William C. Ross, Sharon, Pa., holds the official record.

POTTING TWO for the winning 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty., in their 64-52 victory over the quintet from 2nd Msl. Bn., 51st Arty. is Lt. Frank Evangelho. (White shirt). Action took place at the Letterman gym during the current battle for title honors in the 40th Brigade Basketball Tournament.

S.F., Marin Nikemen Try For Casaba Title

The Air Defense Basketball Tournament is shaping up to be a battle between the San Francisco and Marin Nike sites to determine which will represent this area in the 6th Region Finals.

2nd Misl. Bn., 51st Arty. (Marin) rolled over the quintet

from 4th Msl. Bn., 67th Arty. (Oakland) by the margin of 62-34. The Marin team led 32-14 at the intermission and was in trouble at no time during the game. Paced by their scoring star Fred Cagle with 19, the winners dominated the offense. Gay Unruh hit 13 for the losers.

In the second game of the evening the 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty. (San Francisco) dumped 1st Msl. Bn., 61st Arty. (Travis) by 59-46. Harry Lux lead the winners with 17 and George Doherty hit 9 for the Travis five.

The winner of last night's game between the Marin and Travis teams will meet the cagers from San Francisco tonight at 1830 in the Letterman Gym.

Former USF basketball star Lt. Frank Evangelho's 21 points on the first night paced the San Francisco entry in the Central California Army Air Defense Command basketball tournament to a 64 to 52 victory over the Marin County entry at Letterman Gym, Presidio of San Francisco.

In the second game of the opening round the Travis Air Force Base entry (1st Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery) defeated the Oakland-East Bay entry (4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery) 64 to 50.

Presidio Golf Team High; Takes Measure OAT Four

Though golf season is still a distant thought in most minds the Presidio of San Francisco suffers took matters in their own hands and invited the Oakland Army Terminal team to a match here at the Presidio. The locals soundly drubbed the team from Oakland by a point score of 31-2.

The first foursome out were Maj. George Reuss teamed with Sfc. Murray Jacobs for the Presidio. Maj. Reuss romped home with a 71 and Sfc. Jacobs not far behind with 74.

The second group out included M/Sgt. Clifford Rogers and M/Sgt. Randy Biles golfing for the Presidio. In their own personal battle, Rogers had a 77 and Biles trailed 83, which still was better than the Oakland golfers in their group could manage.

The No. 3 team for Presidio composed of Capt. Charles Monges and Capt. Leaman Harvey carded 79 and 85 respectively.

Oakland brought an alternate seventh man as did Presidio so

All of the teams are composed of Nike air defense guided missilemen from sites which protect the Central California area from hostile air attack.

Playing "leap-frog" ball in the first half, the lead changed hands a dozen times as first the San Francisco team (4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery) and then the Marin County team (2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery) outfit led. The Marin team grabbed a 4 to 0 lead in the first moments of play as Tom Pruitt and Fred Cagle both scored. Cagle was the losers' high scorer with 20 points.

In the second game, the Travis team dropped to an 8 to 2 deficit, then bounced back to trounce the Oakland-East Bay team, 64 to 50. Paced by high scorers Ernie Valenzuela and Dick Peterson, 19 and 17, respectively, the Travis team moved to a 29 to 22 halftime lead. Valenzuela scored 15 of his points in the second half.

The Central California winner will travel to Los Angeles to compete in the 6th Region (Pacific Coast) Army Air Defense Command tournament March 9 through 16th. Teams from the Pacific Northwest and Southern California will also compete in that tournament.

both squared off in a private match with Sp4 Darrell Mohr of Presidio finishing far ahead posting a 76.

Medalist for the match was Maj. Reuss as he literally "drove" the team to victory. Play was highlighted by Capt. Leaman Harvey when he stepped into the shoes of one of the former regulars to post his good match score. Capt. Harvey only recently took up the game and has improved to his present level in just one year.

Competition in the Bay Area Military Athletic Council League will begin soon and new team members for the Presidio will be selected from intramural participants.

Top Ski Film Here

Considered one of the best and latest films on skiing technique, WEDELN TECHNIQUE will be shown at the Presidio Service Club on 25 February at 2000.

On hand to answer any questions will be Mr. John Bell, a representative of Dawson's Ski Shop, displaying latest ski styles.

Lockyear Quint To Test Neophyte All-Army Team

The All-Army Basketball team, due to compete in the National AAU Tournament this year, will open action against the Lockyear cagers from Long Beach on Sunday, 22 Feb. at Letterman gym. Game time is 1330. The Lockyear team is this year's champion of the Southern California AAU bracket and have only dropped two games all season.

Lockyear has proved strong off the boards this year and averaged 85 points per game. One of their two defeats was at the hands of the San Francisco Olympic Club which the Presidio Toreros have beaten twice this year.

At the forward position are Jim Winterburn, ex-Long Beach State College player, and Luther Nichols, formerly of San Diego State. The big men in the center positions are 6'8" George Sterkle with 6'7" Guy Pearson alternating. Both were USC players in their college days.

Kops Klobber Shafter's 4-0; Take Presidio League Lead

It's finally happened in the Presidio League as the Keystone Kops hold a four game lead over the Shafter's, former league leaders. They did it the best way known when they blanked the Shafter's 4-0 in league play. Way out in front was Johnson with 614-234 for the winners. Opozda led the Shafter's with 539-220.

King Pins dumped third place Recruiters 3-1 as Dennis rolled 525-189 for the winners. Tops for the Recruiters was Bedell with 505-183.

Alley Rats blanked the Islanders 4-0 to put themselves in hot contention for third when Havrilla hit 564-219. Fuller of the Islanders totaled 413-159.

60th CI Det. jumped on SFAADS for a 3-1 margin. Ogle paced the winners with 495-168 and Schweikhard rolled 418-159 for the losers. Nikes still hold the lead in the Wednesday Night Mixed League but saw it dwindle when the sec-

Toreros Up And Out In SWIT Tournament

Presidio of San Francisco was eliminated from the Southwest Invitational Basketball Tournament in two straight games.

The Presidio team was handicapped by lack of height, as Coach Hal Fischer commented, "We did okay considering my tallest man is shorter than I am." Fischer stands 6'5".

The first round foe was tournament favorite Denver-Chicago Truckers which dropped the Toreros 82-76. Behind 44-33 at the intermission the Toreros steadily dropped back until the score read 67-47.

At this point the Presidio five staged a comeback that had the crowd on their feet cheering for an upset. The gap was narrowed to 80-76 with 30 seconds left to play when George BonSalle, Trucker center, dunked a layup through the nets for the final score.

BonSalle made a total of 35 points for the night as he set a new tournament record of 19 rebounds. Harvey Schmidt had 17 and Art Bunte 13 for the winners.

Bill Vonweyhe and Andy Brown split scoring honors for the Toreros with 15 each. Harry Watson and Fred Diehl added 13 and 10, respectively, in the losing cause.

In the consolation rounds Pres-

sidio lost to the San Diego Marines 80-75 which eliminated them from further play.

The Marines took a 36-35 halftime lead as Allen hit a jump shot just before the gun, and kept in front for the remainder of the game. Allen paced the Marine attack as he broke the rebound record of 19 that BonSalle set against the Toreros by getting 23.

Scoring honors went to Andy Brown of the Toreros with 26 for the game. Boothe added 16 and Adrian Smith 12. For the Marines it was Allen in front, hitting 19, as his teammate Gibbs was good for 18.

Army Private Sets New Indoor Mark At Inquirer Meet

Don Bragg, an Army private at Ft. Dix and formerly of Villanova, set a new world's indoor record of 15 feet, 9 1/2 inches in the pole vault at the Philadelphia Inquirer track meet. Bragg hit the cloudscreping record on his first try at the height. The previous indoor record was 15 feet, 8 1/2 inches, set by Cornelius Warmerdam of Fresno State at Chicago in 1943.

Bragg warmed up for his record-breaking try by vaulting 15 feet, 6 inches in the Millrose Games earlier this month. It set a Madison Square Garden record. Bragg tried at 15 feet, 9 inches but his 200 pound frame touched the crossbar in his first attempt and sent it tumbling to the ground.

Bragg, who is unusually heavy for a pole vaulter, has knocked 32 pounds off his weight to reach his present level in the past six months. His record was made with an old pole, but Bragg has a new lightweight pole on order that hasn't arrived yet. Bragg's only warning was, "wait until I get my new pole, that ought to help me."

Entrants Still Needed

There is still a call out for all personnel interested in wrestling or track and field. All aspirants should contact Lt. William Nieder at the Post Special Services Office, Bldg. 122 or call Ext. 2282/3968.

ond place Spoilers shut out the third place Pickups 4-0. Browning carded 546-199 for the winners and Varner 492-180 for the Pickups. Nikes squeaked through the Alley Bys 2 1/2-1 1/2 on the strength of Allison's 527-186. Opozda of the Alley Bys bettered this with 546-195.

Guys & Dolls and the Retorts split one 2-2 when O'Brien rolled 455-214 for the Guys & Dolls. Milburn hit 470-161 for the Retorts.

Tyros kept the Cutups on the bottom as they won 3-1. O'Donnell had 527-223 for the winners as Carney held up the honor of the Cutups 449-166.

On the distaff side the Alley Kats took a two game lead in WAC Bowling as they dumped their nearest contenders, the Brewmasters, 3-1. Heffner of the winners posted a 451-184. Best for the Brewmasters was Parr 420-152.

The Powder Puffs put the Orbits deeper in the cellar as they took a 3-1 margin. Yaggie of the Puffs hit 410-145 but it was bettered by Silva of the Orbits with 413-159.

The third week of play in the Pacific League finds the Hq. Co. No. 3 team moved into a tie for the lead with the Hilltoppers. Hq. No. 3 pasted the Regioners 4-0 as Wilmoth led the winners 586-215. High for the losing keggers was Matticola with 479-171.

Hilltoppers blanked the Retorts 4-0 to keep their half of the league lead. Johnson led the Toppers with 552-195 while Milburn was getting 447-194 for the losers.

AAA Sparks took over fourth place by lacing the 30th Group 4-0. Beery bowled 419-157 and Gardner topped the 30th with 461-195.

The Warrants took the crew from Hq. Co. No. 2 into camp 3-1 behind Marlow's 465-173. Zimmerman rolled a 507-196 for Hq. No. 2.

of three volleys, a bugler blows taps following the final volley. A company participates in an average of ten burials a day and last year alone served at 2,524 military funerals.

Presidio 'Honor Guard' Plays Important Army, Civic Roles

By Pfc. Larry Kaufman
Honor Guard

"Our distinctive red and white scroll shaped patch sets us apart from the rest—we are immediately identified by military and civilian alike. It requires strict attention on our part to minute details in order to maintain our high standards."

According to Captain William E. Le Gro, Jr., commanding officer of Company A, these are some of the problems encountered by the Sixth Army Honor Guard.

"Simply being 'sharper' in appearance than others is not sufficient—we must be up to Honor Guard standards constantly if we are to avoid criticism."

M/Sgt. George S. Van Kirk, first sergeant, added, "This problem is made more difficult by the fact that many people mistakenly assume the bulk of our time is devoted exclusively to the maintenance of our equipment. Actually, most of our time is devoted to performing at military burials."

Last year the Honor Guard was called upon to perform at 2524 military burials. Averaging more than ten burials a day requires close cooperation among the men and precise timing by the NCO's in charge.

An average day's schedule would go like this:

At 0530 the lights flash on in the two platoon bays of building 1207, Fort Winfield Scott. At 0608 M/Sgt. Arlis R. Gloege blows the whistle for reveille. Immediately after reveille the troops converge into the mess hall. The mess hall under the direction of Sfc. John W. Gray has been awarded best mess citations three times in the past 24 months. As Sfc. Gray says, "I'm pleased with the awards, of course, but I'm constantly attempting to improve our mess hall." With the morning meal finished the company begins preparations for the daily inspection of the barracks. By 0740, with the barracks ready for inspection, the men prepare themselves for the day's operations.

First on the training schedule for both platoons is an hour and a half of dismounted drill led by Sfc. Roque Mataguly. To keep the men alert Sfc. Mataguly interjects variations on the standard drill manual. As the sergeant says, "This precision drill gives the men something to work for and to look forward to. It also makes a man think, to concentrate on what he is doing all the time. It also teaches him the importance of cooperation in an organization like this."

At 0920 the men of the 2nd platoon fall out for physical training. But in the first platoon thirteen men—six for pallbearers, six for the firing squad, and one NCO in charge—begin their preparations for burial detail. Bus transportation is scheduled for 1000. The first burial at Golden Gate National Cemetery, 14 miles away in San Bruno, is scheduled for 1045.

Their activity is unhurried and precise. Each man knows what is required of him. Some men put the finishing touches on their highly polished boots, others adjust brass on uniforms.

Ten minutes before transportation time the captain, along with the NCO in charge, makes his inspection of the burial detail. Bayonets, boots, white gloves, all receive the careful scrutiny of the inspecting officer.

At exactly 1000 the men load on the bus and the NCO makes his final check of the weapons and equipment. By now the men remaining in the company area are in the classroom for their morning instruction period.

The bus swings out onto the Golden Gate approachway and heads for 19th Avenue. Forty minutes later the bus enters the gates of the cemetery.

The NCO in charge checks with the sexton to determine the location and times of the burials.

The men unload and take their positions—the six pallbearers by the grave—the firing squad about 100 feet away.

As the hearse arrives the pallbearers and firing squad present arms. The hearse stops and the pallbearers move forward to the flag-covered casket. Slowly and solemnly, they carry the casket to the grave. During the final service the pallbearers stand at attention holding the flag over the casket.

At the completion of the graveside sermon, and upon a signal from the sexton, the NCO in charge of the firing squad brings the squad into firing position. Three commands of "Fire" and three rifle volleys thunder out in rapid succession.

As the sound from the last volley fades away, the bugler sounds taps. Upon completion of taps the pallbearers step away from the grave and fold the flag.

The last man in the group of pallbearers, usually the sergeant in charge, takes the triangularly folded flag, presents it to the sexton, takes one step back, salutes and leaves with the other pallbearers.

Top NCO's Meet Here; Discuss New Club Idea

Stripes aplenty were on display last week at the Presidio NCO Club when nearly 200 Master Sergeants from the Bay Area commands gathered there for dinner to discuss the possibility of organizing a Master Sergeants club or association.

Believed to be one of the largest groups of top graders ever

assembled at the Presidio, the NCO's were from Headquarters Sixth United States Army, the 6th Region U.S. Army Air Defense Command, Letterman Army Hospital, 30th Engineer Bn., 40th Arty. Brigade, U.S. Army Garrison and numerous miscellaneous units stationed in the San Francisco Bay Area.

Sixth United States Army Special Troops was host unit, with Master Sergeant Robert J. Carr, Special Troops Sergeant Major, presiding as chairman. Major General John J. Binns, Chief of Staff, Sixth United States Army, was the guest speaker.

General Binns spoke on the necessity of older NCO's keeping physically and mentally fit and the importance of the Army's role in National Defense. He pointed out that by setting an example, senior NCO's can imbue in the minds of younger soldiers a strong sense of loyalty and integrity, the two fundamentals of a good soldier.

Other guests included: Colonel M. M. Brown, CO, Presidio of San Francisco; Colonel Andrew L. Lolli, CO, 40th Arty. Brigade; Colonel Achilles L. Tynes, CO, Letterman Army Hospital; Colonel Frank G. Ratliff, Deputy CO, Presidio of San Francisco; Chaplain (Col.) Herman H. Heuer, Sixth U.S. Army; Lt. Colonel Richard M. Underwood, CO, 30th Engineer Bn.; Major John W. Boyle, Exec. O, Sixth U.S. Army Spec. Trps.; and Captain John P. Morris, Aide-de-Camp to General Binns.

Hawk Missile Contract For $50,731,000 Is Let

Washington (ANS)—A $50,731,000 contract has been awarded to Raytheon Manufacturing Company of Waltham, Massachusetts, for production of the Hawk Missile System, the Department of the Army announced this week.

Hawk is the Army's killer missile designed specifically for use against low altitude targets. Hawk has successfully engaged targets from treetop level to 38,000 feet. In a recent test the Hawk missile scored a direct hit on a 1400-mile-an-hour XQ-5 target missile.

The Hawk is about 16 feet long and 14 inches in diameter and uses a solid-fuel propellant. It can be operated both in the continental U.S. air defense at fixed installations and with fast moving combat troops of the field Army.

Tiny Missile Radio Increases Safety

White Sands, N.M. (AFPS)—A 107-cubic-inch radio-receiving set able to handle three messages simultaneously represents one of the latest strides toward increased missile safety here.

The miniature radio, which has greater sensitivity than anything heretofore developed, will play a key role in rendering harmless missiles that threaten to go berserk and endanger life and property.

By sending a radio signal or an internally generated command to a safety package in the missile, a safety officer can detonate a high explosive so that continued trajectory is limited.

Also, the tiny package may close a valve and stop the missile motor, cutting short the missile's flight.

Forty Volunteers Try Bomb Shelter At Yuma Test

Forty volunteers recently emerged unscathed after spending 24 hours in a new blast-resistant underground atomic shelter as it was subjected to pressures up to sixty pounds per square inch.

The tests, designed for use in overseas areas, were conducted at the Army Engineer Desert Test Station, Yuma, Ariz., to evaluate the entrance, blast arrestor and ventilation designs.

The shelter, formed by heavy steel plates bolted together in a shape similar to a quonset hut, is placed in an excavation 11 feet deep and covered with four feet of soil, while rocks are placed around the entrance tubes to a depth of five feet to form a blast arrestor.

The air supply for the shelter is drawn through the perforated blast cover and rock bed into the entrance tubes through a number of small holes in the sides of the tubes.

First Army Housing Units Up In France; 18 More Due Soon

Captieux, France (ANS)—The housing situation for Army families of the Captieux Ammunition Depot has improved with the completion of the first Surplus Commodity Housing Program project of 24 units here recently.

This project is one of 19 similar ones currently under construction in France under supervision of the United States Army Construction Agency according to the BASEC MISSION.

Due for completion later this year in Base Section, U.S. Army Communication Zone, are projects at Braconne (44 units), Bussac (52 units), Chiron (42 units), Fontenay (50 units), Ingrandes (88 units), Poitiers (90 units), and Saumur (30 units).

Slate New WAC Unit For Ft. Shafter, Hawaii

Washington (AFPS)—For the first time since WWII a WAC detachment will be activated at Army Pacific Hq., Ft. Shafter, Hawaii.

With a target date of "sometime this summer," the new detachment calls for a 50-woman unit.

The Army now has a detachment of 150 WACs stationed at Camp Zama, Japan, and another of about 130 WACs on Okinawa. Both are subordinate commands of USARPAC.

Meet Eager-Beaver

Geiger Field, Washington, has more than its share of "eager beavers," an Air Force term meaning cadet underclassmen, as 1st Lt. Charles E. Eager and 2nd Lt. William R. Beaver have been assigned there together to fly with the 498th Fighter Interceptor Squad.

However, members of the Spokane base aren't worried, because with names like that they are bound to be a great team.

BEST SAFETY PROGRAM plaque is presented by Presidio Commanding Officer, Col. M. M. Brown to Lt. Col. William Koski, Post Engineer Safety Officer, as Col. Walter Carroll, Post Engineer, looks on.

Engineers 2nd Quarter Safety Award Winners

Colonel M. M. Brown, Presidio Post Commander, presented a "Best Safety Award" plaque to the Post Engineer Section this week.

The award, presented quarterly to the Section with the best accident free record, was received by Lt. Col. William Koski, Engineer Safety Officer, in the presence of Colonel Walker Carroll, Post Engineer, Mr. George Hill, Asst Post Safety Director, and Section Safety committee chiefs.

Post, Signal won the award during the previous quarter.

The award was established to "acknowledge safety achievements and to provide further incentive" to promote and improve accident rates in the command.

The Program is also designed to officially recognize marked reduction in accidents or continued outstanding effectiveness in accident prevention; to recognize outstanding departmental or unit safety records; and to recognize unit commanders and supervisors, military and civilian Army motor vehicle operators, operators of mechanical equipment, and other deserving individuals for periods of commendable accident-free operations.

It was noted by Colonel Brown that the Post Engineers have the largest group of civilian employees exposed to hazardous type work, and in spite of this disadvantage, managed to keep a good safety record, and become the winners of the safety plaque.

Army Missiles Score Hits Despite Jamming

Ft. Bliss, Tex. (AFPS) — Two Nike-Ajax missiles overcame electronic jamming techniques in scoring hits to establish another first here recently.

The firing, during simulated battle conditions, was even more remarkable since it was accomplished by basic missile officer students from the Army Air Defense School who were firing for the first time.

"The firing was part of their program of instruction," said Col. Lawrence E. Cummings, Deputy for Instruction at the school. School instructors said it was the first time firing units have been subjected to electronic counter-measures of the type they would undoubtedly encounter during actual combat conditions.

ID Card Needed To Speed Payment In Medicare Plan

Dependents of Armed Services personnel were strongly advised today by the Sixth Army Surgeon to present their Identification and Privilege Card (DD form 1173) when they request either military or authorized civilian medical care.

Colonel Raymond H. Bunshaw, Sixth Army Surgeon, said this will enable faster payments to civilian medical centers and prevent discouragement of these facilities in providing further treatment to dependents.

"If the dependent pays for this care and later seeks reimbursement from this headquarters, the forms must be returned for completion of the ID card number," Colonel Bunshaw said.

"This delays payment to the dependent," he continued, "and, in turn, lowers morale."

Military personnel were asked by Colonel Bunshaw to be positive that their dependents had their identification card and present it when seeking their authorized privileges.

AAD Personnel Big Users In Medicare

Army air defense personnel represent a "major user" of the Army's Dependents Medicare Program, according to Col. Samuel James Newsum, Surgeon of the United States Army Air Defense Command.

During October, November, December 1958, 308 permits were issued to USARADCOM personnel authorizing medical services by private physicians for dependents of men stationed at Army air defense sites across the nation. Colonel Newsum said the USARADCOM Medicare permits represent 49.8 per cent of the total reported for the same quarter by the Army Surgeon General's Office.

"The permits were predominantly issued for authorized maternity care," he said. "The number of permits closely parallels the number of isolated USARADCOM elements in areas remote from Armed Forces medical facilities."

This modern Optical Dispensing Service is located in the rear of Building 202 at the Naval Station, Treasure Island. Hours of operation are from 1000 to 1700 Monday through Friday, and 0930 to 1300 on Saturdays.

First HAWK Class Training At Redstone

Redstone Arsenal, Ala. — The first enlisted specialist class to be trained in the new HAWK air defense missile began training here recently at the Ordnance Guided Missile School.

The letters H-A-W-K stand for "Homing All the Way Killer" which is precisely what this missile does. It locks on its target and stays on it despite any evasive tactics which may be taken.

With systems such as HAWK, close combat support aircraft will constitute a greatly diminished operational threat to ground troops.

Wins High Praise

Captain E. C. Leigon, Headquarters Commandant, retiring from the service on 26 February, was commended Friday by Maj. Gen. E. J. McGaw, commander of the Sixth Region, U.S. Army Air Defense Command, on the fine work he has done while at Ft. Baker, and during his Army career.

Army Daughters Slate Fashion Benefit Here

"Younger Than Springtime" will be the theme of a benefit fashion show and tea to be presented by the San Francisco Junior Chapter, Society of Daughters of the United States Army, on 7 March at 1400 in the Letterman Officers' Club.

Proceeds from the program will be divided between the

Eugenia Bradford Roberts Memorial Fund, an organization which maintains scholarships for daughters of retired or deceased Army officers who need financial help in obtaining an education to become self supporting, and the Lighthouse for the Blind.

Models will include Marilyn Baker, Sheila Boyle, Sheila Brownlee, Judy D'Alemberte, Jane Dullum, Barbara Emmeier, Jane Irey, Sue Mearns, Linda Pryor and Margi Tynes, and tickets may be obtained by contacting Cheryl Pease, WE 1-6111, Ext. 2744, or Mrs. L. H. Brownlee, WE 1-6111, Ext. 2443.

Originated in 1928 at Ft. Benning, Ga., the D.U.S.A., as the group is often called, now has 24 chapters in the U.S. and overseas, chiefly at or near military installations.

Although inactive at the present time, there has been interest recently in reviving the San Francisco Senior Chapter, open to women over 16 who are daughters, granddaughters, step-daughters, or adopted daughters of commissioned Army officers, and anyone eligible for membership is urged to contact Mrs. Brownlee for further information.

Before entering the service, Beasley graduated from Arsenal Technical High School, Indianapolis, Indiana, and attended Milligan College in Tennessee. He worked as a laboratory tester for the Allison Division of General Motors in Indianapolis, Indiana.

Pfc. Beasley now is a radar operator for the battery. He completed basic training at Camp Carson, Colorado, and has since attended the NIKE-HERCULES missile conversion course at Fort Bliss, Texas. Pfc. Beasley, his wife, Marjorie, and their six-months-old son, Thomas II, live at 109 West Street in Sausalito, California. Beasley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Beasley of 1139 English Avenue, Indianapolis, Indiana.

Tours Nike Site

The VIP tour was given to Col. Kozuma recently as he visited Btry. B, 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty. prior to his return to staff duties with the Japanese Army.

The Honor Guard Story

And so it goes, on the average of once every 15 to 20 minutes. Because of the repetition the men are always reminded of the cautioning words of Capt. Le Gro, "There is always a possibility of adopting a perfunctory attitude. We must always exercise great caution and discipline to insure that the ceremony does not lose its dignity."

During the period that the men of the first platoon are on the burial detail, a similar group of 13 men from the second platoon has begun preparing for the afternoon burial detail. The use of two details per day allows all the men to eat their noon meal in the company mess hall.

At 1215 the first burial detail loads on the bus for the return to the company. At the same time back at the company the afternoon burial detail is loading on their bus, ready to replace the morning detail.

On the bus, the returning firing squad, to save time, cleans its weapons. Patches, oil and rods are all passed back and forth through the bus, and in a short time the weapons are cleaned and ready for use the following day.

Upon returning to the company the men are given time to prepare for the following day's duties. Boots are brought back to their glass-like appearance, brass is taken down to the brass shop for polishing. Uniforms are taken up stairs for pressing. White equipment, boot laces, pistol belts, gloves, fourragères and rifle slings, is taken downstairs to be laundered.

The white accessories comprise a small amount of the additional equipment issued to each EM in the Honor Guard. "Each man is issued about $100 worth of equipment. This includes his dress blue uniform worn at honor guards, his helmet liners, fourragères, AG trousers, belts, scarves, laces and innumerable minor accessories," said Sfc. Charles W. Daugherty, supply sergeant.

Besides these burial operations the Honor Guard has other missions. One is the training of replacements for the Honor Guard.

Each incoming EM receives two weeks of instruction in the operations, history, functions and requirements of the Honor Guard from Sfc. Robert J. Lankford, first platoon sergeant.

The Honor Guard also provides the Color Guard for civic functions. In 1958 the Color Guard participated in 79 civilian sponsored ceremonies and conventions. For many civilians this is their only contact with army personnel. The members of the Color Guard are aware of the part they play in the Army's relations with the Bay Area. The Color Guard strives to maintain and strengthen the Army's tradition of exemplary conduct and appearance.

The Honor Guard is the personification of the Army. It represents the pride of accomplishment found in the men who launched the Army satellites, the men who man the Nike installations, of the men everywhere who make up the U.S. Army. The next time the Honor Guard parades proudly by, remember that this is just one of the things that it does so well.

kaleidoscope

By Sp3 Martin Rein
PIO Reporter

Affable, cheerful Specialist 4 Ben Doerksen has a job "no one likes, but, someone has to do."

In civilian life Ben, who is Mail Clerk for Sixth Army Engineering Section, is an undertaker, or as he and his brother craftsmen prefer—mortician.

Extremely unlike the popular concept of an undertaker, Ben is a ready smile, exhibits a healthy personality, and is very active.

All this is offered as reproof to those folks who automatically think of undertakers as a black-suited, clown-faced, bag-of-bones, clutching a shovel in one hand and a sympathetic crying towel in the other.

For you see Ben just isn't built that way. As mentioned before he shows his lowers and uppers at the drop of a shovel, and at the same time his pale gray eyes, he says they're blue, twinkle.

He stretches a 175 pounds over a 5'11" frame, and has his "dirty" blond hair styled in a crew cut. As befits his personality, Ben can take the constant jokes aimed at him and his profession.

Ben said of these jibes, "ours is a profession that is looked on in a different light than others. Morticians are looked upon as a class by themselves, and are consequently the butt for jokes."

"I'm ribbed quite a bit, but it doesn't affect me. I realize it is part of the job. The favorite phrase or the one I hear more often is, 'someone has to do it, but I don't think I care to.'"

Now Ben didn't always want to become an undertaker, but somehow a pre-engineering compass he was working with gradually turned into an embalming needle.

It was after he had completed his second year at Willamette University in Oregon that he helped a friend and found a profession.

Summer came along and Ben returned to Salem, Oregon, his home town. A friend going off to National Guard Camp asked him to help his father in his business—a funeral parlor.

During that summer Ben did the odd jobs around a mortuary, such as driving a hearse, ushering, etc.

After he was asked to remain with the firm, he applied for an apprenticeship license in the summer of 1955. Then nine months at San Francisco College of Mortuary Science followed and in June 1957, after completing his apprenticeship, he took various board exams and was granted his license to practice as an embalmer and funeral director.

Two months later after working in the coroner's office as well as in his friend's father's funeral parlor, Ben was drafted into the Army.

Since he has been stationed here at the Presidio he has kept himself busy. After duty hours he works at the Ft. Mason Officers Club.

A seemingly tireless person who doesn't require much sleep, Ben has plotted out a rugged schedule for his return to civilian life.

He hopes to attend Willamette U. taking courses in the morning which will lead to a degree, and work in the afternoon at a mortuary, as well as at the coroner's office.

Judges For Play Contest To Be Named Next Week

Judges for the Second Annual Presidio Playwriting Contest will be announced next week and contest officials urged aspiring playwrights to set an early deadline for themselves on manuscript turn-ins.

"The contest isn't limited to one entry per writer," states Harry Helman, Post Entertainment Director, "an ambitious playwright can turn in as many manuscripts as he likes."

Besides cash awards of $25, $15 and $10, there will be trophies for the winning playwright, best actor and actress and best director. Plays will be produced by the Entertainment Section on Friday, 12 June, and the author has the option, not only to direct, but to cast and even act in his own creation.

Other contest rules include:

• Language must be within the code for radio and television.

• Plays must be based on contemporary Army life.

• Manuscripts must be for one-act plays—musicals are not eligible for competition—with production time ranging from 20 to 45 minutes.

• Only active-duty military personnel on the Presidio and its subposts including Letterman Army Hospital, XV U.S. Army Corps (Reserve), Sixth Region, U.S. Army Defense Command, and the Sixth U.S. Army will be eligible to enter the contest. Personnel on a tour of active duty of 90 days or less are not eligible.

• Typewritten manuscripts should be submitted on 8 1/2 x 11 bond paper and triple-spaced. A separate title sheet should accompany the manuscript, including name, rank, unit and title of the play. Author's name should not appear on any page in the body of the play.

• Entries should be sent to Play Contest Editor, Room 211, Building 87A, Presidio, San Francisco, no later than 1600 hours on 15 April.

Top Philosopher To Speak At PWC March Luncheon

An outstanding interpreter of world events, Dr. Alfred G. Fisk, Professor of Philosophy at San Francisco State College, will be guest speaker at the Presidio Women's Club Luncheon on 3 March in the Officers' Open Mess.

Author of "The Search For Life's Meaning," and winner of the Drew Pearson contest on "How to Make Democracy Live," Dr. Fisk has chosen as the subject for this talk, "A Philosophy of Life for These Times."

Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Lester Kuhr, Ext. 3319, or Mrs. Clifford Hill, MA 4-9657.

During the February meeting it was voted to donate $500 to the Army Distaff Foundation, for the purpose of helping to establish an apartment house and nursing home for elderly Army widows and daughters, $200 to the Pediatrics Ward at LAH, and an unset amount to the March of Dimes.

Courtenay Interview

For two years from June 1951 the battle-line developed into trench warfare. But the Communists were beaten and knew it. The plot was foiled and they asked for the armistice; we didn't.

The U.S. Air Force destroyed 805 Russian Migs and lost 58 Sabrejets in the 3 years campaign; won complete air superiority to protect the infantry from air attack; and we finally secured the line pretty much where it was before the conflict commenced. America won time to build up some 20 South Korean divisions which now man the line.

We stymied the Communists in Korea as we did in the Berlin Airlift. And they know if they strike again through North Korea that this time Manchuria will not be immune from attack—even atomic attack—and that all their industries beyond Korea will suffer. This is the last thing Communist China wants. She is very unlikely to go into it again and see her industries blitzed while Russia eggs her on and Russia's industries go so free.

So we achieved much and gathered immense experience. We have only to stay resolute and let the Communists know if they try to steal South Korea again we shall still be willing to go on in behalf of the United Nations and they will hold their hand. This is no small achievement!

BEST SAFETY PROGRAM plaque is presented by Presidio Commanding Officer, Col. M. M. Brown to Lt. Col. William Koski, Post Engineer Safety Officer, as Col. Walter Carroll, Post Engineer, looks on.

Engineers 2nd Quarter Safety Award Winners

Colonel M. M. Brown, Presidio Post Commander, presented a "Best Safety Award" plaque to the Post Engineer Safety Officer, Lt. Col. William Koski, in the presence of Colonel Walker Carroll, Post Engineer, Mr. George Hill, Asst Post Safety Director, and Section Safety committee chiefs.

The award, presented quarterly to the Section with the best accident free record, was received by Lt. Col. William Koski, Engineer Safety Officer, in the presence of Colonel Walker Carroll, Post Engineer, Mr. George Hill, Asst Post Safety Director, and Section Safety committee chiefs.

The award was established to "acknowledge safety achievements and to provide further incentive" to promote and improve accident rates in the command.

The Program is also designed to officially recognize marked reduction in accidents or continued outstanding effectiveness in accident prevention; to recognize outstanding departmental or unit safety records; and to recognize unit commanders and supervisors, military and civilian Army motor vehicle operators, operators of mechanical equipment, and other deserving individuals for periods of commendable accident-free operations.

It was noted by Colonel Brown that the Post Engineers have the largest group of civilian employees exposed to hazardous type work, and in spite of this disadvantage, managed to keep a good safety record, and become the winners of the safety plaque.

Army Missiles Score Hits Despite Jamming

Ft. Bliss, Tex. (AFPS) — Two Nike-Ajax missiles overcame electronic jamming techniques in scoring hits to establish another first here recently.

The firing, during simulated battle conditions, was even more remarkable since it was accomplished by basic missile officer students from the Army Air Defense School who were firing for the first time.

"The firing was part of their program of instruction," said Col. Lawrence E. Cummings, Deputy for Instruction at the school. School instructors said it was the first time firing units have been subjected to electronic counter-measures of the type they would undoubtedly encounter during actual combat conditions.

New Optical Service Now Open At T. I.

The Navy Exchange, Treasure Island, has recently opened an Optical Dispensing Service. This service is available for all military personnel and their dependents who may have optical prescriptions from Armed Forces as well as civilian opticians and ophthalmologists filed.

In addition, a wide variety of the latest eye-glass frames and styles are stocked for patrons' choice. The services of an experienced dispensing optician are available to assist authorized patrons in the selection and fitting of their eyeglasses.

This modern Optical Dispensing Service is located in the rear of Building 202 at the Naval Station, Treasure Island. Hours of operation are from 1000 to 1700 Monday through Friday, and 0930 to 1300 on Saturdays.

First HAWK Class Training At Redstone

Redstone Arsenal, Ala. — The first enlisted specialist class to be trained in the new HAWK air defense missile began training here recently at the Ordnance Guided Missile School.

The letters H-A-W-K stand for "Homing All the Way Killer" which is precisely what this missile does. It locks on its target and stays on it despite any evasive tactics which may be taken.

With systems such as HAWK, close combat support aircraft constitute a greatly diminished operational threat to ground troops.

Wins High Praise

Captain E. C. Leigon, Headquarters Commandant, retiring from the service on 26 February, was commended Friday by Maj. Gen. E. J. McGaw, commander of the Sixth Region, U.S. Army Air Defense Command, on the fine work he has done while at Ft. Baker, and during his Army career.

ID Card Needed To Speed Payment In Medicare Plan

Dependents of Armed Services personnel were strongly advised today by the Sixth Army Surgeon to present their Identification and Privilege Card (DD form 1173) when they request either military or authorized civilian medical care.

Colonel Raymond H. Bunshaw, Sixth Army Surgeon, said this will enable faster payments to civilian medical centers and prevent discouragement of these facilities in providing further treatment to dependents.

"If the dependent pays for this care and later seeks reimbursement from this headquarters, the forms must be returned for completion of the ID card number," Colonel Bunshaw said.

"This delays payment to the dependent," he continued, "and, in turn, lowers morale."

Military personnel were asked by Colonel Bunshaw to be positive that their dependents had their identification card and present it when seeking their authorized privileges.

AAD Personnel Big Users In Medicare

Army air defense personnel represent a "major user" of the Army's Dependents Medicare Program, according to Col. Samuel James Newsom, Surgeon of the United States Army Air Defense Command.

During October, November, December 1958, 308 permits were issued to USARADCOM personnel authorizing medical services by private physicians for dependents of men stationed at Army air defense sites across the nation. Colonel Newsom said the USARADCOM Medicare permits represent 49.8 per cent of the total reported for the same quarter by the Army Surgeon General's Office.

"The permits were predominantly issued for authorized maternity care," he said. "The number of permits closely parallels the number of isolated USARADCOM elements in areas remote from Armed Forces medical facilities."

This modern Optical Dispensing Service is located in the rear of Building 202 at the Naval Station, Treasure Island. Hours of operation are from 1000 to 1700 Monday through Friday, and 0930 to 1300 on Saturdays.

Army Daughters Slate Fashion Benefit Here

"Younger Than Springtime" will be the theme of a benefit fashion show and tea to be presented by the San Francisco Junior Chapter, Society of Daughters of the United States Army, on 7 March at 1400 in the Letterman Officers' Club.

Proceeds from the program will be divided between the

Eugenia Bradford Roberts Memorial Fund, an organization which maintains scholarships for daughters of retired or deceased Army officers who need financial help in obtaining an education to become self supporting, and the Lighthouse for the Blind.

Models will include Marilyn Baker, Sheila Boyle, Sheila Brownlee, Judy D'Alemberte, Jane Dullum, Barbara Emmeier, Jane Irey, Sue Mearns, Linda Pryor and Margi Tynes, and tickets may be obtained by contacting Cheryl Pease, WE 1-6111, Ext. 2744, or Mrs. L. H. Brownlee, WE 1-6111, Ext. 2443.

Originated in 1928 at Ft. Benning, Ga., the D.U.S.A., as the group is often called, now has 24 chapters in the U.S. and overseas, chiefly at or near military installations.

Although inactive at the present time, there has been interest recently in reviving the San Francisco Senior Chapter, open to women over 16 who are daughters, granddaughters, step-daughters, or adopted daughters of commissioned Army officers, and anyone eligible for membership is urged to contact Mrs. Brownlee for further information.

Before entering the service, Beasley graduated from Arsenal Technical High School, Indianapolis, Indiana, and attended Milligan College in Tennessee. He worked as a laboratory tester for the Allison Division of General Motors in Indianapolis, Indiana.

Pfc. Beasley now is a radar operator for the battery. He completed basic training at Camp Carson, Colorado, and has since attended the NIKE-HERCULES missile conversion course at Fort Bliss, Texas.

Pfc. Beasley, his wife, Marjorie, and their six-months-old son, Thomas II, live at 109 West Street in Sausalito, California. Beasley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Beasley of 1139 English Avenue, Indianapolis, Indiana.

The main discussion centered on closer liaison, command policies, and ways to improve over-all efficiency, and the meeting concluded as the "First Soldiers" met with their counterparts of the Sixth U.S. Army at the Presidio for dinner and an address by Maj. Gen. John J. Binns, Chief of Staff, Sixth U.S. Army.

The Honor Guard Story

And so it goes, on the average of once every 15 to 20 minutes. Because of the repetition the men are always reminded of the cautioning words of Capt. Le Gro, "There is always a possibility of adopting a perfunctory attitude. We must always exercise great caution and discipline to insure that the ceremony does not lose its dignity."

During the period that the men of the first platoon are on the burial detail, a similar group of 13 men from the second platoon has begun preparing for the afternoon burial detail. The use of two details per day allows all the men to eat their noon meal in the company mess hall.

At 1215 the first burial detail loads on the bus for the return to the company. At the same time back at the company the afternoon burial detail is loading on their bus, ready to replace the morning detail.

On the bus, the returning firing squad, to save time, cleans its weapons. Patches, oil and rods are all passed back and forth through the bus, and in a short time the weapons are cleaned and ready for use the following day.

Upon returning to the company the men are given time to prepare for the following day's duties. Boots are brought back to their glass-like appearance, brass is taken down to the brass shop for polishing. Uniforms are taken up stairs for pressing. White equipment: boot laces, pistol belts, gloves, fourragères and rifle slings, is taken downstairs to be laundered.

The white accessories comprise a small amount of the additional equipment issued to each EM in the Honor Guard. "Each man is issued about $100 worth of equipment. This includes his dress blue uniform worn at honor guards, his helmet liners, fourragères, AG trousers, belts, scarves, laces and innumerable minor accessories," said Sfc. Charles W. Daugherty, supply sergeant.

Besides these burial operations the Honor Guard has other missions. One is the training of replacements for the Honor Guard.

Hoosier Is Named 'Soldier Of Month' At 2d Msl. Bn., 51st

Private First Class Thomas D. Beasley, Battery A, 2nd Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery, was selected as Soldier of the Month for the 30th Artillery Group (Air Defense) for the month of February. Pfc. Beasley will receive a three-day pass from his battery commander and a check in the amount of $15 from Colonel Iver A. Peterson, Commanding Officer of 30th Artillery Group (Air Defense), as his reward for being an outstanding soldier.

Before entering the service, Beasley graduated from Arsenal Technical High School, Indianapolis, Indiana, and attended Milligan College in Tennessee. He worked as a laboratory tester for the Allison Division of General Motors in Indianapolis, Indiana.

Affable, cheerful Specialist 4 Ben Doerksen has a job "no one likes, but, someone has to do."

In civilian life Ben, who is Mail Clerk for Sixth Army Engineering Section, is an undertaker, or as he and his brother craftsmen prefer—mortician.

Extremely unlike the popular concept of an undertaker, Ben is a ready sniler, exhibits a healthy personality, and is very active.

All this is offered as reproof to those folks who automatically think of undertakers as a black-suited, dour-faced, bag-of-bones, clutching a shovel in one hand and a sympathetic crying towel in the other.

For you see Ben just isn't built that way. As mentioned before he shows his lowers and uppers at the drop of a shovel, and at the same time his pale gray eyes, he says they're blue, twinkle.

He stretches a 175 pounds over a 5'11" frame, and has his "dirty" blond hair styled in a crew cut. As befits his personality, Ben can take the constant jokes aimed at him and his profession.

Ben said of these jibes, "ours is a profession that is looked on in a different light than others. Morticians are looked upon as a class by themselves, and are consequently the butt for jokes."

"I'm ribbed quite a bit, but it doesn't affect me. I realize it is part of the job. The favorite phrase or the one I hear more often is, 'someone has to do it, but I don't think I care to.'"

Now Ben didn't always want to become an undertaker, but somehow a pre-engineering compass he was working with gradually turned into an embalming needle.

It was after he had completed his second year at Willamette University in Oregon that he helped a friend and found a profession.

Summer came along and Ben returned to Salem, Oregon, his home town. A friend going off to National Guard Camp asked him to help his father in his business—a funeral parlor.

During that summer Ben did the odd jobs around a mortuary, such as driving a hearse, ushering, etc.

After he was asked to remain with the firm, he applied for an apprenticeship license in the summer of 1955. Then nine months at San Francisco College of Mortuary Science followed and in June 1957, after completing his apprenticeship, he took various board exams and was granted his license to practice as an embalmer and funeral director.

Two months later after working in the coroner's office as well as in his friend's father's funeral parlor, Ben was drafted into the Army.

Since he has been stationed here at the Presidio he has kept himself busy. After duty hours he works at the Ft. Mason Officers Club.

A seemingly tireless person who doesn't require much sleep, Ben has plotted out a rugged schedule for his return to civilian life.

He hopes to attend Willamette U. taking courses in the morning which will lead to a degree, and work in the afternoon at a mortuary, as well as at the coroner's office.

Judges For Play Contest To Be Named Next Week

Judges for the Second Annual Presidio Playwriting Contest will be announced next week and contest officials urged aspiring playwrights to set an early deadline for themselves on manuscript turn-ins.

"The contest isn't limited to one entry per writer," states

Harry Helman, Post Entertainment Director, "an ambitious playwright can turn in as many manuscripts as he likes."

Besides cash awards of $25, $15 and $10, there will be trophies for the winning playwright, best actor and actress and best director. Plays will be produced by the Entertainment Section on Friday, 12 June, and the author has the option, not only to direct, but to cast and even act in his own creation.

Other contest rules include:

- Language must be within the code for radio and television.
- Plays must be based on contemporary Army life.
- Manuscripts must be for one-act plays—musicals are not eligible for competition — with production time ranging from 20 to 45 minutes.
- Only active-duty military personnel on the Presidio and its supports including Letterman Army Hospital, XV U.S. Army Corps (Reserve), Sixth Region, U.S. Army Defense Command, and the Sixth U.S. Army will be eligible to enter the contest. Personnel on a tour of active duty of 90 days or less are not eligible.
- Typewritten manuscripts should be submitted on 8 1/2 x 11 bond paper and triple-spaced. A separate title sheet should accompany the manuscript, including name, rank, unit and title of the play. Author's name should not appear on any page in the body of the play.
- Entries should be sent to Play Contest Editor, Room 211, Building 87A, Presidio, San Francisco, no later than 1600 hours on 15 April.

Deadline for entries is 28 February and cash prizes will include: $15.00, 1st prize—black and white $10.00, 2nd prize—black and white $5.00, 3rd prize—black and white $15.00, 1st prize—colored slides $10.00, 2nd prize—colored slides $5.00, 3rd prize—colored slides and 3 honorable mentions.

Classes in both black and white and color will be as follows: (1) sports and action, (2) portraits—animals or human beings, (3) experimental—technique, (4) military—not official, (5) scenic—landscapes, seascapes, etc.

Ten entries, one in each category, per contestant is legal. Winners will be sent to the Sixth U.S. Army Finals and then to the All Army contest.

Top Philosopher To Speak At PWC March Luncheon

An outstanding interpreter of world events, Dr. Alfred G. Fisk, Professor of Philosophy at San Francisco State College, will be guest speaker at the Presidio Women's Club Luncheon on 3 March in the Officers' Open Mess.

Author of "The Search For Life's Meaning," and winner of the Drew Pearson contest on "How to Make Democracy Live," Dr. Fisk has chosen as the subject for this talk, "A Philosophy of Life for These Times."

Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Lester Kuhr, Ext. 3319, or Mrs. Clifford Hill, MA 4-9657.

During the February meeting it was voted to donate $500 to the Army Distaff Foundation, for the purpose of helping to establish an apartment house and nursing home for elderly Army widows and daughters, $200 to the Pediatrics Ward at LAH, and an unset amount to the March of Dimes.

For two years from June 1951 the battle-line developed into trench warfare. But the Communists were beaten and knew it. The plot was foiled and they asked for the armistice; we didn't.

The U.S. Air Force destroyed 805 Russian Migs and lost 58 Sabrejets in the 3 years campaign; won complete air superiority to protect the infantry from air attack; and we finally secured the line pretty much where it was before the conflict commenced. America won time to build up some 20 South Korean divisions which now man the line.

We stymied the Communists in Korea as we did in the Berlin Airlift. And they know if they strike again through North Korea that this time Manchuria will not be immune from attack—even atomic attack—and that all their industries beyond Korea will suffer. This is the last thing Communist China wants. She is very unlikely to go into it again and see her industries blitzed while Russia eggs her on and Russia's industries go scot free.

So we achieved much and gathered immense experience. We have only to stay resolute and let the Communists know if they try to steal South Korea again we shall still be willing to go on in behalf of the United Nations and they will hold their hand. This is no small achievement!

S.F., Marin Nikemen Try For Casaba Title

The Air Defense Basketball Tournament is shaping up to be a battle between the San Francisco and Marin Nike sites to determine which will represent this area in the 6th Region Finals.

2nd Misl. Bn., 51st Arty. (Marin) rolled over the quintet

from 4th Msl. Bn., 67th Arty. (Oakland) by the margin of 62-34. The Marin team led 32-14 at the intermission and was in trouble at no time during the game. Paced by their scoring star Fred Cagle with 19, the winners dominated the offense. Gay Unruh hit 13 for the losers.

In the second game of the evening the 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty. (San Francisco) dumped 1st Msl. Bn., 61st Arty. (Travis) by 59-46. Harry Lux lead the winners with 17 and George Doherty hit 9 for the Travis five.

The winner of last night's game between the Marin and Travis teams will meet the cagers from San Francisco tonight at 1830 in the Letterman Gym.

Former USF basketball star Lt. Frank Evangelho's 21 points on the first night paced the San Francisco entry in the Central California Army Air Defense Command basketball tournament to a 64 to 52 victory over the Marin County entry at Letterman Gym, Presidio of San Francisco.

In the second game of the opening round the Travis Air Force Base entry (1st Missile Battalion, 16th. Teams from the Pacific 61st Artillery) defeated the Oakland-East Bay entry (4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery) 64 to 50, ment.

Presidio Golf Team High; Takes Measure OAT Four

Though golf season is still a distant thought in most minds the Presidio of San Francisco duffers took matters in their own hands and invited the Oakland Army Terminal team to a match here at the Presidio. The locals soundly drubbed the team from Oakland by a point score of 31-2.

The first foursome out were Maj. George Reuss teamed with Sfc. Murray Jacobs for the Presidio. Maj. Reuss romped home with a 71 and Sfc. Jacobs not far behind with 74.

The second group out included M/Sgt. Clifford Rogers and M/Sgt. Randy Biles golfing for the Presidio. In their own personal battle, Rogers had a 77 and Biles trailed 83, which still was better than the Oakland golfers in their group could manage.

The No. 3 team for Presidio composed of Capt. Charles Monges and Capt. Leaman Harvey carded 79 and 85 respectively.

Oakland played an alternate seventh man as did Presidio so

All of the teams are composed of Nike air defense guided missilemen from sites which protect the Central California area from hostile air attack.

Playing "leap-frog" ball in the first half, the lead changed hands a dozen times as first the San Francisco team (4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery) and then the Marin County team (2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery) outfit led. The Marin team grabbed a 4 to 0 lead in the first moments of play as Tom Pruitt and Fred Cagle both scored Cagle was the losers' high scorer with 20 points.

In the second game, the Travis team dropped to an 8 to 2 deficit, then bounced back to trounce the Oakland-East Bay team, 64 to 50. Paced by high scorers Ernie Valenzuela and Dick Peterson, 19 and 17, respectively, the Travis team moved to a 29 to 22 halftime lead. Valenzuela scored 15 of his points in the second half.

The Central California winner will travel to Los Angeles to compete in the 6th Region (Pacific Coast) Army Air Defense Command tournament March 9 through 16th.

Teams from the Pacific Northwest and Southern California will also compete in that tournament.

both squared off in a private match with Sp4 Darrell Mohr of Presidio finishing far ahead posting a 76.

Medalist for the match was Maj. Reuss as he literally "drove" the team to victory. Play was highlighted by Capt. Leaman Harvey when he stepped into the shoes of one of the former regulars to post his good match score. Capt. Harvey only recently took up the game and has improved to his present level in just one year.

Competition in the Bay Area Military Athletic Council League will begin soon and new team members for the Presidio will be selected from intramural participants.

Lockyear Quint To Test Neophyte All-Army Team

The All-Army Basketball team, due to compete in the National AAU Tournament this year, will open action against the Lockyear cagers from Long Beach on Sunday, 22 Feb. at Letterman gym. Game time is 1330. The Lockyear team is this year's champion of the Southern California AAU bracket and have only dropped two games all season.

Lockyear boasts good overall height plus a blinding fast-break attack. Danny Rogers, former All-Coast star with USC, and Jim Delpit, Tulane and All Southeastern Conference great, are the two playmaking guards.

At the forward position are Jim Winterburn, ex-Long Beach State College player, and Luther Nichols, formerly of San Diego State. The big men in the center positions are 6'8" George Sterkle with 6'7" Guy Pearson alternating. Both were USC players in their college days.

Kops Klobber Shafter's 4-0; Take Presidio League Lead

It's finally happened in the Presidio League as the Keystone Kops hold a four game lead over the Shafter's, former league leaders. They did it the best way known when they blanked the Shafter's 4-0 in league play. Way out in front was Johnson with 614-234 for the winners. Opozda led the Shafter's with 539-220.

King Pins dumped third place Recruiters 3-1 as Dennis rolled 525-189 for the winners. Tops for the Recruiters was Bedell with 505-183.

Alley Rats blanked the Islanders 4-0 to put themselves in hot contention for third when Havrilla hit 564-219. Fuller of the Islanders totaled 413-159.

60th CI Det. jumped on SFAADS for a 3-1 margin. Ogle paced the winners with 495-168 and Schweikhard rolled 418-159 for the losers. Nikes still hold the lead in the Wednesday Night Mixed League but saw it dwindle when the sec-

Toreros Up And Out In SWIT Tournament

Presidio of San Francisco was eliminated from the Southwest Invitational Basketball Tournament in two straight games.

The Presidio team was handicapped by lack of height, as Coach Hal Fischer commented, "We did okay considering my tallest man is shorter than I am." Fischer stands 6'5".

The first round foe was tournament favorite Denver-Chicago Truckers which dropped the Toreros 82-76. Behind 44-33 at the intermission the Toreros steadily dropped back until the score read 67-47.

At this point the Presidio five staged a comeback that had the crowd on their feet cheering for an upset. The gap was narrowed to 80-76 with 30 seconds left to play when George BonSalle, Trucker center, dunked a layup through the nets for the final score.

BonSalle made a total of 35 points for the night as he set a new tournament record of 19 rebounds. Harvey Schmidt had 17 and Art Bunte 13 for the winners.

Bill Vonweyhe and Andy Brown split scoring honors for the Toreros with 15 each. Harry Watson and Fred Diehl added 13 and 10, respectively, in the losing cause.

In the consolation rounds Pres-

sidio lost to the San Diego Marines 80-75 which eliminated them from further play.

The Marines took a 36-35 halftime lead as Allen hit a jump shot just before the gun, and kept in front for the remainder of the game. Allen paced the Marine attack as he broke the rebound record of 19 that BonSalle set against the Toreros by getting 23.

Scoring honors went to Andy Brown of the Toreros with 26 for the game. Boothe added 16 and Adrian Smith 12. For the Marines it was Allen in front, hitting 19, as his teammate Gibbs was good for 18.

Army Private Sets New Indoor Mark At Inquirer Meet

Don Bragg, an Army private at Ft. Dix and formerly of Villanova, set a new world's indoor record of 15 feet, 9 1/2 inches in the pole vault at the Philadelphia Inquirer track meet. Bragg hit the cloudscraping record on his first try at the height. The previous indoor record was 15 feet, 8 1/2 inches, set by Cornelius Warmerdam of Fresno State at Chicago in 1943.

Bragg warmed up for his record-breaking try by vaulting 15 feet, 6 inches in the Millrose Games earlier this month. It set a Madison Square Garden record. Bragg tried at 15 feet, 9 inches but his 200 pound frame touched the crossbar in his first attempt and sent it tumbling to the ground.

Bragg, who is unusually heavy for a pole vaulter, has knocked 32 pounds off his weight to reach his present level in the past six months. His record was made with an old pole, but Bragg has a new lightweight pole on order that hasn't arrived yet. Bragg's only warning was, "wait until I get my new pole, that ought to help me."

Entrants Still Needed

There is still a call out for all personnel interested in wrestling or track and field. All aspirants should contact Lt. William Nieder at the Post Special Services Office, Bldg. 122 or call Ext. 2282/3968.

3-1 margin. Yaggie of the Puffs hit 410-145 but it was bettered by Silva of the Orbits with 413-159.

The third week of play in the Pacific League finds the Hq. Co. No. 3 team moved into a tie for the lead with the Hilltoppers. Hq. No. 3 pasted the Regioners 4-0 as Wilmoth led the winners 586-215. High for the losing keggers was Matticola with 479-171.

Hilltoppers blanked the Retorts 4-0 to keep their half of the league lead. Johnson led the Toppers with 552-195 while Milburn was getting 447-194 for the losers.

AAA Sparks took over fourth place by lacing the 30th Group 4-0. Beery bowled 419-157 and Gardner topped the 30th with 461-195.

The Warrants took the crew from Hq. Co. No. 2 into camp 3-1 behind Marlow's 465-173. Zimmermann rolled a 507-196 for Hq. No. 2.

of three volleys, a bugler blows taps following the final volley. A Company participates in an average of ten burials a day and last year alone served at 2,524 military funerals.

Presidio 'Honor Guard' Plays Important Army, Civic Roles

By Pfc. Larry Kaufman
Honor Guard

"Our distinctive red and white scroll shaped patch sets us apart from the rest—we are immediately identified by military and civilian alike. It requires strict attention on our part to minute details in order to maintain our high standards."

According to Captain William E. Le Gro, Jr., commanding officer of Company A, these are some of the problems encountered by the Sixth Army Honor Guard.

"Simply being 'sharper' in appearance than others is not sufficient—we must be up to Honor Guard standards constantly if we are to avoid criticism."

M/Sgt. George S. Van Kirk, first sergeant, added, "This problem is made more difficult by the fact that many people mistakenly assume the bulk of our time is devoted exclusively to the maintenance of our equipment. Actually, most of our time is devoted to performing at military burials."

Last year the Honor Guard was called upon to perform at 2524 military burials. Averaging more than ten burials a day requires close cooperation among the men and precise timing by the NCO's in charge.

An average day's schedule would go like this:

At 0530 the lights flash on in the two platoon bays of building 1207, Fort Winfield Scott. At 0608 M/Sgt. Arlis R. Gloege blows the whistle for reveille. Immediately after reveille the troops converge into the mess hall. The mess hall under the direction of Sfc. John W. Gray has been awarded best mess citations three times in the past 24 months. As Sfc. Gray says, "I'm pleased with the awards, of course, but I'm constantly attempting to improve our mess hall."

With the morning meal finished the company begins preparations for the daily inspection of the barracks. By 0740, with the barracks ready for inspection, the men prepare themselves for the day's operations.

First on the training schedule for both platoons is an hour and a half of dismounted drill led by Sfc. Roque Mataguly. To keep the men alert Sfc. Mataguly interjects variations on the standard drill manual. As the sergeant says, "This precision drill gives the men something to work for and to look forward to. It also makes a man think, to concentrate on what he is doing all the time. It also teaches him the importance of cooperation in an organization like this."

At 0920 the men of the 2nd platoon fall out for physical training. But in the first platoon thirteen men—six for pallbearers, six for the firing squad, and one NCO in charge—begin their preparations for burial detail. Bus transportation is scheduled for 1000. The first burial at Golden Gate National Cemetery, 14 miles away in San Bruno, is scheduled for 1045.

Their activity is unhurried and precise. Each man knows what is required of him. Some men put the finishing touches on their highly polished boots, others adjust brass-on uniforms.

Ten minutes before transportation time the captain, along with the NCO in charge, makes his inspection of the burial detail. Bayonets, boots, white gloves, all receive the careful scrutinization of the inspecting officer.

At exactly 1000 the men load on the bus and the NCO makes his final check of the weapons and equipment. By now the men remaining in the company area are in the classroom for their morning instruction period.

The bus swings out onto the Golden Gate approachway and heads for 19th Avenue. Forty minutes later the bus enters the gates of the cemetery.

The NCO in charge checks with the sexton to determine the location and times of the burials. The men unload and take their positions—the six pallbearers by the grave—the firing squad about 100 feet away.

As the hearse arrives the pallbearers and firing squad present arms. The hearse stops and the pallbearers move forward to the flag-covered casket. Slowly and solemnly, they carry the casket to the grave. During the final service the pallbearers stand at attention holding the flag over the casket.

At the completion of the graveside sermon, and upon a signal from the sexton, the NCO in charge of the firing squad brings the squad into firing position. Three commands of "Fire" and three rifle volleys thunder out in rapid succession.

As the sound from the last volley fades away, the bugler sounds taps. Upon completion of taps the pallbearers step away from the grave and fold the flag.

The last man in the group of pallbearers, usually the sergeant in charge, takes the triangularly folded flag, presents it to the sexton, takes one step back, salutes and leaves with the other pallbearers.

Top NCO's Meet Here; Discuss New Club Idea

Stripes aplenty were on display last week at the Presidio NCO Club when nearly 200 Master Sergeants from the Bay Area commands gathered there for dinner to discuss the possibility of organizing a Master Sergeants club or association.

Believed to be one of the largest groups of top graders ever

assembled at the Presidio, the NCO's were from Headquarters Sixth United States Army, the 6th Region U.S. Army Air Defense Command, Letterman Army Hospital, 30th Engineer Bn., 40th Arty. Brigade, U.S. Army Garrison and numerous miscellaneous units stationed in the San Francisco Bay Area.

Sixth United States Army Special Troops was host unit, with Master Sergeant Robert J. Carr, Special Troops Sergeant Major, presiding as chairman. Major General John J. Binns, Chief of Staff, Sixth United States Army, was the guest speaker.

General Binns spoke on the necessity of older NCO's keeping physically and mentally fit and the importance of the Army's role in National Defense. He pointed out that by setting an example, senior NCO's can imbue in the minds of younger soldiers a strong sense of loyalty and integrity, the two fundamentals of a good soldier.

Hawk Missile Contract For $50,731,000 Is Let

Washington (ANS)—A $50,731,000 contract has been awarded to Raytheon Manufacturing Company of Waltham, Massachusetts, for production of the Hawk Missile System, the Department of the Army announced this week.

Hawk is the Army's killer missile designed specifically for use against low altitude targets. Hawk has successfully engaged targets from treetop level to 38,000 feet. In a recent test the Hawk missile scored a direct hit on a 1400-mile-an-hour XQ-5 target missile.

The Hawk is about 16 feet long and 14 inches in diameter and uses a solid-fuel propellant. It can be operated both in the continental U.S. air defense at fixed installations and with fast moving combat troops of the field Army.

Tiny Missile Radio Increases Safety

White Sands, N.M. (AFPS)—A 107-cubic-inch radio-receiving set able to handle three messages simultaneously represents one of the latest strides toward increased missile safety here.

The miniature radio, which has greater sensitivity than anything heretofore developed, will play a key role in rendering harmless missiles that threaten to go berserk and endanger life and property.

By sending a radio signal or an internally generated command to a safety package in the missile, a safety officer can detonate a high explosive so that continued trajectory is limited.

Also, the tiny package may close a valve and stop the missile motor, cutting short the missile's flight.

Forty Volunteers Try Bomb Shelter At Yuma Test

Forty volunteers recently emerged unscathed after spending 24 hours in a new blast-resistant underground atomic shelter as it was subjected to pressures up to sixty pounds per square inch.

The tests, designed for use in overseas areas, were conducted at the Army Engineer Desert Test Station, Yuma, Ariz., to evaluate the entrance, blast arrester and ventilation designs.

The shelter, formed by heavy steel plates bolted together in a shape similar to a gunset hut, is placed in an excavation 11 feet deep and covered with four feet of soil, while rocks are placed around the entrance tubes to a depth of five feet to form a blast arrester.

The air supply for the shelter is drawn through the perforated blast cover and rock bed into the entrance tubes through a number of small holes in the sides of the tubes.

First Army Housing Units Up In France; 18 More Due Soon

Captieux, France (ANS)—The housing situation for Army families of the Captieux Ammunition Depot has improved with the completion of the first Surplus Commodity Housing Program project of 24 units here recently.

This project is one of 19 similar ones currently under construction in France under supervision of the United States Army Construction Agency according to the BASEC MISSION.

Due for completion later this year in Base Section, U.S. Army Communication Zone, are projects at Braconne (44 units), Bussac (52 units), Chiron (42 units), Fontenay (50 units), Ingrandes (88 units), Poitiers (90 units), and Saumur (30 units).

Slate New WAC Unit For Ft. Shafter, Hawaii

Washington (AFPS)—For the first time since WWII a WAC detachment will be activated at Army Pacific Hq., Ft. Shafter, Hawaii.

With a target date of "sometime this summer," the new detachment calls for a 50-woman unit.

The Army now has a detachment of 150 WACs stationed at Camp Zama, Japan, and another of about 130 WACs on Okinawa. Both are subordinate commands of USARPAC.

Meet Eager-Beaver

Geiger Field, Washington, has more than its share of "eager beavers," an Air Force term meaning cadet underclassmen, as 1st Lt. Charles E. Eager and 2nd Lt. William R. Beaver have been assigned there together to fly with the 498th Fighter Interceptor Squad.

However, members of the Squadron are not worried, because with names like that they are bound to be a great team.

U.S. Forces In Korea

Their Contribution

Special to the Star Presidian
By William Courtenay, OBE MM

(Ed's Note: This is the first of a series of five articles on vital military topics by William Courtenay, OBE MM, noted British military correspondent who is currently on a lecture tour of the Sixth U.S. Army area.)

What did we achieve in Korea in three years of the conflict from June 25, 1950, to the 'Cease fire' at Panmunjom July 27, 1953?

Many people may think it was a wasted effort. But consider, President Syngman Rhee is 83 and may pass away even this year. If he does there may be trouble in South Korea and the Communists will try to exploit it and unite the South with the North under Communism—just as the Communists are trying in Berlin. The original directive given to General MacArthur by the United Nations was to unite North and South; that directive still holds good; we have not yet accomplished it; so we may still find ourselves fighting there again. It's as well to appreciate what was achieved.

When the Russians raised, trained and equipped a North Korean Army 200,000 strong; gave it superb training in mountain warfare and tough communist discipline it was clearly with the intention of launching it across the 38th Parallel to steal South Korea by surprise; by a trick; and by an avalanche of superior forces. It aimed at reaching Pusan, the port in S. Korea by August 15th, 1950—the 2nd anniversary of South Korea's Independence. So the blow fell June 25th, 1950, when the North Korean Army spearheaded by 400 Russian tanks swept into south Korea.

At this stage there were only 50,000 South Korean troops; hastily raised and trained in 1950 after the American forces had withdrawn to Japan. They were not given armor so they couldn't start the war. They fell back before the avalanche and General MacArthur rushed the remnants of the U. S. 24th Division to stem the onslaught; and in July 1950 the Famed First Cavalry Division and 25th Divisions came from Japan. But all were still falling back into what became known as the Naktung River Perimeter for a last ditch stand.

It was largely the U.S. 5th and Far East Air Forces which helped to turn the tide and stem the headlong march—aided by carrier borne pilots from the U.S. and Royal Navies. They quickly went into action destroying the 60 or 70 bridges over all the rivers and railways between the Yalu river boundary (between North Korea and Manchuria), and the Naktung River positions the infantry were trying to hold. This won the essential time by slowing and blunting the enemy advance.

Then in September 1950 came General MacArthur's brilliant counterstroke at Inchon on the coast 40 miles from Seoul, the capital. He landed forces there, infantry and Marines, and cut off all the North Korean army in South Korea. They fled the field rushing north to get back on their supply line as MacArthur intended.

Our armies burst forth from the Naktung perimeter into the North and would have reached the Yalu River and united North and South Korea under a democracy but by November 1950 the Chinese 750,000 strong poured into North Korea and drove us south again

Presidential Rail Home Rumbles Off in History

(By Armed Forces Press Service)

The U.S. private railroad car "Ferdinand Magellan" has rumbled down the tracks into history, perhaps closing a 126-year era of presidential rail travel.

Last used five years ago when Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower traveled to Groton, Conn., to launch the atomic submarine Nautilus, the monstrous Pullman has been in storage for the past year at Ft. Holabird, Md.

The Magellan, known as United States Car No. 1, has been donated to the University of Miami at Coral Gables. It is possibly the last railroad car of its type and, if so, it ends an era which opened when President Andrew Jackson journeyed to Baltimore on steam cars in 1833.

The car was designed by the Assn. of American Railroads in 1942 for President Franklin D. Roosevelt. It is virtually accident and assassination-proof, weighing 285,000 pounds against the ordinary Pullman's 160,000.

In comfort, according to the National Geographic Society, the Magellan ranks with the finest private cars ever built. It has four bedrooms, a living room, a kitchen, and a dining room with a capacity of 12.

Not even a generous dynamite charge could blast the Magellan off its tracks. It is completely armor-plated, with doors like those on bank vaults. Its windows are three inches thick, and its roof has a submarine escape hatch.

Although President Roosevelt at first disliked this "fortress on wheels," he used it extensively during WWII, preferring a speed of about 35 m.p.h.

Safer In Service

Washington (ANS) — Your chances of escaping injury are 1 to 4 if you're in the Army — a recently released Army statement on safety, reports that only one out of every 55 soldiers suffered an injury last year as compared with the national injury rate of one out of every 14 employees.

Every Dodge Has Its Day—Daisy's a West Point Wheel

West Point, N. Y. (AFPS)—The U.S. Military Academy has something new in the way of wheels—a venerable antique named "Daisy." But cadets won't have to go out of their way to dodge her.

For Daisy is a Dodge, 1917 model. She is the staff car used by Gen. John J. Pershing, commander of the American Expeditionary Force in WWI. The olive drab, 12-horsepower car got her name from soldiers of the AEF in France.

But how she made it back across the sea to West Point, where her famous owner graduated in 1886, is a story in itself. Every Dodge has its day, and Daisy had plenty of them while the war lasted. At one time, reportedly, she was chauffeured by none other than Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker.

In post-war years, Daisy became the property of a merchant in Angers, France. She turned up again in 1955 when a French newspaper reported that the car, bearing Gen. Pershing's nameplate on her dashboard, was to be sold as scrap.

The item was picked up by the U.S. press and came to the attention of the Parker Pen Co., whose officials decided that scrappy old Daisy deserved a better fate than scrap. They acquired her to tour the country before being donated to the Military Academy.

"Black Jack" Pershing, who died in 1948, would have liked the idea of Daisy becoming imperishable at the Point.

what they said

Freeways, and the property and people they displace, are not always happy ways. Recently in a number of major cities, San Francisco included, there has been a great deal of controversy over to have, or not to have, more freeways. This week we asked our readers:

What do you think about building more freeways?

Floyd H. Randall, Electronics Fire Control Repair Foreman, Post Ordinance: I think they are needed and necessary. We have more cars on the road every year, and more people are moving out to the suburbs who must have access to the metropolitan areas. People like to travel—I like to travel myself—and the freeways and turnpikes help. I have traveled on the Oklahoma, Missouri, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey Turnpikes among others and I find them necessary. I think statistics show that they are no safer than the other highways. I don't know why, I believe they should be safer than regular roadways. We will have to accept freeways in the city.

Sp5 David B. Vail, assistant to Sgt. Major, Sixth US Army Communications Operation Agency: I was most unhappy when the San Francisco commission cut out all but two of them. With a state like California with its tremendous population growth, particularly in the Bay area, it is possible to look forward 10 years and find 100,000 additional vehicles on the road. It certainly appears as if the commissioners have a shortsighted outlook for the future. I think for large cities, like Los Angeles and San Francisco, your potential growth is in a large measure stimulated by an adequate highway system or hindered by the lack of them. They (freeways) are safer and able to carry a tremendous amount of traffic, particularly in the Bay area where your highways are restricted by bridges and geographical position.

The baby's mother, Mrs. William Nolan, wasn't worried at all, because her own mother had eleven children at home without a doctor!

Mrs. Augusta O. Auberle, G4 Office, Sixth Region, ARADCOM, Ft. Baker: Looking at it off hand, I would think it would be beneficial to San Francisco. It would help to get the traffic across the city. I don't drive, so I'm not affected by them too much. It looks like a necessity, though I much prefer to go through Sausalito from my home in Mill Valley rather than go on the freeway. I watch the traffic when I'm on the freeway.

Pvt.-2 Charles L. Borrecco, Finance Clerk, Hq. Sixth US Army Special Troops: The freeways are fast and furious, but I like them. For one thing the opposite direction of flows of traffic are well divided. On a freeway you can concentrate on what is in front of you and not the cars that would come from a crossroad, since they are eliminated. They are definitely safer than other roads. I don't think it detracts from the landscape. While would some of these critics of freeways have, better assets for drivers or improved landscapes?

Volleyball Team Grabs Armed Forces Tourney

The Presidio Varsity Highnetters swept the NorCal Armed Forces Volleyball Tournament held at Travis Air Force Base by going undefeated in all of their games. In the round-robin affair each team had to play all the others at least once with the winner determined by the team with the most victories at the end of play.

Presidio opened tourney play with a match against the Fairfield Air Station team and trimmed their wings 15-2, 15-10, 15-8. Their next victim was the tough crew from Hamilton Air Force Base which got clipped 15-10, 15-10, 15-5. The Navy team from Oakland Naval Air Station was torpedoes by 15-1, 15-6, 15-7. The last team to taste defeat were the host highnetters from Travis as Presidio downed them 15-2, 15-8. No third game was necessary because even if Presidio lost they would still win the tournament.

Team records in tourney play were Presidio of San Francisco—11-0, Travis Air Force Base—9-2, Hamilton Air Force Base—4-8, Oakland Naval Air Station—4-8, and Fairfield Air Station—1-11.

Spikemasters Dave Rhem and Len Kaczmarek paved the way with their spectacular display of offensive power. Setman, George Blair, who can spike with the best of them, turned in a whale of a job on defense. John Sadler and Al Kincaid aided the offense with their spiking; Kincaid seeing action on a limited basis due to a recent injury. Dick Chute continued to improve his ball-handling ability and shows tremendous improvement. Sfc. Carlos Ramirez came back on the playing floor after a long layoff due to an injury to aid the team in their victory.

Powell Wins Another

Presidio's lone boxing representative, Pvt. Tom Powell, avenged an earlier defeat by taking a split decision over Kirby Lerett of the Marines in a match at the San Francisco Navy Yard. Lerett had taken a split decision in their first meeting at Mather Air Force Base but the Judges saw it the other way in Powell's latest match.

Next Wednesday, 25 Feb., Tom will again enter the ring in a boxing meet held at Moffett Field.

Little League Plans Set; Registrations Are Open

Registration for the 1959 season of the Golden Gate Little League is now open. Registration forms or information concerning League activity can be obtained from the following: Captain Bjornberg, Room 209, Bldg. 39; M/Sgt. Franklin, Room 116, Bldg. 38; Sgt. Major, Presidio of San Francisco, Bldg. 220; Information Desk, Letterman Army Hospital, Bldg. 1016; Sgt. Major, Hq. Sixth Army Special Troops, Bldg. 106.

League age limits are 8 to 12. Tryouts will be held at 1230 hours, 7 March, for 11-12-year-olds; 1230 hours, 14 March, for 10-year-olds; and 1230 hours, 21 March, for 8-9-year-olds and those boys of other ages who missed earlier tryouts. Auction and player assignment will be accomplished the first week in April.

Boys who registered for the 1958 season are not required to re-register as their prior registration remains valid; however, unless they were assigned to a Major League team last year they must appear for tryouts. Boys who were members of Major League teams last year should notify team managers that they are available.

A boy need not reside on the Presidio proper to be eligible for the league provided his parents are assigned to duty at the Presidio or its environs or to a unit based thereon.

Equal Rifle Record
A Ft. Carson, Colorado sergeant, Bruce D. Silvey, equalled the indoor four position rifle record by firing 395-400 in unofficial practice. Silvey's record won't go in the books because it wasn't fired in competition. William C. Ross, Sharon, Pa., holds the official record.

Top Army Skiers To Vie In Trials This Weekend

The world's finest skiers, speed skaters and biathlon competitors will compete in the Trial Events at Squaw Valley's Olympic Winter Games over the next two weekends.

Sixteen of the Army's outstanding winter games athletes will be in the games.

The Trial Events schedule includes the North American Alpine and Nordic Ski Championships, the North American Biathlon Championships, an International Invitational Speed Skating Competition, and two exhibition ice hockey games.

While competition in the championship events will be fierce, the Trial Events are "trials" for the Olympic courses, rinks, ovals and other facilities—not "trials" for the athletes.

Tremendous competition for honors is assured by the fact that over 70 foreign competitors from 12 different countries will be on hand for the Trial Events. Among the nations sending athletes are Austria, Canada, Chile, Finland, France, Great Britain, Italy, Japan, the Netherlands, Norway, Russia and Sweden. Additionally, over 90 of America's top 1960 Olympic Games candidates will compete.

A few of the top competitors at the Trial Events are Verne Anderson, 1958 Canadian downhill champion; Rolf Ramgard, Sweden's world cross-country champion; Hallgeir Brenden of Norway, Olympic 15-km cross-country titlist in 1952 and 1956; Veikko Hakulinen of Finland, 1956 Olympic 30-km cross-country champion; Knut Johansson of Norway, second place winner in 10,000-meter Olympic speed skating in 1956; Oleg Goncharenko of the U.S.S.R., who placed third in both the Olympic 5,000 and 10,000 meter speed skating races in 1956; and Finland's Toivo Salonen, third place finisher in the 1956 Olympic 1,500 meter speed skating race.

Army contestants will include:
ALPINE: Lt. Gary Vaughn, Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.; Pvt. Royal S. Robbins, Fort Bliss, Tex.; Pvt. Carleton H. Parker, Fort Jackson, S. C.; Pfc. Ronald M. Funk, USAG, SAGA, USA-REUR, and Pvt. Thomas F. Burns, 1st BG, 23d Inf., Alaska.

NORDIC: Pvt. Edward Letson, Fort Carson, Colo., and Pvt. Craig M. Lussi, Fort Dix, N. J.

JUMPING: Pvt. Joseph T. Ryan, Fort Huachuca, Ariz.; Pvt. Jon T. St. Andre, USAREUR, and Pfc. Bruce A. Jarbinen, Camp Lucas, Mich.

BIATHLON Championships: 1st Lt. Phillip A. Jobert, 1st BG, 23d Inf., Alaska; 1st Lt. Paul Schweikert, Jr., Hq. USARAL; Pfc. Lawrence Damon, Pfc. William A. Rudd, and Pfc. Gustave E. Hanson, Alaska.

The Presidio Toreras finished up a disastrous season as they dropped two games over the weekend. Holding the league lead earlier in the season, the Toreras dwindled gradually until they finished up in third place.

The first defeat was a 37-31 affair to the league champions Mather Air Force Base.

Down 20-19 at the half, the Toreras stayed in thick of it until only two minutes playing time remained. It was then that Mather clicked for two quick baskets and a couple of free throws for the final margin.

For the Toreras it was almost all the eggs in one basket as Kelly hit 29 and Phillips 2. Scoring was split for the Mather sextet as Rungere hit 15, Ingersoll 12 and Furdie 10.

The deciding game for second place was played against the ladies from Ft. Ord with the Toreras on the short end 46-37. Presidio couldn't rally from a 26-19 half-time deficit to force the playoff for second in the league.

Scoring honors were passed around a bit this time as Kelly hit 25; Silva and Phillips garnered 6 apiece. For Ft. Ord it was Garcia 23, Akiu 17 and Dhorty 6.

Local Fencers Stay Busy; Two Meets This Weekend

The Letterman Army Hospital-Presidio of San Francisco fencers spent a busy weekend in sabre and foil competition after a layoff of one week.

On the evening of Friday, 13 Feb., the LAH-PSF sabre team entered competition in the Northern California Class B

Sabre Team Championship and placed second to the Pannonia Athletic Club (Hungarian) in a final round fence-off by the score of 7 to 9. The LAH-PSF team consisted of Severo Pasol, Bill Beaver, Karl Dorman, and Coach Bill O'Brien.

The LAH-PSF second team composed of Gene Hardy, George Blieschmidt and Ed Purdy finished fourth behind the San Francisco State College Intercollegiate team. The locals were handicapped by the absence of Bert Seck who could not be present, and as such had an automatic loss of four bouts each time they met another team.

Saturday afternoon 14 Feb., Col. Laurence Brownlee, M/Sgt. Severo Pasol and Mr. Wm. O'Brien were back in competition at the Pannonia Invitational Foil Championship. The event was by invitation only and fencers in competition were to be the strongest in that weapon. The entire event lasted four and one-half hours and when the final rounds ended Girard Biagini of the Pannonia Athletic Club and member of the 1958 World Championship Team was in first place. Sewall Shurtz of the American and Pan-American Olympic Team finished second. Severo Pasol and Bill O'Brien, both of LAH-PSF fenced off for third with Pasol taking it 5-4. Col. Laurence Brownlee of LAH-PSF took fifth place.

There is another full weekend of activity slated for the fencers as tonight they put on an exhibition for the Cub Scouts in the East Hospital Area. Tomorrow morning, Ed Purdy will take part in the Pannonia Athletic Club Invitational Epee Championship against a field of the best epee men in the area.

Tomorrow night the LAH-PSF team will enter the Northern California Class B Epee Team Championship at the Berkeley Fencers Club, 2571 Shattuck Ave., Berkeley, California. The team will be composed of Ed Purdy, Severo Pasol, Ben. Fifth and, Col. Laurence Brownlee.

Intramural Casaba Finals Expected Here Next Week

The Intramural Basketball League standings are for the most part fairly well ironed out, with one game yet to be played to determine second place in the Air Defense League. The other leagues have finished play and are waiting for the outcome of the game between C Btry. 4th Msl. Bn. and Hq. 6th RADCOM team. The game will take place at Ft. Scott Gym. Game time is 1900, Feb. 24.

The Intramural Basketball Finals will be held next week in a single round-robin tournament. Each team will have to play all the other teams once with the winner being determined by the greatest number of games won. The first and second place team in each league will enter tourney play.

GOLD IS WHERE YOU FIND IT and the Comptroller Section has a famous way with a dollar. This week, seven members, at Sixth U.S. Army, won a total of $420 in cash awards. Maj. Gen. John J. Binns, Sixth U.S. Army Chief of Staff, reads the accompanying citation as he congratulates

Crest Contest Launched At 4th Msl. Battalion

A battalion-wide contest for the best replica of the new 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty. Crest has been launched by Lt. Col. Ernest J. Whitaker, Bn. CO.

One sample of the Crest, reproduced to scale from a small picture sent by the Dept. of the Army, has been sent to each Btry. for use in preparing entries, but each entry must be double the size of the sketch and must be on plywood, beaver board, aluminum or some other suitable material.

Entries must be submitted to Bn. Hqs. by 5 March and then will be put on display until a decision is rendered.

DA Form 1041 A Must For All Officers And Enlisted With 18 Years

Washington (ANS) — Under the Uniformed Services Contingency Option Act, all officer and enlisted personnel must, before completing 18 years service for pay purposes, execute DA Form 1041 to indicate whether they desire to elect an option governing retirement pay benefits for survivors.

Many military personnel have lost out on the benefits of the program, a DA spokesman emphasized, due to the erroneous impression that the limiting date was 18 years of active service.

A simple explanation of the operation of the Act is contained in DA Circular 608-13.

Wins Promotion

Friday the 13th turned out to be a lucky day for Robert W. Martin, Chief of the Enlisted Branch, G1, as he received his silver Lt. Col.'s oak leaves from Maj. Gen. John J. Binns, Chief of Staff.

Military Travel Easy - - If You Know Where To Go

New arrivals at the Presidio and its sub-installations are reminded there is a Scheduled Airlines Office and a Railroad Office maintained at the Post Transportation Office adjacent to Crissy Field.

Information, reservations, and tickets on all Scheduled (Commercial) Airlines and Railroads may be obtained at the office without going downtown and with a minimum of delay. The airline office, designated a JAMTO (Joint Airlines Military Traffic Office), is operated by the Air Transport Association as a convenience to all personnel, military and civilian, at the Presidio.

Unofficial travel may be obtained by contacting the carrier representative directly at Building 251, or by phone—Air reservations, Ext. 2920; Rail, Ext. 2200.

Military personnel traveling on official orders which will require payment by the government should contact civilian transportation personnel at Extensions 3531, 3639 or 2831.

The airline representatives are on duty from 0800 hours until 1630 hours, Monday through Friday. The rail representative is on duty from 0800 hours until noon only, Monday through Friday.

DOD Asks Congress For New Housing In U. S., Overseas

Washington (AFPS) — The Defense Department has asked Congress to sanction the construction of 21,701 new family housing units at U. S. and overseas bases.

The request, incorporated in a bill seeking legislative approval of $1,356,290,000 for Fiscal Year 1960 military construction, calls for the construction between next 1 July and 30 June, 1960.

Of the proposed quarters, 18,546 would be Capehart dwellings for the U. S. and Territories. Slated for overseas would be 2,694 units financed with foreign currencies from sale of surplus farm commodities. Appropriated funds would account for 461 units at various locations.

Capehart housing is built with private capital, the government assuming and paying off the indebtedness from savings in quarters allowances.

A breakdown of proposed Capehart housing within the Army follows:

ARMY UNITS

VA Urges Veterans To Guard Official Documents Carefully

Hang onto family documents such as birth and marriage certificates and keep them where they can be readily found, Mr. J. Glenn Corbitt, Manager, VA Regional Office, San Francisco, advised veterans and their dependents today.

Mr. Corbitt said documents of this sort may be needed to support claims for veterans' benefits, and for other purposes.

These include military discharge or separation papers, death certificates, divorce decrees, and guardianship or child custody evidence, he said.

"Preserve these valuable papers carefully and make sure your family knows where they are at all times," Mr. Corbitt said.

He said types of veterans' claims in which the documents may be needed include disability or death compensation or pension and burial benefits.

$500 Suggestion Award To Former Presidio Employee

Harry N. Krenkel, retired Army Colonel, 45 Valdez Ave., San Francisco, won $500 and Department of the Army Suggestion Award Certificate this week.

Maj. Gen. John J. Binns, Sixth U.S. Army Chief of Staff, made the presentation to the retired veteran of 42 years' combined military and civilian service.

A new procedure used in "Marking of Overseas Household Goods Shipping Boxes," and inclusion of the procedure in the Federal Handbook for Preparation of Household Goods for Shipment and Storage, brought Mr. Krenkel the highest single cash suggestion award ever awarded here. The award was granted by the Office, Chief of Engineers, Department of the Army.

Mr. Krenkel retired from Civil Service on 31 May, 1958, following seven years as General Engineer with the Building and Grounds Division, Sixth U.S. Army Engineer Section.

Top Winner
Harry N. Krenkel

Ten Civilians Win Cash Performance Awards

The largest group of civilian employees to win a Department of the Army Suggestion Award Certificate for a Special Act or Service was won by seven Sixth U.S. Army Comptroller Section personnel this week.

Maj. Gen. John J. Binns, Chief of Staff, presented certificates and a check for $420, which was divided equally by the seven, to: Mr. Bernard Kahn, Chief, Command Program Appraisal Division; Mr. Donald Marcy, Assistant Chief, Command Program Appraisal Division; Mr. A. D. Kuperstein, Chief, Cost and Performance Systems Branch; Mr. Arnell Jamin, and Mr. Joseph Kuncic, Analyst Branch. Mr. Kuncic was also awarded a Superior Performance award and $200, and won the office check pool; Mr. Richard Meacham, Plans Officer; and Mr. Albert Leslie, Internal Officer.

This group award was given in recognition of exceptional accomplishment in the design and preparation of Sixth U.S. Army Training Course in Techniques of Analysis, Presentation and Use of Command Management Data, which has been published in Sixth U.S. Army Manual M6-61. The Comptroller of the Army, as well as other commands, have adopted, and are using this course as the outstanding example of its kind in the field. The Army Management School, the Army's top management school, Fort Belvoir, Va., is using parts of the course.

Superior Performance Award Certificates and checks for $100 each were also presented by General Binns. Miss Marion Lovv, Clerk-Typist, G1 Section, won her award based on an OUTSTANDING rating. She has been at the Presidio for the past two years.

Mr. William Forsell, Mail

Army Aviation Safety Meet Now Underway At Presidio

Sixty-five Sixth U.S. Army Aviation personnel, including X and XV Corps, National Guard, USARADCOM and Safety Directors from installations throughout this area are meeting today in the final day of an Army Aviation Flying Safety and Training Conference here at Ft. Scott Annex. Moderator for the conference, which began yesterday morning, is Col. C. L. Hangins, Sixth Army Aviation Officer.

A team from the U. S. Army Board of Aviation Accident Research, Fort Eucker, Ala., will conduct the flying safety portion of the conference.

Team members include: Lt. Col. Edward Raff, Deputy Director; Mr. Frank G. Andrews, Chief of the Investigation Division, and Mr. Pierce Wiggins, Chief of the Literature Division, and Captain Archie Summers, Liaison Officer. They will discuss: Philosophy of Aviation Accident Prevention; Aircraft Accident Reporting System; and Aircraft Accident Investigation.

Today, the Transportation Corps will discuss: Supply and Maintenance Operations; The Signal Corps—Ground Control Approach, Signal Equipment and

Honor Gen. McGaw

Two parties were given at Ft. Baker last Friday honoring the 53th birthday of Maj. Gen. Edward J. McGaw, Commander of the Sixth Region, U.S. Army Air Defense Command.

A surprise party given in the morning by staff officers, enlisted personnel and civilian employees of the Headquarters, was followed by a senior NCO luncheon, at which the General was guest of honor.

DCG Ordered To Europe; Replacement Not Named

Major General Robert L. Howze, Sixth U. S. Army Deputy Commanding General for Reserve Forces, Presidio of San Francisco, Calif., has been assigned to U. S. Army Europe, it was announced this week by Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker.

General Howze, assigned to the Presidio since April, 1957, will report to his new assignment on 15 May.

Brigadier General John B. Sullivan, Deputy Chief of Staff for Personnel and Administration, Headquarters U. S. Continental Army Command, Fort Monroe, Va., has been assigned to Camp Irwin, Calif. He will report for duty on 1 August.

General Howze came to the Presidio from Ft. Polk, La., where he was commanding general of that installation and the 1st Armored Division.

During World War II, General Howze, a graduate of West Point in 1925, commanded the 36th Armored Infantry Regiment in Europe. Returning to the United States in 1945, he became Chief of the Personnel Actions Branch, of the Army General Staff. After

Civil Defense Group In Conference Here

Consolidation of FCDA and ODM into the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization was discussed yesterday at a Military Relationships Conference held here for members of the ODCM, Regions 7 and 8.

Also discussed were: National readiness, the National Plan, enactment of public law 85-606, resources and requirements, training, communications, and Operation Alert 1959.

Reports were given by Oregon, Washington, Montana, Alaska, Utah, Arizona, Hawaii, Idaho, California and Nevada on the progress and status of Operational Survival plans.

three years of duty in the Caribbean area, he became assistant commander of the Armored School at Fort Knox, Ky.

In 1954 he was assigned as assistant division commander of the 3rd Infantry Division in the Far East. He subsequently became chief of the United States Military Advisory group to the Republic of Korea where he served until his return to the states in 1955 to assume command of the 1st Armored Division at Fort Hood, Tex.

General Howze wears the Silver Star with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Legion of Merit and the Combat Infantry Badge. He has also been awarded decorations from France, Belgium and Korea.

Will Address WA Group Attend Press Club Meet

The Army's first soldier, General Maxwell D. Taylor, Chief of Staff, will arrive here next Thursday morning. He is scheduled to address the World Affairs Council of Northern California at a luncheon in the Venetian Room of the Fairmont Hotel at noon the same day.

Prior to his address as guest of honor, he will attend a press conference at the Fairmont.

In the afternoon, General Taylor will visit the Stanford Research Institute and will be guest of honor at the Press and Union League Club Gang Dinner that evening.

The Army Chief of Staff will depart here very early Friday morning.

General Taylor had planned to be in San Francisco last December, however, unexpected circumstances made it necessary for him to cancel his trip to the West Coast.

General Taylor's long and varied military career was climaxed by his appointment in 1955 as Army Chief of Staff. He was prominent during World War II in the Sicilian and Italian campaigns, and commanded the 101st Airborne Division in the invasion of Normandy, Holland, and campaigns of Ardennes and Central Europe.

After the War he became Superintendent of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, and later headed the European Command headquarters. In 1953, after serving as Deputy Chief of Staff for Operations and Administration, he was appointed to succeed General James A. Van Fleet as Commanding General Eighth U. S. Army in Korea. In April, 1955, General Taylor was named Commander-in-Chief of both the Far East and United Nations Commands, and in June of that year he became Army Chief of Staff.

Interested members of the World Affairs Council, the U. S. Armed Services and the community, are invited to make their reservations in advance to attend this special event by calling the World Affairs Council at YUkon 2-2541. Tickets to the luncheon are $4.00 per person.

Nationalist Chinese Colonel:

"Our Justice Is More Severe"

By Pfc. Barry Farrell
PIO Reporter

A high-ranking Chinese Nationalist Army officer sailed for the Orient from San Francisco this week full of information about the American military legal system and full of hope for the Year of the Boar.

Colonel Wang-Fang, vice section chief of the Military Justice Administration Division in the Chinese Ministry of National Defense, had spent twelve weeks in the United States and left "happy and more learned."

"I am very appreciative to have studied in this country," he said, accompanying his words with his almost constant smile. "My education was very satisfactory and I had a fine opportunity to compare my notes from China with my new studies here."

The Colonel added that he considered himself lucky to pass through San Francisco during Chinese New Year celebrations. "In China now," he said, "New Year is not so gay as here. On the mainland, they have nothing but a little banquet."

He laughed happily at the suggestion that his presence here might be a good omen. "Very likely, very likely," he said.

Wang-Fang came to the United States in November as a guest of the Judge Advocate General to at-

"A good omen, maybe."
Colonel Wang-Fang

tend an Army-sponsored course at the University of Virginia. The eleven-week course was offered to both foreign and American legal officers and dealt with legal theory and techniques in the U. S. Army.

"The Chinese legal system is much like yours—only more severe in some instances," he said in clipped English. "It is composed of Continental law—as in Western countries—plus Chinese codified law and the ancient common law of China."

The Colonel outlined the standard table of punishments for military crimes in China and conceded that because of the imposition of martial law in China, "most crimes are punished more severely."

AWOL, he said, is a serious offense in the Nationalist Army, since "the state of urgency" makes every soldier needed at his duty "as in war." Troops stationed on Formosa are punished less stringently for AWOL than those on Matsu and Quemoy, thanks to the greater war peril on the off-shore islands.

"One thing our Armies share," he said, "is a fewer number of criminals than we had before. Crime rate is going down all the time in China."

Four military prisons are operating on Formosa, he said.

Wang-Fang was joined in San Francisco by three Korean fellow students at the University of Virginia. They were Colonel Pakh Jozmyung, Lt. Col. Ahn Kyungyul, and Major Lee Eung Han, all ROK legal officers.

Korean Army law, they said, is identical to the Articles of War, from which the U. S. Army drew its legal guidance until the adoption of the Universal Code of Military Justice. In the Korean Army, too, they said, the crime rate is dwindling and the state of martial law has been replaced by a tense peacetime atmosphere.

Where Will You Be Tuesday?

Where will you be on Tuesday morning?

If you're cautious — and lucky — back on the job.

Or at least that's where your employer hopes you will be.

Selfish interest? Well, to some extent. Soldier, or just plain Joe Civilian, your productive time is important to the economy. Lost time can never be regained.

But selfish, or altruistic, be thankful for this "interest." For because of it, there will be thousands of warning signs, like this one, posted everywhere.

You'll be cautioned to drive courteously. Not to drink and drive. Use chains on icy roads. Give yourself plenty of time to reach your destination. Slow down and live. Rest when you're tired.

These and a thousand other exhortations will be posted conspicuously in newspapers, on bulletin boards, stickers, roadside signboards, radio, television and every other conceivable place where a driver's eyes, or ears, may stray.

These warning signs will have been made possible by the interest of others in your safety. If you demonstrate a like interest, heed the warnings, you'll have an easy answer for the question:

Where will you be on Tuesday morning?

Nuclear Weapons Course Must For Senior Officers

The importance of nuclear weapons in all phases of military operations has resulted in a Sixth Army directive that all officers from Lt. Colonel and above will take a special course at the U.S. Army Command Staff College.

This course, the Senior Officer Nuclear Weapons Employment Course (250-2-F2), is designed to meet the needs of the Army and covers the nuclear matters of other services as well. It should be taken "as early as practicable after assignment," Circular 350-10 stated.

Personnel in the Reserve as well as those on active duty, both operational and administrative, are asked to keep abreast of the latest developments in the nuclear field. Those eligible to attend the course, however, are personnel who have more than a year of active duty remaining and who have not taken a similar course in two years, the Circular stated.

"This training supplements, but is not a substitute for, the specialist training requirements for Nuclear Weapons Employment Officers with prefix digit 5 to MOS designation, prescribed by Sixth U.S. Army Circular 8.4-127, 29 April 1958, as changed," it stated. Requests for quotas should be forwarded to Sixth Army Headquarters.

Color Brochure—Progress 58—Now Being Distributed

An advance copy of the Secretary of the Army's brochure—U.S. Army Reports—Progress 58—was mailed to newspaper editors and information chiefs Army-wide this week.

Highlighting the Army's accomplishments and progress during 1958, the 50-page brochure is well illustrated and in color.

Eventual distribution will be down to company level and DA has urged commanders to make full use of the brochure to aid in building esprit and pride of service and to strengthen confidence in the Army's ability to continue with vigor the task of improving organization, weapons, tactics, and techniques.

Atomic War Not Likely Says Army Chief Of Staff Officers From Six States Now Taking NG Nike Training

Soviet toughness in international politics grows with the increase of their military capabilities. With their added success in the missile and satellite fields we can expect to be "required to respond repeatedly to increased levels of provocation."

This, stated General Maxwell D. Taylor, Army Chief of Staff, in an address on "Problems of National Security" to the Northern California World Affairs Council yesterday, is a primary factor to be considered in determining the defense needs of the United States.

Because the Communists know the "facts of life" they will stop short of general atomic war that could only lead to "mutual suicide." As a result, the U.S. must have not only a "powerful air-atomic retaliatory force," represented now by the Air Force and Navy heavy bombers and soon to be supplemented by ballistic missiles of various ranges, but also a defensive counterpart to guard them against surprise attack. The answer to such a defense is the anti-missile missile and the Army has made encouraging progress in the research and development of the NIKE-ZEUS to meet this requirement.

The U.S. must also be prepared with a "Fire Brigade" to back up overseas deployments in case of attack or Communist threats to expand by aggression any place in the world. Such force is available in the Army's Strategic Army Corps (STRAC) which has instant readiness for rapid movement by sea and air.

The U.S. also needs the air and sea power to keep the air and sea lanes open for the deployment and support of our military forces in the time of war.

In summing up General Taylor stated, "I consider that the categories of forces needed to meet the military threat before us include a powerful air-atomic retaliatory force, adequate continental air defense, strong overseas deployments,

Hawaiian NG Meet Here On Possible Cal Nike Training

A conference will be held at Ft. Baker next week to discuss the feasibility of having Hawaiian Army National Guard units undergo NIKE air defense missile training in California this summer.

During the conference a tentative training plan will be drawn up and then submitted to the Dept. of the Army. If the project is accepted it will be the first time that Hawaii National Guard missile units have trained in the United States.

Attending the meeting will be representatives from the 6th Regional Headquarters at Ft. Baker, the Hawaiian Army National Guard, Sixth U. S. Army, California Adjutant General's Office, Air Force, 25th Infantry Division (U. S. Army, Hawaii), and the Army Air Defense Command Headquarters, Colorado Springs, Colo.

Fort Bliss, Tex. (ANS)—National Guard officers from units in New Jersey, Virginia, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Washington and California are now training at the Air Defense School here, learning operation of the NIKE AJAX system.

When their course is completed, they will return to their state units, many of which are in the process of taking over NIKE sites presently manned by Regular Army units.

"These assignments and evidences of cooperative effort underscore the vital ONE ARMY concept which is an integral part of all Army planning," said one spokesman in the Nation's Capital.

Retirement Parade Here To Honor Pair

The retirement of two Presidio officers will be marked with a retreat parade Friday afternoon. Five others, four officers and an enlisted man, will also be retired.

Colonel Joseph M. Shanks, Deputy Sixth U. S. Army Quartermaster, and Lt. Colonel Frank R. Day, of Headquarters, XV Corps, will be honored in the 1600 ceremony, to take place on the main parade ground at the Presidio. Headquarters units, the Sixth Army Band, and Engineer and Artillery units from Fort Scott will march in the parade.

Also to be retired are Colonel Dean Schamber, of Letterman Army Hospital, Major William P. Carr, XV Corps, CWO Ernest Childers, Captain Albert C. Leigon, PSF, and Master Sergeant Louis B. Matticola, both of Sixth RAADCOM, Fort Baker.

DOD Issues Directives Implementing '58 Act

Washington (AFPS)—The Department of Defense has put into effect two new directives termed "important milestones" in implementation of the Reorganization Act of 1958.

Collectively they define and clarify roles, missions and relationships within the military establishment and spell out the new chain of command as provided by the act.

The new act streamlined the operational structure of the Armed Forces and reaffirmed the full direction, authority and control of the Secretary of Defense over all activities in the Defense Department.

The two new directives realign the command structure of the Armed Forces and the organizational relationships of the Office of the Secretary of Defense, the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and the military departments.

One of the new directives (5100.1) is a revision of the Key West Agreement of 1948 and spells out the functions of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the military departments.

In this directive the functions of the JCS have been revised to show their new responsibility in assisting the Secretary of Defense in the operational direction of the Armed Forces. It also shows the recent reorganization of the Joint Staff which replaced the old committee structure with seven new directorates — personnel, intelligence, operations, logistics, plans, communications and military assistance.

The functions of the military departments have been revised to reflect the new chain of operational command from the Secretary of Defense to the unified commands and to emphasize their responsibilities for organizing, training and equipping combat forces.

The second directive (5158.1) implements the Reorganization Act of 1958 with respect to the organization of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and relationships with the major offices in the Office of the Secretary of Defense.

Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald A. Quarles, briefing newsmen on the new directives, said the current three commands already under the Secretary of Defense would be joined by the remaining five unified and specified commands, as previously announced, on Jan. 1, 1959.

The last five consist of three unified commands—Atlantic Command, Pacific Command and Continental Air Defense Command—and two specified commands—the Strategic Air Command and the U.S. Naval Forces Eastern Atlantic and Mediterranean.

"Unified commands" include forces from more than one combat service, while "specified commands" are composed of forces from a single service.)

Teaching Soldiers

About Communism

Special to the Star Presidian

By William Courtenay, OBE, MM

(Ed's Note: This is the second in a series of five articles on vital military topics by William Courtenay, noted British military correspondent, who is currently on a lecture tour of the Sixth U.S. Army area.)

Writing as one who has been an old English red-coat—a private soldier of the British Army—I know how the soldier's mind works and this is fairly true of the American soldier, too. He is bored stiff with a lot of theoretical rubbish about political forms of life and constitutions. And if we start trying to tell him what "dialectical materialism" is he will fall asleep at the meeting. So would I. I don't know what this rubbish means.

But I do know the simple differences between the Christian way of life for us and what the communists practice—don't bother about what they preach. Their actions speak so loud around the world one can't hear what their leaders are saying. You can't get near for the smell.

All the soldier needs to be told is that under our way of life in U.S.A. and England the individual's life is sacred; that each man has a relationship with his Maker; that the State is the Servant not the master. Under communism the State is the master and the individual is the slave of the State.

Under capitalism and freedom of enterprise every man is free to have his say without fear of secret police; informers; midnight arrest; denouncers; or being regarded as "deviationists." In Russia they have an old saying that "even the walls have ears." You have to be careful what you say lest even the walls report it to the Government.

In Russia only one political party is allowed to exist. Only one party may set up candidates at an election; people may vote for or against them—not for anyone else. This is Russia's comic idea of democracy and this is the system she has imposed on so many others.

Since it runs contrary to human nature to repress freedom of speech and opinion, it follows that if only one political party is permitted to exist, force must be used to suppress all other parties, ideas, opinions and freedoms. This involves use of a Terror; of secret police; informers; midnight arrest; banishment; crooked trials. All this is so typical of communist Russia.

Moreover people are not allowed to leave the country lest they see too much of our way of life and grow restless. Nor dare Russia trust them with freedom to listen to foreign radio programs or to read American or British newspapers or magazines.

This is the first difference between us which every soldier would easily understand and appreciate.

The second is equally serious. Under our way of life with its concern for the precious freedom of the individual his freedom is safeguarded by law. If accused he is considered innocent until proved guilty. The prosecution must prove their case to the hilt; everything is weighted in favor of the accused. If there's any benefit of doubt it goes to him, not to the prosecution. This is because our Courts are interested in justice, not in a conviction.

In Russia it is the other way around. An accused person is considered guilty; must extricate himself and prove his innocence and all the evidence is weighted in favor of the prosecution. The Government is interested in a conviction, not in justice. This is because it rules by a system so contrary to every decent human instinct that it is suspicious of every accused person, believing he is intriguing against the State. The whole rotten system smells to high heaven.

Soldiers need only be taught these two simple facts and they should be thrown into every barrack room to be tossed around for discussion. If there's a communist about in barracks he can be easily challenged to find the answer to these points. And he's floored.

(Next week: What NATO Has Achieved.)

Quote for today: "These are times which demand the best in all of us. No mere outlay of money or physical resources will buy a day, an hour, or a moment of freedom. Its price is vigilance, sacrifice, and service on the part of each individual American."—Secretary of the Army Wilbur M. Brucker.

Cylindrical Disaster Ahead?

A tiny object, never more than four inches long or one-quarter inch in diameter, may mean death to you, your loved ones or friends.

What kind of weapon is this potential killer? An ordinary cigarette! In the hands of a careless smoker the cigarette can be as deadly as a gun in the hands of a murderer.

Statistics show that 400 billion cigarettes were smoked last year, at the rate of about 760,000 a minute. This means it would only take one out of every two million to cause 200,000 fires a year.

It takes so little effort to put out one of these tiny death traps before tossing it into a waste basket; to keep plenty of ash trays on hand and dump them in a safe place, not in a container full of combustible trash; and to keep cigarettes away from flammable materials such as clothing, upholstery and drapes.

Two other easily stopped, but major causes of fire are smoking in bed and using matches, lighters, or lighted cigarettes near flammable liquids.

"Remember," warns the Presidio fire chief, "a cigarette can be the source of pleasure or the cause of disaster." Don't let it bring disaster to you.

Language Students Needed

Presidio of Monterey, Calif. (ANS)—Want to learn to speak Vietnamese? Or Chinese-Cantonese? Or even Bulgarian, Hungarian, Rumanian, Ukrainian, Arabic or Persian?

The Army says it never has enough volunteers for these courses at its Army Language School here. Provisions governing voluntary language training and the current class schedule are outlined in AR 350-24 and DA Circulars 621-15, and 621-16.

Automatic Data Units Used Widely By Army

Washington (ANS)—The Army installed automatic data processing systems in its business operations at 18 locations last fiscal year, according to a Pentagon statement, and plans six additional ones for next year.

One of these, the statement said, is a major project to bring together the paperwork of several independent activities of supply, financial, and personnel accounting into a single unified system at installation level.

The use of automatic data processing systems has been substantially increased for the purpose of raising the efficiency of Army operations, an Army spokesman said.

"We have adopted the best techniques which the civilian business and industrial community has to offer," he explained. "Continued progress in the field of management will insure that we get the maximum in protection for every dollar we spend."

what they said

The grass on the other side of the road often seems greener, but we are wont to leave the home pasture; however, if we had to, where would we go? This week the SP asked its readers:

QUESTION: If you were going to live in some other country besides the United States, which one would you choose and why?

ANSWERS

Pfc. Bruce W. Bradley, Finance Clerk, Hq. Sixth U.S. Army Special Troops: Frankly, for the past five years, I wanted to live in Hokkaido, a northern island in Japan. Why? Because at one time I heard of land grants on the island, and I have a deep interest in oriental culture. Ever since I met Carol, my fiancée, this idea has grown more faint in my mind. I think we would like to take a civilian tour of Japan. The reasons why I pick Hokkaido is that the climate suits me, it is particularly like Seattle, and the wonderful simplicity of Japanese cuisine.

M/Sgt. Ernesto D. Escobar, Operations Sergeant, 21st Eng. Photo Mapping Co., Ft. Scott: I should say Germany, because it is in respect to the military reason that we could hear so many things as to how the communists are thinking. As for after service, maybe I would go to the Philippines. That is the country next to the United States in my affection. I prefer it, as I was born there. But, I wouldn't like to stay there permanently.

Pvt.-2 Donald E. Crabtree, 537th Eng., Survey Base, Ft. Scott: I think Switzerland. Actually it is pretty hard to put my finger on it as to why I would go there. They seem to have fewer problems, international and others. The climate is ideal. I guess I'm more of the outdoor type and it is ideal for that. I used to go bobsledding and tobogganning quite a bit and Switzerland is pretty well noted for these activities. Just from reading about Switzerland, I like it and it would be a healthy place to bring up a family.

Sfc. Debra O'Hanlon, Information Specialist, Sixth Region Information Office, Ft. Baker: If I was going to live in another country, it would be Ireland, very definitely, because I was born there. I would say that it is the country that has given most to the United States in scholars, statesmen, politicians, poets, literary people, and policemen (the latter, last but not least). And of course don't forget the soldiers. I am going to visit Castle Gregory, which is fourteen miles west of Killarney, this summer.

"AWARDS OF MERIT" from the National Safety Council were presented to Ft. Ord and Ft. MacArthur recently, and were accepted, from Maj. Gen. John J. Binns, Sixth Army Chief of Staff, by Lt. Col. Wayne N. Phillips, Ft. Ord, and Mr. Lee Thorne, Ft. MacArthur.

Four Installations Win National Safety Awards

Four National Safety Council Awards were presented to Sixth U.S. Army Installations this week by Maj. Gen. John J. Binns, Sixth U.S. Army Chief of Staff, at the Presidio of San Francisco.

The coveted "Award of Honor" went to Ft. Lawton, Wash., for the second consecutive year.

Receiving the award was Mr. James Weaver. "Award of Merit" went to Fort Ord, accepted by Lt. Col. Wayne Phillips, and Fort MacArthur, received by Mr. Lee Thorne. Colonel Walter Skielvig accepted a "Certificate of Commendation" on behalf of the Sixth U. S. Army Recruiting District.

These awards are given for noteworthy performance in preventing accidents, and for maintaining an effective safety program in accordance with standards prescribed by the Department of the Army and the National Safety Council.

To be considered eligible for these awards a major command, technical service, subordinate command, or installation will achieve or exceed at least half of the designated target rate objectives.

In addition to the above requirements, eligible nominees are further required to show evidence of a high degree of personal and direct interest and participation by command and staff; definite preventive effort and an effective program of safety education, promotion, and training; complete and accurate accident reporting, identification of accident causes, and corrective measures designed to eliminate deficiencies; and documented general and specific program objectives, including target rate objectives, with areas of special emphasis identified, as required, to measure program progress.

Fort Lawton, Fort MacArthur and the Sixth U. S. Army Recruiting District achieved all of the designated target rate objectives for Fiscal Year 1958. Fort Ord achieved or exceeded at least half of the designated target rate objectives. Although the civilian personnel target rate objective was not attained, the experience for Fiscal Year 1958 was 13% less than the preceding fiscal year.

Traffic Record Holds

Another perfect safe driving record was racked up by the Presidio this week as no traffic fatalities involving military personnel here were reported for the holiday weekend.

There has been a constant effort to cut down on accidents here, and only last month the Presidio, which has a lower accident ratio than the national and Sixth Army average, was cited by the California Safety Coordinators for its aid in the "Slow Down And Live" campaign.

New Army Record

About two hours was needed recently for an Army Corps weather balloon to drift high enough into space to set a new balloon altitude record of 146,000 feet, almost 28 miles.

Sent into the air to test an improved synthetic fiber, the balloon traveled through 85° below zero weather at 10 miles up, but was enjoying a temperature of 40° above on reaching its final altitude.

Contract Awarded

New Haven Conn. (ANS)—Award of a contract to the Winchester-Western Division, Olin Mathieson Company, here, for the commercial production of the Army's new lightweight M-14 rifle, was announced this week by Secretary of the Army Wilbur M. Brucker.

This contract, which totals $4,116,250, is one of the first to be awarded for production of the M-14. It is for 35,000 rifles.

DOD Directives

under the Secretary of Defense was the U.S. European Command on Sept. 15.

This was followed on Dec. 1 by the Caribbean and the Alaskan Commands.

With all eight unified and specified commands now subordinated to the Secretary of Defense, a shorter and more effective chain of command has been established, a Defense spokesman explained.

The normal flow of operational orders under the new reorganization act, the official said, will now go directly from President Eisenhower or the Secretary of Defense, through the Joint Chiefs of Staff, to the commander of the unified or specified command.

Prior to the new legislation the Armed Forces employed what is known as the "executive agency" system. Under this system an individual department—Army, Navy or Air Force—was designated as "executive agent" for a unified or specified command. (For example, the Department of the Army was executive agent for the Caribbean Command. Orders to the Caribbean Command were routed from the Secretary of Defense to the Secretary of the Army, then to the Army Chief of Staff, and finally to the Caribbean commander.)

The flow of orders under the new organization now go from the President or Secretary of Defense through the Joint Chiefs of Staff to the unified or specified commands.

ADC Sets New Speaker Team To Explain Role

A speaker's team has been organized to better inform Army agencies which support the United States Army Air Defense Command about the Army's place in air defense.

Improved support relationships are expected to result from the team's briefings, at Army colleges, and at the Artillery, Infantry and Armored schools, which will include USARADCOM organization, mission, size, missile weapons and equipment, and the role played by the command as the Army component of the North American Air Defense Command.

New Pershing Contract

Orlando, Fla. (ANS)—Additional emphasis was given the PERSHING missile weapon system this week when the Army announced the award of a $1,178,246 contract to the Martin Company here, for its further research and development.

OFF DUTY WORK as director of the Zama Teenage Club from June 1957 to November 1958 recently earned M/Sgt. Frank W. Shumaker, XV Corps Res., a Certificate of Commendation, presented to him by Col. James B. Evans, Commander of the Northern California Sector, XV Corps.

NCO Wins Commendation For Work With Teenagers

Master Sergeant Frank W. Shumaker, a member of the San Francisco Area Command USAR Advisory Group, XV U.S. Army Corps (Reserve) was presented the Commendation Ribbon with metal pendant for outstanding service as director of the teenage club at Camp Zama, Japan, during his overseas tour in the Far East. Presentation was made by Col. James B. Evans, Northern California Sector Commander.

Sgt. Shumaker shouldered the complete responsibility for the Camp Zama club for dependent youngsters of military personnel between the ages of 13 and 19. He and his wife, Frances, directed and assisted the teenagers in the job of renovating the building which housed the club, building a snack bar, game room and dance floor and installing a juke box.

During his tour in Japan, Sgt. and Mrs. Shumaker planned at least one sight-seeing trip each month for the youngsters, plus weekly social functions and at least one dance each month.

Mrs. Shumaker and the three children are staying in the family home in Portland, Oregon, for the remainder of the school year. They will rejoin Sgt. Shumaker during the summer to make their home in the Bay Area.

Reserve Training Higher In Last Year's Program

Washington (ANS)—The Army has announced that during the last year 235,384 men were enrolled in Reserve Officer Training Corps courses. These included 144,680 in the Senior Division; 13,575 in the Military Schools Division; 60,567 in the Junior Division; and 16,562 in the National Defense Cadet Corps.

Six hundred students took part in the ROTC flight training program, which was offered at 56 educational institutions.

Also last year, the Army said, 13,450 ROTC graduates were commissioned Second Lieutenants in the United States Army Reserve, while 780 "distinguished military graduates" were commissioned in the Regular Army.

National Library Week

Washington (ANS)—The Department of Defense has pointed out that the observance of National Library Week is scheduled for April 12th to 18th, this year.

"TLL BE DOG-GONED," muses "Chibi," Fort Baker Service Club mascot as he listens to the lyrics of an air defense song being composed for a contest by Pfc. Margaret E. Heidt and Cpl. Thomas C. Nichol, both of the 6th Region Headquarters, U.S. Army Air Defense Command. If the song is declared a winner at regional level, it will be entered with other local winners in a national air defense contest from which will be chosen the official song of the U.S. Army Air Defense Command. Cpl. Nichol is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Nichol, 38 Koehler Drive, South Bound Brook, N. J. Pfc. Heidt is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Heidt, 3014 South 5th St., Yakima, Wash. (U.S. Army Photo.)

New Mailing Booklet

Information and rates on first, second, third and fourth class mail are contained in "Domestic Postage Rates and Fees."

Available at the Main Post Office, 7th and Mission, or any classified postal station, the booklet also contains information on size and weight limitations for the various classes and gives the fees for registered, insured, c.o.d., certified, special delivery, special handling and money order services.

Perils of a PIO Reporter:

Trip Ticket To Squaw Valley

By Martin Rein
PIO Reporter

"You're going to Squaw Valley," the editor said.

Now unaware of the significance of this remark, I said, "Look, sir, I may be a Yankee and a bachelor, but I'm not an idiot. The Indian Wars are over, and if there is a valley full of squaws some place you Westerners will have to take care of it yourselves. Besides, I've got a girl in Yonkers. . . ."

Several cussed minutes later I was told that Squaw Valley is the site of the VIII Olympic Winter Games trials, and that Army skiers were going to compete there. And neither sleet, hail nor the lack of per diem funds were going to delay my departure for that wintery playland.

Auspiciously Pfc. Don Hagness and I—his work consists of letting people babble into a microphone—started out in a downpour. We had to go to Oakland to pick up chains and promptly lost our right windshield-wiper there—everything bad happens in Oakland.

Undaunted we pushed onward to the first bridge toll-booth.

"You're on the wrong bridge mister (heck, couldn't he see I'm a Specialist), that pass is good for the Golden Gate," the attendant said.

"Two bits please," I asked Don, and he pleasantly threw it over.

At Donner Impass, Don, an old snow-bound Wisconsinite, took the wheel and we had chains put on for "whatever you want to pay mister (what's the matter, am I am civilian or are they blind?)"

Generously we, not having to go out in a blizzard, paid the hustler 75 cents. Reproachfully he says, "everyone always pays us a buck."

"Don," I said, and another two-bits unpleasantly sails past my nose.

Secure with our chains and one windshield wiper we again proceed; but inexperienced, we didn't realize huge trailer trucks pick this donkey pass to slide sideways. After many patrolmen and three hours had passed the car eased out of Donner Pass.

Plenty of signs along the road telling you how to get there we were told, but they forgot to mention how to find them buried under six-foot or more of snow. So half way to roulette heaven, Reno, Nevada, it dawned on us that things weren't right.

After lopping into Squaw Valley, we found no reservation for us in any teepee, although promised a place to stay by big chiefs at Presidio.

"All filled up, not a bed to spare, turning everyone away," were the answers given by the civilian clerk. Droopy faced, wearily dragging our civilian party clothes behind us, we explored the premises and found a four-bed suite, supposedly occupied, empty.

Now eager again, almost bushy-tailed, we asked Army and civilian personnel alike, "Where are the Army skiers?" They haven't arrived yet and if they did we don't know where they are, was the answer.

St. Bernards were sent out, public relations officers notified and Perry Mason called in to find the Army skiers, all to no avail.

Things couldn't get worse, but they did as Don's tapes gargled instead of babbled, and the camera somehow seemed to be at odds with its operator. A film-pack slide wouldn't slide and cracked.

While pondering the next move in press headquarters, some joker speaking Russian to a gal drops a barrel-stave on my Army clad shin. Afraid to make this a hot war, I gave him back his barrel-stave—besides he had two sharp poles similar to things used in bullfighting. "I'm representing the Army press and . . ."

"Hey," he shouted in perfect Americanese, "are you the guy who's been looking for me?" Quick as Mortimer Snerd, I deduced he was an American Army skier, and answered, "Yup."

Within several hours another snap assignment was finished, that is until yesterday when Signal Photo called and said:

"You know those pictures you took?"

"Yeah," I answered.

"They're blank, looks as if something got into the camera bellows. . . ."

A quick check of the camera, and sure enough—a part of the broken slide had gotten into the bellows.

After a verbal blitzkrieg, I managed to explain, in broken English, that the slide hadn't broken until after I'd taken some of the best pictures.

So all's well that . . .

My editor has that look again!

Did You Forget Something?

Washington (ANS)—That's it—lean back, pat yourself on the back—you beat the April 15 deadline on filing your federal income tax return by two months. But what about your state tax?

If you claim legal residence in any of the following states, you have no problem since there is no state tax: Connecticut, Florida, Illinois, Maine, Michigan, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Texas, Washington, West Virginia, and Wyoming.

Payment of state income taxes on all or some active duty pay is exempt in: Alaska, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Hawaii, Indiana, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, and Wisconsin.

If you are from Idaho, you are exempt from paying state tax on active service pay if you are serving outside that state.

A resident of New York who maintains a permanent place of abode elsewhere, but who maintains no permanent place of abode in New York, and who spends no more than 30 days during the year in the state, is exempt.

You still have questions? Then see your legal assistance officer.

Three Awarded Top C of C Slates Space Age Cash, Certificates For Suggestions

Colonel M. M. Brown, Commanding Officer, presented Department of the Army Suggestion Award Certificates and checks totaling $60 to three Presidio civilian employees this week.

Twenty-five dollar winners were: Mr. Everett T. Wiley and Mr. George A. Koger, both Quartermaster employees. Mr. Wiley, service station attendant, for "Modification of Gasoline Dispensing Equipment," and Mr. Koger, upholsterer, "Arm and Back Covers for Quartermaster Upholstered Furniture." This is Mr. Koger's second suggestion award.

Three-time suggestion award winner, Miss Evelyn Roberts, Post Comptroller program analyst, $10 for an "Addition to Building Directory."

Miss Roberts began her Federal career 30 years ago with the Department of Interior in Washington, D. C. Since that time she has served 3½ years in the Women's Army Corps during World War II, and worked for the Army in Europe, Japan, and Alaska, and for the Air Force on Guam. She has been at the Presidio for more than three years.

Launch REDSTONE

White Sands Missile Range, N.M. (ANS)—Battery B, 2d Missile Battalion, 333d Artillery successfully completed the firing phase of training here this week by launching a REDSTONE missile under tactical conditions.

The fully tested, liquid-propelled REDSTONE 200-mile-range ballistic missile (identical with those now tactically deployed in the hands of NATO shield forces in Europe) was fired at less than its full range at this desert missile range to conclude the training of the missilemen from Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

Human Guinea Pig:

"Program Was Very Pointed!"

Private First Class Robert L. Livingston, Sixth Army Chemical Section, was recently presented with a letter of commendation for acting as a human "guinea pig" for the Army.

Livingston spent 54 days as a medical volunteer at the Army Chemical Warfare Laboratories, Md., undergoing various tests, from 1 December to 23 January.

When the notices asking for medical volunteers was posted in his section he immediately responded. But what were his reasons for this decision?

"I guess I wanted to go to the east coast, and I wanted to do something different," he said. "I had never been to the east coast before and I thought this would be a good chance to see it," he added.

Livingston's big project of this trip, however, was to see his married sister in Minneapolis after a six-year separation.

Although he has an idea of why he was being tested Livingston can only state positively that he was given a beaker full of liquid.

Reactions to this liquid were carefully noted, as constant tests were taken. For three-day periods blood samples were taken every fifteen minutes for the first two hours and then twice more during the day.

After this test, he said, "It got to the point where I couldn't stretch my arms out."

C of C Slates Space Age Conference Next Month

The first space age business conference of its type in the country will be sponsored by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce on 11 March at the St. Francis Hotel, according to G. L. Fox, general manager.

Featuring leading California space experts, the conference will present in layman's language a progress report on the space program and its relation to the business man, Fox said.

Dr. James H. Doolittle, chairman of the board of Space Technology Laboratories, Los Angeles, will address the luncheon session. His subject will be "Our Investment in Space."

Other experts taking part will be Dr. Ruben Mettler, executive vice president, Space Technology Laboratories; Dr. Weldon Gibson, Associate Director, Stanford Research Institute; Dr. Alfred J. Eggers, Jr., Ames Research Center; Willis Hawkins, assistant general manager, Weapons Systems, Lockheed Guided Missiles Division, Sunnyvale; and Carl W. Miller, manager, Marine, Transportation & Aviation Facilities Sales, Pacific Coast Region, Westinghouse Electric Corp.

Other speakers at the conference will be announced shortly, Fox said.

Reservations at $8.00 including registration and luncheon can be made by calling the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, EXbrook 2-4511, Ext. 58.

WAC Addresses WAVES

The importance of unity and close cooperation between the armed services was stressed by Maj. Patricia Grant, as she recently became the first WAC to present the graduation address at the Bainbridge, NTC, Md. WAVE boot camp.

A secretary at the Army's Ordnance School at Aberdeen Proving Ground, the Major also inspected the honor guard and presented various awards.

Troop Topic Set As DA Adds MOS's To New Pro Tests

"MOS Proficiency Testing Program" will be the Troop Information topic presented to all garrison units on the main post and Ft. Scott Wednesday in the Post Theater at 1230, by CWO Berry.

Make-up training will be conducted in the theater Saturday morning at 0730.

In connection with this Troop Information topic, the Dept. of the Army has just announced that additional MOS Proficiency tests will be given in May. Included in this testing will be MOS's 205, 206, 981, 332, 112, 131, 294, 823 and 286. Details of the session are contained in DA Cir. 611-30.

Two Unknown Objects Sighted In Six Months

Washington (AFPS) — Of 296 flying objects reported in the last six months of 1958, only two were classified by Air Force authorities as "unknown," or unidentified.

The total number of sightings in the six months decreased 14 per cent as compared with the number of objects reported during the first half of 1958.

A breakdown of the July through December reportings includes: 23 balloons, 60 aircraft, 96 astronomical phenomena, four satellites, 50 labeled "other," 61 of insufficient data, and two unknown.

A WELL-SHOT ARM is displayed by Pfc. Robert L. Livingston to PIO Reporter, Sp3 Martin Rein, as he relives his tour of duty as an Army Chemical Corps volunteer guinea pig.

Besides testing liquids, he and the other medical volunteers tested the speed of decontaminating oneself under adverse conditions.

But pleasure and sightseeing were interspersed with his duties. Livingston was able to visit New York City several times and the nation's capital once, on three-day passes.

Asked whether he would volunteer again, he said, with just a slight hesitation, "yes, I believe I would."

Sp4 J. E. Hutchens
His job is unique

kaleidoscope

It doesn't pay to razz a policeman or an MP, but there is one Presidio MP who enjoys the teasing he receives here. But, don't you try it unless you belong to the special group that rides the school buses here or you might find Sp4 James E. Hutchens somewhat irked and yourself in trouble.

Hutchens is the only motorcycle MP on post and as part of his duties he supervises the loading of 250 children onto a school bus at Wherry Housing and escorts the nursery school bus. In the course of his job he is kidded.

As he expressed it, "The kids harass me all the time. They make jokes about my hat (a crash helmet) and say I look like I'm from outer space or something.

"I tease them back and get along with the kids and there isn't ever any trouble. The names of most of the little ones are known to me by now."

Hutchens is a natural for the job he has, as he loves children, police work and has been a professional motorcycle rider.

It was normal for a high school student in Martinez, Hutchens' home town, to own a bike. "I think my home town had more motorcycles than cars when I was going to school eleven years ago," he said. "If you didn't own a bike you didn't belong."

After graduation a two-year stint with a utility company followed until he decided the Marine Corps was for him. From 1950 until 1956 he remained with the Marines being stationed mainly in California.

His professional riding started in 1953 and lasted for three years. During that time he was quite successful; "able to make a little money and have an awful lot of fun." All told he participated in 150 professional races and numerous "scrambles," amateur races for trophies.

Among his thirty trophies are fifteen for first place.

A crack-up in 1956 ended his racing career when his bike went out from under him and crashed into a wall. "Rather than have the bike fixed, I quit racing," he said. "I feel I was lucky, it made me realize that I was ahead of the game, and a good time to quit."

Hutchens left the Marines "just long enough to lose my rank as staff sergeant," and then decided to enlist in the Army for the MP's.

"I've always had a basic interest in criminology and various police work, and I always thought the MP's were the cream of the crop. Since I liked the service this was a good way to combine the two (criminology and service)," he explained.

Enjoyment of his work has earned him eight letters of commendation in less than three years. Presently 28 years old, he has mapped out his career which he hopes will be in the criminal investigation field.

As soon as he obtains an E5 rating, which he is hoping for, Hutchens said he would apply for admission to the Criminal Investigation School at Ft. Gordon.

Meanwhile he rides his bike approximately ten hours a day, and trades banter with his school children wards, and awards tickets to the delinquent adult motorists. (Rein).

Thought for the week: All United States military doctrine is based upon reliance on the ingenuity of the individual working on his own initiative as a member of a team and using the most modern weapons and equipment which can be provided him. The individual makes the modern Army not the mass.—Military Review.

Name Judges For Annual Playwriting Competition

Judges for the Second Annual Playwriting Contest at the Presidio will include two experts and one drama buff:

- Dr. Fenton McKenna, noted critic, essayist, and head of one of the nation's outstanding college drama departments, San Francisco State, will again be a member of the panel.

"Writing a good one-act play is no easy task," says Dr. McKenna, "however, some of our most successful playwrights cut their creative teeth on just such fare. All too often, it's (writing the one-act play) like cutting a precious stone. Unless expertly analyzed and marked out, then properly cleaved, instead of a rare gem the author produces only a glittering chip.

- Colonel James G. Chesnutt, top flight newspaperman, author and critic, former chief of the magazine and book section at Department of the Army, and now Deputy Chief of Information for the Sixth U.S. Army, will be the other expert.

"Of course, I'm something of a ham, too," says Col. Chesnutt. "I've done quite a bit of Little Theater work and hope to do a great deal more. I like the idea of challenging the soldier's creative talent. Not only does it give him an additional creative outlet, it frequently gives leadership an insight into what makes the modern soldier tick. Time and the man are not changeless, and more often than not, it is the playwright and the poet who are the first to record these changes."

- Kenneth S. Erwin, editor of the Star Presidian, although no expert, has been a playgoer and reader for a great many years. Currently completing a book of verse—Songs for Eternity—which he hopes to have published next fall, Erwin finds himself, more often than not, in agreement with the critics.

"I'm a great admirer of Inge, Miller and Tennessee Williams," says Erwin, "and I think the American dramatist need not take a back seat to anyone. Of course, I don't always agree with the critics and the theater going public. I thought the Morton Wishengrad's The Rope Dancers was a great play. Last year it folded in New York after only 189 performances."

Besides cash awards of $25, $15 and $10, there will be trophies for the winning playwright, best actor and actress and best director. Plays will be produced by the Entertainment Section on Friday, 12 June, and the author has the option, not only to direct, but to cast and even act in his own creation.

Other contest rules include:

- Language must be within the code for radio and television.
- Plays must be based on contemporary Army life.
- Manuscripts must be for one-act plays—musicals are not eligible for competition—with production time ranging from 20 to 45 minutes.
- Only active-duty military personnel on the Presidio and its subposts including Letterman Army Hospital, XV U.S. Army Corps (Reserve), Sixth Region, U.S. Army Defense Command, and the Sixth U.S. Army will be eligible to enter the contest. Personnel on a tour of active duty of 90 days or less are not eligible.
- Typewritten manuscripts should be submitted on 8 1/2 x 11 bond paper and triple-spaced. A separate title sheet should accompany the manuscript, including name, rank, unit and title of the play. Author's name should not appear on any page in the body of the play.
- Entries should be sent to Play Contest Editor, Room 211, Building 87A, Presidio, San Francisco, no later than 1600 hours on 15 April.

MUCH SEWING for the Pediatrics Ward at Letterman can be done by the wives' club at the hospital using the $200 presented to Col. A. L. Tynes, CO, LAH, recently by Mrs. Maxine Resseguie, on behalf of the Presidio Women's Club.

Kaye Shock Troops Hit At Letterman Hospital

Danny Kaye and his troupe of high-powered entertainers came to Letterman Army Hospital at 1400 hours Wednesday and left ninety minutes later, having reduced the Red Cross hall where they played to a happy shambles. It was like the visit of a well-meaning cyclone.

The shock troops included Senor Wences, the incredible ventriloquist with the Spanish accent, the Four Step Brothers, a chimpanzee act, and Kaye's quick-on-their-feet musicians, drummer Sidney Kaye and piano man Sammy Prager, as well as the star himself. Together, they ran through a fast-paced show that left the crowd of patients weak with laughter and begging for more.

The audience was as warm and lively as the entertainers themselves, with doctors, nurses, passers-by and the comedians themselves (who snatched off-stage moments to catch each others' acts) producing volleys of applause that rocked the building.

The show was roughly that which Kaye is presenting at the Curran Theater, though as drummer Kaye (no relation) pointed out, "Every show is a new show altogether—we never know what he's up to."

Kaye sang a half dozen songs, featuring such old masterpieces as "Minnie the Moocher," "Deena," and "Ballin' the Jack." He sang in his usual smiling, graceful manner, explaining his poise as that of a "polite jazz singer."

This is a Jason Robards Jr. year . . . the ex-sailor who shines as the alcoholic novelist in Broadway's "The Disenchanted" also is making his movie debut in "The Journey" with Yul Brynner and Deborah Kerr. Does he have a "method?" . . . says Robards: "When you've been with the Navy for seven years you haven't time to follow any method. You just do what you're told, and you're not in a mood to take any back talk from anybody either."

Sad . . . yesteryear's lustrous Hedy Lamarr claims she's broke. Did you know that during WWII Hedy conceived a jet-propelled guided missile which was accepted by the National Inventors Council? All that and brains too!

A joint session of Congress, held on Lincoln's birthday, featured Fredric March, invited to read the Gettysburg Address . . . he took time out from the shooting of "Middle of the Night" in New York.

Remember the novel (and later a Jose Ferrer movie) called "The Great Man" that punctured a TV heel? . . . author Al Morgan has a new one about the Pentagon coming up, titled "One Star General."

George Stevens' production of "The Diary of Anne Frank" has its world premiere in New York next month under sponsorship of the American Association for the United Nations, headed by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt . . . and in other U.N. news, Marlon Brando will narrate that organization's first feature-length film, "Power Among Men" . . . it's in color and has music by Virgil Thompson.

Still the WWII submarine movies . . . "Up Periscope" finally is in release, and the next on the Hollywood slate is "Battle of the Coral Sea" with Cliff Robertson and Gia Scala.

China nights would not be hard to while away if voluptuous Las Vegas showgirl Rowena Buttenwieser were around to decorate them. She's Chinese all right . . . it's the adopted name that throws you.

Tops in Pops . . . "Stagger Lee" by Lloyd Price has inched up the "Billboard Magazine" Honor Roll of Hits to capture lead position, displacing "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes" (Platters). Third place is held by "16 Candles" (Crests) and the remaining seven are in this order: "Donna" (Ritchie Valens); "The Children's Marching Song" (Mitch Miller); "My Happiness" (Connie Francis); "All American Boy" (Bill Parsons); "Hawaiian Wedding Song" (Andy Williams); "Gotta Travel On" (Billy Grammer) and "Lonely Teardrops" (Jackie Wilson).

Army Skiers Show Well In Olympic Trials

A DIRECT HIT, as avalanche control men of the Olympic Winter Games blast away at loose snow at the top of KT 22 in Squaw Valley to prevent avalanches.

The men firing the 75 MM recoilless rifle were trained by the Army and equipment and ammunition is supplied by the Army.

Brochures For Olympics Printed In 4 Languages

It is anticipated that the Explanatory Brochures, containing general information on the VIIIth Olympic Winter Games and geared for the athletes and officials, will be off the presses in March.

There will be separate brochures for skiing, biathlon, ice hockey, and speed and figure skating. Each of the brochures will be printed in French, German, Italian and English.

The Organizing Committee received special permission from Avery Brundage, President of the International Olympic Committee, and Dr. Marc Hodler, President of the International Ski Federation, to delay publication of the skiing and biathlon brochures until after the North American Championships. Therefore, the latter brochures probably won't be off the presses until May or June.

Quote Is Inspirational

"The most important thing in the Olympic Games is not to win but to take part. The important thing in life is not the triumph but the struggle. The essential thing is not to have conquered, but to have fought well..."—Baron Pierre de Coubertin, President, International Olympic Committee, 1896-1925.

Largest of the land animals next to the elephant, the white rhinoceros, stands six feet at the shoulder and 13 feet in length. It is not white, however, but merely a uniform grey.

Olympic Hymn

The Olympic Hymn was written especially for the International Olympic Committee. The words are by Rudyard Kipling, music by Roger Quilter.

Non nobis, Domine!
Not unto us, O Lord!
The Praise and Glory be
Of any deed or word;
For in Thy Judgment lies
To crown or bring to nought
All knowledge and device
That man has reached or wrought.

And we confess our blame—
How all too high we hold
That noise which men call Fame
That dross which men call Gold
For these we undergo
Our hot and godless days,
But in our hearts we know
Not unto us the Praise.

O Power by Whom we live—
Creator, Judge, and Friend,
Upholdingly forgive
Nor fail us at the end:
But grant us well to see
In all our piteous ways—
Non nobis, Domine!
Not unto us the Praise!

Vaughn, Kolak Could Do Better In Future

A 23-year-old 2nd Lieutenant probably merits top consideration for the 1960 American Olympic Skiing team tryouts after his performance in the American Nationals last week at Squaw Valley.

Second Lieutenant Gary Vaughn, who has been attending Ordnance School at Aberdeen Proving Grounds, placed eighth out of a field of 63 in the Alpine Combined Ski events — slalom, giant slalom and downhill—held last Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Only five other Americans finished ahead of him as he received a total of 26.08 points. Christian Pravda, former world champion from Austria who now teaches at Sun Valley, and Osamu Tada of Japan were the other participants who beat Vaughn's time.

Besides Vaughn two other Army skiers entered the Alpine events. They were Pfc. Bob Kolak, Ft. Carson, who placed 31st with 51.45 points and Pvt. Tom Burns, 1st Bg. 23d Inf. Alaska, who failed to obtain a total score.

Determined to be selected to the team, Vaughn had hoped, before the meet started, to place within the first fifteen. He said then, "This is something I've got to do good in, I hope to be selected to the team."

Able to keep in condition by skiing regularly for two months prior to the meet he showed his determination on the first day in the slalom when he ran a ski into a bank during the afternoon heat. He quickly recovered and came in with a 78.2 which with his morning run of 71 gave him 17th place.

In the giant slalom he finished 15th; tied for 12 in the downhill.

Kolak, who is also 23 years old, had only 16 days to condition himself for this tough course. As his former coach, Paul Chesney, of Sierra College, said before the races started, "How Bob does will depend on how much skiing he has done this year, he could place fairly high."

With Bob not in top shape he finished 28th in the slalom Saturday with a 77.1 and 79.1;

Pvt. Craig M. Lussi, Ft. Dix, is competing in the 15KM Cross-Country.

38th in the giant slalom with a 2.23.7 and 47th in the downhill with 1.54.2.

Burns, the third Army entrant, had difficulty with his breathing control since he has been skiing in Alaska at sea level; however he said he felt in good condition.

He placed 47th in the slalom with a 82.3 and a 90.8. In the second run he fell but recovered to finish the race. Burns fell again in the giant slalom and did not finish that race and was disqualified for the downhill and consequently no combined score was posted for him.

A problem that both Kolak and Burns had to face was obtaining additional skis after theirs were stolen. Kolak had his giant slalom skis pilfered and Burns his regular skis.

Army Will Play Top Role In Olympics

Everyone is testing something in Squaw Valley this year and the Army is no exception. A nucleus of fifty Sixth Army personnel owning a wide range of MOS's have been going through a dress rehearsal since February 1st for the 1960 Winter Olympics.

This 1959 group is determining how many Army personnel will be sent up for the 1960 Winter Olympics. Lt. Colonel Arley A. Hayman, Jr., Department of Defense Coordinator for the Olympic Winter Games, explained that the Army is trying to find out how much equipment one man can maintain with the facilities at Squaw Valley. An estimated 400 Army men will be sent to Squaw Valley next year, Colonel Hayman said.

As an example of the preparation for the games five MP first three-graders are presently part of the group in Squaw Valley. They aid in the security of Olympic Village by standing gate guard, checking entering vehicles and enforcing parking regulations.

Generally helping in all police work the group, expected to be at least platoon size next year, is under the control of the Olympic Security Director. The NCO's familiar with the various problems will be better able to direct their men next year.

Similarly radio and telephone operators, a machinist, welders, mechanics, medics, drivers, heavy equipment operators, clerks, etc., are working along side of their civilian partners trying to make the Olympic Games a smooth operation and a success.

WHOA! Some difficulties were encountered in lifting off a caterpillar just delivered to Squaw Valley for use by the Olympic Committee. Everything turned out alright and the cat was gently placed on the ground.

Besides the use of the military, the Navy, Air Force, and Seabees are also there. The government so far has loaned about $2,000,000 worth of equipment to the Olympic Committee.

Colonel Hayman said that this equipment loan is at no cost to the government as the Olympic Committee is responsible for transportation, maintenance and rehabilitation of all material turned over to them. Military personnel are billeted and fed at cost to the Olympic Committee.

Eventually it is expected over $4,000,000 worth of equipment ranging from five-ton wreckers to nuts and bolts, as well as bedding, beds and other sundry items will be loaned to the Committee, Colonel Hayman stated. The material loaned is taken from depot storage of all military services.

This vast amount of equipment is channeled through three Army men, Captain Cecil Crowe, Sfc. Robert Bowen and Pfc. Charles E. Voelker. Captain Crowe, project accountability officer, is responsible for obtaining the equipment and turning it over to the Olympic Organizing Committee. He believes the operation is shaping up and said:

"The Organizing Committee has done a magnificent job with a very difficult problem. Their operation is shaping up into one of the best of its type in the world. It should provide a terrific support for the 1960 Olympic Winter Games."

Firth Takes Epee Title; LAH-PSF Takes Crown

The LAH-PSF fencers put a busy weekend behind them in which they took a medal and a trophy. In the Pannonia Athletic Club Invitational Epee Tournament, Lt. Ben Firth represented Letterman Army Hospital and Mr. Ed Purdy the Presidio of San Francisco.

In the event that drew the top-ranking epee fencers in Northern California, Lt. Firth came away with first place. With it went a permanent medal to him and a sterling silver perpetual trophy to be held for one year. Ed Purdy finished fifth in the contest.

In the evening of the same day the LAH-PSF Epee team jumped back in competition for the Nor Cal Class "B" Epee Team Championship. In this event the Pannonia Athletic Club and the San Francisco Fencers Club combined to enter a composite team and turn aside all others for the title. In competition for the LAH-PSF team were Col. Laurance Brownlee, Lt. Ben Firth, Lt. W. Bingham, Mr. Wm. O'Brien, M/Sgt. Severo Pasol, M/Sgt. Bert Scheck, Mr. Ed Purdy and Sp4 William Beaver.

The next event for the LAH-PSF team will be in the Open Foil Championship to qualify for the Pacific Coast Championship and the U.S. National Championship March 7, at the San Francisco Fencers Club.

Hq 3 Team In Pac Lead; Lady Bowler Fires 507

The big surprise in this week's keg action was the four-game lead that Hq. Co. 6A No. 3 took over the Hilltoppers in the Pacific League. Hq. No. 3 took the lead by trouncing the Warrants 4-0 as Wilmoth led with 591-209. High for the losers was Stephens with 528-193.

Hilltoppers lost their tie for the lead when they were up-ended by the 30th Group 4-0. Shish led the winners with 602-221 and high for the losers was Johnson 490-193.

AAA Sparks suffered a 4-0 loss to the Retorts and fell into 6th place. La Clair posted a 479-171 for the Retorts but honors went to Beery of the losers with 497-181.

Regioners sank further into the cellar as they dropped their series to Hq. Co. 6A No. 2, 3-1. Lux rolled 521-180 for Hq. No. 2 as Colby had a 451-178 for the Regioners.

The lead in the Wednesday Night Mixed League is still the property of Nikes as they shut out Guys & Dolls 4-0. For the Nikes it was Ross carding a 544-202. Best for the losers was Lutz with 442-160.

Spoilers in second place were dumped 3-1 by the Alley Bys behind Opozda's 535-195. Browning posted a hot 537-193 for the Spoilers.

Tyros showed no mercy as they squashed Retorts 4-0 when O'Donnell hit 538-197. Milburn was high for the losers with 391-153.

LAH Lions Win Two In Barnstorming Tour Down South

The LAH Lions returned victorious in two of the three basketball games they played in the Los Angeles area last week. It was a "comedy of errors" as all three teams scheduled to play cancelled the games after Letterman arrived on the scene and new opponents had to be lined up on the spur of the moment.

When the smoke cleared away, the Lions had a 72-44 victory over the 933rd Missile Battalion in the first game. The second game was against the 47th AADCP (Hq. 47th Arty. Brigade) which the Lions promptly squashed 81-33. The word had spread when the LAH cagers met Los Alamitos Naval Air Station as the sailors "borrowed" two players from Long Beach City College to supplement their squad. In a pitched battle, the Navy decked the Lions 58-56 in the last minute of play.

There will be a story on the results of the NorCal Military Sports Association Basketball League in next week's S-P. Letterman currently leads the league and is favored to sweep the title.

LAH Skeet Team Third In Lake Merced Open

Letterman's Skeet Team opened the 1959 season by placing third in the Lake Merced Open, sponsored by the Pacific Rod and Gun Club. In the Military Class, Ent Air Force Base of Colorado and Ft. Ord finished ahead of the locals. Other military teams in competition were the Oakland Naval Air Station and Oak Knoll Naval Hospital.

Howard Walker led the LAH team with a 95x100 which was good enough to take third place in the Class B competition.

Robert Neill took first place in the Class E shoot with an 88x100.

200-lb. Weakling?

Weightlifting Could Help You

★ ★ ★      ★ ★ ★      ★ ★ ★
Tired of people kicking sand in your face when you're at the beach? Take up weightlifting and do a little sand-kicking of your own.

In any case, follow the advice of Pfc. Peter DeMaria of Headquarters Company US Army Garrison and take weightlifting to build up your strength and keep you on the road to health.

Pete first became interested in weightlifting when he was 13 and made frequent visits to his local YMCA in Kansas City, Missouri. When he was a senior in high school back in 1955, he set a Missouri Valley weightlifting record in the 198-pound class during an AAU meet. Flushed with success, he kept the title in 1956 and '57 in AAU Open competition. His personal high total was set in 1957 when he lifted a total of 770 pounds using the 3 Olympic lifts of press, clean and jerk, and snatch.

In the one year he attended college at the University of Missouri, he played tackle on the freshman football squad and took an active interest in wrestling. In the six matches he had in the heavyweight division, Pete took four.

Pete currently works as a truck driver for the Garrison Supply Room and trains at the Central YMCA and the San Francisco Olym-

Locyers Stanford Test Army All-Star Candidates

Still warming up for the coming AAU Tournaments, the Army All-Stars under the direction of Coach Hal Fischer put the Southern California AAU Champions, Locyers, on the short end of a 90-75 score. From a 39-38 intermission score, the All-Stars walked away with the game behind the 24 points of Leone. Other All-Stars in the double figures were Adams with 14 and Franklin and Smith with 12 apiece. Honors for the game went to Rogers of Locyers with 25, closely followed by his teammate Nichols who meshed 19.

In earlier action the Army All-Stars made two trips to the Stanford Gym for games with the Junior Varsity. The first meeting was won by the Braves in a tight 83-79 battle. After a day of rest and some strategy conferences, the All-Stars came back to nip Stanford by a similar margin 81-77.

The teams in both games with Stanford were composed of different personnel each time as Coach Fischer put emphasis on how the individual reacted under game conditions rather than trying to win at all costs. As many men as possible were injected into the game in search for a possible winning combination.

SF Quint Grabs Central Cal Tournament Crown

Paced by former USF star Lt. Frank Evangelho with 31 points, the San Francisco entry in the Central California Army Air Defense Command Basketball Tournament dumped the Marin quintet 73-58 to take the title.

The winners led at the intermission 36-25 and never relinquished their lead in the second half. Scoring for the losers was led by Sp4 Fred Cagle with 19 and Sp4 Dick Beltz added 10. Pfc. Harry Lux bucketed 13 to aid Evangelho's effort in the winning cause.

Colonel Andrew R. Lolli, Commander of the 40th Brigade, presented the trophies to the winner and second place squad.

By winning the title, the San Francisco team will compete in the 6th Region Army Air Defense Command Tournament in Los Angeles 9-16 March against teams from the Pacific Northwest and # Four Sixth Army Soldiers Win Freedom Awards.

The Winning Letter

Nikita S. Khrushchev
The Kremlin
Moscow, USSR
Dear Mr. Khrushchev:

Don't look now. There's someone behind you.

You say you will bury us. You say the people of the world yearn for change. You claim change will pull the rug out from under the world we know. And so, Mr. Khrushchev, your agents swarm like termites gnawing and boring in a thousand dark and rotting beams. You count too much on tearing down, on destruction, despair and decay.

Revolution truly is loose in the world today. Change does come. Rotten beams are tumbling. But Mr. Khrushchev, this is a revolution begun in 1776 and clearly stamped "Made in U.S.A."

Do you think Americans fear a changing world? Listen, Mr. Khrushchev:

*There was taxation without representation. We changed that.
Soldiers quartered in private homes. We changed that.
The cold hand of tyranny choked life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. We changed that, too.
And we changed slavery, and child labor, and the 80-hour work week, and poverty, and ignorance, and sickness.
We changed them by building up, by building a better world.
That job's just begun.*

Today our money and our skills work around the world, building economies with more jobs, more goods, more prosperity for all to share.

Our technicians share their secrets—how to grow more food on this plot of ground, how to stamp out that plague, how to teach, to learn, to progress.

And our arms, our might, and our sons help our friends patrol the beat, guarding the new world we build from wreckers, vandals and firebugs.

More than 160 million apostles of freedom are agents of revolution on your terms. We stand for those inalienable rights with which each man is endowed by his Creator. Each American abroad—the serviceman, the technician, the tourist—carries subversion towards the tools of tyranny: the sudden knock on the door, the rifle butt, the concentration camp, the knout, and the enforced work quota. We'll change them. And we'll change the invitations to tyranny on which you count: hunger, poverty, disease and ignorance.

Tremble, Mr. Khrushchev, but you can't turn back the clock. We bring change—light and free air to the dark places on which you and your kind feed. Let your dupes froth and scream "Yankee go home." We won't go home.

Not until the world is on the march toward a better life for all.

You shall not herd the peoples of the world, dragging their chains, behind your bloody, red banners.

Even now, nation to nation and man to man we join hands to our living revolution to change the world and build a better tomorrow. We march proudly, heads high as befits free men. Hear the fife and drum, as they have since 1776, pipe the music that strikes fear to tyrants—the march of freedom.

Yes, Mr. Khrushchev, there's someone behind you—and he's coming closer.

—A YANKEE WHO WON'T GO HOME

Cash, Gold Medals Awarded WAC, 3 Army Sergeants

A Presidio WAC and three other Sixth U.S. Army soldiers have won awards in the sixth annual Freedoms Foundation letter writing contest for members of the Armed Forces.

For her letter on the topic, "My Part in Winning Friends for Freedom," Private First Class Andrea L. Stewart, D Company, U.S. Army Garrison, Presidio, has been awarded an honor medal and $50.

At Ft. Lewis, Washington, M/Sgt. William N. Smith has won an honor medal and $100, while another Lewisite, Sgt. John J. Brennan, has been awarded an honor medal and $50.

At the Army Language School, Monterey, California, M/Sgt. Theodore Kurtz has won an honor medal and $50.

A senior student officer at the Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Virginia, won the $1,000 first place (see letter this page) and a Navy lieutenant and an Air Force M/Sgt. tied for second and third place honors of $300 and an encased gold medal.

An Army officer, Capt. Donald J. Eggum, Ft. Lee, Va., was named in the top ten winners and will receive $100 and a gold medal.

Awards were presented to the top ten winners on 22 February, Washington's birthday, by General Randolph McC. Pate, Marine Corps Commandant, at Valley Forge, Pa. Following presentation ceremonies, individuals met with their service secretaries and service chiefs at the Pentagon and visited the Vice President, Richard M. Nixon, on Tuesday.

Last year, the Star Presidian became the first Army newspaper to win a Freedoms Foundation gold medal.

Spanish missionary fathers, aided by Indian carpenters, built the first boats in San Francisco, small craft to transport tallow and hides.

HAPPY WINNER of a fourth place Freedom Foundation honor medal and a $50 check is Pfc. Andrea L. Stewart, Provost Marshal Office and D Company, U.S. Army Garrison, looks over the encased Gold Medal belonging to a previous winner.

Aspiring WAC Writer Wins Freedom Award

"Gosh, it's been so long, I'd forgotten about the contest and thrown away my scratch copy," gasped Pfc. Andrea L. Stewart, when told that she had won a fourth place award in the Freedom's Foundation Contest.

The Kentucky born Sixth Army lab technician, who has been writing for a long time, entered the essay contest just because she "didn't have anything to do and was bored stiff," but she won't be bored for a while now, at least not until the $50 prize money is gone.

Andrea, usually called "Andy" by her friends, wrote on two of her favorite subjects, people and travel.

She felt well qualified, and justly so, because she had traveled a great deal, having lived in almost every state in the U.S., and can understand what other people see and what they do.

One of the things the 19-year-old likes about the Women's Army Corps is "the ability to get around a lot and visit many different places."

Presently on temporary duty with the Provost Marshal's Office until her release from the service, Andy plans to return to Los Angeles soon and continue her education.

Reluctantly she admits that her studies will include a great deal of math and political science, but she doesn't usually tell anyone that, "because those just aren't girl's subjects."

Future plans for the "bookworm" may include more writing, but that will have to wait, according to Andy, "until I learn how to develop my material so that I don't receive so many rejection slips."

Win Safety Award

A second national award for accident prevention has been given to the Army's western terminal activities in the San Francisco Area.

This "Award of Honor for Safety", coupled with the previously won Dept. of the Army Award of Honor, mark the fifth successive year of national recognition for safety performance at Ft. Mason and Oakland Army terminal.

Taylor Speaks Here

combat-ready strategic reserve forces at home, and the necessary naval and air means to assure freedom of strategic movement."

How to accomplish all of this within the military budget was the $64,000 question which faces all the services, stated General Taylor. He pointed out that the high cost of defense was the direct result of better, but more expensive weapons and expensive, but much better, technical training being given to servicemen so they could use these new and highly technical weapons.

Such skilled training makes these men highly valuable to industry and results in their turning to these more stable and lucrative positions. Although the new military pay scales have helped some, General Taylor feels "personnel budgets should rise somewhat in parallel with the increased value of the equipment."

General Taylor admits that there is some service duplication, but says that this is "desirable if it is for the purpose of assuring no gaps exist between vital programs."

"Rivalry is a good thing if it deters complacency without creating distrust or enmity. It would be most disquieting if the Joint Chiefs of Staff suddenly began to speak with a single voice on a single note with regard to the highly complex questions affecting our military strategy. Fortunately, there is no present danger of such disturbing unanimity."

Because of a lack of comparative facts, General Taylor says, it is hard to know if there is a missile gap, or how big it really is or will be.

"We must assume that they are doing their best to beat us on all fronts—political, scientific, economic and military." Because of this and their growing strength and aggressiveness we must not become complacent in those threats which are less than a general war, but highly important forms of limited aggression.

Besides an earlier press conference, General Taylor was guest of honor at the Press and Union Club Gang Dinner, last evening. He departed for Washington early this morning.

Named Best Soldier

A Certificate of Achievement, a three-day pass, and exemption from all duty rosters for 30 days, were awarded to PFC Dale A. Armstrong, 99th Engineer Company, for being selected 30th Engineer Battalion Soldier of the Month.

Now working in the layout section of his company's reproduction plant, Dale plans, after his release from the service, to return to his native Sacramento and continue working as a photo-engraver with a Sacramento paper.

OUTSTANDING SERVICE was rewarded recently as Col. M. M. Brown, new Presidio Commanding Officer, received a United States Army Advisory Group (KMA) Certificate of Achievement in an informal presentation made by Maj. Gen. Robert L. Howze, Deputy Commanding General for Reserve Forces.

DA, Regional Information Officers Meet Here

the "serving those who serve a nation!"
STAR-PRESIDIAN

Vol. 7, No. 39

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

Friday 6 March, 1959

Three-Day Confab Draws News, Technical Experts

Approximately 100 information personnel from all over the United States met this week in San Francisco for the Regional Information Officers' Conference sponsored jointly by the Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Logistics, Department of the Army, and the Sixth U.S. Army at the Californian Hotel.

Problems of current operations, along with plans for the future in the information fields, were discussed by experts at the three-day conference.

In his opening remarks to the group, Lieutenant General Charles D. Faimer, Commanding General, Sixth U.S. Army, stressed the importance of information work in today's Army. Eugene F. Hart, Technical Liaison Officer, DCSLOG, DA, acted as master of ceremonies for the two-day technical liaison portion of the conference. The importance of improving Army pictures was discussed by Major H. J. Van Kan, Audio-Visual Branch, OCINFO, DA.

Info Expert
Gen. C. V. Clifton

The operation of "Effective Exhibits on Skinny Budgets" was the subject of a talk by Charles E. Plastow of the Army Exhibit Unit, OCINFO, DA. The Army and industry were the subjects of two talks, one by Tom E. Gootee, Office of Technical Liaison, Signal Corps, DA, on "Army Industry Relations" and the other, "Industry Looks at Its Army Relations," by D. C. Pipple, Manager, Mobilization Planning and Defense Sales Department, Ford Motor Company, Detroit.

An important matter in the information field, "How to Arrange a Press Tour," was the subject of a talk and panel discussion conducted by Lt. Col. Charles J. Arnold, Office Chief of Ordnance. Frank L. Crosby, Manager, Public Relations, Permanente Cement Company, Kaiser Industries, discussed the importance of good community relations and how they can be achieved. "A Commanding General Looks at His Public Information Mission" gave the practical approach to an effective information program.

Present operations and plans for the future in Army Public Relations were presented to the group by Brigadier General C. V. Clifton, Deputy Chief of Information, DA. Colonel Harold C. Lyon, Information Officer, Sixth U.S. Army, served as master of ceremonies for the Sixth Army portion of the conference.

Other speakers included Joe Rosenthal, Pulitzer prize winner in photography, San Francisco Chronicle, who spoke on that subject and participated in a panel which included Major Van Kan and Major M. Perham, Sixth Army; a Troop Information Panel; Mr. Al Winter, Recruiting; Colonel Walter Kraus, Commandant, Army Language School and John Zierold, Information Officer, ALS, and Paul Speegle, columnist, Call Bulletin, who spoke on "Are Columnists People?"

Arrangements for the conference were made by Justin Mace, South Pacific Division, Corps of Engineers, and Colonel James G. Chesnutt, Deputy Sixth Army Information Officer.

Three Win Promotions Here; Deputy Ordnance Officer To Colonel

Colonel Archie E. Clark, Deputy Ordnance Officer, received his new silver wings from Major General Robert E. Howze, Sixth U.S. Army Deputy Commanding General, and Major General John J. Binns, Chief of Staff, at an informal ceremony this week at Sixth Army headquarters.

Colonel Clark has been assigned to the Presidio since 1955. During World War II he served at various ordnance depots throughout Europe. He is a graduate of Lawrence County High School, Lawrenceburg, Tennessee, and the School of Commerce and Finance of the University of Detroit.

Other recent promotions include silver oak leaves for Lt. Col. James T. Ross, of the G1 Plans Section. Major Kent Keehn of the Comptroller Section was also promoted.

Let Shelter Contract

Washington (ANS)—A 12.6 million dollar contract has just been awarded the Stromberg-Carlson Division of General Dynamics Corporation to build aluminum shelters (completely equipped to allow rapid installation of communications and electronic equipment) for use at Army and Corps field headquarters.

The shelters will be produced in sizes to be carried on standard  $\frac{3}{4}$  and  $2\frac{1}{2}$  ton trucks or airlifted by helicopter. The largest, intended for higher tactical headquarters, is a standard semi-trailer van which is also air transportable.

"Vinegar" Was Misnomer

Says Famous General's Widow

The grim-mouthed, cold-eyed soldier who came out of the "green hell of the Burma jungles" to turn bitter defeat into incredible victory and become one of the nation's great World War II heroes—General "Vinegar Joe" Stilwell—"was a warm, loving father and a wonderful, wonderful man!"

"That stern visage and tart nickname were mere coverups for a heart as big as all outdoors," says his vivacious, 70-year-old widow, Mrs. Winifred "Win" Stilwell. "His constant concern was the well being of his soldiers."

"Yes, and his soldiers instinctively knew this," chimed in Col. Paul L. Jones, USAR, who spent some 13 years in one capacity or the other with the famous general. "He had a great faculty with names. I remember at one gathering he greeted every officer in the division by name, adding some little personal question or comment about them or their families. He did this without the use of nameplates, an aide with a list, or anything else."

Both Mrs. Stilwell and Col. Jones were in San Francisco this week to do a video tape interview that will introduce "The Stilwell Story" due to premier here this Saturday on KRON-TV Channel 4 at 1525 as part of the Big Picture series.

General Stilwell had a side that the press never got to know. "He adored children, not just his own, but all children," says Win. "Why, I bet not many people know that he loved poetry, wrote children's verse, sketched and painted. He was blessed with a wonderful sense of humor, which made life with him one happy escapade after the other."

Winifred "Win" Stilwell
"... wonderful, wonderful man!"

As for the name "Vinegar," it came as a result of a rare flare of temper while he was a young officer at Ft. Benning. A "guardhouse lawyer" type was being unfairly critical of a recently completed exercise—so Joe let him have it with both verbal barrels. Next morning, a sketch of a vinegar jug with a caricature of Major Stilwell inside appeared on the company bulletin board, it was inscribed "Vinegar Joe." The tag stuck down through the years.

"However," says Win, "over in the CBI (China-Burma-India) he was known as 'Uncle Joe' and the natives called his plane 'Uncle Joe's Chariot.' Of course, later, with the newspapers writing about him, the 'Vinegar' caught on even there."

"Win" Stilwell now lives in the home that she and the General built in 1934 at Carmel Point, California. General Stilwell died at the Presidio, while serving as commanding general of the Sixth

Top Bay Area Civilians See Red Canyon Firing

A group of civic leaders and pressmen from the San Francisco Bay Area flew to Fort Bliss, Texas, this week to observe NIKE guided missile units in actual firing practice at the nearby Red Canyon firing range.

Attending the Army's "Operation Understanding" as guests of Col. Andrew R. Lolli, commanding officer of the 40th Artillery Brigade, at Ft. Bliss, are: Benjamin Swig, owner of the San Francisco Fairmont Hotel; Jean Paulson, assistant editor of the Berkeley Gazette; Kurt Mueller, prominent landowner near Hayward, Calif.; E. W. Newell, a rancher near Richmond, Calif., and Thomas Lynch, San Francisco's District Attorney.

Arthur Ames, president of the East Bay Chapter of the Association of the U.S. Army; Rear Adm. A. G. Cook, Director of the San Francisco Civil Defense; Mathew Carberry, sheriff of San Francisco County; Forthunatus Magruder, Tax Commissioner for Southern Pacific Co.; Robert Apple, managing director of the Fox West Coast Theaters; Col. C. C. Herrick, Postmaster of Oakland; Wishard Brown, business manager of the San Rafael Independent Journal; and James G. Cook, reporter for the San Francisco Examiner.

More than 600 newsmen and civic representatives from cities throughout the nation have attended Operation Understanding since its beginning two years ago. This way communities are kept better informed on the Army's role in the nation's air defense.

The group left Oakland International Airport Tuesday morning by Air Force C47, arriving that afternoon at the Guided Missile Center, Fort Bliss, Texas.

Wednesday they received a briefing from U.S. Army missile experts on the NIKE system and then flew to the range near Alamogordo, New Mexico, to observe the firing. They returned to Oakland Airport yesterday afternoon.

Courtenay Lectures Now Set For Baker, Barry On Next Tuesday

"The Role of Man In Modern War" will be the topic spoken on by William Courtenay, British war correspondent and world traveler, as he presents lectures at Fts. Baker and Barry Tuesday.

Currently on a lecture tour of West Coast Army installations, Courtenay recently spoke to Presidio personnel in a lecture at the Post theater.

Anyone having missed that talk will be welcome to attend this one, whether Army missileman, military dependent or civilian. The lectures will be held at 0915 in the Ft. Baker theater and 1330 at Ft. Barry.

About NATO:

Its Achievements

Special to the Star Presidian

By William Courtenay OBE MM

(Ed's Note: This is the third in a series of five articles on vital military topics by William Courtenay, noted British military correspondent, who is currently on a lecture tour of the Sixth U.S. Army area.)

When General Eisenhower came to Paris in January 1951 to become SHAPE (Supreme Commander Allied Powers Europe), we had but ten divisions of soldiers in Europe between us all while Russia had remained mobilized with 176 divisions, some 33 of which mostly armored, faced us in Germany.

There were only 16 airfields capable of being used by jet aircraft; all the concrete runways were in England from where the wartime British and American bombers had flown over Germany.

There were about 600 aircraft available — all obsolete piston engine 300 mph war birds.

General Eisenhower set about building 125 airfields on the long battlefield which was to stretch for 4,500 miles from the Arctic Circle of Norway to Turkey. This figure rose to 185 and today there are some 350 airfields available to NATO Forces.

In the eight years which have elapsed since January 1951 the North Atlantic Treaty Organization—or NATO—has grown to 15 powers. All the Atlantic countries are in it including USA; Canada; Iceland; Norway; Denmark; Holland; Belgium; France; little Luxembourg; England; Portugal; Italy; Greece and Turkey. The 15th is West Germany admitted a year or two ago. She is to provide 12 divisions of soldiers whereas America has 5, France 6 and Britain 4. Thus the West German Govt. is building up to the largest contribution apart from air power.

All the airfields built on the long battle front in nine years are 9,000 ft long with 9,000 ft taxiways and all can take the latest jets.

There is also today a vast pipeline for 4,500 miles well buried against atomic blast. Fuel will arrive at ports in tankers; go into underground storage; and into the pipelines to every airfield so that we do not have to rely on tanker trucks to move fuel to airfields. They would be blasted off roads in any atomic attack. Thus the mobility of our air forces is assured. Russia cannot knock all these airfields out in one blow and unless she can she dare not unleash an atomic attack. Enough of our air power would survive to return the blow.

Today there are over 6,000 aircraft all in the 650 to 1,000 mph class available to General Norstad, USAF, the present NATO Commander. There's also an Early Warning System along the front to assure we can't be suddenly blitzed without warning.

And behind this long front stands the United States Strategic Air Force and the Royal Air Force Bomber Command, all replete with latest jet bombers, able to fuel in midair and to carry nuclear bombs.

Today also the U.S. Strategic Air Force has some 79 bases encircling Russia and a fleet of 600 mph Boeing jettanker planes building up to 400 planes to fuel the bombers at 40,000 ft to extend range.

No wonder Khrushchev is worried at our power and wants at all costs to dissolve the NATO!

NATO stands strong with many Divisions of infantry and armor today growing every month and with strong reserves behind it. The NATO fleets command the seas and carry out big anti-submarine exercises in the Atlantic and Mediterranean every year. I have been present at many of them. All this can give us quiet cause for confidence without relaxing our guard and vigilance. It has taken all of eight or nine years to achieve this and we have been fighting a number of brush fire wars at the same time. We are very fortunate indeed to have won the time to achieve all this. We are thus ready to face the worst any enemy may threaten. We can argue from a position of strength.

STRAC-TAC Shine In Panama Exercise

By M/Sgt. Bill Fitzgerald, USA

Albrook AFB, C. Z. (AFPS)—The STRAC-TAC concept of speedy retaliation to aggressors by a crack airborne striking force got a dramatic demonstration in Exercise Banyan Tree, the joint Army-Air Force operation staged some 75 miles from this Canal Zone base.

It marked the first time that combat-ready troops have been flown directly from the continental U. S. to jump on foreign soil. "Banyan," in all, involved more than 5,000 Army and AF men. The airborne assault forces were 82nd Abn. Div. troops of the 2nd ABG, 501st Inf., from Ft. Bragg, N. C.

The paratroopers, about 1,200 strong, made the 2,000-mile flight from Gragg's adjoining Pope AFB in Hercules C-130s. After the seven-hour trip they executed an almost perfect jump into blazing tropical sunlight over Rio Hato airfield, 75 miles from here on the Pacific side of the isthmus.

"Perfect timing—I've never seen better! This shows how the Army and Air Force can operate together without a hitch," said Lt. Gen. Ridgely Gaither, Commander in Chief of the Caribbean Command, after the spectacular mass jump which was witnessed by over 1,000 spectators.

The scenario of the maneuver had Aggressor forces landing in Panama to seize the Panama Canal, and Gen. Gaither immediately calling on the JCS for a highly mobile striking force from the States to reinforce his own troops. In the three-day exercise, the paratroopers and airborne assault units mopped up the Aggressors according to plan.

In addition to the 82nd Div. elements from Ft. Bragg, the Army employed troops of the 1st BG, 20th Inf., stationed in the Canal Zone. TAC's 9th AF used C-130s and C-123s for troop carriers, in addition to tactical F-100 fighters and B-57 bombers. Climax of the first day's operation was a parachute drop of heavy trucks, jeeps and 105 mm howitzers which were swiftly moved out of the drop zone into battle position.

Simulated drops of 10-kiloton atom bombs and employment of other nuclear weapons by the fighters and bombers were part of the "softening up" tactics preceding the mass jump when the sky over Rio Hato blossomed with 'chutes as the troopers swung to earth in perfect tropical weather.

Lead man to make the jump was the 82nd's commander, Maj. Gen. Hamilton H. Howze, who said later that to move his entire division in such a training exercise outside the U.S. would involve "extraordinary effort" but that he was eager to try it.

Spectators at Rio Hato included many high-ranking military observers from Washington as well as representatives of Latin American countries. They called "Banyan" one of the best-coordinated and executed operations within memory.

Another Friday The 13th Coming Up This Month

(By Armed Forces Press Service)

If you're one of those superstitious types who walks around ladders and shuns black cats and suffers vague forebodings of disaster every Friday the 13th—well, 1959 is a good year for you. There was a Friday the 13th in February; there's another in March, but not another until November—the last of the year.

Who started this Friday the 13th business, anyhow? Why is the day considered unlucky? It can't be its name—or can it? Friday comes from the Anglo-Saxon word Frigg which means Freyja's day. Freyja, in Norse mythology, was the goddess of love. Ancient Scandinavians considered her day the luckiest in the week.

Probably the jinx on Friday dates back through Christendom to the day Christ was crucified, giving Christians down through the ages a superstition against it.

Another point against Friday: in former times it was called "hangman's day" because it was the one chosen for executions.

Coming up to the modern era in the U.S., there's good reason indeed to be leery of Friday—especially in your financial transactions. You've heard of "Black Friday," haven't you? It refers to two different Fridays which brought chaos in banking and stock exchange circles.

The first Black Friday was Sept. 12, 1869, when Jay Gould and James Fisk Jr. tried to corner all the gold in New York City banks—about $14,000,000 worth. The two conspirators had been steadily boosting the market value of gold, but on that memorable Friday the U.S. Treasury threw $4,000,000 in gold on the market to crack the Gould-Fisk corner. Gold dropped in value almost at once, leaving the speculators $11,000,000 richer but many others wiped out.

Four years later the New York Stock Exchange had its second Black Friday on Sept. 19 when numerous investors lost their shirts. This disaster ushered in what was known as the Panic of 1873.

what they said

Man's relentless conquest of outer space, nuclear improvements, scientific and productive genius is widely noted and colorfully recorded. In his pursuit of cures for the "ills that human flesh is heir to," he often gets less widespread recognition. This week we ask:

QUESTION: Modern medical research has produced many new drugs. Have any of these "miracle" drugs been beneficial to you, your family or friends?

ANSWERS

Sgt. William R. Harvey, G4 administrative clerk, Ft. Baker: I've never had a sick day in my life and never had to use any of these drugs. The only miracle drug I've ever had was my old man's peach brandy, which he made himself. None of my friends or relations have been given any of these drugs, either. I just come from a good part of the country (South Carolina), I guess.

Betty Cheney, Supervisor of Officers Branch Office, Post Headquarters: "Yes. The mycin family of drugs saved my life four years ago when I had a ruptured appendix and peritonitis set in. I was rushed to the hospital and after being operated on I was given a number of these drugs including aureomycin, streptomycin and terramycin for three weeks. My doctor said that when a person formerly had peritonitis it was usually fatal and now with these new drugs it is not nearly so serious."

Mrs. Shirley A. Huckabay, clerk-stenographer, Sixth U.S. Army Signal Supply Section: "The anti-biotics were extremely helpful to three members of my family. In particular, my sister who became ill and ran a fever of 106. Eight hours after the antibiotics were administered to her, she improved and her temperature returned to normal. I believe some day if they keep on working with the miracle drugs they will find cures for cancer and other diseases that are now incurable."

James O. Massey, management analyst, Post Comptrollers Office: "I have had friends who were helped tremendously by these drugs. A person I knew had an infectious blood disease and one of these drugs cured him. It is a wonderful thing that we live in this age where modern science aids are available for our health and protection. Having two small children, ages 5 and 6, it is comforting to know in cases of emergency that these drugs are available."

HELLO

Happy Hello?

Well, Not Always!

If a man stopped you on the street and asked for directions, you wouldn't ignore him. You wouldn't snarl at him. Most likely you'd go out of your way to be pleasant and helpful. But suppose he telephoned you?

Would you answer the phone in an agreeable voice, identifying yourself and the organization and section you represent? Or would you mutter, mumble or blast your caller's eardrums with a bellow?

Many of us are guilty of telephone discourtesy. We fail to modulate our voices to a reasonable pitch. We answer questions in jarring, disconnected phrases. We terminate conversations abruptly and hang up without making certain that our party has no more to say.

Haven't you often put down the phone after talking with a stranger and thought, "Now there's someone it would be a pleasure to meet." Why? Because he or she communicated a likeable personality over the wire, making a favorable impression on you, sight unseen. Keep that in mind and the phone becomes your own powerful instrument for winning friends and influencing people. (AFPS)

First Issue Hermitage Due Release 16 March From Jackson's Home

A 4½¢ Hermitage stamp, the 21st in the Liberty Series, will go on sale for the first time at Hermitage, Tennessee on 16 March.

Featuring, on the front, the Hermitage, home of President Andrew Jackson, the green stamp will, on the first day, have a cancellation featuring the famed equestrian statue of President Jackson, now in New Orleans, La.

Collectors desiring first-day cancellations may send addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamp, to the Postmaster, Hermitage, Tennessee.

An enclosure of medium weight should be placed in each envelope and the flap turned in or sealed.

Envelopes submitted should be of ordinary letter size and each must be properly addressed. The outside envelope to the Postmaster should be endorsed, "First Day Covers Hermitage Stamp."

New Supplement Soon

A supplement to "Postage Stamps of the United States 1847-1957," embracing only those stamps issued during 1958, will be issued soon.

In addition to the illustration and description of these stamps, there will be tables showing the quantities ordered, plate numbers used, designers and engravers, and number of first-day covers cancelled.

New Stamp Record

A new record for air mail first day covers was set on 3 January when a total of 489,752 7¢ Alaska Statehood commemorative stamps were canceled.

Civilian Medical And Intelligence Positions Now Open

The following Civil Service Examinations have been announced to establish registers of candidates for possible vacancies at Federal agencies:

ROTC Group Visits Here

The "inside scoop on the operation of the Nike Ajax system" was given Sunday to a group of ROTC Students from Alameda High School as they were allowed to "invade" Angel Island.

Riverside Soldier Named Best In 4th Msl. Bn.

Sp4 Marco E. Quesada, Btry. C, 4th Msl. Bn. 61st Arty., at Sharp Park, walked off with the prize money and three-day pass, as the best soldier in the Battalion. This wins him a chance at Brigade Soldier of the Month.

This was the third time his Battery had sent him as their best, and he never quite made it before.

A 21-year-old from Riverside, Calif., Quesada says the Army bug got him in WWII, when as an eight-year-old boy, he visited the men in their machine-gun nests at nearby March Field. He went on through grade school and Riverside High, and took a job as store clerk in his home town. But the Army and NIKE finally took hold and in 1956 he went RA.

After basic training at Ft. Ord, Calif., Quesada was assigned to the San Francisco Air Defense. He was sent to Btry. B, 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty., where he became a TTR Azimuth Operator.

In October of 1957 he was married to a San Francisco girl, Jeanette La Bounty. Next he was promoted to Sp4 and soon after their first child was born, a boy who is now 7 months old.

Sp4 Quesada will spend his three-day pass straightening out family affairs at home, in preparation for his departure on 1 April for Fort Bliss, Texas, for the NIKE HERCULES package training.

New Army Engineer
Col. R. A. Norton

Vet Combat Officer Named New Sixth U.S. Army Engineer

Colonel Richard A. Norton, 52, has been named Sixth U.S. Army Engineer, Lt. General Charles D. Palmer announced last week. Colonel C. P. Joyce, deputy engineer who has administered the section since the retirement of Colonel S. A. Potter, will stay on as deputy.

Colonel Norton was G4 of Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., and of the U.S. Army Training Center, Engineer, until his assignment here. He is a veteran of 18 years' active duty, including service in Korea with the 1st Cavalry Division and as Advisor to the Chief of Engineers, Republic of Korea Army.

During World War II, Colonel Norton served as G5 of the 17th Airborne Division and as Chief of the Military Government Detachment at Augsburg, Germany. He was in the Normandy, Ardennes and Rhineland campaigns.

Colonel Norton lives with his wife, Lillian, at 2109 Hale Drive, Burlingame. They have a daughter, Pamela Diane, 13.

In New Command

Formerly in Europe, New Hebrides, the Far East and at Fairchild Air Force Base, Washington, Capt. George W. Cornelious is now assuming duties as commandant of the 6th Region U.S. Army Air Defense Command Headquarters Detachment, following the retirement of Capt. Elbert C. Leigon.

Postal Auction Set

It has been announced that a Postal Auction Sale of unclaimed merchandise will be held in the Main Post Office, Seventh and Mission Sts., 0830 on 20 March.

Approximately 12,000 individual articles will be sold, and catalogs listing and describing the lots will be available during the preview showing on 19 March.

SIMPLE SAFETY rules can help avoid complicated accidents when handling firearms as pointed out by M/Sgt. John Vekich, Chief Clerk with Post Provost Marshal. Sergeant Vekich serves as Director of the Junior Rifle Program here at the Presidio and was the recipient of a "GUNS" magazine award for his outstanding work.

Presidio Junior Rifliers Sets Enviably Records

The Presidio Junior Rifliers are learning gun safety and marksmanship under the direction of M/Sgt. John Vekich, Director of Junior Marksmanship, assisted by Sfc. Carl McClure of Hq. Co. U.S. Army Garrison and Presidio Indoor Range NCO. Also aiding in the program are Maj. Henry Lex, Sixth Army Transportation Section; M/Sgt. Edmond Franklin, Sixth Army AG Section; and formerly by Lt. Col. Charles Delameter, Sixth Army G-4 Section.

Serving as secretary, recorder and statistician for the program is Florence Vekich, the charming and capable wife of M/Sgt. Vekich.

The Junior Rifle Program is open to both boys and girls from the age of 11½ to 18 years.

The Presidio Junior Rifliers have produced two Distinguished Rifle qualifications already, expects to have four Experts in the near future and possibly two more Distinguished Riflemen by this fall. 169 active Junior Shooters have earned a total of 638 NRA Awards in the past ten months during an accelerated shooting program.

Donald Biedenbender and Arthur Malone have received NRA Certificates as Apprentice Rifle Instructors after passing written tests on gun safety, fundamentals of firing, range control and discipline under the sponsorship of Sgt. Vekich, Chief NCO Provost Marshal Office Presidio, the NRA Certified Instructor and Marksmanship Counselor.

New Air Service

Airmail service will be inaugurated by Frontier Airlines at Sterling, Colo., Sidney, Imperial, McCook, Kearney, Hastings and Beatrice, Neb., St. Joseph and Kansas City, Mo., soon.

It's a Fact: The United States has a small but strong, versatile, flexible and highly mobile professional Army with firepower vastly superior to that which existed ten years ago. This professional Army is backed by the largest and best trained reserve forces in our history.

Columbia Statue Now In Place On New War Memorial At Presidio

Following her dedication soon, Columbia will stand high on a Presidio hill overlooking the Pacific Ocean, the graveyard of 412 American servicemen in whose memory she was carved.

Behind the North Carolina granite statue is a curved, 70-foot, California granite wall containing the names of these men, who lost their lives in the Pacific Ocean off the shores of North, Central and South America during WWII. The statue was completed here last Thursday.

A companion memorial to Columbia, designed by New York sculptor Jean De Marco and San Francisco architects, Clark and Beutler, will be placed in Battery Park, New York City, for the 4,596 Americans who lost their lives in Atlantic waters off the shores of North and South America.

Duck Band Reporter

President Eisenhower has joined the ranks of sportsmen who report "duck bands." He was informed by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service that the mallard he killed in November at Little Cedar Point near Toledo, Ohio, had been banded 41 days earlier at the Willow Slough State Game Preserve in Indiana.

New Safety Record

Washington (ANS)—Army civilian personnel set a new safety record last year: one injury per 345,000 hours worked.

The Presidio of San Francisco was the third of four such Spanish posts established in California in the 18th century. They were the presidios of San Diego, founded 1769; Monterey, 1770; San Francisco, 1776; and Santa Barbara, 1782.

The bronze cannons at the entrance of the Officers' Club, Presidio of San Francisco, are more than 250 years old.

tainer, one of 17 used by the unit. Lower left, Sfc. Fred Stamey and Sp5 Roland Moore weigh and list gear to be shipped. Bottom left, Sp4 Bob White tags a generator motor for shipment.

Best WAC Is Sports Enthusiast, Avid Reader.

"Good things come in small packages" is a saying which might well be applied to March's WAC Of The Month, selected in D Co. last Friday.

Although only 4' 11" tall, Pfc. Mary Murphy has proven, by her outstanding service record, that height does not necessarily make might.

A native of Belington, W. Va., Mary, or "Dumplin'," as she is often called by her many friends, moved to Los Angeles in 1952 and joined the service there on 10 Dec., 1958. "Because I have always wanted to."

"Very surprised" when her name was announced as this month's winner, Mary wouldn't believe it until she saw it printed on the daily bulletin.

With the approval of her section "Dumplin'" will use her three-day pass to visit with her mother, Mrs. Edna Murphy, in Santa Monica.

A Communications Specialist, now working at Ft. Baker, Pfc. Murphy came to the Presidio last June, following graduation from Signal School at Ft. Gordon, Ga.

An avid reader, Mary also is a sports enthusiast and loves to play basketball, hockey and softball, and has competed on several of the D Co. teams.

Future plans for the Redondo Beach High School graduate will include a college education and a possible career in the Women's Army Corps.

NATO Nations Mark 10th Year Of Alliance

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), an alliance of 15 free nations to protect themselves against Communist aggression, marks its 10th year on April 4.

In 1949, against a background of increasing world-wide Communist political hunching, the U. S. and 11 other nations formed NATO.

The other charter members are Canada, Belgium, Denmark, France, Ireland, Italy, Luxembourg, the Netherlands Norway, Portugal and the United Kingdom.

Greece and Turkey joined the alliance in February 1952 and West Germany brought NATO membership to 15 in May 1955.

The creation of NATO did not violate any of the principles of the United Nations nor did it require that a member sacrifice any of its national sovereignty.

Though primarily a military alliance, its great purpose is peace, not war. The members have pledged that they will regard an armed attack upon any one of them as an armed attack upon all.

The military task of NATO is to defend a line which runs half-way across the world, from the Aleutians to the Middle East. In Europe, the line stretches for 4,000 miles from the northern tip of Norway to the eastern edge of Turkey.

To date all commanders-in-chief of NATO have been U. S. generals. The first was Gen. Eisenhower and he was followed by Gens. Matthew Ridgway, Alfred Gruenther and Lauris Norstad, its present commander. (AFPS)

No Biz Like Show Biz; USO Shows Hoof Along

New York (AFPS)—Not only is there no business like show business, but there's no show business quite like the kind staged around the world by USO Shows, celebrating their 18th anniversary this month.

The entertainment record established by these troupes since their inception in 1941 is staggering. In 18 years they have given 450,460 performances for an aggregate worldwide service audience of 237,082,941.

Last year they entertained another 750,000 men and women stationed at remote overseas bases, giving 1,842 performances on the so-called "hardship circuits" which have the toughest playing conditions known to show business. They include hundreds of off-the-beaten-track Nike and radar sites in Alaska, Europe, and mid-Pacific, the Far East, Iceland, Greenland and Labrador.

Audiences for USO troupes in 1958 ranged from 15 to 15,000 and to reach them the performers traveled by bus, plane, train, truck and helicopter. But few minded the discomforts, for they found their most appreciative audiences in the most inaccessible spots where the sight of a pretty American girl is a rarity to talk about for weeks.

Annual cost of the USO talent servicing the armed forces is about $11,500,000, according to "Variety," the show business weekly. All of this money comes from civilian contributions to fund-raising drives.

USO show schedules this year call for a show departing each month for the Pacific and Far East, a show each month for Europe, one each six weeks for an Alaskan tour, and one every 12 weeks for the Northeast Air Command. Each show will tour for 4-12 weeks, depending on the area.

New Adoption Rules

Washington (ANS)—Army couples seeking to adopt a foreign child have been urged to obtain and study a recently issued DOD Pam 6-11 (DA Pam 355-119) which is now being distributed throughout the Army.

This manual has been prepared with the aim of providing information to such families and includes a complete discussion of some of the problems which may be encountered.

Conservation Week

The 25th annual California Conservation Week is set for March 7-14. Learn what you or your organization can do to promote the cause of good conservation. Write: California Conservation Council, 912 Santa Barbara Street, Santa Barbara, for a list of suggested activities.

Minute Editorial: "If we are to defend our freedom successfully, we must continue to pay whatever price in sacrifice and service is necessary to maintain military forces which compel the respect of any would-be aggressor. It has been well said that if a nation values anything more than freedom, it will lose its freedom; and if it is comfort or money which it values more, it will lose that, too."—Secretary of the Army Brucker.

Memo from the Chief of Staff: "The Army's goal is to provide quick reaction so that we can deter limited war or win limited war before it becomes a big unlimited war. We need power proportionate to the task, and mobility—the ability to get sufficient force to trouble spots quickly."

"Goodbye for real!"

537th Engineer Company Ordered East To Belvoir

One of the more widely traveled units ever assigned to the Presidio of San Francisco, the 537th Engineer Company, is moving en masse to its new duty station, Ft. Belvoir, Virginia, this week.

A surveying unit, the company was organized only thirteen years ago, but since then has traveled from one area to another as nomadic Arabs who simply fold their tent and move on.

In their wanderings they have lived in three different as possible climatic conditions. Assigned from 1946 to 1948 to survey tropical Mid-Pacific Islands such as Los Negros, Palau, Guadalcanal, Bougainville, they found themselves two years later in the semi-arctic climate of Alaska.

Fortunately, they spent the summers in Alaska and then returned to the Presidio, their duty station from December 1950 until now. After a short respite in San Francisco they spent their winters in the desert country of Southern California.

Just to illustrate their nomad type of existence they have 40 men in Iran helping that country's government survey, and map their land for construction purposes.

Among their many projects they surveyed the San Francisco area for Nike sites; Yakima, Washington; and are presently engaged in work at White Sulphur Springs and Butte Mountains in Montana.

The group started moving February 26 by sending a small advance party to their new duty station. Remainder of the company is scheduled to leave on Monday.

Eighteen railroad flat cars will be used to transport their material, stored in 17 Connex containers as well as 19 vehicles.

Railroaded; Not Bitter

After more than 30 years of service Lt. Col. Jean M. Gray was recently railroaded out of the Army, and isn't even bitter about it.

The occasion was a unique retirement ceremony for the Lt. Col. at Ft. Eustis, Va., home of the Transportation Corps, as No. 614 chugged its course through Eustis and out the main gate to Route 60 and civilian for the officer.

Two Win Promotions

By Edith Miller
PIO Reporter

Once upon a time—now all things have a beginning, and for Evelyn Roberts, Post Comptroller Program Analyst, it all began one afternoon in October, 1955, in Seattle, Washington.

Miss Roberts, a 30 year career Federal employee, and now art collector, visited an exhibit of Kenneth Callahan paintings at the Seattle Art Museum. Kenneth Callahan is one of the four outstanding artists of the Pacific Northwest, and a curator of the museum.

"It was that day—that exhibit, that man's paintings that simply overwhelmed me. It's hard to explain, but a tremendous spiritual, mystic-like feeling came over me when I viewed 'THE ABODE OF VULCAN', my first painting, purchased that day . . . I had to have that painting, in fact, I bought two of Callahan's paintings, the second one was entitled 'THE WALLS OF TROY.'

"I guess I have always had a latent interest in art. As a child in Lawrence, Mass., I started collecting Metropolitan Art miniatures. I have done a great deal of reading, and have visited museums in 40 countries in Europe, the Far and Middle East, but as far as ever hoping to collect art, well that was a luxury enjoyed by the rich. But the fact is that most art is bought by people who can't afford to pay cash—if their credit, however, is good, time payments are arranged."

Miss Roberts has served in civil service positions in Europe, Guam, Japan and Alaska, and in the Women's Army Corps for 3½ years during World War II.

"What kind of art am I interested in? I would say—semi-abstract with a spiritual influence. It's really how I feel about a painting. Each one reacts differently. My reaction is often formed in an instant . . . at least it seemed this way with Kenneth Callahan's paintings . . . he's my favorite . . . I have 9 of his works, of which two were gifts to me from him. I have met and visited with the Callahans in their home and correspond with them regularly.

Miss Evelyn Roberts

. . . collection more than a hobby

"I have a Rembrandt Etching dated 1636, which I bought at an auction in San Francisco, and a signed Picasso. Other paintings in my collection include works by Mark Tobey, Guy Anderson, Arthur Okamura, Sylvia Fein, Poucette, young French painter who visited in San Francisco last year, Hamaguchi, Ruth Byers and others.

"I do not aspire to be an artist myself, but I do read extensively about all the artists and collect as much material as possible on them. I attend art lectures, visit exhibits, and the galleries."

Miss Roberts is a member of the San Francisco Museum of Art, the San Francisco Unit of the Women's Overseas Service League, Volunteer Worker for the USO and also Travelers Aid.

Miss Roberts began her Federal career in Washington, D. C. with the Department of the Interior. She later transferred with the same department to Boston, Mass., and later to New York City. From 1940-44 she worked for the Army Air Corps Recruiting Board for the New England Area. She entered the Service (WAC) in 1944.

Miss Roberts served as a court reporter at the famous Nurnberg Trials, while a member of the WAC. She was awarded the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant and Oak Leaf cluster for her military service.

Susskino's 'Pipe Man' Is Best Black & White

Winning entry in the Post Section of the All Army Photo Contest is a portrait titled, "Man With the Pipe," by Capt. Bernard Susskino in the black and white class. The color division was captured by M/Sgt. Olive Hinchcliff with "The Last Two," a scenic class entry.

Other shutterbugs in the running and money were Sp4 Donald Tarp-ley, 2d in color; Lt. Joyce Eslick, 3d in color with "Cold Dip." Honorable mention in color went to Sp4 Ted Kirby with an experimental entry; Sgt. Hinchcliff with "The Lily" and "Unafraid" took the other two spots.

The black and white division 2d place went to Capt. Richard Larson with "Lilly"; 3d to Sp4 Michael Reid and "Old Fort Point Door." Honorable mentions were received by Lt. Col. Oscar Vogl, "40 and 8"; Capt. Bernard Susskino, "Korean Gentleman"; M/Sgt. Olive Hinchcliff, "The Lookout."

Judging the contest were Ellen Gibson, Post Craft Director at Ft. Mason; Sfc. Richard Ramsey, 22d Army Band at Ft. Mason; and Benjamin Chinn, Sixth Army Central Photo Lab.

Club Level Talent Contest Deadline Not Very Far Away

Wednesday, 25 March, is the date for the Club level All-Army Entertainment contest, to be followed by the Post competition on 15 April.

Winners in any of the three categories, vocal solos and groups, instrumental solos and groups, and various specialty acts will be eligible to enter the Sixth Army contest at Ft. Ord on 6 May, and will possibly go on to the All-Army finals at Ft. Belvoir, the Army's world touring ROLLING ALONG show, and the Ed Sullivan television program.

Prior to the 25 March eliminations, "Talent Searches" will be held at 2015 on 11 and 18 March.

The prize-winning photos will be on display 6-8 March at the Presidio Service Club.

Sixth Army Photo finals will be held 23 March at the Presidio Service Club. Judging the event will be Mr. Paul Hassel from the California School of Fine Arts; Mr. Ira Latour of San Francisco State College art department; and Mr. Harold Zegart, a top advertising executive from Mill Valley.

Sixth Army has always had a photo in the select group at the top and last year M/Sgt. Olive Hinchcliff won first in the intraservice color division. Four years ago the winner in Sixth Army competition also won the world-wide black and white division.

Fort Lewis Wins First Two Places In Annual Service Club Contest

Top two honors in the Sixth U.S. Army preliminary contest of the All-Army "Operation Service Club" contest were taken by Ft. Lewis, Washington, with third place going to the Presidio Mobile Service Club, and Honorable Mention given to Presidio Service Clubs Nos. 1 and 2.

The third place for the Mobile Club and honorable mention for Club No. 1 were won in the first category, a program suggested and developed by a service club Enlisted Men's Advisory Council, while the other honorable mention was gained in category two, Community Relations Projects.

Prizes for the event were: first, $150.00; second, $100.00, and third, $75.00.

6th Region Wins Commander's Sports Trophy

Toreros Volleyball Team To Ft. Lewis For Title Play

Presidio Toreros highnetters, composed mainly of 6th Region personnel, head for the Sixth Army Volleyball Championships at Ft. Lewis, Wash., this weekend. Other entries in the tournament are Dugway Proving Ground, Camp Irwin and Ft. Lewis.

Little is known of Dugway and Camp Irwin as both play a limited schedule of local competition but Ft. Lewis has gone undefeated for the year and has won by a wide margin over all opponents. Coached by "Red" Mitchell, the Ft. Lewis squad could very well prove to be the team to beat.

Mitchell played on the All-Army team in 1955 and coached his own team to the runner-up position in 1955. He and M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio, Torero coach, played on the All-Army Champs (Presidio of San Francisco) in 1957. Entered in the U.S. Nationals in May of 1957, the team finished third in the Armed Forces category, representing Department of the Army. The same team represented Presidio in the Open part of the tourney.

In charge of the team is Lt. Col. William Burmister and other members making the trip are: M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio, Sfc. Carlos Ramirez, Sp4 Dave Rhem, Sp4 Dick Chute, Pfc. John Sadler, Pfc. Al Kincaid, Pfc. George Blair, and Pvt. Len Kaczmarek.

Sixth Army Champ Will Vie In Local Golden Gloves Tilt

Private Tom Powell, Presidio's lonesome boxer, will climb through the ropes to slug it out for honors in the local Golden Gloves Tournaments March 12 and 19.

Last year Powell won his class in the Gloves Tournament at Washington, D.C., and has lost only one bout this year by a split decision. His loss was avenged in a later meeting. He is also Sixth Army Champ in the Light Middleweight Division.

If Powell can cop the crown in the local show he will proceed to the finals to be held at Des Moines, Iowa, later this month.

SACOM Private Wins Inferno Ski Contest

Private First Class Ronald Funk of SACOM, one of a handful of Army skiers selected to take part in the Olympic ski trials, won the annual gruelling downhill Inferno Ski Race at Murren, Switzerland.

Funk, 24, who was an alternate on the '56 Olympic squad and a member of the Sun Valley racing team for three, was timed in 16:10 over the 9,500 meter course to easily whip a field including British military and Swiss civilian competitors.

Three other Army skiers—Seventh Army's Fred Allen, SACOM's Carl Parker, and 4th Armored Division's Charles Graziano finished third, fourth and fifth behind Geerhard Feuz, a Swiss civilian.

The "called" strike rule was written into baseball records in 1858.

It was the sea otter, and not gold, that first awakened world wide interest in California.

Army Private Takes First In Biathlon At Squaw Valley

The "Little Winter Olympics" closed this week at Squaw Valley as Pfc. Lawrence Damon of Burlington, Vt., who learned to ski at home and shoot in the Army, captured the North American biathlon championship on the McKinney Creek course. Second in the event went to Dick Mize of Gilman, Colo., another Army entrant. Damon, Mize and seven others in the field of 19 are stationed with the Army at Ft. Richardson, Alaska, Cold Weather Training Station.

It was a case of good skiing and fair shooting that even though Damon missed seven targets to Mize's four he still won by a comfortable margin. Although he started next to last in the field of 19, shoved off at one minute intervals, he had passed 16 of the 17 competitors by the time he cleared the rise in front of range target No. 3, 12½ kilometers out on the 20 kilometer course.

Third place finisher was Klas Lestander of Sweden, one of two foreign entrants in the event, despite breaking a ski pole and one ski during the race. Although he got equipment replacements, the time lost in making the changes was costly; furthermore, the replacement ski was "clumsy, just like a 2 x 4," he stated.

The event qualified the top ten American finishers for the U.S. squad that will conduct tryouts to determine this country's five-man team in next winter's Olympics.

Name Softball Coach

Presidio Sports Director Hal Fischer announced today that M/Sgt. George VanKirk has accepted the position of coach for the Presidio Torero softball team.

Sgt. VanKirk coached the Sixth Army Softball Champs in 1955 and in his playing days held the position of first sacker. His batting average was "between .315 and .320" when he was playing steadily.

Travis, Presidio Lead NorCal Keg League

Standings in the NorCal Armed Forces Bowling League are Travis Air Force Base 12-6, Presidio 11-7, Castle Air Force Base 10-8, and Beale Air Force Base 3-15.

High team series belongs to Presidio with 2,735 pins; high team single game to Presidio with 980; individual high series, Rusek of the Presidio Toreros with 617; individual high game, Andresen of Presidio with 266; high average for 18 games, Quisenberry of Travis, 185 followed closely by Fuller of Presidio with 183.

This weekend the Toreros journey to Beale for another league match.

Sawyer, Maddox Will Lead Presidio Baseball Squad

"Yer out," "Moider da bum," and like expressions will soon be echoing across the baseball diamond when the Presidio Toreros start play in the Northern California Armed Forces Sports Council.

That's all to come yet and what really is the point of this article is that there is a call out for baseball players to sign up for the new season. Applicants are urged to contact Sfc. Mary Phillips at the Sports Office, Bldg. 122, and pick up registration blanks.

Coach of this year's team is Pfc. Roger Sawyer, currently the property of the Pittsburgh Pirates. Roger has pitched for Columbus, Ohio, and the Hollywood Stars, a AAA ball club. Pfc. Terry Maddox is assistant coach along with holding down the center field position.

Returning veterans are Pfc. Gene Lippold, pitcher who played for the Dallas Rangers in AAA baseball; Pfc. John Perry at first base; Pfc. Jake DeSousa, third base and pitcher.

All positions are wide open and a scramble for starting positions will begin in March. The Toreros play a tough league schedule plus competing against all the top colleges in the Bay Area.

Participation, Quality Take Award Second Time

Organized athletic programs and championship results have won 6th Region, United States Army Air Defense Command, headquarters at Fort Baker, Calif., the USARADCOM Commander's Sports Participation and Achievement Trophy.

The trophy, mounted with a statuette of Nike, Goddess of Victory, will be acknowledged to the 6th Region during the awards banquet scheduled as part of the USARADCOM Basketball Tournament Activities, 19-26 March, at Fort Wadsworth, N. Y. Meanwhile, the trophy is being forwarded directly to 6th Region from its former winner and runner up in the latest competition, 5th Region, with headquarters at Fort Sheridan, Ill.

Awarded semiannually, the trophy's winner is determined by Lt. Gen. Charles E. Hart, Commanding General, USARADCOM, on the basis of both participation and performance in sports. Championships or places won in USARADCOM-sponsored "command tournaments" involving all regional teams figure high in the ratings given the regions. However, the percentage of personnel who take part in organized sports and the number of athletic competitions organized by each region also rate high in the scoring.

Sixth Region, which won the trophy for July-December, 1958, competition, put itself out in front by winning first-place in the command Volley Ball Tournament and second-place in the Softball Tournament, plus having an outstanding record of participation in eight other sports organized within the region. These team and individual sports included golf, bowling, badminton, table tennis, swimming, shuffleboard, touch football, and basketball.

Commandwide interest in athletics is part of an overall physical fitness program designed to promote the physical and mental well-being of personnel throughout the command and to stimulate the high esprit de corps essential to a command whose personnel must maintain a constant state of combat readiness.

Four sports are designated each year by USARADCOM headquarters in Colorado Springs as command "sponsored" competitions leading to command-wide tournaments. Regions take turns hosting these tourneys.

Host command for the basketball tourney scheduled in March at Fort Wadsworth will be 1st Region, with headquarters at Fort Totten, N.Y. The Commander's Trophy will be presented during the awards banquet on the last day of the tournament, during presentations of team and individual awards won during the basketball competition.

This will be the second time the Commander's Trophy has gone to the 6th Region, which placed first in the competition for the same period in 1957. The runnerup, 5th Region, prevented 6th Region from winning permanent possession on three consecutive wins by earning the award for the first six months of 1958.

Third, fourth, and fifth places in the competition just decided were taken respectively by 1st Region; 2nd Region, headquartered at Fort George G. Meade, Md.; and 4th Region, with headquarters at Richards-Gebaur Air Force Base, Mo.

In the five half-year periods of competition, 6th and 2nd Regions have won the trophy two times and 5th Region once.

Although the gulls are almost always associated with the open ocean or coastal waters, the Franklin gull is so typical of our prairie states that it is frequently called "the prairie pigeon." It is this species that saved the Mormons' crops from hordes of black crickets in 1845-50.

LAH-PSF Fencers Point For Upcoming Nationals Contests

The LAH-PSF fencers have been keeping busy lately as they put on an exhibition for the Nikemen in Sharps Park with M/Sgt. Bert Scheck, M/Sgt. Severo Pasol and Coach Bill O'Brien participating.

Their next sortie into the fencing field was a match with the Balboa Fencing Club at the LAH Gym which they won quite handily 20-5.

Tomorrow night the LAH-PSF team will enter the Northern California Open Foil events to qualify for the U.S. Nationals and the Pacific Coast Championship.

Representing LAH will be M/Sgt. Bert Scheck, M/Sgt. Severo Pasol, Lt. Ben Firth, Lt. George Bletschmidt and Pfc. Ken Hoitsman. Hoitsman is currently ranked fourth in the world in the epee. Carl Dorman, Lt. Don Bingman and Coach Bill O'Brien will also be in competition. Time and place for the match will be 2000 at the San Francisco Fencers Club, 3015 Clement St.

The Helene Mayer Memorial Competition will be held Sunday afternoon at the San Francisco Fencers Club in which the U.S. National Woman's Champion, Mrs. Maxine Mitchell, and other nationally ranked fencers will take part.

Army All-Star Squad Due Cut Today

Beat Winged O 85-78 Head East This Sunday

Coach Hal Fischer's Army All-Stars continue to hold a voodoo hex over the San Francisco Olympic Club as they thumped the Olympians 85-78. Paced by Jack Adams, former Western Kentucky ace with 33 points, mostly on outside shots, the All-Stars had command of the game. Down 37-29 at intermission the Olympians couldn't put together a winning combination.

Other top scorers for the All-Stars were Adrian Smith with 12, Joe Leone and Fred Diehl with 8. For the Olympic Club it was Tom-sic 25, Blake 16 and Plunkett 11.

The overstrength squad is due to be cut to 12 men today as the All-Stars prepare for a hectic schedule in the weeks to come.

They leave Sunday for Denver and will be billeted at Fitzsimmons Army Hospital. From 8-14 March they will practice and possibly scrimmage some of the top college teams in the area. On 15 March they will move to a hotel in Denver proper and compete in the National AAU Basketball Tournament 15-21 March.

After the AAU tourney they move east to New York and Mitchell Air Force Base, to participate in the Interservice Trials 22-30 March. Winner of the Intra-service Championship will go to Louisville, Kentucky, to play the NCAA winner and runner-up, and the AAU winner in a four team round robin. Winner of this tourney will represent the U.S. in the Pan American Games held in Chicago sometime in August.

LAH Cagers Drop Pair But Still Win MSA Championship

Letterman Army Hospital's cagers emerged as the league champions in the Military Sports Association with a 7-2 record. Sacramento Signal Depot, Two Rock Ranch and Fairfield Air Station are in a three-way tie for second with 6-2 records.

Letterman lost its last two games in league play but still emerged with the crown. Their last game of the season was played against the quintet from Two Rock Ranch at the LAH Gym, and Letterman finished on the short end of a 66-55 score.

The LAH cagers couldn't find the range and were down 27-18 at half-time, a margin they couldn't close.

Scoring for the game was led by Meurs of Two Rock with 20, followed by his teammate Schaeffer who dunked 19. Honors for the locals were divided between Barnes and Meyers with 14 apiece.

Ord Private Surprises In Quest For S. F. City Golf Crown

Private Joe Gallardo, a Ft. Ord duffer, almost upset the applegart for everyone before he lost out to Harvie Ward, Jr., 2 and 1 in the semifinal rounds of the City Golf Championship.

Gallardo's morning round was 35-41—76 to Ward's 37-38—75.

Gallardo was two down but forged back to make it a real match in the afternoon play as Ward fought a stubborn putter.

The match was wrapped up on the 33rd hole when Ward took it with a par and Joe failed to rally on the next holes, both taking pars.

Got A Team?

The Sports Section, Post Special Services anticipates holding a volleyball intramural program and would like to find out how many units would enter a team in the league. Provided a sufficient number of teams are interested, a meeting will be held at 1000 hours, 10 March in the Sports Office, Bldg., 122 at the Presidio. Units wishing to enter a team should contact Hal Fischer at 3968/2282.

No "Grunt an' Groan" Specialists

Far from the thronging crowds that are a part of the professional and TV wrestler's life are the real advocates of the sport—the amateur. Such is Pfc. Myron Bromberg of Headquarters Company US Army Special Troops.

Seeks wrestling laurels

Myron started on his career in Whittier High School, Whittier, California. His first appearance in the finals of the California Interscholastic Federation in 1954 netted a fifth place, due in part to lack of experience. The next year he went on to sweep the title in the 177-pound class.

In 1956 he entered Mt. San Antonio Junior College at Pomona, California, and again placed first in the 177-pound class but it was a draw and he was awarded second place. While in college he competed in two AAU Tournaments. The first was an AAU Novice Tournament in which he placed second. Later in the year he wrestled in the Senior AAU Tournament and placed fifth.

In 1957 before coming into the service, he won the Southern California Junior College Championship in the 177-pound class. Myron credits a great deal of his ability to his former coach, Joseph Incorvia, former NCAA Champion for two years at Kansas State.

Nikes Lead Mixed League; Cutups Beat Guys & Dolls

In Pacific League Bowling the first place Hq. Co. No. 3 retained their position by splitting with the Hilltoppers 2-2. Browning led Hq. No. 3 with a 532-187 while Johnson was high for the Hilltoppers, 581-235.

Retorts took over second by blasting Regioners 4-0. Milburn hit 485-169 for Retorts and Schenk led the losers 493-194.

30th Group in sixth place tripped the Warrants 3-1 as Gardner rolled 489-193 for the 30th. Tops for the losers was Quintinskie with 448-178.

Hq. Co. No. 2 dumped AAA Sparks 3-1 on the strength of a 538-204 carded by Zelanis. Schmidt had a 470-194 for the Sparks.

A look at the Bay Bowling League still finds the G1 quintet far out in front even though they split 2-2 with second place JAGS. For G1 it was Ross hitting 509-211 as Cucurull put on the show for JAGS with 508-222.

The game between Garrison and MRU did neither team any harm as they halved it 2-2. For Garrison it was Wood with 552-208 as Gnat hit 543-195 for MRU.

Compt-Rollers and Hq. Co. 6A divided 2-2 with Wilson of Compt-Rollers rolling a 514-205. This was bettered by Lux of Hq. with 541-193.

The game between 6A Signal and Triple Aces was postponed to a later date.

WAC Bowling returns after a shutdown for the holiday and the Alley Kats lead the league by four games. In their latest outing the Alley Kats shared the series with the Powder Puffs 2-2. High for the Kats was Hefner with 454-162. Tops for the Puffs was Morehouse with 424-176.

Orbits squashed the Brewmasters 4-0 as Dolan totaled 393-146 for the winners. Leading the Brewmasters was Spillane with 381-137.

The Keystone Kops continue to open their lead in the Presidio League as they shut out the crew from SFAADS 4-0. Rusek led the winners with 557-206. SFAADS top man was Swingle with 479-228.

Shafters trying to gain their lost lead blanked the Alley Rats 4-0 behind Opozda's hot 543-225. Tops for the losers was Worsfold hitting 497-180.

King Pins rolled over 60th CI 4-0 as Tracy bowled 511-189. Best for the 60th was Smith with 452-173.

Recruiters dropped the Islanders 3-1. Eggleston hit a strong 532-198 for the winners as Lundahl kegged a 504-184 for the Islanders.

The Wednesday Night Mixed League is turning into a runaway for the Nikes with a pitched battle for second looming in the near future. Nikes split 2-2 with the Pick Ups but still lead by 18 games in the league. For Nikes it was Eggleston 488-175 as Johnson rolled 562-202 for the Pick Ups.

Tyros thrashed second place Spoilers 4-0 behind O'Donnell's 541-188. Best for the losers was Browning with 579-195.

Alley Bys vented their fury on the Retorts 4-0 as the winners had a tie for top scorer. Opozda had 512-193 and Shoudel hit 512-174. Bright point for the losers was Milburn with 462-174.

Cutups upended the Guys & Dolls 3-1 as a lady keg artist took the short way home for the winners. Helga Lee posted a 509-185 as the loser's Rosselet kegged a 521-188.

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

Friday 13 March, 1959

UPPER-CLASSMEN (seniors) from the United States Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., visit with Sixth U.S. Army Commander, Lt. General Charles D. Palmer and his Chief of Staff, Maj. Gen. John J. Binns. The Cadets, in Northern California for a series of debates and forums, are (l. to r.) James F. Ray, Haymon H. Boggs, David H. Rogers, General's Palmer and Binns, Geoffrey C. Davis Jr. and Robert J. Ranalli.

Equipment Preview Slated By CDEC At Ord Next Week

A demonstration of modern aerial delivery methods will take place Thursday at Ft. Ord, it was announced yesterday.

Two Army organizations, the Combat Development Experimentation Center at Fort Ord and the Quartermaster Airborne Systems Test Division, Yuma Test Station, Arizona, are jointly sponsoring this program.

The demonstration will include: Aerial delivery techniques developed last fall; parachute drops by personnel from high altitudes using a "low-opening" method; aerial drops of SEAL-BIN rolling fluid transporters, mechanical mules utilizing new expendable platforms, Explosive Foxhole Digger, and an experimental five and twenty-five gallon butal rubber circular container by a "free fall" method.

Newsmen and visitors will also get a crack at new type "dry" field ration pack during the noon meal.

New Army Strength

Washington (ANS) — Total numerical strength of the Armed Forces on January 31, 1959 (based on preliminary reports) was 2,560,483. This represents a decrease of 5,440 from the December 31, 1958 strength of 2,565,923.

Army procurement during January totaled 25,723—with 9,792 inductions through Selective Service; 9,529 new recruits; 5,931 reenlistments and 471 reservists entering upon active duty. Army strength was estimated at 889,046.

Famous Gun Collection Displayed

German, Italian and Spanish rapiers, flintlock rifles and wheellock pistols are part of the famed Randolph Hearst Collection of Early Firearms now on display in the main library of the University of California in Berkeley.

All handmade, the 16th and 17th century arms have bone, ivory or walnut stocks trimmed with gold and engraved with many intricate designs.

Open to the public seven days a week, the exhibit, made available through Regent Catherine Hearst, will be on display through 21 March.

Top Cadet Forum, Debate Teams Visit Bay Area

Seven gray-clad, ramrod-straight-backed cadets from the U.S. Military Academy at West Point displayed their oratorical forms this past week to San Franciscans.

They were part of a 13-cadet group sent to the Sixth Army area to participate in debates and forum discussions in front of college and high school audiences.

This trip centered in three areas: Seattle-Portland, Los Angeles and San Francisco. The cadets, who arrived Monday, were divided into panelists and debaters. Three teams of three panelists were sent to the respective areas. In addition, two debaters were sent to Los Angeles and San Francisco. The L. A. debaters also made an appearance in San Francisco.

Primarily here to participate in college discussions, the men appeared on television, granted interviews. Five of them will be guests at West Point Founders Day Dinner tonight at the Presidio and will answer questions about current cadet life.

The debaters discussed the National Debate Topic, resolved that "Further Development of Nuclear Weapons Should Be Prohibited by International Agreement," with the following colleges in this area:

College of the Holy Names, San Jose City College, University of California, Stanford, San Jose State, and University of San Francisco.

The members of the debating team are: Cadets James F. Ray, David H. Rogers, Stanley M. Kanarowski, and Claude L. Clark. Rogers is the son of Colonel Henry H. Rogers, Sixth Army G2. (See Kaleidoscope, page 5.) Both Ray and Kanarowski are Rhodes Scholar elects.

Forum panelists in this area were: Cadets Haymon H. Boggs, Geoffrey Davis and Robert J. Ranalli. They discussed Soviet education.

Ray and Rogers left San Francisco for Kansas City Wednesday, and the remaining five will leave tomorrow.

West Point Society Set Founders' Day Fete For Tonight

For the first time in history, women will be invited to the San Francisco Bay Area West Point Society Founders' Day dinner, 13 March, at the Presidio of San Francisco Officers Open Mess.

A social hour will precede the dinner. Dinner hour is 1945.

President of the Board of Governors, Brig. Gen. H. M. "Mac" Monroe (Ret.), Class of '18, will introduce the evening's Master of Ceremonies, Maj. Gen. H. B. "Monk" Lewis (Ret.), Class of '13. Guest speaker will be Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Commanding General, Sixth U.S. Army, Class of '24.

The oldest and youngest Academy graduate present will also extend greetings.

Colonel N. B. Wilson, Secretary, Association of Graduates from West Point, will represent Lt. Gen. Garrison H. Davidson, Academy Superintendent.

Five members of the West Point Cadet Debate Council and Forum, now debating at colleges and universities in the Bay Area, will also attend the event.

Purkhiser Dead At 46; Funeral Services Today

Colonel Herman L. Purkhiser, a much decorated combat signal officer and chief of Sixth U.S. Army Signal Section here until his recent illness, died of cancer at the Letterman Army Hospital early Tuesday morning. He had been ill for some time.

Religious and military graveside services will be held at the National Cemetery on the Presidio Friday, 13 March, at 1330.

The 46-year-old officer came to the Presidio last March from the Office of the Chief Signal Officer, DA, where he was Deputy Chief of the Combat Development and Operations Division.

Called to active duty in 1941 with the 183rd Field Artillery Regiment, Idaho National Guard, Col. Purkhiser, in 1942, changed his branch of service to the Signal Corps and took command of the 239th Signal Operations Company.

In February, 1943, he became Chief of the Wire Branch, Signal Section, Atlantic Base Section, Casablanca, French Morocco, and, following this, served as Chief of the Plant Division and Signal Officer with the Signal Section, Penbase, Italy.

Following World War II, he served in Mississippi and Louisiana with Hq. 4th US Army, attended and was an instructor at the Command and General Staff College, attended the Army War College, became Deputy Chief and later Chief, of the Signal Telecommunications Branch of SHAPE, where he served for three years.

His awards and decorations include the Bronze Star Medal, the Purple Heart, the Order of the Crown of Italy, and four battle stars and two bronze arrowheads for participation in assault landings.

Colonel Purkhiser is survived by his wife Lorraine and daughter Sandra, 16.

'Chinook,' New Army Transport 'Copter

Washington (ANS) — Development of a new Army transport helicopter to be called the YHC-1-B, "Chinook," is in the offing.

The Army said this week that it will negotiate with the Vertol Aircraft Corporation of Morton, Pa., to develop the two to three-ton capacity 'copter, which will be a tandem rotor, turbine-powered craft with a rear-loading ramp.

Expected to carry up to 40 troops, the "Chinook" will eventually replace the Army's current inventory of obsolescent piston-engine transport helicopters.

Honor Guard Surprise Citation For Courtenay

A rousing "well done" was accorded Mr. William Courtenay, OBE, MM, at Honor Guard ceremonies here yesterday.

The noted combat soldier and war correspondent has just completed a lecture tour that saw him speak to some 50,000 troops throughout the Sixth U.S. Army area. It is estimated that another 750,000 soldiers and civilians heard or read his series based on the "Primacy of the Soldier" either over radio or television or through newspaper articles (see page 2).

During the ceremonies yesterday, Col. Robert E. Cambrill, Deputy Adjutant General, Sixth Army, read a citation for Mr. Courtenay from Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer. The citation said in part:

"In recognition of his renown as a soldier, war correspondent and world traveler, of his extensive service with many American

Science Students See Army Program At Presidio Today

A flame thrower demonstration will be one of the highlights for 63 Vallejo Junior High School "accelerated science" students tomorrow as they are taken on a tour of the Presidio to learn about science in the Army.

Following an orientation by Col. M. M. Brown, Post Commander, in the morning the students will visit the Letterman Army Hospital Research and Development Laboratories, and will be shown "X Minus 80 Days," a film telling the story of America's first satellite, the Army's Explorer I.

Also on the day's agenda is a tour of a Nike site, Caulfield Btry.; lunch in C Co. mess hall, and a visit to the Post Chemical Section where not only the flame thrower, but tear gas will be demonstrated.

Conducting the pupils, taught by Mrs. Nellie Ballew, will be Capt. Edward P. Endres, SFC Charles Hawkins and Sp4 Warren Rosen-gren.

units overseas, of his service in peace and war for the Sixth U.S. Army, and of his interest in the furtherance of Anglo-American relations, I do hereby appoint Mr. William Courtenay, OBE, MM, an honorary member of the Sixth U.S. Army, and, as such, an honorary member of the staff of the Commanding General, Sixth U.S. Army. . . ."

Mr. Courtenay is expected to complete his lecture series here today and will depart for the East Coast tomorrow morning.

Berlin Before And After The Airlift

Special to the Star Presidian
By William Courtenay OBE MM

(Ed's Note: This is the fourth in a series of five articles on vital military topics by William Courtenay, noted British military correspondent, who is currently on a lecture tour of the Sixth U.S. Army area.)

On May 27th the Russians are going to hand control of Berlin over to the East German Communist government and thereby hangs a tale.

For when in 1945 at the Potsdam Conference after the war, Stalin met with Prime Minister Attlee and President Truman it was there agreed that Germany, altho to be divided into 4 zones of Occupation, should be reknit as an economic whole and nursed to health as a democratic country and brought back into the family of nations.

The 4 zones were divided between America, Britain, Russia and France. Our Zones were in north, west and south of Germany from the Baltic to the Swiss frontier. Russia's zone was in East Germany—naturally as it lay near the Polish and Russian frontiers. A glance at the map shows that Berlin is a little "island" in the center of the Russian zone. Thus if America, Britain and France wish to send supplies for 200 to 300 miles from their Zones of Germany to Berlin where each has a Sector, they have to move them through the Russian Zone.

All this would have worked quite well had Russia played the game honorably by her allies and to Germany. We divided Germany so we could disarm her and then reorganize her for peace. But Russia from the beginning began to try to squeeze us all out of Berlin; she dropped an Iron Curtain in front of East Germany and cut it off from West Germany. She plundered East Germany of all machinery and factories and imposed reparations and looted 12 billion dollars worth this way, thus leaving East Germany like a desert.

Today it is shabby and poor contrasted with prosperous West Germany under freedom and democracy. And Russia clamped Communism on the people of East Germany; denied them all freedom of opinion; of parties and of speech, etc. No wonder three million Germans fled from East to West Germany and the great exodus continues. No one ever fled the other way to live under the Russians.

Thus by June 1948 Russia had gradually stopped all trade between East and West Germany and on June 24th of that year by a flimsy excuse that bridges required repair, she stopped all traffic on the roads and rails from our zones of Germany into our sectors of Berlin.

She plotted to starve the 2,500,000 Germans in our sectors of the city into looking to Russia for their rations and into accepting Communism as the price for their bread. So the United States Air Force and Royal Air Force took up the challenge and commenced the "Berlin Airlift." Never before had an attempt been made to feed a people in a city entirely by air. The airlift lasted 327 days and nearly 400 planes took part. They carried food, coal, machinery, medical supplies, etc. from our Zones for 300 miles down the air corridors to Berlin.

There were three of these corridors, each 20 miles wide across the Russian zone of Germany, and we had the right—which Russia dare not dispute—to use them. She had no excuses for cutting this air flow unless she was willing to risk shooting the planes down.

The airlift built up to over 1,000 landings a day in Berlin with ten thousand tons of supplies daily. Over 300,000 flights were made and over 2½ million tons carried. The Russians were licked and knew it by the Spring of 1949. They came crawling to us asking us to call it off and in return they re-opened the road and rail bridges!

Today as May 27th draws near we face another crisis. The Russians are determined to make us all recognize the East German Communist Government. We are all equally determined we won't. To do so would be a great triumph for Russia and would be proclaiming to the world there are permanently two Germanies and no hope of reunification of all Germany except on Russia's terms—which means under communism, not democracy.

Army Aims To Retain More Reserve Officers

Washington (AFPS)—The Army is aiming for 35 per cent retention of non-regular officers serving obligated tours, through personalized personnel management to meet long-range needs in the commissioned structure.

With the so-called WWII hump systematically being resolved by separation of retirement-eligible reservists beyond 20 years service, the Army now has prime concern in retaining young officers to level-off a valley existing below the present overstrength field grades.

The solution to this problem—represented by a shortage of officers with three to 13 years service—is the retention of career-motivated junior officers, principally ROTC graduates, who continue on active duty for indefinite periods after fulfilling obligated tours.

Pointing to the fact that the retention rate for non-regular lieutenants was about 22 per cent, or some 1,800 officers, in 1958, personnel officials desire that the Army keep sufficient young officers to fill the future needs of the commissioned officer corps, expected to be stabilized at 89,600.

"Actually, as a goal for Reserve selection," an official said, "the Army would like to have 50 per cent of some 7,500 second lieutenants entering active duty annually apply for extensions so that we can sign up the desired 35 per cent on indefinite category commitments with a 20-year career as their goal."

The Technical Services, where retention percentages are below average and the problem is most pronounced, have been doing research to discover why lieutenants serving in these branches leave the Army after fulfilling obligated tours.

The study has reached the conclusion that the Army has "undergone fundamental changes in the intra-relation-ship of its officer structure."

This has been brought about, the study explains, by the "expansion of the officer corps, the mechanical breaking-up of Army communities and social life brought on by the growth of large headquarters and lack of adequate housing" thus leading to "practical cleavages" within the corps not only with respect to grade structure but also to type of assignment and the "ordinary amenities of life."

"As a result, many of the human values of the Army have received too little attention by commanders at all levels," the study concluded.

To alleviate the retention problem and to bring the personal interests and welfare of young officers into closer association with the Army, the Deputy Chief of Staff for Logistics has shaped a 14-point program for the Technical Services.

This program for non-regular lieutenants includes:

- Adequate information on basic branch and Army career opportunities through interviews with outstanding field grade officers.
- Improved planning for further professional education and training at military and civilian schools.
- A program of social activities and functions that will bring them and their wives into contact with the Army community.
- Formal invitations to remain on active duty not later than 16 months after entering active duty.
- Challenging duty assignments with maximum responsibility and authority.
- Equitable efficiency reporting with consideration for their relative inexperience.

The Adjutant General is conducting a similar retention study which is expected to produce recommendations for a representative program in the Combat Arms at a later date.

Two End Service Careers At XV Corps Ceremonies Here

Lieutenant Colonel Frank R. Day and Major William P. Carr were honored at a retirement ceremony in the G-3 section of Headquarters XVth Corps recently. Presiding at the ceremony was Maj. Gen. John W. Harmony, Corps Commander.

Lt. Col. Day was advisor to the 820th Hospital Center, a XVth Corps General Officer Command. He is a veteran of 32 years of service in the Army and a holder of the Bronze Star Medal. His future plans include working in San Francisco. Mrs. Day and the couple's son attended the ceremony.

Major Carr, chief of the Training Branch in the G-3 section, was retired with 20 years of active duty. He served in several overseas campaigns during World War II. Maj. Carr and his family live in San Anselmo. Mrs. Carr was in attendance at the retirement ceremony.

Sp4 Wins Promotion To Warrant Officer

Warrant Officer Richard J. Beltz, 22, recently received his bars from Mrs. Beltz and Lt. Col. Thomas F. Bristol, Commanding Officer, 2d Missile Battalion (NIKE-HERCULES), 51st Artillery at Fort Baker, Calif.

Warrant Officer Beltz was formerly a Sp4 at Battery A, 2d Missile Battalion (NIKE-HERCULES), 51st Artillery.

Before entering the service he attended Mankato State Teachers College at Mankato, Minnesota, and the Central Technical Institute at Kansas City, Kansas.

He and his wife, Pat, live at 133 Richardson Dr., Mill Valley, Calif.

what they said

Is the spirit of adventure still strong in the American mind? Or, are most of us practical and more inclined towards the puddin' that has been proven? You'll find some answers in the replies we got to the following:

THE QUESTION: According to newspaper reports there are possibilities of an electric powered auto being produced within a year or two. If the price is reasonable, would you buy it in preference to a gas powered car.

ANSWERS

Pfc. Mike Silvestri, company clerk, Sixth U.S. Army Honor Guard: No, I don't think so. Over a given period of time when this electrically driven engine is proved I might buy it. In my mind a gas engine has proven itself and will last. They have to be maintained, and given the proper attention they will continue to perform satisfactorily.

Why I'm so partial to them is because before I was drafted I was patrolling for the city of Davis and have driven many thousands of miles and these patrol cars served well. After being out on the market for five to eight years I might buy an electric powered car.

Sp4 Ralph Reeves, aid man, Sub Dispensary, Ft. Baker: When I was overseas a couple of years ago in France they were going to produce an electrically driven automobile with each wheel having its own motor. I saw a demonstration model at an exposition and I believe that car wouldn't be good for California hills. I'd prefer a gasoline motor to an electrical because it seems to me you'd have to be an electrician to repair it. It would depend on the type of drive used in the electrical car to see if I would use it.

Sue Nieder, receptionist, Civilian Personnel: No, since I like to drive a car although it would probably be safer for the world if I didn't. It would not seem like driving a car if it was electrically driven. I don't have the faintest idea of how this type of car would operate. If they manufacture, however, an electrically driven T Bird I would buy it. Actually I would have to have further information on this car before I would buy it.

Sp4 Benford D. Stuart, Security Section, Btry. A, 2nd Missile Bn., Ft. Barry (Mendell): If this car proved to be more economical over a period of years, I would say yes. Actually you wouldn't have to pull much maintenance. If it was completely electrical it would have smoother acceleration. Also you wouldn't have any carburetor to get out of adjustment. In other words you wouldn't have any spit and pop when accelerating. I would have to know more about it before buying the car and then wait a few years to do so.

Pvt. Clarence McDowell, mail clerk, Special Troops: I would get the one I know about—gas. I have worked on cars and could repair a gas driven car, but the electrical powered car will probably have a whole new engine set-up that would take an expert to fix. I'd wait about two years after they are mass produced to buy one. By that time I'd find out about the car and get used to the idea of having one. I think it would take a new way of driving.

Army Hourglass: Reup benefits were first initiated in December of 1776 when General George Washington initiated reenlistment furloughs in an effort to help reenlistment and recruiting.

Courtenay Series Continued

This is the new challenge which can only be successfully met if we all stand solidly with the West German Government and resist all pressures and refuse to be kicked around. Even if this meant war we must face it and not flinch or fail before this challenge.

In this issue we shall find the Russians will again crawl to us to find a face saving formula.

Members of the Women's Overseas Service League will hold a tea on 14 March at the home of Miss Evelyn Roberts, 2163 12th Ave., and all WACS, WAC Veterans, civilian employees and dependents who have served or worked with the Armed Forces overseas are welcomed to attend.

Former Info Chief, Army Commander, Cancer Victim

Lieutenant General Floyd L. Parks, 63, who led the first American troops into Berlin following World War II died of cancer this week in Washington, D. C.

He was buried yesterday at Arlington National Cemetery with full military honors.

Executive Director of the National Rifle Association since his retirement in 1956, General Parks rose through the ranks, entering the Army as a private in World War I.

Following a number of key troop and administrative assignments, he was named Chief of Staff, Hq. First Allied Airborne Army in 1944, serving in that capacity throughout the European Campaign. Among the First Airborne's top accomplishments was the three division aerial assault in Holland and the crossing of the Rhine River at Wessel in 1945 by the largest airborne force lifted on a single day during the war.

At the end of the war, General Parks was named commander of the First Airborne Army, successor to the First Allied Airborne Army, and designated Commanding General of the United States Sec-

Father, Son Team Sign For Army Tours In XV Corps Ceremonies

The office of the Northern California Sector commander, XVth U.S. Army Corps (Reserve) was the scene of a double enlistment ceremony as father and son signed up together. It was a reenlistment for M/Sgt. William O. Adams, who is serving his 24th year in the U.S. Army. For son William Ernest, it means a six month tour of active duty under the Reserve Forces Act. He will take his basic training at Fort Ord.

The oath of enlistment was administered by sector commander Col. James B. Evans.

M/Sgt. Adams is a USAR advisor in the Ukiah Reserve Center. During World War II he served in the Pacific and in the Far East Command. He served again in the Far East during the Korean conflict. He is a graduate of the University of California at Davis.

CSC Boss Cautions; Says Pers 'Jargon' Very Dangerous

Don't let the accent on highly developed techniques and procedures push the "person" out of the foreground of personnel administration, U.S. Civil Service Commissioner Barbara Bates Gunderson cautioned members of the Public Personnel Association at New York University recently.

While granting the necessity for tools and techniques in personnel management, Commissioner Gunderson emphasized that "the essence of personnel is in its first six letters."

Speaking as "an insider with an outsider's point of view," Mrs. Gunderson, who became Commissioner in September 1958, warned "it is perfectly possible, and a little too easy, to talk about 'human resources' and 'human relations' in an abstract and general way without ever pinning them down to actual situations." The use of "jargon" in personnel work is dangerous, the Commissioner said, because one of the great needs in good management is clear communications with employees.

Expressing her own conviction that Government service affords a unique example of work where the aspirations of management and the aspirations of employees can be the same, because of the fact that all Government work is in one way or another a service to the people, Mrs. Gunderson underscored management's responsibility to make sure that all employees are able to identify themselves with the agency's true goals. She stated that the climate of personnel management which makes an employee grow and helps him to realize himself is the same climate in which the objectives of an agency are best accomplished.

Interested personnel should contact the commanding officers of these installations: Anniston Ordnance Depot, Anniston, Ala.; Atlanta General Depot, Atlanta, Ga.; Blue Grass Ordnance Depot, Richmond, Ky.; Letterkenny Ordnance Depot, Chambersburg, Pa.; Milan Arsenal, Milan, Tenn.

Other units may be obtained at: Red River Arsenal, Hooks, Tex.; Tobyhanna Signal Depot, Tobyhanna, Pa.; Sierra Ordnance Depot, Herlong, Calif.; Tooele Ordnance Depot, Tooele, Ind.; Naval Training Center, Bainbridge, Md.; Naval Ammunition Depot, Crane, Ind.; Naval Station, Patuxent River, Md., and the Naval Air Station, Olathe, Kan.

This Modern Army

Fort Slocum, N.Y. (ANS) — A tray-warmer, designed to keep compartmented metal mess trays warm and prevent rapid cooling of food served on them, has been devised for use in the consolidated mess here. This latest in gourmet gadgets uses a bank of 150-watt projector lamps as its heating element.

Base pay of a soldier at the Presidio in 1858, was as follows: $11 a month for Privates; $13 a month for Corporals; Sergeants received $17 a month; Orderly Sergeants (equivalent to a First Sergeant) were tops with $20 a month.

NEW TROOP INFORMATION Division Chief of the Sixth U.S. Army is Major Jerry L. Peavy. He succeeds Major Glen T. Sliger Jr., who has been reassigned to the G3 Section, Sixth Army. Major Peavy comes to his new assignment from Heidelberg, Germany, where he served as assistant troop information officer with Hq. U.S. Army Europe.

New Troop Information Officer At Sixth Army

Colonel Harold C. Lyon, Information Officer, Sixth U.S. Army, this week named Major Jerry L. Peavy as chief of the Troop Information Division. Major Peavy comes to his new assignment from Heidelberg, Germany, where he served as assistant troop information officer, Hq. U.S. Army, Europe.

A native of Stockton, he attended San Jose State College and the University of California, earning a degree in Business Administration.

Entering the Army in '41, Major Peavy took basic training at Camp Roberts, Calif., and then attended Infantry Officers Candidate School at Ft. Benning, Georgia. During World War II he served in the Asiatic-Pacific Theater as a unit commander with the 185th Infantry Regiment, 40th Infantry Division, in campaigns in Bismark Arch, Luzon and the Central Philippines.

He later served in Korea as TI&E Officer with the 2nd Infantry Division.

Major Peavy has completed the Armed Forces Information School and the Associate Advanced Infantry Officers Course at Ft. Benning, Georgia. His decorations include the Arrowhead and three battle stars for World War II and six battle stars for Korea 1950-51.

His wife, Aileen, and children, Steven H., 6, and Susan L., 3½, have joined him and the family will reside in San Rafael, California.

54 Complete AAD School; Kays Is Honor Graduate

The San Francisco Army Air Defense School at Fort Winfield Scott, Calif., Saturday graduated 54 students from its tenth class in Advanced Individual Training.

The 8-week course is the next step after basic training in preparing artillerymen for the NIKE guided missile units throughout the San Francisco-Travis AFB Army Air Defense.

Col. Andrew R. Lolli, commanding officer of the Defense and the 40th Artillery Brigade at Fort Barry, Calif., congratulated the students and emphasized the need for the Air Defense School and its graduates.

The main speaker, Col. Royal L. Leidy, assistant Chief of Staff of the 6th Region Army Air Defense Command, told the students, "This is a beginning rather than an end to your futures as missilemen."

Col. Leidy and Capt. Robert W. Monroe, commandant of the School, then presented diplomas. The invocation and benediction were by Chaplain (Capt.) E. G. Carson.

Civil Service History From 1787 To 1958 Is Now Available

Civil Service Commission has published an up-to-date history of the Federal civil service, titled "Biography of an Ideal—the Diamond Anniversary History of the Federal Civil Service." It covers the period from 1787 to January 1958, and shows how the story of civil service in America is intertwined with the history of the Nation. Illustrations include a complete series of engravings of U. S. Presidents obtained from the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. The 170-page publication is on sale by the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C., for 55 cents a copy.

CSC Seeks Revision Of 1954 'Hiss Act' During This Session

The Civil Service Commission has asked Congress to modify Public Law 769, 83d Congress (the so-called Hiss Act), which has been in effect since 1954. Under the present law, Federal employees convicted of offenses for which the sentence was suspended or was otherwise relatively minor have lost annuities worth many thousands of dollars.

The Administration-sponsored proposal, if adopted, would allow payment of annuities in cases not involving national security, while continuing to bar annuities to persons convicted of offenses against the national security. Benefits would also continue to be denied to persons who fail or refuse to testify or produce records, or make false statements regarding matters of national security or loyalty.

In addition to Federal employees, the law covers military personnel and District of Columbia Government employees.

Present penalties under criminal statutes are felt to be adequate in those cases where national security or loyalty is not involved, CSC explained, and to continue to deny annuities in such cases would be unjust discrimination, imposing on former Federal employees an additional penalty not placed on private employees.

... on a point of faith,

(By Armed Forces Press Service)

Men stationed on the polar plateau at the bottom of the world have dedicated a new church, complete with altar, steeple and even a lighted religious painting.

But there are two things the new church doesn't have—a regularly assigned chaplain or a bronze bell to adorn the steeple.

This deficiency, however, doesn't bother churchgoers of the Deep Freeze IV contingent at Scott-Amundsen station situated at the geographic South Pole.

In the absence of a chaplain, the 17 men stationed there take turns each Sunday giving a sermon of their own faith.

This arrangement proves satisfactory because each of the major religions—Protestantism, Catholicism, Judaism and Buddhism—is represented by at least one member of the group.

An indication of the all-encompassing faiths worshipped within the small, 16 x 16-foot gabled chapel can be found in its name.

A sign at the entrance reads: "The Chapel of Our Faith, South Pole." Lt. Sidney Tolchin, MC, USN, officer-in-charge of the wintering-over group, proudly reports: "Now, it can truly be said the earth turns on a point of faith."

Minnesota Private Wins Selection To Fort Sill OCS

Lieutenant Colonel Thomas F. Bristol, Commanding Officer, 2d Missile Battalion (NIKE-HERCULES), 51st Artillery, announced today that Private First Class John M. Winslow, a radar operator at Battery B, has been selected for Officer Candidate School, Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

Since coming to the San Francisco-Travis defense area, Pfc. Winslow has completed the Advanced Individual Training Course and the Non-Commissioned Officer's Command Course at the San Francisco Army Air Defense School, Fort Winfield Scott. He was among the first five in the first of these courses and Honor graduate in the NCO Command Course.

He attended the Sixth U.S. Army NCO School at Fort Ord, Calif., where he attained an 86.3 average in preparing for the Officer's Candidate School.

Pfc. Winslow is a native of Caledonia, Minnesota. He attended high school in Caledonia and was selected to the All-Conference football team. He later attended La Crosse State Teachers College at La Crosse, Wisconsin.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Winslow, Box 193, Brownsville, Minnesota.

Ten XV Corps Employees Earn Top Cash Awards

Awards were given to six employees of Headquarters XVth Corps in the office of the Corps Commanding General for outstanding and sustained superior performance and suggestions in ceremonies held recently. In addition, four XVth Corps employees, not stationed at the Presidio, received awards by mail. These awards are presented by the commanding officers at the individuals' stations.

Receiving a $150 cash award and certificate for outstanding performance was Mrs. Mary Kleinlein, administrative assistant for civilian personnel in the headquarters' G-1 office. A certificate for outstanding performance and cash award of $100 were sent to Mrs. Joanne Hurdle, unit aide at the North East Los Angeles Area Command.

Tome Okazake, supervisory military personnel clerk in the Reserve Personnel Branch at the headquarters, received a sustained superior performance certificate and cash award of $150. Also receiving an award in the same category and a check for $10 was Mrs. Roxanne K. Phinney, files supervisor in the Reserve Personnel Branch.

Cash awards of $100 and certificates for sustained superior performance were mailed to Miss Wilma G. Cook, unit aide at the Vallejo, Calif., Reserve Center and Miss Dorothy A. Zannelli, unit aide at the Oakland Area Command office.

Cash awards of $10 each for suggestions were given to Mrs. Gladys E. Pate and Mrs. Marynette Reed of the Reserve Personnel Branch and to Mr. Walter B. Morrow, San Rafael, Calif.

management analyst in the G-1 Manpower Division. A $10 check for suggestion was sent to Mrs. Olga S. Colter, unit aide at the Sacramento Area Command.

2d Msl. Soldier Makes It Eight In A Row As 30th Group Best

Specialist Fourth Class Larry L. Koepke, 23, a radar maintenance specialist at Battery C, 2d Missile Battalion (NIKE-HERCULES), 51st Artillery, San Rafael, was recently chosen as Soldier-of-the-Month at Hq., 30th Arty. Gp., Fort Winfield Scott, Calif. He completed his basic training at Fort Ord, Calif., and graduated from the 42-week maintenance course at the Air Defense School at Fort Bliss, Texas.

Sp4 Koepke is the eighth consecutive soldier of the 2d Missile Battalion to win the 30th Artillery Group (Air Defense) award. He will compete against the "Soldier-of-the-Month" from the 29th Artillery Group (AD) for the 40th Artillery Brigade (AD) "Soldier-of-the-Month" award of $25 and a three-day pass.

Sp4 Koepke and his wife, Jolene, are now living at 109 Woodland, San Rafael, Calif.

Columbus Defaulted

By Modern Satellite

Fifteenth Century belief held the earth to be flat—until Christopher Columbus proved it was round. Scientists later established the globe we inhabit to be spherical in shape. Recent studies based on data gathered by the orbital flight of Vanguard I, however, show that actually the earth is pear-shaped.

The investigation, conducted by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, cast new light on the structure and strength of materials inside the earth. Any departure from the symmetry of the earth's surface indicates strength within the planet, according to NASA scientists, and is expected to help in better understanding the strength characteristics of the hot rock which supports the earth's mantle and crust.

New findings reveal the surface sea level at the north polar cap to be elevated about 50 feet above what has been considered normal. At the south polar cap, the sea level is lower by the same amount. The combined effects of these variations cause the earth to be slightly pear-shaped, with the narrow end in the Arctic and the broad base in the Antarctic.

The scientists said that the 50-foot change in sea level is the same as increasing a mass such as the Atlantic Ocean with about a 200-foot high slab of rock or one-eighth of a mile of water, representing about 10 times the expected shearing load on the interior of the earth.

Further data from the satellite has led NASA scientists to believe the interior of the earth is composed of mechanical strength much like building brick and not plastic as formerly assumed.

They say that slow convection currents flowing through the mantle surrounding the fluid core of the earth may have caused the new phenomenon.

In the absence of other evidence, they conclude that whatever is causing the change is still in the process of happening.

The Four Marks

Of A Superior Unit

Fort Monroe, Va. (ANS)—Bruce C. Clarke, Commanding General, United States Continental Army Command, recently indicated he has found that "there are four basic principles which apply to the problem of creating Army units which are considered SUPERIOR."

- The SUPERIOR unit must be created from the ordinary run of personnel.
- Classified according to ability, the men in a unit fall naturally into three groupings—upper, middle and lower. The excellence of a unit depends upon the ability of the commander to bring the men of the lower group to a degree of proficiency which makes them an asset to his unit team.
- All men desire to do what is wanted of them. When they do not, it is because they have not been adequately motivated and instructed.
- The best unit in an organization is always the one which is excellent or better in all things.

on our shelves

SOLDIERS AND GOVERNMENTS, by Michael Howard, contains essays on the armed forces as a political problem and the relationships between military staffs and civil governments in recent history of Great Britain, France, Germany, Russia, Japan, Spain, Latin America and the U.S.

Two books on the shelves this week deal with automatic computers. AN INTRODUCTION TO AUTOMATIC COMPUTERS, by Ned Chapin, gives an explanation, from the business point of view, of the computer and its uses: what it is, how it functions, how it is operated and programmed, how applications are prepared, and how its use can be justified. J.S. Murphy's BASICS OF DIGITAL COMPUTERS is a picture book, scientific course on the development of computers; their functions and uses; the basic building blocks of logical systems; and the major logical systems in a digital computer—storing and transferring data, input and output units, magnetic drums, control units and types of register.

An organized guide to more than 6500 significant court decisions on civil service matters in federal, state and local jurisdictions, THE LAW OF CIVIL SERVICE was written by H. E. Kaplan.

A close up view of the events leading up to and during the Berlin siege of 1948, and the effects of the crisis upon Allied occupation policies and German public opinion are given in THE BERLIN BLOCKADE, by W. P. Davison.

Dario Politella's OPERATION GRASSHOPPER is the tale of Army aviation in Korea from aggression to armistice. Politella, the Information Officer for the Army Aviation Section, EUSAK, has expanded his notes to tell how Army pilots, "flying light, unarmed planes, sought out and reported the movements of enemy forces, discovered Communist artillery positions, uncovered prime targets for the Air Force, and flew countless missions of mercy."

A study of decision making, ADMINISTRATIVE BEHAVIOR, by H. A. Simon, brings up to date what has become a nationally recognized book in public administration. The contents tell of fact and value in decision making, rationality in behavior, role of authority, the criterion of efficiency, loyalties and other topics.

kaleidoscope

"As the twig is bent . . ."

While science and industry have been busy ushering our economy into the Nuclear Age, rejected authors, beat generation poets and disillusioned philosophers (with a noble assist from the press agents) have been just as busy seating our intellects on the hard-bottomed chairs of cynicism. If you've become a disciple of the latter, read no further, this story will bore you.

There is no sure ending, no warped psyches, no great battle against insurmountable odds, no failure, with either a capital, or lower case "i." It's a simple story of environment, desire, hard work and inevitable success. The happy ending kick.

The ingredients are:

- A sleepy southern town in central Georgia—Milledgeville.

- A pair of intelligent, well-educated Army colonels, successful and satisfied in their chosen careers.

- Their sons, two strapping seniors at the United States Military Academy, in San Francisco to debate with local colleges. (See photo, story, page 1).

"It seems to me I've always wanted to be a soldier," says Cadet James F. Ray, son of Colonel Claude E. Ray, Post Quartermaster, Ft. Chaffee, Arkansas. "I guess it stems from the five years that my father taught at the Point."

Col. Ray, who came to the Army via Clemson, Duke and Harvard, taught physics, chemistry, electricity and mechanics at the Academy, later serving in numerous overseas assignments.

Cadet James F. Ray was appointed to the Academy by Congressman Carl Vinson (D), Georgia, and chairman of the Armed Services Committee. The tall, reddish-haired, blue-eyed senior, who will be commissioned in the Infantry in June, won a Rhodes Scholarship and following "jump training" at Ft. Benning, Ga., will leave for Oxford University in England, this fall, where he will spend the next three years studying philosophy, politics and economics.

A roommate of West Point's football and scholastic great, Peter Dawkins (also a Rhodes Scholar), Cadet Ray wears the gold stars on his collar that indicate he stands in the top five percent of his class. He also holds the cadet rank of Captain and Battalion Commander and is active in water polo, lacrosse and rifle. He is chairman of the Debate Council and a top flight debater, a member of the Cadet Glee Club and Choir and hop and social manager for his class.

Cadet Ray has a brother, Robert, 14, and a sister, Joanne, 6. "I don't know where the family will be the next time I hear from them. The Army is in the process of closing Ft. Chaffee and Dad expects a new assignment shortly."

Cadet David H. Rogers, son of Colonel Henry H. Rogers, G2, Sixth U.S. Army, almost didn't make it to West Point. "I twice failed the physical tests—eyes, and only by curtailing my television, reading and taking regular eye exercises, made it the third time." Years previously, his father had missed going to West Point by failing to pass the same eye examination, but didn't let that deter him from an Army career, that saw him scale the scholastic heights by winning his B.S., M.A. and Ph.D. in atomic physics from North Carolina State, Duke University and Penn State.

Cadet Rogers was appointed to the Academy by Representative Clifford R. Hope (R), Kan., while serving as an enlisted man in the Army. Following basic at Ft. Dix, he was assigned to Ft. Campbell, Ky., and completed his airborne training before going to West Point. He will be commissioned in the Infantry in June.

Active in sports, track and gym, the crewcut blue-eyed cadet is also a member of the debate team and active in numerous other groups at the Academy. "There are no 'snap courses' at West Point," says Rogers. "It's a tough grind with little time for play, but I've liked every minute of it. I feel I am very fortunate."

"Oh, yes," Cadet Rogers added, "about Milledgeville. Ray and I both spent a number of years there as kids, however, we never got to know each other until we met at the Point."

Retired Officers' Wives Aid Distaff Club Work

Approximately $1,600 has been raised by the local Army officers' wives for the proposed Army Distaff Club, it was reported yesterday at a noon tea hosted by Mrs. Charles D. Palmer in her quarters.

Mrs. Riley Ennis, head of the campaign, and Mrs. William N. White, chairman of the planning committee, were cited by Mrs. Palmer for giving generously of their time, effort and money.

The Distaff Club, to be built in Washington, D. C., is envisioned as a residence club offering first class facilities at nominal cost for the widows and daughters of Army officers.

Also eligible to stay there will be the widows and daughters of Reserve Officers who have served on active duty for twenty or more years. This club is a project of the Army Wives Council in the capital.

Mrs. Palmer said, "The Reserve ladies have done a wonderful and outstanding job in raising funds to support this worthy cause. Not only have they given of their free time, but have conducted this entire portion of the campaign at their own expense."

She said she hopes to have a tabulation on the complete Sixth Army Area campaign within several weeks.

Attending the tea were 90 retired officers' wives and 40 women whose husbands are on active duty.

SF-Travis Top Talent Contest To End Soon

A chance to travel in the world touring "Rolling Along" the show, cash prizes, plus a spot on the Ed Sullivan television program may be yours if you are a member of the San Francisco-Travis AFB Army Air Defense Command, and if you are a winner in the entertainment contest to be held at Ft. Baker on 25 March.

Competition will include vocal and instrumental soloists and groups, and individual and group specialties, and entry blanks may be obtained through the units eligible for participation.

Completed entry blanks should be sent to Miss Mary Simons, Mobile Service Club Director, 40th Arty. Brigade, Ft. Barry, not later than 18 March.

Need Talent Contestants

Anyone with talent for singing, dancing, playing an instrument, or even telling a funny story is urged to participate in the club level All-Army Entertainment Contest to be held on 25 March at the Presidio Service Club.

Winners in this contest will compete against Fort Baker and the AAA Mobile Service Club, with the opportunity to go on to the Sixth Army finals at Fort Ord in the early part of May, the Army Rolling Along show, and the Ed Sullivan television program.

Cachet Collectors Can Get SF-New York Jet Flight Specials Soon

Postmaster John F. Fixa announced today that on 22 March, 1959, air mail service will be inaugurated on a domestic jet route. This first flight will be inaugurated by American Airlines when it starts jet air mail service from San Francisco to Chicago and New York. Official cachets will be furnished for these three post offices, and also for the Airport Mail Facilities at these offices.

Collectors desiring this service may send stamped addressed envelopes to the Postmaster, San Francisco 1, California, and the Superintendent, Airport Mail Facility Post Office Department, San Francisco International Airport, San Francisco, California.

The first flight known as AM-48 would leave San Francisco International Airport at 1400, arrive at Chicago at 1735 and New York at 2235.

The westward trip AM-49 is due to arrive at San Francisco on 22 March, 1959, at 1140 where it will be backstamped and forwarded to destination.

Collectors desiring service on the westward flight will address their requests to the postmasters at either Chicago or New York.

Final All-Star Army Basketball Selections Made

12 Players Will Test Nation's Best Teams

By Pvt. Dale Clark
Star Presidian Sports Editor

Busy is the word for the Army All-Stars as they prepare for the basketball wars in the National AAU Basketball Tournament at Denver, Colorado, next week. Daily scrimmages and practice at the Fitzsimmons Army Hospital Gym maintain the sharp edge that Coach Hal Fischer has built up in the rugged practice sessions during the All-Army tryouts.

Letters were forwarded to some of the top college teams in the area requesting practice games and any results of such sessions will appear in next week's issue of the SP. Getting adjusted to the change in climate and altitude will be an important factor to the team as Coach Fischer plans to make it a running game due to lack of over-all height.

After the AAU tourney the All-Stars head even further East to Mitchell Air Force Base and participation in the perennially hot Interservice Trials 22-30 of this month. Winner of this event will be invited to Louisville, Kentucky, to play the NCAA winner and runner-up and the AAU winner in a four-team round robin. The prize at stake is representing the United States in the Pan American Games in Chicago next August.

For Coach Hal Fischer it will be a recap of days gone by, as he coached the American team to first place in the Pan American Games at Buenos Aires in 1951. With the top cagers in the Army under his tutelage Hal hopes to make it a second time and cinch the crown for the U.S.

The following is a short summary of each of the members on the Army squad:

- Sgt. Richard Smith, 6'4", former Alcorn A and M college star and standout with the championship Ft. Gordon team in the Third Army area.
- Pfc. Andrew Brown, 6'3", Knoxville College cager and another top flight player on the Ft. Gordon team.
- Pvt. Fred C. Diehl, 6'1", Colorado State College player and standout on the Ft. Lewis team that finished second to the Presidio Toreros in the Sixth Army championships.

- Pvt. Gene Elstun, 6'3", Kansas University forward who played with Wilt Chamberlain and led their squad to national honors. He plays his Army ball at Ft. Hood.

- Pvt. Adrian Smith, 6'1", former captain of the Kentucky University squad that won the NCAA title in 1958, holds a guard slot on the Army team.

- Lt. Jack Adams, 6'4", Eastern Kentucky College regular, formerly with Ft. Ord and later with the Ft. Lee team before earning a berth on the All -Stars.

- Lt. Joseph Leone, 6'5", starting center for Canisius College when they went to the finals of the Eastern NCAA tourney in 1955, '56 and '57.

- Pvt. Donald Sift, 6'3", University of Ohio forward and another Army cager from Ft. Lee.

- Pfc. Bill VonWeyhe, 6'5", Rhode Island University star who made a name for himself here at the Presidio. Leading scorer in the Sixth Army tournament and high man for the Toreros all season.

- Lt. Ted Savage Jr., 6', Lincoln University hardcourt man and classy ball-handler in a starting guard position.

- Pvt. Charles Franklin, 6'4", University of Oregon great who was the scourge of the Pacific Coast Conference as a scoring star.

- Lt. Robert Boothe, 6'2", Mississippi Southern cage star who plays equally well in the guard or forward position.

LAH-PSF Fencers Qualify Five In NorCal Open Foils

Letterman Army Hospital and the Presidio of San Francisco fencers nailed down five of the available nine open slots in the NorCal Open Foil Championship held at the San Francisco School of Fencing. Qualifiers in the event will proceed to the Pacific Coast Championships and the U.S. National Championships.

The five qualifiers from the LAH-PSF team were Bill G'Brien, M/Sgt. Severo Pasol, Pete Schwartz, Herb Rhodes and Karl Dorman. Also competing were Col. Laurance Brownlee and Lt. Eugene Hardy as their representatives.

Due to the large entry field, three preliminary elimination rounds were held to determine the finalists. In this case the finalists would consist of the nine who survived the qualifying rounds plus the defending Pacific Coast Foil Champion, Mr. Girard Biagini. Mr. Biagini was a member of the 1958 World Champion team from the United States. He is currently ranked 6th in the U.S. and 12th in the world.

Tomorrow evening the LAH-PSF fencers will attend the Pan-Donia Athletic Club Ball at the Rose Room, Sheraton-Palace Hotel. During the course of the evening they will be the recipients of a sterling silver perpetual trophy won by Lt. Ben Firth in the Pan-Donia Invitational Epee Championship. Lt. Firth will receive a medal for the occasion, as will M/Sgt. Severo Pasol for taking a third place in the same event.

Need Pony League

The call is out and the need is desperate for a coach to take the reins of the Presidio sponsored Pony League baseball team. Anyone with the ability and willingness to work with youth groups is urged to contact Maj. Ben Kvitky at the Special Services Office, Bldg. 122, Ext. 2002.

All types of fish and shell fish sold through San Francisco's Fisherman's Wharf amount to about $25,000,000 in an average year.

Little League Tryouts

Parents are reminded that tryouts for ten-year-old applicants in the Little League will be held at 1230 tomorrow at Pop Hicks Field. Eleven and twelve-year-olds not able to participate in tryouts held last week may also report tomorrow.

'Magic Otto' To Lead Coast Guard Squad

Parlaying a 35-19 victory, coaching the '58 Collegiate All-Stars over the Detroit Lions, Otto Graham takes over the position of head football coach and athletic director of the Coast Guard Academy. Selected from a field of 40 candidates, the all-time gridiron great also steps into a full commander's commission in the CG Reserve.

In accepting the long-term contract, Graham cited the security of coaching outside of the heavy pressure of big time football as the chief factor in his decision.

The Bears' policy of scheduling only, smaller schools as Trinity, Bowdoin and Amherst will be continued.

With a student body comprised of 600 cadets, the Bears have never professed to compete on a scale similar to West Point, Annapolis or the newly formed Air Force Academy.

Here 'n' There

Jack Sullivan set a new single game high for the Quantico Marines by pumping 50 points into the Ft. Lee nets as the leathernecks upended the soldiers' 25-game winning streak, 101-84. It was Lee's second loss in 42 outings over a two-year stretch . . . Charley Gelbert, St. Louis Cardinal world series hero in 1931, conducted the annual USAREUR Special Services school of diamond learning for Army coaches at Nuernberg, Germany . . . Ralph Guglielmi, twice picked for the Interservice All-Star football team while in the Air Force, has been slated for "a lot more work and more responsibility" at the quarterback slot, according to Washington Redskin coach Mike Nixon.

Bob Pettit and Cliff Hagen, twin scoring aces of the St. Louis Hawks, have netted 3,212 points between them for a 52.7 average, approximately half of the Hawk per game scoring total in the current season . . . Dave (Pete) Petros will debut as head coach of the Quantico Marine baseballers this spring, tackling a 67-game schedule of service and college opposition . . . Randy Duncan, ex-Iowa quarterback and '58 All-America choice, is going through basic training duty at Ft. Wood, Mo., but plans to play pro football with Vancouver in the Canadian League this fall.

Big League Prospects: Jimmy Pyles, a young outfielder recently discharged from the Marines, was signed by the Kansas City A's . . . Ellison Ross Jr., leading hitter in the Air Force World Wide Baseball Tournament last summer, will also report to a KC farm club . . . Alfred Madigan, recently discharged from the Coast Guard, will report to Charleston of the Sally League, an affiliate of the Chicago White Sox . . . Charley Keller Jr. and his brother Don, sons of the former New York Yankee slugging start of the '40's, will enter the Bronx Bombers' farm system this spring.

Quote of the Week: Karol Fageros, "Golden Goddess" of tennis and fifth ranked U.S. woman player last year, announcing her retirement from tournament play: "From now on I'll play tennis just for fun and relaxation. Wearing golden panties was a cornball idea, I guess, but it turned out great for me."

Neider Sets Big Toss

Lt. Bill Neider, Presidio's lone track representative, has a full schedule of events planned for the coming season. His first meet of the season will be this weekend at the Stockton Invitational, where he will compete in both the discus and shot events. "I've tossed over 60 feet in practice this year, so I hope to do fairly well in this opening meet," is the way he puts it.

Events in the future are the All-Comers meet at San Jose 21 March; the Easter Relays at Santa Barbara 28 March; Olympic Benefit Meet at Honolulu, Hawaii, on 10 April; Drake Relays at Des Moines, Iowa, 26 April; Fresno and Modesto Relays on 6 and 13 of May; Coliseum Relays 20 May; Occidental Invitational 27 May; Compton Invitational on 3 June, and the International AAU in Denver on 22 June.

Stock Gets Call In Majors Debut; Toreros Ready Play

Starting things off in a big way in the major league baseball ranks, former Presidio star Wes Stock opened the exhibition season on the mound for the Baltimore Orioles in their game against the Kansas City Athletics.

Wes will be sorely missed this year when the Toreros take to the diamond again but some of the old guard remain on duty with the stalwarts Roger Sawyer and Terry Maddox heading up the list.

Roger was another star on the mound staff that was loaded with talent and he is this year's team coach, along with his mound duties.

Terry Maddox in the center field position pounded out a .348 average for the season and led the team in extra base hits and stolen bases. Not one to quit when he's ahead, Terry kept in top form this winter by playing league ball at San Mateo.

He whacked a fantastic .525 average and again led the league in extra base hits and stolen bases. Incidentally, his team won the league championship and who was the top pitcher for the team? None other than his old Presidio teammate, Wes Stock.

Toreros Win Area Volleyball Title

CHAMPS AGAIN—Bringing home the bacon in the Sixth Army Volleyball Championships for the fourth time in four years are the Presidio Toreros. Members are (kneeling) Sfc. Carlos Ramirez; (l. to r.) Sgt. Dave Rhem, Pvt. John Sadler, Pvt. Len Kaczmarek, Pfc. George Blair, Sp4 Dick Chute, M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio, Pfc. Allen Kincaid. (Photo by M/Sgt. W. S. Howell).

Sixth Army Champs In Easy Fashion

After a short but stimulating stay in the north woods, the Presidio Toreros brought home the Sixth Army Volleyball championship for the fourth year in a row. This makes it the fourth title for M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio's crew in as many tries.

The team was composed of coach and player M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio, Sgt. Dave Rhem, Sp4 Dick Chute and Pfc. Allen Kincaid. This particular quartet also doubled in spades as players on the All-ARAADCOM championship team. Other Presidio personnel making the trip were Sfc. Carlos Ramirez, Pfc. George Blair, Pvt. Len Kaczmarek and Pvt. John Sadler.

Out of seven candidates chosen and recommended for the All-Army tryouts at Ft. Riley, Kansas, six of them were from Presidio. Heading east to represent the Sixth Army area are M/Sgt. Ignacio, Sgt. Rhem, Sp4 Chute, Pfc. Kincaid, Pfc. Blair and Pvt. Kaczmarek. The only other player from the Sixth Army region is Pvt. Harold Stone of the Ft. Lewis team.

Ignacio was highly pleased by the performances turned in by Blair and Ramirez as setmen, saying, "It was their best game to date." Continuing, "The spikers did a whale of a job on offense and if they play like that at Ft. Riley they will have no trouble making the All-Army team."

In a recap of an earlier tournament at Fresno, the Presidio team finished fifth in play against the best teams in the area. Winner of the tourney was the Stockton YMCA, defending National Champions, who beat the Toreros 15-1 and 15-8. Second was taken by the always tough San Francisco Olympic Club, and third by a composite of the best players from Travis and Hamilton Air Force Bases known as the All-Stars. Seven other teams of varsity level were entered in the double elimination style tournament.

A thumbnail sketch of each member of the Presidio team heading for Ft. Riley follows:

• Pfc. George Blair, setman and spiker; played with La Jolla Shores Athletic Club in San Diego since 1955, San Diego State College Intramurals in 1957 and played for the Southern California All-Stars during their tour of Mexico.

• Pvt. Len Kaczmarek, spiker; has played high school ball since 1951, starred for the Florida State University team in 1953 and '54, played in the forward wall for the Monnesson Turners of Pennsylvania in 1955 and '56 and was voted Turner's All-American spiker in 1956, competed on the Ann Arbor, Mich., varsity team in 1957, returned to Pennsylvania and the St. Joseph Lead Co. of Monnesson which went to the U.S. Nationals in 1958.

• Sgt. Dave Rhem, spiker; played for the 740th AAA Msl. Bn. in the 6th Region competition and for the Presidio Toreros in Sixth Army tourneys, team member on the All-Army Air Defense Command's 1958 champions, has been a spiker on the Presidio team for the past two years.

• Pfc. Allen Kincaid, spiker; played for the All-Army Air Defense Command's 1958 champions and competes on the 740th AAA Msl. Bn. team in the 6th Region tourneys, is a returning veteran of last year's Presidio Toreros.

• Sp4 Dick Chute, spiker; plays on the 6th RAADCOM championship team and has participated in varsity level competition for the past two years.

• M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio, All-American setman and team coach; started his career in high school in 1937, has been active since 1953, when he was on the Ft. Lewis team that won the Sixth Army championship; organized his own unit team (752nd AAA Gun Bn., Berkeley) representing the Oakland Army Terminal in 1954 and '55; organized his own team again in 1956 (752nd AAA Gun Bn., Presidio of San Francisco) and won the All-Army Air Defense Command championship in December of that year; played and coached the 1956 Presidio team that won the Sixth Army championship at Ft. Lewis and went on to finish second in the Armed Forces category of the U.S. Nationals and 8th in the Open Division; was a member of the All-Army Team in 1957 and has been an accredited and certified U.S. National Official of the USVBA since 1957.

Tight Intramural Sked Needs 'Iron Men' Teams

Honors in the post volleyball competition will undoubtedly go to the team which can best stand the strain of playing top-notch ball for a week in a row. That's all the time allotted to the intramural sport as there were only nine teams entered in competition.

Starting at 18 hours tonight in the Ft. Scott gym and continuing through 24 March, each team will play every night, exclusive of the weekends. The post championships will be held on 24 March with the top four teams facing each other in

Army Outswims Navy But Middies Prove Tougher With Pistol

The shoe is on the wrong foot somewhere as the Army swim team soundly dunked the Middies 48-38, in the annual rivalry between the two service academies.

Army's gymnastic team also came through with a win 54½-41½, as the Navy squash team cinched the mythical national championship by defeating Army 6 to 3. The Middies put their best into the wrestling to set the Army team back 17-9.

The weapons department was a toss-up as Army's pistol team, after winning 40 of 44 matches, was turned back 1,370 to 1,362. However, Army's rifle team won their 27th straight (10 in a row this year) by setting down the Midshipmen 1,435 to 1,429.

Climax of the combined events was the Navy defeat of arch-rival Army 69-52, and the acceptance of a bid to play in the NCAA basketball tournament as an at-large selection. The victory gave Navy a 16-5 record for the season and marks the fifth time that Coach Ben Carnevale's squad have been in the collegiate basketball playoffs. In 1946 the Middies went all the way to the NCAA finals, the first season under Carnevale's tutelage.

a double elimination tournament. Trophies will go to the winner and runner-up.

The teams competing are 99th Engineers, 21st Engineers, Hq. Co. U.S. Army Garrison, Hq. Co. Sixth Army, Hq. Co. 30th Engineers, 56th and 102nd M.R.U., Honor Guard, 40th Artillery Brigade and 6th RAADCOM.

No team holds a monopoly of good players as the Presidio Torero highnetters are spread evenly through the intramural teams, making it a fair contest all the way around.

Torero Keg Team Wins League Try From Beale AFB

The Presidio Torero keg team returned to the premises with a 5-1 league victory over the crew from Beale Air Force Base. In the first round, scoring for Presidio was 898, 851, 844 for a 2593 total as Beale hit 884, 866, 792 and a 2442 total.

Compton led the effort for Beale with 184, 180, 171-535 but was bested by Fuller of the Toreros with 196, 166, 210-572.

The second round was even more disastrous for Beale as the Toreros put on the heat and scored 912, 815, 895 and a 2622 total while Beale rolled 871, 806 849-2526 total.

Boughman of Beale kegged a 193, 178, 178-549 but Andresen of the Toreros was the big gun of the meet with 225, 146, 258-629.

The next outing for Presidio will be against the team from Travis Air Force Base when they host the match with the Airmen.

New Trout Limits Set For This Year

Anglers take note that there has been a change in the trout limit scheduled for this year. There will be a statewide limit of ten (10) fish during the general summer trout season and five (5) fish from 1 Nov. to the day before the opening of the general summer trout season on any open water now having a fifteen (15) fish limit.

Excepted are the streams of San Diego County where the ten (10) fish bag limit shall begin 4 April, instead of the first Saturday in May, and end 30 Sept. instead of 31 Oct.

There is one possibility still under consideration that will not cut the limit if it is adopted. This is the proposed ban on the use of dairy products for trout bait. If the Fish and Game Commission is permitted to adopt the ban, then trout limits will remain at their old level.

Keg League Action Hot & Heavy; G1's Ross Fires Top 603 Series

The sixth week of keg action in the revised Pacific League found some new standings as Hq. Co. 6A No. 3 increased their lead by dropping Hq. Co. 6A No. 2 from fifth to sixth place as they took four games from the losing Hq. No. 2. Shamada led the winners with 509-179; Lux being high for the losers with 471-165.

Hilltoppers took over second place by dumping AAA Sparks 4-0. Johnson rolled 537-221 for the Toppers while Beery came through with a 486-178 for the AAA quintet.

30th Group lifted themselves into fifth by taking three games from the second place Retorts, dropping them to third. Shish led the 30th with 525-200 as Milburn hit 436-173 for the Retorts.

Warrants racked the Regioners

3-1 with Delaney hitting a hot 510-180. Schenk of the Regioners had a 499-185.

In the Bay Bowling League the G1 team has a tremendous edge over their nearest competitors and managed to improve it this week as they tripped up MRU 3-1. Ross of the winners had a 603-215, 205, as Martin upheld the honor of MRU 512-184.

Garrison shot into a tie for third by romping over the second place JAGS 3-1. Shelton paved the way for Garrison with a 505-179, as McAfee rolled 500-183 for the losers.

6A Signal keeps hammering away at everybody as they clipped the Compt-Rollers 3-1. Hunt led the Signalmen with 546-196. Teps for the losers was Morgan, 540-243.

Hq. Co. 6A hauled the Triple Aces back a ways when they blanked them 4-0. Maybee hit 572-203 for the winners and Blumenfeld was high for the Triple Aces with 532-199.

The Keystone Kops still maintain their 6½ game lead in the Presidio League as they blasted SF AADS 4-0. Rusek led the Kops 557-206 as Swingle of SFAADS hit 479-228.

Shafters in second couldn't pick up any but they held even by squashing the Alley Rats 4-0 on the strength of Opozda's 543-225. Worsfold of the Rats hit 497-180.

King Pins handcuffed the 60th CI Det. 4-0 as Tracy of the winners kegged a 511-109. Smith led the losers with 452-173.

The Recruiters, basking in the light of third place, put the Islanders on the short end of a 3-1 score. Eggleston of the Recruiters rolled 532-198 and Lundahl kept the Islanders in the running by carding 504-184.

MANAGEMENT METHODS will be introduced in the Chinese Nationalist Army following on-the-job training here of four of that country's top officers. Here Chinese Colonels (l. to r.) Sheng Chih-Ho, Yu Tzu-Tan, Chang Shou-Chun and Ho Hsueh-Chao take a break from studies with John Miglian and Major Orville Shaw, of the Manpower Division, G1, Sixth U.S. Army.

2,000 Permanent Ranks Set For Fiscal Year End

Washington (ANS)—The Army, this week, announced a second allocation of permanent appointments to NCO ranks for the period ending 30 June, 1959.

This allocation will see permanent rank awarded to 1,000 in grade E-5, and 500 each in grades E-6 and E-7.

The permanent promotion system is another of the many devices of the Army Enlisted Management Program to enhance career attractiveness, recognize the Regular soldier, and increase the prestige of the non-commissioned officer.

This system was reinstituted on 1 July, 1958. Prior to that the system had been suspended since the rapid expansion of the Army for the Korean War in 1950.

A spokesman for the Army's Deputy Chief of Staff for Personnel said that "although no pay-grade changes are effected by permanent appointments, these appointments furnish a permanent base within each grade made up of the best qualified of the total temporary strength."

The basic principle of television was first perfected in San Francisco by Philo T. Farnsworth.

With Their Blood! 21 Nikemen Play Dan Cupid

When Diane Rouse of San Jose, Calif., undergoes a delicate heart operation at Moffit Hospital in San Francisco, on 25 March, she will have the prayers and moral support of 22 men of Battery A, 2nd Missile Battalion (NIKE-HERCULES), 51st Artillery to speed her to recovery.

A year ago Private First Class William C. Nash, an Acquisition Radar Operator of the Battery visited relatives in San Jose. He met and fell in love with the lovely Diane.

Recently Diane's doctors announced the need of the operation if Diane was to live a normal life.

Pfc. Nash learned 20 pints of blood at a cost of $50.00 a pint would be needed. This was a staggering blow. He took the problem to the men of Battery A and 21 men volunteered within a matter of minutes after the word was spread. Pfc. Nash, gratefully led his buddies to the San Francisco Irwin Memorial Blood Bank—donating the first pint of blood himself.

The assistants to Dan Cupid from Battery A are: Pfc. Harry G. Brice, Sp4 Bobby D. Fletcher, Pvt. Roy M. Lunsford, Pfc. Charles G. Marshall, Pvt. William E. Bruce, Pfc. John D. Church, Sp4 Jim B. Crocker, Pfc. Dennis Felhandler, Pfc. Lawrence B. McConnell, Pfc. William C. Nash, Pfc. Thomas R. Pruett, Pfc. Joe H. Slater, Pfc. Lawrence J. Strohfus, Sp4 Ronald G. Spaulding, Pfc. Leonard W. Udaykee, Pvt. Samuel R. Van Parys, Pfc. Roy B. Wedlund, Pfc. Glenn C. White, Pfc. Robert D. White, Pvt. Frederick E. Widmeyer, Pvt. Joseph Bombela, Pvt. Ronald D. Pitchford.

Chinese Army Officers To Study Management

The Chinese Nationalist Armed Services are going to adopt American manpower management methods, Colonel Ho Hsueh-Chao and three of his fellow officers stated here Tuesday.

The four Chinese Army officers arrived in San Francisco Sunday and have been studying the operation of the Sixth Army's Manpower Management Section. Besides Colonel Ho, Colonels Chang Shou-Chun, Sheng Chih-Ho, and Yu Tzu-Tan, have been conferring with the sections members and are undergoing a form of on-the-job training.

They attended the Manpower Control Course at Ft. Benjamin Harrison from 18 January to 13 February, and visited the Fifth Army Headquarters in Chicago before coming to the Presidio.

Although they thought the course was fine, they said that it was designed for MOS preparation and their objective in coming to the United States was to study manpower control at higher levels of command.

Of their training received so far they said, "It can be used as a basis for us to set-up a program, but we would like to have more time to study and more training."

Troop programming, they found, was one of the more interesting phases of manpower control. "This knowledge," they said, "will prove very useful as it can be applied to achieve our combat objectives within our budget."

In order to watch the Sixth Army Manpower Section in action they are going to Monterey, where a manpower survey of the Army Language School is taking place.

They said they are scheduled to leave San Francisco in a few weeks.

Set NCO Retreat Parade For Today

An NCO Retreat Parade will be conducted on the main parade ground at 1600 today, with M/Sgt. Quinton Brown, C Co. USAG, commanding the troops.

The First Battalion, composed of D Co., USAG, 561st Eng. Co. and A Co., USAG, will be under the command of M/Sgt. Michael Bray, 561st Eng. Co.

Furnished by Headquarters Company, Sixth Army Special Troops, M/Sgt. Charles Wood will take charge of the Second Battalion, which includes Hdqs. Co., Sixth Army Special Troops, Hdqs. Co., USAG and C Co., USAG.

Also in the line of march will be the Third Battalion, made up of the 21st Eng. Co., 99th Eng. Co., and 16th Base P. O., to be commanded by M/Sgt. Raymond Decker.

New Appointment

Washington (ANS) — Major General Raymond E. Bell has been named Chairman of the U.S. Delegation, Joint Brazil-U.S. Military Commission and Chief of Military Assistance Advisory Group in Brazil, effective in May.

He will succeed Major General William J. Verbeck, who has been assigned to the Army Council of Review Boards in Washington.

His Choice—Sinatra

Fort Dix, N.J. (ANS)—Pvt. Cecil A. Boone, a clerk for the Central Post Fund, says that Frank Sinatra is his choice for the leading male vocalist in the country. Young Boone—who picked Frankie over his own brother, Pat—does a bit of warbling himself under the name of Nick Todd.

Danish Officers Tour Bay Area Nike Sites

Six Danish Army officers arrived in San Francisco this week on a five-day operations study of U.S. Army Air Defense Command Nike missile sites.

Major General E. J. McGaw, commander of the 6th Region (Pacific Coast) Army Air Defense Command, announced that the visiting Danish officers are coming to San Francisco from guided missile studies at the Army Air Defense School, Fort Bliss, Texas. They are training with the U.S. Army units as part of the military assistance program offered friendly foreign nations.

The foreign military officers are Lt. Col. Hans G. Hansen, Maj. Thorkild S. Ensig-Karup, Maj. Henning S. Moller, Maj. Berge I. Jensen, Capt. Fritz Buchwald and Lt. Carl C. Randt-Pedersen.

While in San Francisco, the Danish officers will observe how high morale is maintained among air defense missilemen while engaged in an around-the-clock state of alertness. They will also attend special briefings on the more specialized phases of Nike site operations.

Gen. McGaw announced that Lt. Col. Curtis M. Banks, executive officer of the 40th Air Defense Artillery Brigade, will be coordinator for the visiting officers during their stay here. Col. Banks said that much of the visitors' stay will be at Marin County's Angel Island Battery Nike Site (Battery D, 2d Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery). Visits to other sites and related Army Air Defense activities are planned.

Semi-Annual List Will Describe New Training Programs

To keep Federal agencies informed about Government-conducted training programs, the Civil Service Commission is distributing the first of a series of semi-annual bulletins on training available in the Washington, D. C., area to Federal employees on an interagency basis.

The initial bulletin describes 10 training programs to be held during the next six months. Personnel selected must be nominated by their agencies to receive the training.

Under the Government Employees Training Act, CSC has responsibility to encourage and coordinate training activities on an interagency basis, and to conduct training programs on subjects for which the Commission has primary responsibility. Federal agencies are called upon by the law to make full use of available training within Government before spending money to train employees in non-Governmental facilities. To meet this objective, CSC will work closely with agencies in identifying Government training activities that are available and appropriate for training of personnel across agency lines.

How Times Change!

Frankfurt, Germany (ANS)—Under the heading "How Times Change!" the Northern Area Command Chronicle-Post reports that "During World War I, an old-timer recalls, obstetricians were largely passed over by the draft as having a specialty not required by the Armed Forces. Last year, at one Army hospital alone—the 97th in Frankfurt—babies were delivered at the average rate of one every three hours and 22 minutes,"—to dependent wives, of course!

CSC Takes Over 27 Beneficial Groups In Major Merger

The Civil Service Commission recently completed taking over all life insurance operations, assets, and obligations of 27 beneficial associations covering 136,000 present and former Federal employees with over $205,000,000 insurance in force.

Because most such organizations could not compete with the low-cost term insurance made available to Federal employees under the Federal Employees' Life Insurance Act, provision was made to enable the associations to transfer their life insurance obligations to the Government.

Operations of 16 of these associations had been assumed in 1955 and 1956. Changes in legislation allowed CSC to take over 11 more during 1958 and 1959 by contractual arrangements completed prior to 11 July, 1958, the deadline under the act. Since that time CSC's Retirement Division has been gradually taking over actual operations, including billing and servicing individual accounts.

The total life insurance assets of each association were paid to the Government's insurance fund as a premium for the arrangement. Association members will continue to pay the same premium rates to the Government that they paid to their organizations. Individuals will be billed directly by CSC and make payments to the Commission.

Need Volunteers

Volunteers are urgently needed to sell, mark merchandise and serve as cashiers in the Presidio Thrift Shop.

Anyone interested in assisting is urged to call Mrs. Blanche Parsons, WE 1-6111, Ext. 3265, Monday through Friday between 1100 and 1500.

Nursery service will be provided at the expense of the Presidio Women's Club.

New Commemorative

Soldiers Donate Blood To Save Baby's Life

By Sp4 Martin Rein
Sixth Army Information

Because a Sergeant in the VIP Motor Pool Section finds the personal column interesting a 2½-year-old girl received enough blood to allow her to pull through an emergency heart operation this week.

Sfc. Archie Weiskittel, after seeing the plea below, for blood in Sunday's paper immediately thought of donating himself. He called the listed number and was told that Patricia Gribble, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gribble, 615 Persia Avenue, needed at least 14 pints of blood by Thursday for a serious heart operation.

Before hanging up the phone, Sfc. Weiskittel, who to this day is unknown to the Gribbles, told the distraught mother, "I'll see what I can do." He then spoke to M/Sgt. John H. Cook, his NCOIC, who in turn called the Gribbles. Sgt. Cook, Mrs. Gribble said, told her how he had a little girl and knew it must be a terrible ordeal they were going through and the soldiers at the Presidio would like to help.

Grandmother's Idea Led To 'Personal' That Saved Patricia

From that moment on Monday Sfc. Weiskittel spread the word of Patricia's plight and asked for volunteers. Without hesitation or urging the section turned out as a whole to donate life-saving blood.

Seventeen out of the 22 men assigned to the section actually gave a pint of their blood Tuesday at Irwin Memorial Blood Bank. Another who started to donate had to stop as his blood pressure was too low. The other three were not permitted to give blood because of prior illnesses.

Patricia, Mrs. Gribble said, entered the hospital 10 March for a number of tests. Extremely nervous lately, Patricia was biting her nails and was very irritable. A condition she had since birth, a blueness around her cheeks, nose, chin and other parts of her body, seemed to be heightened. Since birth the little girl has been under a doctor's care; however, it was only Friday the 13th that tests were able to determine exactly what caused this condition.

A defective heart valve impeded circulation, doctors at Stanford University Hospital told the parents. In addition, (Continued on page 3)

Patricia needed 14 pints of blood by Thursday, her parents and grandmother Mrs. Marian Gribble were told Saturday by a surgeon. How does one go about getting so much blood in such short time, they asked?

Most of their friends, it seemed, either were just getting over a virus or were ill with assorted ailments and therefore unable to give blood.

While sitting in their living room at 615 Persia Avenue, discussing the problem, Patricia's grandmother, who incidentally was San Francisco's first five star mother in WW II, suggested an advertisement in the Sunday paper.

Three lines were inserted and eventually more than forty calls were received, asking why the blood was needed. After hearing about Patricia they invariably said they would contribute. Most of them refused to give their name.

Among the very first calls received by the family was from Sfc. Archie Weiskittel, VIP Motor Pool Section, who led 16 men from the Presidio in giving blood.

14,500 ROTC Students Due Training This June

Approximately 14,500 reserve officers, training corps advanced course students will report to 13 installations on 20 June for six weeks of summer training, the Department of the Army announced today.

The training period, which comes between the junior and senior years, supplements instruction received by the students in 249 colleges. Upon completion of the advanced course, the ROTC cadets will be eligible for appointment in the Army Reserve or the regular Army and for service in the active Army.

MOS Test Scores

Washington (ANS) — Rosters indicating individual scores for more than 17,000 enlisted personnel who took MOS proficiency tests last January have been mailed to Test Control Officers throughout the world this week by the Enlisted Evaluation Center at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

An announcement of the score range indicating eligibility of those who will receive proficiency pay as a result of these qualifying tests can be expected next week, a DA spokesman said.

If You Write to Alaska, Don't Use Abbreviation

New York (APPS)—With Alaska a member of the Union, post office officials are re-emphasizing that it should not be abbreviated in a mailing address.

The logical abbreviation, of course, would be "Ala."—but that already belongs to Alabama. Officials say that other abbreviations such as "Aka." or "Ask." would be awkward and liable to confusion with "Ark."

Salutes Wrapped Up

Washington — The Army this week wrapped up its regulations on salutes and honors into one 20-page package (AR 600-25). The last general revision was in March of 1956 and there had been nine changes since that time. And, after 4 July the salute to the Union will be 49 guns since it consists of one gun for each state and Alaska officially achieves statehood on that day.

The sites or installations where training will take place, type of training to be given, and estimated attendance for the 1959 ROTC summer camp program will be:

- First U.S. Army
Fort Devens, Mass.—General Military Science, 1,100.
- Second U.S. Army
Fort Belvoir, Va.—Engineers, 625; Ordnance, 200.
Fort George G. Meade, Md.—General Military Science, 1,100.
Fort Knox, Ky.—Armor, 250; General Military Science, 700.
Fort Lee, Va.—Transportation Corps, 300; Quartermaster Corps, 200.
- Third U.S. Army
Fort Benning, Ga.—General Military Science, 1,450.
Fort Bragg, N. C.—General Military Science, 1,700.
Fort Gordon, Ga.—Signal, 650.
- Fourth U.S. Army
Fort Sill, Okla.—Field Artillery, 750.
Fort Hood, Texas—General Military Science, 1,500.
- Fifth U.S. Army
Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.—Engineers, 625.
Fort Riley, Kansas—General Military Science, 1,800.
- Sixth U.S. Army
Fort Lewis, Wash.—General Military Science, 1,550.

Lemnitzer Named To Succeed Taylor As Chief Of Staff

President Eisenhower has nominated General Lyman L. Lemnitzer vice chief of staff, to succeed retiring General Maxwell D. Taylor as Chief of Staff, U.S. Army.

The General, who became a paratrooper at the age of 51, will assume his new position following the expiration of Gen. Taylor's term on 30 June of this year.

This promotion will place Gen. Lemnitzer in a position to become Chairman of the Joint Chiefs in 1961, as the custom is to rotate the job among the three services.

A 1920 graduate of West Point, the General served with President Eisenhower in Europe, and was awarded the Legion of Merit for accompanying General Mark Clark on a secret submarine mission to North Africa.

During the Korea fighting he commanded the Seventh Infantry Division, and in 1955, succeeded Gen. Taylor as Commander of the U.S. Army forces in the Far East.

Maryland Bonus?

Under proposals introduced recently in the Maryland State General Assembly, Maryland veterans of World War I and II and Korea would receive up to a $300 bonus.

The bonus, expected to cost $89 million, would be financed by a raise in the state beer tax from three to 10 cents a gallon.

Ex-Soldiers Key Public Opinion Says Info Chief

Washington (ANS)—The students at the U.S. Army Information School, Fort Slocum, New York, were told recently that the Army in its information work is planning ahead, as much as one or two years; seeking to broaden the base of its operations and accentuating the positive. Major General Harry P. Storke, Chief of Information, Department of the Army, discussed and analyzed the methods of communicating the Army's story in an address at the school.

"The day is gone," he said, "when your commander is doing a good job if he keeps his name out of the papers; that's the negative approach. The positive approach calls for more and more commanding generals and other officers to make the news, for they are the ones who effectively demonstrate what the Army is doing and how it is needed in the defense of our country."

"We in the Army information effort have a challenging job to do," General Storke explained. "We must keep before the public the true picture of what the Army is doing and thereby provide people with a measure of strength with which to fight the propaganda directed at us."

General Storke said that each year about 130,000 men are discharged from the Army and recent surveys show that 73 percent of the public's information about the Army stems from these ex-servicemen. "Certainly, the Army's story must be made clear to the individual soldier."

There are many kinds of media that can be used in transmitting the Army's story to its members and the public, General Storke said. He noted that under the control of his Pentagon office are 400 Army newspapers; the nationally distributed weekly Army television and radio shows, "The Big Picture," and "Army Hour"; the "Army Information Digest" magazine; a newly revised speakers' program; the Army Hometown News Center and several other activities.

Primacy

Of The Soldier

Special to the Star Presidian

By William Courtenay OBE MM

(Ed's Note: This is the final article in a series of five on vital military topics by William Courtenay, noted British correspondent currently on a lecture tour of the Sixth U.S. Army area.)

The infantry soldier is still the "Queen of Battle" as we say of him in the British Army and all the experiences of the post war campaigns confirm it.

There have been some 18 campaigns since the close of World War II in India, Israel, Arabia, Egypt, Korea, Malaya, Kenya, French Indo China, Indonesia, Cuba, Algeria, Morocco, Berlin Airlift, etc. They have been fought in every type of clime and terrain and they conform to the experience through the ages—that there is usually a small war somewhere every year.

Except for the Berlin Airlift which was a U.S. Air Force and RAF triumph, though even in this campaign of 1948-49 the Army took part, all the campaigns have proved one outstanding point. They have all been fought by the infantry soldier marching on his two flat feet with a pack on his back as always; usually in the sort of terrain where even wheeled vehicles cannot penetrate.

The Korean Campaign (July 1950-July 1953) revealed how the right tactics were to piquet the heights to control the valleys. This meant that every class of soldier in all branches had to climb the hills with a pack on his back to fulfill his task. Where the heights were patrolled the ambush on the hair-pin bends was avoided.

In Malaya small parties of platoon strength were the order because the country is so dense that no fixed battle line as in Korea could be contemplated. These patrols swept the jungle seeking Chinese communist terrorists and blockaded communists in jungle to cut them off from their food supplies.

In the Troodos mountains of the Cyprus campaign the foot soldier is aided by the Helicopter. But it doesn't replace him—it's only a vehicle. It helps him restore surprise and mobility to his operations.

In this kind of campaign the heavily accoutred soldier moving down mountain slopes to search a valley or trap terrorists loses surprise while his mobility is limited. The Helicopter can place him close to his objective; enable him to be fresh for a shorter descent into a valley and trap his enemy by surprise.

In the deserts of Aden Protectorate where the British Army is also operating the infantry doesn't even have any roads to move on. It's a foot slogger's war.

The infantry soldier will be aided more and more by the Air Forces with tactical air support—which is aerial artillery—to aid his advance and limit his casualties by softening up the target. And more and more the Helicopter as it grows bigger will transport him with heavy gear to the scene of action. It will be able to set him down on hilltops for instance. But this is going to depend upon whether local air superiority has first been secured and on whether the Helicopter can be kept immune from ground fire to which it is very vulnerable.

In many campaigns its operations may be restricted to within some miles of a front line—so the infantryman still walks the rest of the way with his pack.

And even supposing nuclear war destroys cities on both sides and we face a return to the Dark Ages for 2 or 3 centuries it is the foot soldier to whom the nation will turn for salvation.

When all mechanical transport breaks down in such conditions only the Army can provide the disciplined trained forces to enter the remnants of towns; save them from the looters; protect the women; restore the communications; police the areas; prevent epidemics; help to bind up the wounds; care for the stragglers and children; form the camps and organize relief; and nurse the nation back to a sound secure life again.

All this will prove to be the infantry soldier's role supported by all the other arms of the Service. So let no one suppose the foot soldier is going out of business!

Army Stresses Importance Of Language Training

Washington (ANS)—Growing emphasis on the importance of language training is resulting in a concerted effort to improve the Army's effectiveness in the personnel aspects of the language program, a spokesman for the Manpower Management Branch of the Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Personnel has announced.

Under the goal set for the current language program for officers, those who are not already proficient in one foreign language are urged to acquire proficiency in a foreign tongue.

In AR 350-24, dated 17 May 1957, DA established procedures to provide commissioned officers with essential language training to meet anticipated needs of the Army and to afford opportunity for volunteer training. The U.S. Army Language School at the Presidio of Monterey provides this training within established capacity and quotas are published annually.

Quotas for which enlisted personnel may volunteer and MOS requirements to better relate language requirements to MOS qualifications are announced in DA Circular 621-16, dated 3 March 1958.

It was emphasized that openings for training exist in certain languages and that proficiency pay is now in effect for the voice interpreter MOS. Other language MOS's are also slated to begin receiving pro pay.

"A soldier serving overseas," said the spokesman, "who is professionally and linguistically qualified may constitute one of the most valuable investments we can make towards cementing good relationships with the country in which he serves."

Army Eases Rules On Green Dress

Washington (AFPS)—The Army has eased restrictions for officers and warrant officers on wearing the Green uniform after duty hours.

Previous regulations permitted Greens to be worn only while on duty and prescribed the new Army Blue uniform for all occasions after retreat.

Greens now become a "general duty uniform," the Army said, and will be acceptable for wear during other than normal working hours, except for social functions.

Blues, or civilian clothing appropriate to the occasion, locality and custom, are to be worn for social functions, as desired by the individual officer or warrant officer, the Army said.

Recently Assigned

A native of Idaho, 1st Lt. GRACE L. SPARKS, newly assigned Executive Officer for D Co., USAG, joined the Army because she "wanted a change of atmosphere," and "wanted to do new and different things."

Directly commissioned upon graduation from officer basic, Lt. Sparks also felt that the Woman's Army Corps might be more interesting than her teaching job in Oregon.

Skilled in music, the new Lt. is working with several groups from D Co. to prepare them for competition in the Club level of the All Army Entertainment Contest, to be held at the Service Club Wednesday.

Also a sports enthusiast, Lt. Sparks is a top notch bowler, and has already been seen patronizing the Presidio alleys.

Future plans for the young officer include "only the Army at the moment, and of course the Entertainment contest."

what they said

The cracker-barrel philosopher says, "It's the difference of opinion that makes horse races." He might have added that the same thing makes the avid sports fan. This week we ask:

THE QUESTION: Who is your favorite athlete and why have you chosen this person.

ANSWERS

Pfc. Bobby Shepherd, driver, Hq's. 2d Missile Bn., 51st Arty., Ft. Baker: Mickey Mantle is because he is a real great baseball player. He is younger than most of the other big stars like Williams and will probably improve as the years go by and be better than Williams. I saw Mantle in the World Series last year, but I haven't seen him play too much although I follow his career in the papers. You know, about three seasons ago he threatened Babe Ruth's homerun record and he may be the one to break it yet. He's the only one I know who can do it. I think he's a better player than Joe DiMaggio and draws more people to the game than DiMaggio.

Sp4 David Schick, company clerk, Sixth U.S. Army Honor Guard: Glenn Cunningham, a former miler who had to overcome severe burns on his legs received as a youth to become a top track star. Although told by doctors he would never walk again, his parents worked with him and through his religious faith, perseverance and good old guts he overcame his handicap. Eventually he became a record holder. Today he is dealing with youth organizations. He is important today because he is teaching youths through his example and encouragement that physical limitations can be overcome.

Pfc. Allie Odom, 561st Engineers, Ft. Baker: Bull Cureys, a professional wrestler, who is seen mostly in Houston, Texas, is my favorite. I like wrestling, and when Cureys gets in the ring he means business. Most of the others go in there and pussy foot around, but he has a good style and provides plenty of action. I like the way he handles himself in the ring. I've been seeing him fight for five years on TV and in person. He reminded me more of an ape than a human being the first time I saw him.

Sfc. Mary E. Phillips, Sports Office: I never thought about having a favorite athlete, I like them all. If I have to pick one person, I think Bob Cousy would be it. This year I haven't followed basketball as I usually do, but I know he is outstanding. Actually, I've only seen him play once and that was on television. I liked the way he played because he seemed to give the game considerable thought. I can take the record book out and show you why I think he is so brilliant. He is just a natural basketball player. He can shoot, pass, drive and set up plays.

Blood Donors

their daughter had a "punctured" heart which the doctors said nature might cure in time.

Her condition became worse. Tuesday "she almost turned black"—and an emergency operation was ordered for that night, the same day the Presidio soldiers donated blood.

After receiving an explanation of the operation by the surgeon and being told that there was, as in any operation, a chance of failure, the doctor mentioned that four of the soldier donors were in the lobby inquiring about Patricia.

The parents wanted to thank the soldiers personally and went to see them. "But," Mrs. Gribble said, "I was too choked up to do anything but cry. They were talking with my husband, but I saw he also was fighting back the tears."

The four men were embarrassed by the emotional gratefulness shown by the parents—who could not thank them enough. One of them, speaking for the rest, expressed his feelings this way, "As long as the kid gets along, that's the only thing that interests us."

Today the Gribbles are able to have reason to hope as the operation was declared a success. Patricia, as all little girls do, cried for her mommy and daddy after the operation.

Her father and mother cried for a different reason when told their baby's toes and fingertips were turning a normal pink.

For it seems little Patricia will join her sister, Mary Lee, 5, and brother, Jimmy, 1 year old, in childish play in the near future.

Announce ROA Meeting; Convention Plans Set

Presidio of San Francisco Chapter 18, Reserve Officers' Association will meet on Monday, 23 March 1959 at 2000 hours at the Fort Mason Officers' Mess. No host cocktails and dinner from 1745 to 1945 hours for those who are interested. Come early, bring a prospective member, and get acquainted.

Chapter plans for attendance at the Department of California convention, to be held at the Statler Hotel in Los Angeles on 1-2-3 May 1959, will be discussed at this meeting together with any resolutions the members may wish to have presented at the Convention. You will also hear about the 'Free Party' planned for the evening of Tuesday, 7 April 1959.

Taught by Urban Whitaker, Devere Pentony, J. Cudd Brown and David Marvin, this three unit course may be applied to a social science major or used as an elective credit for any major.

Emphasis during the Tuesday and Thursday sessions, to be held in Bldg. 1101, will be placed on the period since 1945.

Leo V. Young will use the novel to examine the impact of the culture on individual and group behavior during the three unit Social Insights in Literature course each Monday and Wednesday in Bldg. 1131.

The novel is used because it can be looked upon as a multiple communication: "it gives an author's version of reality in regard to some particular time, place and subject; it is a social journal, either explicitly or implicitly; and the perceptive reader can distinguish significant social attitudes, beliefs and practices which have existed or do exist in a particular country, a particular social class, and at one particular time."

On Tuesdays and Thursdays in Bldg. 1131, Robert O. Berdahl will present Govt. 199, an examination of the problems governing France.

The course will not only include the traditional concerns of France's reliability as an ally and the instability of her political institutions, but also will attempt to delve deeper into her basic cultural and moral values to assess their compatibility with the needs of 20th Century survival and prosperity.

A History of Mexico, to be given on Mondays and Wednesdays in Bldg. 1101, by Theodore E. Treutlein, will extend from the pre-Conquest days of the Nahau and Maya civilizations to the present. Subject matter for the three unit course will be organized chronologically into themes.

16th BPO Specialist Promoted, Named Best Soldier In Fast Week

James H. Miller of Minot, North Dakota believes in doing things "by the numbers."

Assigned to the 16th Base Post Office at the Presidio of San Francisco, California as a military postal clerk, the 23-year-old soldier was promoted to the rank of Specialist 4th Class February recently and the following week named as the "Soldier of the Month."

In recognition of his selection he was awarded a 3-day pass by his commanding officer, Captain Alfred L. Brazeau.

The "Soldier of the Month" award is made to the one man that most distinguishes himself by his outstanding conduct, military bearing, performance of duty and soldierly appearance.

Entering the Army 23 July, 1957, Specialist Miller attended the Adjutant General's Postal School at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana, after completing basic training at Fort Carson, Colorado, October 4, 1957.

Prior to becoming a soldier he was employed by the Westland Oil Company in Minot. He graduated from Minot high school in 1953.

A Horse Soldier Retires In Proper Cavalry Style

Ft. Myer, Va. (AFPS)—When CWO Philip A. Sellers enlisted in the Army more than 29 years ago, the horse soldier was still in his glory. But when this cavalryman retired here recently, were there any steeds left to do him honors?

There sure were. Ft. Myer, home of the Army's last remaining horses, revived an old tradition for Sellers by staging its first mounted review in more than two decades.

And a sight it was to bring a suspicious mist to the eyes of old cavalrymen. The steeds were the matched pairs of seven grays and seven blacks which, with a gray lead horse, are used in military funerals at Arlington National Cemetery.

The retirement ceremony was complete down to the horse-drawn yellow tallyho wagon once used in fox hunts and a traditional feature of old Army weddings and retirements.

The commander of the Washington Military District, Maj. Gen. John G. Van Houten, saluted the 47-year-old Sellers appropriately with the remark that he was taking with him "some of the last vestiges of a great tradition—the use of horses in the Army."

And Sellers, mounting the tallyho wagon, went into retirement while the band played "Auld Lang Syne"—past a display of three Army rocket missiles, weapons unimaginable when as a bright-eyed and bushy-tailed teen-ager he made his choice for the Army almost 30 years ago.

New, Old Shooters To Seek Hardware In Area Trials

Presidio's modern day Daniel Boones and Davy Crocketts are set to capture the Sixth Army Rifle Championship at Ft. Lewis 23 March through 8 April. Sending three teams as an "insurance gesture" the locals expect to bring back their fair share of the hardware.

Co-ordinating officer for the group is Lt. Robert Binger, who will accompany the teams to Ft. Lewis. Rifle teams representing Presidio of San Francisco, XVth Corps and 40th Brigade will make the trip. Competition will be in both the .30 calibre and small bore events.

Top man on the Presidio team as history goes is Sp4 Richard Marlowe, member of the Presidio team in 1958, Sixth Army team in 1958 and went to the Advanced Marksmanship Unit at Ft. Benning last year.

Sp4 Nelson Kling was also on the 1958 Presidio team and competed in the Sixth Army trials last year.

Pfc. Frank Giarmona, Pfc. Ronald Jepson and Pfc. Brad Guthrie are all marksmen formerly with the 21st Engineer Rifle team that took second place in the Post Championship last November.

Pvt. Sammi Loggins and Pfc. David McNary were both members of the 16th Base Post Office rifle team which finished third in post competition November, 1958.

Fort Mason Slates Management Course For Army Reserves

The Army Logistics Management Center has announced that a two-week seminar in supply management will be held at Fort Mason 26 July to 8 August for qualified Army Reserve Officers.

Officers in the grade of general, colonel, and lieutenant colonel with experience in military logistics or equivalent civilian managerial fields are eligible to apply, as are officers participating in the USAR Logistics Career Program.

The two-week course will be presented by officers of the Logistics Management Center which is located at Fort Lee, Va. The class will be limited to 40. Complete information can be obtained by contacting Capt. Olin L. Hawkins, Headquarters XV Corps, Presidio of San Francisco, West 1-6111, Extension 2195, or Mr. Don Flash, Headquarters Pacific Transportation Terminal Command, Fort Mason, Prospect 6-2200, Extension 267.

Peggy King To Head Variety Show Here

"Pretty, Perky Peggy King," as she is known to George Gobel fans everywhere, will appear in a variety show at the main Presidio Service Club on 27 March at 2015.

Currently touring the Northern Area of the Sixth U.S. Army, the hour and a half-long program, with an all-star Hollywood cast, appeared in many of the Army installations of the Far East during the Christmas season.

The admission is free, and everyone is welcome to attend this show, the first of its kind since 1955.

Squaw Valley Detachment Stays Busy

49 Soldiers—One WAC Aid Olympic Games

By Sp3 Martin Rein
PIO Reporter

A village is being built in a hurry at Squaw Valley, USA, to accommodate 2,000 athletes from practically all parts of the world and the Sixth Army is doing its share to complete the project on time.

Fifty men from the Sixth Army have been sent to this winter resort in northeastern California—only 40 miles from Reno, Nev.—to lend logistical support to the VIII Olympic Winter Games.

The detachment, as all the military services are represented in Squaw Valley, answers to the Department of Defense Co-ordinator for the Olympics, Lt. Colonel Arley A. Hayman, Jr., on TDY from G4 Sixth Army Headquarters, Presidio.

A dream assignment, you say, being stationed in a winter resort with the Army footing the bill? Opinions of the men and one WAC there vary from one extreme to the other.

This variance of opinion is partly due to some unanticipated occurrences on their arrival.

The largest snow fall in some time at Squaw Valley greeted them and for their own benefit as well as everyone else's, they helped clear roads and paths. This operation required many hours of fatiguing work.

Also a fire broke out in a dormitory damaging two rooms and smoking an entire floor. Consequently the soldiers became furniture movers. Occasionally they have had to work at a number of other jobs.

The third problem these men stationed in a resort have is lack of entertainment for off-duty hours.

This did not bother the men at first since they were so tired they went to sleep early. However, they seem to have more energy now that the snow has been cleared and they are used to the climate.

A movie, probably the main entertainment of a soldier, is lacking, with the closest theater being located in Truckee eight miles away. Barber and PX facilities are also missing this year, but Colonel Hayman said that the men will have them next year.

The men are scheduled to be quartered in the Truckee school next year in dormitory style, with everything close by.

Despite some of these difficulties many of the men would like to make this a permanent duty station. Sp4 Bill McCalle, Ft. Ord definitely would. "The Army was never like this," he said.

McCalle, assigned to the Radio and Telephone Medical Emergency Station, pointed out some of the unique features of duty which are:

Food is served in a civilian inn, The Bear Pen, which is attractively decorated with hunting trophies. In this "mess hall," which contains a bar, there is no KP. The inn also serves as a meeting place at night.

Sleeping quarters are separate rooms containing two double-tier beds and are kept clean by maids who service the building. GI party? Never heard of it.

But the greatest feature of all is the valley itself. To the outdoorsman, or appreciator of nature there is no lack of entertainment there. Surrounding the valley are majestic snow covered peaks whose sides are dotted with fir trees. This is a skier's, photographer's and nature-lover's paradise.

Pfc. John Pounds, Ft. Lewis, is another person who would enjoy remaining at Squaw Valley. He is one of the two men whose wives accompanied them to the Valley. His eighteen-year-old wife, Nila, gambled and went to the Valley to obtain employment. She did in the Lodge there and turned in her return-trip ticket.

Pounds, 20, would like to stay, because, "I'm kind of used to this weather and I like to work outdoors." A diesel mechanic, he presently is operating a bulldozer.

He and about ten other men from the detachment take advantage of their surroundings and ski on weekends. Except for one man, they all ski on the bunny slope—bunnies are beginners in ski parlance.

Does Pounds want to come back? "You bet, if there is any way possible, I'll be here next year!"

SIXTH ARMY SOLDIERS are in direct support of the Olympic Organizing Committee which is preparing for the 1960 Winter Games in Squaw Valley. The men here were taken from camps throughout the Sixth Army area and are doing the jobs they would be working at in their original stations.

When a machine part is not available and it can be made in the detachment's facilities, Sp5 Leroy A. E. Bonsack (lower left), Camp Irwin, is called upon to do the job.

Alec Cushing (upper left) and Lt. Colonel Arley A. Hayman, Department of Defense Co-ordinator and formerly of G4 Sixth Army Headquarters, discuss the progress of work and the condition of the ski slopes just prior to the North American meet. Cushing, owner of Squaw Valley Lodge, is one of the persons responsible for convincing the Olympic Committee to hold their games in Squaw Valley.

Sparks fly as Sp5 Liliburn E. Jones (right), Camp Irwin, cuts a piece of metal down to size. Jones and his assistant, Sp4 Robert G. Teague, are the detachment's welders (upper right picture).

Sorry no parking in Olympic Village, Sfc. Glyndol R. Sones (middle right picture), 293d MP Co., Ft. Ord, tells a visitor to Olympic Village. Sones and other MPs aided in the security of Olympic Village during the North American Meet.

These people (bottom right) were hoping that their services would not be called on, since they work in the Emergency Medical Radio section. Sp4 Bill McCalle, Ft. Ord, mans a military phone while Barbara Wood handles a civilian switchboard. Aid men carrying walkie-talkies report accidents to this section which alerts all the medical facilities in Squaw Valley.

Park Service Beginning Ft. Sumter Restoration

Charleston, S. C. (APFS)—Historic Ft. Sumter (twin to Presidio's Ft. Point), where an exchange of shells on April 12, 1861, opened the Civil War, is getting a restoration job that uncovers parts of the post unseen in the 20th Century.

The National Park Service plans to remove some 18,000 tons of fill that since 1894 has concealed 12 gun rooms of the pentagonal bastion that overlooks the main ship channel to Charleston harbor.

Sumter, to military students, is far more than a landmark. After the Confederates captured it, the fort was almost razed by Union shells, but its ruins turned out to be impregnable, and it was evacuated only when Sherman's forces endangered Charleston. This "strength in rubble" was a defensive lesson learned later at Cassino and Stalingrad in WWII.

At the time that the first Confederate shell burst over Sumter it had a force of 73 troops and a few civilians under Maj. Robert Anderson. One of these was Capt. Abner Doubleday, the "father of baseball," who fired the first return shot.

Anderson surrendered Sumter 32 hours later after it had taken a rain of 3,000 shells. The only fatality, however, was a Pvt. Daniel Hough, killed during a 100-gun salute to the descending U.S. flag when the 50th gun exploded.

It was not until April 14, 1865, that Anderson, then a brigadier general, returned to Sumter to raise the flag again. That same night Lincoln was assassinated.

Girl Scouts Celebrate Anniversary

Three and one-half million Girl Scouts all over the United States last week celebrated the 47th birthday of their organization.

Here at the Presidio the 225 Brownies and Scouts began the week by attending the churches of their choice together Sunday, and have continued observing something different each day.

Monday will be devoted to homemaking, Tuesday to citizenship, Wednesday to health and safety, yesterday to international friendship, today to arts and crafts, and tomorrow to outdoor activities.

The two Brownie troops on post are under the supervision of Mrs. Pederson and Mrs. Burmeister, while the two Intermediate troops are led by Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Knight, the Eighth Grade is directed by Mrs. Keenan, and the Seniors are led by Mrs. Enmeier.

Following the climax of this week's activities, the girls and their leaders will begin preparing for another important scouting event, the Court of Awards, to be held in May, and will soon begin their annual Girl Scout cookie sell.

NAVAL RESEARCH LABORATORY citation is presented to Sp5 Travis H. Adair for his work in tracking earth satellites at Antofagasta, Chile.

kaleidoscope

An electronics technician, who just two short years ago was a military policeman in Germany, was awarded a certificate of merit this week by the Naval Research Laboratory for his outstanding work in tracking earth satellites while assigned to Project Vanguard.

"I was with the security police in Frankfurt when my first enlistment was up," says Sp5 Travis H. Adair. "I'd heard and read a great deal about the expansion in Army electronics and decided to reenlist for one of the schools. Although I didn't get my first choice, I did get a communication school and that gave me a start. Since then, I've been learning something new and exciting almost every-day."

Assigned to Antofagasta, Chile, where one of the thirteen world-wide minitrack systems had been installed, Adair was soon supervisor of his shift.

"We worked in shifts 12 hours a day for four days, then two days off, then back to the same routine on the night turn. Antofagasta is on the coast about 200 miles south of the Peruvian border. I'd say the population is about 85,000. It's a shipping center and copper is the chief export."

"There's not a great deal to do or see. I did visit the copper mines, which are operated by Americans using local labor. They're taking a great deal of copper right off the surface and it's a mechanized operation for the most part."

"Of course there was some excitement during the recent presidential elections. About 20% of our town was Communist. The people are very poor and backward and will listen to anybody that promises them something better than they have. There were a great number of celebrations, almost every night, during the elections and we were restricted to certain areas. Yes, the non-Communist candidate won, but it was a very close race."

"Then there was always baseball. We helped several of the local schools form teams and taught them the game. We soon had a four team league going with two soldiers playing on each team. They learn baseball very fast and in no time at all many, or I should say, most, were better players than their teachers."

"No, I didn't notice a great deal of anti-Americanism. There were some who didn't like it because we were there, but there were more who did." Sp5 Adair says, the launchings of a satellite always caused a great deal of flurry as the teams had to get a quick fix on the satellite.

"On some we had advance warning, say an hour. On others it was only a minute or two. We picked Zeta up, I mean Atlas, we had code names for each of the satellites, on its first three orbits."

The complement of the station was about 26 men and one officer, with several civilian representatives.

"We were the first minitrack station to establish direct contact with Washington, D.C. and were named the most proficient of the minitrack stations. We had a great crew."

Sp5 Adair is currently assigned to the MARS radio station at the Presidio. He is married and the father of a 14 month old daughter, Darlene.

"I only saw my daughter once before I left for Chile. My wife Gertrude is Austrian. I met her in Vienna. They are currently living with my family in San Fernando."

Sp5 Adair's plans are for more and more study. "I'm going to enroll in college courses at the Army Education Center. I hope to begin a course in Electronic Physics soon. Until I start that, I'll be brushing up through USAFI study."

Not a bad start for a 23-year old who only discovered his chosen field less than two years ago.

Legion's 40th Anniversary Features Army Members

This Sunday marks the close of American Legion Week and the 40th Anniversary Celebration. Highlight of the week is a program to be held in Golden Gate Park Concourse at 1400 hours on that day. A complete two-hour program has been arranged by the San Francisco County Council of the American Legion.

Colonel Andrew R. Lolli, a veteran combat commander and staff officer, presently commanding the 40th Artillery Brigade (Air Defense), Fort Barry, will be the guest of honor and principal speaker. His subject will be "Army-Air Defense."

Colonel Lolli, as a working member of a NATO Headquarters, participated in eleven international conferences which included the Bagdad Pact, the Paris Conference, the London Conference, the Black Sea Conference and the Balkan Pact.

Also on the program will be Mr. Jack Ertola, San Francisco attorney, who will be representing the American Legion along with Colonel R. J. Stillman, Deputy G-1, Headquarters Sixth U.S. Army, and Lieutenant Colonel Lenore M. Price, WAC, representing Lieutenant General Charles D. Palmer, Commanding General, Sixth U.S. Army. Representatives from the Office of the Governor and the Mayor of San Francisco will be present.

Chairman for the event is Captain Harry K. Bjornberg, Headquarters Sixth U.S. Army.

Commander of the San Francisco County Council of the American Legion is Mr. Hal Hubbard who is an active member of the American Legion and the 40 and 8.

Need Workers!

Due to the loss of several workers, and vacation absences, volunteers are urgently needed to help in the Post Thrift Shop, and anyone interested is urged to call Mrs. Lloyd Parsons, Ext. 3625.

Hours for the Shop, which provides support for all Presidio Youth Activities, are from 1100 to 1500 Monday through Friday.

Russian Hill was the haven of the city's artists and writers in the early days, among them Ambrose (Bitter) Bierce, Joaquin Miller, Ina Coolbrith, George Sterling, Peter B. Kyne, Stewart Edward White and Kathleen and Charles Norris.

This repeat live performance will star William Warfield, Eddie "Rochester" Anderson and Earle Hyman. The story tells of a Sunday school teacher in the deep South who describes Biblical events in terms that her youngsters can readily understand. As she speaks, the events are dramatized.

Missile Cook Book Will 'Blast Off' For Distaff Club

Betty Crocker and other culinary experts will soon have competition on their hands. The ladies of the Officers' Wives' Club of the San Francisco Army Air Defense Command will shortly market a cookbook of their own. Titled "The Guided Skillet," the cookbook will be on sale for one dollar each, beginning the second week of April. Proceeds are to go to the support of the Army Distaff Club in Washington, D. C.

"The Guided Skillet" will feature a variety of recipes, blasting off with cocktails and appetizers and zooming on through the various courses to delicious desserts. All recipes were submitted by members of the club.

Chairman of the project is Mrs. E. A. Grambort, and the publication is being done by club members. Special art work has been done by Mrs. James R. McClymont and the cover was designed by Mrs. Royal L. Leidy.

'Tourettes' Is Topic At PWC Luncheon

"Tourettes," interesting trips within a 200-mile radius of San Francisco, will be discussed by Miss Carol Lane at the Presidio Woman's Club Luncheon, to be held on 2 April in the Officers' Open Mess.

Honor Guard Wins Basketball Crown

WHO WOULDN'T SMILE? Col. M. M. Brown, Commanding Officer, Presidio of San Francisco presented trophies to the winning teams in Intramural basketball competition. Happy recipients are (l. to r.) Sfc. David Stanley, Pfc. Joseph Picklin, Sp4 Ned Herriot, Col. Brown, Pfc. Glen McDonald, Sp4 Robert Mulvihill and Sgt. William Britt.

McDonald High Scorer; MRU Finishes Second

By Pvt. Dale C. Clark
Star Presidian Sports Editor

The Honor Guard, after winning the Ft. Scott League in intramural basketball, continued their victorious ways and went on to capture the Post Championship in five straight games. In fact, they had wrapped up the title, taken three-day passes given by their grateful CO, Capt. William LeGrow, and returned to duty again before the second place team had been determined.

Scores of the games in the play-offs for Post Champion are: Honor Guard and 21st Engineers, 65-57; Honor Guard and 16th B.P.O., 69-52; Honor Guard and MRU, 68-66; Honor Guard and Hq. 6th ARADCOM, 86-54; Honor Guard and Hq. Co., 30th Engineers, 80-64.

Not only did the team win the title but its leading scorer, Pfc. Glen McDonald, also copped the scoring crown as he poured 232 points through the net in 10 games. Other top scorers were Sp4 Fred Cagle of the 6th ARADCOM cagers in second with 184 points in nine games. Third place honors go to Pfc. Frank Zechel of 16th B.P.O. with 173 in 10 games.

MRU finished with a 4-1 record in the play-offs for the Post Champion as their only defeat was by two points to the hot Honor Guard quintet. They had previously won the Presidio League championship over the second place 16th B.P.O. MRU had no scorers in the top three but they were a potent threat as they had three men close to the 100 mark. VonWeyhe hit 93 in five games, Vesevich 100 in six games, and Packard 103 in eight games. VonWeyhe is currently on the Army All-Stars and competing in AAU tournaments with the team.

Persons interested in trying out for the Post Baseball Team should contact Sfc. Mary Phillips at the Sports Office, Bldg. 122 or call ext. 2282/3968. Practice begins 23 March.

Nieder Sets New Stadium Record; Will Meet O'Brien

Lt. Bill Nieder set a new Baxter Stadium mark of 61-3 in the shot put as the San Francisco Olympic Club downed College of the Pacific 62-53 in a dual meet at Stockton. This eclipsed the old mark of 59-2 set by Parry O'Brien in 1956.

Nieder competed under a Department Army directive that allows military personnel to participate on an athletic club team representing the service if the home installation does not have a team. Such a situation exists here at the Presidio as Nieder is Sports Officer, coach, manager and sole competitor in track and field events.

Other military men of note doing the same are Lt. Al Hall and Pfc. Don Bragg of Ft. Lee who compete for points on the New York Athletic Club and are still regarded as competing for the Army. Hall competes in the hammer-throw and Bragg is the current world pole-vault record holder.

Lt. Nieder has stated he will "go all out for the record in the next two meets." First of these is the All-Comers meet at San Jose this weekend, followed by the Easter Relays at Santa Barbara. At the latter, Nieder will duel personally with Parry O'Brien, the current record holder, who put the shot 61-8 last week.

Fencers Dominate Open Foils Competition Here

During the weekend past, Letterman Army Hospital virtually dominated the Individual Open Foil contest held at the San Francisco School of Fencing. Four of the first six slots were filled by LAH fencers and top man of the meet was M/Sgt. Severo Pasol. He defeated Girard Biagini, 6th ranked foil fencer in the U.S. and 12th in the world, for the title and only lost one bout in the final round.

Third place was a tie between Peter Schwartz and Karl Dorman of the LAH team. Coach William O'Brien of the LAH fencers tied for fifth with Gnno Selberg.

The LAH-PSF duelers now hold down four of the six available slots eligible for the U.S. National team and five of the nine places in competition for the Pacific Coast Championship.

Their next meet is Sunday at the LAH Gym, time 1300 hours, for competition in the preliminary and final rounds of the Northern California Individual Open Sabre Championship.

Torero Keglers Lead AF Bowling League

The Toreros lead the Armed Forces Bowling League by one game over the Travis keggers. They can make or break their hold on the Airmen as they host Travis in league play on the Presidio Service Club lanes at 1300 tomorrow.

The Toreros as a team and as individual bowlers have nailed down most of the league titles in play thus far. They can boast "high team series—2,735; high team single games—980 and 969; individual high three games—Anderson of PSF with 629 and 617; individual high single game—Anderson again with 266 and 258, and individual high average for 24 games—Anderson of PSF is second with 185."

40th Brigade Cinches 6th Region Basketball

The 40th Artillery Brigade basketball team from Ft. Barry has clinched the 6th Region Army Air Defense Command championship by taking a 57-48 victory over the 31st Artillery Brigade from McChord AFB, Washington, in the 6th Region finals at Los Angeles. It was their third win in as many days as they copped the first place trophy despite a first-round setback in the double-elimination tourney.

High scorers for the San Francisco team in the deciding game were Lt. Frank Evangelho with 24, and Pfc. Harry Lux who hit 14. Other team members are: Sp4 George Flauta, Sp4 Hubert Taylor, Sp4 Alan Alexander, Pfc. Gerold Thompson, Pfc. Ronald Fisher, Pfc. Marion Landes, Pfc. Donald Hubbell, Pfc. Clemmon Towels, Pfc. James Sabus, Pfc. James Dwyer and Pvt. George Bouse, Jr.

The 6th Region Champs will now compete against winners of the other regional tournaments in the All-Army Air Defense Command Tournament in New York.

Nikes, Alley Kats Lead In Keg Play

Nikes in the Wednesday Night Bowling League still ride herd on the rest of the teams as they sport a ten game advantage over their nearest rivals. In the latest keg action, Nikes sliced the Cutups 3-1 as Ross rolled 555-210 for the winners. Tops for the losers was Helga Lee, a feminine keg artist, with 461-183.

Pickups came on strong and dumped Guys and Dolls 3-1 behind the hot pin work of Johnson with 550-210. Gibbs was the bright spot in the loss as he registered a 431-156.

Spoilers squashed the Retorts 4-0 with Browning flashing a fancy 598-225 for the winners. Another gal bowler, Jean Dempsey, led the losers with 427-149.

Tyros and Alley Bys didn't hurt each other one bit as they split 2-2. O'Donnell of the Tyros hit 494-171 but Shoudel topped him with 548-212.

The Presidio League is still ruled over by the Keystone Kops but their lead was cut this week when they split 2-2 with the Alley Rats. For the Kops it was Johnson with 522-204 but Worsfold of the Rats topped even that with a hot 566-236.

Shafters in second picked up two games this week as they shut out SFAADS 4-0 behind Thrailkill's strong 525-200. Only salvation for the losers was Schweikhard with 432-155.

Recruiters nipped 60th CI 4-0 to maintain their third place position. Bolton rolled a red-hot 594-226 as Smith was tops for the losers with 486-182.

King Pins swept their series with the Islanders 4-0 when Anderson hit the week's best 602-214 for the winners. Lundahl carded a 483-180 for the losers.

WAC Bowling is led by the sharp Alley Kat team who dumped the Brewmasters 3-1 this week. Berry of the Kats rolled 457-178 as her rival on the Brewmasters, Reinke hit 457-183.

Powder Puffs dusted the Orbits 3-1 behind Yaggie's 452-154. She was bested by Harris of the Orbits with 460-168.

The Bay Bowling League leaders, G1, showed no mercy as they blasted Compt-Rollers 4-0 and jumped to a 1½-game lead over their nearest rivals. For G1 it was Lowe with 578-224, 200 as Morgan of the losers recorded a 484-181.

MRU jumped into third by besting Hq. Co. 6A 3-1 with Anderson's 580-225 leading the way. Lux carded 493-172 for the opposition.

JAGS upended 6A Signal 3-1 when Cucurull registered a 501-214. Signal's best was Hunt with 479-174.

Triple Aces came off the deck to knock Garrison out of third by 3-1. Blumenfeld rolled 552-189 for the Aces. Shelton was high for Garrison with 537-212.

In the Pacific League, Wilmoth led the leading Hq. Co. 6A No. 3 to a smashing 4-0 victory over the AAA Sparks as he rolled high game and series for the week 575-223. Beery of the Sparks hit 515-214.

Hilltoppers swamped the Hq. Co. 6A No. 2, 4-0. Rosset was high for the winners with 519-199 and Lux had 525-190 for Hq. No. 2.

Regioners pulled the league upset of the week as they cut the 30th Group down to size 3-1. Niles led the winners with a sparkling 543-192. Tuttle was tops for the 30th with 513-188.

Retorts and Warrants postponed their game until tonight.

All-Stars Beat Colorado In Special Exhibition

LATE FLASH—The Army All-Stars, under mentor Hal Fischer, are finding the climate at Denver to their liking as they whipped Akron, Ohio, 88-71 in second round action.

Other scores are: U.S. Marines 63, Seattle 62.

Latest word from Denver on the Army All-Stars by Coach Hal Fischer is the result of a practice session with Colorado State University. In three 20-minute halves the All-Stars turned back the collegians 138-94.

A little bad news also as Ted Savage sprained an ankle in the session, making it the second one in two days, Richard Smith having taken the same route the day before.

Both players are walking but neither is capable of jumping or running.

Fischer believes that they will have about 85 to 90 per cent usage by tournament time. "I don't have to worry about ice cubes to pack the ankles, as we can just go out the door and get a bucket of snow," Fischer stated.

When the All-Stars leave Denver after competing in the AAU Basketball Championship they will head east for the Interservice Playoffs at Mitchell Air Force Base, New York. Winning team in the playoffs will form the nucleus of a composite team to represent the Armed Forces in the Pan American Playoffs at Louisville, Kentucky, 2-4 April.

6th Region To Sponsor Soapbox Derby Entries

Ever think you'd like to sponsor a winning car at Indianapolis? Here's a chance to sponsor one on a small scale. It may not be the "brickyard" but to every boy between the ages of 11 and 15 it's every bit as good. The case in mention is the Soap Box Derby International Championship held every year in mid-August at Akron, Ohio. Top prize to the winner is a $5,000 college scholarship.

Lt. Col. Calvin B. Leek, 6th Region ARADCOM Special Services Officer, announced that Derby participation is open to children of Army Air Defense Command personnel. Plans call for sponsorship of potential entrants by each Battery on a coast-to-coast basis.

Col. Leek stated that "Battery craft shops will be placed at the boys' disposal and instruction will be given them on how the building of their racers will best meet the Derby qualifications."

Nike units will be shown as sponsors by emblems on the racer or on the T-shirt or sweater worn by the entrant.

Brandon First As Bad Luck Plagues Soldier Ski Team

You can't beat the Swiss at their own game but you can come close to it. The fact was proven by fifth place finisher Jim Brandon of Boise, Idaho, with a time of 6:17.8 in the Parsenn Derby ski race at Davos, Switzerland. Brandon was the top finisher of the four-man Army team in the race.

Team captain, Lt. Col. Kenneth B. Floto of San Francisco, after setting an excellent pace in the first half, fell heavily while trying to avoid a Swiss skier who had started earlier but had broken a ski on the way down. Col. Floto was not hurt but he lost several minutes getting back on the track and finished unplaced.

Another member of the team, Fred A. Allen, fell and broke his leg to add to the misfortunes.

Seek NorCal Title

The 6th ARADCOM volleyball team (All-ARADCOM champs) will compete in the NorCal State Open Volleyball Championship starting tomorrow, 0930, in the Berkeley High School gym. The meet is sponsored by the Berkeley YMCA.

In the words of Coach M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio, "We are in perfect shape right now and expect to be trouble for any other team in the meet."

Budding Hemingway?

From Pigskin To Portable

Wonder what a pro football player does between seasons? There's one good example here on post in the person of Ronnie Knox, former U. of Cal. and UCLA quarterback putting in his two weeks of active duty at the Presidio Sports Office to fulfill his reserve obligation. In his spare time and between seasons Ronnie writes. "Poetry, novels, short stories, anything I can think of. After I leave here I'm going to Acapulco, Mexico, to work on a fictional novel titled 'Whisper Hello'."

Asked if he had any of his work published, Ronnie replied, "I had a poem titled 'Scarecrow' published by the Toronto Telegram and another Toronto publisher is interested in a novel I've called 'We'll Laugh, Girl.' It's about a jazz musician, sex, mixed marriages; sort of a slice of life." He says that he has been interested in writing "as far back as I can remember." In college Ronnie majored in English, which gives him extensive background for his writing attempts.

Ronnie quarterbacked the UCLA club that lost to Michigan State 17-14 in the Rose Bowl when Dave Kaiser booted a 41-yard State field goal with only seconds remaining. "The irony of it was that I played on the West All-American High School football team in the East-West Championship at Memphis, Tenn., and he played for the East in 1953." He admitted to breaking and still holding a National High School record of tossing 27 touchdown passes in one season while starring for Santa Monica High School.

Ronnie has appeared in bit parts in the movies and a few TV roles. He can be seen in "Pork Chop Hill," starring Gregory Peck and soon to be at the Post theater. "Look for a G.I. carrying a flame thrower and it'll probably be me," he joked. "It was just like basic at Ft. Chaffee filming that picture. Up at 0430, down to the Goldwyn lot at 0700, then out to location for a day's shooting in the 90° plus temperature."

FORMER UCLA FOOTBALL flash Ronnie Knox checked into the Presidio this week for two weeks active duty training as a clerk typist in the Post Special Services section. The controversial backfield ace played Canadian football last year and expects to return there this fall. He is currently under contract to the Chicago Bears. Knox hopes that sometime in the near future he will be able to swap his pigskin for a portable—he has literary aspirations.

TV is a little better, according to Ronnie, and he has been in a few shows to gather that knowledge. His first appearance was in a "Steve Canyon" show, then Playhouse 90 and "The Male Animal," with Edmund O'Brien and Andy Griffith, and Schlitz Playhouse with Guy Madison. "In the latter I was cast as a pro football star, which is about as close to type as you can get, I guess."

His football plans this year are to play with the Toronto Argonauts in Canadian pro ball. Although under contract to the Chicago Bears he is loaned out to the Canadian team. Asked his opinion of Canadian ball, he answered, "I think they play a better brand of wide-open ball and I know that I enjoy it more. The Canadian fans are a rugged group and really turn out for all the games, no matter what the conditions. They seem to have developed more spirit than fans here in the States."

Beat Arnold Palmer

MPA Golf Tournament Starts At Presidio Club

Limber up those stiff muscles, pay the man a dollar and play to "Beat Arnold Palmer" in this year's Military Police Association annual International Golf Day.

Everyone is eligible to compete and anyone can win since this is a handicap event. Nearly a third of the contestants have taken advantage of their handicaps to beat Jackie Burke (1957) and Doug Ford (1958) who each turned in 74's in the first round of their Master's Tournament title defense. Players must decide before playing whether they will use their established club handicap or the Callaway system.

An added attraction for the lady duffers is the permissible seven strokes that may be added to their established club handicaps before subtracting from their gross score (does not apply if you choose to use the Callaway system).

You may play any day up to and including Thursday, 2 April, 1959. Any 18-hole course, or two consecutive rounds over a nine-hole course, may be used. Capt. Leaman Harvey is Presidio coordinator for the contest and may be contacted at 4188, or information concerning the contest may be picked up at the Provost Marshal, Bldg. 106.

Prize in this year's contest is a key chain with a handsome rose-bronze medallion inscribed: "I beat Arnold Palmer on MPA International Golf Day, 1959." A woven-metal chain links the medallion to a key ring with a safety catch.

Powell Is Victim Of Lucky Shot In Gloves Battle

Tom Powell, Presidio's one-man boxing team, was eliminated from the local Golden Gloves contest by a TKO. "Powell was ahead on points when he was tagged by a wild swing from nowhere and was too groggy to continue the contest." This word came from no less a personality than Al Sandell, Inspector, State Athletic Commission of California.

He is still eligible to compete in the Pan American Games trials to be held later this year. His inexperience held him out of the All-Army tryouts currently being conducted at Ft. Benning.

There are expected to be more than 50 candidates tossing leather for positions on the ten-man Army team that will participate in the Inter-service tournament, also at Benning, 1-3 April. Assistant coaches M/Sgt. Pat Nappi and Balzer (Gunner) Lowenstein have arrived and are helping veteran Billy Cavanaugh, former West Point coach, whip the team candidates into shape.

HONOR GUEST at the Distaff Club Tea at the quarters of Mrs. Charles D. Palmer last week were Mrs. Riley F. Ennis, pouring, and Mrs. William N. White. Ladies were honored for their outstanding work in raising funds from retired personnel in the Bay Area for support of the Army Distaff Club. Mrs. Ennis acted as chairman of the Retired Officers Wives Fund and Mrs. White was chairman of the Planning Committee.

Distaff Club Campaign, Termed 'Very Successful'

Mrs. Charles D. Palmer announced this week that Army wives throughout the Sixth Army area have raised nearly six and one half thousand dollars in support of the Army Distaff Club in Washington, D. C.

"Although a number of installation reports are incomplete at this time, it is already evident that the fine, spirited ladies who sparked these campaigns have done a wonderful job," said Mrs. Palmer. "Their hard work and dedication will be the means of making yesterday's dream tomorrow's reality."

The Army Distaff Foundation, recently incorporated in Washington, D. C., will provide a non-profit apartment house and club facilities for the daughters and widows of Army officers. Campaigns to raise funds to defray the initial costs of incorporation and other pertinent expenses are being conducted Army-wide.

"We're currently running a very close second to Second U.S. Army, according to information I've just received from Mrs. Maxwell Taylor," states Mrs. Palmer. "Less than a hundred dollars, in fact. With a lot of our returns, in fact. Complete, we still have a good chance to lead all of the rest of the areas."

Mrs. Riley F. Ennis and Mrs. William N. White served as chairmen for the fund raising and planning committees for the Retired Officers group.

Mrs. Palmer's report followed a tea hosted by her for leaders of the campaign in the Bay Area. She is the Western States representative for the national committee. Local chairmen who reported at the tea included:

Mrs. John H. Stokes and Mrs. Marion Sheehy, Peninsula area; Mrs. Claude E. Burbach, Contra Costa County; Mrs. M. F. Dean, Berkeley, Lafayette, Orinda and Walnut Creek; Mrs. William E. Long, Marin County; Mrs. Hammond Monroe, Alameda County, and Mrs. Weyland B. Augur, San Francisco County.

Other reports by state and unit included:

Chemist, Typist Job Openings Here

Job openings at the Presidio this week include: Medical Technologist and Clerk Typist.

Qualifications for the Technologist position include the successful completion of a four-year course in medical technology leading to a bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university; the completion of at least three years in academic work at a college or university and 90 hours of college course-work.

Applicants also must have completed a four-year course in chemistry or one of the biological sciences.

Applications for vacancies must be submitted with the Civilian Personnel Division, Bldg. 227, no later than 23 March.

Other vacancies are clerk typist, tabulation project planner, boiler fireman, personnel security clerk and two openings for a clerk stenographer.

A CIVILIAN SOLDIER was promoted at the Presidio as former Warrant Officer Erich A. Wesel, Asst. A. G. for the 91st Infantry Div., USAR, had Captain's "Railroad Tracks" pinned on his shoulders by Brig. Gen. Richard H. Neddersen, Asst. Div. Commander, and Maj. Gen. Stuart D. Menist, Commanding General of the 91st.

Ord Is First Winner

For achieving 89.4% of its 1958 reenlistment goal, Ft. Ord recently was awarded the Sixth Army's first annual Reenlistment Incentive Trophy.

To be given each year to the Sixth Army installation having the highest reenlistment rate among its permanent party enlisted personnel, the trophy was accepted this year by Maj. Gen. Carl F. Fritzsche, Commanding General, Ft. Ord.

Dinner Meet Set

A dinner meeting for members of the C.B.I.V.A. will be held on 4 April at the Kuo Wah Cafe, 950 Grant Avenue.

Chairman of the National Reunion Investigating Committee, Herbert Jackson, will present a report, and the floor will be given to anyone wishing to voice an opinion or make a suggestion.

Cocktails will be served at 1830 and dinner at 1930, the price will be $3.00 per person.

VA Will Review WWII Claims On Disability

More than 280,000 veterans whose claims for compensation or pension had previously been denied by the Veterans Administration will now have their claims reviewed, according to Sumner G. Whittier, Administrator of Veterans Affairs.

These veterans are those whose claims were disallowed by VA after World War II and prior to 1955 for the reason that their claimed disabilities were not shown at the time of their last examination.

The VA for the past several years has been conducting a review for errors in compensation and pension claims allowed after World War II, and veteran organizations had requested a similar review of disallowed cases.

Consequently, a pilot study was ordered in March, 1958, by Mr. Whittier to determine whether a broadened review of disallowed claims was in order. The pilot study was carried on in seven regional offices in widely-separated sections of the nation.

By far the largest source of the comparatively few errors discovered was the category "disability not shown at time of last examination." A full review is being ordered of the more than 280,000 disallowed claims in this category.

Projecting the findings of the pilot study to the disallowed claims involved in the broadened review indicates as many as 2,000 veteran-claimants might be found eligible for monetary awards.

The new review, Mr. Whittier said, will soon be underway in several VA regional offices on a "time available" basis, and will be extended to all 67 regional offices as soon as the current workload permits.

Four Win $360 Suggestion Cash At Quartermaster Commissary

Who says 13 isn't a lucky number? Four Post Commissary civilian employees hit the jackpot on winning $360 worth of Department of the Army suggestion award money and certificates, and nine other employees from Civilian Personnel Division, Post Signal and Post Engineer Sections won a total of $410.

Colonel M. M. Brown, Commanding Officer, made the presentations this week.

Big suggestion money award winners from the Quartermaster Commissary were: Mr. Leland Sargent, forklift operator, $100 for his suggestion to install adjustable steel shelving in the commissary. In addition to savings of $2,954 a year, it also increased safety and production time. Mr. Leland has been a federal employee for 15 years. Mr. Arthur Goodloe, Lead Foreman, $100 for suggested relocation of the cutting and marking section. This suggestion has improved service to commissary patrons, and increased production. Mr. Goodloe has also been in Federal service for 15 years.

Mr. John Garbe, Warehouseman, General, $100 for suggested improvement in the method of unloading carcasses. As a result of the implementation of this idea, unloading of other types of merchandise has been considerably expedited. It also eliminates the danger to personnel working or walking in aisle while merchandise is being unloaded. Mr. Garbe has been a civilian employee more than eight years.

Mr. Ernest Watson, Produce Supervisory, $60, for revised schedule of buying produce. Monetary savings of $1,296 per year. In addition to the savings, increased service and production have resulted.

Post Signal Section winners were: Mr. Ralph Phillips, Inside Plant Chief, $35 for his suggestion to install direct private line circuits in seditions where communications are vital in the case of an emergency. Suggestion is being forwarded to higher headquarters for possible wider applications. Mr. Robert McCoy, Photo Equipment Repairman, $25, an additional award for his suggestion on "modification of dryer."

This information will be included in Department of the Army Technical Bulletin TB SIG 213, Digest of Field Reports for Signal Corps Equipment, and was recommended by the Dept. of the Army Signal Corps Incentive Awards Committee. McCoy has submitted six suggestions (three were group suggestions), all of which have been implemented; and Mr. Leo Albert, Jr., Telephone Installer Repairman, $10, for suggested telephone brackets.

Post Engineer winners were: Mr. Frank Briones, Warehouseman, $10, for suggestion to prepare an additional copy of DA Form 5-102, Warehouse Issue Slip. Since inception of the FIA System, the additional copy is being utilized in Post Engineer Accounting Division; Mr. Lucien Gagne, Head Carpenter, $10, for suggestion to paint top and bottom treads of stairways in buildings 38 and 39; Mr. Michael Timke, Electrician, $10, for suggested relocation of light standards on passenger dock for Angel Island at Ft. Baker.

Superior Performance Award winners were: Mr. Boyd Wise, Maintenance Lead Foreman, $200; and Mrs. Irene Lee, Appropriation Account Clerk, $100.

Mrs. Lorraine Bertelsman, Civilian Personnel Division, Clerk-Typographer, $10 for her suggestion to place a pull-cord on window to provide better ventilation. Mrs. Bertelsman has been in Civil Service more than 14 years.

The constant urging and encouragement by supervisors and civilian employee utilization representatives for employees to submit efficient and economy ideas has saved the government thousands of dollars per year.

Ranger Battalions To Hold Reunion In Des Moines

The Ranger Battalions Association, an organization of World War II members of the First, Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Ranger Battalions will hold its biennial reunion 14, 15, 16 August in Des Moines, Iowa.

The headquarters for the reunion and meetings will be at the Savery Hotel. The program committee has arranged events for all Rangers, their wives and families.

All former members of these Ranger battalions are urged to become members of the association and should write Les Kness, Secretary, Ranger Battalions Association at 3807 Bowdoin, Des Moines 13, Iowa, or to P.O. Box 1166, Washington, D.C., for more information.

Ranger reunions have been held every two years since 1951 with some 300 Rangers and their families attending the last reunion in 1957 in Detroit, Mich.

New Dean to Visit

Preparatory to becoming Dean of the Academy Board of the United States Military Academy, West Point, N. Y., Col. William W. Bessell Jr. this Sunday will arrive at Ft. Baker to begin the Western phase of a special nation-wide tour of ground and air defense military installations.

The purpose of this tour is to familiarize the Colonel with the mission, duties, organization and other functions of ground and air defense service as they pertain to the type of career officer the Academy is dedicated to producing in the interests of national security.

Reception Set

A welcoming reception for newly assigned officers and their ladies will be held in the Presidio Officers' Open Mess on 31 March, between 1815 and 2000.

The uniform will be Army Blue with four-in-hand tie, and the following schedule has been set up for attendance: 1845—Those whose last initial is from A-G; 1900—Those whose last initials from H-P; 1915—Anyone whose initial is from Q-Z; and, at 1930, officers of the 30th Eng. Bn.

Pamphlet Series On Communism Now Being Issued

Washington (ANS) — A new series of pamphlets on communism and its impact on democratic institutions is being provided to members of the Armed Forces throughout the world by the Office of Armed Forces Information and Education, Department of Defense.

Based on a book entitled "Democracy versus Communism" by Dr. Kenneth Colegrove, educator, author and lecturer, the series consists of ten pamphlets: (1) "Democracy Faces Communism," (2) "What Is Communism," (3) "What Communists Do To Liberty," (4) "How Communism Controls People's Ideas," (5) "How the Communist Party Operates," (6) "How Communists Gain and Keep Power," (7) "Communist Party Rule of Soviet Russia," (8) "How Communism Controls People's Economic Life," (9) "How Workers and Farmers Fare Under Communism," (10) "Communist Conquest and Colonization."

Distribution within the Army has begun on the basis of one copy for each 20 individuals.

Mudgett New Deputy CG For Sixth Army

Major General Gilman C. Mudgett, C.G., U.S. Army Alaska, has been assigned as Deputy Commanding General, Headquarters Sixth U.S. Army, Presidio of San Francisco, effective 1 June. General Mudgett will succeed Major General Robert L. Howze, whose assignment to U.S. Army Europe was announced recently.

Major General John H. Michaelis, Chief of Legislative Liaison, Office of the Secretary of the Army, has been named to succeed General Mudgett as Commanding General of U.S. Army Alaska, effective in August.

In October, 1955, General Mudgett reported to Fort Ord, Calif., to become Commanding General of the Fifth Infantry Division. In mid-February of 1957 he left Fort Ord for Fort Richardson, Alaska, where he became Commanding General of U.S. Army, Alaska. Previous to his assignment at Ft. Ord, he had served as Army Chief of Information from November, 1953.

General Mudgett was born March 7, 1901, in Valley City, North Dakota. He was graduated from the United States Military Academy in June, 1922, and was commissioned a second lieutenant of Cavalry.

During the next five years, General Mudgett had troop duty with various Cavalry units in this country and in the Philippines. In August, 1927, he entered the Cavalry School at Fort Riley, Kansas, where he completed the troop officers' course in 1928, and the advanced equitation course in 1929. He then became an instructor at the Cavalry School.

From 1931 to 1933, General Mudgett was stationed in Europe,

63E-9's, 67E-8's Key Promotions In Area

Sixth U.S. Army announced this week the allocation of 63 E-9 promotion vacancies and 67 E-8 spaces to initiate the new promotion program. Major commanders throughout the Army have been given authority for a total of 800 promotions to this grade during April, May and June of this year.

In order to permit commanders an adequate degree of selectivity, the time required in grade E-8 has been established at four months for this initial allocation only. Time in grade requirements will be increased for subsequent quotas. Other prerequisites for promotion to E-9 include:

- Be recommended by the immediate commanding officer and be in an appointable status.
- Have completed 18 years' active Federal service at least 10 of which must be enlisted service creditable in the computation of basic pay.
- Occupy a position which may reasonably be expected to be upgraded to E-9.

As in the case of promotion to E-8, there is a below-the-zone provision for promotion of exceptionally outstanding soldiers to E-9. Commanders are authorized to appoint, not exceeding 20 per cent of their quotas, individuals who have completed at least 10 years' active Federal service and who have 10 years of cumulative enlisted service.

Since the Army began to promote to grade E-8 on 1 June, 1958, a total of 3,300 promotions have been authorized to that grade including the current allocation of 800 for the three-month period ending 30 June, 1959.

Enlisted Promotion Quotas For This Quarter Announced

Temporary enlisted promotion quotas in grades E-4 through E-7 for the quarter year ending 30 June 1959 were announced by Sixth US Army this week. The allocations authorized by DA include 6 to E-7, 8 to E-6, 81 to E-5 and 1719 to E-4. Local allocations from this total will be announced at a later date.

Armywide enlisted promotion quotas in grades E-4 through E-7 for the quarter year ending 30 June 1959 were set at: 686 to E-7; 1,052 to E-6; 6,460 to E-5 and 32,210 to E-4.

Because of present Armywide overstrengths, appointments to pay grades E-7, E-6 and E-5 are not authorized in the following MOSs: 191, 192, 421, 518, 524, 542, 551, 553, 555, 621, 622, 631, 632, 635, 643, 714, 716, 719, 762, 763, 764, 767, 941, 942, 943, 951, 952, 073, and 074.

In addition, appointments are not authorized in the grades E-7 and E-5 in MOS 768 and in grades E-7 and E-6 in MOS 717.

New Multi-Purpose Telefork Is Tested For Nike Site Use

Washington (ANS)—An experimental multi-purpose vehicle named "Telefork" designed by the Army Quartermaster Corps to reduce operating cost and simplify the handling of Army missile components at launching sites is now being evaluated for use at Nike installations, DA announced this week.

During the preliminary tests, conducted at missile sites of the U.S. Army Air Defense Command, the equipment demonstrated its ability to unload boxed or packaged missile components, tow missile trailers to the launching site, and with its crane attachment aid in assembling the missile on the launching rack.

Features of the vehicle include front and rear axle steering and a side shifting device that permits the forks to move two feet to either side of center to pick up off-center loads. The body and forks also can be tilted right or left, independent of the axles, to permit pick-up of loads set at an angle or to carry loads at an even level across a hillside.

If adopted, the telefork will perform the work of several single-purpose vehicles at each launching site. It has a lifting capacity of 10,000 pounds as a forklift, can pull 19,000 pounds as a tractor and can handle 10,000 pounds with its slewing crane boom.

where he served as an observer with the British and French armies, and as a student at the Ecole d'Application de Cavalerie (French Army Cavalry School) at Saumur, France, from which he was graduated in 1932. Upon his return to the United States, he served with the Civilian Conservation Corps for eight months and then returned to the Cavalry School at Fort Riley for a three-year tour of duty as an instructor.

General Mudgett entered the Command and General Staff School at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, in September, 1937. Upon graduation in 1938, he entered the Fort Monroe, Va.—Paper clothing for soldiers . . . armor made of nylon . . . chicken and French fries for combat field troops . . . rocket delivery of food and ammunition—Something from science fiction?

Not at all.

These startling innovations, and many others, are now under development for tomorrow's fighting soldiers by the Army Quartermaster Corps.

While most of the actual research and development of these items takes place in the Quartermaster Research and Engineering Command at Natick, Massachusetts, the Plans and Doctrine Division of the USCONARC Quartermaster Section provides technical assistance based on observation of actual troop operations in the field.

There is nothing glamorous or spectacular about stacks of rations, bales of clothing, drums of gasoline and oil, laundry and bath equipment, or the many other items issued or operated by Quartermaster soldiers. But without them, the combat forces could not exist.

The Quartermaster Corps provides all-important day-to-day support to the Army, essential whether we are at peace or at war and regardless of where our troops are located.

While the mission of the Quartermaster Corps—support of the individual fighting man—has been unchanged since it was established by the Continental Congress in 1775, amazing changes in weapons and methods have taken place. As technical advisor to General Bruce C. Clarke, CONARC QM Section is keeping up with these changes—and looking to tomorrow—in supplying the basic needs of the soldier. These include his food, his clothing, and individual equipment, his shelter in the field, and other personal services.

Along with the bread-and-butter aspects of the job, QM CONARC is responsible for developing plans and doctrines adaptable to any type warfare this country may have to face in the future.

Personnel in this area of operations concentrate on improving the procedures and equipment used by, or for the benefit of, combat troops.

The "Lobber" missile now under development by the Convair Corporation is an example—a free flight projectile combining rocket propulsion with mortar accuracy to deliver food, ammunition and other supplies to forward combat units. A full-sized model of a six-mile missile able to drop up to 200 pounds of critical supplies was recently displayed at Fort Benning. In use, a parachute slows down the missile toward the end of its journey to protect the payload, which is given further protection by a shock absorbing nose pin. Indications are that 70 per cent of the Lobber is recoverable for re-use.

The list goes on from there, ranging from items such as disposable paper clothing, to be worn for fatigue and field duty, to ultra-fast-opening parachutes which will enable the soldier of the future to escape safely from his "flying platform" at zero altitudes in emergencies. A pyrotechnic system opens and fully deploys his chute in just eight-tenths of a second!

The hazards of thermal radiation from atomic and nuclear weapons are being studied and experimental uniforms are being designed with thermal protection qualities built into them.

If you have ever served in the field in Arctic conditions you know how troublesome is the problem of keeping drinking water from freezing. The Quartermaster Corps is testing a twin-wall vacuum-insulated cold weather canteen which will prevent drinking water from freezing in temperatures of 40 below zero. To heat the Arctic soldier's combat rations, an individual stove has been developed. This tiny self-pressurizing gas stove furnishes heat for two hours on a half pint of gas. The stove and carrying case together weigh just one pound.

To further speed up meal preparation for soldiers in the field, rations are being dehydrated and pre-cooked. Add water and heat, for a tasty meal. Too, QM is pioneering the preservation of food by irradiation, to eliminate the need for temperature control in storage of many items.

Despite all these technological advancements, no substitute has yet been found for the individual combat man. The history of our country demonstrates that the American soldier, with proper leadership, training and equipment, has no equal on the battlefield.

The Quartermaster Corps insures that he continues to be the best fed, the best clothed, and the best equipped soldier in the world.

DEVOTED INTEREST and outstanding service given to the San Francisco Jewish Community were recognized recently as Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Dayton D. Drake, Deputy Sixth U.S. Army Chaplain, was presented a Certificate of Merit at the Jewish Welfare Board-USO Volunteers Recognition Program.

Protestant Chaplain Wins Special USO Certificate

High honors were accorded Sixth Army Protestant Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Dayton D. Drake, Deputy Sixth U.S. Army Chaplain at the annual Jewish Welfare Board-USO Volunteers Recognition Program, this week.

A Certificate of Merit presented by Mr. Esmond Schapiro, Chairman of the San Francisco Jewish Welfare Board Armed Services Committee, to Chaplain Drake, was "in recognition of meritorious service rendered to the San Francisco Jewish Community in its work to promote the welfare of military personnel stationed in the Bay Area, and for his devoted interest and wholehearted cooperation in the program sponsored by the National Jewish Welfare Board."

Chaplain (Col.) Herman H. Heuer, Sixth U.S. Army Chaplain at the Presidio of San Francisco, was the main speaker of the evening. Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Richard Cheatham, and Chaplain (Maj.) A. J. V. Fiedorezyk, Sixth Army Chaplains, were also present. Music was presented by the Sixth Army Band.

Chaplain Drake came to the Presidio from Fort MacArthur in September, 1956. He also served at the Presidio from 1949-53. Prior to duty in Korea from 1953-55, he completed the Associate Course at Command and General Staff School, Fort Leavenworth, Kans. Entering the Army in 1942, Chaplain Drake served on transport duty in the Atlantic for 37 months, and following the War, he served in the Philippines. In June, Chaplain Drake, his wife and two daughters will leave for duty at Headquarters United States Army Europe, in Heidelberg, Germany.

Chaplain Drake is a graduate of Central Baptist Seminary, Seminary Heights, Kansas City, Kans., and Kansas City University, Kansas City, Mo.

He served as Pastor of Baptist Churches in Bethel, Kans., from 1931-34; Overland Park, Kans., 1934-41, and in Rocky Ford, Colo., 1941-42.

His permanent address is 14441 E. Carnell St., Whittier, Calif.

Library Week

Presidio Libraries To Sponsor Poster Series For Children

The Presidio Post Library system is sponsoring a poster contest for all elementary school children in connection with National Library Week, April 12-18. All elementary school children are invited to enter whether they have library cards or not.

● The subject of the poster should be a scene from a favorite book or story.

● The posters must be no larger than 18 by 24 inches.

● They can be drawn in crayon, colored pencil, chalk, poster paint or any other appropriate media.

● On the back of the poster must be printed the name, address, phone number and school grade of the artist along with the title of the book or story illustrated.

● Entries may be turned in to the Main Post Library, Ft. Baker Library, or Ft. Scott Library. They must be in the library by 5 p.m. Friday, 10 April 1959.

All posters will be displayed at the Main Post Library during National Library Week. Prizes will be awarded at an Open House at the Main Library on 14 April. There will be two first prizes. One will be given for the best poster drawn by a child in grades 1 through 3 and the other for a poster of a child grade 4 through 6.

The posters will be returned at the end of National Library Week if they are called for at the library.

what they said

The harmful aspects of violence in television and movies and the increase in juvenile delinquency have often been linked by researchers. This week we ask Presidians:

Question: Do you believe children are harmfully influenced by violence on television and in the movies?

ANSWERS

Lt. Colonel Dayton D. Drake, Deputy Sixth Army Chaplain:

We don't dictate to the children on what they see, but there is an understanding in our house that crime films or those of violence will not be seen. I believe these films do have an influence and that is why they are not viewed at our house. Children are unable to distinguish between the fictitious and the real and I think the image in the child's memory of a scene of violence may be of such lasting effect that maybe we should guard against the adverse effect of it.

Mrs. Esther Montooth, Secretary, Community Relations:

I believe some children are harmfully influenced, to a degree, by violence on television and in the movies. They see types of violence on the screen which they would never witness, in all probability, in real life. Children imitate other children as well as adults. Violence, whether rough and tumble cowboy violence or the more vicious criminal violence, will be imitated unless it is balanced with large amounts of compassion and kindness. All too often children are like animals—"Monkey see, Monkey do."

Captain Carl F. Brown, Dentist, Sub Dispensary, Ft. Baker:

Yes. Up to a certain age children and young adults are not able to reason intelligently. They form their actions from their environment and from what they see and hear. Thus, if they spend several hours a week watching the movies of violence on TV, it stands to reason that a certain percentage will imitate what they see. To a certain extent I will control what my child sees—just as I was—when he is old enough to watch TV.

Miss Virginia Showers, Placement Assistant, Civilian Personnel:

I think they could be. As an example, on modern TV westerns even the good man does bad things so it is hard for younger children to discern good from bad. I don't think so-called horror movies such as Frankenstein, which are just frighteners, are as harmful as movies of murder or dope addiction. I feel that teenagers are influenced by some of the things they see in movies and consequently imitate them to seek a thrill. Not having children of my own it is difficult to say, but I do know that children from 5 to 15 years of age are very impressionable.

Major David E. Brooks, Sixth Army Radio and Television Officer:

As a father, I feel they are somewhat harmful. I can state from experience that my eight-year-old boy wakes up at night imagining strange characters are in his room after viewing a horror film. I now prevent him from seeing these horror films. I believe they are not fit for viewing for younger children as it makes them believe in the supernatural. Yes, there is too much violence shown on TV. A boy is apt to mimic these TV heroes.

Turn It Off!!

The small red-lettered signs worded "Save Electricity—Turn Off Lights Here" do not apply to switching off fluorescent lights for periods of less than two hours.

Cost studies have shown that it is cheaper to leave fluorescent lights on for periods of less than two hours. A good example is the habit of switching off fluorescent lights during the noon hour. Do not do this if the period is less than two hours. Turn off other types of lighting when not essential for safety, security or daily use.

Typing Course Set As Refresher Study

A Brush-up Typing course, from 0900 to 1100, Monday through Friday, will be held along with the high school day-time credit courses starting at the Presidio next week.

The high school courses will include: English and Literature, 0800 to 0945; U.S. Government and History, 1000 to 1200; General Mathematics, 1300 to 1445; and General Science, 1500 to 1700.

Students desiring entrance may report directly to the classes or may check with the Army Education Center, Bldg. 258, Ext. 2974, for further information.

Six Gain Rank

Six promotions to the grade of E-5 were recently given at the Presidio, with four of them going to members of the Women's Army Corps.

Attends Top Confabs

A Department of the Army conference in Wash., D.C., on 8 April, and a U.S. Army Air Defense Command conference at Ft. Meade, Md., on 11 April, will be attended by Maj. Gen. E. J. McGaw, 6th U.S. Region U.S. Army Air Defense Commander.

Hey Man, Cool!

Many musical instruments are on hand at the Embarcadero YMCA on a free check out basis to members of the Armed Forces.

Also at the "Y" are many parties, dances and other activities designed to please everyone in the service.

History was made when a private by the name of Walter Sargent became the first EM to enlist in Alaska, our 49th state. The 21-year-old Kodiak resident will become a paratrooper at Fort Bragg following his tour of basic training at Fort Ord.

Small As Sugar Cubes

Tiny Radios Will Revolutionize Defense Communications Fields

Washington (ANS)—Radios as small as sugar cubes have been successfully developed by using micro-module circuits, which are expected to play an increasingly important role in the field of defense electronics, the Department of the Army announced this week.

The micro-module program, which also has civilian applications, was sponsored by the U.S. Army Signal Corps, with the Radio Corporation of America as the prime contractor.

The micro-module program, under way since April, 1958, marks the beginning of the "cubist" era in electronics. In this new scientific and engineering revolution, the vast range of jobs done by transistors and other electronic parts is being compressed into tiny micro-modules — circuit building blocks measuring only a third of an inch on each side. Their small size can save critical space and weight in future satellite systems and rockets.

By using the "disciplined geometry" of micro-modules, electronic researchers already have achieved a better than ten to one size reduction over today's most refined equipment, using printed wiring, transistor, and other small parts. In some cases the reduction is 20 to one and further compression is considered feasible.

The military logistics complex for supporting highly mobile, widely dispersed forces of the modern Army is expected to be simplified by micro-modules. Easy replacement of defective parts in electronic equipment would require fewer skilled repairmen. Material tonnage, transport, and storage would be greatly reduced.

Although the developments have been primarily for national defense requirements, micro-modules will eventually find their way into homes, commerce and industry. The wall-type television set, its surface determined by the expanse of the viewing tube and the rest of its components in the rim of its picture frame, is nearer to reality as the result of this new concept. The electronics for record players and dictation machines could fit in a pocket or small purse under the micro-module concept. Button-size batteries already developed would provide power for these and other equipment when electrical sockets are out of reach.

Code 30 Called Love By Numbers

Washington—Thirty, the traditional figure for "the end" in the newspaper business, doesn't mean that in the Army. It means "darling."

That is according to a list of numerical codes to be used in so-called Expeditionary Force Messages. The numbers are substituted for words in order to speed transmission and to save wire space.

For instance, 29 means "love," and 30 means "darling."

In some cases, two or three digits cover whole phrases, and 15 going across the wires would mean "no news of you for some time."

And 98 means what every college boy knows—please send money.

Four Win E-8 Rank In XV Corps Order

A XVth Corps first was observed in the appointment of four master sergeants (E-7) to the grade of Master Sergeant (E-8) by orders issued at Headquarters XV U.S. Army Corps (Reserve) at the Presidio.

Receiving his appointment from Col. E. B. Hempstead, Corps Chief of Staff, was M/Sgt. James F. Manning, assigned to the G-3 Section at the Corps headquarters.

Orders were mailed to M/Sgt.'s George Keiser, Tucson, Ariz., Area Command; Gorman D. Gillan, San Bernardino, Calif., Area Command; and Kenyon S. Jenckes, ROTC instructor at Arizona State College, Tempe, Ariz.

Sunrise Services Set, High Mass On Sunday

Christian faiths will celebrate the joyous Easter season at the Presidio in a multitude of ways. All services are open to the public, and our civilian friends will be most welcome. Military personnel, by Department of the Army policy, will be excused from their duties on Good Friday to attend services. Civilian personnel will also be permitted to take annual leave wherever possible.

A highlight of the busy and exciting weekend will be the Easter Sunday Sunrise service at Fort Baker, headquarters of the 6th Region, U.S. Army Air Defense Command. A 500-pound black pine cross, constructed of salvaged pilings from a condemned pier has been erected by the 561st Engineer Company (Port Construction) on the parade ground for the event.

In this beautiful setting the sunrise service will be held at 0600 hours Easter morning. The event is jointly sponsored by Chaplain (Major) Newell E. Taylor, 6th Region Command Chaplain, and the ministers of Protestant churches in Sausalito. The 6th U.S. Army Band, under the direction of Chief Warrant Officer Louis Ferraro, will provide sacred music for the event. The services are open to the public.

The traditional Easter Sunrise service will be held at the Presidio on the East portico outside of the Post Chapel. An organ, nestled among the hills, will provide music. Services will be in charge of Chaplain (Lt. Colonel) Steve P. Gaskins, Jr. At the conclusion, breakfast will be served at the Religious Activities Center. In order that adequate preparations may be made, those who plan to attend the breakfast are requested to call the Chaplain's Office, Extension 2110/2111.

Roman Catholic services, under the guidance of Chaplain (Captain) Albert D. Bull, were highlighted with a High Mass (Missa Angelis) on Holy Thursday at the Chapel of Our Lady. On Good Friday (today), will be the Good Friday Liturgy, Devotions—"Seven Last Words," followed by Stations of the Cross. The Liturgy will be held at Letterman Army Hospital Chapel as well on Friday afternoon.

Easter Vigil Services will be held on Holy Saturday at the Chapel of Our Lady, and at the Letterman Army Hospital Chapel, with an Easter Vigil Mass at midnight in both chapels.

A High Mass (Missa dei Pastori) at the Chapel of Our Lady at 0930 hours will bring to a fitting conclusion the most joyous season of the Christian faith.

A complete schedule of the weekend program is listed below.

Redstone To See Duty In Germany

Washington (ANS)—The 46th Artillery Group (REDSTONE), now stationed at Fort Sill, Okla., will move to Germany early in April, the Department of the Army announced this week.

The transfer is designed to provide additional tactical missile fire support for the NATO shield forces. A similar REDSTONE unit is already stationed with the U.S. Seventh Army in Germany.

Though just announced, the transfer has been planned for some time as a part of the Army modernization program.

Civilian Positions

Anyone desiring to fill the position of secretary (stenographer), statistical clerk (typing), medical technician (cytology) or clerk (typing), must file applications with the Civilian Personnel Div., Bldg. 227, by 30 March.

Other openings include: Laundry worker foreman; laundry worker assistant foreman; laundryworker; laundry marker-sorter-classifier; clerk stenographer; clerk typist and storekeeping clerk.

Armed Forces Police Mark 8th Year

STANDING TALL prior to inspection by their Commander, Lt. Col. Russell R. Bessom, are members of the Armed Forces Police, today celebrating the eighth anniversary of their origin on 21 March, 1951.

Review, Open House At Treasure Island

By Sp4 Janet Holcomb
Star Presidian Staff Writer

Military reviewing ceremonies and an Open House at Treasure Island today will be part of festivities celebrating the eighth anniversary of the Armed Forces Police Detachment.

Originally designated the Armed Services Police, the unit was activated on 21 March, 1951, under a Joint Agreement between the Commanding General, Sixth U.S. Army, Commandant, Twelfth Naval District, and Commander, Fourth Air Force.

Designed to eliminate duplication of work among the various services and to provide more efficient service at a lower cost, the primary mission of the Police is to maintain discipline, enforce orders and render assistance.

The position of Commander, which rotates every three years among the services, is now held by Lt. Col. Russell R. Bessom, USAF.

Prior to this assignment, Col. Bessom was Executive Officer for the PM Office, Hq. PACAF, at Hickham AFB, Hawaii, and also has served in the PM Office of the Fifth Air Force in Japan.

Executive Officer Maj. Dale L. Schultz, USA, was previously an officer with the 728th MP Battalion in Korea, and was a member of the staff of the Provost Marshal General's Center, Ft. Gordon, Ga.

Operating from the central headquarters on Treasure Island, and from two division headquarters in San Francisco and Oakland, the detachment's 24 patrol cars travel a total of more than a million miles each year.

All of the vehicles are radio equipped and are controlled by the communications center at TI, which operates 24 hours a day.

Personnel for the patrol are assigned on a special selection basis, with each service supplying approximately 38 men, and the Navy providing extra men on a temporary basis when the number of ships in port imposes an extra workload.

Governing of the detachment is under the direction of the Senior Armed Forces Disciplinary Control Board, composed of senior representatives from the Army, Navy, Coast Guard and Air Force. The board is designated as the coordinating agency between the commanders of the services and the detachment.

Numerous individual requests are received for assignment, and whenever possible interviews are granted to determine whether the applicant has the special aptitudes necessary for police work.

Anyone meeting the qualifications—most of whom are chosen have had previous police experience—undergoes special training before becoming a part of the Armed Forces Police, a group which is proving that there is not as much friction between services as many believe.

Peggy King Here

Radio, television and jukebox "songbird," Peggy King, known to George Gobel fans as pretty, perky Peggy, will perform at the Presidio Service Club tonight.

This program concludes a tour of the Sixth Army Area being made by the girl discovered while singing a tomato sauce commercial, and her Hollywood troupe.

Soldier-Students Can Be Promoted To E-5 Outside Of Quotas

Washington (ANS)—Authority to promote soldier-students in civilian institutions up to grade E-5 without regard to quota is contained in a new change to AR 624-200.

With the new change in effect, soldier-students in grades E-2 through E-4 may be appointed to the next higher grade upon successful completion of each calendar year of schooling, but in no case higher than E-5.

Heretofore, enlisted students undergoing training in civilian educational institutions under the provisions of AR 350-260 have not been eligible for promotion.

Was Only Eight

Fort Ord, Calif. (ANS)—A Pvt. Heinrich Schopp, now a basic trainee here, was an eight-year-old spectator (on March 7, 1945) when elements of the 9th Armored Division rushed across the Rhine to secure the all-important Remagen bridge and bridgehead. Young Schopp, who came to the U.S. to visit relatives, is taking out citizenship papers. He lived on the Rhine's East bank as a child.

New Deputy CG Named

Air Corps Tactical School at Maxwell Field, Alabama, from which he was graduated in June, 1939.

His next assignment was with the 7th Cavalry Regiment at Fort Bliss, Texas, and in the Louisiana maneuver area. In October, 1940, he was appointed Assistant Chief of Staff for Intelligence of I Corps at Columbia, South Carolina. He remained in that assignment until June, 1942, except for a four month period between January and May, 1942, when he served as a personnel staff officer at Army headquarters in Washington, D. C.

He assumed command of the 2d Armored Regiment of the 9th Armored Division at Fort Riley in July, 1942. General Mudgett's next assignment was as a student at the Army and Navy Staff College, Washington, D. C., from which he was graduated in February, 1944.

General Mudgett then was transferred to the European Theater of Operations, where he participated in five campaigns. He was a member of the Plans and Operations Branch of Headquarters, First U.S. Army Group, and later Chief of the Liaison Branch and Operations Sub-Branch Section of Advance Headquarters, 12th Army Group. He assumed command of Combat Command "B" of the 13th Armored Division in that theater in May, 1945, and redeployed to the United States with that command.

The following September, he became Chief of Staff of the XVIII Airborne Corps at Camp Campbell, Kentucky, and remained in that assignment until that command was inactivated in October, 1945.

In November, 1945, General Mudgett was appointed Chief of the Joint Staff of the Panama Canal Department at Quarry Heights in the Canal Zone. He later served as Director of the Plans and Operations Division of the Caribbean Command at Quarry Heights.

In June, 1948, he was named Assistant Director of the Plans and Operations Division of the Armed Forces Staff College at Norfolk, Virginia. The following April he was appointed Director of that division.

General Mudgett went to Korea in March, 1951, to become Assistant Chief of Staff for Operations of the Eighth Army. While in Korea, he served for a time on the staff of the United Nations Command military armistice delegation.

In May, 1952, he was assigned to Far East Command headquarters in Tokyo, Japan, where he was Assistant Chief of Staff for Operations and Chief of the Joint Strategic Plans and Operations Group. When the Joint Staff was established at that headquarters in January, 1953, General Mudgett continued as Assistant Chief of Staff for Operations. At the same time, he was Chairman of the Joint Psychological Committee of the Far East Command, which surveyed all proposed psychological warfare plans of that headquarters for approval and reviewed theater psychological warfare policy.

Mrs. Steve Lawrence Due

Songstress Eydie Gorme, wife of Pvt. Steve Lawrence, also a well known singer, will prove that she is a good Army wife by entertaining the patients of Letterman Army Hospital on 1 April.

Now appearing at the Fairmont Venetian Room, Miss Gorme has shattered attendance records at the Eden Roc in Miami Beach, and the Chez Paree, and appears frequently on television, often teaming with her husband.

Wins Tie Contest

Small red and white Army missiles on a sky-blue background recently won M/Sgt. Harold Blessingame, 1st Sgt., A Btry., 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty., a $20 check for first place in the San Francisco-Travis AFB Army Air Defense Tie Contest.

This win also makes the Sgt. eligible to compete in the 6th Region Army Air Defense Command contest.

WHAT IS ITS PURPOSE?

Primarily, NATO is a military alliance, but its great purpose is peace, not war. The 15 members of NATO have pledged that they will regard an attack upon any one of them as an attack upon all.

They have also pledged to work together politically and to increase their ability to defend themselves by self-help and mutual aid.

Wins Certificate

CWO Hollis V. Roberts was awarded a Certificate of Achievement last Friday, 20 March 1959, for his outstanding services as Engineer Equipment Maintenance Officer and Unit Supply Officer in the 551st Engineer Company (Port Construction) stationed at Fort Baker.

Mr. Roberts is now on orders for Headquarters, Com. Z, Orleans, France for assignment in Engineer equipment maintenance. Originally from Florida, he is now living in Mill Valley. His wife, Luella, will accompany him to France.

The adobe building, now the Officers' Club of the San Francisco Presidio, was constructed in 1776, making it the first building constructed in the city.

kaleidoscope

The largest collection of toy soldiers (some 500) on the Presidio belongs to Captain Edward F. Endres, chief of the Community Relations Division, Sixth U.S. Army Information Section.

"And you might add that I play with them all the time," says the captain with just a hint of belligerence. "You wouldn't call a miniature Rodin a 'toy' would you? Well, if these are 'toys' they're darned expensive ones. I value my collection at close to $3,000 and wouldn't part with it for twice that price."

Actually, Capt. Endres is an accomplished milatelist, a term that wasn't defined in any of our dictionaries. "Maybe it's a coinage. I'm not sure. Anyway, that's what we odd balls who collect and build these small-scale replicas of famous military units call ourselves. Of course, a number of us are also bugs on the weapons, cap badges, sabers and other military equipment that go with our hobby."

Capt. Endres has always been a real buff on military history and after World War II stints with the Royal Scots, Scots Guards and Canadian Black Watch, as an exchange officer, his particular interest turned to British and Commonwealth Armies.

"No, I didn't see any real combat action with these units, unless you qualify riot duty in Trieste and Palestine as such; however, I did become especially interested in British military tradition."

In 1951, his wife gave him a modest set of soldiers for Christmas. "Regretted it? On the contrary, she's probably more of an expert, at least from the research standpoint, than I am. She's always digging up some obscure reference book or writing to some historical society for new information."

Capt. Endres says that inexpensive models from rubber molds are by far the most popular productions. More expensive and better detailed replicas are produced by the "lost wax process" which results from pouring lead into a centrifugal pump and forcing the wax mold out of the other end. The metal takes the shape of the "lost wax" and retains the minutest of details.

"Of course, I favor the third method—hand sculpting soft lead on an armature or wire frame. The lead is easy to work with and a conscientious workman with nominal skill, patience and detailed research can turn out quality work."

DISPLAYING a small part of his collection of 500 miniature soldiers are Capt. and Mrs. Edward F. Endres. Other members of the family include his dog "Doody" and "Booger" the cat. Oh, yes, that's "Alvin" the hamster in the captain's left hand.

Once the figure is complete, it is primed, given at least two coats of flat color. Every detail of weapon, uniform and heraldry is letter perfect.

"The actor, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., is a big collector of the rubber mold types. His collection has been estimated at 10,000 figures. At the opposite pole is the wealthy Italian I heard of while overseas. He employs three men full time—a researcher, an artist, and a mold maker. They complete his orders and deliver them to him with the broken molds."

A 14-year veteran, Captain Endres won a field commission while serving as a platoon sergeant with Company K, 350th Infantry Regiment, 88th Infantry Division, in Northern Italy during World War II. He is a native of Merrick, Long Island, in New York and attended the St. Francis Xavier Military Academy. He is a member of the Guild of Miniature Designers and Collectors of San Francisco.

"Of course, there is no end in a hobby of this kind. You never run out of tradition and figures to recreate. You might say, however, that every collector hopes eventually to have sufficiently complete units to conduct his own 'war games.' Many collectors reach the stage where they can produce historically accurate and scaled terrain with the matching armies and recreate the actual battle, or, by establishing certain rules and maneuver values, engage in 'free maneuvers.'"

The Endres, Ann and Ed, have been married for nine years. "No, we don't have any children, yet. Of course, some of my Freudian-indoctrinated friends have more than implied that my 'soldiers' are mere compensations for a frustrated father complex. This is not true. After all, Ann and I have a dog, a cat and a hamster named Alvin. If I were really frustrated—I'd be teaching Alvin to play the harmonica. . . ."

Mobile Service Unit 3rd In Area Contest

Miss Mary A. Simons, Director of the AAA Mobile Service Club unit, and third place winner in the recent Sixth U.S. Army "Operation Service Club" contest, received a check for $75 from Col. M. M. Brown, Commanding Officer, Presidio of San Francisco, this week. Honorable mention winners were: Miss Elizabeth de la Torre, Director of the Presidio Service Club, and Miss Janet Martin, Director of the Fort Baker Service Club.

The contest is a preliminary to the third All-Army contest sponsored by The Adjutant General, for the purpose of "encouraging continued and wider use of Enlisted Men's Advisory Councils as a means of determining the type and scope of service club programs desired by the soldiers; provide opportunities for leadership and self-expression for enlisted men through participation in planning and conduct of service club programs; and to continue to emphasize maximum liaison among all agencies in the military community in contributing to and expanding opportunities for worthwhile leisure time activities for enlisted personnel."

Fort Lewis, first place winner in the Sixth Army area, will compete in the All-Army contest in April. Last year, Fort Baker won first place in the Sixth Army area.

To qualify for the contest, all entries must be submitted in book form, and include one original program plan which had been suggested and developed by a service club Enlisted Men's Advisory Council, and also a military community relations project conducted by the service club staff in cooperation with the Enlisted Men's Advisory Council.

The project that won Miss Simons her award was "OPERATION BIG HEART." A group of 20 handicapped children, ages 5-14, were brought down by bus from Santa Rosa on December 22, 1958, to A Battery, 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, at Fort Funston to spend the day. Each soldier adopted a child for the day, and took him on a tour of the site, fed him, saw that he had a nap, and just an all-around good time. In return, the children presented a Christmas play for the men.

The mobile unit services eight NIKE sites in the Bay Area. The unit is unique in that it was the first of its kind used at installations in the United States. The Sixth U.S. Army Service Clubs at the Presidio began a program of organized activities for isolated sites during the summer of 1956. The Fort Baker Service Club directors coordinated with the commander of a battery located on Angel Island, and the programs were such a success that other isolated NIKE batteries requested planning programs.

The AAA Mobile Service Club was formally inaugurated on November 19, 1957. First Army has the only other Mobile Service Club in the United States.

Last Chance To Win

Duffers Challenge Palmer As Tourney Deadline Near

The Military Police Association's "Beat Arnold Palmer" golf tourney is rapidly drawing to a close with 2 April the last day to play.

This annual charity handicap event, also known as International Golf Day, has had much better weather to register a top score than did last year's contest. Raincoats, hip boots and floating golf balls were the order of the day when playing last year. The inclement weather kept many duffers off the greens and those who did compete had a rough time getting a good scorecard to turn in.

Not so with this year's tourney as the good weather has held out and Capt. Leaman Harvey, local coordinator of the event, expects to be flooded with dollars and scorecards as entrants rush to get in under the wire.

Players may compete using their own club handicap or the Callaway system. As a special attraction to the ladies, they are permitted to add seven strokes to their established club handicaps before subtracting from their gross score.

Prizes for the winners are a key chain with a rose-bronze medalion inscribed with the words: "I Beat Arnold Palmer on MPA International Golf Day 1959."

Any information concerning the event may be picked up at the Provost Marshal's Office, Bldg. 106, or by calling Capt. Leaman Harvey, Ext. 4188.

Hot Keg Action In Pacific League Wilmoth 629-226; Delany 629-221

On the distaff side of the ledger the Alley Kats' lead was cut to five games in the WAC Bowling League. They registered a 3-1 triumph over the Powder Puffs as Hefner rolled 460-178. Tops for the losers was Morehouse with 454-165.

The Brewmasters picked up a game on the leaders by blanking the Orbits 4-0. Dailey paced the winners with 455-167 as F. Miller carded 417-160 for the Orbits.

Hq. Co. 6A No. 3 kept their lead in Pacific League play by sweeping the 30th Group 4-0. Wilmoth had a banner night as he split the timbers for a 629-226. All three of his games were over 200. Gardner posted 470-163 for the losers.

Hilltoppers maintained the pace to stay in second by shutting out the Regioners quintet, 4-0. Johnson bowled 549-197 for the winners as Niles hit 480-179 in the losing cause.

Warrants pulled themselves into a tie for third by shellacking the AAA Sparks 4-0. Delany equalled the high performance by Wilmoth when he also turned in a 629-221 with two 200-plus games. Wada hit 479-168 for the Sparks.

Retorts now have to share third with the Warrants as they dropped three games to the crew from Hq. Co. 6A No. 2. Lux led Hq. No. 2 with 491-191 while Milburn recorded a 436-163 for the Retorts.

The GI quintet, leading the Bay Bowling League by a comfortable margin of 14½ games, took the Triple Aces into camp 3-1. Stephens' 557-206 was best for the winners. Blumenfeld continued to uphold the Aces' honor as he rolled 531-184.

JAGS held their second place position by thumping Hq. Co. 6A, 4-0. Thomas with 493-170 was the big gun for the winners, as Shimada made it close with 493-169 for Hq. Co.

MRU stayed in third by belting 6A Signal 3-1. Andresen rolled 582-203 for MRU as Dennis hit 486-175 for the Signalmen.

Compt-Rollers squashed Garrison 4-0 to take over fourth as Routen had a hot 582-212. Garrison's best was Opozda with 519-179.

Nikes still head the Wed. Night Mixed League by 11 games as they continued to show power, beating the Retorts 3-1. Lowe had his usual good night by getting 569-210 for the Nikes. Jean Dempsey

Six Presidians Vie For All-Army Team Volleyball Berths

Four members of the U.S. Army Air Defense Command championship volleyball team and two men on the Presidio of San Francisco squad departed this week for the All-Army team tryouts held at Ft. Riley, Kansas.

The men from the 6th Region champions include M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio, nationally rated coach and USVBA official from San Francisco; Sp4 Al Kincaid and Sgt. Dave Rhem from Georgetown, S.C.; Sp4 Dick Chute of San Francisco. Presidio team members also making the trip are Pfc. George Blair of San Diego and Pvt. Len Kaczmarek of Monnesson, Pa.

While at Ft. Riley, Paul Barnes, Physical Director of the Denver YMCA, will coach the 50 or more men trying out for the All-Army team. About a dozen men will be selected for higher level competition including play in the Pan American Games and possibly the 1960 Olympic Games in Rome.

kept Retorts in the running by posting 499-190.

Alley Byes knocked the Pickups out of second by upending them 3-1. Shoudel shook the rafters with his 606-237 for the winners. Johnson rolled 564-191 for the Pickups.

Spoilers jumped into second by jumping on the Cutups for three. Wilmoth racked a 544-189 as Helga Lee of the Cutups scored 454-160.

Tyros spilled the Guys and Dolls 3-1 when O'Donnell rolled a 501-173. Rosset of the Guys and Dolls had 473-166.

The Shatters took over first place in the Presidio League this week as the leading Keystone Kops had their game with Recruiters postponed. Shatters shut out the King Pins 4-0 as DuBois hit a hot 564-212. Gem of the season was posted by Andresen when he hit a tremendous 638-256 for the King Pins.

SFAADS found new life and conked the Islanders 4-0, with Wilcox hitting 453-186. Tops for the losers was Lundahl and his 478-165.

Alley Rats and 60th CI split 2-2, with Havrilla of the Rats hitting 552-204. Smith paced the 60th with 515-216.

Third In AAU Tourney; Adams, Smith Top Stars

By Pvt. Dale Clark
Star Presidian Sports Editor

Looking ahead to the Pan American Games competition at Louisville, Kentucky, next week, the Presidio-based Army All-Stars opened play in the Interservice Trials at Mitchell Air Force Base yesterday.

Still smarting from their 104-102 overtime loss to Wichita

Vickers in the AAU Tournament semi-finals at Denver, Coach Hal Fischer's neophyte ball club would like to make it a clean sweep during their stay in New York. This would give them a little more experience under the belt and possibly turn the tide if they get a second chance at AAU teams.

Following the loss to Wichita, the All-Stars bounced back to stun the San Francisco Olympic Club 102-79 and cinch third place in the AAU basketball tournament at Denver.

Leading 44-43 at intermission, the Stars exploded in the second half for the margin of victory. Top scorer of the game was Jack Adams of the Army team with 24, followed by teammate Ted Savage with 23. Phil Vukicevich dunked in 20 and Nick Romanoff 19 for the Olympians.

The first game for the Stars was against ABC Roofing of Portland, Ore., and the Army squad proved they were a team to be reckoned with as they literally ran the Roofers ragged. Ahead 59-37 at the half, the All-Stars kept up the relentless pace to blast the Roofers 103-69.

The balanced Army attack was led by Jack Adams with 18; Adrian Smith, 15; Charlie Franklin, Dick Smith and "Handy Andy" Brown, 12 each; and Bill VonWeyhe with 11.

Next on the annihilation list were the Akron Goodyear Wingfoots who failed to live up to their name. Sharp teamwork, deadly passing and a running style of ball game combined to sideline the Akron cagers 88-71. Army went ahead to stay with a jump shot by Andy Brown after 6:17 had gone by in the first half.

Army widened the gap to 56-37 at halftime and kept the pressure on for the win. The remarkably well-balanced Army attack saw five men in the double figure column. Adrian Smith led the pack with 22 followed by Joe Leone and Jack Adams with 13 each, and Bill VonWeyhe and Andy Brown each netting 10.

The next game for Hal Fischer's Cinderella ball club was against the defending champion and top-seeded team of the tournament, Peoria Caterpillars. The soldiers took charge and proceeded to outrun and outshoot the Cats in an unerring exhibition of marksmanship for the final margin of 81-75.

Coach Warren Womble of the Cats sighed, "We stopped their fast break and they broke our backs with outside shooting. You can't do much rebounding when the ball goes through the hoop."

Scoring again was well divided for the Army cagers as Joe Leone and Adrian Smith each hit 15, Ted Savage followed with 13 and Dick Smith, 11.

In the semi-final contest against Wichita Vickers, the All-Stars trailed 46-43 at half-time and were slightly behind throughout most of the game. Dick Smith knotted the score 89-all with two minutes to play. Army then stalled to take the last shot and Jack Adams missed, putting the game into an overtime session.

Scoring was hot and heavy in the overtime and the game was wrapped up by ex-USF cager Jerry Mullen when he sank a pair of free throws with 40 seconds remaining.

Pony League Meeting

A Pony League open meeting will be held in the trophy room of the Presidio Service Club at 1930 hours on 2 April, 1959. All parents and interested parties for the Pony League are invited to attend. Refreshments will be served.

Pony League age limits are 12½ to 16 years. The first game of the season will be held 16 May, 1959.

'C' Missileers Volleyball Champions

Nieder Set For Assault On World Shotput Record

If determination, confidence and increasing ability are any criteria for breaking world records, Lt. Bill Nieder can be expected to shatter the international shotput record before he doffs his Army greens.

Nieder, who recently made a shambles of two long-standing stadium marks and expects to best the Berkeley record tomorrow, says, "I believe I will break the existing record next month."

"If Parry O'Brien, Davis, Long and myself were in the same meet I'm sure that one of us would toss at least 64 feet," the strapping ex-Kansan smiled. "I tossed one 62-8 1/4 last week after the official competition was over so tomorrow may be the day."

Nieder still is bothered with an old hand injury but by careful practice has kept it from hampering his efforts too much this year. He still uses tape on his hand and consequently has to use a rough ball to get a better grip through the tape.

"I've decided to compete at Berkeley instead of the Easter Relays for two reasons: O'Brien isn't going to be at the relays and everybody else will be. With approximately 25 throwers in the meet there is too much time between tosses and a competitor gets cooled off easily." At Berkeley there are only a few throwers in the meet, which is a little more to his liking. Nieder will compete once again under the banner of the San Francisco Olympic Club as an Army representative in the triangular meet against Santa Clara Youth Village and the U. of Cal.

Badminton Tourney Planned At Center

Letterman Army Hospital will conduct its annual Badminton Tournament at the LAH Sports Center from 1 April to 30 April, 1959 to determine the Letterman singles and doubles champions.

Tournament play will be governed by the 1958 United States Badminton Association rules. It will be a ladder, pyramid or funnel type tournament depending on the number of entries.

A meeting will be held 1 April 1959 in the LAH Sports Center at 1100 hours to discuss the rules and conduct of the tournament and to draw for bracket positions.

All entries will be submitted to the Letterman Sports Center, Bldg. 1152, Phone 2289, not later than 1 April, 1959.

Region Volleyball Team Ranked Fifth In AAU

The combined 6th Region U.S. Army Air Defense Command-Presidio of San Francisco volleyball team qualified as the fifth ranked team in California AAU competition. The high rating was achieved despite the absence of two top spikers, Sgt. Dave Rhem and Sp4 Dick Chute.

Paced by what Coach M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio called a "remarkable and steady spiking performance" by Sfc. Carlos Ramirez, normally a setman, the highnetters dumped the Olympic Club "B" team in the opening game, 15-8, 6-15, 15-7. The so-called "B" team has five All-American players in the starting lineup.

"Our best performance was in the second tilt when we held the nation's top team, Stockton YMCA, to a close game," Ignacio said. The Army squad, paced by the lightning-quick spikes of Sp4 Al Kincaid and Len Kaczmarek, came close but lost by 7-15 and 11-15.

The team then toppled the Oakland Naval Air Station squad 15-8 and 15-4. Fresno State Bulldogs were the next victims 15-11, 12-15, 15-8. The Air Force All-Star team, a composite of the best from Hamilton and Travis Air Force Bases, eliminated the Presidio team from play 6-15, 15-12 and 4-15.

Garrison Runnerup In Title Scramble

In the just completed "iron men stint" of intramural volleyball, the team from C Btry., 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty., came away with top honors. They not only won the week long battle in the short season but also copped the crown in the playoff for the Post Championship.

Composed mainly of players from the All-ARADCOM champions, the winners encountered little difficulty in their sweep to the title. The toughest team they had to face was the crew from Hq. Co. U.S. Army Garrison which finished second in the regular season and in the tournament.

Garrison players were Lt. David L. Bunker, Sfc. Carl McClure, Pfc. John Rogers, Pfc. Ben Horner, Pvt. Len Kaczmarek, Pvt. Bill Shelton and Coach Pfc. George Blair.

The first meeting of Garrison and C Battery saw the missilemen win 12-15, 15-6 and 15-11. After winning the losers' bracket in the double elimination type tournament, Garrison stormed back only to be turned aside 15-13 and 15-8 as victory went to the missilemen. Third place was taken by the determined squad from the 99th Engineers as the Honor Guard finished fourth. Presenting the trophies to the first and second place teams was Lt. Bill Nieder, Presidio Sports Officer.

Softball Meet

There will be a meeting of all unit representatives interested in entering a softball team in intramural competition at the Sports Office, Bldg. 122, on 14 April at 1000 hours.

Units interested may call and sign up their teams by phoning Sfc. Mary Phillips, Ext. 2282-3968.

Little League Answers

To answer numerous queries that have been received, the following announcement concerning team assignments in Little League baseball is being made:

- Those boys who played on either a major or minor league team last season, and who did not go through tryouts this year, will remain assigned to the same team that they played on last year.
- Those boys who tried out this year will be selected for new team assignments during the first week in April.
- As soon as team assignments have been decided for those boys who tried out this year, parents of all categories of players will be notified when and where the boys are to report for practice.

LAH Tournament Starts At Presidio Club Today

An informal 54 holes Medal Play Golf Tournament will be held from 27 March to 27 April on the Presidio Golf Course for all assigned military personnel at Letterman Army Hospital to determine the LAH champion, runner-up and other team members to represent LAH in the NorCal Military Sports Association Golf League.

USGA rules will govern play, supplemented by local rules. All rounds of tournament play must be recorded and attested on a Presidio Course score card and turned into the Letterman Sports Center, Bldg. 1152.

Participants must play record rounds with at least one other tournament player, who will play in the same group and attest the score. All three rounds may not be attested by the same opponent and only complete rounds of 18 holes will be counted for record play.

Ladies' flights will be run if sufficient entries are received. All entries will be submitted not later than 30 March, 1959 and will include name, rank, serial number and office phone number.

Special Services will provide supervision of the tournament, interim publicity and publication of standings, two golf balls and tees for each entrant and all awards.

Off To Ft. Riley

Rhem To Try For All-Army

"I became interested in spiking and decided to give a real try at becoming a top volleyball player. I found that spiking and blocking were the most interesting aspects of the game to me as I think it's a challenge to outwit your opponent by using all the tricks of spiking."

Those phrases come from Sgt. Dave Rhem, stand-out spiker on the All-ARADCOM volleyball champs and Sixth Army champions.

"The same thing is true in reverse when playing defense; you've got to think more rapidly than your opponent and not let him slam the ball through a block." To a query, Rhem said, "Not enough people know how to play the game properly. Most people play volleyball as if it were still 1906. No longer in existence are the 'zones' restricting movement of players; yet many people insist on playing the game that way." Further, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Durward Rhem of Georgetown, S. C., thinks, "One of the greatest things that could be done to make volleyball a more popular sport is to create a number of top teams and let them travel throughout the country giving exhibitions."

Sgt. Dave Rhem

"As more people see our team play with other good teams in the area, we hear them claim that volleyball is going to be as big a crowd pleaser as football or basketball. Already it is a national sport in the Philippine Islands, where thousands pack the stands for games," said the volleyball enthusiast. "I predict that volleyball will someday be a professional sport in the U.S. but I don't know just when."

Rhem is currently released from his duty assignment as assistant chief plotter in the 40th Brigade Command's "War Room" to compete for a position on the All-Army volleyball team trying out at Ft. Riley, Kansas. He is one of 50 men selected from all over the world to try out for the dozen positions available.

LAH Softball Team Shows Good Form In Win Over Mason

Sfc. Frank Cienczyk's softball team from Letterman Army Hospital put the diamondmen from Ft. Mason on the light end of an 11-3 score in a non-league contest.

Star of the game was Lt. Bob McNamara, who pitched four innings and struck out seven men while allowing only two infield hits. He not only turned in a great job on the mound, but helped his own cause by sending one out of the park with two aboard in the sixth inning.

"I'm surprised that they hit as well as they did in the first game as we had a good Ft. Mason pitcher against us. I knew our fielding to be advancing very well but I'm surprised and pleased to know that our hitting is keeping pace," said Sgt. Cienczyk.

A new member joins the Military Sports Association for the softball season as the 5490th Sharpe General Depot of Lathrop, Calif., decided to get their feet wet in sports competition. Coach and manager of the new team is Sfc. Alonzo Simon.

OUTSTANDING SERVICE for a total of forty years gained recognition this week as promotions to pay grade E-8 were awarded to M/Sgt. Raymond B. Decker and M/Sgt. James G. Riddle, 30th Engineer Battalion.

2 Win Supergrades At 30th Engineer Bn.

Supergrade promotions were awarded recently to two 20-year veterans stationed with the 30th Engineer Battalion. Promotions to pay grade E-8 were awarded to M/Sgt. Raymond B. Decker and M/Sgt. James G. Riddle. Both Sergeants are assigned to Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment.

This Lady Shooter Will Anchor Mason Rifle Competitors

When the participants arrived at Ft. Lewis, Wash., this week for competition in the Sixth Army Rifle Championships, they were undoubtedly taken by surprise to find a Sp4 by the name of Barbara Hile firing against them.

The 24-year-old brunette from Lapeer, Mich., is a full-fledged member of the Pacific Transportation Terminal Command team from Ft. Mason and Oakland Army Terminal. Barbara is the lone feminine member of the team and it's a safe bet to say that she is the only female competitor at Ft. Lewis.

Small arms firing is not a part of WAC training, so she volunteered for rifle practice for the sheer fun of it. Her coveted place on the Terminal Command team is not just a chivalrous male gesture, for her teammates regard Barbara as one of their aces. "She's a real cool shot and we expect her to pile up a lot of points for our team," they chorused.

On the day that a photographer turned out at the Ft. Cronkhite rifle range to get an action pic, the curly-haired WAC posted second high on her team. At the 600-yard range, where the target is the size of a pinhead at arm's length, she scored a respectable 91 points out of 200. At the 300 yard mark she put all 10 of her shots through the black bull's-eye.

M/Sgt. Decker, 20-year lithographer, has been in the topographic field since joining the 29th Engineer Battalion in Portland, Oregon, in 1939. Since then he has served with the 649th Engineer Battalion in World War II and the 62nd Engineer Company in the Korean Campaign. In 1952 he served with the 30th Engineer Group and in 1956-57 he acted as advisor for the National Geographic Service of Viet Nam. At the present time, M/Sgt. Decker is Operations Sergeant for the 30th Engineer Battalion.

M/Sgt. Riddle entered the service from North Carolina in September 1939. He served in five campaigns during World War II as platoon sergeant with the 3rd Armored Division in Germany. After World War II, he returned to CONUS and was assigned to the 2nd Armored Division at Fort Hood, Texas, where he served as First Sergeant. He came to the 30th Engineer Battalion in 1957 after serving as First Sergeant with the 8th Army Headquarters-Far East, located at Camp Zama, Japan, from 1953-1957. M/Sgt. Riddle is at present First Sergeant of Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment.

Map Editor Selected As Best Soldier At 30th Engineers

Private First Class Sidney E. Schmitt of the 21st Engineer Company has been selected as the 30th Engineer Battalion Soldier of the Month. Pfc. Schmitt serves as a map editor in the 21st Engineer Company Photomapping Plant.

For his achievement, Pfc. Schmitt received a certificate of achievement from Major Ranald E. Steiner, Battalion Commander. He will be exempt from all duty rosters for 30 days; and will receive a three-day pass.

Pfc. Schmitt, a native of New Orleans, Louisiana, attended Tulane University where he majored in Electrical Engineering. Upon induction into the Armed Forces, he received his basic training at Fort Chaffee, Arkansas, and was directly assigned to the 30th Engineer Battalion. Upon separation from the service in July 1960, Pfc. Schmitt plans to return to New Orleans where he will continue his education at Tulane University.

TRAVEL DIRECTOR Carol Lane of Shell Oil Company will model her "Car Tote" bag, flatpacking hat and reversible cummerbund when she speaks to the Presidio Woman's Club here this Thursday. Patterns for the three travel accessories take less than 3 yards and may be secured free of charge by writing to: F. H. Roberts, Public Relations, Shell Oil Company, 50 West 50th St., New York, N. Y.

6th Region Missile Meet Due At Baker On Monday

Fort Baker, Calif., March 26—About 40 air defense missile officers representing brigade, group and battalion levels of the 6th Region U.S. Army Air Defense Command begin a two-day missile conference at regional headquarters, Fort Baker, Monday, 30 March.

Also present at the missile conference will be Ordnance and other technical, civilian personnel from defenses supporting the Nike units, and key members of the California National Guard.

On arrival at Fort Baker, the missile officers and other members will convene at the post theater to hear an opening address by Maj. Gen. E. J. McGaw, 6th Region Commander.

Maj. Warren D. Sower, Chief of the 6th Region Radar and Missile Division, will be the presiding officer for the conference.

The conferees will discuss advanced methods of simplifying and standardizing maintenance of the U.S. Army Air Defense Missile program and introduce new methods of crew drill calculated to add emphasis to the principles of safety in operating and maintaining the surface-to-air defense weapon as it applies to the soldier and the community at large.

At noon on Monday, the visiting officers and their local counterparts will observe a crew drill of Nike Ajax at Battery B, 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, Fort Scott.

At 1030 on Tuesday, the conference group will travel to Fort Cronkhite to witness a demonstration in missile explosive detonation conducted by an explosive demolition team under Capt. W. Wallace, 87th Ordnance Detachment, Presidio of San Francisco.

Lunch at the Headquarters of the 40th Artillery Brigade, Fort Barry, will precede the final phase of the two-day missile conference, terminating at Brigade headquarters.

Wins New Rank

Newly promoted to the rank of 1st Lt., Mervyn L. Schlieffert, Operations Section, 40th Arty. Brigade, Ft. Barry, recently had his silver bars pinned on by Col. Andrew L. Lolli, CO, 40th Arty. Brigade, and Capt. Edmund S. Porada, Operations Officer.

Takes Command Maj. Ranald E. Steiner

Underwood Ordered To Belvoir; Steiner New 30th Engr. CO

Major Ranald E. Steiner has assumed command of the 30th Engineer Battalion, replacing Lt. Col. Richard M. Underwood, who has been reassigned to Fort Belvoir, Virginia. Major Steiner served previously as the Executive Officer of the 30th Engineer Battalion.

Major Steiner, a veteran of 19 years' service, received his commission from the Engineer Officer's Candidate School at Fort Belvoir, Virginia, in June 1942. His first assignment as a Second Lieutenant was with the 30th Engineers and he has spent 17 of his 19 years' service in the topographic field. Prior to returning to stateside duty in 1956, he commanded the 29th Engineer Battalion in which he had enlisted as a private in 1939.

This is Major Steiner's third tour of duty with the 30th Engineers, having served in the past with the 70th Engineer Survey Liaison Detachment at Fort Scott. He will conclude his active service by retirement in October 1959.

Sentry Dogs Protect Nike Site

(Editor's Note: There will be a press demonstration of the sentry dogs at A Battery, 2nd Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery, Fort Barry, Calif., at 1000 hours, 30 March, 1959.)

By Pfc. Bart W. Richardson
40th Artillery Brigade

"Shepherds of these hills" is no longer an old-fashioned phrase—not when they are trained German Shepherd sentry dogs for the hills where the NIKE guided missile sites are located for the San Francisco-Travis AFB Army Air Defense.

These powerful dogs and their trainers make up the sentry teams which are now being used in the San Francisco Bay Area to guard against night-time infiltration at the NIKE sites. Because of the dog's sensory superiority over man and his trainer's know-how, the "dog-man team system" provides a much more effective guard.

The U.S. Army Air Defense Command Headquarters at Colorado Springs, Colo., feels the dogs are a necessary security measure for NIKE HERCULES sites because of the possibility of sabotage. The sentry dogs would provide an increased degree of security by protecting the guard against surprise assault, providing psychological deterrence and active resistance to entry. The sentry dogs are noted for their keen sight, hearing and smell for more than 200 yards, even in darkness and fog.

Col. Andrew R. Lolli, commanding officer of the 40th Artillery Brigade, Fort Barry, Calif., announced that four of these sentry teams, the first to arrive in the San Francisco Bay Area, have been sent to the HERCULES site, Battery A, 2nd Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery, at Fort Barry.

The teams are: Pfc. Harry Willson and "Rusty"; Pfc. Myron Blossom and "Prince"; Pfc. Gary Brothers and another "Prince"; and Pfc. Erasmo Renteria and "Jet." Other teams will soon follow until all the Bay Area NIKE sites are fully manned and dogged with the guard teams.

All four men and their dogs at Fort Barry are fresh out of Fort Benning, Georgia, where they completed 13 weeks of intensive training in the voluntary 26th Infantry Scout Dog Platoon. The most important requirement each soldier needs for this assignment is the desire to work with the dogs.

Neither the men nor dogs are trained prior to arrival at Fort Benning.

The German Shepherds, all pure breds, are purchased by the Army from kennels and private owners all over the nation. They are from 1 to 2 years old when they begin their training at Fort Benning.

Each man in the platoon gets to choose the dog that will be his for the rest of his time in the Army. From there on in, training begins for both.

To be effective as sentry dogs, the powerful Shepherds must learn to attack anyone but their master, and to obey only his commands. As a result, they become strictly one-man dogs. While on guard, they patrol the area within the two steel security fences that surround the restricted area of the guided missile launching section, and at all times are under control of their trainers.

The keenly-alert, highly intelligent canines weigh approximately 80 pounds and stand about two feet high on all fours. They are groomed and exercised daily by their trainers.

Besides attacking intruders, the lithe shepherds can perform a multitude of other commands, such as heel, sit, crawl, jump, sit up, stand, etc. During their training at Fort Benning they are taught to attack by agitators who wear heavily padded protective clothing.

"Getting them to cease the attack at a voice command is the hardest thing for these four-footed soldiers to learn," says Pfc. Erasmo Renteria, giving his dog a welcomed pat, "but Jet here caught on pretty fast."

Specialist Fourth Class Benford Stuart, who is temporarily supervising the sentry teams until they get acquainted with Fort Barry, says, "After seeing them in action, I'd say that if by chance an infiltrator ever got in, he'd sure never get out again."

Sentry dogs have already demonstrated their effectiveness in Korea, where large, isolated depots posed almost insurmountable security programs, and during World War II, where scout and sentry dogs of the K-9 Corps first came into widespread use in the Army. Today, even with numerous electronic and anti-intrusion devices, the sentry dogs perform an invaluable service where maximum security is a must.

"PRIZE WINNER" we said and prize winner it was. "Muscular Ballet" termed just that in the sports pages of 17 October issue of the "Star Presidian" has won the top $25 award for M/Sgt. William Howell, Battery B, 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, in the Sports and Action black and white category of Sixth U.S. Army 1959 Photography Contest. The winning photo was shot with a Speed Graphic (200, f. 8) with Super Pan Press, Type B. (For complete list of winners see page 4.)

Certain K-Vets Eligible For Insurance Savings

Washington (ANS)—A savings of up to two-thirds in their government insurance costs can be made by those veterans who served in the Korean and post-Korean period whose insurance policy numbers are preceded by the letters "RS," the Veterans Administration announced this week.

These approximately 500,000 policyholders may exchange their present five-year term policies for new term policies that carry the same face value at a greatly reduced premium cost. These savings are made possible by a continuing improvement in mortality rate resulting from a lengthening of the life span.

The new policies are not renewable after the holder has passed his fiftieth birthday but must be converted to a permanent plan before that date if he wishes to continue protection beyond that date. In all other respects they carry the same protection of the present policies.

Both the present and the new term policies can be converted at any time, without physical examination, to a VA permanent-type plan.

Deputy Commander To Attend AF-State Traffic Meeting

Col. Michael M. Irvine, Deputy Commander of the 6th Region U. S. Army Air Defense Command, will represent Maj. Gen. E. J. McGaw, Regional Commander, at the Armed Forces-State Traffic Safety Workshop at Treasure Island Naval Base next Monday. Maj. Gen. McGaw was invited to attend the program by Governor Brown.

The safety conference will cover driver licensing, accident reporting, violation reporting, handling of military violations by civilian police and courts, drunk driving problems, insurance, purchase of cars by military personnel and other phases of highway traffic.

New Contracts Let

Washington (ANS)—Award of a $29.7 millions contract to International Harvester Company of Chicago, Ill., for 2,928 five-ton trucks was announced by Department of the Army this week.

The Army also indicated that a contract totaling $2,078,291 has been awarded the Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation of New Haven, Conn., for facilities for manufacture of the M-14 rifle.

Combat Arms Units Soon Part Of Army's 'Famous Regiments'

Every Infantry, Artillery and Armor unit of the United States Army Reserve will soon be a part of the United States Army's famous regiments, the Department of the Army has announced.

This is an extension to the Army Reserve of a "parent Regiment" system, now in effect in the active army, called the "combat arms regimental system." This system associates all combat units with the "family" of a famous regiment.

The regimental structure of Army combat divisions under the pentomic concept has given way to battle groups. Five battle groups have replaced the former three regiments.

In order that the new battle groups can associate themselves with the proud histories of old Army regiments, battle groups and lesser combat units are being assigned to traditional regiments, which will be known as "parent regiments."

Included in the array of famous regiments, many of them dating back to the Revolutionary War and the Indian campaigns, will be 18 Army Reserve regiments.

All Army Reserve combat units will be "adopted" by parent regiments during the current nationwide reorganization of the United States Army Reserve.

The system provides reservists with a continuity of units, their history and traditions, in peace and war; and in addition an opportunity for the individual combat arms soldier to be a member of a distinguished regiment.

In the Sixth U.S. Army area the 59th Infantry Regiment, with headquarters in Phoenix, Arizona, has been designated as a "Parent Organization."

In keeping with the combat arms regimental system and on completion of the current Reserve reorganization, the following are the present units, new designations, and headquarters locations of the U.S. Army Reserve combat divisions:

63d Recon. Co., 3d Battle Group, 21st Inf., Santa Barbara, Calif.
253d Inf., 3d Battle Group, 31st Inf., Los Angeles, Calif.
254th Inf., 3d Battle Group, 30th Inf., Pasadena, Calif.
255th Inf., 3d Battle Group, 27th Inf., Los Angeles, Calif.
2d Bn., 254th Inf., 3d Battle Group, 15th Inf., Santa Ana, Calif.
96th Inf., Div., Helena, Montana.
381st Inf., 1st Battle Group, 381st Inf., Great Falls, Montana.
383d Inf., 1st Battle Group, 383d Inf., Fort Douglas, Utah.
(382d Eng. Gp.), 3d Battle Group, 38th Inf., Provo, Utah.

Area Hospital Heads Due Here For Top Conference

A conference of hospital commanders and post surgeons from all installations under Sixth U.S. Army jurisdiction will be held at this headquarters on 9-10 April 1959. Approximately sixteen conferees are expected to attend. Representatives from the Office of the Surgeon General and USCONARC have also been invited to attend.

Lt. General Charles D. Palmer, Commanding General, Sixth U.S. Army, will welcome the conferees, as will Colonel Raymond H. Bunshaw, Sixth U.S. Army Surgeon, under whose jurisdiction the meeting will be held.

The conference is an annual affair, at which policies and important problems which directly affect the standard of medical service provided in the Sixth U.S. Army area are discussed. Specific emphasis will be placed on operational problems of medical service; fiscal; personnel and supply management of Sixth U.S. Army activities; preventative medicine; outpatient medical service and other professional matters.

Colonel Fred J. Fielding, MC, will act as chairman for Operations, including Tables of Distribution for Medical Facilities, Emergency Medical Plans, Mobilization Planning, Medical Service for Air Defense Units, Medical Training Activities, USAR Medical Training, Medical Participation in Field Exercises and Status of Medical TOE Units.

Major James W. Keenan MSC, will direct the Fiscal, Manpower and Supply Management of Medical Facilities discussion. Colonel Louis F. Saylor, MC, will be chairman of the Preventative Medicine topics and of the Professional Services subjects.

Seek Qualified Students For Language Courses At Monterey School

Specific requirements exist within the following language courses conducted at the U. S. Army Language School, Presidio of Monterey, California, in classes reporting 18 June, 1959: Czech, French, German, Indonesian, Portuguese, Russian, Slovene, Spanish, and Vietnamese.

Enlisted personnel qualified for attendance under the provisions of AR 611-82 and DA Circular 621-16 possessing the MOS requirement for language training are encouraged to apply for attendance.

Attention is specifically directed to the restriction contained in paragraph 4, DA Circular 621-16.

Applications submitted must be forwarded so as to arrive at headquarters, Presidio of San Francisco, Attn: AMNPR-PT, not later than 6 April, 1959.

Remembers SF Fondly

New Comptroller At Presidio Once Top Grid Star Here

Colonel Thomas C. Davis, a one time Bank of America employee in San Francisco, has just reported for his new assignment as Comptroller at the Presidio. He comes to this post from Germany, where he was the Finance Officer for the Seventh U. S. Army.

Colonel Davis was born in Butte, Montana, on 29 November, 1906. He was graduated from the University of Montana and commissioned in the Army in 1929. A graduate of the Finance Officers Advanced Course, he has also completed the Management Course for Executives at the University of Pittsburgh in 1956.

The early part of Colonel Davis' career was spent in the Infantry. In 1947 he was integrated into the Regular Army, with branch assignment to the Finance Corps. He has served as Chief, Military Pay Division, Finance Center, U. S. Army; Chief, Receipts and Disbursements Division, and Comptroller, in the Office of the Chief of Finance.

Interested in sports, Colonel Davis played fullback in the 1932 Shrine East-West football game here in San Francisco. He is also a golfer. Colonel Davis expects to make his home here in San Francisco upon his retirement.

CONARC Confab Set

Fort Monroe, Va. (ANS) — A combat developments logistical conference for world-wide Army combat developments agencies will be held here at Headquarters, US CONARC 28-30 April.

Purpose of the conference is to familiarize combat development agencies with the scope and status of the combat development logistical program, provide a basis for coordinated future effort in solving logistical problems and to provide a mutual exchange of information and ideas.

Some New

Aids For Training

By Major General Hugh P. Harris

Deputy Chief of Staff for Operations, Plans and Training Headquarters, United States Continental Army Command

Special to the Star Presidian

The task of maintaining the Army's combat readiness is an ever-increasing, costly operation in terms of time and money because modern weapons, equipment and tactics have increased in complexity as we have progressed. This increase places additional demands upon our training establishments. With reduced personnel and money resources we know that savings must be accomplished in all phases of our training.

One method is with training devices which simulate actual equipment.

In some types of training, the cost of using actual equipment for instructional purposes is absolutely prohibitive. Guided missile and nuclear training are good examples since the Army cannot fire enough guided missiles to insure adequate training for all crewmen, nor can it explode enough nuclear weapons to train all soldiers in radiological survey methods.

One answer lies in devices and simulators used in training. The use of these will save both time and money. Such devices enable combat skills to be practiced until desirable actions are automatic. This is basic to all training.

At the U.S. Naval Training Device Center, Port Washington, Long Island, New York, the Army has been working on all types of training devices for several years. They range from the simplest of mock-ups to the most complicated of electronic devices, all designed to save time, money and lives.

The Army's participation in the training devices program is under USCONARC direction. The officers assigned to this task are actually staff members of the Operations, Plans and Training Section of USCONARC. Two examples of devices produced by this interservice cooperation with the Navy are the—

● REDSTONE TRAINER. A device for use by deployed units in the field to train and evaluate the ability of crews to prepare and fire the REDSTONE guided missiles successfully. It is simply a full-scale dummy missile and an electrical simulator. It represents the Army's first effort to produce an entire family of missile simulators for training purposes.

● SUBCALIBER MORTAR TRAINER. It trains an entire mortar crew, teaching conduct of fire. It can be used on ranges, in armories, gymnasiums, classrooms or outdoors. It provides realistic, inexpensive and time-saving training on the 60mm, 81mm and 4.2-inch operational mortars without using live ammunition.

Other devices now available include a radio-activity detection, identification and computation set used when it is impractical or impossible to use actual weapons; oxygen-acetylene simulators for gunfire flash-and-noise use where realism without danger is needed; a 90mm tank gun simulator; NIKE radar training device, and an H-37 Mojave helicopter flight simulator.

There is one handicap to the success of this program. It is the natural resistance of commanders and instructors to use synthetic equipment when operational equipment is available.

These devices provide a means of realistic, yet practical training which might otherwise be unattainable because of the time or money factor. It should be remembered, too, that training devices can free operational equipment for combat ready units.

I submit that if we are to maintain the highest possible degree of combat readiness we must use every available means for reducing the costs of training. Devices, simulators, aids, contrivances—call them what you like—they must become an integral part of our training arsenal.

On Our Shelves

An interesting account of significant or interesting firsts, in the fields of California exploration and discovery, transportation and communication, mining, religion, agriculture, education, literature and art, exposures and pageants is on our shelves this week under the pen of R. D. Hunt.

TOP MANAGEMENT DECISION SIMULATION. by Elizabeth Marting, introduces a training technique, utilizing the electronic computer and new methods of problem solving, "designed expressly to provide conditions under which a few hours of concentrated decision making under pressure will equal years of actual experience."

A history of the early days of U. S. military aviation from 1907 to 1916, MAN UNAFRAID, by S. F. Tillman, gives descriptions of the early planes and accounts of the Army air pilots who flew them before and during World War I.

An exciting espionage book on the Library shelves is THE ART OF SPYING, by Ronald Seth, which tells of the backgrounds, qualifications and missions of five spys of totally different personalities: Alexander Foote, Richard Sorge, Trebitsch-Lincoln, Christine Granville and Anne-Marie Walters.

THIS IS THE CHALLENGE, by William Benton, is a collection of articles, speeches, interviews and memoranda on the subject of Soviet education, science and technology and what we must do to meet the challenge.

Missile Defense System Not Altered by A-Blasts

Washington (AFPS)—The high-altitude atomic blasts over the Atlantic late last summer—only recently brought to light—have not, in themselves, altered concepts of anti-ballistic missile development, according to Deputy Defense Secretary Donald A. Quarles.

The "very low yield" nuclear shots were touched-off at a height of 300 miles from an undisclosed point in the South Atlantic last 27 August, 30 August and 6 September in Project Argus, conducted by the Defense Department's Advanced Research Projects Agency with the Armed Forces Special Weapons Project and a fleet of nine Navy vessels.

Mr. Quarles, a scientist himself, in an hour-and-a-half Pentagon discussion with newsmen following conflicting revelations of the results of Argus on missile defense, explained:

"I would say that nothing we have learned has made us feel that we have to change our concept of the missile defense system. In other words, we are still on the Nike-Zeus development course."

The Argus experiment "did clarify our understanding" in the basic scientific sense of space phenomena fundamental to the anti-missile missile program, including the Army's top-priority Zeus.

"Of course," Mr. Quarles continued, "like all programs where we are probing space and science in this area, we see the potentiality of military implications," but he said Argus was not directly involved in anti-missile research.

The scientific results of these experiments, however, "might very well have important implications in our military programs down the road," Mr. Quarles declared.

The Nike-Zeus is being developed to be fired from ground sites and then guided by radar to intercept incoming ballistic missiles detected by early warning devices.

The atomic heads were carried high into space by a three-stage rocket—essentially a research test vehicle—57 feet long and especially modified for the shots.

The rockets were fired from the Norton Sound, a guided missile ship. The carrier Tarawa was flagship of the Navy task force, commanded by Rear Admiral Lloyd M. Mustin. Other vessels taking part in Project Argus were the destroyers Warrington and Bearss; destroyer escorts Courtney and Hamnerberg; the tankers Neosho and Salamonie; and the Albermarle, a scientific laboratory ship.

man-made radiation—created in the earth's magnetic field in the tests—had on radar, Mr. Quarles said, "there is no question" that trapped electron layers will affect the "propagation of electromagnetic waves (radar)."

As to just what inference the experiments have with reference to radar, "we will have to reserve on that," Mr. Quarles said, adding that the Defense Department may reveal nothing.

But, he said, "this experimentation may increase our knowledge of the conditions and the environment in which the Nike-Zeus system will have to operate."

CSC To Set New Register On Key Auditor Positions

The following Civil Service Examinations have been announced to establish registers of candidates for possible vacancies at Federal agencies:

● Accountant and Auditor, GS-5 and GS-7, $4,040 and $4,980 p/a. Ann. No. 188.

Applications will be accepted by the Army and Air Force Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, 180 New Montgomery St., Room 109, San Francisco 5, Calif.

● Accountant and Auditor, GS-9, GS-11, and GS-12, $5,985, $7,030, and $8,330 p/a.

Applications will be accepted by the Director, 12th U. S. Civil Service Region, Room 128, Appraisers Building, 630 Sansome St., San Francisco 11, Calif.

For further information, call at the Civilian Personnel Division, Bldg. 227, Presidio of San Francisco or telephone WE 1-6111, Extension 2349.

Applications are being accepted for a Clerk (typing), GS-4. A signed application (Standard Form 58) must be filed with Civilian Personnel Division, Building 227, Presidio of San Francisco, prior to 6 April, 1959. For further information call extension 2349 or 4233.

what they said

"It takes all kinds of people to make the world," but some leave a more vivid impression on the future than others. This week we ask:

Question: Which one man do you believe has had the most influence on the world since 1800?

ANSWERS

M/Sgt. James F. Johnson, 1st Sergeant, A Battery, 2d Missile Bn., Ft. Barry (Mendell): President Eisenhower. He is in my opinion the best president we ever had. I think so because of how he stopped the Korean Police Action as well as how he looks after the servicemen. He has kept us out of the war and he has given us wonderful leadership since becoming President. I don't think his illness has hindered his leadership of the nation.

Miss Barbara Warner, Photography Section, Sixth U.S. Army Signal Section: I would answer two men, Orville and Wilbur Wright. The reason for this choice is not that they are important themselves, but for what they perfected. Their success in flying a heavier than air machine initiated today's space age. Because of their efforts we now have fast, efficient transportation to practically all parts of the world. This has brought about a tremendous social and economic change in the world.

George Dall, General Supply Officer, Sixth U.S. Army Transportation Section: Abraham Lincoln. His principles, and beautiful writing are known throughout the world. As a result of his principles, much of the drive for freedom throughout the world has received a great impetus effecting a profound change in the world, and resulting in establishment of new countries and breaking up of huge empires. I think his philosophy of life aided in giving the people in all positions of life a sense of dignity.

Miss Catherine Holliday, Traffic Clerk, Transportation Section: I would say Adolf Hitler because he let loose so many forces that were held in check prior to his time. The thing about it is that because of the War the U.S. and Britain made Russia, which was then a third-rate power, an ally. This lifted Russia to the status of a first-rate power and something to be afraid of ever since. In other words, this is the cause of the unrest in the world today. Hitler in himself was not so important as there were many important men whose philosophies were superior, but his importance lies in his starting the War and bringing about a powerful Russia.

The men and women of the Armed Forces deserve a salute—and for 18 years they have been getting one from the American public through the United Service Organizations, Inc. As the USO observes another anniversary, it's a good time to return the compliment and say "Thanks—we appreciate the job you're doing."

That goes for the friendly canteens, the helping hand, and most of all for the troupes of tireless entertainers who lighten the lives of men holding down remote overseas stations.

These are the real stars of USO. There are "big names" like Bob Hope and Mary Martin, of course. But for every big name there are a host of others who hit the "hardship circuits." They don't expect plush accommodations. They seldom get them. They don't mind roughing it as long as there's a receptive audience.

And there always is. We forget, sometimes, how much of a morale booster the sight of a pretty American gal can be to a man in Korea or Alaska or Labrador. But the USO never forgets. No duty station the world over is too bleak and inaccessible for it to visit, bringing laughs and music. For nothing takes the place of "live" entertainment and life, is something the USO has aplenty. Happy Birthday! (AFPS).

Draft New Uniform Regs As DA Cites Violations

Washington (ANS)—To assist commanders in emphasizing strict adherence to uniform regulations, DA is preparing a revision of AR 670-5, "Uniform and Insignia—Male Personnel."

Though the adoption of Army Green as the official service uniform for the Active Army has materially reduced individual variations in dress, some violations of regulations have been noted according to a recent DA statement. Primarily concerned with uniform accessories, some of the frequent violations mentioned were the wearing of:

- Shoes with capped toes instead of the specified plain toe shoes.
- Unauthorized insignia, particularly oversized cap insignia.
- Unauthorized cloth replicas of unit distinctive insignia on items of field clothing.
- Incorrect combinations of Army dress uniforms and, in the case of items of civilian attire authorized for these uniforms, wearing improper items, such as a string tie instead of the black bow tie normally worn with a civilian tuxedo.
- Shoulder sleeve insignia on the Army Blue uniform.

The revised AR will include the recent change affecting the wear of the Army Green and Army Blue uniform. The Army Green uniform, prescribed as the general duty uniform, may now be worn during other than normal duty hours except for "social functions." The Army Blue uniform, now prescribed as the uniform to be worn for social functions after retreat, may also be worn on other appropriate occasions as desired by the individual officer or as prescribed by the local commander.

NATO Chief On TV

General Lauris Norstad, Supreme Commander of NATO, will face a panel of top newsmen on "Face the Nation" this Sunday, 1300, Channel 5. Gen. Norstad is in Washington for the tenth anniversary meeting of NATO.

Classification CWO Is Commended On Retirement Here

As a fitting climax to his varied military career, CWO William F. Schwartz, Classification and Assignment Officer at Post Headquarters, was presented with a Certificate of Achievement on the eve of his retirement Wednesday afternoon by the Post Commander, Colonel M. M. Brown.

The certificate was awarded to CWO Schwartz for distinguishing himself by his outstanding performance of duty from September 13, 1957, to March 31, 1959.

Prior to coming to the Presidio in 1957, he was assigned to Headquarters for the Seventh U.S. Army at Stuttgart, Germany.

In addition to serving 3 years in Europe, CWO Schwartz served two tours of duty in Korea—one with the 63rd Infantry as its Adjutant and the other as an administrative officer with Headquarters, 7th Infantry Division.

A veteran of 21 years' service, his decorations include the Bronze Star Medal and Commendation Ribbon with Oak Leaf Cluster.

He is a member of Solomon Lodge Number 822, AF&AM in Stuttgart, Germany, and the Golden Gate Chapter Number 319 of the National Sojourners in San Francisco.

As for the future, he will be working for the Keasbey and Mattison Pipe Company in Santa Clara as a planning supervisor.

CWO Schwartz and his wife, Bessie, will make their home at 190 Filomena Street in San Jose, California.

Big Responsibility

Being A Parent

This article is addressed to parents. Being a parent today is quite a responsibility. Yet have you ever stopped to think of all the help that is available to you as a parent if you will just avail yourself of it?

You read, or are informed, that parents are "completely responsible for the acts of their children" and it seems overwhelming that you must be expected to keep up with Junior at all times. A little thought and effort on your part will make the job much easier.

Children have a lot of vitality and energy which must be channeled in the right direction, or it will get them (and you) into a lot of trouble.

Considerable thought, time, and effort has been given to this problem here at the Presidio of San Francisco. Facilities exist here which are unequalled in civilian communities. There are the Boy Scout and Girl Scout Troops, the Presidio Youth Baseball League, the Little League, the Teen Age Club, Junior Rifliers, young people's programs in the churches, and numerous special activities. There is something going on to interest every age.

Children want something to do and they want your interest. Your own attitude may do much to get them started. Or better still, take a part in one or more of these activities yourself. Your example will do wonders to interest your child.

Colonel Henry H. Rogers, G2, Sixth U.S. Army and Chairman of the Youth Activities Council, also the Institutional Representative of the Boy Scouts of America for the Presidio, has this to say:

"In my opinion the facilities and adult guidance provided on the Presidio for youth activities is outstanding, and offers wonderful opportunities for all youngsters from six years of age up."

So, if you have a bored youngster on your hands, with spare time that needs the proper channeling—your interest, encouragement and the Youth Activities is a surefire formula for successful parenthood.

National Library Week, April 12 to 18, has a simple and laudable purpose to stimulate interest in good reading, not for one week but for 52 weeks a year.

Do we need such a reminder of the pleasure and profit to be found in books? In this age of television, we most assuredly do. We are apt to forget that the library, the book store, even the newsstand, offer us the richest opportunity to broaden our horizons or find agreeable relaxation.

The Armed Forces maintain a splendid library system, at home and overseas, afloat and ashore. Wherever a man is stationed, he can read—if he says he hasn't got the time or the books aren't available, he's kidding no one.

At not other time has such a variety of worth-while reading been available. The past 20 years have marked the ascendancy of the paper-back until today you can have, for the price of a magazine, a variety from classics to whodunits.

Books are doors that lead the reader into countless rooms on the greatest of all adventures—the life of the mind. (AFPS)

Presidio Will Charter Toastmasters Club

A Toastmasters Club is in the process of organization at the Presidio. One of over 2,900 such clubs throughout the world and in every State of the Nation, it will be under the Toastmasters International.

A local steering committee has been formed, comprising Colonel Stuart W. Davis, G-4; Mr. Elmo Cornelison, Civilian Personnel; Lt. Colonel Grant W. Allison, S-1; Mr. Leslie F. Scanlon, Civilian Personnel; Mr. George J. Caselli, PSF QM; and Mr. Kenneth Dunn, G-1.

Invitations will be sent shortly to form a nucleus of 30 charter members, consisting of 15 officers and 15 civilians. An organization meeting will be held at the Presidio Officers Open Mess on 20 April, at which time several outstanding toastmasters from the Bay Area will address the group.

Formation of a local Toastmasters Club is a part of the Executive Development plan, designed to assist in mastering the art of effective public speaking. By participation, members acquire a poised, self-assured appearance before any audience, prepare for chairmanship and participation in all types of meetings, increase qualifications for business and civic recognition, and provide an enjoyable fellowship and a forum for the stimulating exchange of ideas. The motto is "For Better Listening, Thinking and Speaking."

Meetings will be held weekly at neontime.

Top Panel Set TV Discussion About Public Info Need

Pros and cons on "Is the American Public Getting the Information It Needs" will be discussed on CBS's Great Challenge by a panel of experts this Sunday over Channel 5 at 1130.

On hand for the big debate will be James Hagerty, presidential press secretary; James Reston, chief of the Washington bureau of the New York Times; Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., historian; Robert Swezy, New Orleans radio-TV executive and chairman of the Freedom of Information Committee of the National Association of Broadcasters; and Charles Sprague, former governor of Oregon, now a publisher.

Presidio Entries Score In Area Talent Contest

Two Presidio of San Francisco entries in the Sixth Army Recorded Entertainment Contest placed high in their categories and are being sent to Washington, D. C., for further consideration in the All-Army contest to be judged on 1 May, 1959.

The Presidio dramatic group composed of Mrs. Ann C. Henning, wife of Capt. Frank A. Henning, M/Sgt. George K. Provoo of the LAH medical detachment and Sfc. Louis E. Reynolds of Letterman radio station KLAH placed second in their category.

Another Presidio entry, calling themselves "The Serenaders," took first place in the vocal group unaccompanied. The group of five, composed entirely of "D" Co. WAC personnel, had only been singing together for two weeks prior to the contest. The singers are Pfc. Ethel Ringer, Pfc. Anne Davis, Sfc. Diane Bean, Pfc. Lois Raybourn and Pfc. Eloise Hayes.

The vocal group was an idea of Lt. Grace Sparks, Executive Officer, "D" Co. WAC detachment, who has been a music instructor in civilian life. She organized the group specifically to enter the contest and they hope to continue as such. Immediately prior to entering the service she taught music for two years at Altamont Junior High School in Klamath Falls, Ore.

The name of the winning number? Why, it's "Making Love Ukulele Style." In honor of the new state?

Miss Beverly Gaillard, Sixth Army Staff Entertainment Director, labeled the contest a "complete success." It was expanded from six to ten categories this year to increase interest and broaden the scope. The dramatic category proved to be the most popular with six of the more than thirty total entries vying for honors.

Judging of the Sixth Army contest took place Thursday, 26 March, at the Presidio Service Club. Judges were Mrs. Alfred Thomson, music instructor in San Rafael; Mr. Don Heiferman, San Francisco actor and producer; and CWO Byron Smith, associate bandmaster of the Sixth Army Band.

Winners and category follow:

Classical Vocal Solo: First—Pvt. David W. Madison, Ft. Ord; second—Pfc. Timothy J. Correa, Camp Irwin.
Classical Instrument Solo: First—Pfc. William P. Graham, Ft. Ord; second—Pfc. Francis J. Angelo, Ft. MacArthur.
Country and Western Group: First—

The Rainier Ramblers, Ft. Lewis.
Vocal Group Unaccompanied: First—The Serenaders, PSFC.
Vocal Group Accompanied: First—The Daptones, Ft. Lewis; second—The Starlighters, Camp Irwin.
Dramatic Group: First—Ft. Lewis; second—PSFC.
Small Chorus: First—Ft. Ord Soldiers Chorus; second—Ft. MacArthur.
Large Chorus: First—Army Language School, Presidio of Monterey.
Army Band Chorus: First—433rd Army Band, Camp Irwin.
Group Singing: First—1st Battle Group, 8th Infantry, Ft. Lewis; second—The Reconasingers, Camp Irwin.

Recently Assigned

Major ROBERT E. DICKINSON has been assigned to Headquarters XVth Army Corps (Reserve) as a training officer with the G3 Section.

An Iowan by birth, Maj. Dickinson enlisted in the Army in 1939. He received his commission in 1943 upon graduation from the Fort Benning Officer Candidate School.

During World War II, Maj. Dickinson served in the European Theater of Operations for 15 months. He participated in the Northern France, Rhineland and Central Europe campaigns for which he was awarded the Silver Star Medal, Bronze Star Medal and the Purple Heart with Oak Leaf Cluster.

Major Dickinson served with the Far East Command for 22 months from 1948 to 1950. Another tour in this Command placed him in Korea as Officer in Charge of a Rest and Recuperation Detachment from 1953 to 1954.

In 1956, Major Dickinson was assigned to Fort Carson, Colorado, as Regimental S4, 13th Infantry Regiment, 8th Infantry Division, during the time of reorganization of the Regiment from a Training unit to a Table of Organization unit. The Regiment was also preparing for its movement overseas. He received a Commendation Ribbon with Medal Pendant for the outstanding performance of his duties during this time. Major Dickinson served with the 13th Infantry, his last assignment being with Headquarters Company, 1st Battle Group, Sandhofen, Germany, until his transfer to the XVth Corps.

6 Win Awards For Completing Special Course

Five officers and a sergeant were awarded certificates of merit by Col. Andrew R. Lolli last Friday for completing the Command Operational Inspection Procedures Course at the San Francisco Army Air Defense School in the Presidio.

The six are Capt. Thomas B. Dodgen, Jr., and 1st Lt. Warren W. Buckingham of Battery A, 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery at Ft. Funston, Calif.; 1st Lt. Joseph B. Schaller, Jr., of Headquarters, 30th Artillery Group at Ft. Scott, Calif.; 2nd Lt. Martin P. Sorenson of Battery B, 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery at Rocky Ridge, Calif.; WO Raymond C. Norris of Battery B, 2nd Missile Battalion at Ft. Cronkhite, Calif.; and SFC William E. Delena of Headquarters, 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery at San Pablo Ridge, Calif.

The one-week course is designed to insure uniform inspections of air defense sites within the San Francisco-Travis AFB Army Air Defense.

Reenlistment Plaque To Headquarters Company U.S. Army Garrison

A Reenlistment Achievement Plaque was presented to Lt. David L. Bunker, Commanding Officer of Headquarters Company, U. S. Army Garrison at Post Headquarters Tuesday by Colonel M. M. Brown, Post Commander.

The award was made to Headquarters Company for obtaining the highest reenlistment rate of any unit stationed at the Presidio during the period 1 October, 1958 to 31 March, 1959. The Plaque is presented every six months to the unit with the highest reenlistment rate.

To earn the award, Headquarters Company reenlisted 93 per cent of their assigned quota.

Art Carney will meet "The Sorcerer's Apprentice" in a one-hour musical on channel 7 this Sunday at 1700. Carney plays Cicerio, a magician whose sorcery backfires. Children please note.

AF Gen. Norstad Heads NATO's European Area

(By Armed Forces Press Service)

The European Command of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is a major integrated unit headed by Gen. Lauris Norstad, USAF, Supreme Allied Commander Europe (SACEUR).

The European Command headquarters, near Paris, is known as SHAPE—Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe.

SACEUR covers the land area extending from the Norwegian Sea to North Africa and from the Atlantic to the eastern border of Turkey, but excludes the United Kingdom, Portugal and Algeria, the defense of which is a national responsibility.

SACEUR is responsible for the defense of the Allied countries under his command against any attack and would, in time of war, control all land, sea and air operations in this area.

SACEUR'S peacetime functions are defined as:

- Organizing, training and equipping the North Atlantic forces assigned and earmarked to his command to insure that they are knit together into one unified force;
- Preparing and making final defense plans; and
- Making recommendations to the executive agency of NATO's military committee, the Standing Group, about such matters as the instruction, training, equipping and support of his forces, and on any other military questions that affect his ability to carry out his responsibilities in peace or war.

Although SACEUR receives his directions from the Standing Group, he nevertheless has the right of direct access to the Chiefs-of-Staff of any of the powers and, in certain circumstances, the Defense Ministers and heads of government.

JUDGING PHOTOGRAPHS in the Sixth U.S. Army contest proved a tough job for even such experts as (l. to r.) Paul A. Hassel, California School of Fine Arts; Harold Zegart, SF Commercial Photographer, and Ira Latore, art instructor at San Francisco State College. Here judges look over Sfc. Richard Ramsey's "Impact" in the Scenic black and white category—it won the Ft. Mason soldier a top prize of $25.

Howell, Ramsey Top Field; Susskind, Larson Score

Presidio of San Francisco was well represented among the winners of the Sixth U.S. Army 1959 Photography Contest. Twenty local pictures received honors ranging from first place to honorable mention. The judging took place here on 25 March.

M/Sgt. William Howell, Ft. Scott, won a 1st in the Sports and Action Category, Group I (Black and White), with "Muscular Ballet" (see page 1).

Sfc. Richard Ramsey, Ft. Mason (he entered while stationed at the Presidio), won a 1st in the Scenic Category, Group I, for "The Impact," and M/Sgt. Olive Hinchliffe, Presidio, a 1st in the Experimental Category, Group II, with her color transparency, "Reflections of Industry." First place prizes were $25.

Second Place Awards, $20, went to Capt. Bernard Susskind, Presidio, in the Portrait Category, Group I, for "Korean Gentlemen" and in the Scenic Category, Group I, Capt. Richard Larson, Fort Barry, for "Memory Log."

Third Place Awards, $15, went to Lt. Col. Oscar Vogl, Presidio, in the Military Life Category, Group I, for "Full Dress"; Sfc. Charles Hawkins, Presidio, in the same category, Group II, with his color slide, "The Artilleryman"; and Sp4 Theodore Kirby, Presidio, in the Experimental Category, Group II, for his color slide, "No Title."

Honorable Mentions went to Lt. Col. Oscar Vogl, the Sports and Action Category, Group I, for "40 and 8"; Captain Richard Larson, Military Life Category, Group I, "The Window Artist," in the Military Life Category, Group II, for his color slides, "Seawall Pillings," and "Glory at Sea," and in the Scenic Category, Group II, for his color transparency, "The Golden Gate"; Sp4 Michael Reed, Presidio, in the Experimental Category, Group I, for his picture, "The Old Fort Point."

M/Sgt. Olive Hinchliffe, Portrait Category, Group II, for two color transparencies, "Unafraid" and "Napping"; in the Scenic Category, Group II, for her color slide, "Nightfall," and Experimental Category, Group II, for her transparencies, "Starfish" and "Fabulous City"; Sfc. Charles Hawkins, Presidio, Sports and Action, Group I, "No Score," Scenic Category, Group II, for his color transparency, "Moon Over Chugach Mountains."

Capt. Richard Larson scored five times, with a 2nd and four honorable mentions, as did M/Sgt. Olive Hinchliffe with a 1st and four honorable mentions. Pfc. Peter Gregorio of Ft. Lewis, Washington, received a 2nd and three honorable mentions.

Foreign Ministers To Discuss NATO On TV Round-Table Sunday

Five foreign ministers of NATO countries will join in a round-table discussion on Channel 7, 1100, this Sunday. Event will help celebrate the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's upcoming birthday.

On hand for the discussion will be Christian A. Herter, U.S. Acting Secretary of State; Selwyn Lloyd of Great Britain; Maurice Couve de Murville of France; Heinrich Von Brentano of West Germany; and Joseph M. A. H. Luns of the Netherlands, honorary president of the NATO council.

San Francisco, bounded on three sides by water, is among the few world cities with the distinction of having more than half of its perimeter washed daily by the ocean's tidal currents.

kaleidoscope

If the Army picked a Community Relations Soldier of the Year (not a bad idea) our vote would have to go to M/Sgt. Duane C. Ragan, chief clerk, G2, Headquarters, XV Corps (Reserve).

A dynamo in the civic life of Marin County, this 17-year Army veteran serves in such varied capacities as: President of the Marin County Foster Parents Association, since 1957; Chief Umpire, San Anselmo Little League; and Sunday School Superintendent for the First Church of Christ Scientist, Larkspur.

"We are also licensed by the Marin County Welfare Department and the State of California as both a 'permanent foster home' and a 'receiving home,'" says Sgt. Ragan. "As a 'permanent foster home' we often have as many as four children, most of them products of broken homes or some major parental tragedy, ranging from infants to teenagers living in our home. Then as a 'receiving home' we are called on to provide temporary shelter, at any hour of the day or night, for emergency cases."

Sgt. Ragan and his wife Helen have some very strong feelings on the needs of children. "We believe in discipline, but without harshness. When youngsters are put in our home they are often wards of the court and this entails a good deal of responsibility on our part. We have to have some hard and fast rules on their going and coming and constant knowledge of their whereabouts. I've found that if you tell children where they stand and offer a little love and understanding, they'll respond almost immediately."

The sergeant has a special dislike for the term "juvenile delinquency." "I prefer 'parent delinquency' for the simple reason that youngsters in trouble, or at least 75 per cent, are there because their parents failed them. When people learn that being a parent means taking a back seat to the interest and welfare of their children, the term 'juvenile delinquency' will fade into limbo."

Sgt. Ragan is also a strong supporter of organized activities for young people. "When youthful energy is properly channeled it can be a wonderful thing. In working with Little Leagues and Junior Leagues, I've found that most are quick to learn lessons of teamwork and group responsibility. Important factors if any young person is to become a successful and productive member of society."

The Ragans are careful not to form any permanent attachment for the children they help. "If we did, we would be in a constant state of emotional flux when they returned to their parents or were given permanent guardians. Of course, we love them all, but we keep reminding them of their real parents or relatives and of their responsibility to them."

Sgt. Ragan finds Foster Parent work "challenging and satisfying." "Every child is a different personality and must be given special treatment for his or her particular problem."

The Ragans have a large home in San Anselmo "with plenty of room on the outside for the youngsters to roam in. Of course, the place can sometimes get pretty cluttered with that many children coming and going; however, Helen and I feel that a home belongs to the children and we encourage them to use it. Believe me, our house has that 'lived in' look and feeling."

In case at this point you may have said to yourself, "This kind of activity is all very well for the Ragans. They probably have nothing of their own running around the house but a fence." Let me hasten to explain that besides three growing children of their own, Betty Jane, 12, Bob, 10½, and Phillip, 8½, the Ragans have three cats, one expecting, a dog and a parakeet.

Definition: "... Limited war... is any military conflict short of a general war, one in which our national existence is not at stake. Thus, limited war covers a wide range of military action, from a patrol action to an operation on the magnitude of the Korean War or greater. While this definition is very broad, further to refine it leads to complications which add nothing to the clarity of the concept."—General Maxwell D. Taylor.

Seward's Folly?—With only two per cent of Alaska surveyed, it has been reported that the U.S. has already found there 31 of the 33 strategic minerals it needs in case of war.

It's a Fact: The United States Army pioneered in guided missile, ballistic missile and rocket development just as it did in the development of the Atomic bomb.

Frontier Night Again!

Wild West Theme Keys Benefit For AER-ARS

In a special "repeat" performance by popular demand—and for the benefit of Army Emergency Relief and the Army Relief Society—"FRONTIER NIGHT" will be staged again this year on Saturday night, 2 May, in the Presidio Officers' Open Mess.

The event, which raised 60 per cent of last year's funds for AER-ARS, will be open to all POOM members and their accompanied guests.

Participating in planning this year's "doings" are representatives from Headquarters Sixth U.S. Army and Post Headquarters, Presidio of San Francisco, Sixth Region, U.S. Army Air Defense Command, Letterman Army Hospital and XV Corps.

Colonel Arthur L. Bivens, Sixth Army Quartermaster and past president of the POOM Board of Governors, is general chairman of the committee arranging for the event, as he was for last year's highly successful "FRONTIER NIGHT."

The Wild West theme which proved so popular is being preserved, and costumes suitable to this theme are in order. The evening will start with a "Happy Hour" from 1800 to 2000; buffet supper will be served from 1800 to 2200, after which grilled hamburgers and hot dogs will be available. Dancing is scheduled from 2000 to closing, and a variety of entertainment and games will be in operation all evening.

The committee plans to transplant the Wild West of the old Frontier about as far west as possible, with the exception of the Farallones and the 50th State of Hawaii.

Ed Center Announces New Summer Courses

The Army Education Center announced that the following new evening classes will be starting at the Presidio of San Francisco next week. All interested military and civilian personnel are invited to attend. Classes are sponsored by the Adult Division of the San Francisco City Schools and are therefore free of cost for books and tuition.

• Aircraft Engines: An eight-week course for pilots, student flyers, and mechanics. Classes meet every Tuesday and Thursday from 1900 to 2100 hours, starting 7 April in Bldg. 258 and in the Crissy Field hangar shops.

• Evening High School: Two new classes will be given, meeting twice weekly for eight weeks from 1800 to 2100 hours in Bldg. 252 on days indicated:

- General Science: Monday and Wednesday, starting 8 April.
- English Literature: Tuesday and Thursday starting 14 April.

The above two courses are part of the four-course high school certificate program. The other two courses in mathematics and U.S. history and government will be given next semester.

Students may report directly to classes the first week of school, or may contact the Army Education Center, Bldg. 258, Phone Ext. 2974 for registration.

NOT SMALLEST—Maps indicate that Hawaii, the nation's newest state, ranks ahead of Connecticut and Rhode Island in total area. The island group covers 6,420 square miles; Connecticut, 5,009; and Rhode Island 1,058.

movie roundup

THE COSMIC MAN—John Carradine, Bruce Bennett. An Air Force base is thrown into near panic when a mysterious man from outer space lands near the base. No. 1—Tomorrow.

THUNDER IN THE SUN—(F) (Color), Susan Hayward, Jeff Chandler, Jacques Bergerac. The lovely Susan Hayward is seen as a fiery Basque girl who, together with a small colony of her countrymen, make the trek in the 1840's to California. The story concerns their adventures enroute, with Chandler playing the two-fisted scout who guides them. He and the Basque Bergerac vie for Susan's love in the midst of some highly unusual screen excitement. No. 1—Sunday and Monday; No. 3—Wednesday; No. 4—Thursday.

A STREETCAR NAMED DESIRE—(M), Marlon Brando, Vivien Leigh, Karl Malden, Kim Hunter. As one of the most universally heralded motion pictures of our time, the story tells of Vivien Leigh, who comes to visit her sister, Kim Hunter, and her brutish husband, played by Marlon Brando. Miss Leigh plays a woman who is caught up in a neurotic dream world which is destroyed in a vicious and dramatic moment by Brando. No. 1—Tuesday; No. 3—Friday.

SHANE—(F) (Color), Alan Ladd, Jean Arthur, Van Heflin. The classical tale told in this great Western film is that of the fierce struggle between homesteaders and cattlemen to control the range, a struggle resolved by the gun-toting stranger called Shane. No. 1—Wednesday.

THE WILD AND THE INNOCENT—(M) (Color), Audie Murphy, Joanne Dru, Sandra Dee, Gilbert Roland. An outdoor adventure told against the background of the early West, and depicting the problems of two young people on their first visit to a "city," forms the basis for this rollicking drama of the West. Audie Murphy is the naive boy from the hills who has to grow up in a hurry. No. 1—Thursday.

Army All-Stars Win Interservice Laurels

Resked Softball Clinic

There will be a re-run of the softball clinic held on 26 March. The new time for the clinic will be 23 April and all teams entering competition in the intramural softball league should try to send at least one representative.

An Armed Forces League official will be on hand to explain plays, calls and rule interpretations at the Post Theatre from 1000 to 1200. The program will then move outside for practical demonstrations on the diamond behind the Main PX, from 1300-1500.

Still Sees Record!

Nieder In Easter Meet; Second To Dallas Long

By Pvt. Dale C. Clark

Star Presidian Sports Editor

Presidio's shotput ace, Lt. Bill Nieder, proved he can toss more than just the 16-pound lead ball. He tossed a curve at this reporter last week when he stated he would compete at Berkeley and not at the Santa Barbara Easter Relays as he originally intended to do.

In all fairness to Lt. Nieder, it should be pointed out that Parry O'Brien, Dallas Long and Dave Davis decided to appear at the Easter Relays after previously cancelling out. Word came to Lt. Nieder on Friday and he made the necessary change in his schedule to appear in competition against them. And thereby hangs the tale.

Nieder tossed the shot 62'9" to place second behind Dallas Long in the meet. Long turned in a top performance and equaled the world's record of 63'2" set by Parry O'Brien. O'Brien had a best throw of 62'0 1/4" to place third, his first defeat since 1956. Davis finished in fourth with a heave of 60'3" for a wind-up of the greatest shotput display in history with four men throwing over 60 feet.

"I'm still working on my form and believe I can toss at least 64 feet before the end of the season," Nieder states. "I have to work as an individual in practice and the only coaching I get is during a meet but I have caught a couple of things I've been doing wrong that way. It helps to have someone around to point out the seemingly insignificant things that detract from performance."

"I feel that I've reached a plateau in performance on the way to breaking the record," Nieder put it. "When I first started this season I stayed around 61 feet; now I'm up to 62 feet and climbing. Any time now I should make it to 63 feet and start working my way up from there." As a memo to readers, all of Nieder's tosses were over 62 feet at the Easter Relays.

Asked about the relative size of today's shotputter, Nieder, who is no small man himself, said, "I feel like a midget out there with those boys. This Long stands about 6'5" and weighs 270 pounds, O'Brien tips the scales at 245 and Davis hits 255. Beside all that beef I look out of place weighing only 225."

Next Monday Lt. Nieder will leave for Hawaii and Competition in the Olympic Benefit Track Meet. Top Army competitors are expected to put in their appearance. He will play the part of beachcomber for a few days between meets as he expects to compete at least twice while he is there.

Tomorrow he will compete at San Francisco State College under the banner of the San Francisco Olympic Club as a U.S. Army representative.

The world's largest Calla lily field—containing more than 25 miles of sprinkler pipes—is located at the base of San Bruno Mountain south of San Francisco.

Toreras Win First Volleyball Contest From OAT Team

Presidio Toreras opened their volleyball season in grand style by sinking a tough Oakland Army Terminal team 7-15, 15-13 and 15-11. The Oakland team had one player that served a low serve but once the Toreras solved this, they went on to sweep the victory.

Team coach Sp4 James Morse is happy with the results and states, "we're improving all the time and our serving in particular is getting better. There are no outstanding players, but just a strong team playing together."

The Toreras' next game will be against the Letterman WACs at Ft. Scott Gym, 1900 hours on Tuesday, 7 April. On 11 April, they enter the Women's Interservice Recreational League tournament at Oakland Army Terminal. The team will be there at 0930 for the drawing to determine tourney pairings. Play will begin at 1000.

Red Stripe A Must!

Any ocean angler who catches a salmon during the first part of April will be caught red-handed, or at least red-fingered, under a new fish and game regulation which requires all sport-caught salmon to be marked with a red dye stripe during the closed commercial fishing season.

The new regulation goes into effect tomorrow and requires that each sport-caught salmon be marked from head to tail on both sides with a half-inch wide stripe of bright red coloring. The regulation was adopted as a means of discouraging the commercial sale of sport-caught salmon.

The stripe can be of any "permanent USP certified food or drug coloring" with leftover Easter egg dye filling the bill as well as any other type. For the discriminating angler, one or two manufacturers have already come out with a dye in a special dauber bottle to be distributed through bait shops in the major ocean salmon fishing areas.

VonWeyhe Gets 'MVP' As Locals Undeclared

Presidio-based Army All-Stars, coached by Post Athletic Director Hal Fischer, walked away with all of the honors at the Interservice Trials held at Mitchell Air Force Base in New York.

Presidio's own Pfc. Bill VonWeyhe was selected as the "Most Valuable Player" in the tournament. A more material reward was the presentation of a Hi-Fi set along with the title.

The All-Stars went undefeated in tourney play as they swabbed the Navy 98-84 in the first game. The Air Force in the role of second-round foe had their wings clipped 78-65. The final game was against the always rugged Marines but the soldiers decked them 82-73. Fischer's running attack had all the other service teams gasping for breath as the Army replaced by platoons with either one just as effective as the other.

The Army squad was strengthened by the addition of five new team members selected from the other three teams in the Interservice Trials. Five Army players had to be cut from the squad and these were Fred Diehl, Charles Franklin, Robert Boothe, Gene Elstun and Don Sift. Coach Fischer has picked mostly tall men from the service ranks as rebounding was a particularly sore spot with lack of height in the Army team.

Not only did Hal Fischer pick up some new players but his position as head coach of the Armed Service team also warranted the addition of two aides; one from the Air Force and one from the Marines, to help develop a razor-sharp team for the Pan-American Game trials which started yesterday in Louisville, Ky.

First round foes for the Armed Services team will be their old nemesis, Wichita Vickers, AAU Champions, who gained their title by edging the Army All-Stars 104-102 in an overtime contest. Coach Fischer believes that the addition of new men will turn the trick and put Wichita on the short end this time.

Other first round pairings are the Phillips 66 Oilers against the College All-Stars. The double-elimination tournament determines who will represent the United States in the Pan American Games at Chicago next August.

Brownlee Unbeaten In NorCal Open Sabre Contests

The Letterman Army Hospital-Presidio of San Francisco fencers placed three men in the NorCal Individual Open Sabre championships held recently at the LAH Sports Center. The fencers who qualified for the U. S. National Championship and the Pacific Coast Championship are Col. Laurence Brownlee (5th), Lt. Gene Hardy (8th) and Karl Dorman (10th).

Col. Brownlee went through the qualifying rounds for the finals without a loss. Another stellar job was turned in by M/Sgt. Bert Sheck as he defeated the strong Hungarian saberman, Alex Orbon. The first four places in the event went to Hungarians with top honors being taken by Daniel Mugay, formerly of the Hungarian Olympic team and present U. S. National Champion.

Letterman entries in the contest were M/Sgt. Severo Pasol, M/Sgt. Bert Sheck, and Mr. Karl Dorman. Fencing for the Presidio were Col. Laurence Brownlee, Lt. Gene Hardy and Sp5 William Beaver.

The next event will be the NorCal Individual Open Epee Championship to be held tomorrow night 2000 hours at the San Francisco School of Fencing, 3015 Clement St. The electric epee will be used to determine final round winners.

Name Four U.S. Olympic Winter Sports Coaches

Four coaches of United States teams that will compete in the 1960 Olympic Winter Games at Squaw Valley—men's alpine skiing, women's alpine skiing, men's cross-country skiing, and speed skating, were named last month.

Honored were Bill Beck, former Olympic competitor and currently assistant ski coach at Dartmouth University, who will coach the men's alpine team; Dave Lawrence, 1952 Olympic team member and international racer, who will coach the women's alpine team; Sven Wiik, Western State College of Gunnison, Colo., ski mentor, who will coach the cross-country team; and Edward J. Schroeder of Chicago, Ill., who will coach the speed skating team.

Andrea Mead Lawrence, a double gold medal winner in the 1952 Games and a member of the Organizing Committee's Ski Events Advisory Committee, will chaperon the women's alpine team.

Keg Action Steps Up In All Leagues

Behind momentarily due to a postponed game, the Keystone Kops rallied to lead the Presidio League. In makeup of the postponed game, the Kops tipped the Recruiters 3-1. Top keg artist, 16-year-old Bobby Mahon led the Kops with 616-209, 209, 198. Bolton rolled 580-240 for the losers.

The regular weekly game saw the Kops knock 60th CI 4-0. Johnson had 573-213 for the Kops and Manfredi 503-194 for the 60th.

King Pins rolled over SFAADS 4-0 behind Pilachowski's 542-183. Walkley was high for SFAADS with 457-156.

Islanders have a new lease on life as they slapped second place Shafers 3-1. Lundahl of the Islanders hit 556-213. Tops for the losers was Thrailkill with 544-204.

Recruiters stayed ahead of the Alley Rats by taking a 3-1 series on the strength of Bedell's 517-176. Havrille led the Alley Rats with 496-171.

In the Wed. Night Mixed League the Pickups are picking up on the leading Nikes. They slammed the Retorts 4-0 with Johnson leading the way 617-211. Jean Dempsey was high for the Retorts with 470-182.

Alley Bys toppled the Cutups 3-1 with Shoudel recording a 482-183 for the winners. High for the Cutups was LoMonaco with 491-180.

Tyros vented their fury on the Nikes and the best Nikes could come up with was a 2-2 split. Ross led the effort for Nikes with 631-234. Taylor with 458-166 and Carr with 458-185 tied for top on the Tyro squad.

Guys and Dolls clicked on all cylinders for a 3-1 shellacking of the Spoilers. O'Brien led the winners with 481-182. Wilmoth hit 550-223 for the Spoilers.

G1 extended their lead in the Bay League by dumping Hq. Co. 6A 4-0. Diamond led G1 with 549-202 as Shimada was tops for the losers 454-169.

MRU shuttled Compt-Rollers back a notch when they blanked them 4-0. MRU's Martin had a 529-189 while the losers best was Routen 476-171.

JAGS kept a firm hand on second place by trouncing the Triple Aces 4-0. McAfee came through with 529-213 for JAGS and Grambort hit 501-175 for the Aces.

Garrison hauled themselves into a tie for fourth place by hitting 6A Signal 3-1. Kiersztian showed his top form again by rolling 530-

185 as Hunt posted a 528-201 for the signalmen.

In the WAC Bowling League the leading Alley Kats fattened their margin as the Orbits forfeited four games. Collins of the Alley Kats bowled for average score and came up with a hot 523-181.

Brewmasters in second place had to earn theirs the hard way by topping the Powder Puffs 3-1. Kinsel of the winners posted a good 486-190. M. Rinke came through with 411-153 for the Puffs.

Hq. No. 3 continues to put more space between the second place team and themselves to hold down the lead in the Pacific League. Their latest victims were the Retorts as they blanked them 4-0. Wilmoth lead the winner's parade with 549-190. High for the losers was Swarzer with 448-161.

Hq. No. 2, tied with 30th Group last week romped over them this week 4-0 with Zelanis leading the way 531-209. Shish was tops for the 30th 453-168.

Regioners and AAA Sparks are tied for the bottom and neither could break loose as they split 2-2. Niles bowled 491-170 for the Regioners and Wada 488-196 for the Sparks.

Warrants and Hilltoppers postponed their game to a later date.

6th Region Quint ARADCOM Champs

Beat 1st Region In Overtime Thriller

The basketball team from the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery of the San Francisco-Travis AFB Army Air Defense, representing the 6th Region, took a come-from-behind overtime thriller, 65-64, from the 1st Region to win the All-Army Air Defense Command championship.

Sp4 Hubert Taylor wrapped it up in the 5-minute overtime period by dumping a hook shot with only a few seconds left.

The lead changed hands three times during the overtime and 12 times during the entire game, but the San Francisco crew managed to gain the final tally despite the fact that four of their starters had fouled out late in the last period.

The double-elimination tourney at Staten Island, New York, saw the 6th Region lose their first game to the 1st Region team, 58-54, causing them to have to win their next three games in as many days to gain the second chance that brought them the victory and the huge 1st-place trophy.

The outcome of the second meeting looked no better than the first however, as the San Francisco quintet saw their First Region opponents roar off to a 25-13 lead early in the second quarter. But a terrific comeback, sparked by Lt. Arlindo Evangelho and Pfc. Harry Lux, brought the 6th Re-gioners within 1 point, 37-36 at the half.

In the second half it was a see-saw battle all the way. Late in the fourth quarter, with four of the 6th Region starters out of the game on fouls, 1st Region came from 5 points behind to tie it up 58-58. Then with only three seconds left, 1st Region's high-scorer, Baldesarre, almost ended it, barely missing a desperation long-shot, to send the game into overtime.

and Pvt. Bouse. Rear (l. to r.) Pfc. Fisher, Sp4 Alexander, Pfc. Hubbell, Lt. Evangelho, Pfc. Taylor, Pfc. Willingham and Pfc. Thompson.

Presidio Baseball Team Set For Season Opener

The Presidio Torero baseball team is "in excellent condition as I've been running them quite a bit," pronounces Coach Pfc. Roger Sawyer. "We work out every day at Funston Park."

Their first games will be 8 and 10 May here at the Presidio

Yachting, Anyone?

All parties interested in forming an armed forces yacht club are urged to contact Lt. Bart Goldman, Ft. Baker, Ext. 325. Many benefits may be derived from belonging to such an association, including receipt of all visitor's courtesies at existing civilian yacht clubs (membership is quite costly for a private individual), recognition for yachting association racing purposes and possibly obtaining low-cost mooring and launching facilities.

Cartes Grabs Flamingo Shoot; Benner Second

1/Lt. David Cartes of Philadelphia turned in a 2603-89X to capture top billing in the Flamingo Pistol Tournament at the Trail Glades ranges with .22, .38 and .45 caliber weapons. He had to fight hard to ward off a last minute challenge by former champion H. L. (Joe) Benner, West Point pistol coach.

Benner placed second with an aggregate score of 2596 and 84 shots in the small center ring of the bullseye. Third place went to Sfc. William Blankenship of Richlands, Va., last year's Flamingo winner with 2595-127X. All three were shooting for the U.S. Army advanced marksmanship Unit, a group at Ft. Benning which includes the best shots in the Army.

against the Claremont Men's College Stags. The new diamond near the Pitch 'n Putt golf course should be completed by that time. The diamond promises to be one of the best in the Sixth Army area with all of the Torero home games scheduled to be played there.

Sawyer claims that "we may be a little weak in our hitting this year, same as last, but we've got a couple of boys that can really belt the long ball."

Jake DeSousa will be on the mound and alternate in the outfield. He's dangerous in the batter's box and may win a few of his own games that way.

Gene Lippold, Southwestern League All-Star winning pitcher under contract to Dallas in the Texas League, will share the mound chores with DeSousa as soon as he can secure enough time to practice regularly.

Ralph White, former Yuba J. C. player, figures prominently in the catcher's position.

Jack L. Huckabay, a flashy player from Fresno, figures to hold down the short-stop position and may be used at some other infield positions.

Malcolm L. DeWeese is panning out as one of the better hitters, swinging from the left side and pulling the ball a long ways toward the fence. He played his ball formerly at San Bernardino Valley Union J. C.

LAH Highnetters 3d In MSA Tournament

The Letterman Army Hospital highnetters finished third in the recently concluded Military Sports Association Volleyball Tournament. They won their first round competition but lost out to Oakland Army Terminal in the semi-finals 15-9, 12-15 and 10-15.

Fairfield Air Station copped first place honors by going undefeated in tourney play. Second went to Oakland Army Terminal and fourth was taken by Ft. Mason. The tournament counted points toward the M.S.A. trophy to be awarded to the team with the most points earned in all types of sports.

Torres Pursues Crown Of Middleweight King

New York (AFPS)—In a statement aimed squarely at champion Sugar Ray Robinson, Jose Torres predicted in a recent interview, "I'm going to be the next middleweight champion of the world."

The rising young contender, with the natural equipment for the job which lies ahead, has walloped nine straight rivals since turning professional in 1958 after his service discharge.

Formerly All-Army and Inter-service champion, the 22-year-old stylist cites his recent ninth round knockout of 35-bout veteran Frankie Kid Anselm as his greatest sports thrill since turning pro.

In his pursuit of the middleweight crown, the combination-puncher is under the guidance of Cus D'Amato, also the manager of heavyweight kingpin Floyd Patterson, whose one-two style has been adopted by Torres.

Although former middleweight champion Bobo Olson is his fistic hero, Torres salutes M/Sgt. Pasquale Nappi, boxing coach at Ft. Benning, Ga., as the man who opened the doors on his ring career back in 1955 when he was stationed at Ft. Meade, Md.

In two short Army years the promising youth captured eleven titles including the Caribbean and Antilles, the Maryland State AAU, the Second Army, All-Army and All-Service and Olympic Trials.

After a nose operation side-tracked his fighting career in '57, Torres came back the following year to emerge victorious in the N. Y. Golden Gloves, Eastern Golden Gloves, National Golden Gloves and the N. Y. Metropolitan AAU and National AAU crowns. Determined to gain the experience necessary to win the coveted title, someday his boxing goal may become a reality and Jose Torres, who received his ring baptism while in the Army, may be the middleweight champion of the world.

Softball Meet

There will be a meeting of all unit representatives interested in entering a softball team in intramural competition at the Sports Office, Bldg. 122, on 14 April at 1000 hours.

Units interested may call and sign up their teams by phoning Sfc. Mary Phillips, Ext. 2282-3968.

Badminton Champ

Sp4 Bill Love, Hq., 2nd Msl. Bn. (N-H), 51st Arty. won the 30th Arty. Gp. (AD) Badminton tournament held at the Fort Scott gym on 30 March. Love defeated his teammate Sp4 Ralph Holmsley in the final round in straight games, 15-7, 15-4. Love teamed with Holmsley to win the doubles final from Lt. Phil Metzler and S/Sgt. Bill Britt representing Hq. and Hq. Btry., 30th Arty. Gp. (AD) in straight games by the score of 15-9, 15-6.

The team championship went to 2nd Msl. Bn., 51st Arty. Hq. and Hq. Btry.

Marines Have Landed With First Bobsled Title

The United States No. 1 sled with two Marines as crewmen set a new course record in winning the world four-man championships at St. Moritz, Switzerland.

The U. S. squad, winning the first four-man bobsled championship since 1935 for America, compiled an aggregate top time of 5:10.82, 35 hundredths of a second better than the second place Italian sled.

Presidio Pistol Team Tests New Ord Range

Presidio's Post pistol team, scheduled to leave for the Sixth Army matches this weekend, find themselves a little short of personnel. Sp4 Willie McCrary and Pvt. Delza Williams are both on overseas orders and will be unable to make the trip.

McCrary is a veteran of last year's competition in the Sixth Army pistol meet and was captain of this year's squad. Williams was also a top firer on the team and the loss of both men puts Presidio in a spot but Lt. Peter A. Saltamachio, Officer in Charge, expressed his feelings that the "team will do well despite their loss."

Other teams making the trip from the Presidio are the XVth Corps and 40th Brigade, according to Lt. Saltamachio.

Host of the Sixth Army matches will be Ft. Ord. They are now making extensive changes and remodeling to the old firing ranges to produce a new set of pistol ranges upon which all standard American and International type matches may be fired. The ranges will be used for the first time at the Sixth Army Pistol Matches 13-18 April.

In charge of the project is Col. Charles G. Rau, former Commanding Officer Presidio of San Francisco and now Assistant to the Commanding General at Ft. Ord.

Admiral is Busted To Pvt. by Army

Greenfield, Mass (AFPS)—Army recruiters here gulped when a 17-year-old from nearby Turner Falls turned up to enlist. "They call me Admiral Dewey," he announced calmly.

As it turned out, he wasn't cracking wise. His full name: Admiral Dewey Palmer, Jr.

See here, Pvt. Admiral.

Lone WAC Arrives

Pvt. Elsie Mae Dawson is finding life is just a bowl of cherries at the 29th Artillery Group, Travis Air Force Base. She is the lone WAC representative to put in an appearance out of the originally scheduled 19 expected. Speculation as to what happened to the other 18 goes on but Elsie meanwhile is busy enjoying herself.

May Draft Set

Washington (ANS)—The Department of Defense has requested the Selective Service System to provide Armed Forces Induction Stations with 6,000 men during May 1959 for assignment to the Army.

The May call is based on attainment of approved strength after allowances have been made for enlistments and reenlistments.

CG Presents '58 Incentive Award To Camp Irwin

Lieutenant General Charles D. Palmer, Sixth US Army Commander, recently presented the Incentive Awards Program plaque to Camp Irwin for 1958. The award was made at Camp Irwin during a brief visit by General Palmer.

In presenting the Incentive Awards plaque to Camp Irwin, General Palmer praised the post for its implementation of the program.

Brigadier General Edgar T. Conley, Jr., receiving the plaque, said, "I accept on behalf of our Incentive Awards Committee and the members of this command whose active interest has made the program a success. We are very honored and proud this plaque has been awarded to us, and I can assure you that we will do our best to keep it in 1959."

The Sixth Army plaque is presented once each year to the Class I installation with the highest rate in the Incentive Awards program.

The rate is based on three things: the number of suggestions submitted, the number accepted and the resulting cash savings.

At Camp Irwin in fiscal year 1958 there were 172 suggestions submitted of which 74 were accepted. These 74 resulted in a cash savings of $84,865. Slightly more than $3,000 was given out in awards.

So far in fiscal year 1959 accepted suggestions have resulted in an estimated savings of $70,000, with about $2,500 in awards.

New Airborne CG

Washington (ANS)—Major General Dwight E. Beach, Director of Air Defense and Special Weapons, Office of the Army Deputy Chief of Staff for Military Operations, DA, has been named to command the 82nd Airborne Division, Fort Bragg, N. C., effective July 1.

General Beach will succeed Major General Hamilton H. Howze, whose assignment as Chief of the Military Assistance Advisory Group in Korea was announced earlier this month.

DEAD SHOT and an NRA Expert Rifleman to boot is Forrest Peter L. Franklin. Making the presentation was Col. M. M. Brown, Commanding Officer of the Presidio. Taking an active interest in the proceedings are (l. to r.) M/Sgt. John Vekich, Michael Franklin (aged 10 and already a sharpshooter), M/Sgt. Edmond L. Franklin, father of Forrest, Forrest Franklin, Col. Brown and Col. Robert R. Kelley, President of the Presidio Gun Club.

Sgt's Son Rated Expert In Less Than Two Years

The Presidio Gun Club's red carpet was recently rolled out for Forrest Peter L. Franklin who became an Expert Rifleman in less than two years. He is the son of M/Sgt. Edmond L. Franklin, Chief Clerk, Sixth Army AG Section.

On hand for the ceremony and to present the award was Col. M. M. Brown, Commanding Officer of the Presidio. Col. Robert R. Kelley of Letterman Army Hospital, President of the Presidio Gun Club, and M/Sgt. John D. Vekich, Director of Marksmanship at the Presidio, also were present.

In winning his award, Forrest had to qualify first as a pro marksman and work his way up to sharpshooter. After the sharpshooter award he had to earn nine bars, shooting at 10 targets for each bar from the prone, sitting, kneeling or standing positions. After successfully completing this phase he became an expert marksman by qualifying on 10 targets in the standing position.

Army Honors Here For Fleet Admiral Nimitz On Tuesday

Fleet Admiral Chester William Nimitz, U.S. Navy, will be accorded military honors at the Presidio of San Francisco, 7 April, at 1345 hours, when he comes to Sixth U.S. Army headquarters to preview the Department of the Army BIG PICTURE television program of his life story.

Lieutenant General Charles D. Palmer, Sixth U.S. Army Commander, will greet Admiral and Mrs. Nimitz, and will accompany them to the private showing of "The Admiral Nimitz Story," which is one of a series of Army TV programs being released on great military men. Others in the series have included the MacArthur and Stilwell stories.

New Info Officer

1/Lt. Ralph D. Cordell was welcomed to Fort Winfield Scott this week as the new Information Officer of Headquarters 30th Artillery Group by Lt. Col. William M. Proctor, Executive Officer of the 30th Group Headquarters. He was formerly executive officer of Battery B, 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty. at Fort Winfield Scott.

Wins Promotion

Lieutenant Colonel William M. Proctor, Executive Officer, Headquarters, 30th Artillery Group (Air Defense), Fort Winfield Scott, Calif., pinned new silver bars on 1st Lt. Donald L. Reed, Safety Officer for the 30th Artillery Group (AD), this week.

Slate 'Best Soldier' Competition For Army Special Troops

Establishment of a new plan to select the "Best Soldier of the Month" from the Sixth U. S. Army Special Troops was announced this week.

Competition will be open to all enlisted personnel of the lower five pay grades. Nominations will be made by unit commanders.

Selection will be made by a board of noncommissioned officers consisting of the Sergeant Major and all unit First Sergeants from Sixth Army Special Troops.

The individual chosen will be awarded a Letter of Commendation and a three-day pass. Selection will be based on appearance, general knowledge, wearing of the uniform and knowledge of basic military subjects.

N-A-T-O

WHAT HAS IT ACCOMPLISHED?

Before NATO Russia had seized country after country—enslaved 90 million people. The Soviets threatened to engulf the whole of Europe . . . ultimately to dominate the world.

Since NATO not an inch of territory has been lost in the Atlantic area. And by sharing our obligations this 10-year watch has cost us less than a few months of the cost of World War II.

New Army G2
Col. W. R. Rainford

Rainford Named New G2 At Sixth Army Headquarters

Lieutenant General Charles D. Palmer, Commanding General, Sixth U.S. Army, announced this week that Colonel William R. Rainford has assumed the duties of Assistant Chief of Staff, G2, replacing Colonel Henry H. Rogers.

Colonel William R. Rainford, General Staff (Arty), comes to his assignment as Assistant Chief of Staff, G-2, from the 115th C.I.C. Group at Fort Scott, which he commanded.

Colonel Rainford was born in England, and his home of record is in New Hampshire. A graduate of Norwich University, the bulk of the Colonel's service has been with the Field Artillery. Before joining the 115th C.I.C. Group, Colonel Rainford was with the 441st C.I.C. in the Far East and Chief of Counter Intelligence for the Far East Command. Prior assignments were as Deputy Commander, Army Intelligence Center, Fort Holabird, Maryland; Chief, Plans Division, in the office of the Assistant Chief of Staff, G-1, Department of the Army General Staff; Executive Officer, G-2, EUCOM. During World War II, Colonel Rainford entered Germany with the 3d Army Artillery.

Colonel Rainford is a graduate of the Field Artillery School, both Basic and Advanced; the Command and General Staff College, and the Armed Forces Staff College.

Guest Speaker Set

Major Donald Devins, Psychiatric Social Worker at the LAH Child Guidance Clinic, will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the Ft. Scott PTA on 16 April.

Refreshments will be served following the 1300 meeting, to be held in the school auditorium.

Special DA Awards Set For Suggestion Programs

Washington (ANS)—The Department of the Army, in recognition of benefits received from administration of an active employee suggestion program has created a series of special awards to be presented each year to the major commands which achieve the highest employee suggestion rates.

These awards will be presented to those major commands which received and which adopted the highest number of employee suggestions per capita during Fiscal Year 1958.

Commands to receive FY 1958 awards for Suggestions Received were announced as:

- Signal Corps
- Fifth U.S. Army
- U.S. Army Pacific

Awards for Suggestions Adopted will be given to:

- Quartermaster Corps
- Fourth U.S. Army
- U.S. Army Caribbean

During Fiscal Year 1958 the number of suggestions submitted by Department of the Army employees increased by 41% over the preceding year with a resultant saving to the Army of over $24,000,000. The record attained by the Department of the Army during this period was recognized by the U.S. Civil Service Commission and the National Association of Suggestion Systems as outstanding.

A Command Tool!

Washington (ANS) — Referring to AR 355-5 this week, an Army spokesman re-emphasized that Troop Information is a command activity.

"It consists," he said, "of any means used by the commander to develop in the soldier an understanding of his role in the Army."

In addition, the official pointed out, it is to keep Army personnel informed of the military and civil events, conditions, policies and actions which affect them as individuals.

6th Region Cash To Spur Electronics Device Projects

An electronics device contest, open to all Army personnel on active duty with the 6th Region (Pacific Coast), U.S. Army Air Defense Command, was announced by Lt. Col. Calvin B. Leek, Special Services officer, today.

The electronics devices, which must be constructed with facilities available in unit craft shops, must reach the 6th Region Special Services office by 20 April, 1959. Projects will be judged on originality, ingenuity, design, appeal to the observer, coupled with usefulness and the degree of craftsmanship displayed in their creation, Col. Leek said.

Three judges appointed by the headquarters will evaluate the entries. The region will award $25 to the first place winner. There will also be commensurate cash prizes for second and third place prize-winning electronic devices judged in the contest.

The electronic device contest is open to any appliance or device using electronic equipment to carry out a specific function. The project must be the original work of the air defense soldier entering the item in the contest. Winning entries will be returned to their owners after they have been placed on display at 6th Region headquarters.

NG Will Go Pentomic; CARS System Started

Washington (ANS)—The Army National Guard has started a nation-wide reorganization under the Pentomic concept, and will perpetuate its historic regiments through adoption of the Army's recently established "Combat Arms Regimental System" (CARS), the Department of the Army said this week.

Conversion to CARS in the National Guard will be accomplished on a State-by-State basis, with each State selecting the regiments whose historic traditions it wishes to preserve.

Transportation Meeting Here Draws Top Experts

Recently the Sixth U.S. Army acted as host for a symposium held by Department of the Army and Department of the Air Force jointly.

Colonel Louis Greenfield, Transportation Officer, Sixth U.S. Army, introduced Colonel Roy E. Goode, Assistant Chief of Staff of Sixth U.S. Army, who welcomed the participating members and approximately 100 representatives from Army and Air Force installations.

The same trio from the Department of the Army and Department of the Air Force which conducted the seminar a year ago—Colonel W. J. Marquette, Colonel W. J. Lee and Major Donald Huff master minded this symposium, with the assistance of representatives from the Railway Express Industry, the Movers Conference of America, Finance and Department of Defense Storage.

The experts from Washington touched on many phases of the movement of household goods, such as relationship between the Van Industry and the Military Departments, new functions and responsibilities of the Personal Property Centers, cost analysis, claims, and on the new proposed regulation on sea van movement of household goods, which was one of the primary reasons for the symposium.

On the second day there was a panel discussion—the panel members consisting of the aforementioned representatives. This part of the symposium proved the most exciting as there was a good deal of audience participation.

Representation was not confined to installations within the Sixth U.S. Army Area—Air Force members came from as far away as Alaska, Colorado and Kansas.

The afternoon of the second day was primarily for Air Force personnel. Army personnel at that time met together under the leadership of Colonel Greenfield for a question and answer period and discussion of new problem areas in the transportation field.

Desertion means running away. But you can keep running for the rest of your days and never stop.

It doesn't sound much like freedom, does it?

Yet there are men today who have got themselves into this desperate plight. They never know when they will be apprehended. They can't be hired for the kind of good job that requires initial inquiry into their past. They can't become social members of a community—not without risking detection. They live the twilight life of fugitives.

The tragedy is that many of these men got themselves into such a mess by going AWOL. They didn't mean to desert. But the bad time got longer and they built up in their minds a fear of the punishment or confinement that awaited them. So they stayed away longer until they reached a point of no return. They were deserters.

An ugly word, isn't it? It suggests cowardice and stealthy flight. In wartime it is betrayal of your country and your fellow citizens—punishable by death. But it's a dirty word at any time, however you look at it.

Never let yourself be trapped into a situation where desertion seems the only way out. Don't take the first fatal step if the second leads you into a quagmire of deceit.

A child flees from its misdemeanors. A man who has made a mistake—a real man—faces the music. (AFPS).

Hey Cat!

Civvies A Privilege

As long as a man's in the service, the wearing of civilian clothes in his off-duty hours is a privilege, not an inalienable right. He is open to disciplinary action if he appears in public in a dirty uniform. He is no less an offender when he goes out on the town in another kind of "uniform"—the sloppy, stylized garb of the adolescent beatnik.

What it amounts to is a sort of sartorial Jekyll-Hyde complex. The same man who in his military attire on duty presents a smart, wholesome appearance may unaccountably turn up in civvies as a "rebel" of the James Dean school. Is this an expression of individuality? It's hard to see how, when the standardized blue jeans, black jackets and motorcycle belt with all the tinny accessories have become the ultimate trappings of group conformity.

Civilian duds are fine—if they're in good taste. But a military installation that unloads a flock of hot rod freaks on surrounding communities soon earns the hostility of their inhabitants.

So leave it to punks who run in packs, this bizarre taste for looking disreputable. Remember—underneath their defensive swagger a lot of them secretly envy you for the uniform you wear. They couldn't make the grade. You could and did. (AFPS)

New M-60 To Replace Two Army Heavy Tanks

Washington (ANS)—Plans to order 180 of the Army's new Diesel-powered 52-ton main battle tank, the M-60, were announced this week.

When operational, the M-60 will replace both the present medium 53-ton (M-48) and heavy 60-ton (M-103) tanks because its new British-made 105 mm gun is capable of defeating all armored vehicles known to exist. The M-41 light tank will remain in use for reconnaissance and security missions.

In addition to the heavier armament and Diesel engine which will greatly increase the tank's operational range, the M-60 will provide a simplified fire control system. The track and suspension system will be similar to the present medium tank. A crew of four will operate the new tank.

The 750 horsepower Continental Diesel Engine gives the M-60 a speed of 32 mph and a range of 250 miles.

A DA spokesman indicated that the M-60 had three principal advantages over other models:

- 105mm gun gives more hitting power than the 90mm gun on current medium tanks.

- Diesel engine provides 30-40 per cent more range and has less fire hazard because fuel is less volatile. This simplifies supply problems and lower volatility retards waste by vaporization. It was installed and tested in an M-48 tank in 1957.

- The weight of 52 tons is expected to be reduced to 51 tons with future improvements. Reduction of weight will increase speed and maneuverability.

The new 105mm guns and Diesel engines can be installed in the M-48 tanks when they are turned in for overhaul.

Redstone Has Need For Top Civilians In Missile Fields

Washington — Engineers, electronic scientists, metallurgists and physicists, probably veterans, are needed at the Army Ordnance Missile Command, Redstone Arsenal, Ala., the Civil Service Commission told the Times this week.

To qualify, applicants must have had appropriate education or experience or a combination of both. The CSC said applications will be accepted from ex-GIs who expect to complete within nine months all scholastic requirements needed to qualify in this examination.

The missile command job openings are in the $5,000 to $13,000 class. Applications and requests for additional information should be sent to the Board of U.S. Civil Service Examiners at Redstone.

Job preference is given certain veterans who make a passing grade in the competitive examinations, CSC said. Ex-GIs with wartime service get five-point preference while those who are disabled as the result of a service-connected disability (whether wartime or not) get 10-point preference.

Wins Playland Contest

Fort Barry, Calif. — "Funtier," the name picked for the new children's area at Playland by Sgt. Louis A. Nieves, a drill instructor at the San Francisco Army Air Defense School, Presidio, has won first place in the Playland-sponsored name contest. Sgt. Nieves was awarded a $50 war bond.

New Computer

Redstone Arsenal—The Army Ballistic Missile Agency, an old hand in the use of electronic computers, has finished installing another Burroughs 205 medium digital computer—this one in their computation laboratory.

'Pentadome' Will Debut In Washington On AF Day

Washington (ANS)—A hemispherically-shaped missile maintenance shelter 13 feet taller than the five-story Pentagon, as broad at its base as half a football field and supported entirely by air pressure, has been developed by the Army to accommodate missiles during inspection and maintenance operations.

what they said

The Academy Award presentation captured most of the television viewing audience last Monday night and this week we asked:

QUESTION: Did you agree with the Academy Awards selections?

ANSWERS

Sp5 Joseph Drost, 30th Arty. Group Motor Pool: I don't think "Gigi" deserved all the Oscars, as it made the program too one-sided. I think the best picture award should go to the one that sells best to the public; the acting and technical awards could be chosen by the Academy. I think Tony Curtis should have received an award for his part in "The Defiant Ones." Hollywood may have forgiven Ingrid Bergman but I don't think it's a nation-wide trend. She'll never reach the heights she once attained because of her bad publicity.

Sp4 Booker Smith, Transportation Motor Pool: I didn't agree with the selection of David Niven because I liked Marlon Brando better in "The Young Lions." I do think that Susan Hayward was a good choice. I think Sydney Poitier's chances were hurt when both he and Tony Curtis were up for "Best Actor" and also because they were nominated too early in the year. Over all, the selections were pretty good.

Sp4 Don Loucks, cook at Hq. Det. 30th Engineers: I didn't agree, as I liked Rosalind Russell better in "Auntie Mame" and I think Peggy Cass of the same picture should have been chosen for the "Best Supporting Actress." "Gigi" was over-played and over-rated. I didn't even see it because the excess advertising drove me away. The TV angle of the awards presentation was handled well but Jerry Lewis went over like a dead log. Mort Sahl was very impressive and Bob Hope did his usual fine job. I think the viewing audience enjoyed the program better because there was no advertising.

Pfc. Ted Sahakian, Post Engineering Field Maintenance: I saw "Gigi" and was quite happy to see it get the nine awards presented to it. It is most difficult for a musical to capture the title and most of the columnists were doubtful that it would, also. I liked everything about the picture. I was also glad they left out the commercials.

Mrs. Jonnie Gilbert, secretary in XVth Corps G2: I think Susan Hayward deserved every bit of credit given her. I think David Niven was better in "Around the World in 80 Days," but I was glad to see him get the award. "Gigi" was a good picture and I'm happy that it won so many Oscars but I was surprised that Leslie Caron was not among those nominated. If an Oscar had to go to any one picture, I believe it would have to be "Gigi." The outfit that Liz Taylor wore . . . EEEK! Kim Novak's had a lot of shimmy and shake and I liked it because it was different. I was happy at the reception Ingrid Bergman received and I believe people are getting more broadminded. Besides, a lot of them down there have more lurid pasts.

Increase NG 11,000

Washington (ANS) — An increase of 11,000 in the number of young men without prior service who may be enlisted in the National Guard during the next three months was announced this week by the Department of the Army.

Of this number, 8,100 can be accommodated in the six months active duty training program in the three months ending June 30.

Veteran Signs Papers

A veteran of 23 years in the Army, SFC Albert J. Farley, Hdqs. Btry., 30th Arty. Group (Air Defense), was recently sworn in for another three year term.

An Engineer Maintenance Supervisor at Ft. Scott, SFC Farley enlisted in the service on 16 February, 1936, is a member of the VFW, and has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal and the Combat Infantryman Badge.

Army Develops New Midget Transmitter

Washington (ANS) — Development of an electric light slightly larger than a pinhead and a radio transmitter the size of a pencil eraser, were announced this week by the Department of the Army.

The lamp may be used in many types of dials such as those on control panels in missile research and electric computers. It also may be used in medical endoscopes, in probes for examining cavities in scientific and industrial research, and in optical systems requiring a near-point source of light.

The transmitter is used in ballistic studies. The device determines temperature of an artillery shell while in flight and instantaneously radios the information back to ground receivers.

Adjust Hospital Rates

Washington—The Army has adjusted the rates for changes for subsistence at Army hospitals so that those who pay more than the basic subsistence rate for their food when under treatment will not face the five cent increase that is being charged under last December's Defense order raising the rate from $1.10 to $1.15.

In addition to the basic subsistence rate, Army hospitals charge $1.60 per day to groups not otherwise designated to pay the $1.15 rate or the $2.25 rate. Officers and civilians on per diem instead of subsistence must pay the $2.25 rate if hospitalized as must officers on the TDRL who are in the hospital for periodic check ups and who draw per diem during this time.

The Army avoided raising these rates by adjusting the service charge for operating costs, knocking a nickel off.

Naomi Bigby, S4 Section Assistant Purchasing Agent, who received $20 for two suggestions; and Mrs. Lois Judson, Purchasing agent, who netted $10 for suggesting the installation of a flood light at the Marina Gate.

DEDICATION PLAQUE marks site of Battery Caulfield at Ft. Scott. Plaque honors Lt. Col. Thomas D. Caulfield, Artillery, guided missile officer for the Western Army AA until his death in 1955. NIKE site draws a great number of visitors each month.

Battery Caulfield

Is Popular With Visitors

An estimated 200 to 400 visitors per month pass through the NIKE site at Fort Scott in the Presidio of San Francisco. The Launcher area has been named "Battery Caulfield," in honor of Lt. Colonel Thomas D. Caulfield, Artillery, who was the Guided Missile Officer for the Western Army AA Command until his death in 1955.

Battery Caulfield is manned by Battery B, 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, commanded by 1st Lt. Edward H. Redline.

The Headquarters and Launcher area is located on one of the beautiful hills overlooking the Golden Gate, while the Fire Control area is atop Mount Sutro.

Visitors are welcome at Battery Caulfield, whether they are foreign dignitaries, Senators or Representatives, military VIPs or a Boy Scout troop. Personnel are never too busy to show them around. Old timers recall the Armed Forces Day of 1956 when 2300 visitors to the Presidio Open House passed through the Site in a 12-hour period.

In recent months the unit has arranged tours for Lt. General Charles E. Hart, CG USARAADCOM; members of the French Parliament; the Australian Air Commodore; German State Department Representatives from Bonn, Germany; a party of Chinese Generals; FBI personnel; Thailand Army officers; the French Assistant Military Attache; Mr. Sands, Minister of Defense for Great Britain; the Industrial War College; 200 Air Cadets from the U.S. Air Force Academy; plus groups representing High Schools, ROTC units and many civic organizations. The battery also furnishes a NIKE mock-up for parades and static displays.

The battery recently received the Battalion Certificate of Achievement for being the best operational readiness unit, justifying their motto, "Pride of the West."

FIRST E-9 in the Army was the claim made for M/Sgt. Grant J. Nethaway, 6th Region ARADCOM. Major General E. J. McGaw, Commanding General, congratulates the Sergeant Major on his accomplishment.

6th Region Claims First In Supergrade Promotion

What is believed to be the first Army enlisted "supergrade" promotion to Sergeant Major (E-9) on the West Coast—and possibly the nation—was made here last week.

Grant J. Nethaway, 46, received the promotion from Major General E. J. McGaw, Commander of the 6th Region (Pacific Coast), U.S. Army Air Defense Command at Fort Baker. General McGaw said the promotion could well have been the first in the nation—the sergeant being promoted only hours after authority had been received.

The Sergeant, who has been in the Army since 1936, is assigned to the Operations Section of the regional headquarters, which has responsibility for the Army Nike air defense missile units along the Pacific Coast.

S/Maj. Nethaway, whose mother, Mrs. Hazel Nethaway, resides at 2170 Filbert St., San Francisco, was one of the first men promoted to the rank of Master Sergeant (E-8)—the first step in the Army "supergrade" system—in October, 1958. By being promoted to Sergeant Major (E-9), he has achieved the top enlisted rank in the Army. His promotion also earned him a $60 per month pay jump to $440 monthly.

A bachelor, he was born in Stillwater, Minn., and has served throughout the world with the Army. He is the recipient of the Bronze Star Medal for Valor and the Combat Infantryman's Badge, among other awards.

New Insignia Set For WACs Shortly

Washington — Enlisted women will begin to be issued or sold new insignia of rank on or before 1 June 1960 and must wear the new insignia after 1 July 1961.

Replacing the present insignia of gold on taupe will be one of gold on Army Green.

Grade insignia for enlisted women was prescribed in DA Circular 670-36, dated 10 March and just distributed.

The new women's grade insignia will be issued as soon as present stocks of insignia are exhausted or on 1 July 1960, whichever is earlier.

The change in insignia parallels the adoption of Army Green uniforms for Army enlisted women and reflects changes already in effect for enlisted men's insignia. The new women's insignia may be worn with either the taupe or Army Green uniform.

Sports Buff Wins Top WAC Honors At 'D' Company

A real sports enthusiast from the Sunshine State, Florida, is this month's WAC Of The Month, Sp4 Claudette Schleman.

One of the top players on the Presidio WAC softball and basketball team, and a member of the S.F. Double A softball team, Claudette also "loves hunting and fishing," and at the completion of basic training was chosen as the outstanding all-around athlete in Ft. McClellan.

Prior to joining the Army, the 20-year-old Finance School graduate was a long distance telephone operator, but now holds a position as a Military Pay Clerk with Post Finance.

Probably because she is one of 10 children, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schleman, Tampa, the 5'6" WAC never has any trouble getting adjusted to new surroundings and people, which is a great asset for anyone in military service.

One of the best liked girls in D Co., Sp4 Schleman has a sunny disposition and a wonderful sense of humor. She is not at all above playing jokes on others, like short sheeting beds, but can also laugh when the tables are turned on her, and she becomes the recipient of a practical joke.

With many laurels to her credit, the lively WAC, who continues to gain honors, has no future plans except "to make the most of the service."

Wins Promotion

Marshall G. Mines, Southern Baptist minister, and Army Reserve chaplain, 47 Clifton Drive, Daly City, Calif., was promoted to the rank of Lieutenant Colonel at an informal ceremony at Headquarters Sixth U.S. Army, Presidio of San Francisco, this week.

Chaplain (Col.) H. H. Heuer, Sixth U.S. Army Chaplain, and Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Richard Cheatham, Assistant Sixth Army Chaplain, pinned on the silver oak leaves denoting the new rank.

Open House Will Honor National Library Week

Next week the Presidio Post Library system will join libraries across the nation and 355 other Army libraries over the world in celebrating National Library Week, 12-18 April.

During the week red, yellow and purple posters will be seen over the post announcing "Wake Up and Read," the National Library Week slogan. Special bookmarks will be given away in the Presidio libraries.

Presidio Players Set 3-Night Stand For 'Uncle Harry'

"Uncle Harry," an Alfred Hitchcock type murder mystery, without commercials, will be presented by the Presidio Players at the Presidio Service Club 10-11 April and the Officers' Club on Monday, 13 April 1959, at 2000 hours. The story concerns a mild, placid man, Harry Quincy, who has been bullied by his sisters, jilted by his sweetheart, and patronizingly liked by his neighbors.

Everyone thinks he is an admirable fellow, but there is a certain scorn mingled with approval, because there is something timid and spineless about everything he does. Despite his comparative youth, everyone calls him "Uncle." But the worm turns and in doing so arranges an ingenious murder. The ironic ending should please all Hitchcock fans.

This three-act play was first presented in 1937 with Joseph Schildkraut as Uncle Harry, and Eva LaGallienne as Lettie; these roles will be played by Pfc. John Duley and Mrs. Sue Rogers. Mrs. Ruth Coleman is the eldest sister Hester. A new face in the Presidio Player organization, Miss Jane Ward, will play the part of Uncle Harry's lost love, Lucy—others in the cast, ladies first, will be Miss Sue Blumenfeld as Miss Phipps, the barmaid, Betty Cusick—as the matron—Louise Bethencourt as Nora, the maid.

Other casting includes: Pfc. Mel Dewese as Ben the druggist; Pfc. Valdimir Vaga-Costa as D'Arcy, Pfc. Tom Peacock as Albert, Pfc. Marvin Moon as Blackie, friends of Uncle Harry; Pfc. Travis Adair as Burten the executioner; Pfc. Don Hagness as the prison Warden; Pfc. Jack English as George, Uncle Harry's rival.

Author of the play is Thomas Job.

On Tuesday evening, 14 April, the Main Library will have an Open House from seven to eight o'clock. Major Kvitkay, Post Special Services Officer, will award prizes to the first place winners in the children's poster contest being sponsored by the library.

There will also be a special display tracing the development of libraries in the United States from Benjamin Franklin's subscription library of 1731 to the 12,478 libraries of today.

During National Library Week all of the libraries will have the usual story hour programs for children. Main Library story hour for pre-school children is on Monday from 10:00 to 10:30. Tuesday afternoons from 3:30 to 4:00 is the school age story hour. Ft. Scott has a pre-school story hour on Tuesday mornings from 10:00 to 10:30 and a school age program on Fridays from 3:45 to 4:15. The Ft. Baker library has a pre-school story time on Thursday afternoons from 2:00 to 2:30.

Next week stop at your nearest library and borrow a book, record, magazine or newspaper. You'll be glad you did!

Signal Gains Permanent Post In Puerto Rico

Washington (ANS) — Fort Allen, formerly Camp Losey, Puerto Rico, will be activated effective 1 July, 1959, as a permanent installation for use as the home station of the U.S. Army Caribbean Signal Agency, the Department of the Army announced this week.

Named in honor of Brig. Gen. James Allen, Chief Signal Officer of the Army from 1906 until 1913, Fort Allen is located in the south central part of the Island, near Ponce.

The Caribbean Signal Agency will operate and maintain a major Army Communications relay station within the world-wide Army communication system.

'59 Scout-O-Rama Sets Circus-Type Show At SF's Kezar Stadium

The 1959 Scout-O-Rama, to be held for the first time at Kezar Stadium on Saturday, 6 June, will be a spectacular circus-type show presented in nine big acts featuring thousands of Cubs, Scouts and Explorers.

J. P. Cahn, producer of the show, announces that the Scout-O-Rama will open with a prologue based on the world brotherhood theme of Scouting, under the direction of Edward H. Mackay, Jr.

This will be followed by the grand entry "Proudly We Hail" with thousands of marching Scouts, massed flags and a dramatic ceremony in which Dr. Arthur A. Schuck, Chief Scout Executive of the Boy Scouts of America, will lead hundreds of new members in the Scout Oath. Dr. Richard Glyer, of San Francisco State College, is the event director.

The second big event is "Teamwork and Timing," a brilliant display of timing, precision, physical coordination and skill featuring drill routines on bicycles and obstacle course races. Event director is Robert Raymond, assisted by Sgt. Robert Gremminger, of the S.F. Police Dept., and R. B. Harrison.

Over 1000 Explorers (aged 14-17) will stage an act entitled, "This Is Exploring," under the direction of David K. Blair, which will feature ice skating, skiing, and all types of field sports and other activities which are part of this new program for high school aged boys.

The Cub Scouts will fill the arena of Kezar with a make-believe jungle in their big event called, "Summer Safari," with Jules Irving of Actors Workshop fame as the director, assisted by Alan Mandell, S.F. State College Drama Department.

"Packin' In" is a gigantic camping event—a modern conception of conquering the great outdoors featuring Scouts and Explorers with William W. Charleston as director.

A big Indian act, "Tom Toms and War Whoops," directed by Jacob Visscher and Thomas Whitworth, will include precision

Study Here Will Ready Rec Majors For New Army Jobs

By Edith Miller
Sixth Army Information

Two San Jose State College seniors, Elizabeth Crosby and Irene Robertson, both recreation majors, are participating in a 12-week training internship with Army Special Service Clubs and the Antiaircraft Artillery Mobile Unit here.

Making a one-day visit to the Post this week was Dr. Mary S. Wiley, Head of the Recreation Department at the College. The purpose of her visit was to meet with Special Service Club directors, Miss Ann Herold, Miss Elisabeth de la Torre, Miss Janet Martin, Miss Mary Simons, and Maj. Ben Kvitky, Special Service Officer, and students, to discuss the students' progress, and any mutual problems that may exist.

Dr. Wiley stated that "San Jose State College is the only school west of the Rockies offering a 12-weeks on-the-job training program as part of student requirements for graduation, and the only college or university in California having a separate recreation department."

The purpose of the field work is to offer detailed information and practical experience to college students participating in the Army Special Service program, and to make available to the Army, qualified personnel interested in this work.

"This is the second year for this program," commented Dr. Wiley. "I am pleased with the well-planned, well-supervised programs offered our students. The girls are learning programming, how to work with the community and volunteers, how to get out publicity, and the administrative aspects of service club work. They are getting an opportunity to test out theories taught in school. They have daily contacts with many people, and are confronted with day to day problems of operations, thereby bringing them closer to a true working situation."

Miss Crosby is working with Miss de la Torre, at the Presidio Club, and Miss Robertson with Miss Martin at Fort Baker. Both girls will complete their internship assisting Miss Simons with the AAA Mobile Unit.

Following their training at the Presidio, Miss Crosby and Miss Robertson will return to the campus for three weeks of seminar. Here, they and other students who have been working with other agencies will exchange information concerning organizational structure, sources of funds, programing, planning of areas and facilities, and bibliographies. The finale will be a two-day trip to various agencies where the students have taken their training.

Dr. Wiley has been at San Jose State College for the past 14 years. She is a graduate of Woman's College, University of North Carolina, and received her Doctorate in Education from New York University. During World War II, she served with the USO in South America. Dr. Wiley is a member of the National Recreation Association, American Recreation Society, and California Recreation Society.

Both Miss Crosby and Miss Robertson plan to join the Army Special Service team. Miss Crosby hopes to serve in Germany and Miss Robertson in Korea.

When asked about their thoughts on the 12-week training program, Miss Robertson stated, "through field work the student is able to tie in the technical theory and organization experience received in college with the practical experience gained in the Special Services Program. She is accepted as a contributor-learner and through guidance is allowed a chance for self evaluation before she steps into the professional world."

Miss Crosby desires to be a part of Special Services, whose mission it is to provide a well balanced, interesting, and desirable program for the enlisted personnel stationed with Army installations in the States and overseas areas.

Miss Crosby is Director of Recreation, San Jose Swim and Racquet Club, and Miss Robertson is a former assistant Girl Scout leader for intermediate and senior troops in San Jose, and has worked at Girl Scout summer camps.

Both students are members of the California Recreation Society, and the National Recreation Association.

NorCal Group Meets On Sports Program

The monthly meeting of the NorCal Military Sports Association was held here in San Francisco last week. It was agreed by all representatives present to include Sharpe General Depot in the M.S.A. sports competition. This decision extends the number of competing groups to seven.

M.S.A. softball starts 1 May as the LAH team journeys to Sacramento Signal Depot for league opener. While in the area they will play either McClellan or Mather Air Force Base.

Golf in the M.S.A. will be on a home and home basis this year, the same as last. Opening match will be against Two Rock Ranch on the Petaluma Country Club course. Letterman is the defending league champions.

Win Commendations

Citations were presented recently to two 6th Region U.S. Army Air Defense Command non-commissioned officers prior to their departure for new assignments.

Master Sergeant Floyd A. Beatty, Sgt. Maj., was awarded the First Oak Leaf Cluster to the Army Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant, and is scheduled to leave soon for Korea.

Now stationed with the U.S. Army Nurse Procurement Agency in Los Angeles, SFC Frances D. Don Carlos received the Army Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant.

kaleidoscope

This week's kaleidoscope strays off the beaten path and enters the field of sports for an interview with the popular Sports Director for the Presidio, Hal Fischer.

He has just returned from a rough road grind that led to Denver; Mitchell Air Force Base; Louisville, Ky.; and finally back home. He had coached the Army AAU basketball tourney at Denver; first in the Interservice Trials at Mitchell AFB and finally to Pan American Game Trials at Louisville. A total of thirteen games against the best teams in the nation in the short span of four weeks.

Hal got a later start than most athletes as "I didn't play any sports when I went to Commerce High School here in San Francisco. I had a job that paid $25.00 a week back in 1937 which was a good salary for anyone at that time."

His first contact with sports on an organized basis came in 1938 when he was chosen for All-State honors in, naturally enough, basketball while at San Francisco City College. The same year he won letters in soccer, football and track and field. That's a lot of catching up to do in one year.

"My Army career started in 1942 along with every other able-bodied male in the United States. I was shuttled from Amarillo, Texas, to Fresno, then to Tonopah, Nev., Hickam Field in Hawaii, to that little tropical paradise named Guam and I ended up in Manila. High point in my military meanderings came during the 1945 Army Olympics held at Rizal Stadium in Manila when I was cited as Most Outstanding Player by General Douglas MacArthur."

In 1946 and 47 he played basketball at the University of Nevada and was selected on the Rocky Mountain All-Star team both years. While there he met his wife, the former Alice Casper. "I saw her at a basketball game, where else?" he laughed. They were married Sept. 6, 1949 (Ed. note: He had to call his wife for verification) and now have four children, Wayne, Juel, Andrea and Kim.

His greatest pride is the enthusiastic response to the present intramural sport program. Participation has multiplied from a single league of eight teams in two sports to three leagues of eight teams each in four sports for a continuous yearly program of intramural activities. The program is open to all units, organizations and companies.

"When you take an enlisted man who has never played a sport before and can interest him in at least one field and then make him a competitor in that field, I feel that I've accomplished my job," Fischer stated.

Mature Mark

Your Check Your Bond

One of the surest marks of the mature man is a high and consistent sense of financial responsibility. His affairs are solvent. If he has to borrow money, he steers clear of loan sharks and consults his bank. He gets the money he needs because his credit is good. His checks don't bounce.

Rubber checks make good material for gag writers. That's about all they're good for. A man who can't balance his checkbook or keep a sufficient bank balance to meet emergencies isn't likely to be dependable in other ways.

The confirmed bad check artist is another breed. He can get away with it just so long before paying the inevitable penalty—and not by check. Today this criminal type is rare in the services. Rarer, fortunately, than the joker who gets himself dizzily enmeshed in debts and turns to his checkbook in desperation, not really intending to defraud; hoping forlornly to make good before his worthless paper hits the bank.

He's not only piling up trouble for himself—risking reduction or dismissal—but he's jeopardizing the credit of servicemen everywhere.

Play Contest Falter; Cash, Fame Seek Author

Presidio's Second Annual Playwriting Contest is about to fall flat on its face. With the 15 April deadline for manuscripts just around the corner, the play editor's basket is still bare. Unless at least 5 plays are in the hopper by that date, Special Services will cancel the contest and $50, plus trophies and a chance to see your own play produced, will go down the drain.

Judges for the contest have been named and include Dr. Fenton McKenna, head of the drama department at San Francisco State; Col. James G. Chesnutt, deputy chief of information at Sixth U.S. Army and Kenneth S. Erwin, editor of the Star Presidian.

Besides cash awards of $25, $15 and $10, there will be trophies for the winning playwright, best actor and actress and best director. Plays will be produced by the Entertainment Section on Friday, 12 June, and the author has the option, not only to direct, but to cast and even act in his own creation.

Other contest rules include:

- Language must be within the code for radio and television.
- Plays must be based on contemporary Army life.
- Manuscripts must be for one-act plays—musicals are not eligible for competition—with production time ranging from 20 to 45 minutes.

Top Talent To Vie Here For Honors In Annual Contest

The finals of the 1959 All-Army Entertainment Contest for the Presidio will be held at Service Club Number One on 15 April at 2015 hrs. Presidio capturing a first and a second in the recorded phase of the contest, they will attempt to do better in the live phase and will be seeking top laurels.

Contestants from the Presidio, Fort Baker, Fort Mason, Letterman Army Hospital, and the Nike sites will compete in six of the seven categories. The winners here will advance directly into the Sixth U.S. Army finals to be held at Fort Ord on 5 and 6 May. In the past it has been necessary for the Presidio personnel to compete in a semi-final elimination.

The winners picked at Fort Ord will be eligible to compete in the grand finals to be held at Fort Belvoir in June, then they may be selected for the Ed Sullivan TV show or the Department of Army show "Rolling Along."

The Sixth U.S. Army winners will be seen in this area as a tentative tour of the command is being planned. The dates and times will be announced later.

- Only active-duty military personnel on the Presidio and its subposts including Letterman Army Hospital, XV U.S. Army Corps (Reserve), Sixth Region, U.S. Army Defense Command, and the Sixth U.S. Army will be eligible to enter the contest. Personnel on a tour of active duty of 90 days or less are not eligible.

• Typewritten manuscript should be submitted on 8½ x 11 bond paper and triple-spaced. A separate title sheet should accompany the manuscript, including name, rank, unit and title of the play. Author's name should not appear on any page in the body of the play.

• Entries should be sent to Play Contest Editor, Room 211, Building 87A, Presidio, San Francisco, no later than 1600 hours on 15 April.

SQUARE DANCE exponents and local favorites are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Allen. The popular experts will be at the Presidio next Saturday evening to give an exhibition and instructions for the benefit of Presidio Youth of the Chapel. Funds derived from the event will go to support a Korean orphan.

Chapel Youth Group To Sponsor Square Dance Festival Here

A square dance, sponsored by several local Protestant groups, will be held in Bldg. 815 on MacArthur Ave. at 1900 on 18 April.

In order to provide funds for the Korean Orphanage Project, a fee of 25 cents per person, or $1.00 per family will be charged.

The caller, Mr. Fred Allen, is a regular with many Bay Area organizations and has donated his services, as well as those of a group of dancers, to help anyone not knowing how to square dance.

Baby sitting will be provided by the Post Nursery.

Army All-Stars Fade In Pan-Am Trials

TOP LADY kegglers, Mrs. Jean Dempsey (left) and Mrs. Helga Lee, meet head on and not for the first time either. Each leads her respective team in the Wednesday Night Bowling League and both carry nearly equal averages in the race for top woman bowler of the league.

Friendly Enemies

Top Lady Kegglers Show Men How In Tough Play

By Pvt. Dale C. Clark
Star Presidian Sports Editor

"Friends to the end and this is the end," so goes the old saying. The same might be said of the relationship of Mrs. Jean Dempsey and Mrs. Helga Lee. Best of friends throughout the week but on Wednesday night it's tooth and nail as each takes to the bowling lanes in competition for their respective teams.

Mrs. Dempsey does all of her "pin work" for the Retorts while Mrs. Lee does her own job of "wood-chopping" for the Cutups. Both teams are in the Wednesday Night Mixed League. Incidentally, both gals beat their husbands quite regularly when it comes to bowling, but find the shoe on the other foot when it comes to playing golf, another favorite.

Mrs. Lee came to this country from her native home, Berlin, Germany, in 1952 after becoming the wife of CWO James E. Lee, Jr. She met her husband at a party and learned the game of bowling from him. Both bowl on the same team in the league.

"In Germany there are no lady bowlers; it is a man's sport only. They play with only nine pins and a little ball with no holes in it," Mrs. Lee stated.

They have no children but, "I've got a husband and a bird—August; chosen and named after 'Ach du Lieber Augustine.' The bird, I mean."

Her best bowling performance to date was when she hit five strikes in a row and finished with a 231 game and 540 series. She has also made the difficult 6-7-10 split twice in her life. Since coming to the U.S. she has lived in Texas and California, with the latter having top priority over any place she has ever been. She "loves" her job at the Main PX and likes working with Army people and if she ever returned to Germany it would be "just for a vacation, but not to live there."

Jean Dempsey, wife of Maj. Marvin E. Dempsey, has been bowling since 1942 when her father fostered her interest in the game while still living in Dayton, Ohio. Both Dempseys bowl regularly in an Army league and have always done so. Her other hobbies are swimming and golf.

Besides tending to ordinary wifely chores she cares for her two daughters, Connie and Carol. Another member of the family providing moments of amusement and some not so amusing is the boxer dog, Prince.

Before she met her husband she modeled deep freezes for the Frigidaire Corp. and at the same time she was employed as a secretary. "They didn't model the freezers after me, I modeled the freezers," she laughed. "Sort of a neophyte 'Betty Furness.'"

"My best game to date is a 226 that I rolled in a 550 series. I think it was also the same game that I hit five strikes in a row," she said. Another bowling achievement she has is rolling an all-spares game though it was unsanctioned at the time. "I've made a 6-7-10 split once but never a 7-10 although I've had more chances than I wanted," smiled the vivacious Mrs. Dempsey.

"Of all the places we've been I still like the good old U.S.A. best of all. If I had to choose another country though, I suppose it would be Japan because it is very interesting, the people are more friendly and the 'help' is cheap."

Firth Wins Open Title; LAH Sets Matches Here

The LAH-PSF fencers spent a busy weekend in competition for the NorCal Open Individual Epee Championship, the last of the three Open Championships remaining. Lt. Ben Firth of the LAH team walked off with first place honors to give two of the Open titles to LAH-PSF competitors. Severo Pasol of LAH had previously taken the foil title and Daniel Magay, present U.S. champion, took the sabre crown.

Also qualifying for the Pacific Coast Championship and the U.S. Nationals were Ed Purdy, Col. Laurance Brownlee and Bill Beaver.

The Open Team Foil, Epee, Sabre and Three-weapon Championships have not been held yet, however. The Foil Team event will be held at the Letterman Sports Center tomorrow night starting at 2000.

The Pacific Coast Championships will be held 30-31 May at the LAH Sports Center for the fourth time in several years and will bring together the strongest fencers this

Nieder To Hawaii To Compete In Olympic Benefit

Off to the land of pineapples, soft warm breezes and waving palm trees is Presidio's one-man track team, Lt. Bill Nieder. He is scheduled to compete in the Olympic Benefit Track and Field Meet at Honolulu, tomorrow.

"I stayed out of the San Jose meet last week to get rested up for one big effort while I'm in the Islands. I've never been more ready and feel that the right combination of rest plus correcting my form may turn the trick and break the existing record," smiled Nieder.

Other appearances scheduled are clinics and exhibitions on one of the neighboring islands. This is similar to the pattern set last year by Bob Gutowski of Occidental College and of late, the Marines. Top-notch service personnel will converge on the spot to make it one of the top meets of the year in track and field.

Battalion Kegglers Set To Compete In One-Day Tourney

There will be a one-day Battalion Bowling Tournament tomorrow at the Presidio Bowling Alley in the basement of the Service Club for all interested personnel in all Batteries of the 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty. Keg play starts promptly at 0830.

The purpose of the tournament is to form a 7-man team of the best bowlers to represent the 4th Msl. Bn. in the forthcoming Group and Brigade tournaments. Makeup of the tourney is scheduled for 18 April, for those who were unable to attend or complete the required six games to register a representative score.

Each Battery should send a roster by name only, either in writing or by telephone, of the personnel who wish to compete. Contact Sfc. J. R. Walkley for any further information at 5592.

Adams On U.S. Squad; College Stars Win Title

Omar Browning, 1948 head coach of the U.S. Olympic team, and present coach of the Phillips 66 Oilers: "Best service team I've seen in a national tournament."

Warren Womble, 1952 head coach of the U.S. Olympic team and head coach of the Peoria Caterpillars for seven years:

"Finest conditioned and balanced team to come to an AAU Tournament. They showed the greatest spirit I've ever seen."

Lou Wilkie, member of the U.S. Olympic Committee: "Finest service team I've ever seen."

Hank Vaughn, head coach of the Akron, Ohio, Goodyear Wingfoots, a top AAU team: "The greatest fast-breaking team I've ever played against."

All of the above superlatives were used to describe the Army All-Stars basketball team. Under the direction of Hal Fischer, Presidio Sports Director, they finished third in the AAU tournament at Denver; first in the Interservice Trials at Mitchell Air Force Base in New York; and one of the top four teams in the nation to do battle in the Pan American Game Trials at Louisville, Ky., last week.

What the Army team lacked in height they made up for it in heart. An example is during the quarterfinals of the AAU tourney when they were up against the towering Peoria Cats. Fischer needed someone in the lineup who could get the ball away from 6-9 B. H. Born and 6-10 Johnny Prudhoe. He turned to 6-3 Charlie Franklin and said, "If you let me down I'll break your neck. Now get in there and out-rebound those guys." Franklin romped into the game, immediately took a rebound away from Born and shouted, "Like that?" as he dashed down the court. "Like that?" became the key phrase as Army came from behind and dropped the defending national champions 81-75.

Players Auction Ends As Little League Sets Team Assignments

Player auction and team selection in the Little League has been completed and team members will soon be notified of their assignments and practice sessions in the Major League.

Minor League selection and notification will take place 12-13 April. The combination of players held over from last season and the excellent prospects of the new players should provide the Presidio with a winning team in Little League ball.

There is still a shortage of umpires in both the Major and Minor leagues and any volunteers for duties will be welcomed. Prospects contact CWO Stephens at Ext. 3324.

Pony League Turnout Good; Still Needs Umps

With tryouts held last week and scheduled again for tomorrow, the Pony League has officially started. Player talent is plentiful and promises a full season of top flight competition.

A shortage of umpires still exists in addition to the absence of concession stand operator. Volunteers for these jobs or any type of league assistance may call Col. Evans at 3514.

On Pan-Am Team
Soldier Jack Adams

Presidio's own Bill VonWeyhe won the "Most Valuable Player" award at the Interservice Trials for his great defensive work against Jack Sullivan, three-time All-American and leading scorer in the nation last year. Bill was the leading rebounder of the tournament and while he held Sullivan to two field goals he managed to pick up 18 points himself.

Two players on the Army squad made the Pan American team. Jack Adams, top Army scorer in all the tournaments was named on the Pan American Games team. Picked as an alternate was Adrian Smith, a hustling type of guard that made a name for himself while playing the same position and captain of the great Kentucky team under Adolph Rupp.

Toreras Win Keg Match

The Presidio Toreras opened the bowling portion of the Women's Interservice Sports Association tournament by downing a tough crew from Hamilton Air Force Base 3-0.

Scoring on the Presidio side went 710, 672 and 669 for a 2051 total. Hamilton registered a 601, 660 and 637 for 1898 total. High for the Toreras was Spillane with a 434-167. Hamilton's McClellan rolled a 420-171.

Softball Meet

There will be a meeting of all unit representatives interested in entering a softball team in intramural competition at the Sports Office, Bldg. 122, on 14 April at 1000 hours.

Units interested may call and sign up their teams by phoning Sfc. Mary Phillips, Ext. 2282-3968.

In 1835, four-foot high stakes were used on a baseball diamond instead of bases. Because so many players were injured by collision with them, the stakes were substituted by flat stones and later sand bags.

Volleyball Team

Coach Says Presidians Certain For Top Berths

"I'm almost sure that none of the Presidio team members will be cut from the All-Army volleyball squad unless someone 'goofs,'" writes M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio from the tryout site of Ft. Riley, Kansas. "Kaczmarek is our best spiker in the group with Rhem, Chute and Kincaid about even and giving him a run for the title."

"We've been running a lot and playing more trying to put a sharp edge on the team. We played the Kansas City YMCA in a practice game and won 15-10, 15-5, 15-6, 16-14 and 13-15. We have another game scheduled with Kansas University which placed second in the Collegiate Division in the 1958 U.S. National Volleyball Tournament. Daily training is rugged as we play from 0800 to 1100, eat lunch and get back on the floor from 1300 to 1630."

The 12 players selected for the All-Army team will play in the Interservice Trials held at March Air Force Base on 24-25 April. They will be competing against the Air Force, Navy, and the Marines. The winning team will be augmented by players from other tournament squads and will be known as the Armed Forces team. This team will compete in the National AAU 1-2 May at Denver and the U.S. Nationals in Des Moines, Iowa, 6-9 May, 1959.

The winning squad there will represent the U.S. in the Pan American Games at Chicago next August.

Need Swimmers

The call is out for all amphibious personnel interested in competing for a berth on the Presidio's swimming and diving team. Team coach for this year is Sp5 Richard K. Makua. Applications may be picked up at the Sports Office, Bldg. 122 or by calling Sfc. Mary Phillips, Ext. 3968-2282.

Fricker Leads Bird Play

The annual LAH badminton tournament to determine the LAH singles and doubles is well under way and the action is getting hotter for the 15 entrants.

Currently leading the play is defending champ, M/Sgt. Norman "Bud" Fricker. Next up is Lt. Ron Lowell with Mary Grossclose, the only member on the distaff side, a close third.

It is a ladder type tournament which means that anyone can challenge either of the three people immediately ahead of him (or her) and if he wins, they exchange places. The same person can be challenged a maximum of two times in one week.

Army Takes Six Titles In Interservice Boxing

The Army boxers copped the Interservice team crown by staging a terrific comeback in the finals, winning six titles and amassing a total of 24 points. Runner-up laurels went to the Air Force with 14. The Marines picked up 11 and the Navy 11, to tie for third.

Army pugilists racked up six of the individual titles for themselves, with only six Army boxers vying for the crowns. It was a 100 per cent victory for the Army as a team.

Sp 4 Norman Chambers of Pittsburgh, from the 4th Armored Division Europe, took the nod over his Air Force opponent for the bantamweight title.

Sp4 Gerald Boudreaux of Planquemine, La., and the 53rd Signal Bn., Ft. Hood, pounded out a decision over his Marine rival to end up with the Featherweight crown. His only previous experience was in high school and one year at LSU.

Sfc Harry Campbell of Memphis, from the 327th Infantry at Ft. Campbell, put out the lights for his Marine opponent as he won by a knockout in 37 seconds of the first round to take the Lightweight crown.

Sfc. Edward Crook of Detroit, from 6th Infantry Europe, had no trouble with his Navy adversary as he decked the sailor three times. The full count was recorded in two minutes of the second round with the Light Middleweight title going to Crook.

Sp4 Robert Conard, Chicago, from the 24th Infantry Division Europe, set up a rhythmic slugging that won him a TKO over his Navy opponent in the second round to take the Middleweight crown.

Sp4 Allen Hudson, Long Island, from Ft. Bragg, defended his Heavyweight crown successfully by decking his Marine opponent in the first minute of the first round and finally finishing the job with 2 minutes and 49 seconds gone in the first round.

Table tennis was given the name of ping-pong by a group of Englishmen in the 19th century. The "ping" was for the sound when the paddle hit the ball; "pong" for when the ball struck the table.

Hospital Nine Drops Close One 3-0 In Tough Season Debut

The LAH softball nine finally suffered their first defeat of the season 3-0, but it took the top "A" team in the city to get the job done. Texdahl & Johnson, who represented San Francisco in the state tourney last year, came up with two unearned runs for the win.

The Letterman diamondmen couldn't seem to connect as they spread their three hits through the game. T & J lumped most of theirs into one big inning as they came up with six hits. Thirteen Letterman batters took the strikeout route as nine T & J men did the same. Lt. Bob McNamara pitched the first four innings for LAH and Sgt. Al Snay finished up.

Letterman rallied from their only loss to up-end the Calif. Pacific Co. 4-2 in two extra innings. McNamara pitched the first five frames and yielded no hits or runs while striking out six. Snay hurled the last four and gave two hits and two runs while striking out seven. Pfc. Luther Brock gave a sample of things to come as he hammered out a triple for LAH. Sp4 Jim Hansen slammed a double through the outfield also.

Letterman opened play in the D-3 Minor League of the city softball league, by taking on Jacks' Smoke Shop at the Rolph Playground last night.

LAH Medal Play On

Play is picking up in the Letterman Army Hospital Medal Play Golf Tournament. Play is set up to determine the LAH Champion and also to select members of the LAH golf team to compete in the Military Sports Association Golf League.

Currently leading the pack is Lt. Ronald Tracy with an 80 at the end of 18 holes of play. Trailing him is Col. Charles M. Farber with an 81 and an 85 for a 36-hole total of 166. Capt. Frank Masterfield recorded a 92 on his first round to hold third thus far.

Seeks Army Title

Post Wrestler Vies At Ft. Sam

Sp4 Myron Bromberg is spending most of this month at Ft. Sam Houston getting in shape for the All-Army wrestling squad tryouts. His usual weight before a match is 177 and he believes that he will be able to attain it with no trouble as he will be working out every day and eating a controlled diet.

His tendency towards being overweight possibly cost him in his mat appearance at the Senior AAU Open when he was forced into the 191 pound class. Spotting his opponents over ten pounds, he relied on his experience and ability to come away with a second place in the tourney.

Before entering service he won the southern California Junior College Championship in his specialty, the 177 pound class. In 1955 and 56, while at Mt. San Antonio Junior College, Pomona, California, he placed first while competing in AAU Novice Tournaments.

Myron credits his former coach Joseph Incorviglia, NCAA Champion two years at Kansas State, for founding his interest in the sport. Before leaving to go to Texas he conducted all of his workouts at the San Francisco Olympic Club.

Kops Drop One Keg Test; Alley Rats Dump Islanders

Keystone Kops still are on top of the Presidio League but had their margin cut when they lost out to the Shafter 3-1. Opozda led the Shafter 593-215, while C. Mahon came through with 563-205 for the Kops.

60th CI stuffed SFAADS deeper into the cellar by taking a 4-0 victory. Hayse led the 60th with 440-154. Tops for SFAADS was Walkley 446-183.

Recruiters blanked the King Pins 4-0 as Fisher rolled a hot 562-219 for the winners. Andresen registered a 508-195 in the losing cause.

Alley Rats took the Islanders for a cruise 3-1. Havrilla and Iwai of the Rats tied for top with 546-209 and 546-187 respectively. Saito hit 531-192 for the Islanders.

In the WAC Bowling League the Alley Cats had their lead cut to six games when they split 2-2 with the Brewmasters. The Powder Puffs dazzled the Orbits 4-0 to pick up on the leaders.

Nikes hold a comfortable 12-game margin in the Wed. Night Mixed League as they shut out the Alley Bys 4-0 this week. Ross kegged a sizzling 606-231 for the winners as Opozda hit 458-170 for the Alley Bys.

Spoilers split 2-2 with the Pickups as each held their positions this week. Wolfman of the Spoilers rolled 553-204 while Mahon carded a 545-202 for the Pickups.

Guys and Dolls tipped the Retorts 4-0 as Gibbs hit 449-181. High for the Retorts was Jean Dempsey with 509-181.

Cutups slipped in and upset the Tyros 3-1 behind the steady pin work of Helga Lee 492-179. O'Donnell recorded 459-167 for the losers.

The Bay League's leading G1 quintet shuttled Garrison back into fifth 3-1. Ross of the winners posted a hot 570-210, 202. Opozda was Garrison's best 544-203.

JAGS put daylight between themselves and MRU for the second place position, 3-1. McAfee of the winners posted a good 543-208 as Andresen hit 530-227 for MRU.

Compt-Rollers moved up a notch by whipping Triple Aces 4-0. Routen posted 571-194 for the winners and Blumenfeld of the Aces hit 510-221.

Hq. Co. 6A No. 3 bruised 6A Signal 3-1 with Holmes doing the work 516-191. Dennis of the losers rolled 527-188.

Porcupines carry about 25,000 quills on their bodies.

AWARD WINNERS for sustained superior performance at Headquarters, Sixth U.S. Army, pose with Maj.

Gen. John Joseph Binns, Sixth Army Chief of Staff, following presentation of awards.

Urge Enlisted To Seek Academy Appointments

An opportunity to attend the United States Military Academy at West Point, New York, is open to enlisted men in the Army. Circular Number 350-21, Headquarters, Sixth United States Army, dated 1 April 1959, announces the current application period, which closes 30 June 1959.

The Corps of Cadets numbers 2,496 men. Within this quota, a total of 180 cadetships are reserved for enlisted members of the Regular and Reserve units of the Army and Air Force. Ninety are allocated to the Regulars and 90 to the Reserves. Vacancies, which become available each year within this special quota allocation, are filled from among the ranks of eligible Army and Air Force personnel who make application and qualify for admission.

Perhaps an individual may hesitate to apply for a nomination because of a misconception as to the educational level demanded. This is a mistake. A high school education or its equivalent is all that is required. This can be obtained through the Army Education Program at any installation. All active duty personnel who are selected for nomination to West Point have an opportunity to attend the United States Military Academy Preparatory School at Fort Belvoir, Virginia.

Fresh from this intensive nine months' course, the enlisted man has an excellent chance to compete against all others in the annual West Point entrance examinations.

The provisions for making application are spelled out in AR 350-55/AFR 53-13. In general, the Military Academy desires men between the ages of 17 and not past their 22d birthday, of high moral character, physically healthy, unmarried, who possess a capacity for leadership and have a strong desire for a professional military career.

Major John C. Boleyn, Chief of the Troop Program Branch, G-1, Manpower Division, Headquarters, Sixth U.S. Army, and graduate of the Military Academy Class of 1945, has this to say: "Service as an enlisted man provides an excellent foundation for entrance to West Point and for a lifetime career as an officer in the Regular Army. Every qualified soldier deserves a military career and should seriously consider the opportunity presented by this program."

Sixteen Department of the Army superior performance award certificates, six of which were based on outstanding ratings, and seven suggestion awards and checks totaling $2,760 were presented civilian employees by Maj. Gen. John J. Binns, Chief of Staff, at Sixth U.S. Army Headquarters, Presidio of San Francisco, this week.

Outstanding award winners were: Tomio Miyoshi, G2 Section, $200; Ralph Walker, Signal Pictorial Division, $150; Florence Vekich, Office of the Chief of Staff, $150; George Schwartz, Signal Communications, $150; Miss Genevieve Schmit, Medical Section, $100; and Herman Young, AG, Administrative Services Division, $100.

Awards based on superior performance of duty went to four Adjutant General Section employees.

They were: Virginia Schaefer, $150; Gertrude Healy, $150; Constance Armstrong, $150; and Edwin West, $150. Judge Advocate Section personnel included: Winnie Calhoun, $200; Jean Ahern, $200; Phyllis Chamberlin, $150. Earl Reinke and Marvin Routen, both Comptroller Management Analysts, received $200 each and Olive Lee Wong, Medical Section, received $100.

Top Suggestion Award winner, John Campbell, Transportation Equipment Specialist, received an additional award of $175 for a suggested "Lubrication of Rudder Carrier Pilot Bearing." The original award was for $25. The suggestion has been adopted Army-wide with an estimated annual saving of $6,900.

Other suggestion awards winners were: Engineers: William Koltun and Dorothie Mason, $10; G1, Rose Antonucci and Anamae Boe, $10; Adjutant General, Herman Young, $10; and William Cartwright, Central Film and Equipment Exchange, $5 additional award.

gether so many key people in the aircraft, missile and spacecraft business. It will unite them in a common cause: the advancement of aeronautics and astronautics—the twin sciences of flight. It will combine conferences and forums, outdoor displays and indoor exhibits, air and ground demonstrations, private meetings and personalized consultations—each concerning the latest vehicles of flight and their supporting equipment.

The displays will range from the first plane to fly the English Channel, to the space capsule for Project Mercury which will be used to propel the first American into outer space.

Las Vegas was selected as the site for the "World Congress" because of the area available for air and ground displays of modern equipment in close proximity to adequate hotel facilities. A new $6,000,000 convention center has just been completed and includes a 7500 seat auditorium, exhibit hall, and meeting rooms. Also, a military installation with aerial gunnery ranges is nearby.

Presidio Officer To Head Radio-TV At Space Meet

Major David E. Brooks, Sixth U.S. Army Information Section Radio-TV Officer, has been selected by Department of the Army to act as Radio-TV Project Officer for the first World Congress of Flight 12-19 April at Las Vegas, Nevada.

Major Brooks will be responsible for arranging Army participation in the preparation of a National Broadcasting Company television program covering various activities of the Congress, as well as being responsible for displays of Army helicopters, a Goodyear inflatable airplane, Willy's Army Mule, and a Bell H-40 turbine powered utility helicopter, and flight demonstrations.

The World Congress of Flight is a new and unique activity for aerospace leaders from all nations of the globe, and will be the first major event to document and dramatize the full cycle of flight—from man-in-air to man-in-space.

The thousands of persons who will attend the Congress will include government officials, company executives, designers engineers, scientists, educators, financiers, military leaders, world dignitaries and top newsmen.

Toastmaster's Club Organization Meet Set For 20 April

The newly organized Toastmaster's Club will hold its first meeting on Monday, 20 April at the Presidio Officer's Open Mess. The meeting will begin at 1130 and end at 1315.

In announcing the organization meeting, Les Scanlon, Civilian Personnel Officer, stated that the regular Toastmaster meetings would not exceed one hour and forty-five minutes and that one hour of this time would be credited to the executive development program.

"We are now one of the many Defense Department activities to include Toastmasters training in our Executive Development program," says Mr. Scanlon. "The motto: 'For Better Thinking-Speaking-Listening' will be a challenge to all members."

Short Timer Wins Top Soldier Honors At 4th Msl. Unit

Private Harold M. Hayes, Fire Control Recorder and Switchboard Operator at Btry. B, 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty., Ft. Scott, Calif., was the Battalion's best for the month of March.

The 19-year-old man from Union, New Jersey, enlisted there in October of 1958, had his first 8 weeks' basic training at Ft. Dix and was then sent to the San Francisco Army Air Defense School at Ft. Scott, Calif., for his 8 weeks advanced basic training. From there he was assigned to the Btry. next door to begin his regular Army duties.

In a short six months in the Army as a NIKE man, he has become a Marksman with the M1 rifle and Sharpshooter with the Carbine. Also, he has taken and passed the Second Class Artilleryman's Examination.

His hobbies are baseball and books, and his main interest is electronics. He is cramming in preparation for the entrance examination which he will take prior to going to Ft. Bliss and the Electronics Course at the Guided Missile Center.

REENLISTMENT PLAQUE winner at the Presidio was Headquarters Company, U.S. Army Garrison. The semi-annual award was presented by Post Commander Col. M. M. Brown to Company Commander Lt. David L. Bunker. Post reenlistment NCO, M/Sgt. John E. McConnell looks on.

STAR-PRESIDIAN

Vol. 7, No. 45

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

Friday 17 April, 1959

DEADLY LACROSSE will become an operational infantry weapon with the activation of two new battalions at Ft. Sill, Oklahoma within the next two months, Department of the Army announced this week.

Two Lacrosse Units Set For Activation At Sill

The first two units employing the mobile, highly accurate Lacrosse surface-to-surface guided missile will be activated at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, within the next two months, the Department of the Army announced this week.

Scheduled to become active before 25 June are the 5th

Missile Battalion, 41st Artillery, and the 5th Missile Battalion, 42d Artillery, each with approximately 170 officers and enlisted men.

The solid propellant Lacrosse Missile, developed out of experiences of the Pacific campaigns in World War II, where it was difficult to get effective hits with artillery on small targets such as caves and bunker entrances, will give the front-line infantryman a rugged tactical support weapon capable of doing a variety of jobs. It will deliver numerous types of warheads, including nuclear and shaped charges, with high accuracy up to ranges of conventional artillery.

All components of the Lacrosse system—19-foot missile, launcher and guidance elements—can be mounted on a standard two and a half ton truck. The equipment and crew can also be easily airlifted to battle areas if necessary.

Lacrosse units are designed to supplement and replace conventional field artillery. The missile is controlled by a forward guidance station which serves as an observation post—similar to that employed by field artillery. However, in the Lacrosse system, precise target data is not required at the launch site. The missile can hit targets that can be located from data supplied by a target survey unit or other sources, such as map coordinates.

Lacrosse is in production by the Martin Company at Orlando, Fla.

Decal Default?

The calendar decalcomania indicating the insurance expiration date for vehicles registered here must be attached to the windshield along with the numbered decalcomania.

Violators will be subject to citation, and when the insurance has expired, must re-register with the Provost Marshal to receive a new sticker for a fee of 10 cents.

New Inspector General

Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker announced recently that Maj. Gen. Edward H. McDaniel, on 1 August, will replace retiring Maj. Gen. Albert Pierson as Inspector General of the Army.

Army 'Night Eyes' Aid Navy's Skate In Polar Probes

Washington (ANS)—New "night eyes" developed for Army tanks—similar to a television camera—helped the Navy's atomic submarine Skate probe a path through the ice in its journey last month to the North Pole, the Department of the Army announced this week.

The super-sensitive viewing device, mounted in a shock-proof container on the Skate, gave the crew inside the submerged submarine a view of the ice above. The submarine made its trip under ice, surfacing at points where there was no ice or relatively thin ice.

The viewer was developed primarily for mounting in a tank to permit fire direction against targets at night. The new equipment has been described as one of the greatest advances in its field, since it has capabilities for night viewing far beyond any previously achieved.

Chemical Display To Key CD Alert At Presidio

The Presidio of San Francisco will participate in the nationwide civil defense exercises this week with a radiological display, to which the civilian populace is invited.

Captain James T. Pooler, the Presidio Chemical Officer, has arranged an interesting and comprehensive exhibit, which will be held today, 17 April, on the "Little League" ball field, behind the Post Exchange, at the Presidio. Fifteen minute lectures will be given on the exhibits and hazards of radiological warfare at 0900, 1100, 1300 and 1500 hours.

The display will include a head wound protector, detectors of all types, the new Juno meter which measures Alpha, Beta and Gamma rays, fully equipped jeeps with two-way radio, and others too numerous to mention.

The nation-wide civil defense exercises are being held, beginning today, Friday, 17 April. The first phase of the operation will continue through 18 April.

Your favorite TV or radio program may be interrupted this morning, but don't be alarmed and call a repairman for your set. At 0830, radio and TV stations will become silent. The only radio frequencies on the air will be 640 and 1240. They will broadcast special defense programs, according to the local Civil Defense Office. At 0900 hours your regular programs will resume on their usual frequencies.

No simulated military operations will be held at this time, Defense Department officials state, nor do the exercises have anything to do with estimates of enemy capabilities or selection of national targets.

PREPARED for the worst in case of radiological warfare, Mr. D. J. demonstrates some of the equipment that will be on display at the Presidio in connection with the Civil Defense alert today.

Medicare Officials Warn Dependents On 'Overcharges'

Washington (ANS)—Medicare officials remind dependents of uniformed services personnel that Medicare is a "full service" program. A physician participating in the program agrees that, for any item of authorized care provided, he will accept the amount payable by Medicare as payment in full, except for that portion which is the responsibility of the dependent or sponsor under Medicare regulations.

Inquiries from dependents and sponsors received by the Office for Dependents' Medical Care indicate that some physicians are requesting additional fees for medical or surgical procedures that have been paid or are being paid for by Medicare.

Dependents who obtain care from civilian physicians under Medicare should not make any payment to the physician unless the charge covers either (1) an amount that is the responsibility of the dependent or sponsor under the program or (2) is for an item of care not authorized under the current program.

SENIOR CIVILIAN employees of the Sixth U.S. Army in the San Francisco Bay Area received length of service pins at parade ceremonies here last week. Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, who presented the 40-year pins, congratulates Miss Mary F. Sheehan, Sixth Army QM, while Mr. James A. Logan, U.S. Army Personnel Center, awaits his award.

Recent Grad Says—

West Point Top Career Asset

A recent graduate of the United States Military Academy, 2d Lieutenant John B. Stone, Arty., says, "West Point ranks second only to experience for being the best teacher as far as a military career is concerned, and is not as difficult as many think it to be. Anyone who has aspirations toward making the Army his career and has the desire to carry it through should not pass up a chance to attend the Military Academy."

Lieutenant Stone, Class of '58, is assigned with "B" Battery 2d Missile Battalion (Nike-Hercules), 51st Artillery, 40th Artillery Brigade at Fort Cronkhite, Sausalito, California.

The United States Military Academy offers an unexcelled education. It is accredited by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and upon completion of the four year course, cadets not only receive a commission as a Second Lieutenant in the Regular Army, but a degree of Bachelor of Science as well.

This is only one of the countless reasons for choosing a professional military career. To the young man who is ambitious, possesses potential leadership ability, and desires to make the most out of his life, the West Point Academy offers everything worth striving for. It is second to none as a military school.

Prospective candidates should first read the United States Military Academy Catalogue, available at almost any library. Copies may be obtained through normal publications supply channels or by writing The Adjutant General, Department of the Army, Washington 25, D. C. (Attn. AGPB-M), or The Registrar, United States Military Academy, West Point, New York. Army Regulation 350-55 (AFR 53-13), entitled "Nomination of Enlisted Men to the United States Military Academy," contains pertinent information, as does Circular Number 350.21, Headquarters, Sixth U. S. Army, dated 1 April 1959.

SF High Schools Slate ROTC Drill Tests Next Friday

"San Francisco high school ROTC cadets will renew their drill competition feud this spring," it was announced by Maj. Gen. Stuart D. Menist, Commanding General of the 91st Infantry Division, this week.

The event will take place Friday, 24 April, at the San Francisco Civic Auditorium, beginning at 1930 hours. Admission is free, with the doors of the Civic Auditorium opening at 1830 hours.

This competition originated in 1920 and continued until 1939, when mobilization plans interfered. It was revived in 1947 under the sponsorship of the 91st Infantry Division, United States Army Reserve, and the 91st Infantry Division League.

Included in the program will be drill platoons, drill teams, drum and bugle corps, demonstrations of mass calisthenics, and individual manual of arms competition, assisted by the famed 91st Infantry Division Band.

Army's Role

In Air Defense

Editor's Note: The following statement by Maj. Gen. Edgar C. Erickson, Chief, National Guard Bureau, supports the Department of the Army Troop Information topic for April 1959, "The Army's Role in Air Defense," and supplements information materials listed in the 4th Quarter, FY 59, DA Troop Information guidance letter. Distribution of DA Pam 355-200-3, "The Army's Role in Air Defense," began 15 April.

Washington (ANS)—General Maxwell D. Taylor, the Chief of Staff of the United States Army, has said on many occasions that all of our components—active and reserve alike—must have one mission and one training standard. Perhaps the best example of the Army National Guard's place in this "one Army" concept is its expanding role in the NIKE air defense system of the United States.

From Massachusetts to Hawaii, National Guard units are now preparing to take over NIKE sites from the active Army on a full-time basis. One unit—the 720th Missile Battalion—is already operational "on site" in the Los Angeles, California, area.

The overall program calls for the deployment of 33 battalions by 30 June 1962. Of these, elements of 14 battalions will be operational in seven States by September 1959.

The primary purpose of the Guard's NIKE program is to release active Army units from their own NIKE missions for other strategic assignments.

A National Guard missile site is operated by a nucleus of full-time Guard technicians who keep the equipment in constant readiness. The majority of the Guardsmen, however, are citizen-soldiers who carry on normal civilian pursuits and keep up their military skills by attending week-end training assemblies with their unit. In the event of an air attack they would report immediately to their NIKE sites to perform their assigned battery duties.

Nearly a year of intensified training is required to prepare a National Guard unit to assume its on-site mission. The full-time personnel attend school at the Army's missile center at Fort Bliss, Texas, and the part-time personnel train with the active Army at the sites they will eventually take over.

The Army National Guard's first missile battalion, the 720th of California, has now been operational for more than six months. The performance of this battalion under the most rigid testing standards has demonstrated the validity of the entire National Guard NIKE program.

"Back With Troops!"

"The best laid plans of mice and men gang aft a'gley."

At least one Army PIO would insist on substituting "spiders" for "mice."

Seems the glamour girl of his operation is the notorious femme fatale—the Black Widow spider. With a number of her sisters in trade, she stays busy spinning tough webs that are used by the Army and other government services, as cross hairs for transits, levels and other sighting instruments.

Since her web sells on the open market for about $25 per hundred feet, and her salary is a negligible "few flies a day," she and her sisters have been making good "economy" copy for a number of years.

Routinely, releases are prepared for the national and local media and like clockwork the story goes out all over the country, drawing letters, queries, suggestions and requests to see these busy ladies at their task.

Following one such release, a group of civic brass obtained permission to see Operation Black Widow. Imagine the PIO's consternation when he learned, at the eleventh hour, that all twelve of his weavers had died the night before—seems someone (economy-minded, no doubt) had forgotten to turn on the heat and the spiders froze at their spinning wheels. . . .

Sic transit gloria.

Versatile Army: The Army's statement of its activities during last year, U. S. Army Reports—Progress 58, points out that the Army continued its many-sided cooperation in the International Geophysical Year (IGY), thus helping to advance the frontiers of knowledge about the world.

Army projects supporting IGY included studies in Cosmic Rays, Oceanography, Glaciology, Ionospheric Physics, Meteorology, Latitude and Longitude, Earth Satellite programs and Rocket Exploration.

The Explorer Satellite program, which succeeded in placing three satellites in orbit, was cited as an outstanding example of Army contributions to the IGY.

Safety Record Kaput

Army vehicles based at the Presidio were involved in 44 accidents during the first nine months of Fiscal Year 1959. Nineteen of these occurred during the third quarter (January, February and March).

Twenty-six per cent, over one in every four accidents, were due to speeding violations. Backing and inattention accounted for another twenty-six per cent.

The speeding violations are inexcusable and indicate an outright lack of ordinary courtesy of the road. The slight time saved is meaningless. Inattention when driving is a senseless risk, not only of your life, but the lives of others. When you drive—drive.

Time remains to improve the record during the fourth quarter of this year. Drive carefully. STAY ALERT—STAY ALIVE.

"RS" Policy Holders Due Special VA Options

Savings of up to two-thirds in the cost of their GI insurance are being offered by mail to all veterans whose insurance policy number is preceded by the letters "RS," the VA said today.

All of these veterans, who for the most part fall in the Korean and post-Korean Conflict period, now have a chance to exchange their present 5-year term policies for 5-year term policies at a lower premium cost, due to the improved mortality tables resulting from modern medical advance.

The new policy, however, must eventually be converted to a permanent plan of insurance since it cannot be renewed by the insured past age 50.

To save confusion, the VA also pointed out—if you don't get a letter with the enclosed application form, don't worry. That will mean you do not have "RS" type insurance and are not eligible for this exchange.

A word of caution, even if you return the enclosed application continue to pay your premiums at the old rate until the VA notifies you the new type policy is in effect. Any overpayment will be credited to your account.

what they said

With summer fast approaching, a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of his or her coming vacation or leave. We decided to find out where a few people were going. This week we asked:

QUESTION: Where will you go on your vacation?

ANSWERS

Mr. Vincent Cashman, Civilian Fireman at Ft. Cronkhite: I'm going to New York City on my vacation. The wife hasn't seen it and I wanted to show her the sights. We're going to visit relations back there, and also see Philadelphia, Cape Cod and Washington, D. C. We'll be flying back about the middle of September and will return in early October. I've been trying to sell her the idea of going by jet, but she just won't buy it. Too fast, she says. We'll be coming back by air to Chicago, then by train to San Francisco.

Major Bradford F. Muse (Ret.), service station operator at Ft. Barry: I do the same thing every summer. I save my money up and go hunting or fishing. When I retired from the Army I started to work for Ted Williams selling fishing equipment on the road. I guess that this is where I caught the bug. Ted and I used to take fishing trips together. I guess the biggest fish I ever caught was a 460-pound Marlin that I caught in Panama. I'm kinda a gun nut too, guess that's why I go hunting for my vacations. Anyway, wherever the fish are, I'll be close by.

Pfc. John Rafter, 561st Engineers, Ft. Barry: I'm leaving this week-end for Huston, Penn., on leave. I'm being transferred to the 8th Army. I've been trying to get over to that area for the last two years. Last hitch I was in Germany and now I get to go to the other side of the world. It's just too rough on you in the States, that's why I want to get back overseas. Well, you could say that my vacation will be spent in Korea. At least, though, I get 30 days at home with my mother and sisters. Even though it's soon overseas for me, I'm going to kinda miss the States.

Cecelia Hochhauser, Secretary, Sixth Army Special Services, Sports, Yellowstone Park: It's very important to me to see such an important historical place. I think we should learn all about our own scenic spots before going abroad. We will stay at the lodge as we have no camping accessories. We plan to stop at several other noteworthy spots.

My husband does community work and it takes up most of our time. Last year we went to Acapulco, Mex., it was a very thrilling experience. My dream vacation would be to take a leisurely trip around the U. S. I've seen only about a tenth of it even though I've crossed it five times.

Sp-4 Everett Carnine, Communications Dept., Battery B., Ft. Cronkhite: My vacation this time will be a permanent one. The reason for that is when my vacation comes this time it will be time for my tour of duty to end. I plan to go back to Sac City, Iowa. There I will be working for the Bell Telephone Company as a Cable Splicer. That is the job I had before I entered the Army. I'm looking forward to this vacation like I never looked forward to any other. Don't get me wrong, I've enjoyed the Army, but I guess that that job back home looks darn good.

President Proclaims

Youth Fitness Week

Washington (ANS)—President Eisenhower has proclaimed the week beginning 3 May 1959 as "National Youth Fitness Week," as a measure to make the young people of this country aware of "their obligation to themselves, to their families, and to the Nation, to endeavor to keep themselves mentally, emotionally, spiritually, socially and physically fit."

Though there is no mandatory requirement for formal instruction or specific action, a DOD spokesman indicated that commanders and individuals of the Armed Forces were encouraged to undertake activities internally and in neighboring communities which would help to accomplish the objectives of the Fitness program.

4 NATO Nations Slate Operations In Northern Italy

Naples, Italy (AFPS)—Military personnel from four nations will take part in NATO's Exercise Green Swing in Northern Italy and along the Tyrrhenian Sea coastline, April 20 to 22.

Designed to train NATO forces in defensive operations, the exercise will utilize U.S. and Italian land, naval and air forces plus British and French air units.

Emphasis will be placed on direct air support operations and Green Swing will include an amphibious landing by U.S. Marines operating from units of the Sixth Fleet.

Antisubmarine warfare techniques will be tested during the operation as undersea craft under the command of the Commander in Chief, Allied Forces Mediterranean, operate against the ships of the Sixth Fleet.

Ground forces in the exercise will operate under the Commander, Land Forces Southern Europe, and air units will be from the Fifth Allied Tactical Air Force.

Real Unit Support!

A total of 104 Post military personnel donated to the blood bank in February and March, resulting in an increase from 18 per cent in November to 93 per cent in March.

"D" Co., USAG, in March, topped all other units with 144 per cent, while the Medical, Dental and Vet Detachments were high, 125 per cent, closely followed by the 30th Eng. Bn., with 115 per cent.

Other units which exceeded their goal were: 561st Eng. Co., 108 per cent; Hq. Co., 108 per cent; C Co., 108 per cent; A Co., 100 per cent; 16th BPD, 100 per cent, and the 87th Ord. Det., 100 per cent.

Goodyear School Held For Military

Akron, Ohio—A training school is being conducted by Goodyear Aircraft Corporation in Akron to instruct military personnel in the maintenance of inflatable fabric aircraft being produced for Army and Navy field evaluations.

A number of inflatoplanes, in one-place configuration, are scheduled for thorough application and use checkouts by both services during the Spring and Summer months. The field evaluations will be conducted at Fort Rucker, Ala., and Quantico, Va.

"HERE'S WHERE some of the darndest things turn up," states R. H. Gunther at the metal scrap bins, Post Salvage. "We get all the weird items that people no longer have any use for and all the home inventions that didn't pan out, but we turn them into a profit."

OM's Salvage Program Shows Profit Margin

Located in a dusty corner of Ft. Scott is one of the Army's few profit-making organizations, the Presidio QM's Post Salvage.

Heading the $2,000 profit per month operation is a personable Dutchman by the name of R. H. Gunther. "The R. is for Rudolph, but who'd believe a name like that?" he laughed.

"OLD ONES, blue ones, yellow ones, white ones. If a man was color-blind he couldn't possibly sort all these IBM cards," smiles Charlie Stewart at Post Salvage.

Ask Presidians' Aid In Conserving Water

Presidio residents have been asked to give active support to the Post Conservation Program by watering their lawns only once or twice a week between the hours of 1700 to 2000 and to prevent water from unnecessarily running on streets or sidewalks.

Leaking hose bibs should be reported to the Post Engineer, Ext. 2104, and broken hoses or sprinklers mended or replaced.

Occupants of quarters located in the 1200, 1300 and 1400 areas of the Presidio are requested not to water lawns from 14-17 April because of necessary repairs which will be made to the Fort Scott Water Storage reservoir during this period.

Volunteers Needed

Volunteers are urgently needed to work one day a week in the Post Thrift Shop, which gives support to all Presidio Youth Activities, including the Girl Scouts, Brownies, Boy Scouts, Cubs, Teen Club and Little League.

Anyone interested may contact Mrs. Lloyd Parsons, Manager, Ext. 3265.

Hobby Lobby Hours

Woodworking, leathercraft, upholstery, photography, painting, ceramics and auto work, are only a few of the activities available in the Presidio Craft Shop.

Personnel may use the shop in building 222, Monday through Friday from 1800 to 2200, and trained instructors will be on hand to offer assistance.

150 EM's Attend Colleges Under New Special Schools Reg

Washington.—A total of 150 Army enlisted men are attending 49 colleges and universities on the mainland and Hawaii under the college and school program for EM.

The new figure, reported 15 February, is a 28-man increase over the figures released last October. At the time 122 EM were reported attending 38 colleges.

The school program, linked to the Army's Enlisted Management Program, was initiated in March, 1958. Designed to produce better leaders and technical supervisors, the program requires EM to reenlist for two years of active service for each calendar year of college training. They must also meet the scholastic requirements of the various colleges and universities.

Entering its second year, the school program has not reached the goals originally established for it. It had been hoped that registration for the last fall semester would top 300 men.

The Army originally hoped to have 1200 EM enrolled in civilian colleges when the school program was in full force.

Average age of the first men selected was 29. About 75 percent were married.

The new figures also revealed an 11-college jump in the number of participating institutions. Milwaukee School of Engineering has the most EM enrolled with 31, followed closely by Purdue Technical Institute with 26.

Applications already received as well as those received in the future will be kept "alive" for possible future consideration.

San Francisco's Fisherman's Wharf has about 1200 full-time employees, making it one of the major employment groups within the city.

Area Pistol Matches Start; Pinion Leads Early Firers

The Sixth Army pistol matches at Ft. Ord literally opened with a bang this week as Major General Carl F. Fritzsche, Commanding General Ft. Ord, squeezed off the first five rounds of ammunition.

Overcast skies, temperatures in the low 60's and winds up to 14 knots set the stage for the 279 competitors on opening day.

Firing event for the first day was the International Free Pistol on the 50-meter course, slow fire 60 shots. At the close of the day, CWO (Ret.) Offutt Pinion held the lead with a score of 522-16X. His nearest rival was Capt. Charles Boomhower of the California Highway Patrol with 522-14X. M/Sgt. Roy Holmes, 510; M/Sgt. Walter Wilson, 509; and Sfc. Forrest Lovelless, 504; placed third, fourth and fifth, respectively.

The second day's firing was in the International Rapid Fire Silhouette at 25 meter range. Competition is twice over the following course: two 5-shot strings with eight seconds per string, two 5-shot strings with six seconds per string and finally two 5-shot strings with only four seconds per string.

M/Sgt. Dessie M. Smith tied last year's top score of 573 to best 2d Lt. Phillip H. Fisher's 568. Third place went to CWO (Ret.) Offutt Pinion with 566. Fourth and fifth place honors went to M/Sgt. Roy A. Holmes and M/Sgt. Richard L. Halverson, both of Fort Ord, with 560 apiece.

Competition in the National Match portion will begin next week.

Must Be There

Mandatory intelligence training on AR 380-5 and 381-12 will be presented to Hq. Co., A Co., and C Co. on 29 April at the Post Theater, at 1230.

This training will be scheduled at a later date for the 16th BPO, 561st Eng., D Co., and the 30th Eng. Bn. and Ord. Det.

Please Don't Forget

Prior to leaving the Presidio on change of station or resignation, both military and civilian owners of vehicles registered with the Post Provost Marshal must clear with the Registration Office, Bldg. 558, and must have evidence that the registration decal issued them has been destroyed.

New Class On Post

A new six-weeks course in beginning and advanced typing will start at Presidio on Monday, 20 April, and all interested military and civilian personnel are invited to attend. Class meets from 0900 to 1100 daily, Monday through Friday, in downstairs section of Bldg. 252 under direction of a certified civilian instructor.

Course is given by Adult Division of the S. F. City Schools and there will be no charge for tuition or materials. Those interested may go directly to class the first week, or may contact the Army Education Center, Bldg. 258, Tel. Ext. 2974, for information or registration.

Top Soldier Named

A $20 check, three-day pass and a year's subscription to the Association of the U.S. Army were recently awarded to the "Best Soldier" of the month for the San Francisco-Travis AFB Army Air Defense.

Selected for appearance, and military and general knowledge, Sp4 Darrel K. Frazer, 20, is a radar maintenance man with Battery B, 2nd Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery at Fort Cronkhite.

On To Gun Glory?

Presidio Pair Earn Top Rifle Try

The Sixth Army Rifle Matches at Ft. Lewis have been completed and two marksmen from the Presidio have been selected for further training at Ft. Ord in preparation for the All-Army matches. The two men selected are Pfc. Billy W. Capers, from the XVth Corps team and Sp4 Nelson J. Kling of the Presidio team.

Pfc. Billy W. Capers

Pfc. Capers is a clerk-typist in the Enlisted Reserve Section at the XVth Corps. Before coming into service he had never competed in a rifle match, but managed to beat many match regulars for his place on the squad. He is an avid hunter and fisherman and likes "the outdoors life." One of the reasons he likes target shooting is "they're easier to hit because they don't move like an animal does just about the time you decide to shoot."

Besides being an excellent shot Bill is interested in a lot of other sports. He played football, basketball and "about everything there was to play in high school back in Lake Village, Ark." In college at Abilene Christian he played guard on the football team.

"I liked everything about the matches and I think the people in charge of the event ran everything smoothly. We had to pull our own targets during practice at the Ft. Barry range but up there they were pulled for us. I'll swear that they could pull them and get them back up before you had a chance to blink."

"The only trouble I had was 'doubling' on some of my targets. That's where you hold the trigger in the same position and two rounds fire before the recoil moves your finger placement. I had two on one ten-round string which means that two shots were wasted and ten points go down the drain."

His wife Claudine is currently teaching school at Hobbs, N.M., but she now has a California certificate and will join him sometime in June.

Sp4 Nelson J. Kling

The other marksman to be sent to Ft. Ord for further training is Sp4 Nelson J. Kling from 87th Ordnance Detachment. His job is explosive ordnance disposer and he confesses "business has been a little slow lately and I'd just as soon have it stay that way." He took ordnance training at Indianhead, Md., and Naval Ordnance School.

"My only complaint about the matches was that it rained for the first ten days and only cleared up for the last two days of firing." Another minor one was "hitting what I aimed at."

He is making the trip to Ft. Ord for the second time as he was one of the firers chosen for last year's team. Nelson had no previous match experience before entering service. "In basic, I was far from being the best shot of the cycle. The day we qualified at Ft. Dix it was 5° below and nobody really cared what score he shot, just as long as he got back to camp before freezing to death."

"I do quite a bit of hunting around my home town of North Brookfield, N.Y. I have a couple of .30-06's at home and like to go deer or bear hunting in season. The biggest one I've shot? Oh, I believe it was a 10-pointer that went about 230 pounds."

Both men will proceed to Ft. Ord for practice with a marksman-ship unit from 17 April to 20 May. On 1, 2 and 3 May they will compete in the California State Championships held at San Diego. On 25 May they will report to Ft. Benning for the All-Army Matches. Those not selected for the Army team will be sent to Ft. Ord 6, 7 June for further training to compete in the National Matches 22 June at Camp Perry, Ohio as a Sixth Army team.

Air Force Legal Officer Finds Hole In Cal Trailer Tax

Mather AFB, Tex.—Refunds totaling more than a million dollars will be made to servicemen trailerites through the efforts of Edward K. Ryan of the legal office at this ATC base.

Ryan, an attorney-advisor at Mather, found that servicemen living in trailers while stationed in California were illegally taxed by the state.

Through Ryan's negotiations with the state of California, servicemen taxed for their house trailers during the period 11 Sept. 1955-8 July 1958, in that state, may now receive refunds.

Persons who paid trailer coach registration and license fees to California during the period may obtain refund applications from the Department of Motor Vehicles, Attn.: Unit No. 7, PO Box 319, Sacramento, Calif.

Jewish Personnel Note

A Seder and Dinner will be held for Jewish military personnel and their dependents on Wednesday, 22 April, at 1800 hours in the Jewish Community Center, 3200 California Street.

Reservations may be made by calling MA 1-0231, or writing to Rabbi William Z. Dalin, Chaplain (Lt. Col.) USAR, Western Area Director for the Commission on Jewish Chaplaincy.

Retired And Families May Travel Via MATS Planes

Washington.—Retired people of any service and their families are now authorized "space available" travel on Military Air Transport Service aircraft, the Air Force has disclosed. The privilege applies "to, from, and between points outside the U.S."

Whether many retired will actually get the travel is another matter, since such space is "extremely limited." When available, the travel is free. Wives and children must be accompanied by the retired member to qualify. Title III ("age 60" retirees) are not eligible.

Retired servicemen have been authorized travel by military aircraft other than MATS right along. USAF announced the new authority last week in the March newsletter for its retired persons.

MATS space available travel "becomes available approximately two hours prior to plane departure," AF said. There are no port calls and the travel is available only to people physically at the air terminal at take-off time.

AF stressed that there is no guarantee of transportation, hence persons "must be prepared to finance any portion of their trip via commercial facilities."

Inquiries should be sent to the Air Force Air Traffic Coordination Officer of the aerial port serving the area to which transportation is sought. McGuire AFB, N. J., serves the northeast overseas area and Europe; Charleston AFB, S. C., serves Bermuda, Africa, and Central and South America. The Far East is served by Travis AFB, Calif. McChord AFB, Wash., serves Alaska and West Canada.

Retired persons must present the following at aerial ports:

Copy of retirement orders, identification card, and current immunization records. All State Department regulations must be met, necessary passports and visas must be in hand, etc.

In another development for retired persons, officials here reminded retirees planning to live in the Philippines that normally they are not allowed commissary and exchange privileges and should prepare "to live independently from the military installations located there."

D.C. Servicemen Asked To Attend GI Bill Sessions

Washington—Local area servicemen, veterans and their dependents have been invited to attend Senate Veterans Affairs Subcommittee peacetime GI Bill hearings.

The next hearings will get underway Tuesday, 14 April at 10 a. m. in Room 4232 in the New Senate Office Building.

Subcommittee chairman Ralph D. Yarborough (D., Tex.) said he was "hopeful" of having as many supporters of the measure as possible show up.

Spring Clean-Up Week To Reduce Fire Hazards

Everybody takes a new lease on life when Spring rolls around, and that new lease on life—for you and your family—will be more assured if there is a thorough Spring Clean-Up done around your home and yard.

"To help avoid a dangerous and destructive fire in your home is as simple as that," comments the Presidio Fire Marshal, Colonel Carroll, in connection with observance of Spring Clean-Up here. He points out that rubbish and trash is high on the list of fire causes, according to National Fire Protection Association records, and many of them are death dealing fires.

Take these five steps to provide a fire safe home, advises Colonel Carroll:

- Get rid of stacks of old newspapers and magazines, discarded clothing, mattresses, old furniture, lamp shades and draperies—all the clutter that gathers in odd spaces, basements, attics and closets.
- Clean up the home workshop, too—get rid of shavings, scraps, oil rags, old cans of paint.
- Do the same trash removing job in the garage, office and warehouse. Clean up all rubbish and other useless combustible articles. Get rid of all dead grass and brush around the building.
- Check your electrical appliances—cords, plugs, etc. "These are the danger spots," the Fire Marshal points out.
- Look for them—correct them—keep them corrected all year around, and you'll keep yourself, your family and others safe from fire. "And don't forget—KEEP SMOKING MATERIALS OUT OF WASTE BASKETS."

The Semi-Annual Family Quarters inspection will be made daily during Spring Clean-Up week. Inspection hours: 1300 hours to 1600 hours, starting 4 May 1959.

WACS To Hold Their 13th Reunion

Miami, Fla.—The Woman's Army Corps Veterans Association has announced that its 13th annual WAC-VET convention will be held here 7-9 August.

Three social functions form this year an important part of WAC conventions. They are the Company Party, held on 7 August; the Pallas Athene Luncheon scheduled for 8 August and the President's Luncheon on 9 August.

In addition three reunion dinners will be held 8 August. They are Southwest Pacific area, European Theatre and American Theatre.

For additional information, contact Evah M. Buriw, 564 N. E. 66th St., Miami 38, Fla.

Outdoor Theater

"The Pied Piper" will be presented on Mount Tamalpais at 1400 on 17 May; tickets will be $1.25 for adults and 50 cents for children over 6.

Death March Veteran Wins Supergrade

"Seventeen years ago today (6 April 1942) the future looked pretty hopeless. I was one of a group of tired, hungry, dispirited men who had just been captured by the Japanese. We were about to begin a long walk—90 miles—from Mariveles to San Fernando. It was a walk that would go down in history as the Bataan Death March."

But today, Bataan was a long, vivid memory away for M/Sgt. Cecil R. Valenzuela, for he was about to become one of the first men on the West Coast to win the coveted promotion to the new supergrade—Sergeant Major E-9.

"I've been in the Army for 26 years as both an officer and enlisted man and it still feels good to win a promotion. Sometimes we think the Army forgets, but it never does. You have to work a lot harder in peacetime, not so dangerous, but hard work."

Danger is one subject the squat, solidly-built Philippino soldier should be an expert on. Entering the service in 1933, he first served with Btry C, 92nd Coast Artillery Regiment, Philippine Scouts, Ft. Mills, Corregidor and three years later was commissioned a 2nd Lt. in the Reserves, serving then with a select group, under General Douglas MacArthur, in organizing and training the Philippine Army.

When he returned to Ft. Mills for duty in 1938, he was assigned as regimental gunnery instructor and promoted from corporal to first sergeant.

"This was the biggest regular promotion jump that had ever been made in the pre-war Scouts. Of course, war talk was in the air and men with experience would move fast.

"In 1941, I was assigned to a provisional Coast Artillery Battalion, Btry. H. Our job was to GAG SHOT, but no gag was the promotion of M/Sgt. Cecil R. Valenzuela, Hq., 1st Msl. Bn., 29th Artillery Group, Travis Air Force Base, to Sergeant Major E-9. One of the first enlisted men on the West Coast to win the highest of the new supergrades, Sergeant Major Valenzuela has simulated stripes pinned on by Colonel Malcolm F. Gilchrist, CO of the 29th.

guard the entrance to the U.S. Naval Base at Olongapo. Then the Japs landed and our thin defenses began to fall. We were ordered to Bataan to serve under General Wainwright in a last ditch defense of Luzon.

"Bataan Death March? I was one of the lucky ones. Others died on the way, or in the prison at Capas Tarlac (Camp O'Donnell). Some were bayoneted or shot during the march. Many died of disease and starvation. Sometimes just the lack of hope, and the will to live, killed them."

During a serious outbreak of malaria and dysentery, the Philippine Red Cross managed to get permission to care for some of the worst cases. Valenzuela was one of these.

"I made it and managed to get discharged from the hospital in Manila. I still had to report to the Japanese authorities, but not for long. A group of us banded together, smuggled our families to Visayan (Islands) and set up guerrilla activities from our mountain base."

Later, the sergeant and five other scouts sailed across the Visayan Sea to Leyte and were assigned to the 6th M.P. Battalion, then busily engaged in hunting out bandits, I'll get my picture. . ."

black marketeers and isolated Japanese soldiers.

M/Sgt. Valenzuela spent the next three years as a Reserve officer on active duty with the U.S. Army, attaining the rank of 1st Lt. while commanding the Cannon Company, 45th Infantry Regiment, 12th Infantry Division on occupation duty at Clark Field, Manila.

Relieved from active duty, he enlisted in the Regular Army as a M/Sgt. in 1949 and was assigned to Base Security Section, White Sands Proving Grounds, New Mexico.

"Then when things started in Korea, I got restless. I volunteered and joined the 3rd Antiaircraft Artillery Battalion, 3rd Infantry Division just as the Chinese jumped into the war."

Recalled to active duty as an officer, he attended the Associate Battery Officers Course at Ft. Bliss, Texas and won his captaincy shortly after.

At the end of the Korean conflict, he reenlisted in the Regular Army and began a series of assignments with antiaircraft units. He is now serving as sergeant major of Hq, 1st Msl. Bn., 29th Artillery Group, Travis Air Force Base.

"About kids and soldiering, I know a lot. Kids? I got ten of my own. Most important things are love and education, in that order. Discipline is easy then. I have one in State College, one at Contra Costa Junior College and three in the Pittsburg High School. Oh yes, also four in grade school."

M/Sgt. Valenzuela is a member of the Philippine-American Association and was president of the group for two years. He is also a member of the Board of Governors of the Philippine Scout Association.

"Here comes the colonel, now

"Everything should produce."

kaleidoscope

The man wearing the gleaming new Sergeant Major chevrons and passing out cigars at Battery B, 2d Missile Battalion (Nike-Hercules) over at Fort Cronkhite this week was Sergeant Major (E-9) Frank Carson. He was one of the first in Sixth U. S. Army to receive a promotion to the new top enlisted grade.

With nearly twenty-five years of service, Sergeant Major Carson is torn between two loves: the Army, where he hopes to complete thirty years of service before retirement, and his farm up in Fairfax, California.

"I've got seventy-six fruit trees right now, with nearly every variety of fruit. A tree that doesn't bear fruit isn't worth having around. I've got trees from many different States—I do my own grafting and have cherry trees bearing three varieties, and apple trees with four kinds of apples. All but 20 trees I planted myself and 90% of them are bearing. I raise my own vegetables between the trees, and I've got thornless blackberries, red and black raspberries, blueberries and boysenberries."

Brought back from the farm, Sergeant Major Carson, who was born in Richmond, California, explained that he joined the Army in 1934.

"I spent some pretty good service over in Hawaii with the 41st Coast Artillery—six years of it. They brought me back in 1940, where I was acting First Sergeant of Battery H, 71st AA Regiment, in Fort Story, Virginia. Then I went to Camp Wallace, Texas, as First Sergeant of Battery C, 31st CAC Training Battalion. Teaching recruits."

"Those stars? That first one is an arrowhead. I got that for landing in Lingayen Gulf, on Luzon. I was with the 37th Infantry Division, the first unit ashore. That was in '44. The other battle star is for Bougainville Island."

He also wears the Philippine Liberation ribbon, with star.

After the war he returned to Fort Bliss, Texas, where he was an instructor and himself attended NCO courses. When the Korean trouble started, he was Sergeant Advisor for Administration and Training Units, in the Office of the Senior Army Advisor, Illinois National Guard, Chicago, Illinois.

He went to Korea as First Sergeant of Headquarters Battery and "C" Battery, 82d AAA AW Battalion, where he earned three battle stars.

"I finally made it back to California in 1952, after 18 years."

The Army has missed a good bet when they failed to assign Sergeant Major Carson to recruiting duty. "I'd do it all over again if I had a chance," and he expounded on the many advantages, particularly that retirement to his farm.

Sergeant Major Carson lives at 15 Wood Lane, Fairfax, with his wife, Louise, and two children, Shirley, aged nine, and Leonard, aged four.

Library Poster Contest Has Numerous Entries

The poster contest for elementary school children, sponsored by the Presidio Post Library, produced some interesting exhibits. The contest was held during the observance of National Library Week, 12-18 April.

Little Georgia Reuss, age 8, a third grade pupil, daughter of Major and Mrs. George J. Reuss, Presidio Provost Marshal, won first place in the 1st through 3d grade group with her drawing, "Petunia's Christmas." Lisa Lee, age 10, was awarded first place in the 4th through 6th grade class with her poster, "Sleeping Beauty." Lisa is in 4th grade, and the daughter of Maj. Edwin Lee, U.S.A., Ret.

Awarded Honorable Mention in the 1st through 3d grade class was Michael Davis, son of Captain and Mrs. James W. Davis, XV U.S. Army Corps, with his drawing of "Jack and the Bean Stalk." Also Dick Warren, son of 1st Lieutenant and Mrs. Bruce H. Warren, Letterman Army Hospital, with his poster, "The Great Wales."

In the 4th through 6th grade group, Linda Carol McKelvy was given Honorable Mention for her picture, "I Come to the Garden Alone," which pleased her parents, CWO and Mrs. Dexter McKelvy. Mr. McKelvy is a patient at Letterman Army Hospital.

Also receiving Honorable Mention was Sally McClure, daughter of Captain and Mrs. Albert J. McClure, 40th Arty. Brigade, with her drawing of the "Lost Horse."

Major Ben Kvitky, Presidio Special Services Officer, awarded the prizes during the Open House Tuesday evening. Mr. Carmine Sena, Sixth U.S. Army Crafts Director, and Mrs. Elizabeth Bock, Supervising Librarian, served as judges.

Square Dance Program Will Aid Protestant Youth Activity Here

In order to help the Presidio Youth of the Chapel raise funds for their Korean Orphanage Project, a square dance with calling and instruction will be held in Bldg. 815, MacArthur Avenue, from 1900 to 2330 tomorrow night.

Admission will be 25¢ per person or $1.00 per family and babysitting will be provided by the Post Nursery.

Caller for the event, to be sponsored by local Protestant groups, will be Mr. Fred Allen, a regular with the Volunteer Dept. of the San Francisco Mental Health Society, the Oakland YMCA and several other Bay Area organizations.

Cook Book Planned

Plans are underway in the Presidio Women's Club to compile a cookbook to be sold world-wide for the purpose of founding a "sustaining fund" for the Distaff Club.

Recipes may be sent to Mrs. John A. Peters, 122 Ninth Avenue, San Francisco 18, California, or Mrs. Peters may be contacted at SK 2-1633.

Local Fencers Dominate NorCal Foil Competition

The LAH-PSF fencers swept to a fencing first in the NorCal Open Foil Team championship by taking top honors, the first military team ever to do so.

The LAH-PSF first team was composed of M/Sgt. Severo Pasol, Col. Laurance Brownlee, Bill O'Brien, Peter Schwartz and Karl Dorman. The number two team, which finished in third place, was composed of Lt. Ben Firth, Lt. Gene Hardy, M/Sgt. Bert Scheck, Ed Purdy and Bill Coleman. The only team to break up the military domination of the tournament was the Pannonia Athletic Club (Hungarian) from San Francisco, which finished in second place.

The LAH-PSF number one team and Pannonia A.C. led for first place all through the competition with the deciding bout for overall winner being decided when Coach Bill O'Brien of the local squad defeated J. Baker of Pannonia.

Along with the team title went the annual George Piller Trophy, a permanent prize. To each member of the team went an individual gold medal. The number two LAH-PSF team received bronze medals for each member.

This win means that the number one team will be the representative in the Pacific Coast Championships and the U.S. Nationals.

Tomorrow night at 2000 the LAH-PSF fencers will meet the Pannonia A.C. on their home grounds to do battle for the Nor-Cal Sabre Team Championship. Other strong local teams will also be in competition but the title is expected to be a stiffly contested affair between Pannonia and LAH-PSF. In the same matches last year the LAH-PSF squad finished second by one "touch."

LAH Softball Team Wins Opener In City League

Letterman Army Hospital's softball team opened play in the City League by cuffing Jack's Smoke Shop 17-0. The losers only managed two hits; one each from Snay and McNamara.

Lt. Bob McNamara, star hurler for Letterman, had a no-hitter going into the fifth inning before one of the Smokers poked a single through to the outfield. Sgt. Al Snay came in to finish the game on the mound for Letterman.

The only possible weak spot that Letterman has is in the batting department, although the score doesn't indicate it. Coach Frank Cienczyk was warmed by the thought that at least one man can hit the long ball. Sp4 "Smiley" Gomez got a lot of wood behind one pitch and hit a home run for LAH.

The second game in City League play will be against the Emerald Isle nine, which also won their opener by a large score, 22-0.

In a non-league contest with Ft. Mason, the LAH men lost 3-2.

Auto Show Set

What promises to be one of the best auto shows this year is now open at Brooks Hall, adjacent to the Civic Auditorium. The "Custom, Rod and Antique Auto Show" has on display 250 of the world's finest custom-built cars and antiques. Entrants displaying their cars were especially invited by the show committee, insuring that only the best cars would be in the show.

The show dates are 16-19 April, and prices are $1.50 for adults, 50 cents for children.

Brigade Sports Buffs Prepare For Busy Month

Sports-minded personnel in the 40th Artillery Brigade have a full schedule on their hands in the weeks to come. Here is a listing of the "something-for-everyone" sports competition scheduled by Sports Officer Lt. Frank Evangelho:

- Horseshoes: Competition will take place 21-24 April at Ft. Baker with the winners representing 40th Brigade in the 6th Region finals at Seattle 27-30 April.

- Golf: The golf tourney will be 21-24 April on the Presidio Golf Course. Winners will represent the 40th in the 6th Region championship held at Ft. MacArthur 4-8 May.

- Tennis: Netmen will scrap for a position in either the doubles or singles competition at the Ft. Scott courts on 2-5 May. "I'll be in this one myself," Evangelho stated.

- Bowling: The keg artists enter competition at the Oakland Army Terminal 4-7 May. Favorites and defending champion is the team from 4th Msl Bn., 67th Arty. They went on to capture the 6th Region title after copping the 40th Brigade crown last year.

What Happened?

Why all the mystery?
Rumor has it that the Presidio golf team made a disastrous trip across the Bay to show some of the young crew-cut college duffers how the game is played. It seems that they picked a most inopportune moment to have a bad day on the course as they were waxed 21-6.

They have a grudge match scheduled in the near future on the Presidio course and have great plans to ambush the pink-cheeked youths who dealt with them so severely.

Otherwise? They ain't talkin', boy!

Lt. Cutler's Ready

"The only problem I have," says Lt. Thornton W. Cutler of the 1st Cav. Div. in Korea, "is getting clothes to fit me and folding myself into bed at night."

When he entered the service in 1954, he was anything but a shorty—standing six-feet-six and tipping the scales at 165.

That was five years ago. Today Cutler is six-foot-nine and weighs 242 pounds.

Sport Carnival

The annual Sports Carnival held by the 40th Brigade will take place on 9 and 10 June. The indoor portion, consisting of darts, handball and weightlifting will be held at the Letterman Sports Center on the 9th. On the 10th the program moves outdoors for competition in shuffleboard, archery and tug-of-war. The events outdoors will be held at Ft. Barry.

Special Swim Set For Army Family At Letterman Pool

Sp5 Richard K. Makua has announced a swimming program at the Letterman Army Hospital pool for beginners and intermediate swimmers. The program starts 11 May and will be completed 29 May. It is for military personnel and their dependents only.

Beginners classes will be from 1530-1630, intermediate classes from 1730-1900. For further information and registration, call Sp5 Makua at Ext. 3673.

Anyone interested in helping out is urged to call Makua also. In order to assist in the program as an instructor, applicants must hold a Water Safety Instructor's Certificate or a Senior Life-Saving Certificate.

Posts New Record In Hawaii Meet

By Pvt. Dale Clark
Star Presidian Sports Editor

Presidio's one-man-gang in the track and field events, Lt. Bill Nieder, has returned from Hawaii, where he broke the world's record in the shotput with a mighty toss of 63'8½". He competed in the U.S. Olympic Benefit Meet, which attracted the top service stars in the area.

Nieder predicted exclusively to the S-P early in the season that he would break the record this year and proved his point by raising the standard by a half-foot. In all of his meet tosses this year he has never gone under 60 feet.

The rest he took by not competing at the San Jose State meet before leaving for Hawaii proved to be a wise choice on his part. His parting words were, "I feel like I've never been more ready and I think the rest will help me do it."

He started the season by breaking two stadium records set by the ex-record holder Parry O'Brien. His next meet was a personal competition between Dallas Long, O'Brien and himself, where Long tied the old record and Nieder finished a close second. Although large by comparison with the average man, Nieder still vows that he's the smallest shotputter of rank in the world.

He returned to the Presidio with little ceremony other than a few friendly handshakes before he took off to the University of California campus at Berkeley, to get in his practice sessions. Not only did he bring back a record from our newest state but also brought back one of its best forms of advertisement, a deep suntan that makes him the envy of every man on post.

Readers keeping up with the sporting world probably read earlier this week about Dallas Long making an unofficial toss of 64'-6". When Nieder was informed of this feat he asked with a puzzled look, "What? You mean I've got to go out and do it all over again?" Looks like, Bill. It looks like.

Tops World Mark
Lt. Bill Nieder

The earliest record of a banded bird is that of a heron captured in Germany in 1710. The metal bands had been placed there in Turkey several years before.

Trout Season To Open Soon At Barry Lagoon

Time to get out the old fishing pole again. Whether it's an imported Japanese bamboo fly-rod or the nearest 2 x 4 with a string tied to the end won't make any difference. The fish just don't care that much.

The occasion is the annual opening of trout season at the Ft. Barry lagoon. Put a big black 'X' on the calendar for 2 May, which falls on a Saturday this year. Anyone can fish in the lagoon provided, and this is the catch phrase, provided he has a California fishing license and a permit issued by the Provost Marshal before getting his line wet. There is no cost for the local permit.

Last year there more than just a few unkind words tossed around as no one seemed to understand the situation. To insure the success of the program this year and as a convenience to amateur anglers, the Provost Marshal will be on hand at the scene of action to issue permits on 2 and 3 May. It is advised that you pick up your permits sometime before opening day to avoid the rush.

Another point to be made is that the Provost Marshal does not sell California fishing licenses, but only issues a permit to fish on a military reservation.

Next week S-P will carry full details on up-coming trout season.

G1 Locks Bay Bowling Lead; Nikes Shine In Mixed League

G1 opened an impossible lead in the Bay Bowling League this week as they rocked 6A Signal 4-0. Ross of G1 rolled a blazing 565-214, while Dennis of the losers was getting a 496-191.

JAGS in second were shuttled back out of the picture by the Compt-rollers 3-1. Morgan of the winners hit 460-170 as the best the JAGS could manage was 493-189 by McAfee.

Triple Aces held all the winning cards as they dumped MRU most ingraciously 4-0. Fillmer of the Aces notched a 542-199 as Andresen hit 527-216 for MRU.

Hq. Co. 6A nipped Garrison in the bud 3-1 with Lux hitting 531-188 for the winners. Opozda of Garrison hit 492-169.

Nikes in the Wed. Night Mixed

League fairly own the top spot. This week they shut out Guys And Dolls 4-0. Ross of the winners kegged a whopping 613-233. Gibbs hit 445-160 for the losers.

Pickups, reclining in second, put the shackles on the Cutups 3-1 behind the fine pin work of Johnson 586-235. Top bowler on the Cutups again was Helga Lee with 461-162.

Alley Bys hoisted themselves to within a step of third place by waxing the Spoilers. Shoudeled led the parade of power for the winners with a 539-201. Smalley of the Spoilers was high with 564-230.

Tyros and the Retorts split the score 2-2 this week as O'Donnell of the Tyros had the highest score 461-174. Jean Dempsey of the Retorts carded a 451-154.

The Keystone Kops still reign supreme in the Presidio League but they still have trouble from the Shalters sitting in second. This week both teams lost out as the Kops split with the King Pins 2-2. Johnson of the Kops hit 532-220 but was outdone by Andresen of the King Pins with a hot 552-209.

Recruiters in third pulled the old double-shuffle on the Shalters and came away with a 3-1 win. Two of the Recruiters tied for high on their team. Bolton hit 515-208 while Eggleston came through with a 515-197. Shelton saved the day for the Shalters with 527-200.

Alley Rats knocked SFAADS 4-0 as Worsfold carded a good 535-222. Walkley led the losers with a 451-178.

60th CI put a gap between themselves and the Islanders by dumping them 4-0. Manfredi of the winners posted a 471-189 while his rival, Saito, recorded a 462-162.

Start Intramural Softball; Need Local Game Officials

The Presidio of San Francisco intramural softball program got off to a start this week with a meeting of team representatives in the Sports Office. Presidio Sports Director Hal Fischer outlined the program and some of its problems before the group.

Last year there was $1,680 spent for game officials alone. To pay off this amount, cuts in other areas were effected. Golf equipment and the purchasing of baseball and softball gloves was discontinued. This year the officials will be drawn from personnel on post with a promise of at least two officials for each intramural game. Volunteers wishing to donate their time and effort in the cause should contact the Sports Office, Bldg. 122, or phone 2282/3968.

The home team at each game will be determined by the toss of a coin and that team will furnish a scorekeeper to be the official scorer. As a reward for doing the job, the home team will get to keep the game ball. Rating sheets will be given to each team manager at the completion of each game to rate the officials. They will be filled out and turned in to the Sports Office along with the official score sheets.

There will be three leagues participating in the program if there are enough teams. These will be the Ft. Scott, Presidio and Air Defense Leagues. There is no limit to the number of players any team may have. Any team can borrow a player from an organization not sponsoring an intramural team. However, if they borrow a player from an organization sponsoring a league team they must have the written permission of the organization involved.

The only equipment regulations imposed on competing teams this year is that no metal cleats are permitted on the players' shoes. Rubber cleats and tennis shoes are permissible. Any questions about the legality of footwear may be checked through the Sports Office, where there will be models of the approved type on display.

The league championships will be determined by the double round-robin method of play. The top two teams in each league will then meet in a playoff for the Post Championship, which will be decided by a double-elimination type tournament.

Each organization will receive a softball rule book and a copy of the Presidio Intramural Rules in the near future.

Bird Chasers Hold Tournament Standings

There is no change in the placement of the LAH Badminton tournament players. Current leader is M/Sgt. Norman Fricker with Lt. Ron Lowell and Mary Grossclose not far behind. Surprise of the week is Sgt. Maj. Wilfred Ramahlo, who is making a concerted drive to win one of the top positions.

There are 15 entrants in the month-long contest which determines the LAH singles and doubles champions. This year the annual affair is conducted on a ladder basis due to the length of the contest and the number of participants.

Toreros Bow Twice In Service League Volleyball Play

The Presidio Toreros took the short end of the Women's Interservice Recreational League's volleyball tournament at the Oakland Army Terminal. The Toreros lost both of their matches in the double-elimination type tournament.

The first meeting was with a strong Fort Ord outfit that eventually copped the title. Scores were 15-0 and 15-5, as the local ladies couldn't solve the serving of the winners.

The next contest for the Toreros was against Fort Mason and the Toreros won the first game handily, 15-6. After that, the going got worse and they dropped the next two games, 15-13 and 15-10, to be eliminated from further play.

The Presidio team was composed of Capt. Ann Wansley, Ruth Reinke, Marjorie Rinke, Barbara Bennett, Toby Cooperrider and Margaret Martinez.

Toreros Win A Pair Then Drop Close One

The Presidio Toreros baseball team romped to an 18-8 win over the West Contra Costa JC in a diamond contest this week. Highlight of the game was a three-run homer by Malcolm DeWeese hit to dead centerfield.

Contra Costa had played 18 games prior to meeting the Toreros but the Presidians showed no respect as they shelled five pitchers. In the words of Pfc. Roger Sawyer, team coach, "The balls were falling all over the outfield as we hit like it was going out of style."

"We have to sharpen up our defense as our fielding has been a bit shaky lately," Sawyer lamented. "Our hitting has been excellent, but we've had to play our way into shape to get the kinks out of it. There are only 12 men cleared to play and we would like to get at least that many more out to try for the positions."

Only casualty of the game was Don Lee, Presidio player, who was hit in the elbow but it wasn't serious enough to hinder his playing. Ralph Hansen turned in a sparkling job on the keystone corner and managed to blast three hits to match his defensive prowess. Ralph White is turning into one of the better catchers around the area with his rifle arm to second.

The Toreros opened their season by hosting the Claremont College Stags last week at the Presidio. In the first game everything went perfectly for the Toreros as they combined 15 hits and fine pitching by Jake DeSousa and Gene Lippold to shut out the Stags 14-0. Malcolm DeWeese hit safely in four trips to the plate for a perfect day.

After a day's rest and a few strategy conferences, the Stags came back to nip the Toreros 5-4 in the ninth inning. Ahead 4-1 at the end of eight, the Toreros couldn't do anything right as four Claremont runs scored when the locals made four errors. Early season jitters seemed to be the main cause for the dropped or overthrown balls.

The Toreros are defending champions in the San Francisco-Oakland Peninsula League and are the only military team to be invited into the league. They also rank high on the fans sentimental favorite list. In the Armed Forces League they are also the only Army team with the Air Force composing most of the teams.

DeMaria Seeks Weight Crown

Action at San Mateo

Peter DeMaria, Presidio's only competitive weight-lifter, will be among those participating in the San Mateo Invitational Weightlifting Championship on 22 April.

Starting with a "mild interest" at the age of 13, Pete made frequent visits to his local YMCA in Kansas City, Mo., and kept developing his ability. His first title came in 1955 when he set the Missouri Valley record in the 198-pound class while still a senior in high school. Not one to quit while he's ahead, Pete kept the title in 1956 and '57 in AAU open competition.

His personal high total was set in 1957 when he lifted a total of 770 pounds using the three Olympic lifts—press, snatch and the clean and jerk.

He currently conducts his training at the San Francisco Olympic Club when he gets time off from his duties as truck driver for the Garrison supply room. "I'm a little out of condition yet and although I won't be competing in the 198-pound class, I think I'll be in good enough shape to be in the running for top spot," Pete commented.

Local Marksmen Show Well In Area Matches

The top contest at the recently completed Sixth Army Rifle Matches was match number 18, the Commander's Team Championship Match. The title and trophy was taken by the Ft. Lewis "Blue" team with a match total of 1391 V91, in the Class A Division.

Second to the Ft. Lewis team and "High National Guard or USAR Team" was the XVth Corps Reserve "Gold" team. Composed entirely of non-active Army personnel the "Gold" team was coached by Sp5 Vincent T. Ho. Team members and their scores follow: Maj. Eugene F. Bayless 233 V15; M/Sgt. Gordon Rose 232 V15; 2/Lt. Richard Tatus 237 V14; Sp4 Roy Gauble 229 V21; Capt. Donald Black 229 V12, and M/Sgt. Henry Romo 227 V11. This all adds up to a team total of 1385 V88, a bare five points away from the winners.

In Class B competition the XVth Corps team coached by M/Sgt. Porfirio Martinez took a second place in the shooting with a team total of 1365 V79. Breakdown on team members and their scores are: Capt. Donald E. Fries 232 V14; Sfc. Joe W. Yambrovich 224 V14; Pfc. Billy W. Capers 232 V17; Pfc. James R. Welch 222 V13; M/Sgt. Edward J. Coffin 235 V13 and Capt. Harry W. Davis 220 V8.

The Presidio of San Francisco team took a seventh place in Class B competition. They were coached by Sp4 Richard L. Marlowe and the Officer-In-Charge was Lt. Robert W. Binger. Members of the Presidio squad and their scores follow: Sp4 Nelson J. Kling 231 V10; Pfc. Frank J. Giarmona 219 V9; Pfc. Robert M. Ruppel 214 V8; Pfc. David A. McNary 207 V6; Pfc. Bradford R. Guthrie 211 V8 and Ronald P. Jepson 199 V8. The team total was 1281 V49.

Finishing in ninth place and about the middle of the entries was the team from Ft. Mason. Coached by Sp4 Louis German, the Ft. Mason squad boasted of having the only woman in the matches in the person of Sp4 Barbara Hile. Team members and their scores are: Sfc. Elmer G. Goff 222 V12; Sp4 Barbara Hile 201 V8; Sp4 Thomas Bryant 198 V5; Sgt. Joseph Oresik 201 V9; Sfc. Chester A. Long 226 V10 and M/Sgt. J. D. Turnbow 213 V3. The team amassed a total of 1261 V47 in match competition.

IN ACTION PHOTO of the versatile surface-to-air missile Hawk, which will be tested by the 5th Missile Battalion, 57th Artillery, due for activation at Ft. Bliss, Texas, in June. Here the Hawk disintegrates an F-80 Star Shooter jet fighter during tests at White Sands Missile Range in New Mexico.

First Hawk Unit Due At Ft. Bliss In June

The first Hawk unit, latest in the Army's air defense weapons system, will be activated at Ft. Bliss, Texas, in June, the Department of Army announced this week.

The 5th Missile Battalion, 57th Artillery, composed of approximately 300 officers and men, will be organized to support the U.S. Army Air Defense School in training future Hawk Missilemen. The unit will test component equipment of the Hawk system in connection with the school's mission to develop organizational concepts, procedures, tactics and techniques for air defense units.

Hawk units planned for deployment will become operational in the near future. Units are capable of employment either with field Armies overseas or for continental defense.

The Hawk "Homing-All-The-Way-Killer" is specifically designed to search out and kill hostile aircraft or cruiser-type (air breathing) missiles from three top level to medium altitudes. It will destroy missiles traveling at twice the speed of sound at altitudes ranging from "on the deck" to present aircraft operating ceilings.

Unlike the Nike Ajax and Hercules systems, which use command guidance determined by computers on the ground and transmitted to missiles in flight, the Hawk uses homing guidance to cope with low altitude targets which hope to escape detection by taking advantage of reduced effectiveness of normal radar caused by ground clutter.

Hawk equipment is rugged, compact, mobile, and capable of being air transported. The system can engage single, massed or widely separated targets with a high rate of fire. Three 1,250 pound missiles are mounted on the Hawk launcher and six launchers are normally associated with each battery. Full-tracked vehicles are used to transport ready missiles from the battery storage area to assist in reload of the launchers.

Hawk is a supersonic missile powered by a solid rocket propulsion system. It has scored a direct hit on an XQ-5 Drone traveling at 1,400 miles per hour, at an altitude in excess of 30,000 feet, and has successfully engaged an F-80 Drone aircraft at tree-top level.

Prime contractor in the production of Hawk is the Raytheon Manufacturing Company at Bedford, Massachusetts. Principal subcontractor is the Northrop Aircraft Company, Anaheim, California.

Wins Mershon Award

Washington, (ANS) — 2nd Lt. Robert H. Iwai, 23, 1958 graduate of the University of Hawaii, received the second annual Dr. Ralph Mershon Memorial Award from Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker at ceremonies in the Pentagon this week.

Presented annually to the most outstanding military graduate of the senior Division of the Reserve Officer Training Corps who has accepted a commission in the Regular Army, the Mershon Award consists of a $250.00 check and a certificate signed by the Secretary of the Army.

Floating Fair Here

Thousands of new products from Japan's leading factories and craft shops will be displayed tomorrow from 1000 to 1700 during the Japan Industry Floating Fair, aboard the Atlas Maru, Southside Pier 18.

Here, at the invitation of city officials, the Consulate General of Japan, the World Trade Center, Chambers of Commerce and other civic, trade and shipping groups, the Floating Fair will offer an opportunity to see many of the things Japan exports, including machinery, metals, chemicals, ceramics, textiles, foods, construction materials, and smoking sets.

Army Lists Missile Achievements

Washington (ANS) — High or low or in between, it makes no difference to the Army's modern Missilemen. A compilation of Army accomplishments just released in Washington reports that on 27 November 1951 an Army NIKE made the first successful intercept of an airplane by a guided missile at White Sands Proving Ground. This was the shot that revolutionized concepts of Air Defense and pointed the way toward safer skies over America.

But the Missilemen did not stop with this triumph. Faced with the problem of defeating any air tactic that might be used by an enemy, the Army turned its attention toward insuring reliability at all altitudes. These too paid off—big.

In May of 1958 a Hawk scored a kill on an F-80 jet flying at only tree top level and below the effective range of radar. This was the first time in history a guided missile defeated a plane at low altitude. Then in November of that year a Nike Hercules did the same thing at extremely high altitude. This time the target was a supersonic missile traveling faster than 1500 miles an hour at an altitude greater than 60,000 feet.

Other Army firsts listed in the new document are:

- First successful firing of a ballistic missile. A Corporal at White Sands in May, 1947.
- First penetration of outer space. By a German V-2 with a WAC Corporal second stage, at White Sands on February 24, 1959.
- First Operational Air Defense GM Unit. Placed on site near Washington in December 1953.
- First U.S. Operational Ballistic Missile Unit. The 259th Field Ar-

French To Build Antitank Missiles For Army Use

A letter order has been placed with the French government to produce SS-10 and SS-11 antitank guided missiles and equipment for the U.S. Army, the Department of the Army announced this week. A definitive contract is currently being negotiated.

Initial quantities of the missile will be provided Seventh Army troops in Germany.

The SS-10 and SS-11, manufactured by Nord Aviation of Paris, remote-control, wire-guided missiles with a solid fuel propellant and are capable of putting out of action any tank known to exist in present-day armies. These missiles can be hand-carried, dropped by parachute from planes, operated by one soldier, and launched from the ground, a vehicle, helicopter or airplane.

The United States government has contributed to the development of the SS-11 which, while based on the SS-10, is a weapon complementary to it having greater speed, range and effectiveness. The contribution by the United States was made under the United States Mutual Weapons Development Program, a part of the American Foreign Military Aid Program.

The SS-10 antitank missile is basically designed for ground forces and is being procured for use by the U.S. Army. The SS-11, with a range more than double that of the SS-10, is somewhat heavier than the SS-10 and being procured for evaluation.

Army spokesmen state that the SS-10 has been adopted as a standard item of equipment for U.S. forces. A determination regarding the SS-11 will be made following the presently planned program for evaluation of this system.

New Harness To Aid Army Paratroopers

Washington (ANS) — A new parachute harness assembly, incorporating a canopy release designed to prevent paratroopers from being dragged by surface winds after landing, has been standardized for use on Army troop-type parachutes, a DA spokesman announced this week.

The canopy release is a safety device to be used only after landing when there is a danger to the paratrooper from being dragged by surface winds. It enables the paratrooper to free the canopy from the parachute harness in about six seconds.

Procurement of the new harness assembly and canopy release is expected to start shortly.

Check, Double Check

Washington, (ANS)—Under the Uniformed Services Contingency Option Act, all officer and enlisted personnel must, before completing 18 years service for pay purposes, execute DA Form 1041 to indicate whether they desire to elect an option governing retirement pay benefits for survivors.

Many military personnel have lost out on the benefits of the program, a DA spokesman emphasized, due to the erroneous impression that the limiting date was 18 years of active service.

A simple explanation of the operation of the Act is contained in DA Circular 608-13.

MP Sergeant Finds Army Life Suits Him Another Six

Convinced the Army offers better-than-average job opportunities, Sgt. Lewis M. Shaw, Operations Sergeant of the 163d Military Police Company, went the way of all Regular Army Non-Commissioned Officers last week and reenlisted for six more years.

A veteran of nine years service, the 26-year-old career soldier came to the Presidio from the Yuma Test Station at Yuma, Arizona, last July.

He served overseas from May 1951 to May 1953 with the 1st Infantry Division at Aechaffenburg, Germany.

Prior to entering active military service, Sgt. Shaw was a member of Company I, 187th Infantry Regiment of the Oklahoma National Guard for two years.

With his wife, Donna, and their two children, Lewis, Jr., and Alberta, he resides at 2030 Lombard Street in San Francisco.

Win Top Mess Award

Best Mess Award for March was recently presented to Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, 30th Engineer Battalion, and was accepted by Sfc. Harry H. Kuri-owa.

Cooks for the unit who observed the ceremony are Sfc. Murray Jacobs, Sp4 Eddie Wilson, and Sp4 Donald Loucke.

33 Stoneman Employees Presented Service Pins

A total of almost 500 years' service to the Federal Government was rewarded at Camp Stoneman recently as 33 civilian employees were presented length of service emblems.

In presenting the emblems, Capt. Richard T. Greaney, Commanding Officer of the camp, said that he had never seen the percentage of above-average employees so high as among the group being honored.

Awarded emblems were: Mrs. Wally Iverson, 29 years; Michael Horan, 19 years; Elton J. Gladis, 18 years; John W. Toupin, 17 years; and Minnie L. Capalety, Richard E. Winter, David L. Brandt, Frank J. Kozak, George D. Fliger, all with 16 years.

Palmer Nominated To Four Star Rank

Vol. 7, No. 46      PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA      Friday 24 April, 1959

Ondrick Named For Star; Will Command Ryukyus

Colonel John G. Ondrick, Deputy Chief of Staff, Sixth U.S. Army, has been nominated for brigadier general and following confirmation will succeed Brigadier General Vonna F. Burger as civil administrator of the Ryukyus Islands, Okinawa, in June.

The Army General Staff Officer has served at the Presidio since 1 February 1956, reporting here from Seoul, Korea, where he served for 15 months with the Eighth Army as G-4 and DCS for administration.

A 1932 graduate of the U.S. Military Academy, Col. Ondrick has also completed the Infantry School, Command and General Staff College, Army War College and the Industrial College of the Armed Forces.

An Infantry officer, Col. Ondrick served in numerous assignments at home and overseas prior to World War II. During World War II he commanded the 309th Infantry Regiment, 78th Division in combat in France and Germany.

He wears the Silver Star for gallantry in action and battle stars for the Ardennes, Central Europe and Rhineland campaigns. Col. Ondrick also wears the Bronze Star Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, Commendation Ribbon and the Combat Infantry Badge. His foreign decorations include the French Croix de Guerre with Palm and the Korean Order of Ulchi with Silver Star.

Following World War II, Col. Ondrick served on the faculties of the Command and General Staff College and the Army War College. He also served a tour of duty with the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

A native of Holyoke, Mass., Col. Ondrick is married to the former Patricia Bernice Hodgins of Chicago, Illinois. Mrs. Ondrick has been very active in the Presidio Woman's Club during her husband's assignment here. The Ondricks have two daughters, Patricia, 12, and Mary Kathleen, 10.

Daylight Time Again

A last minute reminder that the Presidio will go on Daylight Saving Time at 0100, Sunday, 26 April, 1959. This means one hour less sleep this Sunday night but you can catch up again next September when the process will be reversed.

Promotion, Transfer

DA Names 24 Additional NG Units To Nike Sites

Washington (ANS)—Assignment of 24 more Army National Guard Nike batteries to the air defense of key United States cities will take place between 30 June and 1 September, 1959, the Department of the Army announced this week.

These batteries, now in their final stages of training, represent elements of 14 National Guard Air Defense Missile Battalions in seven States. They will take over Nike Ajax sites from the Active Army and will have full operational responsibility for manning these sites 24 hours a day. In each battalion, one or more batteries will become active. Following is a list, by State, of the units scheduled for assignment, followed in parentheses by the Headquarters of the unit and the areas they will defend:

- California: 271st Missile Battalion (San Francisco) and 728th Missile Battalion (Berkeley)—San Francisco area.

- Maryland: 683d Missile Battalion (Baltimore) and 684th Missile Battalion (Towson)—Baltimore-Washington area.

- Massachusetts: 704th Missile Battalion (Boston) and 772d Missile Battalion (Chelsea)—Boston-Providence area.

- New Jersey: 109th Missile Battalion (Newark)—New York City area.

- Pennsylvania: 708th Missile Battalion (Pittsburgh) and 724th Missile Battalion (Pittsburgh)—Pittsburgh area.

- Virginia: 125th Missile Battalion (Alexandria)—Washington-Baltimore area; 615th Missile Battalion (South Norfolk)—Norfolk area; 710th Missile Battalion (Newport News)—Norfolk area.

- Washington: 240th Missile Battalion (Kent) and 770th Missile Battalion (Kent)—Seattle area.

Neuropsychiatric Service At LAH Plans Open House

Colonel A. L. Tynes, Commanding Officer of Letterman Army Hospital, announced this week that a second annual open house will be held by the Neuropsychiatric Service of the hospital on 29 April, 1959, from 1330 to 1630 hours. The affair is being held in conjunction with San Francisco Mental Health Week.

The visit will feature a tour of the wards, dining hall, food preparation, occupational and physical therapy activities and recreational facilities.

Light refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the various tours.

Here Next Week
Hon. Wilber M. Brucker

Secretary Brucker To Visit Presidio Next Thursday

Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker will make a 3-day visit to four installations in the Sixth U.S. Army area beginning 30 April at Camp Irwin, Calif. He will be met by Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, Sixth U.S. Army commander, who will accompany him to the Presidio later the same day.

An Honor Guard ceremony is planned at the Presidio for 14.45.

Secretary Brucker will attend a dinner meeting of the San Francisco Chapter of the Association of the United States Army at the Presidio that evening.

Friday, 1 May, the Secretary will visit Fort Ord. He will return to San Francisco, and that evening will address a dinner meeting of the Knights Templar.

On 2 May, Secretary Brucker will leave the Bay Area for Fort Huachuca, Arizona.

He will be accompanied by Mrs. Brucker, Mr. Frank G. Millard, Department of the Army General Counsel and Mrs. Millard, and Mr. Byron Lear.

Will Succeed Brother As DCINC In Europe

Lieutenant General Charles D. Palmer, Sixth U.S. Army Commander, has been named to succeed his brother, General Williston B. Palmer, as Deputy U.S. Commander-in-Chief in Europe, it was announced in Washington, D. C., today. He has been nominated for the temporary promotion to the rank of General.

The change in command will take place before November, when General Williston Palmer will retire. Lieutenant General Palmer's successor at Sixth Army was not named in the President's announcement.

Upon confirmation by the Senate of his promotion, it will mark the first time in US Army history that two brothers have held simultaneously the four-star rank, Army historians said.

At the Presidio of San Francisco, General Palmer said today he will be happy to return to Europe, though he could not leave the Sixth Army "without regret."

"I appreciate the confidence placed in me by Secretary of the Army and General Taylor, Chief of Staff, in recommending me, and am happy that the President has seen fit to nominate me for temporary promotion," he said.

"Changes in military assignments, of course, are necessary from time to time. I consider it a privilege to move back to European Command Headquarters, where I had most pleasant experiences in 1954-55 as Chief of Staff, European Command. However, I cannot leave the Sixth Army without regret. My assignment here has been one of the most enjoyable and rewarding of my career, and I shall always hold the warmest regard for the San Francisco Bay area and the eight western states which comprise this command. I am particularly grateful to the great number of citizens who have given outstanding assistance to all the Armed Services, and to me personally during my tour in this area."

General Palmer assumed command of the Sixth Army in March, 1958.

He took command of Exercise Rocky Shoals, last year's amphibious war games off the California coast.

Housing Shortage Halts Some Dependent Travel

Washington (AFPS)—The housing shortage in Europe, particularly in Germany, has forced a slowdown in overseas travel of Army dependents.

Officials said the problem is not a new one. Recurrent since WWII, it can be solved only when sufficient housing is available to meet demands.

Temporarily suspended was concurrent travel of dependents with sponsor to commercial hotel accommodations in Germany.

That situation has been aggravated, the Army said, by tourist travel. The market for hotel type quarters was described as "saturated."

The suspension will be lifted, officials said, when government or local privately owned housing can be assured dependents upon their arrival.

The housing situation in France is to be closely monitored. Concurrent travel will be approved where local privately owned housing is available or where space in commercial hotels will be reasonably short, it was explained.

Movement of unaccompanied dependents to join sponsors throughout the U.S. Army Europe area will be restricted, officials said, with requests for movement to Europe approved when suitable government or local housing is available upon arrival of dependents.

Lower Voting Age?

Would Help Services

A great many more servicemen would get to vote for a President if an amendment to the Constitution proposed by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R., N.Y.) ever gets passed.

The amendment would lower the voting age to 18.

"As a veteran," Keating said, "I subscribe to the theory that a man old enough to fight for his country is old enough to be entrusted with the ballot. The notion that age 21 marks the dividing line between immaturity and wisdom goes back to the middle ages when a youth could be knighted only when he could bear the weight of armor, and use it."

Keating said one of the strongest reasons for lowering the voting age is the political awareness of young Americans today.

"A Gallup Poll has found that people between 18 and 20 are the best informed of any age group on basic political facts. The proposition that this age group be given voting rights is basically logical; only hoary custom is against it."

Another Jupiter

Almost A Habit

Washington (ANS)—The Army successfully launched another tactical Jupiter intermediate range ballistic missile from the Atlantic Missile Range this week. The missile was programmed for slightly less than full IRBM range.

Jupiter was developed by the Army Ballistic Missile Agency, Army Ordnance Missile Command, at Redstone Arsenal, Alabama. The missile has attained an unusually high degree of reliability and accuracy and is ready for operational use.

Of all 15 Jupiter firings to date, only one has been termed unsuccessful.

The last several Jupiters tested have been produced by the Chrysler Corporation. This missile was flown directly from the plant near Detroit to the launching pad at Cape Canaveral, emphasizing the advanced state of readiness of the 60-foot weapon.

This Jupiter was launched by the ABMA Missile Firing Laboratory, with assistance of key personnel from the Air Force 864th Strategic Missile Squadron (Jupiter), who have been trained by the Army at Redstone Arsenal to maintain and fire the missile.

T. I. Needs

Command Care

Fort Slocum, N. Y. (ANS)—"The effectiveness of formal instruction in Troop Information depends upon the personal attention of the commander in the selection of subjects, in the assignment of instructors, and in the preparation and presentation of instruction."

Quoting this statement from AR 355-5, a representative of the Army's Office of Chief of Information said this week that the Army today is placing increased emphasis on the TI program, and that TI is a command function at each level of command.

"If the commander does not act in the capacity of instructor," the spokesman declared, "he, and his officers, should be present and actively participate in the presentation."

Instruction, he added, should be conducted in accordance with FM 21-6.

Private Cars

High Accident Rate

Automobile accidents cost the Army more than $20-million in 1958 it was reported this week.

These involved privately owned cars and not Army vehicles.

The estimate was made as the Army issued a new regulation (AR 385-57) on "Safety—Prevention of Private Motor Vehicle Accidents."

A fact sheet accompanying the regulation said:

"Private vehicle accidents cause more injuries and deaths to Army personnel than any other single source. . . . During the calendar year 1958, 3400 military personnel incurred injury and 436 died as a result of privately owned vehicle accidents. Direct cost of these injuries to the Army approximated $20,550,000."

It also was pointed out:

"The rapid growth in vehicle ownership and use is constantly increasing the accident potential. This means a constant drain of manpower, increased hospitalization, insurance and other attendant costs to the government."

Eleven Win Rockefeller Federal Study Awards

Rockefeller Public Service Awards have been granted to 11 Federal officials for travel, study and research during 1959-60 in line with their Federal careers. The awards were established in 1952 by John D. Rockefeller III under a trust administered by Princeton University.

The 11 recipients, selected for their achievements and promise from 75 "finalists" nominated by more than 20 Federal agencies from among several hundred applicants, are:

- Dr. Dean R. Chapman, National Aeronautics and Space Administration, to study astronomy and electro-magnetic theory at Cambridge University, England;

- Dr. Charles L. Christ, Interior, for the study of earth sciences, with emphasis on geochemical problems, at Harvard and M.I.T.;

- Miss Lily Mary David, Labor, to study recent developments in economic theory and labor economics, with reference to wage-price-productivity relationships;

- Louis A. Fanget, United States Information Agency, for a study of book publishing and distribution in India to ascertain India's needs and to determine ways of satisfying such needs;

- Isaiah Frank, State, to appraise the impact of the European Common Market on non-member nations;

- Harry Heller, Securities and Exchange Commission, for a comparative survey of European corporate regulatory laws, with a view to making American capital markets available to foreign business enterprise;

- Dr. Louis Morton, Army, to investigate the latest developments and theories in National Security Policy Research in five American universities;

Recently Assigned

Lt. Colonel JOHN B. GIBBONS, Jr., arrived recently from Munich, Germany, where he served in the Engineer Section of the Southern Area Command. He was also Asst. Commandant of the Engineer School at Murnau, Germany.

Born in Boston, Massachusetts, Colonel Gibbons is a graduate of the Boston Latin School and of Harvard University. Receiving his commission in the Officers Reserve Corps in 1929, he has had a varied military career.

Colonel Gibbons received the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant in the Philippines during World War II, the Legion of Merit and the Bronze Star in Korea, all awarded for amphibious operations against the enemy. He graduated from the Command and General Staff School in 1942.

Colonel Gibbons is now assigned to the Post Engineer Section, Presidio of San Francisco, and is residing on the post with Mrs. Gibbons and two of their three children. A daughter remained in her position in Germany.

1st Lieutenant FREDERICK H. MITCHELL has arrived from Munich, Germany, where he was assigned to the 1st Airborne Battle Group, 503d Infantry. He is now assigned to A Company, USAG, at the Presidio of San Francisco.

Lieutenant Mitchell was born in Omaha, Nebraska, but has made his home in Austin, Tex. He is a graduate of Texas A&M College. He came to duty with the Army in 1954.

His wife, Claudette, will join him shortly, and upon arrival of his furniture, he expects to live on the post.

A graduate of Virginia State College, 2d Lieutenant ALEXANDER L. MOSBY has reported from Fort Gordon, Georgia, where he completed the Officers Basic Course.

A native of Richmond, Virginia, Lieutenant Mosby has been assigned to the 163d Military Police Company at the Presidio of San Francisco.

2d Lieutenant ROBERT L. CONNER, CE, recently arrived from Fort Belvoir, Virginia, where he completed the Engineer Officers Basic Course. Lt. Conner's home is in Longmont, Colorado, and he is a graduate of the University of Colorado.

Lieutenant Conner is assigned to the 561st Engineer Company (Port Construction) at Fort Baker.

A graduate of Tuskegee Institute in Alabama, 2d Lieutenant JOE C. THOMAS has recently reported for duty at the Presidio of San Francisco, and has been assigned to the 16th Base Post Office. He has just completed the Basic Officers Course at the Adjutant Generals School, Fort Benjamin Harrison.

Lieutenant Thomas was born in Adams, Tennessee, and is a member of the Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity.

what they said

Today we hear a great deal of emphasis on how well informed a person must be. Especially since the resignation of Mr. Dulles and who will take his place. So this week we decided to ask the question:

Who do you consider the best informed person you have ever known?

ANSWERS

Miss Sylvia Strauss, Entertainment and Crafts Dept., Special Services. I guess that the best informed person that I have ever met would be Mr. P. Gardner. Mr. Gardner is in the real estate and stock business. I first met him in Rhinebeck, New York. He has a farm located near there. No matter what questions I would ask him he always answered them without any hesitation. He has traveled around the world several times. All his travels and great undertakings have made him a bit cynical, however, he still has had compassion and feeling for others.

Mrs. Cora J. Ulrey, Editress of XVth Corps News. I would say that my father, H. Dean Hinty would be the best informed person that I have ever known. My father is an insurance agent. He didn't pretend to know, but would find out the answer of any questions I would ask and he didn't know. He was continually seeking knowledge. While I was in college he helped me as he bought the same books that I was using in my work. Then when I had trouble in some of the chapters he would send me letters explaining them. Only through his wonderful help and deep interest did I complete junior college at Graceland Church College in Lamoni, Iowa. Then I went on to graduate from Chico State with credentials in elementary education teaching and an A.B. degree.

Sfc. Julian Walkley, Reenlistment N.C.O., 30th Arty. Group, Fort Scott. Jimmy Donachee, who was an old golf pro to me is the best informed person that I have ever known. He started work in a golf club factory making wooden shaft golf clubs at the age of eight in Scotland. He was in the Navy in World War I and did quite a bit of traveling so he was very well spoken in many subjects. Jimmy won the Western Open Golf match in the early 30's and traveled on tours as a trick shot artist all year round. I remember once when Jimmy bought steel clubs and changed the "loft" on all of them. He designed the course at Schroom Lake, Scarron Manor, New York. It was really a tough layout. Jim also served as a former golf pro at the Westchester Country Club.

Pfc. Larry Martin, 561st Engineers, Ft. Barry. I guess a former anthropology professor at Western College of Education would be my answer to this question. He was a brilliant man, at the age of 25 he had his Ph.D. in the anthropology field. He could answer almost any question that you asked him. He was really sharp. I can remember him going down the lower halls at school singing at the top of his lungs and waltzing at the same time. I also remember him standing before the class and saying, "Ladies and Gentlemen, your race is the most effective killer the world has ever known."

Pfc. Gerald Miller, BOQ orderly with Hq. USA Garrison. Professor Russell Neal at West and Wells Engineering School, Bethlehem, Pa., he was a teacher in surveying class and also taught bridge construction. Another one of his classes was higher mathematics at Lehigh University. Professor Neal could discuss almost any subject and choose either side such as religion, politics, etc. He made you think and develop your ability to do so. Since then he has organized his own engineering firm. I thank him for helping me to accept almost any discussion with an open mind.

Strategic aspects of world political geography, AMERICAN MILITARY POLICY, by E. S. Furniss, is an edited compilation of current thinking "on the nature of the military component in American statecraft" in connection with foreign policy making, strategic military doctrines, NATO, Middle East, disarmament, and military concepts of limited war, graduated deterrence and massive retaliation.

Trout Season To Open Next Saturday

HAPPY ANTICIPATION lights the faces of prospective trout fisherboys David and Gean Smotkin, sons of Sp5 Bernie Smotkin, XV Corps, as they ready for a try at Rodeo Lagoon, Ft. Cronkhite, California Fish & Game recently stocked the lagoon with keeper-size trout. Season is slated to open here 2 May.

LAH Fencers Second In Open Sabre Try

The LAH-PSF fencers came out second best against their old rivals, Pannonia Athletic Club, in the Norcal Open Sabre Team Championship this week.

It was a replay of last year's match with the contest centered around the two Pannonia teams and the Letterman-Presidio Sabre squads. In the final rounds the No. 1 Pannonia team took first and the LAH team took second. The No. 2 Pannonia team finished third and the combined LAH-PSF team finished fourth. Along with their second place the LAH fencers were awarded silver medals and also qualified for the U.S. Nationals.

The Letterman fencers were Col. Laurance Brownlee, Lt. Eugene Hardy, Jr., M/Sgt. Severo Pasol and Mr. Karl Dorman. The combined team members were Capt. William Coleman, M/Sgt. Bert Sheek and Mr. Ed Purdy.

The combined team only had three members and were handicapped four points automatically each round that they entered. "With the shortage they had, they are to be congratulated on their fine showing," said Coach Bill O'Brien.

The outstanding event of the match was the bout between Mr. Daniel Magay, U.S. National Sabre Champion and former member of the Hungarian Olympic team, and Col. Laurance Brownlee of the Presidio. Col. Brownlee fenced superbly to defeat Magay.

Army Volleyball Stars First In Wichita Open

The Interservice Trials to determine the champion service volleyball squad is currently in progress at Hamilton Air Force Base. The winning team will be the nucleus of a squad picked to enter the AAU Volleyball Tournament and the U.S. Nationals. Teams playing for the title are the Army, Navy and Air Force All-Star teams.

The Army team was chosen at Ft. Riley where the Army tryouts were conducted. Team members from the Presidio and 6th Region are Pfc. Len Kaczmarek, Pfc. Allen Kincaid, Sgt. Dave Rhem and M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio.

While still at Ft. Riley, the All-Army team entered the Wichita Open Volleyball Tournament and 15-8, 11-15 and 15-11.

Rodeo Lagoon Stocked; No Boats Available

Trout. That succulent fresh water fish will be the bill-of-fare on many a table after opening day, 2 May. Presidians will catch their share of the wily creature if they make a day to head for Rodeo Lagoon at Ft. Cronkhite on opening day.

Regional Fisheries Supt. Bill Evans of the Dept. of Fish and Game said that the lagoon will be amply stocked with "catchable sized Rainbows" prior to opening day. Just to be on the safe side it would be advisable to include a ruler or some measuring device in the tackle box.

Anyone dipping his line in the water should have at least three articles in his possession. (1) A California State fishing license, (2) a military permit to fish on a military reservation, and (3) some sort of device to catch the fish, legally.

The military permits are an absolute necessity and are issued at the Provost Marshal's Office, Bldg. 558. Last year there was a misunderstanding on the part of some anglers that caused a few heated words. This year there should be no problem but to insure this Lt. Col. Charles F. Helderman, Post Provost Marshal, will have Military Police on hand to issue the permits at the guard station, before entering the Ft. Barry tunnel. This will be a courtesy service and will be available only on 2-3 May weekend. Anglers are requested to pick up their permits early and avoid the rush on opening day.

For those who have no equipment, the Post Special Services have poles that may be borrowed. Put in an early reservation as the supply is limited and there will probably be none available for the late-comers.

Boats will be allowed on the lake but there are no boats available from the military. Any venture of the sort will be a personal matter.

LAH Softball Team Holds Edge In City Competition

The Letterman softball team kept up their win skein in City League competition by blanking the Emerald Isle nine 2-0. Letterman had their two runs on five hits and played errorless ball.

Sgt. Al Snay, star twirler for the LAH team, started the game and allowed only two hits while striking out 15 batters and walking only four. Lt. Bob McNamara came into the game in the last inning to retire the side after Snay walked two men.

McNamara and Sp4 Charles Davis both had two for three in the batting column, with one of Davis' hits a triple. Sp4 Jack Frakes singled to left field to drive in "Smiley" Gomez for one of Letterman's scores. The other came on a bobbie by the shortstop and Pfc. Pat McCarville, who walked earlier, came romping across home plate.

In another non-league contest with Ft. Mason, the LAH diamond-men recorded their second win in three tries as they stopped Ft. Mason 7-3.

Lt. Bob McNamara went the distance on the mound as Coach Sfc. Frank Cienczyk is trying to get him in shape to open play in the M.S.A. League. McNamara tired in the 7th and allowed three hits and all of Ft. Mason's scores. One of the hits was a double to drive in two runs.

Sp4 James Hanson of Letterman hit two for two and drove in two runs. The next game for the LAH nine

Record Ahead?

Nieder Readies For Biggest Toss In Pomona Meet

"If it hadn't been for the three-foot toe board, I think I would have held the record for at least one week." These words from Lt. Bill Nieder, Presidio's shotput star, about the All-Corner's meet at San Jose.

"The regulation toe board is four feet across and I feel that the shorter board was the reason why I fouled on my other throws," he said.

"My official throw was 62-9, which is the third time this year that I've won with that number. The first time was at Stanford, the second at Santa Barbara and the third at the San Jose meet."

This weekend, Lt. Nieder will compete at the Mount San Antonio Relays in Pomona, Calif. Other shotputters of note in the meet are Dallas Long, Dave Davis and Charlie Butts.

I would like to go on record as saying that Nieder will be the first to break the record and that this will be the time. He's never been more ready, plus the fact that he is consistent in his throws this year while Long fluctuates between 60 and 63 feet. (Clark)

BAD BILL BIVENS meets his match when B-Girls from the Old Frontier Saloon beat him to the draw with a bigger cannon. Gorgeous gals are (l. to r.) "Bubbles" Browning, "Rifles" Rogers, "Boojums" Bader, "Saucy" Sanders and "Peppy" Peterson. They're slated to give their all for Army Emergency Relief and the Army Relief Society at the big kickoff celebration on 2 May at the Officers' Open Mess.

Announce Major Changes In Army's Top Commanders

The President announced this week the assignment of General George H. Decker as Vice Chief of Staff of the United States Army, to succeed General Lyman L. Lemnitzer, recently named as Chief of Staff of the Army, effective 1 July 1959. General Maxwell D. Taylor will retire from the Army as Chief of Staff on 30 June.

General Decker has served as Commander-in-Chief, United Nations Command, Commander U.S. Forces, Korea, and Commanding General, Eighth U.S. Army, with station at Seoul, Korea.

It was announced that Lt. General Carter B. Magruder, Deputy Chief of Staff for Logistics since May, 1955, will succeed General Decker at Seoul effective 1 July. General Magruder was nominated by the President for promotion to General.

General James E. Moore, Deputy Chief of Staff for Military Operations since last June, was named by the President to succeed General C. V. R. Schuyler as Chief of Staff, Supreme Headquarters, Allied Powers, Europe. General Schuyler, who has served as Chief of Staff at SHAPE since July, 1953, will retire from the Army, effective 31 October. He was also nominated by the President to be placed on the Retired List in the grade of General.

Wins AAD Talent Test

Specialist Fifth Class John L. Jones won first place in the Sixth Army Air Defense Talent Contest on the 15th of April. Sp. 5 Jones won over three other finalists, playing his own arrangement of "Jazbo." He has been playing the sax and guitar throughout most of his school and Army life. Jones has been winning contests in the Army for some time now. He started with the 1956 Army talent Contest in Europe. Last year he won the 5th Army Talent Contest. Earlier this year he won the 40th Artillery Brigade contest. SP. 5 Jones will go on to the 6th Army Area contest at Fort Ord early in May.

AER Campaign Ready For Big Kickoff Here

This year's joint annual fund campaign of the Army Emergency Relief (AER) and the Army Relief Society (ARS) will be off to a good start in this area.

Sixth Army Commander, Lieutenant General Charles D. Palmer, has stated, "This campaign is conducted with a two-fold objective in mind. First, to provide Army personnel the opportunity to contribute the funds necessary to permit both organizations to continue their operations without incurring an annual deficit, and second, to reappraise and acquaint military personnel and their families of the assistance available to them when faced with a financial emergency.

"Unfortunately, disaster may strike any of us at any time. By contributing to this campaign to sustain these organizations in sound financial condition, we provide the most effective means of aiding each other in such times of need.

"In the 1958 campaign, personnel of this Army area supported these two organizations to an extent that more than met our goal. I am confident that this success will be repeated in this new campaign into which we are about to enter for 1959."

The Presidio Officers' Open Mess will open their campaign with a "Frontier Night" on Saturday evening, 2 May, 1959. Starting with the "Happy Hour" at 1800, many interesting events are planned. The proceeds of the evening will go to the Joint campaign.

The Presidio Service Club No. 2 will hold a Carnival and Dance on 5 May, 1959 and the Presidio Service Club No. 2 will do likewise on 14 May, 1959.

A Hole-in-One Tournament will be held at the Golf Club for four days, 26, 27, 30, 31 May. The charge will be $1.00 per shot and prizes will consist of certificates of $25.00, $15.00, and $10.00, good at the Pro Golf Shop or the Post Exchange. Profits will also swell the campaign contributions.

The NCO Open Mess is planning several affairs, the proceeds of which will be turned over to the Joint campaign. Inclusive dates of the local campaign will be 1 May through 10 June, 1959.

Retirement, Decorations Ceremonies Set Today

Eight men will be honored today during retirement and decoration ceremonies at 1600 on the main parade ground. Retiring will be Col. William Ball, Lt. Col. William J. Gannon, Lt. Col. Frederick B. Judson, Capt. Anderson N. Coburn, M. Sgt. Frank S. Clewett and M/Sgt. Harry E. Rice.

Assistant Inspector General for the Sixth Army, Col. Ball, who has over 30 years' service, attended the basic and advanced Officer Courses at the Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga., and served with the Ground Forces Training Center at Fontainebleau, France.

Born in Mexico City, Mex., Lt. Col. Judson has completed more than 20 years of service, attended the Command and General Staff School at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., on 28-29 April. The meeting is being sponsored by the Civil Service Commission, with the Office of Naval Research acting as host agency.

Prominent scientists from Government, industry, and universities will discuss problems involved in recruiting and keeping high-quality personnel for engineering and scientific programs in Federal laboratories and installations throughout the country.

Keynote speaker at a dinner meeting opening the conference will be Richard E. Horner, Assistant Secretary of the Air Force for Research and Development, who will talk on "Competition for Quality." Rocco C. Siciliano, Assistant to the President for Personnel Management, and Roger W. Jones, Chairman of the Civil Service Commission, will speak, and Rear Adm. Rawson Bennett, Chief of Naval Research, will be toastmaster.

Scientific leaders scheduled to address the conference include Dr. James R. Killian, Jr., Special Assistant to the President for Science and Technology; Dr. Ralph D. Bennett, Manager of General Electric's Vallecitos Atomic Laboratory, and Dr. C. G. Suits, Vice President, General Electric Company.

Seven Win Awards

For sustained superior service as civilian employees of the United States Army, seven women recently received Army Length of Service Emblems.

The awards were presented to Marion C. Valentine, Alice P. Hindley, Helen Miskimin, Hermina Lee, Carrie L. Stone, Grace H. Dyer, and T. N. Diesthorst, by Maj. Gen. E. J. McGaw, Commander of the Sixth Region, U. S. Army Air Defense Command.

Law Day Plans Set

"Law Day, U.S.A." will be observed here 1 May 1959. Mr. Clarence H. Linn, Chief Assistant Attorney General (Criminal Division) of the State of California will be the keynote speaker. His subject will be, "Law, the Necessity of an Orderly Society."

The address will be delivered twice, at 1100 and 1330 hours, in the Post Theatre. Military and civilian personnel are urged to attend. It is requested that section chiefs permit half of their personnel to attend each meeting, to insure seating capacity for all.

A luncheon will be held at 1200 hours at the Presidio Officers' Open Mess, attended by military and civilian legal personnel from Headquarters, Sixth U.S. Army, Letterman Army Hospital, the Presidio of San Francisco, Fort Mason, and the Sixth Region, U.S. Army Air Defense Command.

A display of crime detection equipment will be presented by the Sixth U.S. Army Provost Marshal Investigation Division in the lobby of the Post Theatre.

Minute Editorial

Troop Information, in whatever form, is the voice of the commander expressing facts, his judgment of facts, and his viewpoint on specific issues.

Responsibility for dissemination of TI should be delegated sparingly and judiciously, and its execution carefully supervised.

The extent of understanding by his men and their attitude toward TI objectives is a direct reflection on the commander.

ARMY INFLATOPLANE made its public debut at the World Congress of Flight in Las Vegas last week. The 295-pound all-rubber craft can be unpacked, inflated with air and ready for flight within six minutes. It affords a variety of uses such as reconnaissance, observation and difficult rescue.

New Inflatoplane Seen At Congress Of Flight

A 295-pound all-rubber airplane which can be unpacked, inflated with air and ready for flight within six minutes was put through its paces during the first World Congress of Flight, Las Vegas, Nevada, last week.

Goodyear Aircraft is under contract to produce a number of Inflatoplanes for field evaluation by both the Army and the Navy. The services are interested in the craft from liaison, reconnaissance, observation and rescue standpoints.

Compact packaging and light weight of the Inflatoplane make it extremely well-suited for all types of Army field operations. The packaged plane can be transported in a truck, jeep trailer or aircraft (then airdropped) and handled with ease.

Any ground unit, a line outfit in particular, can employ the rubber craft to good advantage. For example, a convoy or tank column, or even more ideally, a recon company, could have aerial reconnaissance with it at all times, suffering no sacrifice in maneuverability.

Pumped up, the all-rubber craft is 19.2 feet long and has a 28-foot wing span. Supplied by an 18-gallon fuel tank, a 60 horsepower engine powers it. Cruising speed is 55 miles per hour, maximum speed 70 mph. Service ceiling is 6,500 feet. The plane can fly 5.4 hours without refueling.

In-flight inflation characteristics of the two-place Inflatoplane compare to its famed one-place predecessor craft (introduced in 1956) with a single exception—

22 Chabot Nikemen Join AUSA Membership Drive

Major General Edward J. McGaw, Commanding General of 6th Region ARADCOM, yesterday praised the men of the Lake Chabot Battery Nike site for their enthusiastic support of the Association of the United States Army.

The battery recently broke a record when twenty-two men applied for membership in the East Bay Chapter of the Association.

In welcoming the new members into the Association, General McGaw cited them for exhibiting "a fine example of the teamwork which characterizes the Army Air Defense Command."

The Association is the only organization representing all branches, services, and components of the Army. Its primary objectives are to contribute its full resources and capabilities to advancing the security of the United States and to consolidate the efforts of all who support the Army as an indispensable instrument of national security.

The new members are Warrant

Officers Oliver Adams, Robert F. Stover; Master Sergeants James P. Lumley, Robert E. Coppins, Arthur M. Rodriguez; Sergeants First Class Clarkson E. Green, James M. Estell, Dwight F. Barnes, Clayton W. Currid; Specialists 5th Class Alfred Rothschilder, John E. Sutton; Sergeants Thomas H. Medlin, Charles Castro, Jr., Carl Brown, Bobbie M. Johnson, Willard M. Nyburg; Specialists Fourth Class James A. Loveday, John Stephen Landy, Jimmie D. Kilts; Privates First Class Clarence A. Stillwell, Junior Lee Waters, and Alvis B. Parris.

The Lake Chabot Battery Site, designated "A" Battery, 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery, is located near Castro Valley on the hills overlooking Oakland.

Civil Service Sets New Training Regs For Employees

Federal agencies now have authority to permit their employees to accept from non-Government sources payment of expenses incurred in attending professional meetings as well as certain contributions and awards in connection with out-service training. The Civil Service Commission pointed out that these authorities are spelled out in its new regulations issued under the Government Employees Training Act and are included in a new training chapter in the Federal Personnel Manual.

When conditions stated in the regulations are met, a professional organization may finance the expenses of a Government employee it invites to a meeting. Also, nonprofit organizations may pay training expenses of employees through contributions or through awards such as the Rockefeller Public Service Awards.

The regulations also reflect the authority delegated by the President to CSC to make exceptions to certain provisions in the Act. For example, although the law generally prohibits payment of night differential pay during training, CSC has determined that workers who are trained during a regular night tour may continue to receive their night differential pay while being trained.

CSC has used powers provided in the Act to waive certain statutory limitations on out-service training. One such waiver permits agencies to authorize employees in critical shortage categories to take training during their first year of service.

Play Tryouts Set

Tryouts and readings will be held by the Presidio Players on Wednesday, 29 April at Bldg. 117 at 2000 hours. The next production will be chosen from the following plays. "Harvey," by Mary Chase; "The Curious Savage," by John Patrick, and "Death of a Salesman," by Arthur Miller. All military, dependents and civilian employees are welcome to try out.

CDEC Tests New Lightweight, High Velocity Weapons

The Army Combat Development Experimentation Center is engaged in a lightweight high velocity rifle experiment to compare the relative effectiveness of variously organized rifle squads armed with the M-14 rifle, the Winchester and .222 caliber Armalite lightweight high velocity rifles, and to determine the impact of this rifle system on squad organization, fire techniques and logistics.

Objectives of the experiment are being accomplished through employment of variously organized rifle squads in daylight and night attacks, night position defense missions, and in using various squad sizes, techniques of fire and weapon systems.

The experiment is conducted in multiple phases. The first requires the rifle squad to negotiate two transition type ranges in offensive action. Defense phases require the squad to establish a defense against a simulated assaulting enemy during daylight, hours of darkness, and during daylight using automatic fire only.

Toastmasters Hold First Meeting; Elect Officers

The newly formed Toastmaster's Club held its first meeting and elections Monday at the Presidio Officers' Open Mess. Elected to temporary offices were: Les Scanlon, Chairman; Capt. Elmer Hassett, Treasurer; George Caselli, Secretary.

The first meeting held the interest of the members with a "Table Topics" discussion, won by Lt. Col. G. L. O'Brien. Taking part in the contest were: Lt. Col. W. W. Black, Stanley Brenner, Col. Elmer Burns, and Herbert Hockley. Participating also were: Capt. Harrison Kinney, Lt. Hugh McCleary, Walter Morrow, and Col. Frank G. Ratliff.

The club will meet on Mondays between 1130 and 1315. Les Scanlon, Civilian Personnel Officer, stated that the regular Toastmaster meetings would not exceed one hour and forty-five minutes and that one hour of this time would be credited to the executive development program.

"Chicken Tetrazzini" was invented in San Francisco to honor the world famous opera singer, Luisa Tetrazzini, who for many years sang Christmas carols at Lotta's Fountain.

First Four Complete New Management Study Here

Col. M. M. Brown, Post Commander Presidio of San Francisco, this week presented certificates to the first four individuals to complete the Work Simplification Course.

They are Col. Conrad T. Kvam, Post Dental Surgeon; Lt. Col. Charles F. Helderman, Jr., Post Provost Marshal; Capt. Robert N. Anderson, Chief of Confinement Division, Post Provost Marshal, and Mr. Harry Hersh of the Self-Service Supply Center.

All students of the course are required to complete a Supervisor's Handbook and submit an installable work simplification proposal in order to receive credit for the course.

In presenting the certificates, Col. Brown commended the four supervisors for their management improvement suggestions which helped the command exceed its goal of $100,000 in savings and benefits generated by the management improvement program during the quarter ending 31 March.

In content, the work simplification course is a program to impart skill in the use of five techniques. These techniques are—(1) The work distribution chart. (2) The flow process chart. (3) The work count. (4) Motion economy. (5) Layout studies.

Morse Named Head Of Army Research

Washington (ANS) — Appointment of Richard S. Morse as Director of Research and Development of the U. S. Army was announced this week by Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Bucker.

Mr. Morse, founder and president of National Research Corporation, Cambridge, Massachusetts, for 19 years, will take over his new duties June 1. He succeeds Dr. William H. Martin, who has held the Army post since its establishment in 1955 and whose resignation was recently announced.

Mr. Morse will be responsible for supervision of the Army Research and Development Program with authority and responsibility within the field of Research and Development equivalent to an Assistant Secretary of the Army, according to Secretary Bucker.

kaleidoscope

A pair of displaced Texans currently exiled to California and the Army in general, the Presidio in particular, are bearing up very well in their present circumstances.

"Of course, we've taken on five natives to help us stand the stress and strain of being away from the 'land of the biggest and best,'" says 2nd Lt. Robert Hartsfield.

The natives that the Hartsfields, Thelma and Bob, have drawn into their family circle are cats, a mother and four kittens, but plans have been made for a more personal addition in the fall.

"We're happy to announce that there'll be a little Hartsfield kicking around some time in October," says Thelma.

"Of course, it might be more than one," added Bob. "My wife does everything big, like most Texans. You know even back home she wasn't satisfied being good in one thing, she had to be terrific in a number. While she was home in Houston, she was girls' diving champion. Then she started traveling around the state, and that's a heap of traveling, to compete in more and more diving events. She won the Tyler, Texas, meet and then started swimming for the Shamrock Hotel swimming team.

"When she went to college she majored in art, and was graduated with high honors, I might add. She was so good that she started teaching the subject," Bob said. "She's doing that right now, at the Katherine Delmar Burke School for Girls."

"I think that she's one of the best painters I've ever seen," he added.

"Oh I don't know about that!" Thelma cut in, "I've been kinda lazy, more a teacher than a painter."

"My career is going to be that of a mother, not a painter. I believe that being a mother is a full time job."

"I'm kinda nervous about this father bit in October," Bob put in. "Oh don't worry about that dear, I always was the housewife type," was his answer.

They both agree that first they'd like to have one son and one daughter, "after that depends on what happens." As Bob put it, "I always did picture myself as a family man."

Lt. Hartsfield entered the service in 1957 after receiving his commission as a 2nd Lieutenant. He was first assigned to Fort Belvoir, where he graduated from the Officers Basic Engineers Course. His first assignment was right here with the 561st Engineers. Bob said that after this hitch was up, "I plan to go back to school for more graduate work. I'm hoping to attend either University of Penn. or Harvard."

"Bob has already designed some things for professional purposes," Thelma stated. "He designed a fraternity house for the University of Texas."

"You know, he was also a track and tennis man in college, on top of everything else he did. To me, he's a pretty alright guy," she added. "We've only been married two and one half years now," Thelma put in, "but . . ."

"But to us it's seemed like just two and one half months," Bob finished for her. Thelma just smiled at him.

ARMY INFLATOPLANE made its public debut at the World Congress of Flight in Las Vegas last week. The 295-pound all-rubber craft can be unpacked, inflated with air and readied for flight within six minutes. It affords a variety of uses such as reconnaissance, observation and difficult rescue.

New Inflatoplane Seen At Congress Of Flight

A 295-pound all-rubber airplane which can be unpacked, inflated with air and readied for flight within six minutes was put through its paces during the first World Congress of Flight, Las Vegas, Nevada, last week.

Goodyear Aircraft is under contract to produce a number of Inflatoplanes for field evaluation by both the Army and the Navy. The services are interested in the craft from liaison, reconnaissance, observation and rescue standpoints.

Compact packaging and light weight of the Inflatoplane make it extremely well-suited for all types of Army field operations. The packaged plane can be transported in a truck, jeep trailer or aircraft (then air-dropped) and handled with ease.

Any ground unit, a line outfit in particular, can employ the rubber craft to good advantage. For example, a convoy or tank column, or even more ideally, a recon company, could have aerial reconnaissance with it at all times, suffering no sacrifice in maneuverability.

Pumped up, the all-rubber craft is 19.2 feet long and has a 28-foot wing span. Supplied by an 18-gallon fuel tank, a 60 horsepower engine powers it. Cruising speed is 55 miles per hour, maximum speed 70 mph. Service ceiling is 6,500 feet. The plane can fly 5.4 hours without refueling.

In-flight inflation characteristics of the two-place Inflatoplane compare with its famed one-place predecessor craft (introduced in 1956) with a single exception—

22 Chabot Nikemen Join AUSA Membership Drive

Major General Edward J. McGaw, Commanding General of 6th Region ARADCOM, yesterday praised the men of the Lake Chabot Battery Nike site for their enthusiastic support of the Association of the United States Army.

The battery recently broke a record when twenty-two men applied for membership in the East Bay Chapter of the Association.

In welcoming the new members into the Association, General McGaw cited them for exhibiting "a fine example of the teamwork which characterizes the Army Air Defense Command."

The Association is the only organization representing all branches, services, and components of the Army. Its primary objectives are to contribute its full resources and capabilities to advancing the security of the United States and to consolidate the efforts of all who support the Army as an indispensable instrument of national security.

The new members are Warrant

Officers Oliver Adams, Robert F. Stover; Master Sergeants James P. Lumley, Robert E. Coppin, Arthur M. Rodriguez; Sergeants First Class Clarkson E. Green, James M. Estell, Dwight F. Barnes, Clayton W. Currid; Specialists 5th Class Alfred Rothschilder, John E. Sutton; Sergeants Thomas H. Medlin, Charles Castro, Jr., Carl Brown, Bobbie M. Johnson, Willard M. Nyburg; Specialists Fourth Class James A. Loveday, John Stephen Landy, Jimmie D. Kilts; Privates First Class Clarence A. Stillwell, Junior Lee Waters, and Alvis B. Parris.

The Lake Chabot Battery Site, designated "A" Battery, 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery, is located near Castro Valley on the hills overlooking Oakland.

Civil Service Sets New Training Regs For Employees

Federal agencies now have authority to permit their employees to accept from non-Government sources payment of expenses incurred in attending professional meetings as well as certain contributions and awards in connection with out-service training. The Civil Service Commission pointed out that these authorities are spelled out in its new regulations issued under the Government Employees Training Act and are included in a new training chapter in the Federal Personnel Manual.

When conditions stated in the regulations are met, a professional organization may finance the expenses of a Government employee it invites to a meeting. Also, nonprofit organizations may pay training expenses of employees through contributions or through awards such as the Rockefeller Public Service Awards.

The regulations also reflect the authority delegated by the President to CSC to make exceptions to certain provisions in the Act. For example, although the law generally prohibits payment of night differential pay during training, CSC has determined that workers who are trained during a regular night tour may continue to receive their night differential pay while being trained.

CSC has used powers provided in the Act to waive certain statutory limitations on out-service training. One such waiver permits agencies to authorize employees in critical shortage categories to take training during their first year of service.

Play Tryouts Set

Tryouts and readings will be held by the Presidio Players on Wednesday, 29 April at Bldg. 117 at 2000 hours. The next production will be chosen from the following plays: "Harvey," by Mary Chase; "The Curious Savage," by John Patrick; and "Death of a Salesman," by Arthur Miller. All military, dependents and civilian employees are welcome to try out.

CDEC Tests New Lightweight, High Velocity Weapons

The Army Combat Development Experimentation Center is engaged in a lightweight high velocity rifle experiment to compare the relative effectiveness of variously organized rifle squads armed with the M-14 rifle, the Winchester and .222 caliber ArmaLite lightweight high velocity rifles, and to determine the impact of this rifle system on squad organization, fire techniques and logistics.

Objectives of the experiment are being accomplished through employment of variously organized rifle squads in daylight and night attacks, night position defense missions, and in using various squad sizes, techniques of fire and weapon systems.

The experiment is conducted in multiple phases. The first requires the rifle squad to negotiate two transition type ranges in offensive action. Defense phases require the squad to establish a defense against a simulated assaulting enemy during daylight, hours of darkness, and during daylight using automatic fire only.

Toastmasters Hold First Meeting; Elect Officers

The newly formed Toastmaster's Club held its first meeting and elections Monday at the Presidio Officers' Open Mess. Elected to temporary offices were: Les Scanlon, Chairman; Capt. Elmer Hassett, Treasurer; George Caselli, Secretary.

The first meeting held the interest of the members with a "Table Topics" discussion, won by Lt. Col. G. L. O'Brien. Taking part in the contest were: Lt. Col. W. W. Black, Stanley Brenner, Col. Elmer Burns, and Herbert Hockley. Participating also were: Capt. Harrison Kinney, Lt. Hugh McClellan, Walter Morrow, and Col. Frank G. Ratliff.

The club will meet on Mondays between 1130 and 1315. Les Scanlon, Civilian Personnel Officer, stated that the regular Toastmaster meetings would not exceed one hour and forty-five minutes and that one hour of this time would be credited to the executive development program.

First Four Complete New Management Study Here

Col. M. M. Brown, Post Commander Presidio of San Francisco, this week presented certificates to the first four individuals to complete the Work Simplification Course.

They are Col. Conrad T. Kvam, Post Dental Surgeon; Lt. Col. Charles F. Helderman, Jr., Post Provost Marshal; Capt. Robert N. Anderson, Chief of Confinement Division, Post Provost Marshal, and Mr. Harry Hersh of the Self-Service Supply Center.

All students of the course are required to complete a Supervisor's Handbook and submit an installable work simplification proposal in order to receive credit for the course.

In presenting the certificates, Col. Brown commended the four supervisors for their management improvement suggestions which helped the command exceed its goal of $100,000 in savings and benefits generated by the management improvement program during the quarter ending 31 March.

In content, the work simplification course is a program to impart skill in the use of five techniques. These techniques are—(1) The work distribution chart. (2) The flow process chart. (3) The work count. (4) Motion economy. (5) Layout studies.

"Chicken Tetrazzini" was invented in San Francisco to honor the world famous opera singer, Luisa Tetrazzini, who for many years sang Christmas carols at Lotta's Fountain.

kaleidoscope

A pair of displaced Texans currently exiled to California and the Army in general, the Presidio in particular, are bearing up very well in their present circumstances.

"Of course, we've taken on five natives to help us stand the stress and strain of being away from the 'land of the biggest and best,'" says 2nd Lt. Robert Hartsfield.

The natives that the Hartsfields, Thelma and Bob, have drawn into their family circle are cats, a mother and four kittens, but plans have been made for a more personal addition in the fall.

"We're happy to announce that there'll be a little Hartsfield kicking around some time in October," says Thelma.

"Of course, it might be more than one," added Bob. "My wife does everything big, like most Texans. You know even back home she wasn't satisfied being good in one thing, she had to be terrific in a number. While she was home in Houston, she was girls' diving champion. Then she started traveling around the state, and that's a heap of traveling, to compete in more and more diving events. She won the Tyler, Texas, meet and then started swimming for the Shamrock Hotel swimming team.

"When she went to college she majored in art, and was graduated with high honors, I might add. She was so good that she started teaching the subject," Bob said, "She's doing that right now, at the Katherine Delmar Burke School for Girls."

"I think that she's one of the best painters I've ever seen," he added.

"Oh I don't know about that!" Thelma cut in, "I've been kinda lazy, more a teacher than a painter."

"My career is going to be that of a mother, not a painter. I believe that being a mother is a full time job."

"I'm kinda nervous about this father bit in October," Bob put in. "Oh don't worry about that dear, I always was the housewife type," was his answer.

What does director John Huston consider his best movie? . . . he names the combat film "San Pietro" which he made for the Army during WWII. . . . it's been re-edited for showing on the TV "Big Picture" series, and Huston will introduce it.

You've got to draw the line somewhere. . . . in this case it's Edwards AFB, Calif., which has a new arrival in Capt. Robert L. Mosley, better known as assistant cartoonist to brother Jack, creator of "Smilin' Jack". . . . he's enrolled in the Experimental Flight Test Pilot School.

Eddie Arnold and Pee Wee King have both waxed "Unbreakable Heart," ditty by a Camp Lejeune, N. C., Marine, PFC Richard F. Haynes. . . . the 24-year-old composer describes it as "sophisticated rock and roll."

Sixth Army troops are giving a warm hand to Peggy King, former vocalist with the George Gobel TV romp. . . . she did three shows at Ft. Lewis, Wash., recently and got a rousing reception.

Tops in Pops . . . On the "Billboard" magazine Honor Roll of Hits the lead spot has been captured by "Come Softly to Me" (Fleetwoods), nosing "Venus" (Frankie Avalon) into second place. "Pink Shoe Laces" by Dodie Stevens is the third favorite. The others: "Never Be Anyone Else But You" (Ricky Nelson); "It's Just a Matter of Time" (Brook Benton); "Charlie Brown" (Coasters); "Tragedy" (Thomas Wayne); "I Need Your Love Tonight" (Elvis Presley); "Guitar Boogie Shuffle" (Virtues) and "A Fool Such as I" (Presley).

movie round-up

BERNARDINE—(F) (Color), Pat Boone, Terry Moore, Janet Gaynor, Ronnie Burns, Dean Jagger. Teenagers, who have been pictured in so many recent films as knife-wielding, hot rodding delinquents, will find themselves more broadly and favorably represented in this warm, light-hearted comedy about a group of high school seniors in the throes of growing up. No. 1—Today.

FACE OF A FUGITIVE—(F) (Color), Fred MacMurray, Lin McCarthy. MacMurray is cast as a fugitive from justice who has always stood alone against the world. Unloved and unloving, he even resents the ill-fated attempt of his younger brother to help him escape from the law. No. 1—Tomorrow.

SOME LIKE IT HOT—(M), Marilyn Monroe, Tony Curtis, Jack Lemmon. Two jazz musicians (male) become involved in a gangland killing in the 1920's and are forced to flee and conceal their identities by posing as members of an all-girl orchestra in Florida. What variety of complications "girls" like Curtis and Lemmon could get into in a situation like this, you shouldn't leave to your imagination, you wouldn't do these two waxes justice. No. 1—Sunday and Monday; No. 3—Wednesday; No. 4—Thursday.

THE INN OF THE SIXTH HAPPINESS—(F) (Color), Ingrid Bergman, Curt Jurgens. In this biographical film, a courageous woman travels to China; alone and without friends or outside help, sets up as a missionary in a remote village where her devotion and humanity are inspiring to all who come in contact with her. No. 1—Tuesday; No. 3—Friday.

FLOODS OF FEAR—(M), Howard Keel, Ann Haywood. From a suspense loaded Saturday Evening Post serial, this is the story of three convicts who escape custody when they are pressed into helping during a flood disaster. In his brief period of freedom, one of the escapees gains a pardon when he dramatically establishes his innocence. No. 1—Wednesday.

THE HANGMAN—(M), Robert Taylor, Tina Louise, Fess Parker. A cold-blooded, relentless marshal whose stubborn adherence to the letter of the law leaves no loophole for humanity opposes a sheriff with a heart who must work with the marshal to apprehend a man wanted for murder. No. 1—Thursday.

GREEN MANSIONS—Reviewed last week. No. 3—Monday; No. 4—Tuesday.

THE ROOTS OF HEAVEN—Reviewed last week. No. 4—Sunday.

Trout Season To Open Next Saturday

HAPPY ANTICIPATION lights the faces of prospective trout fisherboys David and Gean Smotkin, sons of 1st Lt. Bernie Smotkin, XV Corps, as they ready for a try at Rodeo Lagoon, Ft. Cronkhite. California Fish & Game recently stocked the lagoon with keeper-size trout. Season is slated to open here 2 May.

LAH Fencers Second In Open Sabre Try

The LAH-PSF fencers came out second best against their old rivals, Pannonia Athletic Club, in the Norcal Open Sabre Team Championship this week.

It was a replay of last year's match with the contest centered around the two Pannonia teams and the Letterman-Presidio Sabre squads. In the final rounds the No. 1 Pannonia team took first and the LAH team took second. The No. 2 Pannonia team finished third and the combined LAH-PSF team finished fourth. Along with their second place the LAH fencers were awarded silver medals and also qualified for the U.S. Nationals.

The Letterman fencers were Col. Laurance Brownlee, Lt. Eugene Hardy, Jr., M/Sgt. Severo Pasol and Mr. Karl Dorman. The combined team members were Capt. William Coleman, M/Sgt. Bert Sheek and Mr. Ed Purdy.

The combined team only had three members and were handicapped four points automatically each round that they entered. "With the shortage they had, they are to be congratulated on their fine showing," said Coach Bill O'Brien.

The outstanding event of the match was the bout between Mr. Daniel Magay, U.S. National Sabre Champion and former member of the Hungarian Olympic team, and Col. Laurance Brownlee of the Presidio. Col. Brownlee fenced superbly to defeat Magay.

Army Volleyball Stars First In Wichita Open

The Interservice Trials to determine the champion service volleyball squad is currently in progress at Hamilton Air Force Base. The winning team will be the nucleus of a squad picked to enter the AAU Volleyball Tournament and the U.S. Nationals. Teams playing for the title are the Army, Navy and Air Force All-Star teams.

The Army team was chosen at Ft. Riley where the Army try-outs were conducted. Team members from the Presidio and 6th Region are Pfc. Len Kaczmarek, Pfc. Allen Kincaid, Sgt. Dave Rhem and M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio.

While still at Ft. Riley, the All-Army team entered the Wichita Open Volleyball Tournament and

A Btry Dominates 4th Msl. Bowling

The two-day bowling tournament held to determine the seven best keg artists in the 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, has been completed. The tournament was held at the Presidio bowling alleys. "A" Btry, nearly monopolized the entire affair, as they posted five of the seven men on the team. Men from "A" Btry are: Sp4 Michael A. Luchs, M/Sgt. Gordon L. Sankey, Sfc. Alfred R. Luce, CWO James Lee and Pfc. Henry M. Lund. The other members of the team are: Pfc. John P. Sadler of "C" Btry, and Sfc. Julian R. Walkley of Hq. and Hq. Btry. Walkley is also the team captain.

The men selected will compete in the 30th Group tournament held on the Fort Scott alley 30th April and 1, 2 May. Winners there will go on to the 40th Brigade tournament at the Oakland Army Terminal alleys on 4-7 May to determine the seven representatives to compete in the 6th Region Bowling Championship.

Rodeo Lagoon Stocked; No Boats Available

Trout. That succulent fresh water fish will be the bill-of-fare on many a table after opening day, 2 May. Presidians will catch their share of the wily creature if they make a date to head for Rodeo Lagoon at Ft. Cronkhite on opening day.

Regional Fisheries Supt. Bill Evans of the Dept. of Fish and Game said that the lagoon will be amply stocked with "catchable sized Rainbows" prior to opening day. Just to be on the safe side it would be advisable to include a ruler or some measuring device in the tackle box.

Anyone dipping his line in the water should have at least three articles in his possession. (1) A California State fishing license, (2) a military permit to fish on a military reservation, and (3) some sort of device to catch the fish, legally.

The military permits are an absolute necessity and are issued at the Provost Marshal's Office, Bldg. 558. Last year there was a misunderstanding on the part of some anglers that caused a few heated words. This year there should be no problem but to insure this Lt. Col. Charles F. Helderman, Post Provost Marshal, will have Military Police on hand to issue the permits at the guard station, before entering the Ft. Barry tunnel. This will be a courtesy service and will be available only on 2-3 May weekend. Anglers are requested to pick up their permits early and avoid the rush on opening day.

For those who have no equipment, the Post Special Services have poles that may be borrowed. Put in an early reservation as the supply is limited and there will probably be none available for the late-comers.

Boats will be allowed on the lake but there are no boats available from the military. Any venture of the sort will be a personal matter.

Record Ahead?

Nieder Readies For Biggest Toss In Pomona Meet

"If it hadn't been for the three-foot toe board, I think I would have held the record for at least one week." These words from Lt. Bill Nieder, Presidio's shotput star, about the All-Corner's meet at San Jose.

"The regulation toe board is four feet across and I feel that the shorter board was the reason why I fouled on my other throws," he said.

"My official throw was 62-9, which is the third time this year that I've won with that number. The first time was at Stanford, the second at Santa Barbara and the third at the San Jose meet."

This weekend, Lt. Nieder will compete at the Mount San Antonio Relays in Pomona, Calif. Other shotputters of note in the meet are Dallas Long, Dave Davis and Charlie Butts.

Nieder has been placed in the background by other news reporters, while Long and Parry O'Brien have been picked to break the existing record.

I would like to go on record as saying that Nieder will be the first to break the record and that this will be the time. He's never been more ready, plus the fact that he is consistent in his throws this year while Long fluctuates between 60 and 63 feet. (Clark)

LAH Softball Team Holds Edge In City Competition

The Letterman softball team kept up their win skein in City League competition by blanking the Emerald Isle nine 2-0. Letterman had their two runs on five hits and played errorless ball.

Sgt. Al Snay, star twirler for the LAH team, started the game and allowed only two hits while striking out 15 batters and walking only four. Lt. Bob McNamara came into the game in the last inning to retire the side after Snay walked two men.

McNamara and Sp4 Charles Davis both had two for three in the batting column, with one of Davis' hits a triple. Sp4 Jack Frakes singled to left field to drive in "Smiley" Gomez for one of Letterman's scores. The other came on a bobbie by the short-stop and Pfc. Pat McCarville, who walked earlier, came romping across home plate.

In another non-league contest with Ft. Mason, the LAH diamond-men recorded their second win in three tries as they stopped Ft. Mason 7-3.

Lt. Bob McNamara went the distance on the mound as Coach Sfc. Frank Cienczyk is trying to get him in shape to open play in the M.S.A. League. McNamara tired in the 7th and allowed three hits and all of Ft. Mason's scores. One of the hits was a double to drive in two runs.

Sp4 James Hanson of Letterman hit two for two and drove in two runs. The next game for the LAH nine

Announce Major Changes In Army's Top Commanders

The President announced this week the assignment of General George H. Decker as Vice Chief of Staff of the United States Army, to succeed General Lyman L. Lemnitzer, recently named as Chief of Staff of the Army, effective 1 July 1959. General Maxwell D. Taylor will retire from the Army as Chief of Staff on 30 June.

General Decker has served as Commander-in-Chief, United Nations Command, Commander U.S. Forces, Korea, and Commanding General, Eighth U.S. Army, with station at Seoul, Korea.

It was announced that Lt. General Carter B. Magruder, Deputy Chief of Staff for Logistics since May, 1955, will succeed General Decker at Seoul effective 1 July. General Magruder was nominated by the President for promotion to General.

General James E. Moore, Deputy Chief of Staff for Military Operations since last June, was named by the President to succeed General C. V. R. Schuyler as Chief of Staff, Supreme Headquarters, Allied Powers, Europe. General Schuyler, who has served as Chief of Staff at SHAPE since July, 1953, will retire from the Army, effective 31 October. He was also nominated by the President to be placed on the Retired List in the grade of General.

Wins AAD Talent Test

Specialist Fifth Class John L. Jones won first place in the Sixth Army Air Defense Talent Contest on the 15th of April. Sp. 5 Jones won over three other finalists, playing his own arrangement of "Jazbo." He has been playing the sax and guitar throughout most of his school and Army life. Jones has been winning contests in the Army for some time now. He started with the 1956 Army talent Contest in Europe. Last year he won the 5th Army Talent Contest. Earlier this year he won the 40th Artillery Brigade contest. Sp. 5 Jones will go on to the 6th Army Area contest at Fort Ord early in May.

AER Campaign Ready For Big Kickoff Here

This year's joint annual fund campaign of the Army Emergency Relief (AER) and the Army Relief Society (ARS) will be off to a good start in this area.

Sixth Army Commander, Lieutenant General Charles D. Palmer, has stated, "This campaign is conducted with a twofold objective in mind. First, to provide Army personnel the opportunity to contribute the funds necessary to permit both organizations to continue their operations without incurring an annual deficit, and second, to reappraise and acquaint military personnel and their families of the assistance available to them when faced with a financial emergency.

"Unfortunately, disaster may strike any of us at any time. By contributing to this campaign to sustain these organizations in sound financial condition, we provide the most effective means of aiding each other in such times of need.

"In the 1958 campaign, personnel of this Army area supported these two organizations to an extent that more than met our goal. I am confident that this success will be repeated in this new campaign into which we are about to enter for 1959."

The Presidio Officers' Open Mess will open their campaign with a "Frontier Night" on Saturday evening, 2 May, 1959. Starting with the "Happy Hour" at 1800, many interesting events are planned. The proceeds of the evening will go to the Joint campaign.

The Presidio Service Club No. 2 will hold a Carnival and Dance on 5 May, 1959 and the "Presidio Service Club No. 2 will do likewise on 14 May, 1959.

A Hole-in-One Tournament will be held at the Golf Club for four days, 26, 27, 30, 31 May. The charge will be $1.00 per shot and prizes will consist of certificates of $25.00, $15.00, and $10.00, good at the Pro Golf Shop or the Post Exchange. Profits will also swell the campaign contributions.

The NCO Open Mess is planning several affairs, the proceeds of which will be turned over to the Joint campaign.

Inclusive dates of the local campaign will be 1 May through 10 June, 1959.

Retirement, Decorations Ceremonies Set Today

Eight men will be honored today during retirement and decoration ceremonies at 1600 on the main parade ground. Retiring will be Col. William Ball, Lt. Col. William J. Gannon, Lt. Col. Frederick B. Judson, Capt. Anderson N. Coburn, M. Sgt. Frank S. Clewett and M/Sgt. Harry E. Rice.

Assistant Inspector General for the Sixth Army, Col. Ball, who has over 30 years' service, attended the basic and advanced Officer Courses at the Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga., and served with the Ground Forces Training Center at Fontainebleau, France.

Born in Mexico City, Mex., Lt. Col. Judson has completed more than 20 years of service, attended the Command and General Staff School at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., was assigned to the Foreign Liaison Office, G2, in the Pentagon, and was Company Commander of the Second and Third Armored Divisions during World War II.

A graduate of the University of Wisconsin, the Lt. Col. now resides in Mill Valley with his wife, Louise, and their two children.

Receiving Commendation Ribbons during today's ceremonies will be CWO Byron L. Smith, Sixth Army Band, for service as Bandmaster, Seventh Army Band, and Cpl. Edward A. Zabawa, Jr., 561st Eng. Co., for outstanding work as Section Chief, Co. B, 385th MP Det.

Bond Rally Set

A pre-campaign Savings Bond Rally will be held on Monday at 1325 in the Post Theater. Representatives and canvassers from key command groups on the Presidio will be on hand to hear plans for the upcoming drive and to view the new Bond movie, 24 Hours in Tyrantland, which stars the cast of the popular television series Father Knows Best.

Seven Win Awards

For sustained superior service as civilian employees of the United States Army, seven women recently received Army Length of Service Emblems.

The awards were presented to Marion C. Valentine, Alice P. Hindley, Helen Miskimin, Hermine Lee, Carrie L. Stone, Grace H. Dyer, and T. N. Diestelhorst, by Maj. Gen. E. J. McGaw, Commander of the Sixth Region, U.S. Army Air Defense Command.

Scientific Personnel Recruiting Problems Set For Top Study

Several hundred Federal officials concerned with the staffing needs of the Nation's No. 1 employer of engineers and scientists—the Federal Government—will meet for an all-agency Conference on Scientific Manpower in Washington, D. C., on 28-29 April. The meeting is being sponsored by the Civil Service Commission, with the Office of Naval Research acting as host agency.

Prominent scientists from Government, industry, and universities will discuss problems involved in recruiting and keeping high-quality personnel for engineering and scientific programs in Federal laboratories and installations throughout the country.

Keynote speaker at a dinner meeting opening the conference will be Richard E. Horner, Assistant Secretary of the Air Force for Research and Development, who will talk on "Competition for Quality." Rocco C. Siciliano, Assistant to the President for Personnel Management, and Roger W. Jones, Chairman of the Civil Service Commission, will speak, and Rear Adm. Rawson Bennett, Chief of Naval Research, will be toastmaster.

Scientific leaders scheduled to address the conference include Dr. James R. Killian, Jr., Special Assistant to the President for Science and Technology; Dr. Ralph D. Bennett, Manager of General Electric's Vallecitos Atomic Laboratory, and Dr. C. G. Suits, Vice President, General Electric Company.

Named Best Soldier

A multiplex operator in the 21st Engineer Photomapping Plant, Pvt. Gary M. Nakata was recently selected as the 30th Engineer Battalion Soldier of the Month. For his achievement, Pvt. Nakata received a certificate of merit, a three-day pass, and will be exempt from all duty rosters for 30 days.

Law Day Plans Set

"Law Day, U.S.A." will be observed here 1 May 1959. Mr. Clarence H. Linn, Chief Assistant Attorney General (Criminal Division) of the State of California will be the keynote speaker. His subject will be, "Law, the Necessity of an Orderly Society."

The address will be delivered twice, at 1100 and 1330 hours, in the Post Theatre. Military and civilian personnel are urged to attend. It is requested that section chiefs permit half of their personnel to attend each meeting, to insure seating capacity for all.

A luncheon will be held at 1200 hours at the Presidio Officers' Open Mess, attended by military and civilian legal personnel from Headquarters, Sixth U.S. Army, Letterman Army Hospital, the Presidio of San Francisco, Fort Mason, and the Sixth Region, U.S. Army Air Defense Command.

A display of crime detection equipment will be presented by the Sixth U.S. Army Provost Marshal Investigation Division in the lobby of the Post Theatre.

Minute Editorial

Troop Information, in whatever form, is the voice of the commander expressing facts, his judgment of facts, and his viewpoint on specific issues.

Responsibility for dissemination of TI should be delegated sparingly and judiciously, and its execution carefully supervised.

The extent of understanding by his men and their attitude toward TI objectives is a direct reflection on the commander.

One-Touch Epee Tie For Presidians In Local Competition

Letterman fencers held a One-Touch Invitational Epee Tournament at the Halberstadt Fencing Academy in San Francisco last weekend. Entries came from all of the top-flight fencing clubs in the area.

The event ended in a tie between Capt. William Coleman of Letterman and Mr. Ed Purdy representing the Presidio. Both fencers lost but two bouts in the preliminary and in the fence-off for first place Capt. Coleman won top honors. Mr. Jack Adams of Halberstadt Fencing Academy took third.

Other entrants from Letterman Army Hospital were M/Sgt. Severo Pasol and Lt. Ben Firth. From the Presidio of San Francisco was Col. Laurence Brownlee.

This weekend the LAH-PSF team once again enters the fray as they compete in the NorCal Open Epee Team Championship at the San Francisco School of Fencing. The electric epee will be used to determine winners in the final rounds.

LAH Golf Tourney Will End Next Week

Play continues in Letterman Army Hospital's annual 54-hole medal play golf tournament. Play ends on 27 April and so far only one golfer has turned in a complete score.

Col. Charles M. Faber has completed his 54 holes with a 248 score and now places the pressure on all of his opponents who have yet to finish.

Scores of players finishing 36 holes are: Maj. Frank Tarantino, 181; Lt. Col. Theodore Kiersch, 188; Capt. Earl Cramer, 190.

Scores of duffers finishing 18 holes are: Lt. Ronald Tracy, 80; Capt. Alexander Bandel, 84; Lt. Col. Herbert Richek and Capt. Frank Westerfield with 92 apiece.

Cow Homer Bullied As Toreros Flag St. Mary's

By PFC. DALE C. CLARK
Star Presidian Sports Editor

The Toreros baseball team defeated the St. Mary's nine on the St. Mary's diamond 11-10. It was a comeback win as the Toreros were down 10-3 in the top of the fifth and then came on to score four runs in the fifth and four more in the ninth.

Roger Sawyer pitched the first four innings and was replaced by Jake DeSousa, who went the rest of the game. DeSousa struck out five and allowed only one hit, as he was credited with the win, his second of the season.

Outstanding player of the game was Dale Willingham, who hit a tremendous 400-foot double. The next time he came to bat he recorded a baseball first. Dale has the dubious distinction of hitting the north end of a cow facing south at a distance of 430 feet with a batted ball. The ball cleared a short farm fence and managed to strike the bovine on the fly, creating temporary discomfort to the animal and a good deal of humor to the players involved.

In a rematch played on the USF field, the St. Mary's team leaped off to a 4-0 lead in the first inning and were never threatened again to win, 13-4.

With two out and no one on base in the first inning, a St. Mary's batsman dribbled a short grounder to second that was bobbled. The next man walked and the third hit safely to fill the bases. The next St. Mary's player rapped a line drive through to the outfield that was kicked, dropped, rolled, overthrown and kept out of play long enough for the batter to cross the plate with an inside-the-park homer.

The rest is history as Roger Sawyer replaced Ted Remington in the third and promptly relinquished a home run clout that cleared the fence at the 375-foot mark. St. Mary's batters had a field day as they scored in nearly every inning.

Sports Director Hal Fischer has taken over the coaching position in the interim and the Toreros are looking for a baseball coach. Any interested parties are urged to contact the Sports Office, Bldg. 122, or call Hal Fischer at 2282/3968.

Still Need Players

The call is still out for baseball players to compete for a position on the Presidio Toreros, Post team. Pitchers are especially needed and those wishing to try out will be accorded the "red carpet" treatment. Other positions are still wide open as no one has definitely been named to one place. Interested players should contact Hal Fischer at the Sports Office, Bldg. 122 or by dialing Ext. 2282/3968.

Mahon, Delaney Fire Top Singles; Alley Rats Ambush Shafter

In the Pacific League, the Hill-Toppers lived up to their name by topping the leading Hq. Co. 6A No. 3, 3-1. Johnson was high for the winners with 507-179. For the losers, Wolfman led, 528-205. Hq. No. 3 still leads the league by six games and with only two weeks remaining looks like a shoo-in for the title.

Retorts moved into third by tripping the Regioners, 4-0. Lo-Monaco rolled a 484 for the winners and Matticola a 419-157 for the losers.

The 30th Group took the War-rants, 3-1, with Peterson posting a 558-221. Delaney hit 555-222 for the losers.

Hq. Co. No. 2 romped over the AAA Sparks, 3-1. Zelanis was high for the winners with 518-177 and Beery led the Sparks with 536-191.

In the Wednesday Night Mixed League the leading Nikes were stopped cold by the Pickups, 3-1. Mahon posted 607-215 for the Pick-

Presidio Pistol Team 16th In Area Matches

Presidio's pistol team took a flyer to the Sixth Army Championships at Ft. Ord but returned with their wings just a little bit clipped.

Keeping the occasion from being a complete disaster was Sp4 Harry Moffet when he took second place in the .45 caliber Camp Perry Course match. This is a slow fire event with targets placed 50 yards away. His match score was 94x2, 93x2 and 97x3 for a total of 284x7. The first place winner finished with a 284x9 total, barely nosing him out.

Pfc. Tom Mulligan finished up eleventh with a 273x5. Pfc. Charles Stone placed 13th with a 269x4 followed by Pfc. Dominick Inferrera in 38th place with 247x4.

As a team the Presidians placed 16th in a field of 27 in the center-fire team match, Class B. Moffet fired a 259x3, Mulligan 246x5, Stone 236x1 and Inferrera 249x4 for a team total of 980x13.

In the .22 caliber team match, Class B the locals fared a little better as they placed 11th in the standings. Moffet fired 271x6, Stone 267x1, Inferrera a 264x5 and Mulligan 263x3.

Sgt. Arthur Beauchart competed in the Marksman class at the matches. In the .45 caliber National Match course he placed 99th with a 202x1. In the .45 caliber rapid fire match he placed 82nd with 142x1 and in the time fire portion he took 78th with 158x2.

Army, AF Name Boxers For Pan American Trials

New York (AFPS)—Four Air Force boxers fought their way to berths on the 10-man Pan American Eastern squad by winning bouts in the sectional finals held at Troy, N. Y.

They are: Tom Mathis, featherweight, Dow AFB, Maine; Ted Lawrence, light-middleweight, Suffolk County AFB, N. Y.; James Jackson, light heavy-weight, Bolling AFB, D. C.; and James Stocker, heavyweight, Goose AB, Labrador.

The Air Force leather-slingers, along with five New Yorkers and one Philadelphia fighter making up the balance of the Eastern team, move now to Madison, Wis., for the Pan American boxing finals on Apr. 28.

Meanwhile, the Army named an eight man squad which will go directly to Madison for the finals. The winners at the Wisconsin tourney will represent the U.S. in the Pan American Games at Chicago this summer.

Army boxers named were: Willa Littles, featherweight, 36th Inf.; Harry Campbell, lightweight, Seventh Army; Ed Crook, light-middleweight, Seventh Army; Robert Conrad, middleweight, Seventh Army; and Leslie Norris, light-welterweight, Ft. Riley, Kans.

Also, Leon Hall, welterweight, Ft. Benning, Ga.; Norman Chambers, bantamweight, Seventh Army; and three-time interservice champion Allen Hudson, heavyweight, Ft. Bragg, N. C.

Chambers, Crook, Conrad, Campbell and Hudson all are members of Army's Interservice Championship team.

Late Date Change

Too late to make last week's edition is the notice of a change in the swimming classes set for the LAH pool. The opening day has been changed from 11 May to 25 May and the classes will run until 12 June. Further information about the classes may be obtained by calling Sp. 5 Richard Makua at Ext. 3673.

Top Duffers Named

Top duffers in the 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty. Golf Tournament are Pvt. Darrel E. Wells of "D" Btry. and Pfc. Martin L. Wright of "B" Btry. They will advance to competition in the 30th Arty. Group and possibly the 40th Brigade tournament. Winners in the Brigade tourney will compete for honors in the 6th Region Championship, to be held at a future date.

ups and Ross had a 532-200 for the losers.

Alley Byes hauled themselves to only a half game out of third by blanking the Retorts, 4-0. Opozda hit 535-197 for the winners and Reynolds was tops for the Retorts, 582-173.

Spoilers kept in third by dropping Tyros, 3-1. Wilmoth was high with 525-192. Tyro's O'Donnell was next with 524-184.

The Cut ups waltzed through Guys and Dolls, 4-0, with Jim Lee doing the honors, 484-176. O'Brien recorded 458-166 in the losing cause.

Keystone Kops opened their lead in the Presidio League this week by pouncing on SFAADS, 3-1. Johnson of the Kops was high with 574-213 but Walkley of the losers turned in a great game with 508-204.

The Shafter in second place were ambushed by the Alley Rats this week, 3-1. Brunk of the Rats posted a 537-208 as Opozda of the losers hit 510-178.

Recruiters took four from the Islanders as they forfeited. Bolton of the Recruiters rolled for average and hit 495-186.

King Pins and 60th CI split one this week, 2-2, to do themselves no harm. Andresen of the Pins "pinned" a 549-165 on the score-sheet. Smith rolled 513-176.

G1 in the Bay Bowling League dropped JAGS, 3-1, this week and took a 20-point lead. Ross keggled 544-201 for the G1 crew as McAfee hit 509-193.

MRU coasted by Garrison, 4-0, with Andresen hitting 588-202 for the winners. Kiersztian of the losers rolled 480-192.

Triple Aces topped 6A Signal, 3-1. Blumenfield of the Aces knocked a 565-215 by the boards as Hunt keggled 499-204 for the Signalmen.

Comp-Rollers and Hq. Co. 6A split, 2-2, with Kunec of the Rollers posting 465-164. Shimada bettered this with a 495-176.

Hold Impromptu O-Day At 4th Msl Battalion

The 4th Msl. Bn. 61st Arty., at Ft. Scott, Calif., changed its name from NIKE-AJAX to NIKE-HERCULES, in an informal celebration at Battalion Headquarters. On hand to celebrate the occasion were Col. Iver A. Peterson, CO of 30th Atry. Gp. (Air Def.), Lt. Col. Curtiss M. Banks, ExO of 40th Arty. Brigade and Lt. Col. C. P. Samson, former Battalion Commander, now G1 at 6th Region Hq.

After an introductory talk by Lt. Col. Ernest J. Whitaker, CO of the 4th Msl Bn (NIKE-HERCULES) 61st Arty, cake and coffee was served in the Battalion Conference Room, followed by the presentation of a number of awards.

First and foremost was the judging of the new Battalion Crest. A sample, with description, size and colors had been sent to each Battery. It was an open contest and all men were encouraged to make a copy of the Crest in their Craft Shop. The judges of these entries were Col. Peterson, Lt. Col. Samson and Lt. Col. Banks. Sfc Harvey Bogardus, Btry C, fashioned the winning Crest and second place went to the combined efforts of Sp4 Donald Cummings and Sp4 Claudio Quesada of Btry D. Col. Peterson made the award a monetary prize for first and second place.

Col. Peterson presented Sfc J. R. Walkley, Bn Career Counselor, with the Group plaque for reenlistment achievement, having won the award three out of four quarters in 1958 and the first quarter in 1959.

Lt. Col. E. J. Whitaker, CO of 4th Msl Bn 61st Arty, presented the Battalion Achievement Award for "Best Operational Readiness" Battery to 1st Lt. Warren Buckingham, CO of Btry A at Ft. Funston; Lt. Edward Redline, CO of Btry B at Fort Scott, with the Battalion Reenlistment plaque, the best percentage for the 1st quarter of 1959; Lt. Spradlin, CO of Btry C, at Sharp Park, received the Sports Participation Award for his Battery, for the highest number of points in the first quarter.

Last, Lt. Buckingham presented his 1st Sgt. Harold Blasingame with two cash awards for his prize winning four-in-hand, Missile Necktie. This tie won 3rd place in the 6th Region contest and 1st place in the 40th Brigade.

After a pleasant two hours, guests and visitors returned to their respective duties, with their plaques and awards, while the 4th Msl Bn (NIKE-AJAX) 61st Arty signs began changing to 4th Msl Bn (NIKE-HERCULES) 61st Arty.

NG To Man Nike Sites

Battalion (Phantom Lake)—Seattle area.

This list will bring to 28 the number of Army National Guard batteries in the "on-site" missile program. Four batteries of the 720th Missile Battalion of Long Beach, California, became operational on 15 September 1958, in the air defense of the Los Angeles area. The overall program calls for the deployment of 33 battalions at 116 sites by 30 June 1962.

All 24 of the batteries scheduled to go "on site" this summer have key personnel currently training at the Army Air Defense Center at Fort Bliss, Texas. The remaining members are actually training at Nike sites under the supervision of the active Army. Final transfer of the sites from the active Army and deployment of the National Guard units will take place following two weeks of field training this summer.

National Guard missile sites are operated in much the same way as a volunteer fire department. A nucleus of full-time technicians man the equipment around the clock, keeping it in constant readiness and is capable of initiating effective fire on the enemy without additional help. The remaining members of the unit are citizen positions in their communities and keep up on their military skills by attending weekly drills with their units. In the event of an air attack, they would report immediately to their Nike sites, ready to perform their assigned mission.

Announce New Civil Service Job Openings

The following Civil Service Examinations have been announced to establish registers of candidates for possible vacancies at Federal agencies:

- Shorthand Reporter, GS-6 and GS-7, $4,490 and $4,980 p/a.
- Closed Microphone Reporter, GS-6 and GS-7, $4,490 and $4,980 p/a.

Applications will be accepted by the Director, 12th U. S. Civil Service Region, Room 128, Appraisers Building, 630 Sansome Street, San Francisco 11, Calif.

For further information, call at the Civilian Personnel Division, Bldg. 227, Presidio of San Francisco or telephone WEst 1-6111, Extension 2349.

Irish Stick Ready For Full-Scale Trial As Troop Weapon

The Shillelagh, a new lightweight surface-to-surface guided missile system for close-in support of troops is about ready for full-scale development, the Department of the Army announced this week.

The Shillelagh greatly increases firepower against armor as well as troops and field fortifications. It is expected to be operational in the mid-1960's. Vehicle mounting is one application of this system.

The contractor on the missile system is Aeronutronics Systems, Inc., of Glendale, California, a subsidiary of the Ford Motor Company. The Army will spend approximately $3,000,000 on the project in Fiscal Year 1959, but the contract is expected to run to about $23,000,000.

The Ordnance Tank-Automotive Command, Detroit, Michigan, is responsible for development of the Shillelagh.

The Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency, Redstone Arsenal, Alabama, is the contract supervisor, working under the Tank-Automotive Command.

Host Boy Scouts

Angel Island and D Battery, 2nd Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery, played host to 420 Boy Scouts and their advisers last weekend. The Scouts were taken on a tour, plus a weekend of camping and hiking. The U. S. Marine reservists provided a treat for the boys with a simulated island attack. The Boy Scouts were from the Marin County Central District.

TOP MEMBERS attending the meeting last week of the American Society for Industrial Security, Northern California Chapter, at the Presidio included (l. to r.) Dan Baker, Baker Graphic Company; Phil Schinermayer, Security Director, UC Radiation Lab; John Buckley, Security Director, Varian Associates; Bob Lawrence, Pacific G&E; Col. Rainford, Sixth U.S. Army G2; Professor Willmore Kendall, Yale; Tom O'Neil, Security Director, Stanford Research Institute; and Bob Love, Safety Director, Stanford University.

Once In A Lifetime

Chance To Attend Military Academy

In two previous articles we have described the opportunity open to Enlisted Men to attend the United States Military Academy at West Point.

This is an opportunity that comes once in a lifetime to a young man.

Books have been written and moving pictures made about the traditions of West Point. Space does not permit elaboration here. It is a way of life that is filled with interest, an opportunity to amount to something above the ordinary. It is the beginning of a life dedicated to the military service of the United States. It is a chance to establish self-respect and honor, the beginning of one of the greatest careers your country has to offer.

Applications will be received through 30 June, 1959. Successful applicants will then be transferred to the United States Military Academy Preparatory School at Belvoir, Virginia. This academy training course begins on or about 15 August and terminates in May, 1960, at which time the annual entrance examinations will be given. Students entitled to admission will then be granted leave, upon com-

Protestant Clergymen Will Meet Here Today

A San Francisco meeting of five Protestant Church dignitaries enroute to installations in the Far East and Alaska, and Protestant chaplains from the Army, Navy and Air Force in the Bay Area, will take place at a noon luncheon today, at the Presidio Officers' Open Mess, where they will discuss mutual problems confronting Armed Forces chaplains.

The visiting clergymen, representing four denominational endorsing agencies and the General Commission of Chaplains and Armed Forces Personnel are:

- The Reverend Marion J. Creeger, Methodist Executive Secretary, The General Commission on Chaplains and Armed Forces Personnel.
- The Reverend Kenneth Ahl, Executive Secretary Armed Services Commission, The Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod.
- The Reverend Albin Ray Appelquist, Secretary Christian Ministry to Servicemen, American Baptist Home Mission Society.
- The Reverend Carl M. Boyd, Director of Chaplaincy Services, Disciples of Christ.
- The Reverend John R. McLaughlin, Executive Secretary, The Methodist Commission on Chaplains.

Arrangements for the meeting were coordinated by Chaplain (Col.) H. H. Heuer, Sixth U.S. Army Chaplain, and the Reverend Mr. Creeger.

Music Week Set

Washington (ANS)—National Music Week will be observed throughout the United States, 3-10 May, 1959. Theme for this year's observance is "There's Magic in Music—Use It!"

coast at San Simeon, the largest joint Army-Navy maneuver in the continental United States since World War II.

The Palmer brothers were born in Chicago. Their maternal grandfather, Brigadier General William E. Birkhimer, was a Medal of Honor winner, a Civil War veteran and a graduate of the United States Military Academy. Their father, Charles Day Palmer, was also a West Point graduate.

Williston Palmer was graduated from the Military Academy in 1918 at the age of 19. He advanced steadily through the ranks and was promoted to four-star general in 1955. Before assuming his post in Europe, he was Vice Chief of Staff of the U. S. Army.

Charles Palmer was graduated from the Military Academy in 1924. He served in Europe during World War II and commanded the First Cavalry Division in Korea. He has been awarded the Distinguished Service Medal, the Silver Star with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Distinguished Flying Cross with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Legion of Merit with Oak Leaf Cluster and the Air Medal with twelve Oak Leaf Clusters.

He is married and has a 4-year-old son, Charles Day Palmer, III. His brother, three years his senior, is a bachelor.

Let M-60 Contract

Washington (ANS)—A contract for first commercial production of the new 7.62mm general purpose M-60 machine gun has been awarded to the Saco-Lowell Shops, Inc., of Boston, Mass., the Department of the Army announced this week.

The $2,700,000 contract, for 5,835 machine guns, concurrent spare parts and manufacturing data, will establish a mobilization base for future production of this newly-developed weapon, as well as supplying a portion of the current requirements for this gun.

This production will be in addition to the pilot-line operation now underway at the Springfield, Massachusetts, Armory.

American Revolution — Has Never Ended!

The American Revolution did not end with the cessation of hostilities, but has continued to this day. Because the American Revolution is a way of life.

That way of life is a radical departure from anything the world has seen. For the first time, the rights of the individual are protected by law. Laws guarantee the rights and freedom of the individual and laws restrain the lawmakers from infringing upon these rights. Under the doctrine of judicial supremacy, law is supreme.

The American way of government has long been the envy of the rest of the world. The people of many nations have striven to imitate our government, usually with only partial success, because they have not unrestrainedly written into their laws the ideals for which they were striving.

Chief Justice Earl Warren summed it up well when he wrote that "our legal system is woven around the freedom and dignity of the individual."

Contrast our freedom with that of the billion people living under the grim yoke of communism. Tormented by dread visions of torture chambers and concentration camps, they are condemned to live by the edicts or the whims of despots, and not by the rules of law. The individual cannot "speak his mind," nor can he maintain his dignity as an individual or appeal for rights which are not his for the asking. He has no rights, no freedom, and his life is subject to the caprices of the police state.

Founded upon law, the greatest threat to our nation, and to you as an individual, is the breakdown of our judicial system. Respect for law by each and every person is imperative. Remember, the American Revolution is still being waged. Our current increase in juvenile crime, our flagrant disregard of traffic laws, growing incidence of theft and petty crime, all are undermining our way of life.

Each and every person should take stock of himself, set a high moral pattern which will strengthen our battle lines.

Those in the Services, both civilian and military, have a greater responsibility than the average citizen—probably because more is expected of them. In the Service even the military laws are patterned upon the civilian. The Code of Military Justice not only punishes the guilty, but protects the innocent, guaranteeing civilian rights as well.

The support of every individual, military and civilian, will guarantee the continuance of our form of Government. Respect and obey all laws. Make "Law Day—U.S.A." our way of life—every day. (K.R.B.—See page 4 for Law Day roundup.)

U. S. Treasurer Here To Launch Annual Savings Bond Drive

Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, Treasurer of the United States, visited Headquarters, Sixth U.S. Army, yesterday, to touch off the 1959 Savings Bond Drive. She was greeted by Major General John J. Binns, Chief of Staff, and escorted to a "no host" luncheon at the Presidio Officers Open Mess at noontime.

Among the top personnel of the government agencies belonging to the San Francisco Federal Business Advisory Association who attended the luncheon were Mr. Newton McCarthy, State Director of Northern California Savings Bond Division, U.S. Treasury Department, and Mr. George Phillips, Regional Director of the General Services Administration and current president of the Association.

At 1400 hours, bond officers of all federal agencies joined local bond canvassers in the Presidio Post Theatre to hear an address by Mrs. Priest. The Treasurer of the United States was introduced by General Binns.

Mrs. Priest's visit was made under the auspices of the Department of Defense.

25 Nikemen Donate Blood To Needy Pair

For the second time in a month the Army has answered a plea that goes way above and beyond the call of duty. The men of "A" Btry., 45th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty., along with their commander, Lt. Warren Buckingham, read about the need for blood donors to help the two Gomez brothers. Both are victims of hemophilia, a disease where the blood fails to clot after a wound is incurred.

The Irwin Memorial Blood Bank issued a call after its supply was depleted and estimated an additional 80 pints were required before both boys would be out of danger. As in the previous case, word of the need was discovered by reading an article in the newspaper.

Lt. Buckingham spread the word and in less than an hour had 25 men standing in line to donate their blood. This was the maximum number of men that could be spared from duty and able to give blood.

The men from the Battery donating were: Lt. Ellis Lizardo, CWO Harrison Roebke, Sfc. Alfred R. Luce, Sgt. Cruze Carrillo, Sgt. Robert A. Keller, Sp4 Robert T. Hart, Sp4 Hoyt Parks, Sp4 Corey B. Chisum, Sp4 Robert D. Williams, Pfc. Jerry D. Brachman, Pfc. Frederick W. Hoahwah, Pfc. Ronald E. Ropp, Pfc. John S. Edwards, Pfc. Frederick J. Davis, Pfc. George B. Hopper, Pfc. Terry E. Smith, and Pfc. James P. Blejin.

Advance Typing Class

The public is invited to attend a class in typing. The class is offered Monday and Wednesday evenings from 7:00 to 9:00 P.M. in room 210, Polytechnic High School, Frederick and Willard Streets. This intensified course of instruction, offered without fee, will run until 4 June, 1959. Mrs. Ann Astle will enroll students in the classroom on the nights specified. This course of instruction is being offered as a public service by the San Francisco Public Schools. For further information call HEMlock 1-4899.

Derre, 'Father' Star In Pre-Campaign Bond Rally Here

A pre-campaign Savings Bond rally was held in the Presidio Post Theatre Monday, 27 April. The speaker was Mr. Arthur J. Derre, Area Manager, Savings Bond Division of the U.S. Treasury Department. Following his address, representatives and canvassers of the Savings Bond Drive reviewed the motion pictures: "The 24 Hours in Tyrantland," portrayed by the cast of the popular television series "Father Knows Best," and the film "The Bond Between Us."

Lt. General L. C. Mulvaney represented Headquarters, Sixth U.S. Army; Captain Elmer Hermus and CWO Meredith F. Hoffman from Letterman Army Hospital; CWO Wallace B. Martin from XV U.S. Army Corps (Res); and CWO Chester D. Snyder from the Presidio of San Francisco.

After a question period conducted by Mr. Derre, each command group was briefed and given packets with which they will conduct their campaign. (See editorial comment, page 2)

Add Daylight Tool

A method for using simulated daylight to help the foot soldier has recently been uncovered by the pyrotechnics laboratory at Picatinny Arsenal.

With the new method, laboratory reports have shown that it is possible to light up millions of square yards at one time, permitting continued attack after dark and providing easier observation of enemy movements at night.

"IT DOESN'T HURT, MUCH." That's what Dr. Lillian Ford and Sfc. Seth Sholly try to tell little Mark Thiroux, 5, as he and his brother Steven, 3, await their polio shots at the Post Dispensary. Current Command drive is aimed at 100% military and dependent inoculation.

Step Up Polio Campaign Seeks 100% Inoculation

Sixth U.S. Army Commander, Lt. Gen. Charles D. Palmer, has requested that installation commanders throughout the area step up their efforts to insure that all military personnel and their dependents are immunized against polio.

In a letter to installation commanders, Gen. Palmer pointed out that although good progress has been made since he first placed special emphasis on the campaign in October 1958, "there still remains much to be done to attain our objective of 100% immunization of military personnel and their dependents."

Polio shots for military personnel under age 40 are mandatory and those over 40, including dependents, are being encouraged to get their shots also. "There is no shortage of vaccine, and no age limit above six months," says Col. L. G. Thomas, Post Surgeon. "It is important, however, that immunization be given as soon as possible before the high incidence rate (polio infections) during the late summer months."

Col. Thomas also wished to remind those who have only taken their first two shots, to get back for their third. "Even if it has been some time since their second polio shot, we don't start the series over. The third shot is important no matter what the time lapse has been. Many people forget to come back during the three to six months delay between the second and third shot, and need to be reminded."

Col. Thomas stated that the Salk vaccine was effective in preventing most cases of the crippling-type polio. "Military personnel and their dependents who live in major population centers need to be reminded that a great number of people failed to get their shots during community campaigns and that the incidence of polio infection is always a threat. Besides, the shots are free and you owe it to yourself and your dependents to see that they have the advantages of every approved preventative health measure."

Regulations prevent the inoculation, except under hazardous conditions resulting from certain types of employment, of civilian personnel; however, Col. Thomas was quick to point out that the vaccine is easily available to the family doctor. "Paving for the polio protection of this proven vaccine is the cheapest insurance you can buy for yourself and your family."

If you haven't gotten your "polio insurance" yet, there's no time like the present. Take your family and yourself to the dispensary today.

Some Thoughts On

Canned Speakers

Meetings, rallies, conferences, call them what you may, most are a terrible bore. Generally the theme has little personal identification, the slogan is juvenile, and the speaker . . . well, the speaker is canned.

Canned. You know, ready made. After his opening lines you're convinced he's given this same talk a million times. He's become bored with it, you're soon to be, and the end result is—no sale.

Knowing these things, most of us prepare for the worst when asked to attend any such get-together. So, when the speaker is convincing, the supporting materials solid, and the presentation imaginative, we're not just pleasantly surprised—we're stunned.

Such a meeting was the pre-campaign Savings Bond rally at the Post Theater on Monday. Arthur J. Derré, Area Manager, Savings Bond Division, Treasury Department, keynoted the meeting. He was articulate, sincere and convincing; however, the star of the show was a 30-minute film entitled "24 Hours in Tyrantland" and starring the cast of the popular television series "Father Knows Best."

Produced, directed and written by the same pros that regularly turn out the Emmy award winner, this feature, if properly exhibited, should sale more Savings Bonds than B.B. or M.M. could on a personal appearance tour.

Here's a formula for Savings Bond representatives who want to get a quick 100% response from their units: Mix two parts of a convincing speaker with one good projectionist and a comfortable viewing room; add "24 Hours in Tyrantland" and relax. Following film add two attractive persons with sign-up slips at the back of the room and you're guaranteed to produce an "outstanding participation" or "goal exceeded" report. (See photo above.)

Soldiers' Own

Your Personal Gift

"Charity begins at home."

There is still a great deal of truth in this old saying and during the next few weeks—1 May-10 June—soldiers at the Presidio and its subposts will be out to support their favorite charity—themselves.

Army Emergency Relief and the Army Relief Society, the only organizations devoted solely to helping the soldier and his family in financial need, will seek to raise $5,167.00 here. This is 85% less ($34,447.00) than the amount disbursed by the Presidio AER Section last year.

Already, many personnel are giving spare time and effort, as well as money, to help make this annual drive the best ever on the Presidio. Fund raising events have been planned by many activities and sections. These are excellent, and relatively painless, ways to support "your own charity."

Still, it's not enough to let Joe do the job for you. The only way you can really be sure that the drive will meet its goal is to make a personal donation. This way you not only have the satisfaction of doing your share, but are giving forthright support to the comforting philosophy—"the Army takes care of its own."

Make your personal donation to Army Emergency Relief and the Army Relief Society today. The dollars you give will multiply and be returned to you and yours in satisfaction and support when you, or your fellow soldier, need it most.

Temp Promotion Program Extended To Warrants

Washington (ANS)—With the publication of Army Regulations 624-115, 3 April 1959, "Temporary Promotion of Warrant Officers in the Army of the United States," Department of the Army extended to warrant officers the temporary promotion system initiated last year for commissioned officers.

Use of this method of promotion introduces a more competitive aspect into selections for the grades CWO W-3 and CWO W-4.

Selection Boards considering warrant officers for temporary promotion to the grades of W-3 or W-4, under the "best qualified" system, must now sort the competitors into three groups:

- First, those "fully qualified" for promotion.
- Of this group, those, within the directed number, considered "best qualified" and as such recommended for promotion.
- Finally, the remainder considered "not fully qualified" for promotion.

This means that in the future a warrant officer within the zone of consideration for temporary promotion may not be selected and yet not receive a promotion passover. No penalty is associated with such non-selection. If his record indicates sufficient improvement he may be considered "best qualified" by a future selection board.

On the other hand, if his records indicate a decline in efficiency or a distinct lack of progress, he may be considered by a future Promotion Selection Board to be "not fully qualified" and subject to the penalties associated with a promotion passover. The records of those who are determined to be not fully qualified for promotion will be reviewed by Headquarters, Department of the Army, to determine whether they should be relieved from active duty or eliminated from the Army.

Non-regular Army warrant officers determined to be not fully qualified by two selection boards, convening 12 months or more apart, will be relieved from active duty. For the regular warrant officer failure to be considered fully qualified for temporary promotion is a cause for elimination consideration under AR 635-105A.

what they said

The big question in the minds of Army personnel is always where will I go next and what will I do there. This week we decided to find out where some of the Army's troopers would like to go and what they'd like to do. We asked:

If you had your choice of your next assignment, where and what would it be?

ANSWERS

Pfc. Laurie W. Rutland, Hq. Bat. 40th Arty: I'd like to go to Germany and stay in Arty. The reason that I want to stay in Arty is that there's just too much walking to be done in the Infantry. I think that Germany would be ideal because of its central location. I could travel around and see all I could. I'd like to get to France and Italy. You hear so much about those two countries that I'd like to see for myself if all of it is true. The first thing that I'd see over there, if I could, would be Berlin. I want to see the cause of all the current trouble.

Sfc. Johnnie Williams, 561st Engineers: I'd like to stay right here in the 561st. I've been assigned here for four years now and I've never had a better bunch of men to work with. This, to me is a choice assignment, the duties are alright and the unit as a whole is swell. I've traveled all over the world and believe me, I'm more than content right here. As I said before, I don't know where I've met a better bunch of men. I've got 15 years in the service now and it looks like I'm headed for the full 30.

Sp4 Eddie Wilson, Cook Hq. 30th Engineers: Hawaii. I just left there and want to go back. I brought my wife, Jane, and she wants to go back there, too. I was there for 4 years with the 25th Division. I think that I like the climate the best, San Francisco is just too cold for me. Hawaii gave me a chance to practice my favorite sport, skin diving. I want to continue that, too. From what I hear, I won't like Fort Belvoir, our whole outfit is going there. I don't particularly like the East Coast. I'm from, by the way, Rockmount, Ga. I just want to go back to visit, not stay.

M/Sgt. Willie L. Brown, Operations Sgt., 4th Missile Bat., 61st Arty.: Europe, because I've never been there. After studying European history I would like to look at the places first hand. I'd like to see France, Germany, Italy. I've no preference. I just want to stay away from Berlin, as far away as possible. I'm working for my college degree in history taking on-post classes. I spent some time traveling, however, about seven years worth in Far East. I want very much to go to Rome and see all the old relics from Caesar's time.

A Tough Task

Very Well Handled

In the past few weeks Civilian Personnel has passed on to section chiefs some 2000 length of service emblems for presentation to civilian employees with 10, 20, 30, and 40 years of service.

The processing of information, procuring and distribution of these emblems was a monumental task. Every civilian record had to be checked and double checked and once this was completed, every effort made to get the emblems on hand as quickly as possible.

Nearly all of these emblems have now been presented in the recommended manner—"appropriate ceremonies . . . the benefits to morale and esprit de corps from such awards depends to a large degree upon the pride and respect with which they are presented, received, and worn."

Les Scanlon, CPO, says that hereafter awards will be made quarterly, the next coming in July, and that the need for constant record checks has been eliminated by establishing a recruiting control point. "So far we've had no kickbacks on personnel failing to get their emblems, and very few on the method of presentation. It is our hope that now that we have passed the mass distribution hurdle, future presentations will be more appropriate and uniform."

A very big job, very well done.

In Our Mail

Dear Sir:

Our post newspaper, "The Wolters Trumpet," currently is in the process of changing over from a mimeographed type to an offset style. As a guide for the improvement of our paper, we would appreciate your placing us on the mailing list of your publication, the "Star Presidian."

By having a first class service paper such as yours to compare ours with, I am sure our weekly would improve as the result.

Let me add, having formerly been stationed at the Presidio, I consider your paper to be the finest of its type in the Sixth Army area, if not in the entire AFPS program.

In appreciation of your time and help,

Sincerely yours,
PFC. DON R. PLUNK

Army JAG Commander's Good Right 'Legal' Arm

Serving as the commander's legal right hand, the Sixth U.S. Army Judge Advocate not only must function in a command advisory capacity, but also is charged with administrative supervision of military justice throughout the eight western states comprising the Army area.

The headquarters Judge Advocate, through his immediate staff of 25 specialists, must make recommendations on matters ranging from command policy to individual claims settlements.

Relying on four major legal divisions, the Army Judge Advocate is responsible for:

- Review of all courts martial to insure protection of the rights of defendants and the interests of the government.

- Examination and preparation of legal opinions and memoranda on all problems of military administration—such as, enlistment; pay and allowances; promotion; discharges; retirements; contracts; bonds; legal availability of appropriations; military aid to civilians; preparation of proclamations; litigations; and interpretation of DA orders, federal statutes, and state and local taxation regulations.

- Processing a wide variety of claims for and against the government, including those involving personal injury and property damage caused through the negligence of its military and civilian personnel.

Last year the Military Justice Division processed 71 general courts martials and 212 special and summary courts martials. For the high court cases, the Army Judge Advocate provided: lawyers at pre-trial hearings, trial and defense counsels, reporters, and law officers. In addition, it was necessary to review trials and accomplish all administrative details in connection with the cases.

Each special and summary courts martial also was reviewed to screen for possible errors prejudicial to the defendant and take action to set aside inequitable decisions.

Annually, an average of more than 1,500 claims are reviewed and processed. Bulk of these claims were for damage and loss of household goods and other personal items.

Military Justice Based On 1950 Uniform Code

Criminal law in the armed forces is called Military Justice, prescribed by an Act of Congress and set forth in the Uniform Code of Military Justice. It is pursuant to this Code that all courts-martial and non-judicial punishments (formerly called Company punishment) are administered, conforming as closely as possible to the established civilian practices and adhering to the basic principles of justice as understood by the American people.

The present military Code has existed in its present form only since 1950, but it has its origins early in the history of this country. The second Continental Congress in 1775 adopted the first Articles of War, these being largely copied from those used by the British before that date.

Over the years many changes in the procedural law have been adopted, although the law describing offenses has remained substantially the same for almost 200 years.

The most sweeping changes occurred in the 1950 Code, the two most impressive being the creation of the civilian Court of Military Appeals, a three-man court overwatching the entire military justice system, and the required participation of lawyers-as judges and advocates in general courts-martial.

These changes, however, have not had nearly as great an over-all influence as might have been expected. Cases are tried about as promptly today as they were before this Code. A certain number of cases in which errors are deemed to have occurred are re-

Asst. Attorney General Will Keynote Meeting

Mr. Clarence H. Linn, Chief Assistant Attorney General (Criminal Division) of the State of California, will keynote the Sixth U.S. Army celebration of "Law Day—U.S.A." today at the Presidio of San Francisco. His subject will be "Law: the Necessity of an Orderly Society."

Mr. Linn has been a senior deputy in the Office of the Attorney General for the past 16 years, serving under four State Attorneys General. For the past eight years he has been in charge of the Criminal Law Section, handling such noted cases as Chessman and Confidential and Whisper magazines.

Law Day—U.S.A. was proclaimed by President Eisenhower, and is the second annual observance of this day designed to foster an abiding respect for law by the American people. It provides an occasion to emphasize before the world the contrast between the rule of law in the United States and the rule of force and fear under communism.

A luncheon will be held for Mr. Linn and other prominent visitors at 1200 hours at the Presidio Officers' Open Mess, attended by military and civilian law specialists from Headquarters, Sixth U.S. Army, Letterman Army Hospital, the Presidio of San Francisco, Fort Mason and Sixth Region, U.S. Army Air Defense Command.

A display of crime detection equipment will be presented by the Sixth U.S. Army Provost Marshal Investigation Division in the lobby of the Post Theater at the Presidio. The display will include the polygraph and other highly technical equipment used in combatting crime.

Major General John J. Binns, Chief of Staff, Sixth U.S. Army, will introduce the speaker, Mr. Linn. Two presentations of the program will be made, one at 1100 hours and another at 1330 hours.

Law Day Speaker

Military and civilian personnel from all units are urged to attend. Colonel Carlos E. McAfee, Sixth Army Staff Judge Advocate, suggests that section chiefs permit one-half of their personnel to attend each meeting, to insure seating capacity for all.

Captain Jean A. Wolf, Chief of the Claims Division, Judge Advocate's Section, is Project Officer.

Post JAG Serves Soldier On Most Vexing Problems

The Judge Advocate is prepared to be of real service to the individual soldier. The recruit's idea that the Judge Advocate is an agent of trial and punishment is an incomplete picture. The mission of the Army judiciary at installation level is to administer justice to best serve the interests of the individual, the command, the Army and the government.

More than 700 Presidio soldiers every month carry problems to the Post Judge Advocate Section.

These men and women need assistance in claims and courts martial, or perhaps they want only the services of a notary or an opinion on the terms of a contract.

Advice is theirs in a multitude of personal legal problems—divorces, income tax, adoption, wills.

But, the mission of the Judge Advocate must extend beyond personal services. The officers and clerks must furnish commanders and staff chiefs legal determinations on a variety of official functions.

Three units within the Presidio Judge Advocate Section, under the direction of Lt. Colonel William F. McGarry, Judge Advocate, have been organized to deal with daily legal complexities affecting commanders and troops:

- Legal Assistance Division—handles legal matters of a personal nature, but does not provide representation in civil courts. Primarily, an advisory body.

- Claims Division—prepares and channels claims for and against the government. Bulk of claims concern damage to household goods and other personal property. Necessary forms are available, and applications forwarded, as necessary, for disposition.

- Military Justice—furnishes assistance in courts martial cases. Includes drawing up charges, appointing courts, representing defendant and government, and screening cases for administrative and legal correctness.

Another phase of activity, which does not fit under the functions of any particular division, encompasses Military Affairs, and is handled separately. These cases generally involve interpretation laws and regulations pertaining to official matters.

Purpose of Law Day—US

To foster respect for law; to increase public understanding of the place of law in American life; to point up the contrast between freedom under law in the United States and governmental tyranny under communism.

Claims Division Plays Key Role

The Staff Judge Advocate, Sixth U.S. Army, in addition to his other duties, is also charged with the responsibility of processing all claims in favor of, and against the government arising from Army activities within the Sixth Army Area. Because of the wide scope of the field of claims, and the many activities of the thousands of personnel, both military and civilian, a large variety of claims are processed by the Staff Judge Advocate through the Claims Division of Sixth Army. Approximately 150 new files are processed each month, all varying in type and amount.

Of primary interest to military personnel is the Military Personnel Claims Act (AR 25-100). Personal property of members of the Armed Forces, by reason of the nature of their service, i.e., necessary and frequent moves on permanent change of station, is often subjected to loss or damage. To provide just and adequate compensation for such loss or damage, Congress has enacted administrative statutes for the payment of these claims.

Under these laws, the Secretary of the Army and those officers he designates may consider and pay any claim for damages not in excess of $6,500. Thus, the officer or enlisted man, whose household furniture and effects have been damaged or lost in transit to his new assignment in the Sixth Army Area may present a claim for the loss or damage through his unit. His claim, if valid, will be processed for payment by the Government. During the first quarter of the current year, 300 claims of this type were processed by the Claims Division of the Judge Advocate Section.

With the passage of the Federal Tort Claims Act (AR 25-30) in 1946, the government acknowledged its liability for personal injury and property damage caused through the negligence of its military and civilian personnel. Claims of this type usually arise from motor vehicle accidents. Thus, any person whose automobile or other property is damaged because of the negligence of an Army driver, may recover the amount of the damage.

The claim may be filed at any military installation, and it will be processed through this office for payment by the government. In this category, a total of nearly 200 cases were processed by this office in the first three months of 1959.

A third type of claim is that arising under the Military Claims Act (AR 25-25). Because some activities are peculiarly military in character and have little parallel in ordinary civilian pursuits, Congress, under this Act, has authorized the administrative consideration and payment of claims based on certain non-combat activities of the Army. Negligence need not be established. Only the fact of the activity and a causal connection between the activity and the damage need be shown.

The activities referred to are maneuvers and special field exercises; practice fire of heavy guns; use of explosives, etc. Fortunately, these activities in the Sixth Army Area have been carefully conducted and a total of only four claims of this nature have arisen in the past three months.

Finally, claims in favor of the government must be considered. Where property of the Army is damaged, the government may make claim therefor just as any property owner. The applicable regulation is AR 25-105, and the laws of the State in which the damage occurred govern the liability. The government's claim for the damage is processed by the Claims Office, and where payment is made, the collection is remitted to the Finance Officer for deposit to the Treasurer of the United States. Where liability is denied, the claim is referred to the Department of Justice with a recommendation for legal suit or other administrative action to effect collection. A total of 25 of these cases were processed during the first quarter of 1959.

Frontier Night Will Kick Off AER Drive

HERE'S MUD IN YOUR EYE, or champagne if you prefer, and dang the expenses when the celebration is for the benefit of Army Emergency Relief and the Army Relief Society. Bar beauties, who will be part of the fun and frolic at the annual Frontier Night on 2 May at the Presidio Officers' Open Mess, are (l. to r.) "Saucy" Sanders, "Bubbles" Browning, "Riffles" Rogers, "Peppy" Peterson and "Boojums" Bader.

Gala Western Show Set This Saturday

An "adult western" which is a bigger production than most of the current television rating leaders is heading for the Presidio today.

• The event: FRONTIER NIGHT at the Presidio Officers' Open Mess.

• The time: 1800 tomorrow night, Saturday, 2 May.

• The beneficiaries: Army Emergency Relief and the Army Relief Society.

By Conestoga wagon, Wells Fargo stagecoach, clipper ship and Pony Express, an assortment of characters out of the old rip-roarin' West is heading for this pioneer outpost—which is about as far west as you kin git, outside of the Farallones and the 50th State of Hawaii. The word "characters" is used advisedly.

Expected to attend are William F. Cody, Jim Bridger, Kit Carson, Diamond Lil, William Hickok, William the Kid, Wyatt Earp, Matt Dillon, Paladin, Judge Roy Bean, Lolita, Bat Masterson, Calamity Jane, Cisco, Buffalo Bill RSVD'd that he'd try to make it, but would at least send his buffalo.

Fun and games are the keynote of the evening, all the Wild West foofaraw benefiting the causes by which the Army takes care of its own. Hot chow will be served buffet-style, and in keeping with the theme of the event—no filet mignon or pheasant under the glass, but the following rib-sticking menu for one buck, real money: Mulligan stew, baked beans, cole slaw, potato salad, corn pone and coffee. A Frontier Dance Hall will be in full swing all evening at a "duller" a dance (phony money), whether you dance with one of the B-girls, bar-belles or the gal whut brung you.

Attendance is open to all San Francisco Bay area military officers and their "dates," but it will be strictly an ADULT Western. No minors will be admitted. Military ID cards or POOM Guest Cards, which should be obtained in advance, will be required for admission.

Colonel A. L. Bivens, Sixth U.S. Army Quartermaster, is general chairman of the committee staging FRONTIER NIGHT. (J.C.)

Free Gregg Classes

Experienced stenographers are invited to attend a class in speed-building in the Gregg System. The class is offered Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7:00 to 9:00 P.M. in room 342, Mission Adult High School, 18th and Dolores Streets. This intensified course of instruction, offered without fee, will run until June 4, 1959. Miss Helen Georgian will enroll students in the classroom on the nights specified. This course of instruction is being offered as a public service by the San Francisco Public Schools. For further information call HEMlock 1-4899.

May Festival Set

On 3 May Winfield Scott School students will hold a May Festival, with cake, coffee and candy being sold all day, and folk dancing at 1300.

Receipts from the sales will go to the P.T.A., and then will be distributed for classroom parties and contributions.

First 'Best Soldier' From Special Troops

By M/Sgt. Robert E. Woltz
Information Section

"Best Soldier of the Month" from the Sixth United States Army Special Troops was the title bestowed on Specialist 4th Class James A. Cottrell this week.

An administrative clerk with the 56th Machine Records Unit, Cottrell was presented with a Special Troops "Best Soldier of the Month" certificate Tuesday by Major General John J. Binns, Chief of Staff for the Sixth United States Army, in recognition of his achievement.

The 24-year-old soldier, recently promoted to Specialist 4th Class, was given a three-day pass, removed from the duty roster and relieved of all KP and company details during the month of May by his unit commander.

The coveted "Best Soldier" award is presented once a month to the single individual from the Sixth Army Special Troops that most distinguishes himself by his outstanding appearance, soldierly bearing, conduct, knowledge of military subjects and current world events.

In the final selection, Cottrell and the five other persons nominated by their unit commanders were required to appear before an "eagle-eyed" board of senior non-commissioned officers headed by Sergeant Major John J. Carr and composed of the first sergeants from the contestants' respective units.

Before being assigned to the 56th Machine Records Unit, the new "Best Soldier" completed basic training and Clerk-typist school at Fort Chaffee, Arkansas.

He is a 1957 Business Administration graduate from the University of Missouri and calls Parkville, Missouri, home.

Honor Guard Here

An Honor Guard Ceremony with a 19-gun salute was given here yesterday in honor of Mr. Wilbur M. Brucker, Secretary of the Army.

Participating in the ceremonies were the Sixth US Army Band, and a two-platoon Honor Guard, a four-man Color Guard and two flag bearers, all furnished by A Co., USAG.

Maj. Gen. Heaton Named for Army's Top Medical Post

Washington (AFPS)—President Eisenhower has nominated Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton to be the Surgeon General of the Army.

Yet to be confirmed by the Senate, Gen. Heaton will succeed Maj. Gen. S. B. Hays who completes his four year tenure as Surgeon General on May 31.

In the same action the President appointed Maj. Gen. Ralph T. Nelson to be the Army's Chief Signal Officer, succeeding Lt. Gen. James D. O'Connell, who retires Apr. 30.

General Heaton's new assignment becomes effective June 1. Gen. Nelson will assume the duties of Chief Signal Officer on May 1.

Three Presidians Win FPOA Awards In Local Presentations

Three Presidio employees were among 44 people who recently received diplomas from the Federal Procurement Officers Association, for completing training in Federal Purchasing.

Miss Rose Veelman, Procurement Div., G-4 Section, Sixth U.S. Army, and Mrs. Lois Judson and Anne McFarland, Post Purchasing and Contracting Office, were part of the group honored during a dinner-dance at the S.F. Naval Shipyard Officers Mess.

During their course, an annual activity of the association, many subjects were covered by prominent active specialists in the field of government purchasing.

24th Army JAG

Major General George W. Hickman, Jr., U.S. Army Judge Advocate General, is the 24th officer to serve in that capacity since the inception of the JAG Corps in 1775. First Army judicial head was Colonel William Todor, who took office 29 July 1775.

The Martini—originally called the Martinez—was invented in San Francisco's old Occidental Bar in the early 1860s.

Seek Safety Engineer

This headquarters is presently recruiting to fill a position vacancy for Supervising Safety Engineer, GS-803-12 at a salary of $8810 per annum, for duty with the 6th Region, US Army Air Defense Command, Fort Baker, California. Incumbent selected will be required to do extensive traveling, including air transportation, throughout the entire 6th Army area. Further information may be obtained from the Civilian Personnel Division, Bldg. 227, Presidio of San Francisco or telephone WESt 1-6111, Extension 2349.

MP Reups Here
M/Sgt. Frank Gregor

60th MPD's Chief Clerk Reups Here For Another Three

Master Sergeant Frank Gregor, Chief Clerk of the 60th Military Police Detachment here at the Presidio, reenlisted for three more years last week, according to Master Sergeant John E. McConnell, Post Reenlistment NCO.

A career soldier with over 18 years' service, Sergeant Gregor is considering his retirement after completing his new enlistment.

During World War II the 45-year-old NCO served in Europe with the 75th Infantry Division.

For seven years prior to being assigned to the Presidio in 1953 he was with the U.S. Army Counter-Intelligence Corps in Europe.

Before entering the Army in 1941 he worked for the Pullman Standard Car Company in his home town of Butler, Pennsylvania, as an Ordnance Lathe Operator.

Sergeant Gregor and his wife, Edith, with their two children make their home at 241 Sequoia Avenue in South San Francisco.

First Established

The U.S. Court of Military Appeals was established in 1950 under the Universal Code of Military Justice, and in June of the following year the first court was appointed: Robert E. Quinn, Chief Judge; George W. Latimer, Judge; and Paul W. Brosman, Judge.

Real Dedication

Film director John Ford has turned down a $250,000 Hollywood job to go to Taiwan and film a Formosan indoctrination picture for the Defense Dept.

kaleidoscope

They say most people always return to the scene of the crime, and that's exactly what Major Bradford F. Muse (Ret.) did. Brad was a clerk and mule skinner at Fort Barry before WWII, now he's back there, working for the Post Exchange as a service station operator. "I just couldn't stay away."

"I can remember feeding and currying those danged animals till I was blue in the face. We used to drive those mules down to the dock to pick up the food from the Presidio. Then we'd turn right around and use them to pick up and dump the garbage from the mess halls."

"Mules are Stubborn"
Bradford Muse

"There was many a time that I thought those mules were going to back me right into the Pacific when I was dumping. You see the dump was about 30 ft. above the water. Those creatures would just keep backing toward the edge of the cliff and no matter what I would do, including using the whip, would stop them till they danged well made up their own minds to stop. I'd stand up in the wagon seat and scream my head off at those animals. They sure had a mind of their own."

"I entered the Army in 1934 as a buck private. I was sent to Ft. Barry as a clerk, but was shortly changed to the job of mule skinner. That's one job that I never will forget. That was the barn over there." He pointed to what is now one of the warehouses. "You'd never know it now."

The major, then sergeant, left Barry for recruiting duty around the state. When the war started he was called to San Francisco and sent to OCS where he graduated and received his commission as a 2nd Lt. in Anti-Aircraft. From there the trip to Ft. Eustis, Va. was short, as was his next trip to Camp Davis, N. C., for reassignment. The trip, he undertook next wasn't so short, however. In 1945 he was transferred to the Philippines.

"I was ordered back to San Francisco after the war to take command of the Camp Kilmer Exchange. Panama was next on my list of travels. While I was in Panama I met and went fishing with Ted Williams. He was really a wonderful guy. In fact, when I retired in 1957, I started working for him as his west coast representative in his sporting goods business."

"I came back to the states in 1953 and stayed here until I retired. I thought that my retirement would be permanent, but my daughter had to be sent to college, so I came out of my 'retirement' and started to work for the Bay Exchange in March '58. I guess that I'll stay here until she graduates. Then I'll go back to my retirement. I think that the retired life will be alright. Just think of all the hunting and fishing that I could do. You know, that really sounds great."

Shady Angler Sad

Two Pennsylvania fish and game wardens were left baffled by the line of reasoning expressed in no uncertain terms by a certain angler.

Seems that the wardens stopped to check the angler who was fishing beneath a bridge on a river. The man was highly indignant at being asked to show his license, then directed his torrid remarks at the state agency for not stocking the stream.

The wardens pointed out that his choice of fishing location might have something to do with it, since the water was only two inches deep and perfectly clear and if any fish were present in such an unlikely spot the angler surely could see them.

Yes, he'd thought of that, the angler replied—but this was the only place on the river where there was any shade.

Albacore A Tourist

Further evidence of a relationship between two great fisheries an ocean apart turned up when the Dept. of Fish and Game received an albacore tag returned from Japan. It marked the sixth time an albacore had been tagged off California and subsequently appeared in a Japanese fishery.

This latest trans-ocean recovery began in July, 1957 when the fish was tagged 150 miles south of San Diego. In February of this year the story was brought to a close when the fish was recaptured on longline gear 700 miles southeast of Tokyo—a distance of 4800 miles.

Another tag recovery has demonstrated for the first time a relationship between the mainland and the island fisheries off South America. A skipjack tagged near the Gulf of Guayaquil, Peru, was recaptured near Cadillac Bay, north of the Galapagos Islands. It had traveled 720 miles in the 45 days.

MUSIC-MUSIC-MUSIC is in store for local fans when the U.S. Army Air Defense Command Choral Group visits the Presidio next week. 1st Lt. Beverly A. Ward, director of the group, poses with some of the scores that will be presented at the Service Club. Admission is free and the general public is invited.

AADC Choral Group Slates Concert Here

Fort Barry, Calif.—The United States Army Air Defense Command (USARADCOM) Choral Group, now on its fourth nation-wide concert tour, will appear at 2000 hours next Friday, 8 May, at the Presidio Service Club for a free public appearance.

The 35-man choral group, conducted by 1st Lt. Beverly A. Ward, is made up of enlisted men specially chosen for their musical backgrounds and abilities, and will be here in the Bay Area May 4th through the 8th.

The choral group harmonizes on a variety of popular classics, folk songs and Broadway show tunes, while feature entertainment is supplied by a magician and barbershop quartet.

Traveling throughout the nation mainly to entertain troops of the U.S. Army Air Defense Command, the choral group also schedules many public performances, and has entertained thousands in the various cities of the nation. While in the Bay Area, they are scheduled for appearances in San Francisco, Oakland, Berkeley and the NIKE units of the San Francisco-Travis AFB Army Air Defense.

AER Carnival

A carnival and dance will be held at the Fort Baker Service Club at 1900 hours Tuesday, 5 May. Young ladies from the Santa Rosa and San Francisco areas will be present.

Proceeds from the evening will be donated to the joint annual fund campaign of the Army Emergency Relief (AER) and Army Relief Society (ARS).

Alameda Star Due

Star of stage and screen, as well as an experienced writer, Miss Margaret Woodall will present "Who is That Lady I Saw You With?", during the next Presidio Women's Club Luncheon, to be held in the Officers' Club on 7 May at 1230.

Sponsoring the event will be the Sixth U.S. Army Medical and Dental Sections, and reservations must be made before 5 May.

New NCO At 6th Region Has Colorful Background

Master Sergeant Robert B. Grace of 6th Region, United States Army Air Defense Command, may not be the youngest grandfather in military service, but if awards went to the most youthful-looking, he could readily reach the winner's circle.

The newly-assigned Personnel Sergeant Major at the Pacific Coast Army air defense headquarters here is a 43-year-old, soft-spoken soldier with the face and bearing of a high school student. He is the father of three grown sons and two daughters—and grandfather of a two-year-old girl.

Master Sergeant Grace's eldest son, Richard, is a first-year student at the United States Military Academy. Second eldest is James, 19, an airman at George Air Force Base, Victorville, Calif. The sergeant's eldest daughter, Roberta, is the wife of a soldier in Fort Smith, Ark. Also residing in Arkansas with M/Sgt. Grace's first wife, are Frank, his 18-year-old son, and his daughter, Diana, 15.

M/Sgt. Grace and his present wife, Nobuko, daughter of a major general in the wartime Japanese Army, reside at 709 Clayton St., San Francisco.

A veteran of 16 years' Army service, the youthful grandfather formerly held a captain's commission in the U.S. Army. At the outbreak of World War II he was a lieutenant in the 29th Infantry Division, winning the Bronze Star and the Purple Heart for combat service in France and Germany. His brother, M/Sgt. James E. Grace, is currently on duty with an artillery unit in Hawaii.

As Personnel Sergeant Major at the regional air defense headquarters in Fort Baker, Calif., M/Sgt. Grace is responsible for supervising many of the administrative phases of Pacific Coast Army Air Defense units. The region, commanded by Major General E. J. McGaw, has 52 Nike guided missile batteries protecting major industrial and population centers in the Western United States.

C.B.I. Group Meets

Miss Wong, Chinese actress, will be a guest at the Gen. Geo. W. Sliney Basha C.B.I. Veterans Ass'n dinner meeting to be held at Ft. Mason tomorrow evening.

Cocktails will begin at 1830, followed by a Roast Beef dinner, for the price of $2.75 per person.

THE OLD MAN AND THE SEA—(F) (Color), Spencer Tracy, Felipe Pazo. He was an old man who fished alone in a skiff in the Gulf Stream. One day he hooked a giant Marlin. This is the stirring story of his battle with the monster and with the sharks that attacked his prize. No. 1—Tomorrow.

PORK CHOP HILL—(M), Gregory Peck, Harry Guardino. Based upon a true occurrence in the closing days of the Korean War, this is the story of King company, an infantry battalion which is ordered to recapture a desolate hilltop of little evident importance. How the company commander takes and holds the objective against seemingly impossible odds is undoubtedly the most stirring incident to come out of the Korean War. No. 1—Sunday and Monday; No. 3—Wednesday; No. 4—Thursday.

TONKA—(F) (Color), Sal Mineo, Philip Carey. An Indian brave captures and tames a wild stallion; later through a series of coincidences, they become part of the slaughter of Custer's 7th Cavalry at the Little Big Horn. No. 1—Tuesday; No. 3—Friday.

BATTLE FLAME—(F), Scott Brady, Robert Blake, Elaine Edwards. An intrepid platoon of Girenes interrupt their strategic withdrawal from the Chosen River reservoir to rescue a group of Navy nurses who had been captured by the Reds. No. 1—Wednesday.

MAN IN THE SADDLE—(F), Joan Leslie, Randolph Scott, Ellen Drew. A no-holds-barred feud erupts between Scott and his neighbor which leads to a thrilling fight and ends in a flaming gun battle. No. 1—Saturday.

THE YOUNG PHILADELPHIANS—(M), Paul Newman, Barbara Rush, Brian Keith. No. 1—Thursday and Friday.

THE HANGMAN—Reviewed last week. No. 1—Today; No. 3—Monday; No. 4—Tuesday.

THE INN OF THE SIXTH HAPPINESS—Reviewed last week. No. 4—Sunday.

Youth Baseball Season Starts Here Tomorrow

Presidio All-Army Team Takes Air Force Pasting

The U.S. Air Force All-Star team won the Armed Forces Volleyball Championship by defeating the Army squad 15-5, 16-18 and 15-9. As a result of their victory, the Air Force team, augmented by a few Army players—as yet not selected—will travel to Des Moines, Iowa, on 3 May to participate in the Pan American Games try-outs.

It was inconsistent play on the part of the Army team that cost them the title. At the same time, the Airmen were demonstrating an exceptional court defense, making almost impossible recoveries of Army's spikes.

The Air Force jumped to a 4-0 lead in the first game and left the Army team in the lurch. In the second game it was almost the same story as the Airmen built up a 14-7 lead. Paced by Pfc. Phil Conley, Pfc. Ray Sinetar and Pfc. Len Kaczmarek, the Army team staged a tremendous come-back to knot the score 14-all. Sinetar then slammed across the winning service for the Army.

In the final game the Air Force jumped off to an 8-2 lead and was never in danger as they went on to take the title. Figuring highly in the Air Force victory were M/Sgt.

John Gay, T/Sgt. Vance Kahalehau and A2/C Neil Eldredge.

The first meeting of the teams saw the Army highnetters lose 15-11 and 16-14. Paced by the serving of A2/C Neil Eldredge, the Airmen turned their sparkling defense play into a victory. Eldredge served nine of the Air Force's points in the second match, including a run of six which brought them to a tie from a 8-14 deficit.

Army team members were Sp4 Al Kincaid, Sgt. Dave Rhem, M/Sgt. Catalino Ignacio, all from Presidio of San Francisco, assigned to 40th Air Defense Artillery Brigade; Pvt. Harold Stone of Greenwood, Fla.; Pfc. Phil Conley of Fresno, Calif.; Pfc. Ray Sinetar of Los Angeles and Pfc. Len Kaczmarek of Presidio of San Francisco.

LAH Stays Undefeated In City League Play

Letterman Army Hospital remained undefeated in City League play by shutting out the Dukes 5-0. They are now tied for first place in the league and meet the only other undefeated team this week, the Missouri Mules.

Sgt. Al Snay pitched a four-hitter, striking out 19 on his way to victory. Letterman scored their five runs on nine hits while playing errorless ball.

"Big Stick" for the LAH nine was Sp4 Jim Hanson, who hit a double and a single in three times at bat. He scored one run himself while batting in two.

In another pre-season game the LAH diamondmen stopped Oakland Army Terminal 9-0. Pitcher Bob McNamara went the route, striking out 11 and hurling a one-hitter. He issued no walks and showed good control throughout the game.

Sp4 Smiley Gomez hit a full circuit clout with the bases loaded, for Letterman's big score.

Ft. Mason took a 12-11 margin over Letterman in a game termed "experimental" by Coach Sfc. Frank Cienczyk. It was a game to give him a chance to look over a new crop of players Letterman has recruited.

Today they open play in the M.S.A. League by playing Sacramento Signal Depot at Sacramento. McNamara will open on the mound.

Gone Fishing!

Trout Season Opens Tomorrow; Check Permits, License

Tomorrow is the day. Come rain or shine, trout season will open with ardent anglers dipping their lines into Rodeo Lagoon, Ft. Barry.

For the last and umpteenth time, everyone is requested to pick up a fishing permit from the Provost Marshal's Office, Bldg. 558. For the non-believers and the do-everything-at-the-last-minute crowd, the M.P.'s will be on duty tomorrow and Sunday at the entrance to the Ft. Barry tunnel to issue the permits. The permits are provided at no cost to the individual and are necessary before fishing on a military reservation.

Anglers are also reminded that the must have in their possession a California Fishing License with both trout stamps affixed. Failure to have both documents in your possession will result in a fine by a game warden if you are caught with fish in your possession.

It's a good chance to take the family on an outing and catch a little something for the evening meal besides.

Tennis Call Out

Time to restrung the racket and take the tennis balls out of hiding for the intramural tennis tournament coming up in June. This notice should give players plenty of notice to shed those extra pounds and unkink their muscles.

Players are requested to notify the Sports Office, Bldg. 122, or dial ext. 2282/3968 if they intend to participate in the tennis program.

Long Tops Nieder In SA Meet; Due All-Service Try

Presidio's track and field ace, "Lonesome" Bill Nieder, finished a close second to Dallas Long at the Mt. San Antonio Relays last weekend. Long tossed 61-9 and Nieder followed with a 61-6, both short of the record.

"I've got no excuses to offer, but it was worse than being defeated by O'Brien in any of our other meets," he lamented. "Meet conditions weren't the best as they had a cold snap and everyone had trouble getting their muscles loosened up."

This week Lt. Nieder will compete in a meet at San Jose. It will be an All-Service meet with teams from Hamilton Air Force Base, Travis and other service squads in the area.

Next week Nieder will again lock horns with Long on two occasions. The first will be the Agathon Olympiad at Salt Lake City, Utah, on Friday afternoon, 8 May. The following night, Saturday, 9 May, they will meet at the Fresno West Coast Relays. Parry O'Brien will also be at the latter meet but it is doubtful he will enter the shot put competition. He complains of having a sore hand developed after many exhibitions while he was in Africa.

Expect Large Turnout For Little League Opener

"Play Ball" will be the cry of the umpire when Little Leaguers take the field to open the season at 1230 Saturday, 2 May. Opening ceremonies will include the flag and pennant raising with music by the Ft. Mason Army Band. Col. M. M. Brown, Post Commander, Presidio of San Francisco, will toss out the first ball to officially open the season.

Facilities at the Pop Hicks Field have been redecorated and it is all dressed for the occasion. A capacity crowd is expected to watch the double-header with the first game between the Giants and the Cubs. The Cards and Yankees will do battle in the second game of the Major Division.

According to M/Sgt. Edmond Franklin, player agent for the Presidio Golden Gate Little League, "opening day with its music, peanuts, hot dogs and enthusiasm will equal in color and excitement anything Seals Stadium has to offer."

Not to be forgotten is the Minor Division of the league as they open play at 1300 on Monday, 4 May. The Seals and Stars play in the first game to open their season. On Wednesday 6 May, at 1300, the other two teams, the Oaks and Padres, play their game.

Last year the Giants were Little League champs after overhauling the Yankees, first half division winners. In a play-off between the two teams, the Giants won the first game 2-0 behind the fine pitching of Mike Frye. The second game saw the Giants take an early 8-1 lead with Billy Ameral on the mound. In the last inning the Yankees put on a scoring display that fell short as they lost the game and title 9-6.

Intramural Play

16th BPO Downs 99th; Special Troop Win One

The intramural softball schedule jumped off to a good start this week with one tight game and two not so tight.

Sixth Army Special Troops scored four runs in the first inning and added another in the fifth to edge MRU 5-4. Fred Baxter of the lpsers hit a two-run homer in the top of the 7th but any scoring effort after that was promptly snuffed out by the Special Troops. Fletcher was the losing pitcher.

16th BPO had no trouble with the 99th Engineers as they won 14-4. The 99th jumped on Loggins for 3 runs in the first but the 16th came back to swamp them. After the wild first inning, Loggins settled down and methodically retired the 99th in the remaining part of the game. The 16th BPO shows promise with good stickmen and excellent fielders.

The USA Training Group capitalized on a nine-run first inning to shatter Hq. Co. USA Garrison 15-4. Big man at the plate for Training Group was first baseman

New Bird King

Winner of this year's Badminton Tournament at LAH was recently-promoted Sgt. Maj. Wilfred P. Ramahlo. In the final match against M/Sgt. Norman "Bud" Fricker, Ramahlo came out on top 15-9 and 15-9.

Fricker was defending champion but Ramahlo staged a determined drive throughout the month-long tournament to come away with the first place trophy. Fricker was also presented a trophy for his high placing.

Youth Fitness

Service Clubs Set Special Programs For Field Days

Both Presidio Service Clubs are sponsoring a National Youth Fitness Field Day, 9 May at 1400 hours on the Post Exchange Ball Field.

Activities will be divided into two groups: Elementary (10-12 years of age), and Teenage (13-16 years of age).

The supervised activities will be varied to include every interest of competing individuals. Competition will be in the 8 pound shot put, 50 yard dash, tug-o-war, hop-step-jump distance dash, ball throw for accuracy and many other physical feats to make up the day's program.

Entry forms will be distributed to all quarters through the message center and additional blanks may be obtained from the Service Club, Bldg. 135, or the Teenage Club, Bldg. 562.

When it is four days old, the pronghorn antelope can outrun a man.

BULGING TROPHY CASE is the pride and joy of the members of the 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty. at Ft. Scott. Designed and built from scraps, the trophy case is on display in the headquarters.

Touche! Fencers Win NorCal Crown

Brownlee, Firth Star In Tight Competition

By Pfc. Dale C. Clark
Star Presidian Sports Editor

The LAH-PSF fencing team fought their way to the top of the heap this week to take the NorCal Open Epee Team Championship. It was the standout ability of two individuals that enabled the locals to squeeze through with the title.

Colonel Laurence Brownlee, Presidio fencer par excellence, fenced the deciding match against Jack Baker of the Pan-Donia Athletic Club, to put the LAH-PSF team into the finals against the Halberstadt Fencing Academy.

In the final matches both teams proved nearly equal, with the edge belonging to the Halberstadt fencers. They compiled a two-point edge going into the final individual match. For the LAH-PSF team it was Lt. Ben Firth against Gordon Schiele of Halberstadt's. Lt. Firth had to win by a match score of 5-3 or the title would go to the Halberstadt Academy. In a whirlwind finish, Lt. Firth nearly shut out his opponent as he won handily 5-1.

LAH-PSF was the defending champion in the competition and took the title again this year along with an appropriate trophy and gold medals to each of the team members. Other team members were Lt. Bill Coleman, M/Sgt. Severo Pasol, M/Sgt. Bert Sheck, Mr. Ed Purdy and Coach Bill O'Brien. By taking first place, the team is qualified for the U.S. Nationals and the Pacific Coast Championships.

Thus far this season the Letterman-Presidio fencers in the Open and Senior events have taken two of the three titles in both individual and team competition with epee and foil. The only other event was the Open Sabre, in which they finished second.

This Sunday, 3 May, 1959, at 1300 the NorCal Three Weapon Championship will be held at the Letterman Sports Center. In this event each individual will be required to fence in foil, sabre and epee competition, making it an extremely difficult and exhausting match.

The trophy for the Three Weapon Championship is the Lt. Harry F. Mortimer Memorial Trophy (Perpetual) offered by Erich A. Funke d'Egnuff of the Funke Fencing Academy. Lt. Mortimer is the brother-in-law of Bill O'Brien, coach of the LAH-PSF teams. He was one of the leading fencers in the United States before he was killed in action in Europe, 1944.

Post Keglers Split Travis Series To Hold Game Margin

The Presidio Toreros, Post bowling team, clung to their one game lead in the Armed Forces Bowling League by splitting with Travis Air Force Base 3-3.

In the first match, the Toreros scored 822, 812 and 894 for a 2528 pin total. Travis finished with 845, 916 and 741 for a 2502 total.

High for the Toreros in the first match was Mahon with 179, 167 and 177 for a 523 series. Travis split their high series between two men, each having 559. Singleton rolled 194, 209, 156 while his teammate Akuna kegged 180, 217, 162.

The second match was a reversal of the first as the Toreros rallied to take two of the three games. Presidio scores were 845, 808 and 900 for a 2553 total. Travis hit 817, 839 and 880 for 2536.

Johnson of the Toreros burned the boards with 233, 172, 192 for a 597 series, high of the meet. Singleton from Travis, carded 160, 191, 168 totaling a 519 series.

ESCAPE-PROOF infield. The Presidio Toreros have no trouble confining hard-hit ground balls with this group of ball hawks covering the infield like a blanket.

Pan American Sked Will Be Biggest In Games History

Latest information from the Chicago headquarters is that the Pan American Games held there this year will be the largest international sports event ever held in the United States.

The first games were held in Buenos Aires in 1951 and the second in Mexico City 1955. Both games drew between 1,200 and 1,500 athletes. Chicago expects and has arranged accommodations for 2,000. Largest is the U.S. group, with 397 participants.

Known officially as the Third Pan American Games, the meet has been expanded to include international competition in the five Olympic classes. Star, Dragon, 5.5 Meters, Finn-monotypes and Flying Dutchman have been scheduled in addition to the Lighting and Snipe classes. The program will be held on Lake Michigan from 28 Aug. to 1 Sept. with all races starting at 1100 (Central Daylight Time).

Toreros Down SFCC 4-2; Mosely Tosses 4-Hitter

The Presidio Toreros baseball team bounced back from three straight losses to topple a tough San Francisco City College nine, 4-2.

Lt. Jim Mosely went the route on the mound, allowing only four hits, and was fully backed by the rest of the team as it was the first game they played errorless ball.

The Toreros jumped off to an early lead with Jack Huckaby singling and scoring on a double by Jake DeSousa. Mal DeWeese then tripled to bring in DeSousa home. In the third inning Johnson singled and moved to second on a bunt. Mosely then singled to left to bring him in.

Frank Zechel hit the longest ball of the game as he rapped a 350-footer but was robbed of the hit when the City College left fielder made a spectacular catch.

Tomorrow the Toreros play the University of San Francisco at 1300 on the USF field, Golden Gate Avenue and Masonic.

Players are still needed and anyone interested in playing is urged to contact the Sports Office, Bldg. 122.

Retorts Stay In Keg Groove; Kops Falter In League Play

Going into the final week of play in the Pacific League, the Hq. Co. 6A No. 3 team has first place sewed up. This week they took the Hq. Co. No. 2 quintet 3-1. Shimada sparkled for the winners with 602-228. Zelanis bowled 495-190 for Hq. No. 2.

Hilltoppers strengthened their second place position by swamping AAA Sparks 4-0. Johnson of the Toppers hit 532-204 and McDonald rolled 412-149 for the losers.

Retorts shut out the 30th Group 4-0, making it the fourth week in a row that they have blanked an opposing team. Lapi-ana was high for the winners with 503-197, while Gardner of the losers recorded a 463-162.

Warrants stayed in hot contention for second place by upending the Regioners 3-1. Sabo of the winners took honors with 544-230 as Niles led the Regioners 476-184.

Bay Bowling League leaders, G1, were ambushed by the third place team from MRU 3-1. For the winners it was Andresen 544-184 as Sabo led G1 518-183.

JAGS tripped a stumbling Garrison crew 3-1 with Burman doing the honors 507-204. Opozda of Garrison kept it from being a shut-out by getting 536-235.

Hq. Co. 6A fought it out tooth and nail with the Triple Aces and came away with a 3-1 victory. Zelanis of the winners posted a 536-200 but was topped by the losers' Fillmer 548-194.

6A Signal came off the deck to paste Compt-Rollers 4-0. Hunt of the winners rolled 489-181. Kunec of the losers came through with a 510-175 that wasn't quite good enough.

Nikes of the Wed. Night Mixed League found that their lead wasn't harmed too much even by splitting with the Spoilers 2-2. It was a close match all the way with Browning of the Spoilers hitting 523-180 only to be edged by Ross of Nikes with 525-180.

In a personal match Helga Lee led the Cutups over Jean Dempsey and the Retorts 4-0. Helga rolled 482-174 and Jean took the short end this week 442-160.

Alley Byes hoisted themselves into third by dropping Guys and Dolls 3-1. Shoudeled led the winning cause 528-193 as Rosselet kept the losers in the thick of it 472-179.

Surprise team of the week in the league were the Tyros as they tossed a monkey wrench into the Pickups' gears and blasted them 4-0. Taylor led the Tyros 503-173. Johnson of the losers had his handicap working against him as he posted 571-213.

Keystone Kops in the Presidio League had their lead cut a bit as they beat the Islanders 3-1. Johnson led the Kops 594-211 but Saito of the losers was close behind, 564-221.

Shafters picked up a game by shackling 60th CI 4-0. It was Wolf of the winners with 540-190 that turned the trick. Manfredi of the losers followed with 433-162.

SFAADS pulled a sneak attack on the Recruiters by knocking them 4-0. Bobbitt of the winners rolled 492-203 but was bested by the losers Bedell 501-183.

King Pins and the Alley Rats kept their own private feud going hot as the Pins took it this time 3-1. For the winners it was Hall 531-192. Iwai of the Rats came out on top with 539-215.

Farber, Bandel Top Play In Hospital Tournament

First place in the annual Letterman Army Hospital Golf Tournament was divided between Col. Charles Farber and Capt. Alex Bandel, both finishing with 248. Col. Farber's scores were 81, 85 and 82. Capt. Bandel's rounds were 84, 79 and 85.

Runner-up in the tournament was Lt. Ronald Tracy who finished with 249 on rounds of 80, 89 and 80. Trophies will be awarded to all three finishers.

The Letterman golf team for competition in the Military Sports Association was selected from players in the local tournament. Team members are: Col. Charles Farber, Lt. Col. F. N. Crandall, Maj. Frank Tarantino, Capt. Alex Bandel, Capt. Frank Westerfield, Lt. William Daggett and Lt. Ronald Tracy.

They will open play in the M.S.A. League next Wednesday when they meet the Two Rock Ranch team on the Sonoma Country Club course.

Need Umps

Softball umpires are needed for the Intramural games. Anyone interested is urged to contact Sfc. Mary Phillips at the Sports Office, Bldg. 122. Phone ext. 2282/3968.

He Believed . . .

From New Mexico comes word of what must be the state's No. 1 optimist.

Having drawn one of a limited number of elk hunting licenses last fall, he proceeded to purchase a $400 home freezer. Shortly after the conclusion of hunting season, a neighbor asked him how he fared.

"I didn't get my elk," he confessed, "but I've got a pound of butter in the freezer."

'Blood For Veterans' Set As Top Civic Project

Mayor George Christopher, of the City of San Francisco, has proclaimed the week 17 through 23 May as "Blood for Veterans Week." The Mayor states that 2,700 pints of blood will be required during 1959 by the Veterans Administration Hospital at Fort Miley. "The 2,683 pints of blood used at the VA Hospital last year saved the lives of many of the nearly 5,000 veterans hospitalized there during that period."

Blood for Veterans Week is an opportunity for everyone to donate blood to fill the vital requirements of the hospital. Veterans are from all branches of the Armed Forces—Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Air Force and Coast Guard, and from all United States conflicts as far back as the Indian Wars.

Mr. Stuart Greenburg, well known San Francisco civic leader, was appointed by Mayor Christopher to act as chairman of the drive.

Donations may be made at the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank of the San Francisco Medical Society, 270 Masonic Avenue. It is advisable to make an appointment with the blood bank by calling JORDAN 7-6400 to avoid delay. Donors should inform the Blood Bank that they are giving for the credit of Fort Miley Veterans Administration Hospital. Acknowledgements will be sent from the hospital to all blood donors.

If transportation is desired, the Yellow Cab Company will provide it free, as a public service—the Blood Bank will arrange this when you make your appointment.

Army Order Sets Rules on Officer Service Transfers

Washington (AFPS) — The Army has published a new directive regulating the interservice transfer of officers on active duty under authority of Public Law 85-599.

The regulation, AR 618-100, dated 10 April, 1959, sets the pattern for commissioned officers of the Army, except those assigned to the various corps of the Medical Service, to switch to the Navy, Air Force or Marine Corps.

Interservice transfer of Armed Forces officers, halted since 1950, was reinstituted by the 85th Congress in the Department of Defense Reorganization Act of 1958. The law provides that the President, within manpower ceilings, may shift any officer with his consent from one service to another.

No officer transferred within the Armed Forces, however, will be given precedence or relative rank higher than he held previously.

While the new legislation was intended primarily to permit full use of specialists, authority for transfer to another service is not restricted to those in technical fields.

The Army said any officer may apply for transfer provided that he is especially qualified to contribute to the success of an activity of another service and the move is in the interest of national defense.

Military Chaplains To Map Program For Aiding Youth

Washington (AFPS) — "Moral Leadership for American Youth" is the theme of the 34th annual convention of the Military Chaplains Association which will be attended by a record number of over 300 Army, Navy and Air Force chaplains 4-6 May.

The delegates, after returning to their various units, aim to approach leaders in the advertising and entertainment fields and enlist their help in raising moral standards. Each will submit a written report of progress to the MCA six months from now.

"This way," says Chaplain (Lt. Col.) William Golder, MCA's executive secretary and treasurer, "the delegates will do more than just sit in agreement at the convention and return home to forget its essence a few days later. We really want to do something to aid the youth of America."

Tenth Federal Personnel Management Confab Due

Presidio of San Francisco's civilian and interested military personnel have been invited to attend the Tenth Federal Personnel Management Conference at the Fairmont Hotel 7-8 May 1959.

Purpose of the biennial conference is to "reappraise our techniques, attitudes and practices—put them under the light of analysis—trade views on methods of 'manpower management'—get the benefit of the other fellow's ideas, and give him some in exchange!"

Speakers and panelists will include: James T. O'Connell, Under Secretary of Labor; George Christopher, Mayor of San Francisco; Barbara Gunderson, recently appointed by President Eisenhower as a Commissioner of the U.S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.; William Pearl, Administrator of the Bonneville Power Administration; Glenn E. Brockway, outstanding Labor Department expert on manpower; Evar Peterson, Regional Chief of the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization; Abe Melinkoff, Editor of the San Francisco Chronicle; Father Andrew Boss, head of the University of San Francisco Labor-Management School; and James Campbell and Vaux Owen, heads of the two large Federal Employee Unions.

Visitors from Washington will also include Ernest C. Betts, Jr., Director of Personnel, Department of Agriculture; Ed Montague, Director of Training, Internal Revenue Service; Douglas Chaffin, Director of Personnel, Housing and Home Finance Agency; John Watts, Director of Personnel, U.S. Air Force; Charles F. Mullaly, Deputy Director of Personnel, U.S. Army; Roy V. Colbert, Director, Training & Development Division, Post Office Department; Dr. Robert H. Felix, Director, National Institute of Health; James C. O'Brien, Director of Personnel, Department of Health, Education and Welfare (Executive Secretary of the newly established Career Development Board); Lewis E. Williams, Assistant Administrator, Division of Administration, Housing and Home Finance Agency.

Under Secretary of Labor James T. O'Connell has held top personnel jobs in and out of Government for thirty years. He's a "three degree" man from Columbia University. Mr. O'Connell's major competences are civil engineering and manpower management. As industrial relations chief of one of New York's largest garment firms, he dealt wisely and sympathetically with top labor—which subsequently applauded his choice as the Under Secretary of Labor.

Additional information and reservation forms may be obtained by contacting Les Scanlon, Civilian Personnel Officer, at Extension 2383.

Military Justice

versed, but the figure of such cases is about the same as prior to 1950.

While court-martial rates today for Army personnel throughout the world are about one-half of what they were during World War II (today this rate shows that about five men out of every thousand will probably be brought before some type of court-martial during a month), this may be due to many factors, such as the stricter requirements for induction, the administrative elimination of undesirables, and improved leadership.

In the Sixth U.S. Army the current court-martial rate is even lower than for the U.S. Army as a whole, and this rate appears to be diminishing even further. The latest figures show 3.59 courts-martial in the Sixth U.S. Army per 1000 men, as contrasted with 5.26 for all commands and 4.38 for CONUS commands.

Several commanders exercise general court-martial jurisdiction in the Sixth U.S. Army area, these being stationed at Fort Lewis, Fort Ord, Fort Mason, the USDB at Lompoc, Fort Huachuca, and the Sixth U.S. Army headquarters.

In 1958 the general court-martial at the Presidio tried 71 cases, but 27 of these were rehearings of cases originally tried at Fort Ord. During the same period there were 96 summary courts-martial and 116 special courts-martial in the Headquarters Sixth U.S. Army jurisdiction (which includes LAH, PSF, Dugway Proving Ground and Sacramento Signal Depot).

'Copter Cable Technique 10 Times More Efficient

Ft. Monmouth, N. J. (ANS)—The U.S. Army has developed a new helicopter technique for laying a newly-developed multi-channel telephone cable at speeds up to 100 miles per hour five to ten times faster than previously possible.

Upon availability of associated telephone multiplex equipment which is under development it will add new speed and versatility to U.S. combat forces. The technique utilizes a compact package, which hooks under a standard Army helicopter, carries 10 miles of telephone cable which is packed in zig-zag fashion to prevent snagging at high pay-out speeds.

Dropped from a fast-moving helicopter, the new cable can span bodies of water and previously impassable terrain to provide a vital communications link between combat headquarters. The same technique could be put to civilian use in flood or disaster areas.

The lightweight telephone cable can carry 96 separate two-way conversations simultaneously, eight times the capability of previous military lines.

This new development in combat communications was achieved jointly by the U.S. Army Signal Research and Development Laboratory, Fort Monmouth, N.J., and the International Telephone and Telegraph Laboratories, Nutley, N.J.

Arlington Buries World War I Soldier; Is No. 100,000

Arlington, Va.—The nation has laid to rest its 100,000 soldier at Arlington National Cemetery with a simple military funeral.

Bernie Malion, 68, who served with the Army for five years in War I was buried 2 April after succumbing to an illness at a Veterans Administration hospital in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Cpl. Malion, who was originally from Poland, lived in Wheeling, W. Va., with his wife and children. He was born in Poland on 30 August, 1890. After coming to America he served with the Quartermaster Corps at Fort Lewis, Wash., during War I.

Seven riflemen of MDW's 1st 3G-3d Inf. were present to fire a volley of rifle salutes as Cpl. Malion was lowered to his grave.

Arlington National Cemetery has been the resting grounds for this nation's war dead since Civil War days.

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

Friday 8 May, 1959

GREETING VISITORS during the annual dinner and business meeting of the San Francisco Chapter of the Association of the United States Army at the Presidio are (l. to r.) newly reelected president, William M. McNabb, and honor guest, Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker.

McNabb, Swig To Key Positions In AUSA Meet Here

William N. McNabb, executive vice president and manager of the First Western Bank and Trust Company, was reelected president and Ben Swig, Fairmont Hotel owner, was elected first vice-president at the annual meeting of the San Francisco Chapter of the Association of the United States Army at the Presidio Officers' Open Mess Thursday evening.

Among the more than 150 guests who attended was Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker. Principal speaker was William Courtenay, OBE, MM, British War Correspondent, currently lecturing in the United States.

Among the other officers elected were: Frank E. March, vice president and manager, Bay Area Council, Chester S. Frosberg, Fort Mason, and Lieutenant Colonel Lenore Price, WAC, vice-presidents; Colonel Walter H. Skielvig, secretary; and Albert Leslie, treasurer.

WORLD'S LARGEST klystron tube, the 12-foot, 900-pound VA-842, especially designed by Varian Associates for use in high power radar and missile tracking, will be on display with the Armed Forces Motorcade next week and at Armed Forces Day Open House at the Presidio on Friday and Saturday, 15-16 May.

Secretary Brucker Says Berlin Troops Are Ready

The determination of military personnel and their dependents in Berlin to carry on with American "strong line" policy greatly impressed Secretary of the Army Wilber Brucker, he said here last week.

Secretary Brucker was on a three-day inspection tour of four installations in the Sixth U.S. Army area and stopped long enough in San Francisco for a press conference and dinner meeting of the Association of the U.S. Army and a visit with Lt. General Charles D. Palmer. He returned to San Francisco the following day for a dinner meeting of the Knights Templar.

No American dependents have asked to be transferred from Berlin, he said, in spite of the continual Soviet threat. He said he was well satisfied with the state of training there and with general Allied readiness.

"We're going to be ready for anything on that day," he said, referring to the May 27th deadline issued by the Soviets for Allied withdrawal from Berlin, "or anytime thereafter. We don't say anything will happen on that date, but we are not taking it for granted."

Secretary Brucker pointed out that even though Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has shied away from his earlier-issued ultimatum, there is still the possibility of Soviet-inspired action on that date in the former German capital.

Mr. Brucker had just returned from a 19-day tour of NATO military forces, including three days of conferences with American military commanders in Berlin. He said he had talked with soldiers and their wives and found morale to be exceedingly high.

The Secretary's visit began on 30 April when he arrived at Camp Irwin, coming to the Presidio later the same day, where an Honor Guard ceremony was held. He visited Fort Ord on 1 May and returned to San Francisco that evening for the Knights Templar meeting. On 2 May he left the Bay Area for a day's stay at Fort Huachuca.

He was accompanied by Mrs. Brucker, Mr. Frank G. Millard, Department of the Army General Counsel, and Mrs. Millard.

False Alarm

Near Tragedy For Presidio MP

Recently, the Star Presidian carried a "kaleidoscope" on Sp4 J. E. Hutchens, the Presidio MP who looks out for the school children on the buses and does such a fine job of ensuring safety on the post.

Tuesday his career almost ended in tragedy.

A fire alarm sounded, and Specialist Hutchens was dispatched to the scene. On the way, his motorcycle struck a piece of rubber lying on the road. The machine went into a skid and Hutchens slid nearly a hundred feet, ending in a bad spill.

Fortunately, the experienced MP was not seriously hurt, and was on duty again the next day.

But the startling part is that the alarm was FALSE—there was no fire. MP Hutchens might easily have been killed—all because some warped personality turned in a false fire alarm.

This is the second false alarm turned in at the Presidio during the past two weeks.

Lt. Colonel Charles F. Helderman, Provost Marshal, Presidio of San Francisco, is deeply concerned. Caught in range of a speeding vehicle, intent upon answering a false fire alarm, it might be your life next.

Two-Day Open House Planned At Presidio

The tenth annual observance of Armed Forces Day in the San Francisco area will be marked by one of the most comprehensive motorcades assembled in the city to display the latest and most modern equipment available to the Armed Forces.

While Armed Forces Day will be observed officially on Saturday 16 May, the week of 11-17 May has been set aside to permit maximum participation and display of the country's military forces and their equipment.

The motorcade will make its first appearance at the Civic Center on 11 May between the hours of 1000 and 1600. On 12 May it will move to the financial district and be on display in the vicinity of Kearny and Pine Streets from 1000 to 1600. The display will appear at Stonestown between 1200 and 2000 on 13 May. It will show next at the Mission Miracle Mile between 19th and 22nd Streets on 14 May from 1000 to 1600. On 15-16 May, the display returns to the Presidio and will be open to visitors from 0930 to 1630.

Retired Activities Day will be observed at the Presidio also on 15 May. On that day, retired military personnel from Northern California have been invited to the military post to renew acquaintances and be brought up to date on the latest developments in the military. The event will be climaxed by a retreat parade starting at 1600. Some 1500 to 2000 retired personnel are expected to attend.

On 16 May, Armed Forces Day, the Presidio will again throw open its gates to the public for an Open House. Visitors are invited to tour the Post and inspect the displays. Letterman Army Hospital will also be open to the public on this day, when there will be guided tours and displays of the newest in medical equipment. Lunch for visitors at a nominal cost will be served in the three Presidio enlisted mess halls from 1130 to 1330.

One of the features of the display will be the rugged Army Mule, the new versatile cross-country vehicle developed to deliver supplies to combat troops in rough terrain. From the Combat Development Experimentation Center at Fort Ord will come several experimental items for the Army of tomorrow, including paper and aluminum uniforms, a radiation face mask, and ion and geiger counters. Several new weapons, including the Army's

Memorial Day

Nears 100 Yr. Mark

Memorial Day is less than 10 years short of being a century old. The Civil War dead it originally honored have since been joined by the Americans who fell in four other conflicts. This spring, as in past years, May 30 will see their graves bright with wreaths and flowers, mute but moving testimonials that time does not let their memory fade in the hearts of the living.

And, as in the past, there will be speeches in which well-meaning speakers will say long-familiar things. The fact that they have been said before will not debate their honest sentiment. All of us deserve a reminder of the great debt we owe the men who died fighting our wars.

We see the Civil War as our greatest national agony—a bitter division of beliefs that we know could never happen again. Yet it is well to remember that Memorial Day originated in the South when women of the Confederacy adorned the graves of soldiers with spring flowers, making no distinction between the men in gray and the men in blue.

It is true that the day as it is observed in the North dates from 1868 when the Commander in Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, Gen. John A. Logan, marked May 30 as a day to honor the Union dead. And it is true that the South has other days for honoring the dead of the Confederacy—April 26 for Alabama, Florida, Georgia and Mississippi; May 10 for the Carolinas, June 3 for Louisiana and Tennessee.

But they are all, really, one day. The passions that tore the nation in half have long since been gutted. The New England Yankee can pay sincere tribute to Johnny Reb; the son of Dixie can bring flowers to the graves of yesteryear's foe. The great issues for which they once spilt blood have, indeed, gone with the wind.

Northerner and Southerner alike have never felt more strongly their common bonds, their common heritage as Americans, than they do today. This sense of unity is sure to be remarked by orators, and long after their eulogies have been forgotten, long after the spring flowers have withered and the wreaths turned brittle, Americans will find strength and meaning in it.

Summer Means

Buddy System Back

Experience has proven the value of the "Buddy System" for the prevention of injuries and fatalities.

With the beginning of the summer vacation season, this becomes of special importance.

The "Buddy System" is simply the custom of pairing off in two's when participating in any sport or activity. Two people travel together and keep an eye on one another.

It is commonly used to prevent drownings of persons engaged in water sports, such as swimming, boating, water skiing, fishing, etc. It can be used to prevent injury or loss of life when people are engaged in hiking, hunting and other types of outdoor activities, especially in rough or mountainous areas, and/or when sudden weather changes produce torrential rains, snowstorms, or blizzards.

Bill To Retain Officers Sent Congress By DOD

Washington (AFPS)—The Defense Department has submitted to Congress a new Officer Personnel Management Bill which would provide for selective retention of regular O-5s and O-6s beyond 20 years' service.

The proposed measure is similar to legislation presented to Congress last year by the DOD. The 1958 bill, however, reached Congress late in the second session and was not considered before adjournment.

The OPM bill seeks to amend Title 10, U.S. Code. The selective retention clause, however, is "permissive" in that it may be employed at the discretion of the secretaries of the separate services.

Designed primarily to enable the services to maintain a regular officer corps of highest quality in all ranks, the proposal links retention of permanent-grade lieutenant colonels, colonels, commanders and captains to the needs of the services and "degree of productivity" rather than solely to a "guaranteed" number of years of service.

The Legislation, Defense manpower officials emphasize, "is not intended and will not be used" for involuntary separation of regular officers due to reductions in force.

Under the changes in Title 10, a service secretary would be authorized to convene a board of at least five general or flag officers to consider and "recommend for continuation" all regular permanent O-5s and O-6s, and O-4s in the case of certain female officers of the various women's corps and medical services, who:

- Have completed more than 20 years total commissioned service;
- Have been considered two or more times, but not selected, for promotion to the next permanent grade.

The secretary will determine the number in each grade under review to be retained. For O-6s this figure may not be less than 80 per cent of those being considered.

Navy and Marine Corps separations would be made at any time during the fiscal year in which the board report is made.

Twice deferred officers of the Army and Air Force would be released by mutual agreement at any time prior to the first day of the seventh month after a board report places them in separation status.

This provision is included because officers selected for involuntary release in the past have had to be retained—often at the personal sacrifice of the individual—for periods up to 21 months under current statutes in order to qualify for severance payments.

In no case, though, would twice deferred officers who are within two years of qualifying for retirement be separated before acquiring retirement eligibility.

Again only with reference to the Army and Air Force, the bill provides authority to select through the permanent grade of lieutenant colonel up to five per cent of a recommended promotion list from below the primary zone of consideration on a "best qualified basis."

This change would not affect Naval and Marine officers, the Defense Department said, since authority to promote permanently from below the primary zone already exists by law for these services.

Costs of the legislation have not been estimated since the money entitled would depend upon the extent to which the proposed discretionary authority of the service secretaries might be exercised.

Palmer Chief Speaker For AFD CC Luncheon

Lieutenant General Charles D. Palmer, Commanding General of the Sixth United States Army, will be the chief speaker at the annual Armed Forces Day luncheon Friday, 15 May, San Francisco Commercial Club, under the sponsorship of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce and the Commercial Club.

Dan E. London, managing director of the St. Francis Hotel and acting president of the Chamber, will preside. Chairman of the day will be Stuart D. Menist, Major General, USAR, and chairman of the Chamber Armed Forces section.

"In addition to honoring our armed forces, this event will mark General Palmer's recent nomination for promotion to four star General in preparation for his assignment as Deputy Commander in Chief, United States Command, Europe," Menist said.

General Palmer served in the European Theatre in World War II with the Second Armored Division and with the headquarters of the V Corps and VI Corps. He commanded the First Cavalry Division, Korea, in 1951. Prior to obtaining his post with the Sixth U.S. Army, he served as Commanding General, U.S. Army, Japan, and as Deputy Commanding General, Eighth U.S. Army.

Reservations or tickets, $3 each, are obtainable at the Chamber, 333 Pine Street, EXbrook 2-4511, Extension 58.

what they said

There has been a lot of discussion recently about Senator Kenneth B. Keating's (R., N.Y.) proposed amendment lowering the voting age from 21 to 18. This week we ask:

Would you like to see the voting age lowered?

ANSWERS

Corporal Joseph Smith, Staff Car Driver, 2nd Missile Bn., 51st Arty. Battery, Fort Baker, 31: Yes, I am really for this change being made. It would give the young people more responsibility. I believe they would take it very seriously and they would vote if given the chance. When we give them more responsibility we are also cutting down on teenage delinquency. "If a man is old enough to fight for his country he should certainly be given the right to vote." But if the law is passed the schools should have special classes on the procedure of voting and its importance to us as Americans.

Pfc. Floyd Roden, Harbor Craft, Diesel Engineer, Ft. Barry, 20: Young people today I think are more serious about voting than people were ten years ago. So I am for the passing of this amendment as most people are. I think that the 18-year-olds should be given full voting privileges and not be allowed to vote just in the city elections. Nor do I believe that this law would be abused by the young people. Classes should be given to all students who are old enough to vote. This would help establish a better understanding of the correct way of voting.

Sp5 William J. Irving, Animal Technician, Ft. Barry, 35: Yes, I am for it. I think that when a young man can be drafted to fight for his country he should certainly be given the privilege to vote. He's as much part of this country as you and I. Besides we need some young ideas for our government's progress. Giving young people the right to vote would also help them feel as though they are part of their country. That's the way we should all feel. I know of young people who would, if given the chance to vote, take it more seriously than we 35-year-old people do.

Sp5 Ronald Mobley, Medical Lab. Technician, Fort Barry, 20: I am definitely for this chance to vote. But I don't think that it should be taken from just the standpoint of the Army. That is that "If a man is old enough to fight he is old enough to vote." We young people should be able to choose our own leaders and not made to accept those chosen by our fathers. After all, young people are as much part of this country as the older people are. So give us a chance to vote. The young people that I know will take it seriously because of the classes they had in school on civics. When I go to vote it won't be because of a party but for the man that I think would qualify for the job.

Pvt. Jim Lawhorn, Education Division, 23: I disagree with him very much. This wornout line that because a person is old enough to participate in active service, he is old enough to vote is ridiculous. Any 18-year-old with an ounce of gumption can follow orders given by a more experienced person. This does not mean he is stupid or unthinking.

It simply means that at 18, a guy is fairly impressionable and more easily swayed from using his own judgment. When a voter does not use his judgment the right to vote has been abused and, to a degree, is not worthwhile.

101st Div. Planning Reunion In August

New York (AFPS)—Plans for the 14th annual reunion of the famed "Screaming Eagles" of WWII have been announced by the 101st Abn. Div. Assn.

The 1959 get-together will be held in New York City at the Statler Hotel on 14-15 Aug. As in other years, it will be a program of social events and fellowship as well as Association business and remembrance of the paratroopers who fell in the 101st's spectacular battles across Europe from D-Day on.

Present-day troopers of the division, now stationed at Ft. Campbell, Ky., will join the 101st's WWII veterans at the New York reunion. Those desiring further information should write to: Leo B. Conner, Executive Secretary, 101st Airborne Division Association, 1529 Eighteenth St., N. W., Washington 6, D. C.

SF State Slates Top Summer Session In Communications

The Language Arts Division of San Francisco State College is offering in its summer session this year, a Symposium on Problems of Communication. The course of study will be led by General Semanticist S. I. Hayakawa, with the assistance of Albert Anderson, Helen Hinze and James Wilson.

The symposium may be taken for three units of upper division or graduate credit. It will examine the relationship of communications to other disciplines and to significant aspects of our culture.

There will be five lectures given during the symposium by: Abraham H. Maslow, psychologist and writer, on Communication and the Personality; Harold Taylor, former president, Sarah Lawrence, Communication and Education; Gregory Bateson, cultural anthropologist, Language and Culture; Walter Van Tilburg Clark, creative writer, Communication and the Arts; Max Lerner, critic and lecturer, Communication and Values.

Military personnel may receive financial assistance through the education program here on post, for this course.

Three NCOs Win Awards At Ft. Baker Ceremonies

During ceremonies held recently at "D" Btry., 2nd Msl. Bn., 51st Arty., awards were presented to M/Sgt. Harold M. Engle and Sfc. George F. Parsons.

Sgt. Engle was presented the first Oak Leaf Cluster for his Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant for service as Ammunition Storage Specialist with the G-4 Section, 6th Region, U.S. Army Air Defense Command, as First Sergeant, Hdqs. Det., and as First Sergeant, "D" Btry.

A Certificate of Achievement was awarded to Sfc. Parsons for "his leadership, knowledge and perseverance in achieving the 6th Region Best Mess Award for the period October 1957 to March 1958."

Also presented during the ceremonies were a check for $10 to Sfc. Shelby Beery for placing second in the 2nd Msl. Bn. rifle matches, and a reenlistment plaque to Capt. James O. Barnes, CO, Btry. "D."

Msl. Bn. Ex. O. Retires

Retiring Executive Officer of Hdqs. 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty., Lt. Colonel Conrad O. Mannes, Jr., was honored during retreat ceremonies at Ft. Winfield Scott.

Formerly at Ft. Bliss, Texas, during the development of NIKE-AJAX; with the first NIKE package unit sent to Ft. George G. Meade, Md.; and a AAA Staff Officer in Formosa, Col. Mannes has been with the Army for twenty years, and now plans to make his home in Mill Valley.

Bay Area WAC Units To Mark 17th Birthday

Picnics, dinners, a parade and a reception on 14 May will be part of the Bay Area festivities celebrating the 17th Anniversary of the Woman's Army Corps.

Members of D Co., USAG, and their invited guests will enjoy a picnic on Stinson Beach, while Ft. Mason WACs will picnic in a local park following a "Battle Group" parade, at which they will be the honor company.

Plans for Letterman Army Hospital include an Open House in the barracks from 1500 to 1700, and a dinner in the evening for members and their guests.

Commanded by Capt. Catherine G. Landry, Oakland Army Terminal's WAC unit will invite staff officers to a dinner in the company.

Concluding the week's activities will be a reception for Bay Area WAC officers in the Ballroom of the Presidio Officers Open Mess, Sunday, 17 May, from 1700 to 1830.

Invitations will be extended to Sixth Army staff and commanders, commanders of installations, members and former members of DA-COWITS, reserve and retired officers, and representatives of other women's services.

Top Judges Named For Interservice Photo Competition

Washington (ANS)—Four of the nation's top photographic and art experts have accepted invitations to serve as judges for the Eighth Interservice Photography Contest.

Judging the finals of the contest, which will be held at the Marine Barracks, Eighth and Eye Streets, S. E., Washington, D. C., June 9, will be:

Miss Louise Dahl Wolfe, of Harper's Bazaar Magazine; Mr. Irving Desfor, Associated Press Newsfeatures; Mr. Ivan Dmitri, renowned color photography expert, and Mr. Jacob Kainen, Curator, Division of Graphic Arts, Smithsonian Institution.

The Marine Corps is host for the Eighth Interservice Photography Contest.

Army Urges Commanders To Raise NCO Prestige

Washington (AFPS)—The Army has taken new steps spurring commanders to extend the responsibility and latitude of leadership of NCO's in order to enhance their military prestige and civic stature.

The primary peacetime task of the troop commander with reference to his non-commissioned officers, the Army maintains, is to "train his subordinate leaders to make decisions by permitting freedom of action in order to develop initiative and to gain experience."

In addition to the consideration of separate quarters, clubs and messing facilities—already established where possible—and the extra privileges accorded the NCO as a leader, the suggestions in a Department of the Army letter to commanders at all levels include:

- Increase authority and freedom of action for NCO's.
  - Urge NCO participation in civic affairs.
  - Reduce the supervision of officers at troop formations.
  - Issue "mission type instructions" rather than detailed orders to NCO's.
  - Grant NCO's greater voice in decisions involving promotions, privileges and punishments for their subordinates.
  - Back and support the action of NCO's "wherever necessary."
  - Extend the privileges "over and above" those of other enlisted personnel to make NCO rank more coveted.
  - Inspire NCO self-improvement to raise professional competence, technical ability and leadership quality.
- A program also should be started within the NCO ranks, the Army said, to raise standards and ethics in matters of conduct, appearance, military bearing and integrity.

All-Service NCO Meeting At Presidio This Evening

The quarterly meeting for more than 300 senior non-commissioned officers of all the armed services in the San Francisco and East Bay Areas will be held tonight from 1630 to 1830 at the Presidio NCO Club.

The master sergeants of the San Francisco-Travis AFB Army Air Defense will be hosts. Many senior officers from the major military commands in the Bay Area are invited as special guests.

Gilbert G. Whaite, Sergeant-Major of the 40th Artillery Brigade at Fort Barry, who is chief host and coordinator of the event, says, "This meeting is to bring together the senior NCO leaders of all services to further harmonious relations on interservice coordination."

Highlighting the evening's itinerary will be an address at 1700 by Lt. Gen. Charles Palmer, Commander of the Sixth U.S. Army.

Providing the background for the colorful event will be a Sixth Army Honor Guard, a presentation of colors by the 40th Artillery Brigade Color Guard, the United Nations Flags and colors of the entire U.S. Army Air Defense Command. There will also be a NIKE AJAX and NIKE HERCULES guided missile on display.

The U.S. Army Air Defense Command Choral Group will provide a medley of service songs and other sections for pre-dinner entertainment.

Introductory remarks will be by Master Sergeant Roy Driver of the 40th Artillery Brigade, and the introduction of guests will be by Master Sergeant Merle Steele, First Sergeant of 40th Brigade Headquarters Battery.

AER Drive Is Immediate Success; $7,385 To Fund

A standing-room-only crowd packed the Frontier Night celebration at the Presidio Officers Open Mess last Saturday evening and when the "gold" was counted out Army Emergency Relief and the Army Relief Society were $7,385 richer.

"This gives us $2,200 over our assigned quota ($5,167) and puts us in the happy position of going over the top on the second day of the drive," said Colonel A. L. Bivins, Sixth U.S. Army Quartermaster, and chairman of the committee staging Frontier Night.

Lt. Colonel James R. Showers, Post ExO and chairman of the Presidio campaign announced that the official "drive for funds" would end this week, however, since several activities have planned special events these funds will be welcome, along with individual contributions at any time."

Col. Showers praised the "individual effort and generosity of the personnel who were so active in making this AER Drive the briefest and most successful in Presidio history." Col. Showers singled out the WAC for their "fine job in making the individual contacts that contributed greatly to the success of the drive."

Col. Bivins also had high praise for the contribution of time and effort made by the WAC. "Of course, I believe credit for the immediate success of the drive belongs to these dedicated committee members who gave so abundantly of their time and enthusiasm. The support given to Frontier Night by the other commands was invaluable. The women's groups were vital to our planning committee."

Final results of the drive will be announced upon completion of several other activities directed towards raising funds for AER.

30th Arty's Top Soldier

Chosen 30th Arty. Group Soldier of the Month for a second time, Sp4 Richard L. Permenter, Btry. D, 2nd Msl. Bn., 51st Arty., will now compete against a 29th Arty. Group Soldier for the title of Brigade Soldier of the Month.

A native of Texas, Permenter lives with his wife, Carlene, in Sausalito.

Commanders Conference Draws Top Guests Here

Commanders of installations in the Sixth Army area met at the Presidio last week to review the past year and plan their operations in the year ahead.

The conference was attended by the commanders of 22 installations in the eight western states. Lieutenant General Charles D. Palmer, Sixth U.S. Army Commander, opened the meeting with a welcoming address and the rest of the morning-long seminar was devoted to the discussion of common problems and goals.

Presentations were given by Colonel R. Cardell, Colonel W. R. Rainford, Colonel F. K. Mearns, Colonel R. E. Goode and Colonel C. A. Schrader. General Palmer closed the meeting with a 30-minute talk. The afternoon was devoted to a visit to Staff Sections at Sixth Army headquarters.

Among those attending the conference, in addition to officers assigned to Sixth Army Headquarters, were: Major General Louis W. Truman, Commanding General, Fort Lewis; Major General John W. Harmony, Commanding General, XV U.S. Army Corps (Reserve); Major General Francis M. Day, Commanding General, X U.S. Army Corps (Reserve); Major General Carl F. Fritzsche, Commanding General, U.S. Training Center, Fort Ord; Brig. General Edgar T. Conley, Commanding General, Hospital.

Camp Irwin; Colonel Marion M. Brown, Presidio of San Francisco; Colonel John R. Dey, Fort Lawton; Colonel Roland C. Bower, Jr., Fort Douglas; Colonel Milo I. Gray, Fort MacArthur; Colonel Harry T. Baker, Yuma Test Station; Colonel Donald L. Lewis, Camp Hanford; Colonel Melvin W. Kernkamp, 505th Signal Group, Fort Huachuca; Lt. Colonel Herbert H. Scott-Smith, Fort Huachuca; Lt. Colonel Richard F. Zeoli, Army Language School; Colonel Weldon W. Cox, Branch USDB, Lompoc; Major Robert A. Cronin, Camp San Luis Obispo, and Captain Richard T. Greaney, Camp Stoneman.

Five commanding officers were guests at the conference. They were: Major General Edward J. McGow, Commanding General, Sixth Region, U.S. Army Air Defense Command; Brig. General Robert C. Tripp, Commanding General, U.S. Army Transportation Terminal, Fort Mason; Colonel Edward J. Ingmire, 5th Artillery Group, Camp Hanford, and Colonel A. L. Tynes, Letterman Army Hospital.

Presidio's Unique Map Unit Folds; Troops To Ft. Belvoir

The 171st Engineer Detachment (Relief Map), 30th Engineer Battalion (Base Topographic), was inactivated this week at Fort Scott. Personnel and equipment will be transferred to the 21st Engineer Company (Base Photomapping), at Fort Belvoir, Virginia.

Arriving at the Presidio of San Francisco on 2 April 1955, the 171st was attached to the 99th Engineer Company (Reproduction Base). The detachment was the only unit on active duty in the U.S. Army engaged solely in the making of relief maps.

2nd Lieutenant William L. McGovern, Sfc. Michael Moner and 16 enlisted men have been performing a most interesting task. The building which they have occupied at Fort Scott resembled a glorified hobby shop, complete with every machine the "do it yourself" hobbyist dreams of.

Since arrival the detachment has been testing various methods of producing three dimensional plastic relief maps; operating with a variety of materials obtained locally or through regular supply agencies. This unit's peacetime experience will result in the improvement and standardization of plastic relief maps.

Standard maps, printed in plastic and heated in a vacuum press to show relief in three dimensions as well as by contour lines, have opened a new field for the Corps of Engineers in its topographic service to the U.S. Army. Although field production of relief maps is a fairly recent innovation, results indicate that increased demands for tactical relief maps will see the formation of new relief map units in time of emergency.

The making of plastic relief maps is only a part of the job of the 171st. A secondary mission is the construction of three dimensional terrain models. One of the first and finest examples of this work is the model of the Presidio, now located in the conference room at Presidio of San Francisco, California Headquarters.

The latest, last, and largest model made by the unit is a large scale model of Presidio of Monterey, Fort Ord and vicinity. This model is 12 feet by 19 feet and made of seven sections, each section weighing 120 pounds. The cities of Monterey, Pacific Grove, surrounding towns and built-up areas of Fort Ord are shown by carefully assembled recent aerial photographs.

This model is one of the largest ever made by Corps of Engineer troops and was completed in 11 weeks. Other models constructed by the 171st include Fort Scott, Bakers Beach, Kirby Beach, Marin County, Forts Barry and Cronkhite, Fort Funston, models of NIKE sites, and several models of areas surveyed by the 30th Engineers.

AFA Sets Spring Social Next Week; Roderick To Speak

The Golden Gate Chapter of the Army Finance Association is holding its Spring Social Dinner Wednesday evening, 13 May. The informal event will be held at Sabeila's Restaurant on Fisherman's Wharf. Cocktails will be served from 1900 to 2000 with dinner in the banquet room at 2000.

The chapter has extended an invitation to all chapter members, their wives and invited guests. The highlight of the evening will be a talk by the Honorable George H. Roderick, Assistant Secretary of the Army for Financial Management. Mr. Roderick will speak from a "Pentagon Point-of-View."

Place your reservations early and not later than 1600 Friday, 8 May, by mail or phone to the Chapter Secretary: Mrs. Alberta M. Brooks, c/o Golden Gate Chapter, AFA, Bldg. 102, Presidio of San Francisco. The telephone number is WEst 1-6111, Ext. 4387. The chapter asks that you forward check and state choice of menu when making your reservations.

San Francisco is the site of the nation's first underground garage—Union Square.

On-Post High School Courses

A high school education is yours for the asking!

The Adult Division of the San Francisco City Schools is sponsoring a new program of high school courses here at the Presidio, starting Monday, 11 May.

The program is one of six-week semesters and will offer the following courses: English and Literature, from 0800 to 1000, and will be taught by Mrs. Gorman; U. S. History and Government, from 1000 to 1200, Mrs. Gorman; General Mathematics, 1300 to 1500, Mr. Alba; and General Science, 1500 to 1700, Mr. Alba.

Upon Completion of all four courses, students will receive a high school certificate that covers the series, and may also qualify for their high school diploma, if they can meet certain additional requirements. Students may enroll in any or all of the four courses.

Registration is simple: contact the Army Education Center, Bldg. 258, Presidio, Tel. Ext. 2974.

PRESIDIO'S FINEST. members of the Presidio Fire Department look proudly on as Colonel M. M. Brown presents Fire Chief George Geller with the National Fire Protective Association 3rd place certificate for outstanding work in fire prevention. (l. to r.) Colonel M. M. Brown, Chief George Geller, Capt. Jim Bonnet, Inspector Bill Cheney, Capt. Jack Anfible, Firemen Bill Rusk, Frank Anderson, and Bob Lord. This is the first year since 1956 that the Presidio Fire Department hasn't placed first in the competition. Chief George Geller said that last year the department's losses amounted to only 12,300 dollars, of which 10,000 was off post. He went on to say, "For the last 8 or 9 years we have never missed 'being in the money' in this contest."

"This place is buggy, but I love it." That's what Sp6 Paul Rigby said of the Entomology section of the Sixth Army Medical Lab. Paul is one of the experts used by the lab for their research in disease prevention.

"In 1931 I started studying Entomology at the University of Utah. I was more or less pushed into this field by a couple of uncles of mine who were doctors. Lo and behold, but after studying it for a while I found that I liked it. It's been my first love ever since. Then in 1935 I went to Utah State to get my Masters. I was there for one year.

"In March, 1940, I went on active duty in the Army. My first assignment was as Battery Executive Officer. Then later in 1940 I was Assistant Post Adjutant at Fort Lewis. When we entered the war in 1941, I was sent to Africa for the African Campaign."

"1200 classified fleas"

"The Italian Campaign was next on my list of hot spots with the 41st Field Artillery. When Rome fell, I was transferred to the 39th Field Artillery and stayed with them through France until almost the end of the war."

"In April, 1945, I went to the Seventh Army Headquarters as chief of the War Crimes Investigations. We investigated most of the cases that you hear about. I had about 100 Officers and 150 enlisted men working for me there. We were at the famous Nuremberg trials."

When Paul came home in November, 1945, he was assigned to Fort Sill as assistant G4. That same year he was transferred to the Navy as executive officer to the Army Chief of Staff. The Army Chief of Staff was at that time Chief of Staff to the Commander Amphibious Forces, Pacific Fleet.

"During the Korean War, I was chief of all real estate and construction in the Far East for the Army, Navy and Air Force. I was a Colonel then. In 1957 I was relieved from active duty so I reenlisted for the Sixth Army Medical Lab. I've been here ever since.

"As I said before, this is my first love. I'm in seventh heaven here working with the things that I love to work with. You know, we have one of the finest collections of insects in the United States. The Plague Lab in San Francisco recognized our collection as 'one of the finest in the world.'"

"We are interested here in insects of possible medical importance. We have over 5,000 mosquitoes, and this number is just adults, not larvae. Our flea collection numbers about 1,200 classified fleas. We have over 500 more that are unclassified as of yet. We maintain an up-to-date collection that can benefit the medical profession, both civilian and military."

SF Selected As Site For Boy Scout Meet

The Boy Scouts of America will hold its forty-ninth National Annual Meeting in San Francisco for the first time in over 30 years, on 5-6 June.

The San Francisco Scout Council will play host to the meeting with P. Tremain Loud, a former president of the Council, acting as chairman of a large volunteer committee handling all arrangements for it.

More than 2500 delegates and their wives are expected to attend from all over the United States, representing top business, professional, religious and educational leaders who carry out this youth program in America for over 3½ million boys.

They serve as members of boards of directors, committeemen and representatives for all the churches, service clubs, veterans' organizations, PTA's and other groups which sponsor the nation's 123,000 Cub Packs, Scout Troops and Explorer Posts.

During the forthcoming meeting, the top echelon of Scouting's adult leaders will hear reports of the progress of the organization, and discuss everything from finance, leadership, camping, training to international and rural Scouting problems.

All the delegates will receive a special invitation to attend the 1959 Scout-O-Rama to be held for the first time at Kezar Stadium (6 June) where local Scouts will stage for the people of San Francisco and the visitors a spectacular arena-type show presented in nine big acts and featuring thousands of Cubs, Scouts and Explorers.

Serving on Loud's committee are: George L. Harding, retired; George N. Mardikian, owner, Omar Khayyam's; Peter E. Lakin, Peter Lakin Associates, all vice chairmen; Walter A. Haluk, senior vice president, Industrial Indemnity Co., program chairman; Raymond E. Marks, assistant to vice president, Southern Pacific Co., transportation chairman; René M. Claudon, vice president, Industrial Indemnity Co., physical arrangements chairman; Mrs. Jerd Sullivan, ladies committee chairman; Chapin P. Hunt, sales executive, Zellerbach Paper Co., housing and feeding chairman; Dr. Lester R. Steig, salary coordinator, S. F. Public Schools, registration chairman; Paul W. Harvey, manager public relations, Shell Oil Co., public information chairman; Roy N. Buell, division manager, Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co., information chairman; Leonard P. Davis, partner-owner, Davis Furniture Co., Scout services chairman; and W. E. J. Ord, retired, finance chairman.

In the Bay Area there are over 100,000 members of the Boy Scouts and in San Francisco, approximately 16,000 boys and leaders.

Santa Rosa To Host 30 Nikemen During Armed Forces Fete

Citizens of Santa Rosa have invited thirty soldiers of the San Francisco-Travis AFB Army Air Defense to be guests of honor at their Armed Forces Day Celebration on May 16.

The invitations are a "citizens' thank you" for the Army-sponsored "Operation Big Heart" last Christmas. This was a Christmas party for Santa Rosa's handicapped children held at the NIKE guided missile site of Battery "A", 4th Missile Battalion, 61st Artillery, at Fort Funston.

The citizens also wish to learn more about the Bay Area's Army Air Defense through the men who actually man the NIKE missile sites.

The day's activities will include softball, volleyball, swimming, a spaghetti dinner, and square dancing. A social dance, with young ladies from Santa Rosa as hostesses, will climax the day's festivities.

MUSIC HATH CHARMS to cure many things, but not the fire-eating compulsion of Sp4 Robert L. Leming, a magician appearing with the U.S. Army Air Defense Command Choral Group. The Missilemen singers will give a performance at the Presidio Service Club at 2000 hours this evening. The public is invited.

Blank Sac Depot Squad In MSA League Opener

Letterman opened the Military Sports Association's softball league by downing Sacramento Signal Depot 10-0 at Sacramento. Lt. Bob McNamara twirled a brilliant three-hitter, striking out six and walking only one batter.

Fattening up their batting averages were Pfc's Hank Vasquez and Chuck Barnes, both getting two hits in four trips to the plate. Vasquez drove in three runs and Barnes drove in two while scoring twice himself.

"I'm quite satisfied with our performance in the opening game but we'll have to be on our toes when we meet Stockton. I hear that they beat Oakland Army Terminal 17-1 and their pitcher struck out 17 men, but if we get by them I think we have a good chance to win the title," says Letterman Coach Sfc. Frank Cienczyk.

LAH plays their first home MSA game today at 1400 on the Hayward Field, located on Gough between Turk and Golden Gate.

Manager Needed!!

WANTED! Desperately need a manager for one of the Presidio Pony League teams. Applicants are requested to call Major Ben Kvitzky, Ext. 2002 or see him in Bldg. 122, Post Special Services Office.

SMILING RECIPIENT of a $63.00 check to the Little League from the Military Police Association is Charles Duke, third baseman for the Giants. On hand for the ceremony are (l. to r.) Capt. Leaman Harvey, CO 163rd M.P. Co.; Charles Duke; Lt. Col. Charles Helderman, Presidio Provost Marshal and M/Sgt. Edmond Franklin, Little League Director. Funds were raised from the annual MPA International Golf Day.

Post Golf Team Draws With Air Force Squad

The Presidio Toreros golf team hurled the challenge at McClellan Air Force Base duffers in the Armed Forces Sports League. The challenge was accepted and in the ensuing battle both teams scored 13½ points to split the game.

Presidio players in the first foursome were Maj. George Reuss and Sgt. Murray Jacobs, who scored 5½ points while losing 3½. Next ones out for the Toreros were Sp4 Darrell Mohr and Lt. Col. James Showers, who came back with the same score as the preceding group. Last group out for Presidio were Capt. Leaman Harvey and M/Sgt. Clifford Rogers, who picked up 2½ points while losing 6½.

Medalist for the day was Murray Jacobs with a 73, followed by Darrell Mohr with a 74. Jacobs is defending Presidio Intramural Champion but will probably not be able to defend his title as he is being levied to Europe.

Youth Fitness Field Day Expects Record Entries

Both Presidio Service Clubs and the Teenage Club are sponsoring a National Youth Fitness Field Day tomorrow on the PX Field at 1400. Activities will be divided into two groups: Elementary (10-12 years of age), and Teenage (13-16 years).

The supervised activities open to both girls and boys will include 50-yard dash; tug-o-war; hop, step and jump for distance; softball throw for both distance and accuracy; football throw for distance and accuracy; golf putting; standing broad jump; 8-pound shotput and horseshoes.

Registration forms may be obtained from either of the Service Clubs or the Teenage Club. For the last minute crowd, registrations will be taken at the field but applicants are requested to return the blanks before then.

Peggy Shaw, co-ordinator for the event, states that "We hope to have a good showing and this year we have adequate personnel to insure smooth sailing. Last year all those hula-hoops nearly drove me crazy, thank goodness the fad died out."

You're encouraged to get out and watch your youngster participate.

BRINGING HOME THE BACON, or trout, that is, are Sfc. D. O. Richter (l.) and Sgt. J. C. Craig. Both men were among the early risers who took home trout limits on opening day at Rodeo Lagoon.

Toreros Drop Tight One To Tough USF Dons

The Toreros tasted a bitter defeat at the hands of the USF Dons, 8-7. Leading 7-4 in the last of the ninth with two away, the roof fell in and the Dons scored four runs to win the game.

Up until the disaster, Toreros pitcher Jake DeSousa had limited the Dons to two hits. "It marks the first time in three years that I've gone the full route on the mound," Jake said.

USF jumped off to a three-run lead in the first inning on one hit and three walks. DeSousa then settled down and gave up only one run for the next seven innings.

Bob Johnson of the Air Defense Motor Pool hit a long 380-foot homer and Frank Zechel of 16th BPO had three singles in four times at bat. Ralph White, catcher from Sixth Army Special Troops, drove in three runs with a bases loaded double. Al Hasson of MRU had a perfect day at the plate, getting on base four straight times.

Tonight the Toreros get a chance to play the Falstaffs, the leading semi-pro team in the Bay area. The game will be played at Washington Park in Santa Clara; time is 2000.

Sunday the Presidio Toreros will christen their new baseball diamond here on the Presidio at 1100 when they play host to Humboldt State Teachers College in a double header.

The Lumberjacks are currently leading the Far Western Conference and have always had a strong team in past meetings with the Toreros. Last year the teams split with the Jacks taking the first game and the Toreros coming back strong to win the second.

Both teams will pull out all the stops as the Jacks have a chance to be in the NCAA playoffs if they continue to lead their league. The Toreros are played into top form and, in the words of Coach Hal Fischer, "I think we can take both games this time if they play the same as they did last year."

The new field is located at the intersection of Portola and Rodriguez, southeast of the Pitch 'n Putt golf course and northeast of the Julian Kahn playground.

Intramural Softball Competition Tougher; Two Leagues Going

Intramural softball is fast becoming a battle of top teams and also-rans. With two and three games a week, managers are tearing their hair trying to find a suitable lineup that will perform consistently and still be able to make each game.

The Air Defense League is just getting its feet wet in the intramural schedule as only two games have been played to date.

40th Brigade downed a determined Hq. 30th Arty. Gp. team 12-8. Big gun for the 40th was Dublin who hit a homerun with one on. The 40th jumped off to a 6-0 lead in the first only to see it melt like a spring snow when the 30th scored one in the second and seven more in the third. Their lead was short lived as the 40th came back with a four-run outburst in the bottom of the third. The game was called at the end of four innings because of the time limit.

A Battery downed the Medical Lab. 15-7 in a close game that saw the lead change hands five times before A Battery scored four in the third on one hit and three Med. Lab. errors. Outstanding hitter of the game was third baseman Walsteinburgh of Med. Lab. with three hits in four times at bat.

The Honor Guard nine are high in the standings of the Presidio League with three wins and no defeats. Their first victims were the USA Dispensary 10-4. Lyons of the Dispensary knocked a homerun which was equalled by Rath of the Honor Guard when he also put one out of the park.

Honor Guard next shut out the 16th BPO 9-0 behind the fine pitching of Ed Johnson. Quintinskie of 16th BPO was their top batter going two for three. His effort was matched by Lee of the Honor Guard. Two Honor Guard players, Johnson and McKensie, hit two in four trips to the plate.

Continuing their winning style Honor Guard shut out the team from USA Garrison 5-0. Both teams got five hits but Garrison fumbles let more Honor Guard runners cross the plate. Johnson was the winning pitcher and Reid the loser.

USA Garrison suffered their worst intramural defeat of the season at the hands of Sixth Army Special Troops 17-1. Special Troops brought in one run in the first but it was matched by Garrison in their half of the inning. From there on in the roof fell for Garrison. Five errors by Clark at shortstop, four in one inning gave Special Troops more than enough runs to win the game. Gascon was the winning pitcher and Reid the loser.

USA Garrison rebounded enough to beat the determined Teenagers 13-11. It was a game where the lead changed hands so many times it was impossible to keep accurate count. Two long homers by Garrison's Engle kept the Teenagers at bay. Marlow pitched for the Teenagers and collected two hits while at the plate. Reid pitching for Garrison banded out three hits in four trips.

Teenagers took another loss at the hands of MRU 15-13. The big blow of the game was a bases loaded home run by Quinlin of MRU in the last inning. Packard had four hits in five trips and Hunt three for MRU. Terry garnered two hits for the losers.

Next contest for MRU was against the 99th Engineers which they won 15-10. Fletcher of MRU had a field day at the plate driving in four runs on two doubles in four trips. Scales and Staub also had two for four. May of the Engineers hit two in three trips to the plate.

MRU's latest was a tight 8-7 win over the USA Dispensary. Small pitched for MRU and Talivaa for the Dispensary. Bola of the Dispensary was the game's leading batter with three hits in five trips to the plate. Hunt had 2 hits for MRU and the only home run of the game was hit by Talivaa.

USA Dispensary finally got on the winning end by knocking 16th BPO 14-8. Loggins of the 16th was the outstanding batter getting three for three. Talivaa and Freeman, the winning pitcher, both had three for four on the Dispensary side of the scorebook.

In another high scoring game the USA Training Group socked the 99th Engineers 20-2. Greatest cause of the score is the fact that the 99th pitchers walked 20 batters. Conlan and Gibbs each had two hit for the winners. Magill and Mel Johnson both hurled for the Training Group.

USA Training Group shut out Sixth Army Special Troops 5-0 behind Magill's one-hitter. Both Johnson and Scott hit homers for the Training Group.

Torero Softball Squad To Compete In Marin League

The Presidio Toreros, Post softball team, will enter play in the Marin County Softball League. All games will be held on Alberts Field in San Rafael on Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

This marks the first time an Army team has entered this league, classified as one of the fastest softball leagues in the Bay area.

Some of the other teams definitely in the league are: Hamilton Air Force Base, Napa, San Rafael, Mill Valley and one Navy team. More teams are to be selected in the near future.

Anyone interested in trying out for the Post team is urged to call M/Sgt. George Van Kirk at Ext. 5323 or report to the Ft. Scott softball field at 1645 on 13 May.

AER Hole-In-One Tourney Play Set For Presidio Course

The annual Presidio Hole-In-One Golf Tournament, conducted as an aid to the Army Emergency Relief Fund, will be held on the Presidio Golf Course.

Dates of play are 26-27 May and 30-31 May. Hole No. 13 is the one chosen as the "lucky" one for some sharpshooting duffer. There is no entry fee as such, but golfers will pay $1.00 per ball for a try at the hole in a regular round of golf.

Prizes are 25, 15 and 10 dollar certificates for first, second and third places. Certificates are redeemable in merchandise from the Golf Pro Shop or the Post Exchange.

Giants, Cards Win Games In Inaugural Meeting

By Pfc. Dale C. Clark
Star Presidian Sports Editor

The Presidio Golden Gate Little League officially opened Saturday with a double-header. The first game between the Giants and the Cubs was taken by the Giants 9-1. The second game was nip and tuck all the way with the Cards finally edging by the Yanks 9-7.

The Ft. Mason Army Band played the "Star Spangled Banner" as the American Flag was raised in centerfield by the Honor Guard. All Little League players assembled on the field to take the Little League Pledge.

Col. M. M. Brown, Commanding Officer, Presidio of San Francisco, tossed out the first ball of the season and play was under way.

A myriad of players roamed the bleachers during the game, taking time out once in a while to make a determined assault on the refreshment stand. The smiles on the ladies in charge of the stand grew weaker as the afternoon progressed, but they held out, dishing up the last hot dog, handing out the last bag of popcorn and found that last ice cream bar that had somehow managed to wedge itself in an inaccessible place in the freezer. It was at least as great as the spectacle the Giants put on in Seals Stadium for their opener.

Presidio-LAH Fencers Win Three Weapon Title

Letterman Army Hospital-Presidio of San Francisco fencers swept to another title this week as they captured first place in the NorCal Three Weapon Championship. This was the final qualifying event for the Pacific Coast Championships and the U. S. Nationals.

After a gruelling eight hours of fencing using the foil, sabre and epee, M/Sgt. Severo Pasol of Letterman was declared the winner. It was a remarkable display of fencing as he was handicapped in the latter part of the competition by severe muscle cramps in the legs.

Second was taken by Col. Laurance Brownlee of the Presidio squad, missing first by the scant margin of three touches. It was a repeat of last year when he also finished second to another Letterman fencer.

Peter Schwartz, representing Letterman, tied for third and lost by one touch to Al Lambert of the Halberstadt School of Fencing. Other fencers from Presidio and Letterman were: Mr. Ed Purdy (6th), Lt. Eugene Hardy (7th) and M/Sgt. Bert Scheck (9th).

The Lt. Harry Mortimer Perpetual Three Weapon Trophy due M/Sgt. Pasol, will be presented to Letterman Army Hospital with appropriate ceremony at the time of the Pacific Coast Championship, 30-31 May.

The Pacific Coast Championship, alternating between Los Angeles and San Francisco, will be held at the Letterman Sports Center for the fourth time. Following the Pacific Coast event, the LAH-PSF fencers will go to Los Angeles 27 June-4 July for the U. S. National Fencing Championship.

A quick follow-up after the Nationals is the Pan American Games held at Chicago in August. The performance of the local fencers in both the Pacific Coast and the Nationals will determine whether any of them are nominated to the Pan American team.

LAH Measures Mules 3-1 As Snay Goes Distance

Letterman Army Hospital's softball team took an undisputed lead in the City League by toppling the Missouri Mules 3-1. Sgt. Al Snay went all the way on the mound, allowing five hits, while striking out nine and walking five.

In the batting department "Smiley" Gomez rapped out a double to bring in one score and scored another run himself. Pfc. Dan Moran, LAH lead-off man, hit twice and scored once.

Stellar play of the game came when catcher Jim Hanson picked a Mule runner off second base by throwing to Jack Frakes. In trying to get back to the base the runner upended Frakes and knocked him out for a full five minutes. Even though he was "off in dreamland" Frakes held tight to the ball, putting the runner out and cutting off a Mule rally.

When he came to bat in the next inning Frakes pounded out a crisp single but was seen to be limping on the basepath by Coach Sfc. Frank Ciencyk, who pulled him from the game. X-rays revealed that Frakes has pulled ligaments in his knee and will be out of action for at least eight weeks.

Last night LAH played the Golden Gate Club for the Deaf in the City League; results in next week's Star Presidian.

Pac Second Round Completed

Final results in the second round of Pacific League bowling find the keglers from Hq. Co. No. 3 seven games in the lead. This week Hq. Co. No. 3 jumped on the last place AAA Sparks 3-1. Shimada led the winners with 561-200. Berry kept the Sparks in the battle by posting 549-228.

Hilltoppers finished in second place by the skin of their teeth as they took the short end of a 3-1 series with Hq. Co. No. 2. Holmes rolled 505-186 for the Toppers and Johnson had 557-194 for the winners.

Warrants took the third-place Retorts 3-1 and as a result pulled themselves into a tie for third. Stephens bowled 469-165 for the Warrants and Pederson had 473-165 for the Retorts.

Regioners whacked the 30th Group 3-1 with Niles leading the winners 486-174. Peterson paced the losers 455-162.

Hq. Co. No. 3, winners of the second round, will meet Warrants, first round winners, in a three-game play-off for the League Championship, 12 May at 1900 on the Presidio Bowling Alley.

WAC bowling returns to the scene after an extended leave with the Alley Kats 12 games in front. This week they blanked the Powder Puffs 4-0 with Hefner hitting a strong 481-187. Sparks of the Puffs rolled 404-169.

Brewmasters upended the Orbits 3-1 with Parr of the winners rolling 453-163. Miller of the Orbits came through with 393-160.

Wed. Night Mixed League has one more week to go and the Nikes have the title wrapped up. They were caught napping by the Cut-ups this week and were sliced 3-1. Jim Lee of the winners posted 476-174. Ross of the Nikes hit 541-201.

Tyros knocked off the Alley Bys 3-1 to put the race for second place in a tight squeeze. O'Donnell of the winners led 525-197 as Shoudele came through for the losers 508-181.

Pickups were hauled back a bit this week as the Guys and Dolls split with them. Hot for the Pickups was Johnson, 605-224. Pin chopper supreme for the Guys and Dolls was Rossette with 496-187.

Spoilers were handed a gift by the Retorts as they failed to show. Spoilers are now in a tie for second place with the Pickups. Bowling for average was Browning with 509-213.

GI has failed to dim in the stretch in Bay League competition as they swarmed over the Compt-Rollers 3 1/2-1/2. Ross of the winners rolled 537-193 to Morgan's 489-166 for the Compt-Rollers.

JAGS kept second place under their wing by shuffling through 6A Signal 3-1. McAfee of the winners burned the boards 559-189 but was not far ahead of Hunt with 526-193.

MRU split with Hq. Co. 6A 2-2 as neither team was hurt in the standings. Andresen recorded 543-191 for MRU but was nipped by Lux of Hq. Co. 6A who hit 554-223.

Triple Aces and Garrison had their game postponed.

First place in the Presidio League is still a toss-up between the Keystone Kops and the Shafters as only 3 1/2 games separate the two teams. This week the Kops split 2-2 with the Alley Rats as C. Mahon of the Kops hit 523-212. Giving him no rest at all was Rein- ders of the Rats with a 582-238.

The Shafters drew closer to the top this week by belting the SFAADS 4-0. Opozda of the winners notched a 597-209 as Walkley of SFAADS was rolling a 528-190.

Recruiters and 60th CI had a weirdie this week with the Recruiters having the upper hand 2 1/2-1 1/2. Fisher of the winners posted a good 496-186 to best Hayse of the 60th, 479-183.

King Pins roughed up the Islanders 3-1 with Dennis leading the way with 532-210. Saito of the losers scored 501-194.

NRA EXPERT and apple of the family's eye is Arthur Malone Jr., here holding the Expert Award presented by Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Deputy Commander Presidio of San Francisco. Others attending the ceremony at Presidio Gun Club are (l. to r.) Sfc. Carl McClure,

The Presidio Gun Club's Junior Marksmanship program is reaping a veritable harvest of young experts. Latest to make the grade as an Expert Rifleman is Arthur Malone, son of Lt. Col. Arthur Malone, Sixth Army NG Advisor.

Recently Assigned

Major HARRY R. WENTWORTH was assigned this week as the Executive Officer, S-4 Section, Presidio of San Francisco. His last assignment was with the G-4 Section, Headquarters, Eighth U.S. Army, in Seoul, Korea.

The Major was born in Carona, Kansas, and later made his home in Vacaville, California, where he is now living with his wife, Eva, and four of five children. The oldest boy is employed in Boston, Mass.

Major Wentworth joined the Army in December 1940 and during World War II he served in Dutch Harbor and the Atka Islands in Alaska, returning to join the 28th Infantry Division in Germany, where he received the Bronze Star Medal, Combat Infantry Badge and the Purple Heart. Major Wentworth returned to Germany to serve an additional tour in 1951 with the 4th Division, 12th Infantry Regiment.

Captain DALE DAVIS has joined the Services Branch, Quartermaster Section, Sixth U.S. Army, from Karlsruhe Post in Germany, where he was the Post Quartermaster.

Captain Davis was born in Mitchell, South Dakota, which he still calls home. He attended Dakota Wesleyan University.

During World War II the captain served with the 147th Field Artillery Battalion in the South Pacific, where he received his commission, returning as a new Lieutenant to complete a tour in Sixth U.S. Army Headquarters. In 1950 he went to Korea, and then to Japan, returning in 1953.

Captain Davis and his wife, Helen Jean, are living at 201 Hilton Avenue, South San Francisco, with their daughter, Patricia.

The Golden Gate Bridge has the world's tallest and most massive bridge towers—846 feet high and weighing 88,800,000 pounds.

Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Deputy Commanding Officer of the Presidio, presented the diploma in a ceremony at the Presidio Gun Club. Also on hand were Sfc. Carl H. McClure, PSF Range NCO and M/Sgt. John D. Vekich, Director of Marksmanship at the Presidio.

In winning his award, Arthur had to qualify first as a pro marksman and work his way up to a sharpshooter. After that step, he had to earn nine bars, shooting at 10 targets for each bar from the prone, sitting, kneeling or standing positions. After successfully completing this phase he became an expert rifleman by qualifying on 10 targets in the standing position.

The San Francisco area enjoys an open-all-year climate, averaging about 22 inches of rainfall annually and 66 per cent of all possible sunshine.

Summer Training Dates Firmed; 4300 Company-Size Units Set

Washington (ANS) — Summer training will begin for an estimated quarter of a million Army Reservists on 7 June when the first elements of the 90th Infantry Division of Texas report to Fort Polk, Louisiana, the Department of the Army announced this week.

Participating in this year's two-weeks Army Reserve annual active duty for training program will be approximately 4300 company-size units, both divisional and non-divisional.

With the exception of the 75th Maneuver Area Command of Louisiana, which completed its annual active duty for training in March, following are the camp sites, major units and starting dates for USAR summer camp 1959:

● Camp Drum, New York: 77th Infantry Division of New York, 27 June; 94th Infantry Division of Massachusetts, 8 August.

● Fort Dix, New Jersey: 78th Division (Training) of New Jersey,

18 July; 76th Division (Training) of Connecticut, Maine, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Vermont, 1 August; 98th Division (Training) of New York, 15 August.

● Fort Knox, Kentucky: 80th Division (Training) of District of Columbia, Maryland and Virginia, 1 August; 100th Division (Training) of Kentucky and West Virginia, 15 August.

● Camp Breckinridge, Kentucky: 83d Infantry Division of Ohio, 28 June.

● Indiantown Gap Military Reservation, Pa.: 79th Infantry Division of Pennsylvania, 20 June.

● Fort Bragg, N. Carolina: 87th Maneuver Area Command of Alabama, 2 August.

● Fort McClellan, Alabama: 81st Infantry Division of Georgia and Tennessee, 9 August.

● Fort Jackson, S. Carolina: 108th Division (Training) of North Carolina and South Carolina, 16 August.

Key Reserve, NG Groups In Joint Meeting Here

Lieutenant General Charles D. Palmer, Commanding General, Sixth U.S. Army, opened concurrent conferences of Presidents of Evaluation Boards and Senior Army Advisors from the Army National Guard and U.S. Army Reserve, Sixth Army area, in a joint meeting yesterday.

The two conferences are held annually to evaluate annual active duty for training for the two Reserve branches.

General Palmer stressed the high standards expected of the Reserve and National Guard units. Ratings must be uniform and are based upon the highest Regular Army standards.

The National Guard conference was in charge of Colonel C. M. Snow, Chief of the National Guard Branch, G-3, Sixth U.S. Army, assisted by Lt. Colonel Stephen M. Walker. Eight Senior Army Advisors to the National Guard, and 17 Active Army presidents of Sixth U.S. Army National Guard Boards attended the meeting. The Boards will evaluate all Army National Guard units during their annual 15-day active duty training. The training period extends from 1

June through 31 August 1959. A total of 117 active duty Army officers will be required to serve on the evaluation boards.

Lt. Colonel G. L. Reimer, U.S. A.R. Branch, G-3 Section, Sixth U.S. Army, conducted the orientation conference for U.S. Army Reserve boards. Eleven presidents of Mobilization Evaluation teams, who will inspect the major U.S.A.R. units in this Army area, attended, as did representatives from the Xth and XVth U.S. Army Corps (Reserve).

The task of prescribing uniform evaluation procedures throughout the Army area is further complicated this year by the change-over in organization to the Pentomic concept.

House Group Slates Hearing On Pension

Washington (AFPS)—Hearings on legislation to modernize the veterans' pension structure are expected to get underway in Congress about 11 May.

Rep. Olin E. Teague (D.-Texas), chairman of the House Committee on Veterans' Affairs, set that date with the proviso that substantial agreement between interested groups can be reached by that time.

The new pension legislation, submitted to Congress on 15 April, features a "graduated scale" of payments keyed to individual needs.

The Veterans Administration said the proposed bill, if passed, could increase pensions from 55 per cent of the 1,223,000 veterans, widows and children now on the rolls.

It also would increase pension payments from the present $99.3 million to $100 million the first year in operation.

At present, WWI, WWII and Korea vets who meet length-of-service and discharge requirements are eligible for pension if they are considered permanently and totally disabled for reasons not attributable to service, and if their annual incomes do not exceed $1,400 (with no dependents) or $2,700 with dependents.

Currently flat pension rates are paid on an "all or nothing" basis regardless of variance of other income and without regard to marital status or number of dependents.

The "graduated scale" proposal would be keyed to both the amount of other income and also the number of dependents.

The VA said the principle of the "graduated scale" involves paying higher pensions to veterans, widows and orphans most in need and lesser sums to those least in need.

As an example, the VA explained that under the new bill a veteran under 65, with three dependents, no outside income and on the rolls less than 10 years would receive $100 per month—an increase of 50 per cent over the present rate.

This same veteran's payments, however, could dip as low as $10 per month if he has near-the-limit income from other sources.

The VA emphasized that the proposed bill deals only with disability and death "pensions" payable for non-service-connected conditions. It in no way affects "compensation," which is payable for disability or death resulting from military service.

Obscene Mail Filth Merchants

Ed.'s Note: This is the first in a two-part series.)

San Francisco's Postmaster, John F. Fixa, today appealed for public support in the intensified war Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield has declared on the "ruthless mail order merchants in filth who are violating the homes of the nation in defiance of the national government."

Using one of the nation's most cherished privileges to carry on their smutty trade—the uncensored letter—"barons of obscenity" today are sending un-ordered lewd materials into our mail boxes, much of it directed to teen-age youngsters, Postmaster Fixa explained.

The materials offered for sale include filthy films and books, dirty pictures, slides and related filth, advertised in highly objectionable circulars which are being sent indiscriminately to homes.

Postmaster Fixa was advised by Postmaster General Summerfield that $500,000,000 is being taken in annually by large mail order dealers in pornography and obscenity. Postal authorities here are receiving complaints from clergymen, school groups, newspaper editors and alarmed parents.

During a recent 12-month period, postal inspectors conducted 4,000 investigations on obscene and pornographic mail and caused the arrest of 293 persons dealing in this filth. This is an increase of 45% over the previous year, and an all-time high, according to Postmaster Fixa, and, he added, the threat is increasing.

Indicative of the extensive operations of the filth factories that are invading the homes of the nation with their suggestive advertisements and dirty materials, Mr. Summerfield noted that within the past few weeks simultaneous raids by U.S. Marshals and Postal Inspectors in New York City resulted in seizure of 15 tons of dirty films, slides, photographs and other smut, and a mailing list, used nationally, containing 100,000 names.

"No longer do dealers in smut secretly serve only a few adults, Postmaster Fixa explained. "They brazenly solicit our children, sending their material indiscriminately and without conscience into our home mail boxes."

"For example," Mr. Fixa noted, "cases have come to my attention where teenagers wrote away for auto parts and received later 'sex instructions' advertisements; of new graduating classes whose names were taken from newspapers by filth merchants who circularized every member of the class; of youngsters who wrote in for model airplane catalogs, or a set of stamps, and later received materials on films portraying sex and perversion."

Complaints are also being received in increasing numbers over the nation involving solicitation from filth factories of innocent teenage girls, housewives, and even Cub Scouts, Postmaster Fixa noted.

"The Post Office Department is diligently trying to clean up the mails," Postmaster General Summerfield explained recently to Congress, which is considering new measures to deal with this growing national threat. "But," Mr. Summerfield added, "the Post Office Department has been subjected frequently to attack and ridicule by those who hope to profit personally from unrestricted mailings, or by those who—confusing liberty with license—unwittingly give them assistance."

"There appear to be two basic reasons for the increasing volume of filth in the mails," the Postmaster General continued. "First, the tremendous profits that are realized from a relatively small capital investment, and, secondly, the very broad definition of obscenity handed down by certain courts—including those in certain Metropolitan Areas—namely Los Angeles and New York."

These rulings, he concluded, "have established virtual sanctuaries." From these sanctuaries, Mr. Summerfield explained, filth dealers have operated with impunity in developing their huge business in filth, flooding this community and others with materials which constitute "one of the most serious moral and social problems in the United States today."

Transportation Expert Will Aid NDT Program

John J. Allen, Jr., Undersecretary of Commerce for Transportation, will speak in San Francisco today in the observance of National Defense Transportation Day.

The former Bay Area Congressman, now serving in President Eisenhower's Cabinet, will address military and commercial transportation leaders at a Presidio of San Francisco dinner meeting sponsored by the San Francisco Bay Area Chapter of the National Defense Transportation Association.

The dinner meeting highlights a chapter program which also includes special transportation displays at the World Trade Center and in downtown stores and transportation agencies; transportation motion pictures in the Roos-Atkins Bowl; displays at Armed Forces Day open houses at area military bases; and talks before luncheon club groups by chapter members.

The program is being arranged by a committee consisting of Kelsey MacMeekin, Pacific Intermountain Express, chairman; Joseph W. Murphy, chapter president, ex officio, Southern Pacific; Capt. George Unnacht, Military Sea Transportation Service; J. A. Sullivan, Army Transportation Terminal Command, Pacific; John Lubimiri, Southern Pacific; Lt. Col. Arthur Laib, Sixth U.S. Army; and Robert Armstrong, Illinois-California Express.

President Eisenhower has proclaimed 15 May as National Defense Transportation Day to draw public attention to the importance of the modern land, sea and air transportation system in support of national security.

Urge Participation In National Check For All Vehicles

Lieutenant General Charles D. Palmer, Commanding General, Sixth U.S. Army, has emphasized the desire of the Secretary of the Army for participation in the National Vehicle Safety-Check program. This has been summarized in Circular Number 385-11, Headquarters, Sixth U.S. Army.

The San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, through its Traffic Safety & Control Section of the Civic Development Committee, will again this year sponsor the Voluntary Community Vehicle Safety Check.

Six check lanes will be operated in the City of San Francisco. The lanes will be open to the public from 1200 to 2000 hours on 19, 20, and 21 May 1959.

Locations where the vehicle check will be available are as follows:

- Marina Green.
- Great Highway, between Fulton and Lincoln Way.
- Sunset Blvd. (37th Ave.), between Rivera and Pacheco.
- Harrison St., between 25th and 26th Streets.
- Balboa Park—San Juan to Ocean Avenue.
- Masonic Avenue, Oak and Fell Streets.

Has your car been checked recently? Get the green sticker that shows your vehicle has been safety checked for 1959.

Army Lab Builds Better Bug Trap

Washington (AFPS)—The Army Engineers have built a better mosquito trap.

Rugged and rust-proof, the new trap has an aluminum frame, a hooded light bulb, a small electric-motor driven fan, a screen cone and a jar to house the catch.

Mosquitos attracted by the light are blown by the fan through the cone into the plastic bottle where they are poisoned by sodium cyanide.

The device is used to make sample headcounts of the population of the pests in an area and to determine the species in order to establish proper control measures.

Devised by the Engineer Research and Development Laboratories, Ft. Belvoir, Va., the trap operates on a 110-volt line and is regulated by an automatic electric timer.

AFD On Stewart Show

It will be Armed Forces Day on the Dick Stewart Show at 1600 to 1730 hours today over KPIX-TV (Channel 5).

Enlisted men and women from the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Air Force and Coast Guard will be present and take part in the "live" show. The Army will act as sponsor for the event. Five enlisted men and five members of the Women's Army Corps will be present from Sixth U.S. Army here at the Presidio of San Francisco.

what they asked

For several months the Star Presidian has been asking questions of the people. But this week we decided to change the procedure and let you our readers ask us the questions.

Our suggestion: If you had the chance to ask an expert any question at all what would it be and why?

Pfc. William Delumpa, Life Guard:

This is pretty hard to think of on the spur of the moment, but the first question that I can think of is this. Do the women outnumber the men or do the men outnumber the women here in San Francisco? Now to tell you why I ask this question. I am just as curious as anyone else and am always hearing of how the women outnumber the men in many other areas. So I was just wondering whether this is true here or not.

As San Francisco is different from any other city in the country, it differs also from the National average of males to females. According to the 1950 census, there were 4,375 more males in San Francisco than females. Curiously enough, the State of California showed 5,035 more males than females—practically all of the excess men being in San Francisco. (Girls please note.)

Pfc. Patrick McCarville, Visual Aids, Letterman Army Hospital:

I would like to know why the laws of one state differ from those of another state even when the same crime has been committed. The reason I ask this particular question is that I don't think it's right to give one criminal the full treatment and not some other man who committed the same crime only in another state.

Col. Beets, Chief of Judicial Area VI, remarks on this question were: "Historically each of the state legislatures have had to handle the same problem in many different ways based upon the situations at hand. Each of the states having the power to enact their own laws in their own legislatures has led to many different types of laws to cover the same crime. Lawyers today keep this situation in mind when they are making new laws and they are trying to rectify this as time goes along."

Sp4 Daniel Warlick, Message Center:

Every day I hear so much about space travel and how we are trying to get a man on the moon. So I would like to ask this question. When do you think that the United States will get a live man on the moon? I would like to know the answer because our future depends a great deal on what we find on the planet and it also means security to our country.

Answer: Estimates based on normal rates of engineering development progress, assuming no unpredictable creative break-throughs, suggest that earth satellites carrying payloads of 5,000 pounds and useful for astronomical research, for surveying and navigation, and for military surveillance, will be a fact some time between 1963 and 1967; that permanent manned satellite stations and man's first landing on the moon will be achieved sometime between 1968 and 1973. (Quoted from BACKGROUND ON WORLD POLITICS, Wayne State University, Detroit, Michigan.)

Sp4 Robert Murphy, Training Aids Dept., Carpenter:

With all that I hear about the great advancement of the automobile industry each year I would like to know this. Do you think that the automobile as we know it today will be obsolete within the next ten years? I would like to know how an expert feels about this question. I think that the cars will become more like airplanes and that they won't run on the roads but fly.

Mr. Richard Cunard, Customer Relations Manager of Buick, had this to say in answer to this question: "The thing that changes automobiles are the customers. Over the last ten years the only changes that have been made in the auto are more and better accessories and comfort. Within the next ten years the biggest possible change would be the gas turbine engine, however, this is highly improbable. The car ten years from now will probably be much like the one we have today except it will be safer to drive. The general public will not be ready to fly or travel at supersonic speeds. Changes like this must come along gradually over a long period."

One Year Ago: On January 31, 1958, at 10:48 p. m., the United States entered the space age with the launching by the Army of the satellite Explorer I.

Toreros Nip Falstaffs Lose Two To Humboldt

"The Toreros played their best game to date and if they continue we should have a great baseball season," states Torero coach Hal Fischer.

The occasion was a non-league game against the Falstaffs, regarded as the top semi-pro team in the Bay Area. It went down as a 6-5 win in the Toreros' scorebook.

Jim Mosely was the winning pitcher, allowing only six hits. Frank Walsh, formerly with the San Francisco Seals, came out on the losing end.

Jake DeSousa was the Torero batting star, getting two hits in four trips and credit for three RBIs. Frank Zechel handled nine chances in the field, including the start of two double plays, flawlessly.

Everything wasn't so rosy when the Toreros christened their new baseball field in a Sunday double header against Humboldt State College. They lost both ends 1-0 and 8-6.

DeSousa opened on the mound for Presidio and pitched a fine game, striking out 11 men while allowing only 6 hits. The only run of the game scored on him was unearned as a fly ball hit to the outfield was lost in the sun. What would have been a routine play turned into a triple for the Humboldt batter. The Toreros threatened in the last inning with Huckabee doubling and Mills walking. Jim Mosely then hit a towering 380 foot drive to left center that was caught at the fence after a long run by the Humboldt player.

The second game was pitched by Ted Remington for the first 7 innings. He allowed 6 hits and 8 runs, only 3 of which were earned. Earl Alexander came in to relieve him and went the rest of the game.

Miscues to the tune of 5 errors proved to be the undoing of the Toreros. Batting power has been a plus factor this year, but errors will be the determining one in this year's league race.

Next game for the Toreros is against the top semi-pro team in the Alameda League, namely Southern Pacific Stores. The game is Sunday at 1200 in Washington Park, Alameda.

Kops Take Presidio League Title, Nikes Tops In Mixed

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Finals in the Wednesday Night Mixed League find the Nikes in first place by 9 games over the Spoilers. Third was a tight battle between the Pickups and Alley Bys with the former edging into the spot by ½ game.

Scoring in the league were the Alley Bys over the Pickups 3-1 with Shouderl tops for the winners 517-178. Johnson of the losers saved the day as he rolled 568-226.

Spoilers breezed into second by blanking the Cutups 4-0. High for the winners was Wilmoth 556-211. Jim Lee acted out his wife for team honors this week with 477-176.

Retorts, the last team in the league, didn't give up in the stretch as they pasted the Nikes 3-1. Reynolds led the winners 492-170 as Ross of the Nikes hit 576-206.

Tyros almost boosted themselves high enough to finish in the money as they shut out the Guys and Dolls. For the Tyros it was O'Donnell with 491-189. Lutz of the losers kegged 451-191.

Honor Guard Little League Moving Fast, Giants Hold Lead

Steve Jones' home run for the Yankees in the second inning didn't hold for the game as the Giants came on strong in the later innings to win 5-1. Eric Utegaard started off brilliantly for the Yanks as he struck out 6 of the first 8 men to face him. Garrett of the Giants proved the better pitcher in the clutch as he yielded the only extra base hit to Jones.

The Cards and the Cubs played to a 6-6 tie that will be played off in a "sudden death" game next time the two teams meet. With one in the first, one in the second and three big ones in the third, followed by one insurance run in the fourth, the Cards reckoned that the game would be theirs. The only flaw was that the Cubs exploded for four in the fourth and added two more in the sixth to tie up the game.

In a wide open scoring spree the Cards notched six runs in the first inning of their game with the Giants. Everything went cozy until the Giants retaliated with a like amount in the fourth inning to put themselves ahead 8-6. They were never behind again as they romped home with ten more in the sixth to win 19-7.

Closest game of the current season was played between the Yanks

and the Cubs with the Yanks notching a 9-8 win. A quick three runs in the first inning put the Yanks ahead until the third when the Cubs batted across four runs for a 5-4 lead. The Yanks bounced back with five in the fourth and hung on for the win in spite of a determined Cub rally in the sixth.

Dominant team in the recently concluded 30th Arty. Gp. was the one from 2nd Msl. Bn., 51st Arty., with a whopping total of 7,584 pins. This was far above the second place 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty. team, who finished with a 6,884 total. Third was taken by Hq. and Hq. Btry., 30th Arty. Gp., which amassed 6,659 pins total.

High man for the tournament was Sfc. Julian Walkley with 599-231. He rolled for the 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty. Pfc. Leonard Udayake of the 2nd Msl. Bn., 51st Arty., followed hot on Walkley's heels with 565-203. Pfc. Dick Hellum of Hq. and Hq. Btry. blasted the boards for 508-182.

All three teams compete in the 40th Brigade tournament at the Oakland Army Terminal. Winners there will compete for honors in the Sixth Region tourney to be held at a date yet to be announced.

Benning, Ga., is now first string guard for Michigan State. . . Detroit was chosen by the U.S. Olympic Committee to bid with other countries for the 1964 Olympic games.

Both Leagues Stiffen Tight Battles To Come

Lt. Francis Sherman's clutch single with men on first and second in the 7th inning scored the winning for B Btry., 2nd Msl. Bn, 51st Arty., over their arch rivals from C Btry. Sherman also hit a homer earlier in the game.

B Btry., jumped to an early lead to see it evaporate when C Btry. rallied for 6 runs in the 7th inning. The bases were loaded with C Btry. runners when the last out came on an infield pop-up.

Honor Guard scuttled Special Troops 7-3 to move into top spot in the league. Special Troops roared to a 3-0 lead in the 1st inning and held it until the 6th when Honor Guard pushed across 5 runs. They added 2 more as insurance in the 7th. Johnson was the winning pitcher and Gascon the loser.

Medical Lab. capitalized on numerous 40th Brigade errors to score an 8-5 victory in an extra inning game. Medical Lab. pitcher Jon Martin was saved in the final inning when a 40th Brigade runner was called out for leaving second base too soon. The batter at the plate had looped a fly into left field which had eluded the Med Lab. fielder and would have enabled the 40th to score 2 runs and leave a runner on second.

Pfc. John Francis belted a 7th inning single to score Sp4 Bob Given and hand A Btry., 2nd Msl. Bn., 51st Arty., its first win over the season against D Btry. The D Btry. team from Angel Island overcame a 6-1 deficit at the end of the 3rd inning with a 3-run outburst in the top of the 7th.

C Btry., 2nd Msl. Bn., 51st Arty., lost out to a tough 561st Engineer crew 11-8. Big blow of the game came when Pete Koch of the 561st hit a home run. Winning pitcher was Jerry Cook while Jerry Viner was tabbed with the loss.

It was a case of too big and too much for the Teenagers as they were turned aside 9-2 by the Dispensary. Freeman pitched a 5-hitter for the Dispensary and was helped by his teammate, Novak, who got 3 hits in 4 times at bat.

In the coldest game of the year, temperature wise, Garrison defeated the Dispensary 12-7. Hits were the order of the day as Garrison garnered 14 and Dispensary 12. Dick Leach of Garrison connected for a home run, his first of the year. Reid was the winning pitcher and helped his own cause by hitting twice in 3 times at bat. Freeman was the loser.

Honor Guard found the going smooth in the 17-6 win over MRU. While the Honor Guard was busy getting 13 hits, MRU managed 8, one a circuit clout by Hunt. Johnson of the winners baffled MRU batters with his speed while Fletcher of MRU had his game hurt when MRU's defense got a bit leaky.

6th Region upset the appalcart of the Medical Lab. by scoring 4 runs in the last inning to win 11-10. For the 6th Region, Norton was the winning pitcher. Allen had 2 hits and a home run to lead the batting department. Williams of the Med. Lab. also had 2 for 2, one of them a homer.

561st Engineers squeezed by A Btry., 2nd Msl. Bn., 51st Arty., 5-3 when the A Btry. pitcher loaded the bases in the last inning. Two solid hits then scored 3 runs to give the 561st their win. Santos was the winning pitcher and Beamwell homered for the winners. Pruett got one hit and scored twice for A Btry.

De Sivrac made one error, he forgot the need for pedals. Locomotion came about only when someone straddled the crossbar and then pushed the machine by grounding the feet. The "rider" had to push the contraption along instead of getting a ride. The invention quickly died.

6th Regions Safe Driving Army Honors Program Lectures Ready 12 Scientists

Two Safe Diving lectures by Officer Lee P. Wood of the California Highway Patrol will be presented at the 6th Region U.S. Army Air Defense Command headquarters, Fort Baker, Saturday 23 May.

Planned in conjunction with the National Vehicle Safety

Check program and the 1959 Slow Down and Live campaign, the addresses will be given in advance of a 6th Region Safe Driving Day to be observed by all regional air defense units on May 27.

The first lecture by Officer Wood will be presented in the command conference room at 1000 hours. It will be attended by military officers on duty at the headquarters.

The second address will be for an audience of enlisted men and women, at the headquarters detachment, 1100 hours. Both lectures will be illustrated by a safety motion picture entitled "Chain Reaction."

The Safety Day program on 27 May is being instituted by each air defense brigade. It will present a training course in safe driving given by each battery commander, terminating with a critique on driving habits noted during the specific day.

Launched on a continuing basis, subsequent regional air defense Safe Driving Days will be announced by the 6th Region headquarters on a monthly basis commencing 27 May.

Huntsville, Ala. (AFPS) — The Exceptional Civilian Service Decoration, the Army Department's highest civilian award, was presented to 12 scientists and engineers of the Army Ordnance Missile Command here.

It was the first time more than a single such award had ever been presented at any one Army installation. The highest total of such awards given throughout the Army in any one year has been only 28.

Eleven of the 12 recipients are members of the famed missile and space team headed by Dr. Werner von Braun, which has been largely responsible for the Jupiter IRBM and for launching the Free World's first Earth and Sun satellites.

Terming the decorations "but a small expression of a grateful nation," Hugh M. Milton, Undersecretary of the Army, presented the awards.

On Our Shelves

IN EVERY WAR BUT ONE, by Eugene Kinkead, is a report on the Army's investigation of the Communist treatment of prisoners of war in Korea, the indoctrination process and the reasons for a high degree of collaboration, in contrast to other wars. This book is an expansion of the author's article which originally appeared in a national magazine.

The death of the U.S.S. Indianapolis is told in ABANDON SHIP! Written by R. F. Newcomb, this is the reconstruction of the events leading up to the disastrous sinking by a Japanese submarine of the U.S. heavy cruiser as it was enroute to Leyte from Guam, 1214 a.m., 30 July 1945. The book tells of the battle of 800 men struggling in the sea against oil, thirst, sunburn, sharks and delirium; and finally the rescue operation.

Written by the wartime head of the French section of Special Operations Executive, Maurice Buckmaster, THEY FOUGHT ALONE tells in detail about a variety of daring exploits of British secret agents active in France during World War II.

A career officer who worked with the Bureau during the war and was a participant in some of its operations, in ALLIED INTELLIGENCE BUREAU, Allison Ind tells of the work done by MacArthur's intelligence officers, engaged in 264 missions across the far flung Southwest Pacific area.

The background, qualifications and missions of five spies of totally different personalities are told in Seth Ronald's ART OF SPYING.

Nikemen Donate Blood To Ailing SF Youngster

"It pays to advertise," is the slogan and no one knows it better than 7-year-old Marsha Erickson. Her parents placed an ad in the San Francisco Examiner asking for whole blood needed for a heart operation by Marsha.

Jumping on the bandwagon similar to his predecessors, Sgt. Walter J. Rezendes of the Personnel Section, 30th Artillery Group Air Defense at Ft. Scott enlisted the aid of men in his section.

A few hurried phone calls and 30 minutes later 14 soldiers and two WACs were enroute to Irwin Memorial Blood Bank.

Once inside, the nurses at the blood bank made a rapid withdrawal of 15 pints of blood. One man, Sp5 Jackson Green, was unable to give blood as he had just returned from Korea.

Later that afternoon M/Sgt. Harold McLean, unable to leave his job in the morning, also went down to give a pint of blood.

Donors were: (Pfc's) Linda Overton, Virginia Ramirez, Sebastian Bonfiglio, Richard Wheelless, James Hellums, Samuel Neff, Earl Blasdel, Heyward Inabinett, Fred Gandleman and Allen Ward. (Sp4's) Arthur Hatch, Vincent Ella and Alphonso Grace. (Sp5's) Jose Camacho and Jackson Green. Sgt. Rezendes also partook of the program along with M/Sgt. McLean.

STAR Gazin'

(AFPS Weekly Feature)

Robert Montgomery is having casting woes in his James Cagney starrer about Admiral Halsey, now retitled "The Gallant Hours." Says Montgomery: "The great problem in casting pictures about the Armed Forces is that when you give an actor any rank above sergeant, he becomes impossible."

But this hasn't daunted another producer, Charles Schnerr, who with scripter William Barrett spent two weeks at the Air Force Academy in Colorado, living with the officers and cadets to sop up atmosphere. . . their movie will be called—fasten seat belts, please!—"Air Force Academy."

Army's turn next. . . upcoming comedy based on a Marion Hargrove article, "The Wackiest Ship in the Navy," gets a title switch to "Wackiest Ship in the Army."

Dentcare Bill In House, Passage Prospects Dim

Washington (AFPS)—A new Dentcare plan for dependents (HR 6321) has been introduced in the House of Representatives.

The new legislation, sponsored by Rep. Melvin Price (D-Ill.) encourages dental care for military families on a prorated basis similar to that now in force in the Medicare program.

A ranking majority member of the House, Rep. Price has referred his bill to the House Armed Services Committee who, in turn, requested views of Defense Department.

Considering the major studies now in progress and the intricate nature of the problems involved, officials see little likelihood the bill will be acted upon in this session of Congress.

Major issues barring the bill's eventual passage must be ironed out, it was explained, with interested military and civilian agencies reaching compromises suitable to all concerned.

Last year a committee recommended a dental care plan for dependents to Dr. Frank Berry, Assistant Secretary of Defense.

The group submitted their report after extensive study which included a survey conducted within the Armed Forces.

At that time the committee made these observations:

- Comprehensive dental care is an integral part of basic health care and essential to health maintenance.
- The lack of a dental care provision is considered the primary defect of the Medicare program.
- A sound dental care program for dependents of uniformed service personnel can be developed and administered.
- Facilities for fiscal administration of a dental care program are available.

27 Complete Army Air Defense School Here

San Francisco Army Air Defense School graduated 27 students from its fifth command course for non-commissioned officers. The four-week command course is designed to instruct present and potential non-coms in the latest principles of leadership.

Honor graduate of the class is Pfc Gerald S. Montgomery, of B Battery, 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery at Lake Chabot, Calif. His battalion commander, Lt. Col. Benjamin Page, gave the award, a Parker pen. Just last March Pfc. Montgomery was named soldier of the month for the San Francisco-Travis AFB Army Air Defense.

Guest speaker, Lt. Col. Burton T. Carson,

Beam, executive officer of the 29th Artillery Group at Travis AFB, Calif., pointed out to the graduates the difference in requirements necessary for leaders of today's modern Army vs. the old Army. Colonel Beam and Capt. Robert Monroe, Commandant of the School, then presented diplomas. Invocation and benediction were by Chaplain (Captain) Edward G. Carson.

Presidio Youths Display Skill On Field Day

Activities Prove Test To Both Boys And Girls

America's answer to Russia's huge Youth Festival is the National Youth Fitness Week, designated as 3-9 May by President Eisenhower.

As a climax of the week here on the Presidio, a Youth Fitness Field Day was held at the Post Exchange Field. Anyone witnessing the vim, vigor and vitality displayed that day would decry the opinion of a few people who believe that the average American youth is "weak, lazy and unco-ordinated."

In spite of the high wind, the turnout of girls matched that of the male entries, proving that vanity knows no bounds on the field of play. Bobbie pins and scarves were the order of the day for feminine participants. "I've got a date tonight," or "the family's going out to eat and I wouldn't have time to wash my hair afterwards," were some of the reasons. Whatever the reason, it made no difference to the girls.

Most popular spot on the entire field was a 15-gallon stewpot bor-

Biggest single recipient of the pop-sicles, dropped and otherwise, was an innocuous looking cocker spaniel by the name of "Freckles."

Ranging from throwing an 8-pound shot put to putting a golf ball, the activities provided a complete test of physical ability and coordination. Competition in the shot put was taken by Jim Hollingsworth with a 40-foot toss. Breathing hot air down his neck was Brad Emigh with a toss of 39 feet. Big winner in the golf putting was Norma Manning by virtue of being the only one able to sink her ball on a shot that would have made Ben Hogan green with envy.

Enlisted Management Program Moves Ahead

Washington (ANS)—Highlights of progress in the Army's Enlisted Management Program were reported this week by Brigadier General George R. Mather, Deputy Director, Military Personnel Management, Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Personnel following completion of the first six months of operation of the program.

"Far-reaching changes in the enlisted rank structure are resulting from the phased promotions to E-8 and E-9, with quotas issued which will provide a fiscal year-end (30 June 1959) Army-wide strength in the enlisted super grades of 2500 E-8's and 800 E-9's," General Mather stated.

Another action reported on was the inauguration of a program to reward outstanding proficiency by awarding proficiency payments to soldiers on a competitive basis:

- Approximately 8,200 soldiers in selected critical MOS received an additional $30 per month during the first four months of the program.

- In March, additional proficiency payments to approximately 5,000 soldiers were authorized, and these were followed by approximately 5,000 additional payments in April.

- Eligibility for the March and April payments was determined by procedures established under the provisions of the Enlisted Evaluation System.

Reestablishment of permanent enlisted promotions is another means pointed out by General Mather to provide recognition for and stability to the status of the professional soldier.

"Quotas for 5,900 of such promotions to grades E-7, E-6 and E-5 have been announced for fiscal year 1959," he said. "These are the first permanent enlisted promotions in over eight years."

Other improvements in enlisted career attractiveness mentioned by General Mather in his statement include:

- Continued improvement in manpower quality resulting from pre-induction aptitude screening.
- Long-range progressive development of promotion flow for career soldiers through the NCO and specialists vitalization program.

- Individual name assignment by DA of E-8 and E-9 personnel.

- Continued operation of the enlisted college training program which by 15 April had placed 149 carefully selected soldiers as full-time students in colleges and universities throughout the country.

About the future of the enlisted college training program, General Mather commented, "the number selected, it is expected, will be increased by 21 during the coming summer session."

General Mather stressed that the Army Enlisted Management Program is a long-range, continuing program, of many elements.

"The accomplishment of its objectives will have a beneficial impact on the Army as a whole and should increase the attractiveness of the U. S. Army as a career," he added.

Colorado Crowded

Washington (ANS)—Military personnel are warned to hold down visits to the Colorado Springs, Colo., area, this summer due to the extremely critical shortage of accommodations occasioned by the celebration of Colorado's Centennial Year.

Circular 1-7, dated 15 April '59, declares it essential that overnight visits to the area during the three-month period June 1-September 1, be held to an absolute minimum.

Ministers Meet Nike

Members of the Marin County Ministerial Association recently toured the radar control area of "B" Btry., 2nd Msl. Bn., 51st Arty., and were served breakfast in the Ft. Barry mess hall.

The group is planning a similar tour to Angel Island soon.

May Draft Calls 6,000

Washington (AFPS)—Department of Defense officials have requested that 6,000 men be provided by Selective Service during May 1959 for assignment to the Army. The May call is based on attainment of approved strength after allowances for enlistments and re-enlistments.

The M. H. de Young Museum in Golden Gate Park, housing the world-famed Kress and Oakes collections, has an annual attendance of 1,000,000.

Sixth Army Brings Rockets to Public

Although the Army didn't manage to place a single member on the recently selected Mercury Astronauts, they have more than one volunteer ready to ride an Army rocket to the moon:

"Dear Sergeant Hawkins," writes Paul Webb of Lawton School in San Francisco, "I like the model rockets you brought to our school. I like the big rockets best. I will go to the moon when you are ready."

"Dear Sergeant Hawkins," writes fourthgrader Mark Kronche, "I was very interested in the rocket display. I learned a lot about the war rockets. When the rockets are better, I will go to the moon."

Another dear sergeant letter states: "I learned very much from you when you came to our school. I hope that someday I would be able to go to the moon and be able to come back to earth."

So it goes with much of the mail received by Sfc. Charles Hawkins, Community Relations Division, Sixth U. S. Army Information Office, from the thousands of school children who view the rocket and missile displays each year.

Keeping the public on speaking terms with the Army's array of missiles and rockets is just one of the many tasks carried out by this close-knit unit headed by Captain Edward P. Endres.

"In the Bay Area, we do the showing ourselves," Captain Endres explains "but we're responsible for displays and exhibits all over the eight states. This latter job is the big one—in the summer, there's a county fair in every corner of every state and we try to keep in touch with them all."

The unit presently has two sets of ten missile models each, a large electrical transparency viewer, a full-scale cut-away model of the gold plated Explorer satellite, and other items. Through an extensive system of contacts with both Army units and industrial contractors, however, Captain Endres secures additional equipment for almost every display, ranging from space suits to M1 rifles.

In the Bay Area, Captain Endres' team has made an almost continual showing of its displays since the models were received in October of last year. In the first three months of this year, seventeen exhibitions were arranged, attracting as many as a quarter of a million visitors. A constant exhibit is maintained in the windows of USO headquarters on Market Street, between Sixth and Seventh Streets, San Francisco, where more than 10,000 people pass every day.

Often the ready-made package of scale models and cutaways the group exhibits is augmented with an actual missile, borrowed from one of the NIKE-Ajax or NIKE-Hercules units in the Bay Area. By itself, the set of rocket and missile models is worth approximately five thousand dollars. When a real missile is added, the job becomes comparable to showing the Hope Diamond.

"The U. S. Army Exhibit Unit from Cameron Station, Va., visits the area every so often with its big exhibits—carried on trailers and in convoys—and we arrange their itinerary in the West. We also get in touch with installations—Fort Ord, Fort Lewis, Camp Irwin—and arrange the showing of both conventional and experimental Army equipment."

Re-Up Review: In January, 1813, a bounty of $24 was provided for every soldier who, after February 1, should enlist for 5 years or the duration of the war.

Had Your Status Checked? You May Get a Surprise

(By Armed Forces Press Service)

Are you one of the "Status Seekers" that Vance Packard describes in his new book of that name?—a book which another best-selling author, Harry Golden, has called "the new geography of American attitudes."

Well, as a serviceman you don't have to worry about your status. Sociologists on a "Chicago Tribune" project have assigned a status rating to each major occupation in the Chicago area after analyzing the skill and responsibility involved. They gave a rating of from one to seven to about 300 occupations.

The highest-status group includes the following: licensed architect, stockbroker, medical specialist, federal judge, bishop, and military officer of flag (general) rank.

In the second-status group the sociologists put: newspaper editor, executive, city or county judge, corporation lawyer and colonel or Navy captain.

Third-status group (professor, advertising writer, minister) skips the military. But the fourth (bank clerk, factory foreman, chain store manager, grade school teacher) includes staff sergeant.

And, coming down to the fifth-status level (skilled factory man, policeman, carpenter, bartender) you find corporal.

That finishes the military in the seven layers of status. But corporals can take heart that in the seven layers of status they outrank group six (taxi driver, waitress, riveter, stock clerk) and the seventh (coal miner, scrubwoman, hod carrier, street cleaner). If you ever doubted the social status of your couple of stripes, remember—sociology's in your corner.

FY'59 Medicare Bill Will Near $93.4 Million

Washington (AFPS)—The cost obligations of the dependents' medicare program for Fiscal Year 1959 has been estimated at approximately $93.4 millions.

Brigadier Gen. Floyd L. Wergeland, Executive Director, Office for Dependents' Medical Care, set this figure in recent hearings before the House Appropriations Committee.

The general justified the fund request by outlining Medicare's obligations despite last October's restrictions and the expressed congressional desires that spending for the program should not exceed some $70 million.

(Medicare officials estimate that if the program had not been revised the cost would have reached approximately $120 million in Fiscal Year 1959.)

General Wergeland summed up the Medicare position by saying: "The estimated Fiscal Year 1959 price of the restricted program based upon the increased numbers of eligible dependents, the experienced rising costs, and the optimum capabilities of the uniformed services facilities to provide care for dependents, cannot be maintained within the $70.2 million if a program compatible with the Medicare Act is to be provided."

Gen. Wergeland's testimony regarding maximum use of service medical facilities by dependents follows in part:

"It is recognized that service facilities must be maintained as part of our defense organization and obviously should be used to the optimum extent. Indisputably, this is sound financial and military policy.

"While the optimum utilization of some service facilities may be ultimately realized, there are a number of these hospitals which may never be fully utilized in so far as care for dependents is concerned.

"This arises from the fact that the dependent population in the vicinity served by these hospitals is not large enough to contribute materially to the hospital's work load.

"On the other hand," the general said, "there are large concentrations of dependent population in the vicinity of some uniformed services medical facilities which are inadequate to care for all of their needs. Balance between dependent hospitalization requirements and the availability of resources in service hospitals for their care will never be fully attained," he said.

The World of Sports

(AFPS Weekly Feature)

Marine C. L. Morrison of MCAS, Cherry Point, N. C., was the grand aggregate winner in the First Annual Fall Invitational Pistol Matches held at Parris Island. . . Elliott Denman, holder of the second highest place ever won by a U.S. athlete in the Olympics' 31-mile walk, is now stationed at Ft. Benning, Ga. . . Al Padilla of Ft. Carson, Colo., won the annual national series of the Bowling Proprietors Assn. held in Colorado Springs. . . Bob King, of NAS Whidbey Island, Wash., had the distinction of beating Jesse Berthell, the 1500-meter Olympic champion, by running the mile in 4:26 at a Navy track meet held in Yonkers, N. Y. . . Jearls Schoonmaker, Washington Senators outfielder, recently took his two weeks active duty tour at Ft. Riley, Kan.

Calvin Campbell has chalked up 126 points for the football squad of NAS Moffett Field, Calif. . . Donald Whitmore of the submarine Ronquil has the unique honor of being the only Naval officer on active duty to be elected to Football's Hall of Fame. . . Huston Patton of Elgin AFB, Fla., threw 17 passes for 323 yards in a single game against the Quantico Marines. . . Time for a little poetry: "Days are dark at Teapot Tech / Season looms as total wreck / Backfield stumbles, line too slow. / Can't win games so coach must go. . ."

Quarterback for Ft. Benning this year is Johnny Brodick, formerly of the Philadelphia Eagles. . . Navy's All America tackle Bod Reif-snyder will not play in the annual Army-Navy game. . . Rudy Bukich of the Washington Redskins pro football team has been known to throw a forward pass up to 87 yards on the fly. . . Armed Forces Radio Service will carry the National Football League's football championship 28 December. . . Marine Mary Thompson, three-time all-lady Marine golf champion, recently was transferred to Paris, France.

Quote of the Week: Casey Stengel, when queried about his outlook on losing, quipped, "They say you should lose with a smile, but I can't do that. I've never found myself laughing after a ball game that I lost. If you laugh five minutes after such a game, you probably won't last long in baseball."

Lew Burdette's homer in the second game of the World Series was the first by a pitcher since Cincinnati's Buckey Walters hit one against Detroit in 1940. . . Middleweight champ Sugar Ray Robinson has vetoed retirement and expects to defend his title next year against Carmen Basilio. . . Winner of 31 of 34 basketball games last season, Mitchel AFB, N. Y., will have George Kaftan, All-America while at Holy Cross, returning as coach. . . Marine Ronnie Botchan, Little All-America while at Occidental College, has proved an asset in Camp Lejeune's forward wall.

John Roach, former Chicago Cardinal field general, is currently pitching the pigskin for Bolling AFB, Washington, D. C. . . Louis J. Kira, better known as "Bullet Lou" during his gridiron days at Annapolis, has been selected for rear admiral stars. . . John "Misty" Fennen, of Notre Dame and Philadelphia Warrior hardcourt fame, is coaching the Hawaii Marines hoopers. . . John Middleton, former gridster at Ft. Benning, Ga., is now first string guard for Michigan State. . . Detroit was chosen by the U.S. Olympic Committee to bid with other countries for the 1964 Olympic games.

New Field Gains Widespread Fame

Presidio's new baseball field is getting quite a run on it as a place to play. Not only do the Toreros play all of their games there but this week Hal Fischer, Presidio Sports Director, announced that the Navy requested an available date to play a game.

On 21 May the Presidio becomes a battleground for the sailors when the San Francisco Naval Shipyard meets the crew from Mare Island in a league game. Could it be possible that the game might be rained out?

Both Leagues Stiffen Tight Battles To Come

Lt. Francis Sherman's clutch single with men on first and second in the 7th inning scored the winning for B Btry., 2nd Msl. Bn, 51st Arty., over their arch rivals from C Btry. Sherman also hit a homer earlier in the game.

B Btry. jumped to an early lead to see it evaporate when C Btry. rallied for 6 runs in the 7th inning. The bases were loaded with C Btry. runners when the last out came on an infield pop-up.

Honor Guard scuttled Special Troops 7-3 to move into top spot in the league. Special Troops roared to a 3-0 lead in the 1st inning and held it until the 6th when Honor Guard pushed across 5 runs. They added 2 more as insurance in the 7th. Johnson was the winning pitcher and Gascon the loser.

Medical Lab. capitalized on numerous 40th Brigade errors to score an 8-5 victory in an extra inning game. Medical Lab. pitcher Jon Martin was saved in the final inning when a 40th Brigade runner was called out for leaving second base too soon. The batter at the plate had looped a fly into left field which had eluded the Med Lab. fielder and would have enabled the 40th to score 2 runs and leave a runner on second.

Pfc. John Francis belted a 7th inning single to score Sp4 Bob Given and hand A Btry., 2nd Msl. Bn, 51st Arty., its first win over the season against D Btry. The D Btry. team from Angel Island overcame a 6-1 deficit at the end of the 3rd inning with a 3-run outburst in the top of the 7th.

C Btry., 2nd Msl. Bn, 51st Arty., lost out to a tough 561st Engineer crew 11-8. Big blow of the game came when Pete Koch of the 561st hit a home run. Winning pitcher was Jerry Cook while Jerry Viner was tabbed with the loss.

It was a case of too big and too much for the Teenagers as they were turned aside 9-2 by the Dispensary. Freeman pitched a 5-hitter for the Dispensary and was helped by his teammate, Novak, who got 3 hits in 4 times at bat.

In the coldest game of the year, temperature wise, Garrison defeated the Dispensary 12-7. Hits were the order of the day as Garrison garnered 14 and Dispensary 12. Dick Leach of Garrison connected for a home run, his first of the year. Reid was the winning pitcher and helped his own cause by hitting twice in 3 times at bat. Freeman was the loser.

Honor Guard found the going smooth in the 17-6 win over MRU. While the Honor Guard was busy getting 13 hits, MRU managed 8, one a circuit clout by Hunt. Johnson was the winning pitcher and batters with his speed while Fletcher of MRU had his game hurt when MRU's defense got a bit leaky.

6th Region upset the appalcart of the Medical Lab. by scoring 4 runs in the last inning to win 11-10. For the 6th Region, Norton was the winning pitcher. Allen had 2 hits and a home run to lead the batting department. Williams of the Med. Lab. also had 2 for 2, one of them a homer.

561st Engineers squeezed by A Btry., 2nd Msl. Bn, 51st Arty., 5-3 when the A Btry. pitcher loaded the bases in the last inning. Two solid hits then scored 3 runs to give the 561st their win. Santos was the winning pitcher and Beam-well homered for the winners. Pruett got one hit and scored twice for A Btry.

Designer's Failure Kills Early Bike

De Sivrac made one error, he forgot the need for pedals. Locomotion came about only when someone straddled the crossbar and then pushed the machine by grounding the feet. The "rider" had to push the contraption along instead of getting a ride. The invention quickly died.

Hospital Softball Club Showing Champ Form

The word is out that the Letterman nine is the team to beat in City League softball competition. This week they won a forfeit over the Golden Gate Club for the Deaf.

Carrying the same high standard of play into the Military Sports Association, they turned back the Fairfield Air Station 4-1. It was their second win in the league against no defeats.

It was another display of Letterman pitching and batting power. Lt. Bob McNamara tossed a five hitter, striking out six and giving up no walks. Pfc. Smiley Gomez and Sp4 Charlie Davis both had two for three with a triple by Gomez being the big blow of the game.

In the words of coach Sfc. Frank Cienczyk, "Frank" Vasquez played a tremendous game in the field and it's too bad he'll be leaving soon. If I could keep both Vasquez and Gomez until August, I'd really be tough." Sp4 Luther Brock is back from leave and the Letterman club is back to full strength for the first time this year. Only exception is Jack Frakes, who is lost for most of the season.

6th Regions Safe Driving Army Honors Program Lectures Ready 12 Scientists

Two Safe Diving lectures by Officer Lee P. Wood of the California Highway Patrol will be presented at the 6th Region U.S. Army Air Defense Command headquarters, Fort Baker, Saturday 23 May.

Planned in conjunction with the National Vehicle Safety Check program and the 1959 Slow Down and Live campaign, the addresses will be given in advance of a 6th Region Safe Driving Day to be observed by all regional air defense units on May 27.

The first lecture by Officer Wood will be presented in the command conference room at 1000 hours. It will be attended by military officers on duty at the headquarters.

The second address will be for an audience of enlisted men and women, at the headquarters detachment, 1100 hours. Both lectures will be illustrated by a safety motion picture entitled "Chain Reaction."

The Safety Day program on 27 May is being instituted by each air defense brigade. It will present a training course in safe driving given by each battery commander, terminating with a critique on driving habits noted during the specific day.

Launched on a continuing basis, subsequent regional air defense Safe Driving Days will be announced by the 6th Region headquarters on a monthly basis commencing 27 May.

Huntsville, Ala. (AFPS) — The Exceptional Civilian Service Decoration, the Army Department's highest civilian award, was presented to 12 scientists and engineers of the Army Ordnance Missile Command here.

It was the first time more than a single such award had ever been presented at any one Army installation. The highest total of such awards given throughout the Army in any one year has been only 28.

Eleven of the 12 recipients are members of the famed missile and space team headed by Dr. Werner von Braun, which has been largely responsible for the Jupiter IRBM and for launching the Free World's first Earth and Sun satellites.

Terming the decorations "but a small expression of a grateful nation," Hugh M. Milton, Undersecretary of the Army, presented the awards.

Nikemen Donate Blood To Ailing SF Youngster

"It pays to advertise," is the slogan and no one knows it better than 7-year-old Marsha Erickson. Her parents placed an ad in the San Francisco Examiner asking for whole blood needed for a heart operation by Marsha.

Jumping on the bandwagon similar to his predecessors, Sgt. Walter J. Rezendes of the Personnel Section, 30th Artillery Group Air Defense at Ft. Scott enlisted the aid of men in his section. A few hurried phone calls and 30 minutes later 14 soldiers and two WACs were enroute to Irwin Memorial Blood Bank.

Once inside, the nurses at the blood bank made a rapid withdrawal of 15 pints of blood. One man, Sp5 Jackson Green, was unable to give blood as he had just returned from Korea. Later that afternoon M/Sgt. Harold McLean, unable to leave his job in the morning, also went down to give a pint of blood.

Donors were: (Pfc's) Linda Overton, Virginia Ramirez, Sebastian Bonfiglio, Richard Wheelie, James Hellums, Samuel Neff, Earl Blasdel, Heyward Inabinett, Fred Gandleman and Allen Ward. (Sp4's) Arthur Hatch, Vincent Ella and Alphonso Grace. (Sp5's) Jose Camacho and Jackson Green. Sgt. Rezendes also partook of the program along with M/Sgt. McLean.

Robert Montgomery is having casting woes in his James Cagney starrer about Admiral Halsey, now retitled "The Gallant Hours." Says Montgomery: "The great problem in casting pictures about the Armed Forces is that when you give an actor any rank above sergeant, he becomes impossible."

But this hasn't daunted another producer, Charles Schnier, who with scripter William Barrett spent two weeks at the Air Force Academy in Colorado, living with the officers and cadets to sop up atmosphere. . . their movie will be called—fasten seat belts, please—"Air Force Academy."

Army's turn next. . . upcoming comedy based on a Marion Hargrove article, "The Wackiest Ship in the Navy," gets a title switch to "Wackiest Ship in the Army."

With service bands. . . the U.S. Marine Band has a new weekly concert series on CBS radio. . . its director, Lt. Col. Albert Schoepper, conducts. North American Air Defense Command is organizing its own 91-man ensemble to be known as the NORAD Command Band. . . it will feature a large show orchestra called the NORAD Commanders.

Also musical. . . May 17 sees the 40-man Naval Aviation Cadet Choir from Pensacola, Fla., on the Steve Allen show a day after appearing on the City of Hope Telethon in New York, with Milton Berle as emcee.

A Leatherneck of literary talent is 1st Lt. Armin Frank of the 4th Marines at Kaneohe Bay, Hawaii. . . his just-published novel, "The Flesh of Kings," drew from a "New York Times" reviewer such approving words as "an intense, brooding novel. . . a striking effort, rich in imagery, sinewy in characterization and plot."

A Navy League scholarship fund will benefit from the New York world premiere of "John Paul Jones" June 16. . . it's timed to coincide with the arrival of Atlantic Fleet units for the city's celebration of the Henry Hudson-Champlain 350th anniversary. The picture is dedicated to Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz.

Tops in Pops. . . "Come Softly to Me" (Fleetwoods) is holding its own as leader on the "Billboard Magazine" Honor Roll of Hits, and "Pink Key Laces" (Dodie Stevens) is right behind it, followed by "Guitar Boogie Shuffle" (Virtues) which is moving up. The remaining seven: "Happy Organ" (Dave Cortez); "Sorry, I Ran All the Way Home" (Impalas); "Venus" (Frankie Avalon); "A Fool Such as I" and "I Need Your Love Tonight" (Elvis Presley); "Tell Him No" (Travis and Bob) and "Turn Me Loose" (Fabian).

On Our Shelves

IN EVERY WAR BUT ONE, by Eugene Kinkead, is a report on the Army's investigation of the Communist treatment of prisoners of war in Korea, the indoctrination process and the reasons for a high degree of collaboration, in contrast to other wars. This book is an expansion of the author's article which originally appeared in a national magazine.

The death of the U.S.S. Indianapolis is told in ABANDON SHIP! Written by R. F. Newcomb, this is the reconstruction of the events leading up to the disastrous sinking by a Japanese submarine of the U.S. heavy cruiser as it was enroute to Leyte from Guam, 224 a.m., 30 July 1945. The book tells of the battle of 800 men struggling in the sea against oil, thirst, sunburn, sharks and delirium; and finally the rescue operation.

Written by the wartime head of the French section of Special Operations Executive, Maurice Buckmaster, THEY FOUGHT ALONE tells in detail about a variety of daring exploits of British secret agents active in France during World War II.

A career officer who worked with the Bureau during the war and was a participant in some of its operations, in ALLIED INTELLIGENCE BUREAU, Allison Reid tells of the work done by MacArthur's intelligence officers, engaged in 264 missions across the far flung Southwest Pacific area.

The background, qualifications and missions of five spies of totally different personalities are told in Seth Ronald's ART OF SPYING.

The last great controversial sea battle of World War I, fought between the British and German fleets, is dramatically presented in JUTLAND.

THE CONFEDERATE READER, edited by R. B. Harwell, contains 55 selections from a variety of sources which, arranged chronologically, give glimpses of military events and life on the home front, as the Southerners wrote about it to one another.

A story of the airborne, LOOK OUT BELOW, by F. L. Sampson, is the Catholic chaplain's account of his experiences with an American airborne unit, from Parachute School through World War II and the Korean War.

In OPERATION GRASSHOPPER, Dario Politella, the Information Officer for the Army Aviation Section, EUSAAC, has expanded his notes on the story of the Army Aviation in Korea from aggression to armistice to tell how Army pilots, "flying light, unarmed planes, sought out and reported the movements of enemy forces, discovered Communist artillery positions, uncovered prime targets for the Air Force, and flew countless missions of mercy."

THE WOMAN EXECUTIVE, who she is, how she got there and where she is going, is discussed in this provocative study by Margaret Cussler. Also discussed are the married woman executive, her problems in human relations, off the job activities and her status as a social minority.

Going camping on your next leave? ## Dentcare Bill In House, Passage Prospects Dim

Washington (AFPS)—A new Dentcare plan for dependents (HR 6321) has been introduced in the House of Representatives.

The new legislation, sponsored by Rep. Melvin Price (D-Ill.) encourages dental care for military families on a prorated basis similar to that now in force in the Medicare program.

A ranking majority member of the House, Rep. Price has referred his bill to the House Armed Services Committee who, in turn, requested views of Defense Department.

Considering the major studies now in progress and the intricate nature of the problems involved, officials see little likelihood the bill will be acted upon in this session of Congress.

Major issues barring the bill's eventual passage must be ironed out, it was explained, with interested military and civilian agencies reaching compromises suitable to all concerned.

Last year a committee recommended a dental care plan for dependents to Dr. Frank Berry, Assistant Secretary of Defense.

The group submitted their report after extensive study which included a survey conducted within the Armed Forces.

At that time the committee made these observations:

- Comprehensive dental care is an integral part of basic health care and essential to health maintenance.
- The lack of a dental care provision is considered the primary defect of the Medicare program.
- A sound dental care program for dependents of uniformed service personnel can be developed and administered.
- Facilities for fiscal administration of a dental care program are available.

27 Complete Army Air Defense School Here

San Francisco Army Air Defense School graduated 27 students from its fifth command course for non-commissioned officers. The four-week command course is designed to instruct present and potential non-coms in the latest principles of leadership.

Honor graduate of the class is Pfc Gerald S. Montgomery, of B Battery, 4th Missile Battalion, 67th Artillery at Lake Chabot, Calif. His battalion commander, Lt. Col. Benjamin Page, gave the award, a Parker pen. Just last March Pfc Montgomery was named soldier of the month for the San Francisco-Travis AFB Army Air Defense. Guest speaker, Lt. Col. Burton T. Carson.

Beam, executive officer of the 29th Artillery Group at Travis AFB, Calif., pointed out to the graduates the difference in requirements necessary for leaders of today's modern Army vs. the old Army. Colonel Beam and Capt. Robert Monroe, Commandant of the School, then presented diplomas. Invocation and benediction were by Chaplain (Captain) Edward G. Carson.

Obscene Mail

Filth Merchants

Ed.'s Note: This is the first in a two-part series.)

San Francisco's Postmaster, John F. Fixa, today appealed for public support in the intensified war Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield has declared on the "ruthless mail order merchants in filth who are violating the homes of the nation in defiance of the national government."

Using one of the nation's most cherished privileges to carry on their smutty trade—the uncensored letter—"barons of obscenity" today are sending un-ordered lewd materials into our mail boxes, much of it directed to teen-age youngsters, Postmaster Fixa explained.

The materials offered for sale include filthy films and books, dirty pictures, slides and related filth, advertised in highly objectionable circulars which are being sent indiscriminately to homes.

Postmaster Fixa was advised by Postmaster General Summerfield that $500,000,000 is being taken in annually by large mail order dealers in pornography and obscenity. Postal authorities here are receiving complaints from clergymen, school groups, newspaper editors and alarmed parents.

During a recent 12-month period, postal inspectors conducted 4,000 investigations on obscene and pornographic mail and caused the arrest of 293 persons dealing in this filth. This is an increase of 45% over the previous year, and an all-time high, according to Postmaster Fixa, and, he added, the threat is increasing.

Indicative of the extensive operations of the filth factories that are invading the homes of the nation with their suggestive advertisements and dirty materials, Mr. Summerfield noted that within the past few weeks simultaneous raids by U.S. Marshals and Postal Inspectors in New York City resulted in seizure of 15 tons of dirty films, slides, photographs and other smut, and a mailing list, used nationally, containing 100,000 names.

"No longer do dealers in smut secretly serve only a few adults, Postmaster Fixa explained. "They brazenly solicit our children, sending their material indiscriminately and without conscience into our home mail boxes."

"For example," Mr. Fixa noted, "cases have come to my attention where teenagers wrote away from auto parts and received later 'sex instructions' advertisements; of new graduating classes whose names were taken from newspapers by filth merchants who circularized every member of the class; of youngsters who wrote in for model airplane catalogs, or a set of stamps, and later received materials on films portraying sex and perversion."

Complaints are also being received in increasing numbers over the nation involving solicitation from filth factories of innocent teenage girls, housewives, and even Cub Scouts, Postmaster Fixa noted.

"The Post Office Department is diligently trying to clean up the mails," Postmaster General Summerfield explained recently to Congress, which is considering new measures to deal with this growing national threat. "But," Mr. Summerfield added, "the Post Office Department has been subjected frequently to attack and ridicule by those who hope to profit personally from unrestricted mailings, or by those who—confusing liberty with license—unwittingly give them assistance."

"There appear to be two basic reasons for the increasing volume of filth in the mails," the Postmaster General continued. "First, the tremendous profits that are realized from a relatively small capital investment, and, secondly, the very broad definition of obscenity handed down by certain courts—including those in certain Metropolitan Areas—namely Los Angeles and New York."

These rulings, he concluded, "have established virtual sanctuaries." From these sanctuaries, Mr. Summerfield explained, filth dealers have operated with impunity in developing their huge business in filth, flooding this community and others with materials which constitute "one of the most serious moral and social problems in the United States today."

Transportation Expert Will Aid NDT Program

John J. Allen, Jr., Undersecretary of Commerce for Transportation, will speak in San Francisco today in the observance of National Defense Transportation Day.

The former Bay Area Congressman, now serving in President Eisenhower's Cabinet, will address military and commercial transportation leaders at a Presidio of San Francisco dinner meeting sponsored by the San Francisco Bay Area Chapter of the National Defense Transportation Association.

The dinner meeting highlights a chapter program which also includes special transportation displays at the World Trade Center and in downtown stores and transportation agencies; transportation motion pictures in the Roos-Atkins Bowl; displays at Armed Forces Day open houses at area military bases; and talks before luncheon club groups by chapter members.

The program is being arranged by a committee consisting of Kelsey MacMeekin, Pacific Intermountain Express, chairman; Joseph W. Murphy, chapter president, ex officio, Southern Pacific; Capt. George Unnacht, Military Sea Transportation Service; J. A. Sullivan, Army Transportation Terminal Command, Pacific; John Lubimir, Southern Pacific; Lt. Col. Arthur Laib, Sixth U.S. Army; and Robert Armstrong, Illinois-California Express.

President Eisenhower has proclaimed 15 May as National Defense Transportation Day to draw public attention to the importance of the modern land, sea and air transportation system in support of national security.

Urge Participation In National Check For All Vehicles

Lieutenant General Charles D. Palmer, Commanding General, Sixth U.S. Army, has emphasized the desire of the Secretary of the Army for participation in the National Vehicle Safety-Check program. This has been summarized in Circular Number 385-11, Headquarters, Sixth U.S. Army.

The San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, through its Traffic Safety & Control Section of the Civic Development Committee, will again this year sponsor the Voluntary Community Vehicle Safety Check.

Six check lanes will be operated in the City of San Francisco. The lanes will be open to the public from 1200 to 2000 hours on 19, 20, and 21 May 1959.

Locations where the vehicle check will be available are as follows:

- Marina Green.
- Great Highway, between Fulton and Lincoln Way.
- Sunset Blvd. (37th Ave.), between Rivera and Pacheco.
- Harrison St., between 25th and 26th Streets.
- Balboa Park—San Juan to Ocean Avenue.
- Masonic Avenue, Oak and Fell Streets.

Has your car been checked recently? Get the green sticker that shows your vehicle has been safety checked for 1959.

Army Lab Builds Better Bug Trap

Washington (AFPS)—The Army Engineers have built a better mosquito trap.

Rugged and rust-proof, the new trap has an aluminum frame, a hooded light bulb, a small electric-motor driven fan, a screen cone and a jar to house the catch.

Mosquitoes attracted by the light are blown by the fan through the cone into the plastic bottle where they are poisoned by sodium cyanide.

The device is used to make sample headcounts of the population of the pests in an area and to determine the species in order to establish proper control measures.

Devised by the Engineer Research and Development Laboratories, Ft. Belvoir, Va., the trap operates on a 110-volt line and is regulated by an automatic electric timer.

AFD On Stewart Show

It will be Armed Forces Day on the Dick Stewart Show at 1600 to 1730 hours today over KPIX-TV (Channel 5).

Enlisted men and women from the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Air Force and Coast Guard will be present and take part in the "live" show. The Army will act as sponsor for the event. Five enlisted men and five members of the Women's Army Corps will be present from Sixth U.S. Army here at the Presidio of San Francisco.

what they asked

For several months the Star-Pressidarian has been asking questions of the people. But this week we decided to change the procedure and let you our readers ask us the questions.

Our suggestion: If you had the chance to ask an expert any question at all what would it be and why?

Pfc. William Delumpa, Life Guard:

This is pretty hard to think of on the spur of the moment, but the first question that I can think of is this. Do the women outnumber the men or do the men outnumber the women here in San Francisco? Now to tell you why I ask this question. I am just as curious as anyone else and am always hearing of how the women outnumber the men in many other areas. So I was just wondering whether this is true here or not.

As San Francisco is different from any other city in the country, it differs also from the National average of males to females. According to the 1950 census, there were 4,375 more males in San Francisco than females. Curiously enough, the State of California showed 5,035 more males than females—practically all of the excess men being in San Francisco. (Girls please note.)

Pfc. Patrick McCarville, Visual Aids, Letterman Army Hospital:

I would like to know why the laws of one state differ from those of another state even when the same crime has been committed. The reason I ask this particular question is that I don't think it's right to give one criminal the full treatment and not some other man who committed the same crime only in another state.

Col. Beets, Chief of Judicial Area VI, remarks on this question were: "Historically each of the state legislatures have had to handle the same problem in many different ways based upon the situations at hand. Each of the states having the power to enact their own laws in their own legislatures has led to many different types of laws to cover the same crime. Lawyers today keep this situation in mind when they are making new laws and they are trying to rectify this as time goes along."

Sp4 Daniel Warlick, Message Center:

Every day I hear so much about space travel and how we are trying to get a man on the moon. So I would like to ask this question. When do you think that the United States will get a live man on the moon? I would like to know the answer because our future depends a great deal on what we find on the planet and it also means security to our country.

Answer: Estimates based on normal rates of engineering development progress, assuming no unpredictable creative break-throughs, suggest that earth satellites carrying payloads of 5,000 pounds and useful for astronomical research, for surveying and navigation, and for military surveillance, will be a fact some time between 1963 and 1967; that permanent manned satellite stations and man's first landing on the moon will be achieved sometime between 1968 and 1973. (Quoted from BACKGROUND ON WORLD POLITICS, Wayne State University, Detroit, Michigan.)

Sp4 Robert Murphy, Training Aids Dept., Carpenter:

With all that I hear about the great advancement of the automobile industry each year I would like to know this. Do you think that the automobile as we know it today will be obsolete within the next ten years? I would like to know how an expert feels about this question. I think that the cars will become more like airplanes and that they won't run on the roads but fly.

Mr. Richard Cunard, Customer Relations Manager of Buick, had this to say in answer to this question: "The thing that changes automobiles are the customers. Over the last ten years the only changes that have been made in the auto are more and better accessories and comfort. Within the next ten years the biggest possible change would be the gas turbine engine, however, this is highly improbable. The car ten years from now will probably be much like the one we have today except it will be safer to drive. The general public will not be ready to fly or travel at supersonic speeds. Changes like this must come along gradually over a long period."

Tyros almost boosted themselves high enough to finish in the money as they shut out the Guys and Dolls. For the Tyros it was O'Donnell with 491-189. Lutz of the losers pegged 451-191.

One Year Ago: On January 31, 1958, at 10:48 p. m., the United States entered the space age with the launching by the Army of the satellite Explorer I.

Toreros Nip Falstaffs Lose Two To Humboldt

"The Toreros played their best game to date and if they continue we should have a great baseball season," states Torero coach Hal Fischer.

The occasion was a non-league game against the Falstaffs, regarded as the top semi-pro team in the Bay Area. It went down as a 6-5 win in the Toreros' scorebook.

Jim Mosely was the winning pitcher, allowing only six hits. Frank Walsh, formerly with the San Francisco Seals, came out on the losing end.

Jake DeSousa was the Torero batting star, getting two hits in four trips and credit for three RBIs. Frank Zechel handled nine chances in the field, including the start of two double plays, flawlessly.

Everything wasn't so rosy when the Toreros christened their new baseball field in a Sunday double header against Humboldt State College. They lost both ends 1-0 and 8-6.

DeSousa opened on the mound for Presidio and pitched a fine game, striking out 11 men while allowing only 6 hits. The only run of the game scored on him was unearned as a fly ball hit to the outfield was lost in the sun. What would have been a routine play turned into a triple for the Humboldt batter. The Toreros threatened in the last inning with Hucksby doubling and Mills walking. Jim Mosely then hit a towering 380 foot drive to left center that was caught at the fence after a long run by the Humboldt player.

The second game was pitched by Ted Remington for the first 7 innings. He allowed 6 hits and 8 runs, only 3 of which were earned. Earl Alexander came in to relieve him and went the rest of the game.

Miscues to the tune of 5 errors proved to be the undoing of the Toreros. Batting power has been a plus factor this year, but errors will be the determining one in this year's league race.

Next game for the Toreros is against the top semi-pro team in the Alameda League, namely Southern Pacific Stores. The game is Sunday at 1200 in Washington Park, Alameda.

Kops Take Presidio League Title, Nikes Tops In Mixed

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Finals in the Wednesday Night Mixed League find the Nikes in first place by 9 games over the Spoilers. Third was a tight battle between the Pickups and Alley Bys with the former edging into the spot by ½ game.

Scoring in the league were the Alley Bys over the Pickups 3-1 with Shoudeul tops for the winners 517-178. Johnson of the losers saved the day as he rolled 568-226. Spoilers breezed into second by blanking the Cutups 4-0. High for the winners was Wilmoth 556-211. Jim Lee aceed out his wife for team honors this week with 477-176.

Retorts, the last team in the league, didn't give up in the stretch as they pasted the Nikes 3-1. Reynolds led the winners 492-170 as Ross of the Nikes hit 576-206.

The Keystone Kops iced the Presidio League title this week as they lead the second place Shafter's 4½ games and only one week remains. This week the Kops split 2-2 with the Recruiters with Johnson heading up the Kops 582-225. Burmeister led the Recruiters' cause 514-189.

Bitter pill to swallow for the Shafter's was a 3-1 roughing by the King Pins. It knocked them squarely out of the title contention. Andersen paced the Pins 577-215 as DuBois led the losers 505-179.

N.Y. Revisited

Slate AF vs. Army Fall Classic For Yankee Stadium

The killer always returns to the scene of the crime, only in this case the "killer" is the Army football team from West Point. The "scene" is Yankee Stadium, where marauding Army grid men literally "murdered" other great teams of the day.

For the first time in 11 years, Army will play once again on the field where it gained prominence as the No. 1 team in the nation. On 31 Oct., 1959, they meet the upstart team from the Air Force Academy. The game was originally scheduled to be played in Michie Stadium at West Point, but with the Falcons emerging as a big time football power and a heavy demand for tickets, the site was shifted to Yankee Stadium.

Lt. Col. Francis J. Roberts, Army Athletic Director, states, "We are happy to be coming back to New York and have always felt that Army should make an appearance there from time to time." He also revealed that starting in 1963 the two academies will meet on the sixth weekend of the season in odd years, with the Air Force playing host for the 1963 game.

Mixed Bowling Start

The Wednesday Night Mixed League summer session will start 20 May after a week's layoff between seasons. One more team is still needed to have a full league. Interested parties are asked to contact League Secretary Connie Lund at 3173.

The Alley Rats walked on 60th CI 4-0 as Havrilla rolled a tough 516-198. Smith mixed it up for the 60th with 440-155.

Islanders put daylight between themselves and SFAADS 3-1. Saito hit 551-203 for the Islanders and Walkley rolled 466-161 for the losers.

WAC Bowling League is still the personal property of the Alley Kats as they opened their lead to 13 games. This week they dazzled the Orbits 3-1 with Martinson getting 450-175. Top Orbiteer was Harris, 432-159.

League standings in the Presidio Intramural Softball League are: Honor Guard 6-0; Training Group 3-0; MRU 3-2; 16th BPO 1-2; Special Troops 3-2; Garrison 3-3; Dispensary 2-3; Teenagers 0-3; 99th Engineers 0-6.

Air Defense League standings are: B Btry, 2nd Msl. Bn., 51st Arty. 2-0; A Btry, 2nd Msl. Bn., 51st Arty. 2-1; C Btry, 2nd Msl. Bn., 51st Arty. 1-1; 40th Brigade 1-1; Hq. 30th Group 1-1; Medical Lab. 1-2; D Btry, 2nd Msl. Bn., 51st Arty. 0-2.

In a wide open scoring spree the Cards notched six runs in the first inning of their game with the Giants. Everything went cozy until the Giants retaliated with a like amount in the fourth inning to put themselves ahead 8-6. They were never behind again as they romped home with ten more in the sixth to win 19-7.

Closest game of the current season was played between the Yanks

and the Cubs with the Yanks notching a 9-8 win. A quick three runs in the first inning put the Yanks ahead until the third when the Cubs batted across four runs for a 5-4 lead. The Yanks bounced back with five in the fourth and hung on for the win in spite of the fourth, the Cards reckoned that the game would be theirs. The only flaw was that the Cubs exploded for four in the fourth and added two more in the sixth to tie up the game.

With no foreseeable major change expected, G1 should gather all the hardware in the Bay Bowling League. This week they took their usual differential by besting the Triple Aces 3-1. Lowe led G1 with 554-196 but following hot on his heels was Grambort of the Aces with 553-209.

MRU is trying to take second and added another scalp to their belt by blanking 6A Signal. Andersen of the winners rolled the best score of the week with his 610-225, 201. Hunt paced Signal 482-206.

JAGS hold second with a death grip as they rolled past Hq. Co. 6A 3-1. For JAGS it was Cucurull with 525-189. Shimada led the losers 527-182.

Garrison pulled a surprise this week by conking Compt-Rollers 3-1. Shelton posted 532-235 for the winners as Morgan of the Rollers was getting 438-167.

Fast, Giants Hold Lead

Steve Jones' home run for the Yankees in the second inning didn't hold for the game as the Giants came on strong in the later innings to win 5-1. Eric Utegaard started off brilliantly for the Yanks as he struck out 6 of the first 8 men to face him. Garrett of the Giants proved the better pitcher in the clutch as he yielded the only extra base hit to Jones.

The Cards and the Cubs played to a 6-6 tie that will be played off in a "sudden death" game next time the two teams meet. With one in the first, one in the second and three big ones in the third, followed by one insurance run in the fourth, the Cards reckoned that the game would be theirs. The only flaw was that the Cubs exploded for four in the fourth and added two more in the sixth to tie up the game.

Walkley High Scorer In Group Tourney

Dominant team in the recently concluded 30th Arty. Gp. was the one from 2nd Msl. Bn., 51st Arty., with a whopping total of 7,584 pins. This was far above the second place 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty. team, who finished with a 6,884 total. Third was taken by Hq. and Hq. Btry., 30th Arty. Gp., which amassed 6,659 pins total.

High man for the tournament was Sfc. Julian Walkley with 599-231. He rolled for the 4th Msl. Bn., 61st Arty. Pfc. Leonard Udaykee of the 2nd Msl. Bn., 51st Arty., followed hot on Walkley's heels with 565-203. Pfc. Dick Hellum of Hq. and Hq. Btry., blasted the boards for 508-182.

All three teams compete in the 40th Brigade tournament at the Oakland Army Terminal. Winners there will compete for honors in the Sixth Region tourney to be held at a date yet to be announced.

Four Presidians Win Supergrade Promotions

Colonel M. M. Brown, Commanding Officer, Presidio of San Francisco, congratulated four sergeants this week at a brief ceremony in his office, following their promotions in the new "super grades." They were Sergeant Major (E-9) Ferdinand Johnston, Headquarters Sergeant Major, Presidio of San Francisco; Sergeant Major (E-9) James T. Heard, Sergeant Major of the 30th Engineer Battalion (Base Topographic); M/Sgt. (E-8) Wayne Giles, Post Personnel Sergeant Major; and First Sergeant (E-8) Poston H. Tapp, 1st Sgt. of the 21st Engineer Company (Base Photo).

Sergeant Major Johnston entered the service from Virginia in 1938 and was at Schofield Barracks, Hawaii, when the Japanese attacked on 7 December 1941. During World War II he served with the 25th Infantry Division and in the China-Burma-India Theater. During the Occupation he was stationed in Japan. When the Korean engagement started he again joined the 25th Infantry Division in Korea and served as Chief Clerk in the G1 Section. He reported for duty at the Presidio in February, 1954. Sergeant Johnston is on orders to proceed to Fort Anador, Canal Zone, on the 25th of May.

Sergeant Major Heard entered the Army from Georgia in 1939. He served with G3, Headquarters, ETOSA, in London, from 17 January 1942 to 3 February 1943, when he was commissioned a 2d Lieutenant and transferred to the 115th Infantry Regiment, 29th Infantry Division. He left the Army as a Captain in 1946, but enlisted again in 1947, serving with the 30th Engineer Bn. at Schofield Barracks, Hawaii, and duty with the R.O.T.C. at the University of Hawaii. Sergeant Major Heard came to the Presidio in February 1956, after serving in the Philippines and Okinawa. He expects to accompany his unit to Fort Belvoir, Virginia, when they are transferred next month.

Master Sergeant Giles joined the Army in 1942 from Dallas, Texas. During World War II he served with a Chemical Warfare detachment in the Pacific Theatre. He wears the Philippine Liberation Ribbon, among others. M/Sgt. Giles now calls Winslow, Arizona, "home." With his wife, Consuelo, and their seven children, M/Sgt. Giles lives at 106 Gates Street in

Army Research Studies To Get Public Release

Washington (ANS)—ARTS, the Annual Research Task Summary of the Army, giving information on the current status of more than 2300 Army research projects, has been placed in distribution channels, the Department of the Army announced this week.

For the first time since the Annual Research Task Summary was initiated five years ago, the major portion of the report, six of the nine volumes, is being made available this year for more general public use. Purpose of the summary is to provide a factual basis for review and analysis of the Army's research program, to provide information to facilitate inter-agency coordination of the program, and to effect coordination with research supporting organizations outside of the Army.

The Army research program involves a current annual expenditure of approximately $88,000,000 on various projects. Encompassing ten major scientific fields and 74 sub-fields, projects are carried on by agencies at 59 Army installations.

Directed principally through the Army Technical Services—Quartermaster, Signal, Ordnance, Chemical, Transportation Corps, Corps of Engineers and the Medical Service—the research pro-

Nike-Hercules Top Air Defense Weapon Says CG

The Army's Nike Hercules missile—now in operation at sites on the Pacific Coast—is capable of destroying targets flying at far higher altitudes than can be reached by any other operational air defense weapon, Major General E. J. McGaw said this week.

General McGaw, Commanding General of the 6th Region, U.S. Army Air Defense Command, also announced that three additional Nike-Hercules sites—in Seattle, Wash., Los Angeles and near Travis Air Force Base, Calif.—would become operational this week.

The general's command, which is charged with the air defense of the Far Western states, said:

"Nike-Hercules, now in the hands of Army missilemen defending cities such as Los Angeles and San Francisco, has successfully intercepted a target at an altitude of well over 20 miles. The recent destruction of a Pogo-Hi (parachute type) target at a height far above the operational capability of any other air defense missile clearly demonstrates the ability of Hercules to engage hostile attackers at extreme altitudes as well as at long ranges."

In a special Armed Forces Week statement, General McGaw invited the public to visit neighboring Army Nike missile installations, nearly all of which will be open for that purpose on Armed Forces Day, May 16.

Describing Nike-Hercules, the general said:

"Its range exceeds 75 miles—more than three times that of its predecessor, Nike-Ajax, which it augments. In tests conducted during 1958, Hercules intercepted targets flying in excess of 1,500 miles per hour at altitudes above 60,000 feet. In addition to its demonstrated high altitude capability, Hercules also has been successful when tested against aircraft approaching at very low levels."

He said, "It has been successful regardless of weather conditions encountered at the time of firing and gives our troops in the field the capability to destroy single targets or entire flights of aircraft or aerodynamically supported missiles."

"Los Angeles and San Francisco are already protected by Nike-Hercules, and have been for some time," added General McGaw. "The Nike site near Elmira and Vacaville, Calif., will have Hercules in position on Saturday, providing Sacramento—the capital of California—with increased protection against possible air attack."

"On Friday, the third Hercules site established for defense of the Los Angeles area will display its equipment to invited guests at the Palos Verdes Nike Site near San Pedro. On Thursday, Hercules will be displayed to selected residents of Seattle at the Kingston, Wash., Site."

"Defenses near Spokane and the Hanford Atomic Energy Works at Hanford, Wash., will be protected by Hercules in about 30 days."

Post Ladies Meet

The first Coffee Party of the Post Ladies will be held in the Parade Room of the Presidio Officers Open Mess at 1000 hours Wednesday, 27 May. Future "coffee" will be held on the fourth Wednesday of each month, at a location to be announced each month. For reservations call Mrs. E. L. Bunden, Ext. 5101, or Mrs. G. J. Reuss, Ext. 5246, in the Presidio area; Mrs. R. A. Borges, GL 3-4393, in the San Rafael area; Mrs. C. R. Williams, DU 8-7515, in the Mill Valley area; or Mrs. J. R. Showers, JU 9-3159, in the San Bruno area.

The regular meeting of the Winfield Scott P.T.A. will be held 21 May at 1300 in the school auditorium. Entertainment will be provided by the students. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

West Point Founder Subject On Big Picture Series Sunday

"THAYER OF WEST POINT," a BIG PICTURE television film, will be shown over KTVU, Channel 2, at 1330 hours Sunday, 17 May 1959. The picture portrays the life of the founder of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, New York, and was released throughout the United States by the Office of the Chief of Information, U.S. Army.

The film, narrated by Lowell Thomas, portrays a man of vision facing up to a challenge—to create a military academy truly worthy of the United States Army. Sylvanus Thayer, known as the "Father of West Point," had an excellent background for this assignment, having graduated with top honors from Dartmouth, and was a veteran of the War of 1812.

This picture reveals the great influence that Thayer has had upon the men of the Long Gray Line. He saw that determination to defend this land is not enough.

Knowledge and training—the full education of the professional soldier, the engineer and, for that matter every American, is the source of our strength as our country faces the future.

The Big Picture is the most widely distributed and telecast TV series in the world.

Sports, Photo Buff Named Best Soldier At 16th Base PO

Sp4 Ned B. Herriott was selected as Soldier of the Month by the 16th Base Post Office.

Specialist Herriott was born in Delaware, Ohio, 14 July 1934, and he now calls Columbus, Ohio, home. A graduate of Ohio State University, he majored and received his B.S. in Business Administration. He then was engaged in the Executive Training Program of Sears, Roebuck & Co. This position is awaiting his return from military service.

The Soldier of the Month was inducted into the Army 3 April 1957, and he is presently assigned as personnel specialist for the company.

Specialist Herriott is interested in sports and photography. He resides with his wife, Carole, at 1472 Filbert Street in San Francisco.

Open House To Climax Armed Forces Week

Vol. 7, No. 49      PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA      Friday 15 May, 1959

Chief Of Chaplains Visits Here Tomorrow

Chaplain (Major General) Frank A. Tobey, Chief of Chaplains, will arrive in San Francisco tomorrow, 16 May 1959, for a three-day visit and inspection. This is the first visit of Chaplain Tobey to the Bay Area since he became Chief of Chaplains.

Chaplain Tobey has been on an inspection and "get acquainted" trip for the past six weeks, visiting Army installations in Alaska, Japan, Korea, Okinawa, the Philippine Islands, and Hawaii. He is accompanied on his trip by Chaplain (Colonel) Bernard Fenton, Chief of Personnel, Chief of Chaplains Office.

Monday noon a luncheon has been arranged in honor of Chaplain Tobey in the Parade Room of the Presidio Officers' Open Mess.

Among the guests will be Lieutenant General Charles D. Palmer, Commanding General, Sixth U.S. Army; Major General John J. Elnns, Chief of Staff; Major General John W. Harmony, Commanding General, XV U.S. Army Corps (Reserve); Major General Edward J. McGaw, Commanding General, Sixth Region, U.S. Army Air Defense Command; Brigadier General Robert C. Tripp, Commanding General, Bay Area Terminal Center; Colonel M. M. Brown, Commanding Officer, Presidio of San Francisco; Colonel A. L. Tynes, Commanding Officer, Letterman Army Hospital; Bishop Merlin J. Guilfoyle, Auxiliary Bishop of San Francisco; Rev. Earle Smith, Executive Secretary of the American Baptist Union of the Bay Area; Mr. Walter Heller, Sixth Army Chairman, Armed Services National Jewish Welfare Board, and Rev. Stanley M. Inman, Associate Executive Secretary of the American Baptist Union, Bay Area. The Reverend Inman was a classmate of Chaplain Tobey in their seminary days. Chaplain Tobey assumed the duties of Chief of Chaplains on 1 November 1958, succeeding Chaplain (Major General) Patrick J. Ryan.

Chief of Chaplains

Following an inspection of Chapel facilities at the Presidio on Monday, the Chief of Chaplains' party will depart from Crissy Field Tuesday morning for an inspection and visit to Fort Ord.

Have You Checked?

100% protection from polio is the goal on the Presidio and all military personnel and their dependents are urged to take advantage of the free vaccinations given during duty hours Monday through Friday at the Post Dispensary.

Retired Personnel Honored by Parade

Colonel M. M. Brown, Commanding Officer of the Presidio of San Francisco, will welcome retired personnel in the Bay area at a meeting in the Post Theatre at 1030 hours this morning. The occasion is Retired Activities Day, held in conjunction with Armed Forces Day.

A full day has been planned to honor retired personnel and to indicate to them that they are not forgotten. Following the welcoming address, there will be a luncheon at the Presidio Officers Open Mess, the Noncommissioned Officers Open Mess and the Unit Messes at 1145 hours.

A concert by the Sixth U.S. Army band in front of building 100 will entertain the gathering, while they examine the Armed Forces Day exhibits and the motorcade. Tours of Battery Caulfield and the NIKE site will be made at 1330 and 1430 hours. Buses will depart from the Parade Ground.

The occasion will be climaxed by a retreat parade on the main parade ground at 160 hours. All retired personnel in the Bay area have been invited to participate.

'Deep South' Theme 17-Piece Orchestra Key Spring Dance

The 17-piece orchestra of Stephen Paul will play for the Spring Post Dance at the Presidio Service Club Number 1 on 21 May 1959.

The theme for the Spring dance will be "Down South on the Plantation." This will be one of the big occasions of the season and a good turnout is expected.

Dance hostesses from the American Red Cross will attend as Southern Belle hostesses, and refreshments will be served. The evening begins at 2015 hours.

The special music for the occasion is provided by Local No. 6 of the American Federation of Musicians, A.F.L.-C.I.O. through a grant from the Recording Industries Trust Funds, a program of public service originated by the Recording and Transcription Fund of the American Federation of Musicians, Herman D. Kenin, President.

Need Recruiters

Lt. Colonel Milton L. Carr, Commanding Officer, U.S. Army Recruiting Main Station, Oakland, California, announced that a requirement exists for a limited number of male recruiting specialists in the Northern California area. Eligible personnel meeting the mandatory prerequisites outlined in Sixth Army Circular Number 84-22, 16 October 1958, are encouraged to apply.

Armed Forces Day Is Open House Day Here

Armed Forces Day, Saturday, 16 May 1959, will be open house day at the Presidio of San Francisco, where personnel have been engaged all week in getting ready for the visitors. The public is invited to come and spend the day.

The 35-vehicle motorcade will be at the Presidio all day Saturday. In addition to several missile-laden vehicles, a new tracked vehicle with a 90-mm. gun, and an armored mortar carrier, the motorcade carries displays of new uniforms made of paper and aluminum, a thermal face mask for use on atomic battlefields, an explosive foxhole digger, a 106-mm. recoilless rifle and many other items. The new M-14 rifle and the M-15 automatic rifle will be on display, together with the ultra-modern Armalite. The Armalite, weighing only 6.85 pounds, fires a .222 caliber round from a 20-round magazine at speeds as high as 700 rounds per minute.

The motorcade has been touring San Francisco all week, affording an opportunity for over 60,000 people to examine the latest in military equipment.

This afternoon at 1400 hours there will be a retreat parade on the main parade ground honoring retired personnel.

Tomorrow, 16 May, will be replete with activities, highlighted by a softball game at 1100 hours (Presidio of San Francisco vs. Alameda) and a second game at 1300 hours (WACs vs. Hamilton Air Force Base). A guard dog demonstration will be held in the field behind the main Post Exchange at 1430 hours. These are the efficient sentry dogs who guard the NIKE sites in the area.

Army chow will be available, and the public is invited to join in a ham dinner, from 1130 to 1300 hours. Cost will be 65 cents for adults and 35 cents for children under twelve.

A full day, packed with pleasure and interest, is in store as the Army opens its doors to show the public its accomplishments.

M59 Armored Infantry Vehicle, built by the Food Machinery and Chemical Corporation at San Jose, was on display this week with the Armed Forces Day Motorcade and will be in the state display at the Presidio today and tomorrow.

Nike Sites Ready Open House During Armed Forces Day

Missilemen of the San Francisco-Travis AFB Army Air Defense will show their ready-for-action guided missiles to the public tomorrow for the 1959 Armed Forces Day celebrations throughout the San Francisco Bay Area.

All 16 of the Nike firing batteries in the Defense will be open to the public from 1 to 4 p.m. for tours.

The site near Vacaville, with the construction necessary for conversion from Nike-Ajax to Nike-Hercules finished will be officially dedicated tomorrow in its new role as the third Nike-Hercules site in the area. The other two are at Fort Barry (Sausalito) and San Rafael.

At Santa Rosa, 30 soldiers of the Bay Area Defense will help Santa Rosans celebrate Armed Forces Day by accepting invitations to the town's picnic and dance.

Here in the Presidio, life-size displays of the Nike-Ajax and Hercules guided missiles will be featured in the parade for the final day of the Post Commander's Armed Forces Day "Motorcade."

Several other tours and displays already have been conducted commemorating Armed Forces Day earlier this week.

Eight Civilians At XVth Corps Win Top Incentive Awards

Major General John W. Harmony, Commanding General, XVth United States Army Corps (Reserve) this week presented outstanding and sustained superior performance awards to civilian employees of the Corps in ceremonies at the Presidio of San Francisco.

Certificates and cash awards of $100 were presented to Mrs. Elsie Frick, 5 Robertson Terrace, Mill Valley; Mrs. Emma Smith, 275 Cecelia Way, Belvedere-Tiburon, and Mrs. Joanne Gilbert, 37 Meadow Avenue, San Rafael.

A certificate for sustained superior performance and a cash award of $160 were presented to Mrs. Yambrovich.

Certificates and cash awards of $150 were presented to Mrs. Lois Thompson, 150 Thrift Street, and Mr. Joe Urban, 2729 Lombard Street, both of San Francisco.

Certificates and checks for $100 were awarded to Mrs. Lorraine Pilachowski, 1505 Pershing Drive, Presidio of San Francisco; Mrs. Hazel Larson, 8-15th Avenue, and Mrs. Dore Daly, 700 Church Street, the latter two living in San Francisco.

Anti-Missile Missile Conference Due Here

Vol. 7, No. 50

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

Friday 22 May, 1959

Top Air Defense Chiefs Will Meet At Ft. Baker

The Army's anti-missile missile—Nike-Zeus—will be one of the primary topics of discussion at a conference of Army Air Defense Commanders to be held at Fort Baker on 26-27 May.

Major General E. J. McGaw, who commands the 6th Region, U.S. Army Air Defense Command, announced today that nine brigade and group commanders from all along the Pacific Coast will attend the conference. These include commanders of units in Seattle, Spokane and Hanford, Wash., and Los Angeles, San Francisco and near Travis Air Force Base, Calif.

The Zeus briefing will climax the two-day conference. N. T. Weiler of Douglas Aircraft Company and J. W. Shaeffer of Bell Telephone Company—the primary developers of the Zeus—will present the briefing on Wednesday morning. The meeting will be limited to the Army commanders.

Other topics of discussion during the conference include concepts of countering possible hostile attempts at jamming Army radar devices and means of overcoming such jamming, the general said. Administrative matters will also be discussed.

General McGaw said that the Nike-Zeus is the Army's newest member of the Nike family, under development to intercept and destroy hostile missiles, as well as aircraft. The Zeus development is already well beyond the drawing board stage, and hardware testing is under way.

General McGaw said, "With Hercules this command is already able to destroy any hostile aircraft and any aerodynamically supported missile. The Hercules is emplaced at sites all along the Pacific Coast, ready for use and manned by the excellent Army missilemen who make skies safer above our cities because they are on duty at all times.

"The Hercules has greater altitude capability than any other existing air defense missile, can intercept targets at ranges of more than 75 miles, and by using a nuclear warhead can destroy entire flights of aircraft.

"With the advent of Zeus, the Army's protective cover of this nation's major cities and industrial centers—along with other elements of the North American Air Defense Command—will extend to the limits necessary to counter enemy missiles."

General McGaw's command encompasses the entire West Coast, and includes 52 Nike sites equipped with Ajax—the first Nike missile—and the newer deadly Hercules with either high explosive or atomic capability. Hercules sites are now operational in Los Angeles, San Francisco and near Travis Air Force Base, Calif., and in Seattle, Wash. Hercules sites will be operational in the near future in Spokane and Hanford, Wash., the general announced.

GLAD TIDINGS were on tap for three NCO's at Sixth Army Special Troops as they received word of their promotions to the new E8 supergrade. Passing the good

Soldiers, Civilians Give Blood To LAH Drive

Responding to an urgent call for blood from Letterman Army Hospital, approximately 200 military and civilian employees of Sixth U.S. Army Headquarters recently trooped to Irwin Memorial Blood Bank and left 183 units of blood for use at the military hospital.

Letterman Army Hospital, the largest military hospital on the West Coast, serves personnel from all branches of the services and in doing so requires from 200 to 250 units of blood per month. Captain Robert S. Cox, Jr., Chief of Clinical Pathology at the hospital, stated that the only source of blood is a live donor and that no substitute had been found for this. The supply of blood at Letterman comes from volunteer donors, primarily military.

Colonel Achilles L. Tynes, Commanding Officer of Letterman, expressed the thanks of his staff for the generous donation by the Sixth Army personnel. He emphasized that the need for blood was a continuing one and there was a constant demand for the vital life-giving fluid.

In a personal letter of appreciation to donors and project officers, Major General John J. Binns, Chief of Staff, Sixth U.S. Army, called the drive "amazing." The headquarters drive extended over a two-day period.

Hospital authorities explained that while the strength of the command has decreased, the patient load at Letterman has increased. The hospital serves personnel from the eight western states of the Sixth Army area and 43 foreign countries. With the increase in patient load there is a resultant increase in demand for blood, they said.

New Liquid Prop Engine Delivered To Redstone Unit

The first of eight liquid propellant rocket engines to be used in the Advanced Research Projects Agency's Project SATURN has been completed and delivered to Redstone Arsenal, Huntsville, Alabama, the Department of the Army announced.

Used in clusters of eight, the engines of the system will develop 1,500,000 pounds of thrust and will be four times more powerful than any other American flight-tested propulsion system.

The engine, a modification of existing JUPITER and THOR engines, was developed by Rocketdyne, a division of North American Aviation, Inc., under supervision of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency. ARPA had authorized ABMA to develop the system which will furnish the first stage boost for the SATURN space vehicle.

Designated the H-1, the new engine is more compact than the JUPITER and THOR engines in the 150,000-pound thrust range. Development and testing of the complete cluster of engines will be accomplished by ABMA, Huntsville.

Saving Bond Award To Post Engineers

Colonel M. M. Brown, Commanding Officer, Presidio of San Francisco, awarded a United States Treasury "Minute Man" award to the Post Engineer Section last week.

The award, in recognition of outstanding achievement in the Army Savings Bond program, was accepted by Colonel W. K. Carroll, Post Engineer, and Captain Darrell R. Tippets, Assistant Post Engineer.

Plastic Bags

Can Mean Suffocation!

In a publication issued by the American Medical Association on 30 March 1959, a physician from Phoenix, Arizona, reported that four infants have died of suffocation from becoming enveloped in the clinging plastic film of the new garment bags. It is believed that static electricity may have drawn the film tight across the children's faces and prevented their breathing.

The National Institute of Dry Cleaning through its news media has admonished the public that plastic bags in which dry cleaners deliver clothing are not playthings and must be treated with as much caution as headache pills, sleeping tablets, insecticides, sharp tools and toxic and flammable fluids, and kept away from children. The institute also stated that a large majority of their customers had found varied uses for these plastic bags and that when properly used the bags are perfectly safe.

The dry cleaning shop at the Presidio of San Francisco does not use plastic bags when returning garments, but many of the dry cleaners in San Francisco do. Parents are warned of the potential hazards of these plastic bags to children. Best of all, destroy these bags when they come into the house, or by all means keep them from the children. It is a natural thing for a child to pull the transparent bag over his head. The bag clings closely to the flesh and prevents breathing.

Savings Bond Drive Tops Goal At Army

Headquarters, Sixth U.S. Army, which closed its Savings Bond Drive on 15 May 1959, had a most successful campaign, Colonel Ralph A. Devine, Sixth U.S. Army Finance and Accounting Officer and Savings Officer for Sixth Army, announced this week.

The final figures disclosed that the Army Commanders goal of 65% participation was exceeded, with a 66% average for Headquarters.

Officers and civilians achieved the highest percentage ever before reached. The Ordnance, Chaplains and Special Services Sections reached 100%, while Finance & Accounting, Quartermaster, Army Aviation and the Inspector General sections averaged over 80% each. Among the Special Troops, the Flight Detachment also signed up 100% of their personnel.

Throughout the Headquarters, fifteen of the twenty-five sections achieved better than the 65% average, to qualify for the Commander's Savings Bond Citation. The entire headquarters has qualified for the United States Treasury Department's Minute Man Award.

The success of the drive, Colonel Devine affirmed, was due to the sincere and personal interest and hard work on the part of savings bond representatives and canvassers of the sections.

Special awards for outstanding individuals, as well as the Commander's Savings Bond Citation for the sections are scheduled for appropriate action at a later date.

The drive of the Presidio of San Francisco Post and other units based here will not be concluded until 30 May, and these results will be announced later.

Fifth Merchants

Can Be Defeated

(Ed.'s Note: This is the second of two articles)

The American public, if it wants to, can destroy the half billion dollar a year mail-order business in obscenity which is having such disastrous effects on teen-age youngsters, San Francisco's Postmaster John F. Fixa stated today.

The judgment as to what is obscene is actually in the hands of the citizens of San Francisco and other communities throughout the nation, Postmaster Fixa emphasized; and the final judge in these matters is the conscience of these awakened communities.

"We can clean up the mails in San Francisco if enough citizens become aware of the seriousness of this problem and use their influence to do so," Mr. Fixa said. "We must do so to protect our homes, curb juvenile delinquency, and prevent the poisoning of the minds of our children."

All the average citizen needs do if his home is invaded by unordered and unwanted mail soliciting the sale of filthy, lewd and lascivious films, slides, pictures or other obscene and pornographic material is to complain to the Post Office Department. This is done by mailing the objectionable material itself, and the envelope it came in, with a signed note of protest to the local Postmaster.

An investigation is then made by the Post Office Department's Inspection Service. If their findings justify action to ban the material from the mails, the Department's General Counsel then issues such an order. If the sender of the obscene literature protests the Department's ruling, the matter may then be taken to the nearest United States District Court for decision.

Where the material in question is clearly pornographic, criminal action is usually taken by the local prosecuting authorities with the cooperation of the Post Office Department. Convictions in such cases provide for both jail and dollar fines for the dealers in obscenity.

Testimony given recently in Washington by Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield before the Subcommittee of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee indicates that no longer do dealers in smut and dirty pictures serve only a few adults. Instead, they are increasingly soliciting youngsters, sending their unwanted and unordered material indiscriminately and without conscience, into the homes of the nation.

Postmaster Fixa emphasized that the Post Office Department is intensifying its effort to clean up the mails. Its chief opposition in doing so comes from those who reap huge profits from unrestricted mailings, and from some misguided individuals who confuse liberty with license, and in so doing, unwittingly give aid to these dealers in obscenity.

Congressman Kathryn E. Granahan, Chairman of the House Post Office and Civil Service Subcommittee on Obscene Literature, aptly summed up this apparent confusion in the minds of some recently by stating "There are those who express concern about their constitutional right of free speech and free press. I would like to point out in this connection that there are many situations where a certain freedom might apply to adults but will not apply to children. For example, the selling of alcoholic beverages to minors is prohibited; children under a certain age are not permitted to drive an automobile; and they are not admitted to see certain movies if they are minors. However, experience clearly demonstrates that the wholesale circularization and uncontrolled dissemination of obscene material always brings a good deal of it into the hands of children and teen-age youth."

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield has publicly stated that "It is my deep conviction—frequently expressed to individual members of this Congressional Committee, religious and educational leaders, newspaper editors, and citizen groups that one of the most serious moral and social problems in the United States today is the multi-million dollar mail order traffic in obscenity."

"In spite of the frustrations and the legal complications, and even the court decisions. I feel a responsibility to the public to attempt to prevent the use of the mails for indecent material, and to seek indictments and prosecutions for such offenses, even though it may be argued that it falls in the category of material concerning which there have been previous rulings favorable to the promoters. It seems to me that only by this method can the dimensions of this problem become clearly established before the courts and the Congress and the American public."

"AUTHORIZED ARMY NEWSPAPERS are tools of command intended to assist a commander in accomplishing the assigned mission of his command as well as to supplement the news coverage of the civilian press, radio and television."—(AR 355-5)

BMEWS—Drawing shows first of the tracking radar antenna assemblies and radomes for the Air Force's Ballistic Missile Early Warning System.

AF Developing Missile Early Warning System

Washington (AFPS)—The Ballistic Missile Early Warning System (BMEWS), under development by the Air Force, is an electronics system to provide detection and early warning of attack from enemy intercontinental ballistic missiles.

The present objective is to provide a minimum warning of 15 minutes.

Such a system has been made possible by recent scientific developments. For example, huge radars approximating the size of a football field have been developed that can detect a missile as far out as 3,000 miles.

The power required for a single station would meet the electrical needs of a small city.

Three stations are now involved in the development, although the location of only two, Thule, Greenland, and Clear, Alaska, have been announced.

Thule will be the first to become operational, and work on both stations is progressing on or slightly ahead of schedule. It is estimated that the cost of constructing and installing radar at these two sites alone will exceed $800 million.

The overall BMEWS program will be managed by the AF Ballistic Missile Division. The actual construction will be under the supervision of the Army Corps of Engineers.

Computer May Trace Army Vehicle Illness

Washington (ANS)—An idea which may revolutionize methods of inspecting motor vehicles and result in large savings in money and manpower by taking the guess work out of diagnosing engine and electrical troubles is being studied by the Army Ordnance Corps at Frankford Arsenal in Philadelphia, Pa.

The new method of troubleshooting engines and electrical systems of both combat and administrative vehicles calls for use of electronic equipment to pinpoint sources of malfunctions and potential breakdowns.

Engine troubles now sometimes require intelligent guesses as to their causes, and mechanics are compelled to rely on manufacturers' manuals, Ordnance Corps guides and directives, a variety of testing equipment, or on their own experiences. When their diagnoses are not correct, much time and labor often are lost.

The automatic checkout system idea now being studied at Frankford Arsenal would employ electronic inspection, quickly analyzing all parts of a vehicle, including its ignition system, engine, drive and other components. In addition to locating actual disorders and potential trouble spots, regularly scheduled but sometimes unnecessary maintenance and servicing would be eliminated if the new system proves workable.

The concept of the system to be studied calls for a digital computer which would receive information from transducers—perhaps small microphones or stethoscopes—attached to the various components. Information received would be matched against predetermined standards and tolerances, providing an accurate basis for judging the condition of vehicles.

Perfectionist— one who takes great pains and gives them to people.

what they asked

Last week the "Star Presidian" turned the tables in this feature by letting the reader ask the questions. This week we tried it again.

OUR SUGGESTION: If you had the chance to ask an expert any question at all what would it be and why?

Sp4 Gerald Ivey, Special Services: There is one question that has been bothering me for a long time. I would like to ask the expert what the reason is for most states and even most of the small towns having different traffic rules. The reason I ask this question is because I have done some traveling in various states and am always getting confused about the traffic regulations.

Major Reuss, Chief of the M.P. Division, answered this way: "Traffic rules and laws have been made for all different types of conditions depending on the locale that they govern. Rules and laws for Southern California are much different than Northern California because of the difference in the weather changes and other local conditions. There is however a move on by the national agencies to make the rules and laws as uniform as possible. Also to make the different type of road signs uniform both on the national and international level. In Europe they are almost all uniform now."

Sp5 Melvin G. Sorrells, Lab. Tech., Post Disp.: What qualifications, mental, physical and educational would be required to be eligible to be accepted as an applicant for special travel such as the Mercury Astronauts? Also what are the standards if any for future travelers in space? I plan to be one of them in the future if I possibly can qualify.

Qualifications for future space travelers are stiff. It will take above average intelligence to operate the controls and instruments. Physical condition must be above average also. Reaction time, endurance, mental astuteness, mental maturity, and of course calmness under situations of duress, are a few of the qualifications. For a clearer picture we suggest that you look in the back issues of "Life" magazine; they ran an excellent series on this subject recently.

Sp4 Shirley Newcomer, Clerk Typist, S3 section: I am planning on going to Japan and would like to know what my opportunities are to travel while there. I want to meet some of the older families and find out first hand some of the customs and traditions of old Japan.

Generally speaking the opportunities for travel in Japan are excellent. A Class "A" Pass is issued and civies can be worn off post. One thing to remember though is that travel in Japan is different than it is here. To the Japanese, a distance of 100 miles is a long trip and can take up to two days. On the other hand the short hops by the electric trains are speedy and extremely punctual; if you want a train that will be leaving at 5:01, don't be there at 5:02, you'll have already missed it. The roads in Japan are bad, for the most part. It is much better to take a train. All in all the opportunities for travel in Japan are excellent.—M/Sgt. Bob Wolz, Information Section

Sp4 Patrick Gibney, Pressman, 99th Engineers: Why was it that during W. W. 2 an alien could become a citizen of the United States by joining the military service? But now that law has been repealed and there is now a waiting period of 5 years. I'm from Ireland and am in the service but still have to wait the 5-year period before I can become a citizen.

Section 329 of the Immigration and Naturalization Act and Section 1440 of Title 8 United States Code covers this question. Anyone who served in the Armed Forces honorably from 1939 to 1946 could be naturalized regardless of the fact that the came to the United States without intent to become a citizen. In section 1439 of the same volume it states that upon completion of 3 years of honorable service with the United States Armed Forces, an alien could be naturalized if he came to the United States for the purpose of becoming a citizen. He must have entered the country legally.—Mr. Hutchinson, Immigration & Naturalization Office

6th Region Team Tops Small Arms Championship

West Coast Army missilemen proved to be as adept with the M-1 rifles as they are with Nike guided missiles, as the 6th Region U.S. Army Air Defense Command won the ARADCOM Commander's Small Arms Trophy.

Major General E. J. McGaw, Regional Commander, this week returned from observing the matches at Fort Riley, carrying the prized trophy. The award is presented by Lieutenant General Charles E. Hart, Commanding General of the U.S. Army Air Defense Command, to the regional air defense team which fires the highest scores.

The team from the Pacific Coast, coached by Master Sergeant Edward A. Gibbon, scored 7436-v426, to top all other air defense regions. Captain Sanford Brantley is team captain. Both men are assigned to Headquarters Battery, 1st Missile Battalion, 52nd Artillery, at Camp Hanford, Wash.

Competing in the Master Firing classification, Capt. Brantley achieved an over-all score of 715-v52. Private Michel Dunia of the Renton Nike Site, near Seattle, scored 696-v52 in the same classification.

In the "expert" category of firing, individual scores were: Specialist Fourth Class Jimmie L. Price of Headquarters, 40th Artillery Brigade (Air Defense) at Fort Barry, Sausalito, Calif., 696-v34; Private First Class Kenneth D. Adams, of the Kenmore Nike Site near Seattle, Wash., 682-v50; Sp4/c Donald D. Bluhm of Saddle Mountain Nike Site, near Hanford, Wash., 674-v43; Private First Class James E. St. Peters, of Malibu Nike Site, Calif., 671-v24; Sp5/c Gerald Wallace, of Elmira-Vacaville Nike Site, Calif., 660-v30; Pfc. Jerry Mangum, of Spokane Nike Site, Wash., 654-v39; Pfc. Clifford G. Cochran, of Othello Nike Site, Wash., 653-v33, and Pfc. Richard Jones of Lake Chabot Nike Site, near Berkeley, Calif., 640-v24.

San Francisco is the birthplace of the United Nations' charter.

Officer Report Change

Washington (ANS)—A recent change in officer efficiency reporting regulations will now require submission of letter-type efficiency reports on all officers withdrawn from their normal rating channels to participate in a field maneuver. Under new procedures established by this change, a letter report in accordance with paragraph 12, AR 623-105, is to be submitted on each officer who is withdrawn from his normal rating channels for more than 15 but less than 60 duty days to participate in a major maneuver (controlled by a headquarters comparable to a Corps or higher). These reports are to be prepared by the individual's immediate supervisor for the period of the maneuver and forwarded by endorsement to the parent organization by the rating officer's immediate supervisor for attachment as an enclosure to his next scheduled efficiency report.

Best Safety Award To Post Ordnance For Third Quarter

A "Best Safety Award" plaque was presented by Colonel M. M. Brown, Commanding Officer, Presidio of San Francisco, to the Post Ordnance Section last week. Mr. Ross L. Markey, Administrative Officer, accepted the plaque.

The award is presented quarterly to the section with the best accident-free record.

The Post Signal Section and the Post Engineer Section won the award during previous quarters of this fiscal year.

The award was established to acknowledge safety achievements and to provide further incentive to promote and improve accident rates in the command.

Name Von Kolnitz New Deputy Chief At XV Corps (Reserve)

Lt. Col. Henry Von Kolnitz has been named Deputy Chief of Staff, XV United States Army Corps (Reserve), Col. E. B. Hempstead, Corps Chief of Staff announced. Col. Von Kolnitz was formerly Assistant Chief of Staff, G-2, at the Corps headquarters.

Lt. Col. Von Kolnitz is a graduate of Charleston College, South Carolina, where he majored in chemistry. His post-graduate studies were taken at Tulane University in New Orleans, Louisiana, where his major subject was physiology. Col. Von Kolnitz spent four years at Tulane, teaching physiology and biochemistry to students at the university's school of medicine and doing research work.

Commissioned a second lieutenant in 1934, Col. Von Kolnitz has led an active military life at posts in the United States and overseas. He participated in campaigns during World War II in Luzon, South Philippines, Tunisia and Algeria-French Morocco. He has been with Headquarters XVth Corps since January 1958.

Col. and Mrs. Von Kolnitz have three children.

VISITING DIGNITARIES to the Presidio of San Francisco on Armed Forces Day were officers of the Indonesian Army. Explaining equipment and tactics used by the M.P. force is Sp4 Ferris Parker. ## Army Will Re-Test All On Language Abilities

Washington (ANS)—A plan has been developed to re-test all Army personnel who have a language qualification to determine their current ability to read the written or to understand the spoken language. This is the first Army-wide language testing program since 1949.

AR 611-6 dated 27 April 1959 and DA Circular 611-36 dated 7 May 1959 are the basic references to be used in executing this plan. The regulation sets forth the who, when, where and the how of testing and also prescribes the procedures for requisitioning test materials, responsibilities of the test control officers, and the responsibilities for scoring, recording, and reporting test results on a continuing basis. The circular establishes the one time period when all linguists, Army-wide, will be re-tested and reported to Department of the Army.

The objectives of the whole exercise are to produce an accurate inventory of the Army's linguist assets, to establish a reporting procedure which will keep this inventory continuously up-to-date, and to establish a machine records linguist file at DA for use to meet routine and emergency requirements for linguist assignments.

To achieve these objectives the retesting plan envisages retesting all officers and enlisted personnel whose records indicate a language facility acquired either through study or through family background. Additionally all personnel whose records do not show a language facility but who profess to have such ability will be tested.

San Francisco's Nob Hill derives its name from the "Nabobs"—gold, silver and railroad millionaires Leland Stanford, Mark Hopkins, Charles Crocker, and Lucky Baldwin, who built their mansions there in the 1870s.

Math Refresher Classes To Start Here On Monday

A new math refresher course, designed primarily for military personnel preparing for Guided Missile, Electronic, or other schools requiring mathematics, but open to all others interested, will start here Monday.

This course is similar to that given successfully several times previously at the Presidio. Class will meet in Bldg. 249 from 0800 to 1630 daily, Monday thru Friday, for six weeks, and will cover arithmetic, 1st semester algebra, and elements of geometry, trigonometry, and physics.

The Electronics Aptitude Test prepared by Guided Missile School of Fort Bliss will be administered to students entering upon the course, and an alternate form of the same test given at the conclusion of the six weeks, with results being forwarded to commanding officers. In the past a high percentage of those completing the six weeks course have passed the electronics aptitude test and gone on to success in various service schools, and similar results are anticipated for this group.

Military personnel from outlying areas may be sent to Presidio on TDY and quartered here for duration of course. Registration will be limited to 25. For further information or registration, contact the Army Education Center, Bldg. 258, or call Ex. 2974.

Boss Chaplain For 8 Years; He Was First To Wear Stars

"Do you miss the Army, Your Excellency?"

"I sure do—I SURE DO. You know, I was on duty for 33 years, and enjoyed every minute of it. But I still manage to keep in touch."

Chaplain (Major General) William R. Arnold, Retired, had just flown in from Hawaii, where he had been for a few days on a mission for the Army Chief of Chaplains. It was late at night, and after a few hours of sleep at the Presidio, he would continue on to New York. But he showed no sign of fatigue and the youthful vitality that had carried him through the long years of World War II as Chief of Chaplains was much in evidence.

Chaplain Arnold — perhaps it would be better to say "Bishop" now—had a long and colorful career in the Army.

Born in Wooster, Ohio, in 1881, he received his AB at St. Josephs' College in 1902, and was ordained in the Roman Catholic Church from St. Bernard's Seminary in Rochester, New York, in 1908.

Bishop Arnold became a chaplain in the Army in 1913. From

Keeps in Touch
Bishop Arnold

February 1925 to March 1928 he commanded the Chaplain's School, then at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

In 1937 he became Chief of Chaplains, a position he was to hold until his retirement in 1945. Beloved by the enlisted men, he brought to the Office a warmth of understanding and a comradeship with the ordinary soldier that raised the Chaplains Corps to a new stature.

Bishop Arnold was the first Chief of Chaplains to be awarded general officers rank. He was made a brigadier general by Congress in 1942, and a major general in 1944. The Chief of Chaplains is generally appointed for a four-year term, but Bishop Arnold served for eight years. A grateful Congress awarded him the Distinguished Service Medal.

The Church likewise rewarded its Chaplain Arnold. In 1940 he was appointed a Papal Chamberlain by the late Pope Pius XII, and named Domestic Prelate in 1944. Upon his retirement from the Army, Pope Pius XII named him a bishop and assigned him as Military Delegate to the Military Ordinariate, which is headed by Cardinal Spellman.

No, this old soldier is not "fading away." Next month he will be 78 years old, and still in the middle of his career.

Bishop Arnold lives in New York City, his address "The Military Ordinariate, 30 East 51st Street, New York 22, New York. (KRB)

Three Win Supergrades In Army Special Troops

By M/Sgt. Bob Wolz
Sixth Army Information

(Special to the 'Star Presidian')—Promotions to grade "E8" for three Headquarters, Sixth U.S. Army Special Troops senior NCO's was announced earlier this week.

Upgraded were: First Sergeant Lee A. Nichols, Headquarters Company, Sixth U.S. Army; Master Sergeants Clayton P. McKiddy, AG Section; and Felix A. Von Magnus, Chief Clerk of the Aviation Section.

Selections were made from 20 eligible candidates by a board of three senior officers consisting of Colonels Robert L. Cardell, Howard N. Smalley and Curtis L. Hankins. CWO Steve C. Culuris acted as the board recorder.

● First Sergeant Nichols entered the Army 25 January, 1943. During World War II he served in France, Belgium, Luxembourg, Germany and Austria. While serving in France he was awarded the Soldiers Medal for rescuing a fellow soldier from a flaming tank. Later, he received the Purple Heart for wounds received during the Battle of the Bulge. In 1955, while assigned to Headquarters Company, 136th Engineer Aviation Brigade, the 47-year-old soldier received the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant. The award was made for meritorious service in helping combat the disastrous Christmas, 1955, floods in the Yuba City-Marysville, California, area. First Sergeant Nichols resides "on post" with his wife Anna at 750A Portola Street.

● Master Sergeant Von Magnus can appropriately be called a man with two hats. For in addition to being the Chief Clerk of the Sixth Army Aviation Section, he is also First Sergeant of the Sixth Army Flight Detachment. He entered active military service from Cleveland, Ohio, on 15 October, 1940, while a member of the 112th Engineer, Regiment, Ohio National Guard. During World War II he served in North Africa and Italy with the Allied Forces Headquarters. Between World War II and the Korean Conflict, Sergeant Von Magnus was stationed at Camp Stoneman, California. The last two years were spent as the Sergeant Major of the Reassignment Section. From 1951 to 1956 he was the Chief Clerk of the Transportation Traffic Regulating Group, Far East Command Joint Air Board in Tokyo, Japan.

● Master Sergeant McKiddy enlisted in the Army in 1938. In April, 1942, while assigned to the famous 31st Infantry Regiment in the Philippine Islands, he was taken a prisoner of war by the Japanese. He spent the next three and a half years as a POW until his liberation by the Russians 20 August, 1945, in Manchuria, China. Sergeant McKiddy is a survivor of the 100-mile Death March from Mariveles to San Fernando on Bataan. His overseas duty includes two and a half years' service as the Sergeant Major of the 25th Infantry Division in Korea and later Hawaii. He is at present the Chief Clerk of the Classification and Assignment Division, AG Section for Headquarters, Sixth U.S. Army. Prior to coming to the Presidio, he was Sergeant Major of the III U.S. Army Corps at Fort Hood, Texas. Sergeant McKiddy resides with his wife Gail "on post" at 126A Riley Avenue.

The new promotions raise the number of super grade NCO's assigned to Sixth Army Special Troops from three to six. Earlier this year Master Sergeants Edward M. Wolfman, Robert J. Carr and Edmon L. Franklin had received promotions to "E8." There have been no promotions to grade "E9" made in Special Troops.

Wins Commendation For Top Efforts With EAD At DA

Upon his recent arrival at Headquarters XV US Army Corps (Reserve), Captain James D. Potter was presented a letter of commendation from Major General J. H. Michaelis, Chief of Legislative Liaison, Department of the Army. Captain Potter received this recognition for his unfailing courtesy and efficient manner in the performance of his duties while serving in the Enlisted Assignment Division in the Adjutant General's Office, Department of the Army, in Washington.

Captain Potter, who hails from Michigan, entered the Army in 1941. He served in the European Theater of Operations during World War II, participating in the Rhineland and Central European campaigns.

During the Korean conflict, Captain Potter was assigned to the AG Section of the Eighth US Army. At this time he was awarded the Bronze Star Medal.

Captain Potter comes to the Presidio after having served with TAGO in Washington for approximately four years. His new assignment at XVth Corps headquarters is with the AG Reserve Personnel Branch.

Summer Semi-Dress Tagged Army Tan

Washington (ANS)—The name of the summer semi-dress uniform has just been changed by Department of the Army to Army Tan.

During the past few years the names by which some uniforms are known have been changed to bring them into line with the program to modernize Army symbolism and terminology. These new names—Army Green, Army Blue, Army White—have been directed at making the names more descriptive and identifying the uniforms more closely with the Army.

It has been decided to extend the policy to the summer semi-dress uniform which is now known as the Tropical Worsteds or TW uniform. Since the majority of summer suiting materials on the market today, including uniform materials, are a blend of man-made and natural fibers, instead of all wool as previously, Tropical Worsteds is actually a misnomer.

Presidio Girl Scouts Set Annual Court Of Awards

Presidio Girl Scouts will hold their annual Court of Awards Monday night in the Service Club at 1930, with Col. M. M. Brown, Post Commander, as guest speaker.

Following the opening of the meeting by Cheryl Pease, a welcome by Judith Grambort and group singing, led by Barbara Enmeier, Intermediate Scouting's highest award, the Curved Bar, will be presented to Breana Kass, Carolyn Lupo and Rae McDonald.

Other awards to be made are a First Class Pin to Deidra Keenan and the individual badges earned this year by each girl in the eight troops.

Cheryl Pease will be honored for over 100 hours hospital aide service, and other seniors will receive library aide bars for service at the Post Library. Altogether, the senior troop girls have given more than 500 hours of community service in addition to their other scouting activities.

Mrs. Raymond Bunshaw, who replaces Mrs. James Enmeier as Girl Scout Representative in June, will introduce the adults on the Presidio Neighborhood Board, and each one will be presented a Friendship Pin and numeral.

Top Speakers, Panels Due At 3-Day Meet

By Edith Millier
Sixth Army Information

A three-day Service Club Program Directors' Workshop, sponsored by the Sixth U.S. Army Special Services Section, will be held 25-27 May at Presidio Service Club No. 1.

More than 40 Special Services personnel from the Sixth Army area, and guests from other professional agencies, will attend the in-service training workshop.

Lt. Col. Don A. Barker, Chief of the Sixth Army Recreation Division, will open the Workshop at 0900 on Monday. The invocation will be given by Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Richard Cheatham and Col. Frank G. Ratliff, Presidio Deputy Commanding Officer, will welcome the visitors. Lt. Col. Clarence Ennis, Acting Special Services Officer, will give the keynote address at 1000.

Highlights of the Workshop will be a panel discussion on Monday beginning at 1315 entitled "How Do We Tell Our Story." This session will demonstrate how private and community agencies, and the military, relate their story. Panel moderator will be Miss Ann C. Herold, Post Service Club Director, and panel members will be Col. Harold C. Lyon, Sixth Army Information Officer, Mr. Kenneth E. Erwin, Star Presidian Editor, Mrs. Janet Pomeroy, Founder and Director of Recreation Center for the Handicapped, Inc., of San Francisco, and Mrs. C. R. Stithan, Recreation Supervisor from the Santa Rosa Recreation Department.

On Tuesday at 0830 "The Contribution of the Individual to Professional Groups" will be discussed by Mrs. Carol M. Brown, Recreation Supervisor of the San Mateo Recreation Department.

On Wednesday at 1130 "Searching the Field" will be presented by Mr. William Brett, Chief Reference Librarian, Oakland Public Library.

A session on "Publicity and Crafts Program in the Service Club," which will include demonstrations and introduction of new activities for programming introductory crafts will be demonstrated at 1315 on Tuesday by Mr. James O'Brien, Post Crafts Director, Oakland Army Terminal.

Mr. John T. Strom, G1 (Personnel), Salary and Wage Administration Chief, will discuss "Proposed Changes in the Recreation Series."

Other Sixth U.S. Army Headquarters and Presidio Post Special Services personnel participating in the program are: Mrs. Geraldine R. Hampton, Staff Service Club Director and Workshop Coordinator; Mr. Wendell Coon, Staff Librarian; Miss Beverly Gaillard, Staff Entertainment Director; Mr. Henry Gustafson, Staff Sports Director; Mr. Carmine T. Sena, Staff Crafts Director; Miss Peggy Shaw, Presidio Service Club No. 1, Assistant Director; Miss Natalie Friedman, Program Director, Service Club No. 2; and Miss Mary Simons, AAA Mobile Service Club Director.

Women Voters League Will Assist Servicemen

Washington (AFPS)—Would you like to know the straight facts before you cast your ballot in state and local elections back home? Do you want factual, non-partisan information about issues and candidates?

If so, the League of Women Voters stands ready to help you. Next year, the League will provide this kind of information on the congressional elections also.

The league is organized at three levels—local, state and national. Every state has a state organization, and there are local units in many communities throughout the nation.

It is a non-profit organization which seeks to stimulate interest in informed voting and good government.

Before primaries and elections, the various league units issue pamphlets or bulletins giving facts about issues and candidates. If you would like to have one of these before the next primary or election is held back home, the league will supply it if one is available.

Requests for such information should go to local units where they exist. Otherwise they should go to the proper state office.

Addresses of state officers will be found in future months on some bulletin boards at military establishments. If you have the address of your state or local league, send your request direct. Be sure to include a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

If you do not have the address, ask one of your friends or relatives back home to pass your request along for you. When you write, explain what you want and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ask that your request and the envelope be forwarded to the proper unit of the league. If your friend or relative does not have the address, the chamber of commerce or public library probably will be able to supply it. Be sure your request reaches the proper league unit well in advance of the primary or election in which you are interested.

Primaries and elections will be held in a number of states this year, and next year they will be held in all states. For information about voting requirements and for help in getting a mail ballot, see your voting officer.

Norwegian Nike Unit Trained, Ready To Go

Washington (ANS)—A complete set of Nike guided missile equipment—radars, launchers, vans—was delivered to the 1st Norwegian Nike Battalion at Fort Bliss, Texas, this week.

Lieutenant General Frederick Motzfeldt, Chief, Royal Norwegian Air Force, accepted the equipment, which is being provided under the Military Assistance Program. This equipment will be transported to Norway, where the battalion will become the first Nike unit in Norway's air defense system.

The presentation, marking the readiness of the Norwegian Air Force unit to join other Air Defense units of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, was made by Major General Sam C. Russell, Commanding General, U. S. Army Defense Center, at the McGregor Guided Missile Range.

Members of the 191-man Norwegian battalion have been training on the Nike Ajax and Nike Hercules guided missiles at the Air Defense Center since early 1958.

First of the Army's Air Defense guided missiles, the Ajax, has a range of 25 miles. The Hercules, second generation of the Nike family, can climb to over 100,000 feet, reach out to a range of 75 miles.

By Pfc. Dale C. Clark

"It's a dog's life, but I've really learned to like it," says Rusty, one of the sentry dogs at the Ft. Barry Nike site.

"It all started when my former owner, Mr. Gerold F. Eaton of Stratford, Conn., decided that he could no longer afford me! After placing an ad in a newspaper, I was visited by a very nice lady and a veterinarian who gave me a complete physical checkup. I passed the height, weight and health checks with flying colors and on 7 Nov., 1958, I was inducted into the service.

"From my former home I was sent to Ft. Benning to take basic with the 26th Infantry Scout Dog Platoon. The 26th is a famous outfit with quite a few medal winners in the group. Some of the medals won by my predecessors are the Meritorious Unit Citation, Korean Presidential Citation, three Silver Stars, six Bronze Stars for Valor and thirty-five Bronze Stars.

"Here is also where I met my handler, Harry Willson. Sometimes I don't think I could have made it if he hadn't spent a little extra time with me over the rough spots. He taught me to sit, heel, stay, down, come, crawl, watch him and I favor, get him. When he gives that last command I nearly dig a hole with my back legs trying to get started. When attacking I try to get the stranger's arm as he might be carrying a weapon of some sort.

"Our day starts at 0830 when we are fed 1½ pounds of horse meat and 1½ pounds of meal mixed with vitamin, salt and water. I rest until 1000 when Harry takes me out to exercise for a couple of hours. I rest again until 1500 when the obedience training is given. At the end of each class period I get tied up to a stake and some guy comes in to agitate me. If I ever get loose I'm going to make it mighty uncomfortable for him with my bite of 500 pounds per square inch pressure. They leave me alone after that and I rest until 2000 when Harry and I start our rounds.

"As a word of warning to anybody trying to get into A Btry. of the 2nd Msl. Bn., 51st Arty., carry some means of identification on your body. Our job is all business and we don't believe in such things as practical jokes. I can pick up your scent anywhere from 200-500 yards away and if you ever do manage to get in, you'll never get out.

"The only man ever to get into the compound was Cpl. Benford Stuart, the NCOIC of the sentry dogs, on a penetration problem. He has done it only a few times and each time he wore a heavy protective suit. He was also found each time.

"We replace 6 to 12 men per night walking guard on the site and are regarded as good enough soldiers to be put on the morning report. I might add that it isn't true that they're trying to get us to do the morning report.

"My favorite comic-strip character? Why, it's 'Peanuts.'"

PWC Annual Election Luncheon Next Week

The Presidio Woman's Club will hold its annual election of officers and luncheon on Thursday, 4 June, at the Presidio Officers' Club, starting at 1230 hours.

Takahiko Mikami, well known artist, will give a brief history and demonstration of Japanese brush painting. Mr.

Mikami has exhibited at the Metropolitan Museum in Tokyo and has had one-man shows at various galleries in Japan and the United States.

He held a one-man show at the M. H. deYoung Memorial Museum in San Francisco and established the Japanese Art Center, also in San Francisco. He has given instructions in Brush Painting on TV stations throughout the United States.

The luncheon will be sponsored by the Post of Presidio wives with Mrs. Frank G. Ratliff and Mrs. George J. Reuss as co-chairmen. Their committee includes Mesdames Thomas J. Delaney, John H. Anderson, Thomas Lew, Charles J. Monges, Gordon Knight and James E. Corum.

Red Cross Workers To Take Key Role In NCSW Meeting

The American National Red Cross is associated with the 86th Annual Forum of the National Conference on Social Welfare, to be held in San Francisco 24-29 May, at the Richelieu Hotel.

Mr. Thomas A. Burke, Sixth U.S. Army Director of the American Red Cross, states that Sixth Army, the Presidio of San Francisco and Letterman Army Hospital will all participate at the conference.

"New Knowledge—Consequences For People" will be the theme of the conference, which will offer an opportunity for conferees to hear the nations' leaders in health, welfare, and education discuss some of the important social problems confronting the people of this country.

A special CBS Radio program, "The Educated Woman," numbered among its panel of experts Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, father of the atomic submarine who deplored what he called "our anti-intellectual attitudes." Said the admiral: "Too many gifted girls think it is unfeminine to be brainy . . . especially in the sciences and mathematics."

The Army Field Band has departed Ft. Meade, Md., on its first major concert tour of 1959, with appearances in Pennsylvania, Michigan and Indiana on its schedule . . . Maj. Chester E. Whiting, band commander, will conduct.

Tops in Pops . . . It's still "Come Softly to Me" (Fleetwood) leading the "Billboard Magazine" Honor Roll of Hits, with second place going to "Happy Organ (Dave Cortez). The other eight include some new contenders: "Pink Shoe Laces" (Dodie Stevens); "Guitar Boogie Shuffle" (Virtues); "Sorry, I Ran All the Way Home" (Impalas); "Kookie, Kookie" (Edward Byrnes and Connie Stevens); "Kansas City" (Wilbert Harrison); "A Fool Such as I" (Elvis Presley); "Turn Me Loose" (Fabian) and "A Teenager in Love" (Dion and the Belmonts).

Toreros Celebrate AFD; Clobber Sailors Twice

Presidio's Torero softball team opened their season in spectacular fashion by taking both ends of a unique double header with Treasure Island. The first game was played at the Presidio as part of the Army ceremony on Armed Forces Day. The Toreros won this quite handily 13-2. The second of the two games was played at Treasure Island as part of the Navy's contribution to Armed Forces Day. The sailors proved better on their own field but still lost the game 7-3.

The first game was a sharp opportunity for Torero batsmen to fatten their averages as they whacked 12 hits off Thompson, the T.I. pitcher. Mel Johnson hit 2 for 2, Ed Johnson went 2 for 4 to help win his own game. T.I. was held to 5 hits. Extra base hits abounded in the game with McDonald getting a double, Mel

Johnson a triple, McKenzie a home run and Ed Johnson 2 home runs.

The second game, played at T.I., saw Magill hold the sailors to 6 hits as the Toreros were getting 7. McKenzie hit 2 for 4 in the Torero's cause, one of them a double to match his teammate Viviani. Simmons and Jones went 2 for 4 in the Navy's scorebook but Jones came up the loser.

On 2 June the Toreros open play in the San Rafael League, drawing a bye in the official league opening.

Golfers Meet AF

Presidio's golf team took the light end of a 14-13 score with the Mather Air Force Base team. Murray Jacobs was the medalist with a 74.

The next game for the Toreros is against Hamilton Air Force Base at the Sonoma Country Club this afternoon.

Pony League Season Opens; Dodgers, Pirates Winners

Presidio's Pony League officially opened this week with a double header to start the season off in grand style. The sponsors were on hand to be introduced to the players and pose for team shots.

The first game pitted the Braves against the Dodgers which ended up with the Dodgers winning 15-9. Walker was the winning pitcher and Dymond the loser.

For the Braves it was almost a one-man game as Dymond struck out 11 and caught one fly ball to personally account for 12 outs. Bad luck caught up with the Braves in the second inning when Willie Albores, the second baseman, broke his leg sliding into home plate.

The second game proved to be an even wilder scoring game with the Tigers coming out on top of the Pirates 17-11. The winner was Max Thompson and the loser Darnelle. Joe Croteau of the Tigers slammed a long ball for a home run. Roy Langdon of the Pirates got the only other extra base hit in the game, a double.

Both games were called at the end of 4½ innings of play due to the time limit involved.

Makes Golf Squad

Army Lt. Bob Magee, stationed in Germany, qualified for the British Amateur golf championship finals. He took top honors in the sectional round on the Formby course with a two-round total of 149.

Members of the U.S. Walker Cup team, now in England prepping for the national tourney, are automatically qualified for the British Amateur.

Nieder Tops In LA Meet; Modesto Relays Are Next

Fresh from his shotput victory over Dallas Long in the Coliseum Relays, Presidio's Bill Nieder is resting up in preparation for the Modesto Relays on 30 May.

Nieder's 62'6½" toss was a new Coliseum record and eclipses the old one held by O'Brien by more than a foot. It seems that he and O'Brien have a running feud in setting marks at the Coliseum. In 1956 O'Brien held the title with a toss of 60'5" only to have it broken by Nieder in 1957 with 60'10". O'Brien came charging back in 1958 to throw 61'1½" to have it broken again this year by Nieder.

"The meet was one of those rare occasions this year where I have had the opportunity to get some personal coaching. Jess Mortinson, the Southern Cal track coach who is guiding Long this year helped me correct a couple of faults in my form. On the first practice throw with his coaching, I went 62'9" which equals my best official toss this year."

The meet record was posted on Bill's first throw of the day and in the finals he had one throw over the record (63'10") but it didn't count as he fouled on the ring. "Weather conditions were perfect and they had a new shotput ring installed directly in view of the spectators. I think they were probably waiting for a world record toss because the ring is usually out in the boondocks and few people watch the shotputters," he smiled.

Nieder's 62'4" toss in the Agathon Olympiad at Salt Lake City, Utah, earlier, was not good enough as he was bested by Long's throw of 62'7". "At that meet, Long and I both decided that the whole secret of breaking records in an official meet is to completely relax before stepping into the ring. Both of us have gone over the record in practice mainly because of the lack of tension," Nieder stated.

Bill is looking forward to the weekend of 13 June when he hopes to be competing in a meet held in Poland. Both Nieder and Rink Babka, currently setting the discus records in Southern California meets, have been requested by the State Department to compete as an international gesture of good will. "There's still a lot of 'Red Tape' to clear up before we can go, but I'm hoping for the best."

Dog racing traces its history back to ancient times when dogs of high speed such as Whippets, Greyhounds, Afghans and others, were used to track down animals that had food value.

To Televis Olympics

For those of you who don't have the price of a ticket, the American Broadcasting Company (ABC) has made it easy for you to watch the VIII Winter Olympic Games. They have purchased exclusive television rights and will telecast "live" and with tape, each of the 11 days of the games, 18-28 Feb.

Volksie Gymkhana Due Here Tomorrow

Tomorrow and Sunday the parade ground here at the Presidio will look like a foreign car show. The occasion is the Gymkhana Del Presidio III, sponsored by the Volkswagen Club of California.

Dictionary definition of gymkhana is: "a meeting for athletic sports and games, especially for races and games on horseback." It's very doubtful you'll see any horses but there will be plenty of horsepower on tap. The present-day definition as applied to automobiles is: "an event of driving skill, the winner to be determined by the shortest elapsed time to complete a given course."

At present there is no way of determining how the course will be set up but each driver will have three chances at trying to complete the course in rapid time. On Saturday everyone will get a practice lap to familiarize the course. Sunday each car will make two complete circuits of the course to determine the winner.

There will be registration and technical inspection of vehicles at 1200 on Saturday and 0700 Sunday. Starting time will be 1300 Saturday and 0800 Sunday. Entry fee is $2.50 with 1st, 2nd and third place trophies in each of the seven classes. Entries are limited to foreign and sports cars so don't turn up with your "Detroit Iron" and expect to enter.

Toreras Drop 'Wild Go' To OAT WAC Team

The Presidio Toreras WAC softball team lost a 10-8 extra inning thriller to Oakland Army Terminal in an exhibition game on Armed Forces Day.

It was a heartbreaker for Rosemary Weber, Torera pitcher, who hurled a one-hit game. She walked 10 batters but scattered the free trips. In the 1st inning she yielded walks to the first three players to face her but settled down and only allowed one run to score. As the game wore on, her pitching grew stronger but several Presidio errors worked against her.

The Toreras gathered 11 hits, one of them a round tripper, Evelyn "Yogi" Yaggie in the 5th with the bases empty. The only hit scored as such by Oakland was a single by their pitcher, Culy, in the 1st inning. Culy proved tough in the tight spots and will probably be one of the best pitchers the Toreras will face this year.

Everyone on the Torera bench saw action in the game as the coach wanted to see how some of the newer players would act under game conditions.

Keystone Kops Top Presidio League; Pilachowski's 254 High Single Game

Presidio League winter bowling is all wrapped up with the Keystone Kops taking top hardware. There will be a one-week layoff with the summer session tentatively scheduled to start 1 June.

Some of the record holders in the winter portion are the Alley Rats with a high team score of 990 scratch. High team series is the property of the Keystone Kops and their total of 2770 scratch. High individual game was rolled by Pilachowski of the King Pins with 254. High individual series was by DuBois of the Shatters who set a 619 mark early in the season that withstood all attempts to better it.

The last week of play saw the Kops take 60th CI 3-1 with steady Ed Johnson hitting 541-188. Manfredi of the 60th got a 474-172.

Shatters finished up in second place by taking a forfeit series from the Islanders 4-0. They rolled for average and Opozda carded 513-193.

Alley Rats took the Recruiters 3-1 but it was a case of too little too late as they finished. Iwai of the winners came through with a high 562-204, and was hotly pursued by Bolton with 558-210.

King Pins rapped SFAADS 3-1 with Bowlds hitting the league high for the week, 584-211. Walkley of the losers rolled 552-210.

WAC Bowling maintains the same relentless pace as the leading Alley Kats moved 15 games ahead by sinking the Brewmasters 3-1. Fort the Kats it was Collins 466-190. Spillane of the losers was tops this week, 477-187.

Powderpuffs launched themselves past the Orbits 3-1 with Sparks wrapping it up 439-160. Harris tossed a tidy 422-166 for the losers.

G1 holds a 19-game lead in the Bay Bowling league but a battle royal is shaping up for fourth place as 4 games separate five teams.

Big jolt in the league this week was the 4-0 shutout posted by 6A Signal over Garrison in a makeup game. Dennis led the Signalmen 504-181 as Garrison's best was Opozda 516-173.

MRU put daylight between third and fourth place by holding Compt-Rollers off 3-1. Kamler was high for the losers 466-189 but MRU's Andresen kegged a 585-212.

Triple Aces joined the thick of battle for fourth by dumping JAGS 3-1. Blumenfeld of the Aces rolled a hot 590-224, 223. McAfee of the JAGS posted 483-177.

G1 split 2-2 with Hq. Co. 6A. Ross was high for G1 578-204. Lux of Hq. Co. hit a good 535-224.

Triple Aces trumped Garrison in a regular league game 3-1. Blumenfeld carded 551-204 but was not far ahead of Opozda with 549-187.

Giants Dump Cubs 17-7; Yanks Rally To Beat Cards

The Golden Gate Little League title this year looks like it may wind up as the property of the Giants as they won over the Cubs 17-7. An 8 run first inning broke the Cubs back and if that wasn't enough the 9 run fourth was. Maurice Dennis was the loser and Atterberry the winner. Only extra base hit of the game was a double by Darneille of the Giants.

The Yanks took the Cards into camp 10-4 but had to stage a 6-run last inning to get the job done. Doubles seemed to be the order of the day as Wedel of the Cards and both Frohner and Allard of the Yanks took that route to get on the base paths. Three Yank pitchers divided 4 strikeouts between themselves as Penrod was striking out 7 Yanks.

The playoff game between the Cards and Cubs was taken by the Cubs in a "sudden death" inning. Jim Mikowicz led off with a single for the Cubs and stole second base, scoring on a bunt by Tex Orth.

In a regular game the Cubs bagged another win over the Cards 9-6, making a 6 run fifth inning the death knell. Stan Richey and Tex Orth combined for the win as Rettenmand was charged with the loss.

Soldier Kegler In Top Ten At State Bowling Tourney

Sfc. Donald Andresen took a flyer to San Jose for the State Bowling Tournament over the weekend. In the team event he posted a total score 507. The singles event was a little more to his liking as he rolled a good 603. The doubles proved to be his strong point as he went absolutely wild and shook the timbers with a 685.

All of the games went together for a 1795 scratch score and with his handicap, moves the total up to 1927. This places him tenth in the All-Events thus far in the tournament but "I don't expect it to stand up for the duration," Andresen lamented.

"Conditions were the best ever for rolling a score on the new alley at San Jose. They have 32 lanes with AMF pin spotters and the new under-rack ball returns. The place is beautiful with lots of action on the far end of the alley. On the first ball I threw in singles competition I missed the head pin, but enough of the other ones were flying or rolling around that eventually I wound up with a strike," he laughed.

Swim Team Set For Ord Tourney

Presidio splashers in both swimming and diving competition have been selected and will head for Ft. Ord and the Sixth Army championships 4-6 June.

Coaches for the team are Sp5 Richard Makua and Pvt. William DeLumpa. Team members are Sp4 Robert Turner and Pvt. Octavio Garcia of the 99th Engineers (Diving), Pfc. Dennis Jensen 561st Engineers (100 and 200 meters), and Pfc. Charles Scheich of C Btry, 4th Msl. Bn. 61st Arty. (1500 meters).

There's more in store if the team can win at Ft. Ord. Winners there will advance to the All-Army team to compete in the National AAU competitions and the Pan American Games tryouts.

NO MUSIALS, but lots of potential is the Golden Gate Little League Cardinal team. Looking forward to a successful season as well as a few individual honors are Front (l. to r.) Harry Bjornberg, Bill Penrod, Larry Bolton and Mike Malone. Rear (l. to r.) Bob Gray, Bob Manning, Tim Saunders, Bob Culbertson, Dennis Harrison and Willy Durkin. Coach of the group is Sfc. Glenn H. Bolton.

Intramural Tennis Play Will Start Here Next Week

The Presidio Sports Office expects a flurry of last minute registrations for the intramural tennis program schedule to start Thursday, 28 May.

A preliminary meeting to explain the rules and regulations peculiar to the Presidio, will be held at 1000 on 27 May, in the Sports Office, Bldg. 122.

Candidates are requested to make known their presence by calling Sfc. Mary Phillips at 2282/3968. A wide-open battle is expected in the net scramble this year as none of the winners last year are around to defend their titles.

Further honors can be had for the intramural winners when they compete in the Sixth Army tournament at Ft. Ord 13-17 June. Winners there will go on to the All-Army championships at a later date.

Softball Standings

Intramural softball standings in the Ft. Baker League find the Hq. 40th Brigade and A Btry. teams out front with a 3-1 record. The other teams in order are: 561st Engineers 2-1, Hq. 30th Arty. 1-1, 6th Region 3-3, C Btry. 1-2, D Btry. 1-2, B Btry. 2-3, Med Lab. 1-3.

Presidio League play is ruled over by the Honor Guard and their 7-0 record. Following are: Training Group 6-1, 6A Special Troops 4-2, Garrison 4-4, MRU 4-4, USA Dispensary 3-4, Teenagers 2-4, 16th B.P.O. 2-5, 99th Engineers 0-8.

Despite popular belief, weasels don't suck the blood of their prey. They do sometimes kill more than they can eat at once but this food is usually stored for future use.

Hole-In-One Tourney Set

Duffers are reminded that the time for the Presidio Hole-In-One Golf Tournament is drawing near. All proceeds will be turned over to the Army Emergency Relief Fund.

Play is scheduled for 26-27 May and 30-31 May on the 13th hole of the Presidio Golf Course. The charge to play is "a buck a ball" for a chance at the hole in a regular round of golf.

Certificates for merchandise in the amount of 25, 15 and 10 dollars will be awarded to the three top finishers. The certificates are redeemable at the Golf Pro Shop or the Post Exchange.

Honor Guard Dumps Unbeaten Training Group In League Play

Unusual, to say the least, but it's happened already in the Ft. Baker softball league. A tie game, 8-8, has been played by the teams from Hq. Btry. 30th Group and D Btry., 2nd Msl. Bn., 51st Arty. Hartman started for the 30th but had trouble finding the plate and was relieved by Ross. Massey went the full distance for D Btry. and was aided by Breaux, who smacked a home run. A playoff is in the offing.

Sixth Region downed C Btry., 2nd Msl. Bn., 51st Arty. by the score of 13-7. Norton pitched the first 6 innings for the winners but became wild in the last and was replaced by Stanley, who kept the win intact. Norton was the big gun for the winners, as he also knocked a home run. Harrington of C Btry. was the best stickman for the losers, belting a homer and a triple.

Another weirdie was the game between the 40th Arty. Brigade and 6th Region. 40th Brigade came out on the long end of a 5-2 score after 12 innings. The losers could only get 4 hits from Stahl, while the 40th batters were collecting 9 from Norton, including a home run by Richardson. At the end of 3 innings the score was knotted 1-1, where it stayed until the 12th, when Stahl tripled deep to left, scoring Hudlicky. Bart Richardson's homer was a blooper along the first base line that was missed by Gillin when he made a spectacular dive for the ball. "It was the only possible play on the ball that he could have made," said manager Dave Stanley. With two outs Hank Allen slapped a single through the infield and scored from first on Biesel's line drive double to center.

In another Ft. Baker league game the crew from A Btry., 2nd Msl. Bn., 51st Arty. gave the Med. Lab. team a 12-3 treatment. While A Btry. hitters were getting 11 hits from Martin, Martin held the Med. Lab. stickmen down to 4 hits. For the losers Hodge hit 2 for 3. A Btry. men getting 2 for 4 were Weelock and Pruett.

D Btry., 2nd. Msl. Bn., 51st Arty. took a 2-0 forfeit from their brethren in B Btry.

What was shaping up as the top battle of the year in the Presidio League turned into a rout in the last inning when the Honor Guard went wild and dumped Training Group 16-2. Both teams were previously undefeated and it looked like a top pitching battle between Ed Johnson of Honor Guard and Pat Magill. Viviani and Roth of the winners both had 3 hits, while the only hit yielded by Ed Johnson was a single by Mel Johnson, third baseman and relief pitcher for the losers.

Seek More Applicants Army Develops For Power Program Radio-Teletype For Field COs

The Chief of Engineers, Department of the Army, is responsible for conducting a training program for Regular Army noncommissioned officers and specialists serving in grades E-7, E-6, E-5, and E-4 to meet immediate requirements for nuclear power plant operators and to provide crews for future military power plants.

The program was announced by Headquarters, Sixth U.S. Army by Circular Number 350-31, dated 11 May 1959.

The training program consists of courses in mathematics, physics, engineering, and nuclear power plant technology at Fort Belvoir, Virginia, followed by maintenance and operational training on the Army Package Power Reactor at Fort Belvoir, or on the Argonne Low Power Reactor at Arco, Idaho. This program requires approximately one year of training.

The Army Nuclear Power Program will begin another cycle of training at Fort Belvoir, Virginia, commencing 28 September 1959.

Upon satisfactory completion of training, qualified operators will be assigned to instructional or developmental staffs in the Army Nuclear Power Program, or to operating crews of nuclear power plants at military installations in CONUS and overseas areas.

This type of training, if successfully completed, would serve an individual well in both military and civilian endeavor. Operation of Nuclear Power Plants is a fine career field which would provide a qualified individual with an excellent source of supplemental income upon retirement.

Applications must be submitted in accordance with the above quoted circular and AR 350-224, 27 March 1959. They must be submitted to arrive in Headquarters, Sixth U.S. Army, ATTN: AMAGP-3G, not later than 20 June 1959, and must be processed through your unit organization.

City Health Chief Urges Early Visit For Polio Vaccine

Civilian employees may obtain free shots of the Salk anti-polio vaccine at any of the city's 11 health centers.

Health Director Ellis D. Sox, urging all to be vaccinated, said nobody should be complacent because polio has been so light so far this year.

San Francisco's polio season starts later than that of other localities, he said.

The free shots can be obtained on this schedule:

● Monday—Alemany, 45 Onondaga St., 1500-1600 hours; Hunters Point, 190 Hilltop Rd., 1500-1600 hours; Marina, 2303 Greenwich St., 1430-1530 hours.

● Tuesday—Telegraph Hill, 660 Lombard St., 0830-0900 hours; Eureka-Noe, 498 Sanchez St., 1500-1630 hours.

● Wednesday—Mission, 995 Potrero Ave., 1400-1530 hours.

● Thursday—Westside, 2201 Sutter St., 1030-1200 hours; Central, 135 Polk St., 1500-1600 hours; North East, 799 Pacific Ave., 1500-1630 hours.

● Friday—South of Market, 33 Hunt St., 1500-1600 hours; Sunset, 41st Ave. and Pacheco St., 1500-1600 hours.

Washington (AFPS) — A powerful mobile radio-teletype "central" with a 1-3,000-mile range will link Strategic Army Corps field commanders into a major communications network from any point world-wide.

Designed to give combat commanders "fixed station" capabilities and access to the Army's global net from remote areas, the new equipment can be transported by air in three C-124 Globemasters to meet the needs of "brush fire" wars or easily moved overland for long-range operations.

To keep pace with today's fast-moving forces in the field, the Army said, the system provides battlefield leaders with two voice channels for separate conversations and 16 teletypewriter circuits.

Consisting essentially of a single-side band 10 kilowatt transmitter and receiver, the central is housed in two vans with tractor and power trailers. Total weight of each unit is about 35 tons.

Built for the Signal Corps by Adler Electronics, Inc., New Rochelle, N. Y., four of the units have been delivered to the Army at a cost of $500,000 each. The Army, however, plans to order additional units.

Two of the units, which are manned by 2 officers and 46 soldiers, will be strategically positioned overseas with one on the West Coast. The fourth is being used in training and testing for STRAC by the 519th Signal Co. at Ft. Gordon, Ga.

SPORTING NEW STARS following ceremonies in the office of the Sixth Army Commander last week is Brigadier General John G. Ondrick, Deputy Chief of Staff, Sixth U.S. Army, Mrs. Ondrick and daughters, Patricia Joan, 12, and Mary Kathleen, 10.

AF General To Head UBAC This Year

Major General Sory Smith, commander of Fourth Air Force, will lead the United Crusade campaign in all military installations of the Bay Area this fall.

The appointment was announced today by Fred C. Whitman, general chairman for the five-county drive, which has a goal of $11,000,000 to meet the needs of more than 250 health, welfare and youth organizations. Last year, civilian and uniformed personnel at military installations contributed $296,000 to the drive, led by General Charles D. Palmer, commanding general of the Sixth U.S. Army. Military leadership for the drive rotates through the services.

"We are fortunate to have the personal leadership of ranking commanders of the services in this important effort," Whitman said on announcing the appointment. He said that the following flag and general officers were serving personally on General Smith's Bay Area committee:

General Palmer; Rear Admiral George L. Russell, commandant, 12th Naval District; Major General J. P. Berkeley, commanding general, Department of the Pacific, U.S. Marine Corps; and Rear Admiral H. C. Moore, commander of the Western District, U.S. Coast Guard.

General Smith has been Fourth Air Force commander at Hamilton Field since 1957. His World War II service was in Europe and North Africa. He is a former director of public relations for the U.S. Air Force and a command pilot.

Aviation Meet Will Name Top Army Flyer

Washington (ANS)—The first Annual Army Aviation Association National Meeting will be held at the Shoreham Hotel, Washington, D. C., 5-7 June 1959. Senator McClellan will present the John H. McClellan Safety Award to an Army aviator who has made an outstanding contribution to Army Aviation Safety. General Howze will present an award to an Army aviator selected as the "Army Aviator for 1958."

The discussions at the working conference will cover Research and Development; Procurement; Operations; Maintenance and Flight Safety.

Pistol Packin' Preacher Wins Crack At Top Hardware

To his friends within the 6th Region, United States Army Air Defense Command, headquartered at Fort Baker, Calif., Sp4 Jimmy F. Tomlinson is known as the "pistol packin' preacher." He is a licensed minister with the North West Texas Conference and plans to be ordained soon after his discharge from the Army.

The 24-year-old marksman was one of the eight pistolmen to be chosen for the team from the 6th Region during the competition matches of the United States Army Air Defense Command Small Arms Trophy Tournament held at Fort Riley, Kans., 4-8 May. He has now been selected as a candidate for the USARADCOM Marksmanship Team which will compete in the All-Army Championship Pistol Matches at Fort Benning, Ga., 25 May-6 June.

Specialist Tomlinson is an Air Defense Warning Information Specialist with the 40th Air Defense Artillery Brigade, at Fort Barry, Sausalito, Calif.

Since starting competitive firing last June, Specialist Tomlinson has been awarded an Expert rating by the National Rifle Association, and hopes to overtake his father who holds a Masters rating.

Why is he in the Army?

According to Specialist Tomlinson, he sold himself the idea that he should serve at least one tour in the Army because of a personal campaign wherein he started getting other young men to see and discharge their military obligation.

Upon completion of his tour of duty, he expects to enroll at Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Tex., and continue his work in ministry.

VA Restates Hospital Trans., Admission Regs.

The Veterans Administration can pay for ambulance service or other transportation of patients to its hospitals only when prior authorization has been given, the VA said today.

In medical emergencies, the private physician who telephones a VA hospital to request emergency admission of a veteran may secure the travel authorization from the hospital by telephone at the same time.

The physician requesting the emergency admission should tell the hospital whether it is for an illness or injury that has been rated service-connected, and if it is not, whether the veteran can afford to pay for travel to the hospital.

Veterans admitted to VA hospitals for treatment of service-connected conditions are entitled to necessary travel to and from the hospital at Government expense, provided prior travel authorization is obtained from the hospital.

Veterans admitted to VA hospitals for treatment of nonservice-connected conditions are entitled to this travel at Government expense only if they affirm under oath that they cannot afford to pay the cost of the travel and if prior travel authorization from the hospital has been obtained.

SAM THE BLUR, alias Smilin' Sam, alias Pfc. Sam Olsen, on active duty for two weeks with the Army. That "active duty" bit couldn't be more correct, as Sam spent his two weeks on the tough job of public relations man for Armed Forces Day. Assigned to the Star Presidian, he entered and left with the rapidity of a butterfly deciding that it had landed on a Venus fly-trap. Utilizing the services of the telephone, one Army pickup truck and just plain hoofing it, he managed to contact all the right people in the right places to blanket the city of San Francisco with more than 600 posters of varying sizes. Another of his projects was sending out radio and TV kits to all of the stations in the Bay Area plugging Armed Forces Day. The office may never be the same but judging by the turnout for the event, Sam made Armed Forces Day a must in the eyes of the local public.
